

George Washington Celebration Starts

George Washington Bicentennial Celebration starts Monday Feb. 22nd. The purpose of the George Washington Bicentennial celebration beginning Feb. 22nd, and continuing until Thanksgiving, Nov. 24th, is, as expressed by the joint resolution of Congress, "that future generations of American citizens may live according to the example and precepts of his exalted life and character, and thus perpetuate the American Republic." To get this purpose over to future generations, it is necessary that this generation rededicate itself to the principles of Washington and the founders of our Republic, and interest itself in the program of education included in this celebration.

Let us all learn the "Pledge to the Flag, and, "The American's Creed," and insist that our children learn them. Let us pay tribute to George Washington by studying his many sides; and the conditions and customs of his time. Help make the several programs in this celebration a complete success in carrying forward the purpose of the celebration by giving your fullest co-operation, which means your presence, and help wherever possible.

The local committee appointed by the Mayor, representing the National Bicentennial Commission is Mrs. R. W. Ragdale, Prof. A. R. Ellis, and C. A. Bruner, and they are requesting the co-operation of every organization of what ever kind, in carrying out the purpose of this celebration in this community. The committees of Education, City Beautification and Community Service of the Chamber of Commerce composed of representatives of nearly all other organizations are co-operating, and it is anticipated that no organization will fail to do their part.

The program as developed to date, is for special tribute to be paid to George Washington in the several Churches on Sunday, and, on Monday at 10 o'clock at the High School, a tree planting and dedication ceremony, followed by the radio broadcast of President Hoover's speech officially opening the celebration at 11 o'clock in the High School Auditorium, and the singing of America with the Marine Band playing in Washington D. C., together with a short talk and singing of patriotic airs. Further programs will be announced as the celebration develops.

Ford To Offer New Machines

DETROIT.—Declaring "Some one has to risk something to get things started" Henry Ford the other day disclosed his latest plan for breaking loose the jam that for nearly two years has retarded the automobile industry.

He announced that within the next few weeks the Ford company will bring out an improved four and a new "V" eight cylinder model, and coupled with it the statement he had determined to "get the price of an automobile down to mark where the public can buy it."

Keen Competition
In automotive circles, Ford's remark that he was determined to bring down to the point where the public can buy was interpreted as indicating his intention to initiate a period of the keenest competition in the low priced field. Included in the specifications for the new models is a single chassis capable of carrying either a four or an eight cylinder engine. The cars are to be of wholly new design, longer wheel base, heavier frame and lower hung chassis.

No Date Is Set
No definite date was set for the formal presentation of the new models, other than a statement that the new four will be ready for delivery "early in March." The eight cylinder type will be introduced sometime later.

The Ford statement gave no intimation of what plans had been made for recalling workmen, but if deliveries of the new four are to be made early in March, many thousand of men are expected to be brought back to work within the next few days. Coincidentally, the release of large orders for parts and raw materials is expected.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moss and son, James, of Amarillo, spent the week-end visiting friends here.

J. C. Walter, age sixty-three, died at his home about eight miles northwest of Slaton, Wednesday afternoon about four o'clock. He is survived by a wife and several children.

Retail Merchants To Elect Officers

The Retail Merchants Association of Slaton will hold their annual meeting, and election of officers February 22th, at 8 o'clock P. M. at the County Club House.

Every member is expected to be present, and cast your vote for those men that you want to serve you as directors for the year. There is to be five directors elected, three being four to hold over for another year.

Those holding over are Fred H. Schmidt, O. Z. Ball, W. R. Ragdale, and H. H. Edmondson. Those retiring are H. G. Sanders, C. C. Hoffman, Jess Swint, C. A. Porter, and L. B. Wooten. The president and vice president are selected by the directors.

Bring your credit rating list with you so the secretary can make the new rating book early. We must have your list before we can get the new book to you.

This is your Association, and your meeting, come and bring any suggestion that you have for the benefit of the Merchants and Bureau. We must carry on and co-operate in keeping our credit files up to date that is your protection. The merchants want their customers to "Use your credit but Keep it Good." Let every member come to this meeting, and plan for a "Pay Up Week."

Cretors Ensemble Gives Concert

The Santa Fe audiences are experiencing one of the most enjoyable seasons of entertainment ever spent. For the third Reading Room entertainment, The Cretors Concert Ensemble appeared at the High School Auditorium last Saturday night. A most enjoyable program of art and song was given by the artists.

John Vavra, the young baritone, has won recognition as a soloist with the Glee Club of the University of Chicago. His extremely pleasing voice and smiling personality has not only made a place for him in concert work, but a place in the memory of the ones for whom he has performed. William Wright McCullum, also with the University of Chicago Glee Club, is now considered one of Chicago's most popular radio artist and concert singer.

Louis Laughlin, the accompanist, is a finished and brilliant pianist. The Chicago Daily News in reviewing his work states that he plays beautifully with admirable skill and refreshing musicianship. All of us who attended the entertainment will readily agree that this is true.

Any Cretors, now a popular artist over radio stations in Chicago, is a young American, who does impersonations and character sketches. She has poise and refinement, charming appearance and natural ability. Her youth, beauty and voice at once attracted and held the attention of the audience throughout the entire program.

The entire ensemble was well-balanced and presented a delightful program. If you have missed a single one of these Santa Fe Reading Room entertainments you have missed a great treat. Prepare to attend the next one.

To Whom It May Concern:

Reese Cole Donald editor of The Slaton Slatonite is a member in good standing of Lubbock Typographical Union, No. 888 at the above stated date and is entitled to all benefits of the Union, but due to the fact that Slaton has been declared out of the jurisdiction of the Lubbock Union it is impossible for Mr. Donald to obtain the Union Labels for his paper as there are not enough men working in Slaton to organize a Local in said city.

This Man Goes On Cash Basis

The following anonymous letter clipped from the Gaslow (Ky.) Times, has been submitted to the Slatonite by a subscriber:

Dear Mr. Editor: There is so much talk about Republican prosperity, I believe 'tis my duty to write my views and help analyze the situation so we can make up our minds that we auto change our ways of living. Take my own case for instance. I see my mistake and many others have acted likewise. I ought a Ford instead of a farm and it is worn out, but the farm is O. K. I bought a radio instead of a cow, and the radio gives static instead of milk. I am feeding five hounds instead of five pigs. I had my piano tuned instead of my well leaved. I spent all of my cash in 1928, used my credit in 1929, traded my future wages in 1930, so hard times caught me in a bad shape. If I had spent my last $10 for flour and meat instead of gas and oil, I would have been O. K. I built a nice garage instead of covering my barn, and I loafed in the mountains two weeks instead of fixing my pasture so's my cow won't get out, but she is dry no and mortgaged to boot for two blankets my wife bought from an agent instead of paying the preacher. I am on a cash basis now, but ain't got no cash. I am tied to the end of my rope and the man I am working for is busted on account of nobody won't buy cotton clothes; all the gals wear slick silky stockings and silk underclothes, right here in our cotton patches. I had saved $4 for a rainy day, ut it turned dry and I spent the $4 for two inner tubes. I tried to make both ends meet with a turnip patch, but when I got ready to sell, everybody was giving them away and the market was glutted. I am worried plumb to the bone, and my wife's kinfolk are coming next Tuesday for two weeks. Write or phone if you hear of any relief from the government coming this way. I am willing to be a Democrat or a Republican, for a few weeks if that will do any good at all.— Wolfe City Sun.

Slaton Pioneer Dies On Monday

E. N. Twaddle, 68, a resident of Slaton for 21 years and of the South Plains 25 years, died Monday, February 15, at his home here after an illness of two weeks. Death was attributed to complications resulting from ptomaine poisoning.

Funeral services for the former grocer were held here Tuesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the residence. The Rev. W. F. Ferguson officiated and burial was in the Slaton cemetery by the Foster funeral home.

Mr. Twaddle is survived by his widow, one daughter, Mrs. Edna Woods, and one granddaughter, Madeline Woods. Born in Illinois, Mr. Twaddle came to Texas at the age of 12, settling in Ellis County. He came to the plains from that county. Paulbearers were J. H. Brewer, F. V. Williams, T. J. Abel, W. H. Sewell, Briggs Robertson, and G. W. Bownds.

Frank Pohl, son of Mr. F. J. Pohl, has successfully passed the Model Office test which is the last step in his business training at the Chillicothe Business College in Chillicothe, Mo. After a month or six weeks spent in the Office Training Department at C. B. C., Mr. Pohl will be ready for a position.

Last Basket-Ball Game Tuesday

The basket-ball season is drawing near to a close and it is the desire of the athletic department to end the season with enough enthusiasm to start next year off with a bang.

The Southland High School basket-ball teams are to be here next Tuesday night, February 23, with a large crowd of supporters. So get ready Slaton, and be at the gymnasium Tuesday night. The lassies from Southland gave the battered Tigress team a thorough trouncing last week, but we expect to be in better condition for this game, which will probably be the last game of the season.

If you want to see the Lubbock County Champions play once more this year, be out Tuesday night.

Special Program Over CBS Stations

NEW YORK.—Box office drawing power of radio's big names will be given a thorough test when the Camel Quarter Hour goes on an extensive vaudeville tour of Mid-Western and Eastern cities, opening in St. Louis February 19. Morton Downey, Tony Wons and the orchestra under Jacques Renard will all be included in the stage invasion.

During the 12-week trip the program will be broadcast regularly from CBS stations in the various cities. Eight weeks of work have been definitely scheduled, calling for stage appearances in RKO theatres in St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit, Albany, Boston and Buffalo. Other cities which probably will see the act are Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore.

Arrangements call for the group to leave New York after the regular coast-to-coast broadcast of Tuesday. The following night they will broadcast from Cleveland and on February 18 they will transmit their program from St. Louis. Their theatre opening in the Missouri city will be the following day, Friday, February 19.

Officials of the vaudeville circuit are confident they will draw capacity houses during this tour of one of the most popular programs on the air. They point out that never before has a radio act including three stellar performers been routed over an extensive circuit. They plan to place all of the strength of their exploitation department behind the act.

One of the interesting features of the tour is that for the first time a radio act will be billed under its commercial name. This will also be Morton Downey's first big vaudeville expedition since he has gained his huge radio following, although he has been featured in New York theatres frequently during the past year. Tony Wons has a considerable following in Mid-West where he built up his early radio reputation. He has made personal appearance there. Jacques Renard will be seen in the middle west for the first time, although he has made public appearances in New York and Boston.

Worland McAtee, ex-debator and graduate of the Slaton High, will represent the University of New Mex. in a debate with Tech at Lubbock next Monday night, February 22 and wishes to see some of his Slaton friends there.

The question will be "State Compulsory Unemployment Insurance." His debating partner will be E. S. Mayfield of Abernathy, Texas.

Slaton Girls Win County Tournament

The finals of the county basketball tournament held at Lubbock last Saturday resulted in a double-header between the boys and the girls teams of Slaton and Shallowater, with the Tigeresses of Slaton pulling away to a well earned 47 to 35 victory and the championship of Lubbock county. The Tigres were not so fortunate. After nosing out Idalou 33 to 32 in a thrilling battle in which both teams lead at different times, Slaton could not find the basket in the final, and lost to Shallowater by the topheavy score of 64 to 21.

Playing without the services of Roy Foutz, the tall and rangy Tiger center, the Slaton team's defense was not equal to the teamwork and fast passing of the Shallowater boys, whose deadly aim under the basket, and whose uncanny ability to get in position for crisp shots, caused the score to mount to almost unbelievable proportions.

The Shallowater girls made an early bid for the county championship by sinking two basket in the early moments of the game, and so effective were the opponents guards, that for a while it appeared the lead would be held, but Self, Poteet and Saage finally succeeded in getting their passes to working, and by the beginning of the second quarter the Tigeresses passed the upstaters, gradually increasing the lead as the game progressed. The effective guarding of Banks, I. Harper, H. Harper, and Patterson proved too much for the fast scoring of Shallowater, thus keeping the score down.

Slaton Boys In Romeo-Juliet Cast

WAXAHACHIE.—John and Robert Rayburn of Slaton have been selected as characters in "Romeo and Juliet" which is to be presented here Friday, Feb. 26, by the Trinity University Little Theatre, it has been announced by John Ackley, president of the club. "Romeo and Juliet" will be the third full length play given at Trinity this year as "Ten Nights in a Bar-Room" was given by the Little Theatre and "A Full House" was presented by the local chapter of the Alpha Psi Omega dramatic fraternity.

A Shakespearian Festival Week is to be sponsored in Waxahachie the week preceding the presentation of "Romeo and Juliet," according to Miss Ye'ta Mitchell, director.

Trinity's Little Theatre is looking forward also to the play tournaments to be held this spring. Last year Trinity won first place in the Central Texas Dramatic Tournament and a Trinity student won the award as the best actor.

Mass Meeting Held On Tax Reduction

In mass meeting assembled this 11th day of February 1932. We your committee on resolutions, beg to report the following as adopted by this committee, and respectfully ask that this assemblage adopt the same.

First, resolved that no land in the Slaton community should be assessed for more than $12.00 per acre for county and State Tax purposes, second, that land adjoining the City of Slaton in tracts of 80 acres or more, should not be assessed for more than $25.00 per acre for School purposes, and that land with in the one mile limit of town should not be assessed to exceed $25.00 per acre, for School purposes, and land inside the two mile limit should not be assessed to exceed $20.00 per acre for same purpose, and land inside the three mile limit of Slaton should not be assessed to exceed $17.50 per acre for same purposes, and land beyond the three mile limit should not be assessed not to exceed $15.00 per acre.

Respectfully submitted.

J. S. Edwards, R. A. Meeks, W. R. Wilson, W. E. Smart, Andy Caldwell, L. J. Strube, M. F. Klattenhoff, unanimously by the entire meeting G. A. Guthrie, chairman.

And it is further resolved, that it is the sense of this meeting to ask our County Commissioner to reduce all expense possible in the administration of the county affairs, and that we believe that the County should dispense of the services of the County Agent and his retinue of office help, and that the condition of this County at this time demands a close attention of all expenditures, and in order to lower the tax assessment, which by all means should be done, it will be necessary to dispense of the services of all farm demonstration agents and their kindred, and we believe the thing most needed now, is men with enough courage to say no, and to vote no, the time has come when we must loose our homes or make a stand against this unreasonable Tax, there is no good times in the immediate future that we can see, so lets build from the actual condition of to day.

Further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the Slatonite, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and the Morning Avalanche.

The above resolutions was unanimously adopted by the entire meeting.

Navy's Big Parade Palace Saturday

Is Davy Jones' locker a sort of happy hunting ground to which ships that have had gallant careers go gladly to well earned reward?

This interesting question was raised during the making of RKO Pathe's sea spectacle, "Suicide Fleet," which opens an engagement at the Palace Theatre for Saturday only.

Deep water sailors of the fast vanishing canvas era believe so. To them, ships are human and no sight in the world is so distressing as that of some noble sailing vessel rotting away in a harbor graveyard.

That taunt belief brought comfort to two grizzled sailing captains, H. N. Burgess and Tomas Ryan as they saw their ships, the clippers Indiana and Bohemia, sent to the bottom of the Pacific for battle action of the Navy's Big Parade.

"It's the kind of an end they would want," spoke Ryan, as he turned away while a shell from a Navy submarine ploughed through the stout wooden hull of the Bohemia. "Action to the last. Going fighting."

"Aye," responded Burgess, whose vessel was soon to follow her sister clipper to the bottom. "It would break their hearts to rot in a harbor berth and maybe in the end be used for kindling wood to keep some landlubber warm. They'll join a noble company down there."

Bill Boyd, Robert Armstrong, James Gleason, Ginger Rogers and Harry Bannister head the featured cast. The story, an action drama of the World War, as fought on the sea, was written by Commander Herbert A. Jones of the United States Navy. Lew Lipton prepared the screen play. Albert Rogell directed.

POSEY PARAGRAPHS

ONE SPOKE

We had supposed that spring was at hand and that the old ground hog was all off when he made his prediction on the second of the month. But as we are writing this it is getting colder and we are about convinced that Mr. Ground Hog was right after all.

The Rev. James Rayburn of Slaton preached a very nice sermon here on Sunday afternoon. A nice sized crowd was in attendance and every body enjoyed what Bro. Rayburn had to say.

Those who attended the farmers and home makers banquet at Lubbock on last Thursday included Mr. and Mrs. C. Z. Fine, J. L. Benton, P. G. Meading and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wicker. All reported that they enjoyed every minute while in attendance. Some very interesting talks were made during this gathering.

J. W. Sisk reports that some one entered his chicken house some time during last Saturday nite and helped themselves to his chickens, taking all but six.

Mrs. J. L. Benton entertained some of the young people here with a party on last Thursday evening. Every body reported a lovely time.

H. B. Freeman who was injured here during an altercation on Sunday nite is well on his road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schultz are the parents of a nice boy. Lawrence carries his head as high as a prudent knight of olden days.

Now let us not forget that the fourth Sunday singing this time will be at Posey. We always try to have a nice time when we meet for these occasions and want all that care to sing or listen to the other fellow sing come on out and enjoy your selves. We still have two weeks before the time, but we want to call your attention to it now. Some times it pays to advertise early.

HOW ONE WOMAN Lost 10 Lbs. in a Week

Mrs. Betty Luedeke of Dayton writes: "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week and cannot say too much to recommend it."

To take off fat easily, SAFELY and HARMLESSLY—take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water in the morning before breakfast—it is the safe way to lose unsightly fat and one bottle that lasts 4 weeks costs but a trifle. Get it at any drug store in America. If his first bottle fails to convince you this is the safest way to lose fat—money back.

But be sure and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous and you must safeguard your health.

"WHEN IT'S SPRING TIME IN THE ARMY"

Sung to the tune of—"When IT'S SPRING TIME IN THE ROCKIES."

When it's spring time in the Army Where the clouds of gray float o'er Where the rivers flow so freely With the blood of rushing men When it's spring time in the Army Then I'd love to go away When it's spring time in the Army I would like to leave and stay.

When it's spring time in the Army Where the bullets scream in air Where the "Night-hawk" find its enemy

Where the river passes by; When it's spring time in the Army Then I'd love to go away When it's spring time in the Army I would like to leave and stay.

If you feel in need of brain food this column can furnish you with a little food for thought.

It is better to be a wise follower than a bad leader.

The business man's cry these days is, "Give me a break, then I won't go broke!"

Farm relief is getting results. Already it has relieved thousands of farmers of their farms.

At least one thing can be said of a tottering bank, it gives its depositors a run for their money.

Slaton is in the same boat with Southland and Posey—they are all exempt from further bank failures.

Modern governmental policy is to tax you until you howl, then fine you for disturbing the peace.

A writer advises us to put our dollars to work in 1932. That is what we did with the one we had and already it has worked itself to death.

Just how far a dollar can go these days we do not know. Ours, having once left us, seems to have just kept on going.

There is no essential difference between a bank failure and a crop failure. Either of them gets it all.

Politically speaking, we know the Democrats are going to win this year because they said so at the Jackson Day dinner.

And some think to get rich with Ritchie while others are trying to get the dough with Baker.

And just as we were building our hopes on Democratic success this year the two banks in Slaton went Republican.

If there is anything in a name, a Congressman-at-large ought to be large in other ways than avoidpouls.

Henry is designing a new car at a lower price, so prepare yourself for another avalanche of Ford jokes.

There are no regrets in life quite so poignant as those which come as one gazes back and contemplates his mis-spent opportunities.

Congress is debating legislation to aid the jobless. If the depression lasts as long as the debate does it promises to be the world's champion marathon.

Maybe the jobless and hungry men, women and children in this land would stand a better chance to get legislative aid if they were all rich corporations instead of poor jobless and hungry men, women and children.

When this depression ends all of us will courageously start at the bottom to begin getting unprepared to meet the next one.

With American girls wearing silk skirts, Hawaiian girls wearing grass skirts, and lot of girls wearing no skirts, a cotton surplus was really to be expected.

This world may have at some time produced a stool pigeon who achieved success and rose to fame, but if so, history has utterly neglected to record the fact.

That Phoenix jury refused to believe Mrs. Judd was insane, and now Winnie Ruth probably thinks the jury was crazy.

A jewel of consistency would be for those opposed to being punished capitally to refrain from the commission of capital crimes.

And a defendant who commits two capital crimes is in no very good position to rail at a court that commits only one capital punishment.

This Sino-Jap war not only drove Mr. Mussolini from the front page but also it seems out of the paper entirely.

At any rate the general staff of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, composed as it is of multi-millionaires, whose business it is to stop this depression, starts out looking mighty prosperous as individuals.

The nice fat salaries attached to the R. F. C. job will undoubtedly have the fine effect of ending the depression at least so far as the gentlemen who compose the general staff are concerned.

It should not, of course, be inferred that we are pessimistic over the ability of the R. F. C. to end the depression merely because the Farm Relief Board accomplished such wonders for American agriculture.

Just when the Pros were depending on their Cannon as a big gun, he suddenly turned out to be target rifle, while the Antis look upon him merely as a target.

If this thing over in the Far East keeps on there is grave danger that China and Japan will get mad after a while and actually declare war on each other.

We wouldn't be surprised if most any day Japan would send a note to Uncle Sam and Johnny Bull telling them plain out she considers them meddlesome butt-in-skis.

Most assuredly we are opposed to Japan gaining control of the Pacific, because, come to think of it, that is precisely what our own country intends to do.

Now that the evidence is all in, the recent Tech fiasco presents a perfect example of a Tempest in a Teapot.

Sh! Gentle reader, take warning! Now that them old witch-burning days are returning you mustn't dare do any thinking yourself nor permit college professors to do so, either, 'cause independent thinking is once again getting to be a crime, doncher know!

Probably there comes a time in the life of everyone when he imagines he has a monopoly of Truth and is right to the exclusion of the rest of the world. Most people, however, outgrow that foolishness, while a few never do.

And it has just about gotten so that if you harbor the notion for example, that Russia is engaged in a noble experiment, some intolerant bigot will rise up and brand you a dangerous hombre.

Our notion is that a gentleman in this good year of 1932 is courting certain and deserved failure when he attempts to turn the world back to the Dark Ages and put shackles on the human brain. It can't be done. Can't! Them days are gone forever. Gone! Forever!

Thinking men and women will do their own thinking and arrive at their own conclusions regarding religious, theological, political, social and moral questions, notwithstanding all silly efforts to shackle the human mind. Humanity having long ago escaped from the thralldom of mental slavery will never again permit itself to be entangled in that net.

It is, of course, something that requires no special amount of brains to hurl charges against the other fellow, or even against college professors, but sometimes it is an insuperable task to answer the other fellow's arguments, and abuse of the man is not an answer to his arguments. Only ignorant folks think so.

So far as the Constitution of the United States and of Texas are concerned, ignorance and bigotry are not made capital offenses. Ignorance and bigotry, however, have a way of their own of making a donkey out of him who persists in parading them.

Something has happened up Tech way during the past fortnight that is strongly reminiscent of that great event in history when the innumerable Scythians, many years B. C., was put to death for committing that unpardonable sin of "polluting the minds of youth." Socrates is today a brilliant and flaming star on the world's intellectual horizon, but can you, friend, name so many as one of his defamers and executioners?

A study of history makes us humble and tolerant. We find that mankind has been so often wrong in its judgment of what error is. Today's accepted truth was yesterday's heresy. Today's error may be the great accepted truths of tomorrow. To the world's heretics belongs the credit for leading the human mind out of the mental slavery of the dark ages to this modern day when intellectual emancipation is an accomplished fact. Nothing is to be feared from error so long as truth is left free to combat it. Those who entertain ideas and theories oftentimes entertain angels unwares. Ideas and theories should be given absolute freedom, to survive or perish in proportion to their intrinsic merit and soundness. Truth is what remains of an idea and theories after they have engaged in mortal combat and run the gamut of untrammelled public scrutiny and discussion. It is no more right to suppress the one than the other. It is to humanity's interest that neither shall be suppressed. Once upon a time a voice came from Heaven saying: "Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard to kick against the pricks!" So it is. The man who kicks against facts engages in futile and fruitless enterprise. Facts suffer not a whit from such encounter, but acquire added polish and luster. Opposition to facts adds greatly to their prominence and importance. Opposition also affords a valuable and needed stimulus to the humble and obscure searcher after truth. Progress is that tiny spark that is given off as a by-product in the mighty, eternal and inexorable conflict between ideas and theories and opinions. Mankind indeed owes much to discovered truth, and to those courageous intellectual pioneers who have made new paths through the wilderness, across, strange seas and among the stars, and perhaps mankind owes an equal debt to those who, ignorantly or selfishly, have placed obstacles in the way and sought to thwart the irresistible onward progress of those sturdy and fearless pioneers whose unselfish labors in dark and unknown regions have brought from darkness nuggets of truth that at once lend glory to the human mind and light up humanity's pathway in a universe so menaced by ignorance, bigotry, dogma and superstition.

Finally, we rise to remark that there is something admirable, and hopeful, when a fine bunch of college students, with near approach to unanimity, resent any attempt, whatever the motive, to cow, humiliate, hamper, beat down and fetter their teachers. The modern student looks not to his college to tell him what he shall think but rather to teach him how to think. He then as an individual will work out his own destiny. That is as it should be, because this world has more need for thinkers, free, courageous and independent, than it has for phonographs!

Someone is forever taking the joy out of life. We are going to be in a sweat and a nightmare for fear the outcome of the Literary Digest's prohibition poll will not sustain our prophecy as to where the people of this country stand as regards the Noble Experiment.

And we foresee the din that will ensue when the prohibition poll is complete, as the losers shout "fraud" and "fake," while the winners will send forth their lusty "I told you so!"

Woodrow Wilson once remarked: "It takes the Almighty one hundred years to make an oak tree, but he can make a squash in one summer." The remark was made in voicing his opposition to reducing the college course from four to three years. A trained mind and real ability are not the results of quick mushroom growth. To the young therefore we would say: Be not impatient to tackle great and difficult tasks before you are fitted by age, training and experience to wrestle with them with some fair prospect of doing so successfully. Success and achievement that come later in life are usually on a firmer foundation and more lasting, whereas great achievement early in life is not infrequently the result of accident, turns one's head, renders him content to rest on his laurels, and spoils a promising career.

One of the most remarkable things in the modern educational world is how inimitably little a pupil can know and still be eligible for a high school or college diploma. A diploma is no longer evidence that the holder has a trained mind and a dominating purpose in life, but merely evidences the fact that the pupil has spent a certain and prescribed number of months in attendance of a certain institution that masquerades as an educational mill.

If you, young man and woman, wish to know what are the chances that you will in future amount to anything, just ask yourselves what it is that you really love and crave. You will then find your answer. If you really love learning and crave it, there is abundance of hope for you. If in addition to your love of, and craving for, learning, you are not afraid of hard work, and are willing to follow the example of the little postage stamp—stick until you get there—it is a safe bet that the future will fear from you, and that you will make your creditable mark in the world. A simple test, indeed, but how few—how very few—can meet it!

GEORGE WASHINGTON Two hundred years ago—on February 22, 1732—George Washington was born. In every phase and activity in which he engaged and in every human contact he deserved and won the confidence and respect of his contemporaries. Nevertheless, as is always true in the lives of great men, he had many and bitter enemies, but an enemy or critic who has received the sanction of history.

The Father of his Country reached the heights based more upon his sterling and unimpeachable character than upon his ability, great undoubtedly as that was. He had the courage of his convictions, and the faculty of being in the right. His course was rendered easier by reason of his intense sincerity, unwavering patriotism, and ambition to do justice. His motto, in private life, as a constitution maker, as a general in war, as a statesman, in every relation, was to avoid entangling alliances.

Washington was not, like Lincoln, of humble origin. He was born of the aristocracy, but his solicitations were for the masses. He lived a life of regal splendor, nevertheless a life filled with sacrifices, and a devotion to the public welfare that has endeared him to all succeeding generations. He was in his public career beset with traitors and ingrates, like Horatio Gates and Benedict Arnold, but on the other hand he had as his supporters numbers of men of great learning, high patriotism, and willingness to render disinterested service, like Franklin, John and Samuel Adams, Alexander Hamilton, Madison, and a host of others. Be it said to his credit and sagacity that he drew heavily upon their counsel and wisdom, but kept his own counsel and made his own decisions.

George Washington laid well and firm the foundations of the American government, spurned with contempt an attempt to make him king, set an example of uprightness and public fidelity that is potent today. In his Farewell Address he laid down principles and national policies that were effective in 1920 to cause the defeat of the League of Nations, so far as its adoption by American was concerned. Washington had warned against entangling alliances and meddling in the affairs of Europe. The American people still believe that to be sound advice, and their continued loyalty to Washington prevents their departing from his example. It is the path of safety. Woodrow Wilson could not lead us to abandon it.

Washington did not live to see the dawn of the nineteenth century but he did live to hear himself eulogized by his fellow compatriots as "First in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." He lived to see the machinery of the Constitution, which he had been so influential in framing, put into practical operation, with himself as head of one of the three great departments of the new government. It was the greatest experiment in popular government ever attempted by man, before or since. That the Constitution prevailed, that popular government succeeded, that humanity took a long stride forward in establishing their freedom and liberties upon a firm foundation, is due, not alone, but in large and substantial part, to George Washington.

PROTECTION FOR BANK DEPOSITORS

Little adequate protection is afforded to people of this country who deposit their money in banks. We boast our wisdom, and ability at efficient self government, but when testing time comes, as it does in time of depression, our banking system is lamentably lacking.

Once Texas had what was known as the Guaranty Deposit Law. All state banks contributed to a fund known as the Guaranty Fund. When a bank failed other Guaranty Fund Banks were assessed to make up the money necessary to pay off the depositors. Then Texas created an alternative method, known as the Bonding System, whereby a state bank was required to furnish acceptable bond for the protection of its depositors, and a bank could elect to operate either under the guaranty plan or the bond plan. Then Texas, mainly at the behest of the banks themselves, repealed both plans, and the poor depositor now has no protection whatsoever.

We say no protection whatever. We do however have some rather comprehensive banking laws, which make provision for and create the office of Banking Commissioner, and bestow upon him who holds that office almost plenary powers. Depositors have a very fair measure of protection if the Banking Commissioner desires and determines to afford protection to the depositors, but if that official elects to ignore the rights of depositors then all protection ceases.

That seems to be the condition prevailing in Texas under the present regime. Just why, we are not able to tell you. The Banking Commissioner is, at public expense, provided with adequate means of acquiring the facts. He has a goodly number of bank examiners at his beck and call, whose duty it is, at any time the Commissioner chooses, to make examination and inspection of the condition and affairs of state banks. They do this frequently, and draw their nice salaries, and make their reports to the Commissioner. We have every reason to believe that in the vast majority of instances these bank examiners do their duty, but the decision as to what action shall be taken, based upon the information disclosed by the examination, belongs with the Commissioner. Does that official make use of that information to protect the depositors? Apparently he does not.

Consider the facts and actual conditions. Many state banks have failed in Texas recently. Can you name one that failed where its assets were sufficient to pay the depositors more than a few cents on the dollar? You cannot. Why is that? When a bank is examined and the facts disclosed, and it appears that said bank is going down hill, that it is in a failing condition, that the rights if the depositors are in jeopardy, why does the Commissioner permit that bank to go on and continue in its unsafe and failing condition? Right then he is placed on notice. Why does he not right then call a halt, and notify that bank that it must put itself on a sound basis else he will close its doors before it goes farther down the hill toward failure? Why does he let that bank go on and on, until its affairs are hopeless, until the bank itself knows it cannot go on, throws up its hands, and makes a voluntary surrender of a wreck and pile of junk to the Commissioner for him to liquidate, with virtually a total loss to the depositors?

Are we exaggerating? We submit to you known and observable facts. We have no desire to be unjust, but as interested citizens of Texas we not only have an interest in the matter, but a right to make comment on the situation. The state banking system of Texas in the present state of our banking laws is strong and affords protection to the depositor just in proportion that the man who holds the position of Banking Commissioner is capable and efficient. It is a sad commentary, but nevertheless one sustained by the facts, that depositors in State Banks in Texas receive virtually no degree of protection from that office. The theory of the law creating the office and prescribing the duties of its incumbent was, we think, that the people of Texas should be served, but tottering banks are allowed to go on and on until they fail a heap of ruins at the feet of the Commissioner. It seems that if the salvage from the wreck proves sufficient to pay the fat overhead cost of liquidation everybody else ought to be satisfied. But the people of Texas are not satisfied. Not satisfied at all. A wise and prudent watchcare in that office with courage and ability to perform its duties would reduce losses of depositors to a minimum. As it is, when a bank fails the loss to the depositors approaches the maximum. Perhaps the average run of depositors, who constitute the body of taxpayers in Texas, feel that if the office of Banking Commissioner was abolished the plight of the depositor would not be made worse; that something would be saved to the public funds in getting rid of inefficiency, and permitting the failed bank to be liquidated by a receiver appointed by the District Court on application made by interested depositors. The present policy and practice is disastrous to depositors. A change in policy and practice is imperative and is demanded. Who will rise and second the motion? Possibly if the Commissioner was elected by the people, the interests of the masses, of the taxpayers, of the depositors, would receive more consideration.

Bert Lahr & Charlotte Greenwood In Comedy

America's most imitated comedian, and Charlotte Greenwood, make a great pair in the hilariously funny M-G-M comedy with music, "Flying High," which opens Thursday 25, for two day run at the Palace Theatre.
The director, Charles Riesner, deserves great credit for having added this definite knockout to the already long list of his comedy achievements, which includes "Reducing," "Caught Short" and "Politics."
Ridiculous fun at an airport and in the air is enlivened by several coring song numbers, and a beauty chorus that is very easy to look at. Kathryn Crawford sings several of the best numbers, and other players of importance are Pat O'Brien, Charles Winninger, Hedda Hopper, Guy Kibbee and Herbert Braggotti. The songs are by Dorothy Fields and James McHugh, and DeSylva, Brown and Henderson. Busby Berkeley directed the dances.

Chamber of Commerce News

By A. J. PAYNE, Secretary

Last week we stated in this column that we had written our Congressman and Senators regarding the loans to farmers.

We have had quick response not only from our Congressman Marmin Jones, and our Senators Morris Shepherd, and Tom Connally, but also from near at home, from the Chairman of the Contact Committee in Dallas, so we hope to have quick relief if we have any at all.

The United Charities Association is running low on all clothing and other material. If any one has a surplus, we would be glad to have you bring it to the Charity Building on Texas Ave. The place is open Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The Washington Bi-Centennial Committee as appointed by the Mayor have had their first meeting, and organization has been effected and ready to start, full details of this will be found in another column of this paper.

Out of 77 farmers wheat notes that the Chamber of Commerce have, there are 37 of them that the farmer has come in and paid on, either with cash or wheat, or with excuses, and 40 that has had no attention from the farmer at all.

These latter 40 could help a busted Chamber of Commerce, out nicely by coming in at this time and taking care of their note either with the cash or wheat, will you do it? Does not one good turn deserve another?

FACTS, PHILOSOPHY AND PHOOLISHNESS

William Randolph Hearst says that the United States needs a genuine Democrat president. We don't know just what Mr. Hearst calls a genuine Democrat, but, inasmuch as it always has been customary to point, with just pride, to Thomas Jefferson as the founder of real democracy, we presume, as a matter of course, that he means a man who resembles Jefferson, to some extent at least.

If that's what he means, we agree with him, unanimously; and if he is able and willing to place that kind of material at the helm of the ship of state, he ought to be kept busy from now till next November, and his name ought to have a conspicuous place on the pages of history.

But the percentage of Democrats of that type is small, in the twentieth century, and it seems to us that each succeeding generation is drifting a little farther away from Jefferson's footprints on the sands of time.

He was not only an honest, sincere and able statesman, but was a man of extraordinary foresight and business judgment, and was the best land buyer on record. His last words were, "This is the fourth of July."

And, by the way, listen to what Jefferson said about patronizing home trade, "The prohibitory duties we lay on all articles of foreign manufacture, which prudence requires us to establish at home, with the patriotic determination of every good citizen to use no foreign article that can be manufactured within ourselves, without regard to difference in price, secure us against a relapse into a foreign dependency."

If that was good for the country is good for Slaton but Paul can't adhere strictly to this policy in the matter of patronizing Peter, unless Peter will remember the same rule when in need of such things as Paul has for sale.

What we mean is this: The local farmers can't afford to patronize the local merchants without regard to difference, if the merchants insist on buying their beans, spuds, vegetables, beef, pork and lard of a big white collared outfit in some faraway city. The local carpenters, bricklayers, painters and laborers can't afford to patronize merchants without regard to difference in price, if the merchants import men from other cities to do their building, repairing and other work.

And a home newspaper can't afford then, it is good for it now. If it is good for the United States, it is good for Texas. If it is good for Texas, it to patronize merchants without regard to difference in price, if the merchants go to some othe city to get their bills and circulars printed.

Santa Fe-A & M College Farm and Home Special to Make Tour of Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 31.—Carrying numerous exhibits showing results of tried methods in producing better profits and better living on the farm, the 1932 Santa Fe-A&M College Farm and Home Special, plans for which are rapidly maturing, will begin its tour of all Santa Fe lines in Texas Feb. 15 at Navasota. The tour, covering several thousand miles and including 147 stops over a period of forty-five days, will end April 6 at Snyder.

As in the case of similar trains in Texas in the past, the agricultural special will be conducted cooperatively by the Santa Fe Railway Company and the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College with the assistance of other institutions and agencies. Official approval of plans and arrangements for the special has been given by F. G. Pettibone, vice-president and general manager, and J. S. Hershey, general freight agent, of the railway company, and President T. O. Walton and Director O. B. Martin of the Extension Service, on behalf of the college.

The special, a nine-car train, will be operated by the Santa Fe while the exhibits and speakers, specialists in their various lines who will explain the exhibits and their application to local conditions at each of the numerous stops, will be supplied by the college. Programs will be from two to three hours in duration at each stop and an electrically controlled voice amplifier will be used at the open air meetings.

The train will cover the territory of both the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe and the Panhandle and Santa Fe. J. F. Jarrell, manager of agricultural development of the railway, will have general charge of the enterprise. L. F. Dinan, agricultural agent of the G. C. and S. F. at Galveston, will handle program arrangements for meetings in his territory, and J. D. Tinsley, of the P. and S. F. at Amarillo, in territory of the latter line.

The special will carry exhibits showing tried methods of making the farm self sustaining and of cutting production costs. Extension specialists will make brief talks on home

Exhibits of special interest to women and girls will be included, these arranged under the supervision of Miss Mildred Horton, state home demonstration agent of the Extension Service. Farm electrification exhibit showing the many uses to which electricity may be put on the farm will be prepared by the Texas committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture.

Following talks at the various stops, visitors will be invited to go through the train. Passenger coaches will be used for meetings in inclement weather. Similar trains were conducted by the Santa Fe and A&M in 1923, 1924 and 1928. Some Grain Is Being Shipped

Cotton Also Being Moved To —Ports; Conditions In General In South Plains Are Reported Good

GRAIN, movement, especially of grain sorghums, is showing a little activity at present in spite of low prices for grain, railroad men say.

There has been an increased movement from the South Plains to Fort Worth and to other points in Central and East Texas the past several weeks

Cotton also is moving to the ports from this area. It is reported that approximately 360,000 bales of cotton have been compressed on the South Plains this season. Ginnings approximate 100,000 bales more than that figure.

Conditions Good
South Plains have been good the past month or six weeks, both E. Kancher division freight agent of the Santa Fe and R. E. Stroup, general agent of the Fort Worth and Denver, claim.

There is considerable activity on the part of farmers as the planting season nears and a fair movement of farm machinery is anticipated.

"I have talked to a number of dealers and agents of farm machinery here and the farmers have not made up their minds on what amount of new machinery they will purchase," said Mr. Kancher.

"I have never seen as much interest among farmers on freight rates as there has been this winter," Mr. Stroup explained. "We have had a about machinery rates. I am of the opinion the sales of farm machinery will be better."

Little building material has come there is a hope that some building will be done this spring.

Mrs. L. A. Wilson and Little daughter, Lena Lee, of Vernon are the guest of the formers Mother Mrs. W. O. Woon, and other relatives here.
