

Benson Plans Overseas Use Of Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower soon will ask Congress for authority to use up to one billion dollars worth of surplus farm products to help strengthen the economies of friendly countries.

This plan was disclosed today by Secretary of Agriculture Benson in a statement before the Senate Agriculture Committee, outlining the administration's new farm program.

The proposed use of government surpluses—which Benson said today would be in addition to 2½ billion worth of surpluses which would be "insulated" from regular commercial supplies for special uses. Surpluses would be for disaster relief, the school lunch program and for stockpiling for national emergencies.

The "insulating" idea was advanced by the President a week ago in a special message to Congress outlining his farm program.

Benson told the Senate committee that the President has authorized him to announce the plans for the expanded use of farm surpluses abroad, in advance of the Chief Executive's budget message which is scheduled to go before Congress Thursday. The secretary said that this message would set forth the President's new proposal.

Details of how the overseas surplus program would be handled were not specified in Benson's statement.

He did say the billion dollars worth of surpluses would be used over a three-year period to "complement our general program of economic and technical development" abroad.

Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said in advance of Benson's appearance that he wanted to know "just how the President Eisenhower's farm program and why." Chairman Algren (R-Vt.) of the committee billed Benson's testimony as "an outlook for agriculture."

Eisenhower said his farm program, which has stirred up heated opposition from many Democrats and some Republicans, was based on "the most thorough and comprehensive study ever made of the farm problem and of governmental farm programs."

Taking part in the study, he said, were more than 500 eminent farm leaders, agricultural colleges, scores of producer and trade groups, national farm organizations, members of Congress and thousands of individual farmers.

Under Eisenhower's proposals, supports would be relatively high in times of scarcity, to encourage production, and low in times of surplus, to discourage it.

"It seems to me that there is no need to raise supports when there is a scarcity," Ellender said. "The market normally would eliminate need for any supports."

Local Man Dies In Auto Crash Near Midland

W. A. Foster Jr., building superintendent for West Texas Builders at Webb AFB, was killed in a head-on car collision 10 miles east of Midland Sunday night.

The crash occurred in a dense fog. Two women in the other car, were not hurt seriously. They were Mrs. Willard Pratt and Georgia Miles, both of Midland.

Foster, formerly of Lubbock, had been on jobs at the air base here for about the past two years. He and Mrs. Foster had made their home in their trailer house which was at the OK Courts.

The body was taken Monday morning from Midland to the Rix Funeral Home in Lubbock where services will be held. Arrangements, however, were incomplete.

Besides his wife, Mr. Foster leaves two sons, one in the service, and the other in Fort Worth. He had been supervising work on the base chapel and a small electronics building at Webb. His card was in the Big Spring local of the Carpenters' union.

In another mishap in the area, Ralph Franklin Holley, 17, Midland, overturned his car on the outskirts of Midland and was killed.

Worst accident in a series that claimed 17 lives violently in Texas over the weekend was a crash near Bowie on Friday night when five persons were killed.

Denver Has $2500 Per Head Sales

DENVER (AP)—Ranchers looked for step-up activity today at the National Western Stock Show and Rodeo, encouraged by reports of some scattered cattle sales up to $2,500 a head.

Nearly 1,800 registered Hereford bulls still were in the Denver Union Stockyard pens as the show moved into its fourth day.

Featured today were the auctioning of 209 Hereford bulls and 68 females. Angus females are to be sold tomorrow, shortborns Wednesday and Angus bulls Wednesday and Thursday.

Stockmen watched closely, meanwhile, for some indication in early sales. Off yesterday's light activity, the trend appeared to be toward substantially above average prices, and show officials termed it "most encouraging."

The Alfred Meeker & Sons Ranch of Dalhart, Tex., sold six registered Hereford bulls in private sales for $1500 to $2500 apiece. Another bull sold by the Atchison-PCB Hereford Ranch of Colorado Springs also brought $2500.

The average price paid for a record 3,500 bulls at the 1953 National Western was only $350.

Two Texans won first in the rodeo yesterday. Marshall Patton of Midland was first in steer wrestling with a time of 17 seconds. Spec McLaughlin of Fort Worth won first in Brahma bull riding.

Kansas State, with 4,352 points, won the intercollegiate livestock judging event at the show yesterday.

Finishing behind the Kansans were South Dakota State, Nebraska, Texas Tech, Oklahoma A&M and North Dakota State in that order.

Moon Eclipse Is Due Tonight

Big Springs, along with millions of others over the nation, will be in on the principal astronomical show of the year when the moon moves into total eclipse tonight.

According to a chart prepared by Doman Roberts, department of physics at Hardin-Simmons University, the moon will enter the penumbra, the thin secondary shadow cast by the earth, at 5:40 p.m. It will enter the umbra, the dense shadow, at 6:50 p.m.

Total eclipse will occur at 8:17 p.m. and will end at 8:47 p.m. The moon will move out from the umbra by 10:14 p.m. and from the penumbra at 11:24 p.m.

Usually the moon assumes a copperish color while in total eclipse, and for some reason the sunset may appear red, said Roberts.

The moon tonight will be only 240,300 miles from the earth, although the umbra extends out as far as 850,000 miles. However, the moon will pass through the edge of the umbra and remain in total eclipse for half an hour.

Binoculars or telescopes will aid the average observer in watching the phenomenon.

There will be a partial eclipse of the moon on July 15 but it hardly will equal tonight's display. On June 30 the sun will move into total eclipse in the Minneapolis area but it will not be visible from here. Total lunar eclipses cannot occur more often than three times per year, and sometimes more than a year passes with no total lunar eclipses.

Houston Man Held After Sister Of Sheriff There Hurt

HOUSTON (AP)—A 26-year-old Houston man is under four charges of assault to murder after six persons, including Sheriff C. V. (Buster) Kern's sister, were wounded by shotgun blasts.

Two 12-gauge shotgun charges were fired through a rear door of a cafe on the Houston-Baytown highway Saturday night.

The charges against Marion Eugene LaDue were filed yesterday with Justice of the Peace R. E. Zierlein of Baytown. A brother, Thomas LaDue, 28, was charged with disturbing the peace.

Kern directed the investigation. Five persons, including two women, were arrested for questioning. Mrs. Dee Clayton, Kern's sister, her two young children, Mrs. Charlie Phillips, wife of the cafe owner, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Glenn Phillips, 15, received minor wounds.

Some 10 pellets struck Clayton in the face.

Phillips, the cafe owner, said the shotgun blasts occurred after two men were ejected from the cafe. One of the men had created disturbance about the price of cigarettes, Phillips said.

Mine Union Official On Trial

Clinton Jencks, center, whose trial on charges of falsifying a non-Communist affidavit entered its second week today, is shown as he left the U.S. Courthouse in El Paso, accompanied by two of his attorneys. Nathan Witt, left, is general counsel for the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers. Jencks is a former president of a New Mexico local of the union and is now an official at the union's Denver office. John McTernan, right, has conducted all defense questioning; he is a West Coast lawyer long associated with labor cases. The charge involves a Taft-Hartley Law affidavit. (AP Wirephoto).

U. S. Witnesses Go Back On Stand In Jencks Trial

EL PASO (AP)—Government witnesses started parading back to the stand today, this time for defense cross-examination, in the trial of labor leader Clinton Jencks.

Jencks is charged with falsifying a Taft-Hartley Law affidavit in 1950 that he was not a Communist or affiliated with Communists.

Last week the defense won a delay in cross-examining when it pleaded surprise in some of those brought to the stand by the government, which expects to conclude its testimony today or tomorrow.

One of the government witnesses last week was Harvey Matusow, self-styled former Communist and FBI informer. He told of meeting Jencks at a northern New Mexico ranch, which he described as a Communist lair.

Another was Rev. Jerry Ford, Negro minister formerly of Albuquerque, and now of Los Angeles, who identified himself as a suspended Communist and FBI informer. He said Jencks was a party leader in the Southwest.

At the time he is accused of lying in the affidavit, Jencks was president of Local 890 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers in the Silver City, N.M., area.

The witness who probably will get sharp questioning is James E. Peterson, training supervisor for Kennecott Copper Corp., Ray, Ariz. Last week he told of meeting Jencks at a high-level Communist party meeting in Salt Lake City.

So far the defense has been concentrating questioning to convince the U.S. district court jury Jencks was a strong union man who had known the late Samuel D. Riddle of Kentucky, owner of the famed race horse Man O' War. The lawyer said the Confederate veteran was a half brother of Samuel Riddle.

The veteran told reporters he remembered he had a brother named "Sam."

The suit later was dropped. Riddle served with the Army of Tennessee in the Civil War. "I remember the war," he once said. "You know, there isn't a grown person living who doesn't remember a war."

His three children still living are Mrs. Cora Thomas of Glendale, Ariz.; Mrs. A. L. Williams of Wichita Falls, and Hy Riddle of Santa Paula, Calif.

Riddle lived in Grayson County, in North Texas, for 23 years where he was a stone mason and farmer. He moved to Wichita Falls in 1940 and then went to the State Confederate Home in January of 1950.

Other Civil War veterans in the United States are Albert Woolson, Duluth, Minn., the only surviving soldier of the Union Army, and Confederate veterans William A. Lundy of Laurel Hill, Fla.; John Salling of Slant, Va.; and Walter Williams.

He would be spruced up, sitting on the side of his bed, his small feet in polished bedroom slippers shuffling the floor in excitement.

Attorneys said he talked for weeks before the party and for weeks after it, going over what would happen and what had happened.

In 1951, he got letters from all over the United States after a lawyer filed a claim for him to a part of the estimated $1 million dollar estate of the late Samuel D. Riddle of Kentucky, owner of the famed race horse Man O' War. The lawyer said the Confederate veteran was a half brother of Samuel Riddle.

Government Backstop Of Health Plans Asked

Superintendent Finds Burglar In His Office

Superintendent W. C. Blankenship beat a hasty retreat from his office last night when someone lunged toward him as he entered to do some night work.

Blankenship told police officers that the unknown man started coming at him as he switched on the light in the office. The school superintendent immediately closed the door between the two of them and headed to the police station.

When officers arrived a few minutes later, the burglar was gone. Entry and exit had apparently been made through the eastern window to the office, which is located at 100 E. 10th. A railroad type lantern was found under Blankenship's desk.

Nothing was reported missing last night, and officers surmised that the man was frightened away by Blankenship's surprise arrival. The incident occurred about 9:20 p.m.

School officials also reported today that the West Ward School was entered sometime over the weekend and that money was taken from the cold drink dispensing machine.

Theft of tools from a car parked in the 100 block of East 2nd was reported to police by Johnny McNeely, 1604 Avion. McNeely said the tools were taken sometime between 2:30 p.m. Sunday. They were valued at more than $50, he said.

Police officers Sunday night found the back door open at the S&H Green Stamp Merchandise Store at 905½ Johnson. Operator of the store was called, but nothing was listed as missing. Officers said it appeared that someone had tried to break into the Good Housekeeping Shop next door also.

Susan Zack, 306 Virginia, told police that a blue and white bicycle was stolen from her home sometime Saturday morning. It was a Western Flyer make, she said.

POLL TAX SALES STILL LAGGING

Formal opening of Howard County's new courthouse yesterday apparently did little to inspire citizens to pay their poll taxes.

Fewer than 100 persons paid poll taxes or secured exemption certificates this morning.

And the rate for the entire year is lagging behind the pace of either 1952 or 1953.

Payments and exemptions so far this year total 3,274. On the same date last year 3,330 persons had qualified themselves for voting, and on Jan. 18, 1952, the total was 4,347—more than 1,000 ahead of this year's payments.

AT HEARING

Parr, Rangers In Fist-Fight

ALICE, Tex. (AP)—Texas Rangers and South Texas political boss George B. Parr brawled in the corridor of the Jim Wells county courthouse today as Parr was waiting for a hearing on a charge of illegally carrying a gun.

The brief, fist-battering fight was between Parr and his nephew Duval County Sheriff Archer Barrera and Ranger Capt. Alfred Allee and Ranger Joe Bridge.

The fight started just after Parr was fingerprinted and photographed.

The four men were talking when Archer Barrera and Bridge got into an argument.

The four had been standing in a corridor outside the court room where Parr and Juan (Canate) Barrera were to appear at a hearing to answer the charges against them of illegal possession of guns.

They reportedly displayed the guns at a Saturday night gathering of opposition Freedom Party members in San Diego, 10 miles from here.

When the argument with Bridge and Archer Parr began, Archer reportedly reached for his gun. Allee disarmed Archer and took the gun away from him.

Allee stepped into the fight. Allee slugged him across the ear with his fist, tearing the ear.

Allee pointed a gun at George Parr and at this point several bystanders tried to stop the brawl.

Allee, a chunky, range-tough veteran of the South Texas border country, pushed George Parr inside the courtroom.

"We're going to finish this," he snapped.

Inside the courtroom, Bridge, Archer Parr, George Parr and Allee talked for 20 minutes. There were no more blows.

Allee told George Parr he was "tired of the way you pistol-whip people are carrying Winchesters over there in Duval County."

"I want it stopped," he said. George Parr answered it would stop.

Parr and Barrera pleaded not guilty.

Eisenhower Sends Message To Solons

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower proposed today that the government bolster private insurance plans as a step toward bettering the health of all Americans.

In a special message to Congress, Eisenhower asked for 25 million dollars to start a system of government re-insurance of private plans, to help take care of extraordinary expenses beyond those now covered.

The President also proposed a five-year plan for expansion of the program for rehabilitation of the disabled. Under it a total of 600,000 disabled persons would be returned to places of full responsibility as actively working citizens.

Eisenhower's plan "rejecting the socialization of medicine," also called for (a) continuation of present public health service programs; (b) a new, simplified formula for grants-in-aid to the states for health purposes; and (c) a stepped up program of construction of medical care facilities.

The President told Congress the total private medical bill of the nation now exceeds nine billion dollars a year—an average of nearly $20 a family—and still is rising.

He said the emphasis in dealing with the problem must remain essentially on private care, but that the government can and must help.

"Freedom, consent, and individual responsibility are fundamental to our system," he said. "In the field of medical care this means that the traditional relationship of the physician and his patient and the right of the individual to elect freely the manner of his care in illness, must be preserved.

"In adhering to this principle and rejecting the socialization of medicine, we can still confidently commit ourselves to certain national health goals.

"One such goal is that the means for achieving good health should be accessible to all. A person's location, occupation, age, race, creed or financial status should not harm him from enjoying this access."

Today's special message was the fourth Eisenhower has sent to Congress to fill in the details of the broad administration program which he outlined in his Jan. 7 State of the Union report.

The President told the lawmakers:

"Even where the best in medical care is available, its costs are often a serious burden. Major, long-term illness can become a financial catastrophe for a normal American family."

He praised existing private hospitalization and medical care insurance plans, and said progress made in that field "indicates that these voluntary organizations can reach many more people and provide better and broader benefits."

Eisenhower said the government need not and should not go into the insurance business to furnish the protection which private and nonprofit organizations now provide.

"But the government," the President added, "can and should work with them to study and devise better insurance protection to meet the public need.

"I recommend the establishment of a limited federal re-insurance

Overflowing Crowds Attend Dedication

Hundreds of citizens inspected and expressed approval of Howard County's new courthouse Sunday afternoon.

There was no estimate as to size of the crowd, but the throng overflowed the district courtroom during dedication ceremonies and jammed hallways and offices for nearly three hours.

Cold, dam weather had forced the dedication program inside and

"The wrecker" was expected in Big Spring today.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said the Wright Company of Dallas is expected here to start tearing down old buildings on the courthouse square.

The judge said he conferred with the concern about 10 days ago and that representatives said they probably would have equipment in Big Spring "in about 10 days."

Officials expressed surprise at the great number of people who disregarded disagreeable weather to attend "open house."

District Judge Charlie Sullivan, who delivered the dedicatory address, briefly outlined events leading to construction of the new, $550,000 facility.

He said need for a new building had been apparent to many citizens for several years and told of the 1951 grand jury report that resulted in the calling of a bond issue for construction of the modern courthouse.

"Now the new courthouse is being occupied by officials and used by the general public. I am sure that after you have made an inspection of the building that you will agree with me that you have a beautiful, modern courthouse. Apparently there will be ample space and accommodations for each office and agency. I trust that you will be happy with it because, after all, this courthouse belongs to you, the citizens of Howard County, Judge Sullivan said.

The brief dedication program also featured presentation of Bibles for the courtrooms and jail by local Gideons and Catholic laymen. Dr. P. W. Malone presented Bibles from Gideons and Charles Vines made presentation of the Catholic Bible.

Walton Morrison, representing the Howard-Glasscock Old Settlers Association, presented a life-size bust of the late Mrs. Dora Roberts, "honoring a wonderful woman and, through this ceremony, honoring all old timers of the area."

Morrison, a lifelong resident and son of a pioneer attorney, said that Mrs. Roberts represented "integrity, rugged determination, industry, faith, respect for law and order, and more important, a solid Christian character—those pioneer virtues which have made West Texas and America great."

County Judge R. H. Weaver presided at the dedication and presentation ceremonies. He introduced former County Judge Walter Greice and members of the commissioners court at the time the bond issue was held. With three present members of the court, Earl Hall, Pete Thomas and Arthur Stallings, Walter Long served as commissioner at that time.

Also introduced were officials from surrounding counties, including Judges James McMorris of Martin, David Smith of Glasscock and Sam Bullock of Mitchell.

The courthouse dedication was the second attended in Howard County by several residents and for at least one citizen—Samuel Fisher—it was the third such program. Fisher said he attended dedication of all three at Howard County's "permanent" courthouse, the first in 1854, the second in 1903 and the latest yesterday.

Hickman Says Leach Planned To Give Up

ABILENE — Dick Hickman, former Colorado City Police Chief who was injured in an auto wreck which preceded a gun battle between David Leach and a Colorado City policeman, still had not talked with newspaper reporters this morning, but a statement was released by Dallas Scarborough, well-known Abilene attorney.

Scarborough said he was not acting in the capacity as attorney for Hickman, but had obtained the statement while visiting Hickman at Hendricks Memorial Hospital, where Hickman was brought Saturday night. Scarborough said he had known Hickman for "about 30 years" and that Hickman helped many young people over a period of years.

Hickman suffered a broken collar bone when his car overturned in the southwest outskirts of Colorado City at about 3:30 a.m. Saturday. The car was being chased by Colorado City policemen at the time.

Scarborough said Hickman told him that he had convinced Leach that he should surrender to officers in Big Spring, where he was wanted on a forgery charge.

Hickman said he had just returned from a trip to South Texas and learned that Leach was wanted in Big Spring. Scarborough said Hickman then hunted up Leach and suggested that he go to Big Spring and give himself up.

The ex-Colorado City Police Chief said he and Leach and Tom Keeling, who was another passenger in the car, started for Big Spring. Hickman said he was tired and lay down on the back seat of the car, and that Leach was driving. Hickman said he might have "dozed off." Anyway he said he did not know the car was being chased until it turned over.

Following the wreck, Leach exchanged shots with Sgt. Henry Teager of the Colorado City police department. Although he was hit in the hip, Leach eluded officers until his capture shortly after 9 a.m. Saturday in Colorado City.

He was charged with assault with intent to murder Saturday night.

Unexpected Fog Upsets Mercury

An unexpected fog which hovered over Big Spring all day Sunday finally disappeared without leaving any appreciable moisture, but it did upset temperature patterns.

The low temperature for the last 24 hours was recorded Sunday afternoon at the U. S. Experiment Farm, when the mercury dipped to 28 degrees. At nightfall the thermometer started to climb and finally reached 46 degrees.

Usually the low mark for the day is recorded near sunrise in the morning, while the high mark is normally reached during the afternoon.

Weathermen said the erratic behavior of the elements resulted from a low pressure spot that suddenly developed to the southwest. It pulled back part of a norther that had gone east of the area on Saturday.

Bjornson, Pecos dealer, Bill Statack, Saunders parts and service manager, Ray Bryan, Midland dealer, Ralph McLoughlin, Lubbock sales manager for Saunders, and Orville Durham, Saunders appliance sales manager.

Indians Repeat Opposition To Bakers' Release

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR PANMUNJOM (P)—Indian Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya told the U.N. Command again today it will violate the Korean armistice if it frees anti-Communist prisoners before their fate is decided by Allied-Red agreement or by a peace conference.

The Allies, however, went ahead with plans to free more than 23,000 Korean and Chinese anti-Red POWs as civilians by Saturday—a course—the UNC says is required by the armistice terms.

Efforts to reopen preliminary talks for a peace conference got nowhere.

American and North Korean liaison secretaries deadlocked for the third time apparently on the question of striking Red charges of perfidy from the record. They agreed to meet again Wednesday.

In New Delhi, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, U. N. Assembly president, said "merely releasing 23,000 unrepatriated prisoners" would not end the Korean deadlock.

She said in a speech to Indian leaders that the problem of Korea is a desperate one which must be reviewed by the General Assembly "in the context of new developments."

Mrs. Pandit has called for the 60-nation Assembly to reconvene Feb. 9 on the Korean question.

Thimayya Monday sent what he called a "clarifying statement" to Gen. John E. Hull, U. N. Far East commander.

He said the Allies apparently misunderstood his decision to report unrepatriated prisoners now in Indian custody to their captors starting Wednesday.

Thimayya chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission (NNRC), told each side last week to be ready to take back the prisoners it captured. They include 14,300 Chinese and 7,700 Korean POWs captured by the Allies and 327 Koreans, 21 Americans and 1 Briton captured by the Communists. All have refused to go home.

Thimayya re-emphasized in his latest letter that he is returning the 22,400 "as prisoners" and that freeing them would violate the armistice.

Four Mishaps Are Reported In City

Four minor automobile mishaps were reported in Big Spring late Saturday night and Sunday. Police said there were apparently no injuries.

Fog Is Blamed For Traffic Accident

Fog was blamed for a minor traffic mishap which occurred Sunday afternoon 1.3 miles south of Big Spring.

Highway Patrolman Jimmie Parks said a car driven by Allen Lawrence Kelly, San Angelo, was struck from the rear by a machine operated by Don Franklin Feenor of Morton.

According to the officer, both Kelly and Feenor were driving in the same direction on Highway 37 when they pulled off on the shoulder. Kelly nudged off on the shoulder of the road and Feenor's car collided with the left rear fender of Kelly's machine.

Presentation Made

A baptismal bowl and cross were presented to the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church by the DeMolays at the regular Sunday morning service.

Jim Farmer made the presentation and it was accepted by Rev. Otis Moore, who then dedicated the gifts. Twenty-six members of the local DeMolays were present.

Knights Of Pythias Schedule Election

The election of Knights of Pythias chancellor commanders will be conducted at the lodge Tuesday night.

The meeting gets underway at 7:30 p.m. Lodge officers are urging all members to be in attendance and participate in the voting.

Victim Of Beating Hospitalized Here

Clarice Flak, who was hospitalized early Sunday after receiving a beating, was reportedly in good condition today though suffering from contusions on the jaw and chest.

She was taken to Cowper hospital about 2 a.m. Sunday after a disturbance at 605 Main. A man arrested at the time was fined $25 in City Court this morning on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Police said that when the fine is paid, the man will be transferred to county authorities for further action.

Chester Davenport Fails In Escape Try

VERNON (P)—Chester Lee Davenport made another desperate bid for freedom, failed and today sat in solitary confinement at the Oklahoma prison he fled from last summer.

A slight little gray-haired woman, 53, who had the nerve to grapple with the husky convict, helped foil his try.

Davenport, 26, from Wichita Falls, was being returned to Oklahoma yesterday from California, where he had been captured 10 days ago.

L. H. Lindsey, 53, a records clerk at the Granite, Okla., reformatory, was driving the car. Davenport was beside him. Lindsey said this happened:

Suddenly, two miles out of Vernon, Davenport declared: "This is as close to Red River as I'm going."

He stabbed a pencil in Lindsey's neck and said, "This is a knife." Mrs. Lindsey grabbed the pencil. Davenport stopped the car and started grasping with Davenport. The three tussled back and forth across the car seat. Davenport tried to get Lindsey's gun in a holster on his right hip. Three shots were fired but they all hit in the car seat.

Lindsey and Davenport rolled out of the car and were struggling behind the car. Lindsey said just as he was beginning to weaken, a car with two Vernon hunters drove up and stopped.

The two men, Jack Attaway and Marvin Price, got out of their car, guns drawn.

Davenport stopped, ran back to Lindsey's car and sat down in the front seat.

That was all. They took Davenport into Vernon and called Oklahoma officers. An escort of Oklahoma highway patrol troopers met sheriff Edgar Martin, of Mangum, Okla., at the Red River, 10 miles from Vernon, and took Davenport on to the reformatory.

After it all was over, Mrs. Lindsey was nervous but unhurt. Her husband was treated at a Vernon hospital for shock and bruises.

Davenport was serving a 25-year sentence for kidnaping an Oklahoma highway patrolman when he escaped last July 4.

He had been on the FBI's most wanted list of 10 only one day when agents, acting on a tip, arrested him as he sat milking a cow at Dixon, Calif.

Lindsey picked him up at San Francisco last Thursday for the return trip to Oklahoma.

Lindsey told Howard Cates of the Vernon Record that he took the handcuffs off Davenport outside the courthouse in San Francisco.

Davenport told Cates: "I could have killed Lindsey several times; I could have walked away last night in Clovis where we spent the night."

Davenport's brother, Norman, also serving a 25-year sentence on the kidnaping charge, broke out of the prison last October and was recaptured at Arlington, Tex., Dec. 26. Norman never made the "most wanted" list but attracted considerable attention because of his strong friendship with a Clovis, N. M., rancher's wife who went with him to Wichita Falls and was picked up there.

Relatives Of Local Man Suffer Burns

Roxie Dobbins said today that his sister, Mrs. E. D. Hicks of Millsap, an "her family were resting well in a Mineral Wells hospital where they were treated Saturday for burns.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks were burned seriously, though not critically, when accumulated gas exploded in their home. They had been attempting to light a balky petroleum gas stove and had an electric hot plate going to keep their two children warm in the meantime. The explosion ripped out windows and inflicted second degree burns. Harry, 4, had one first degree burn over his eye, and Ina Gene, 2, sustained minor burns. After the blast, Hicks got the family in their car and drove to Mineral Wells.

Lamesa Grocers To Take Course

LAMESA (SC) — More than 30 employees of Lamesa grocery stores are expected to enroll before Monday evening in the special grocery training courses being offered here by the Texas Education Agency and the Extension Service of the University of Texas and jointly sponsored by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Retail Grocers' Association.

The Lamesa training sessions will be conducted by Dick Clark, a grocery training specialist on the University staff, himself a former grocer with 11 years retail experience.

The two short courses, which open Monday, will cover grocery checking procedures and food store organization. The first is designed to aid in the development of better trained personnel with respect to personal appearance, customer relations and other problems at the check stand. The second course is for management personnel, according to Nathan Gray of the TEA, which includes owners, managers and cooperative operators, and it will cover such subjects as practical layouts, operating policies and modernization.

Berlin Meeting Site Is Agreed

BERLIN (AP) — Experts for the Big Four set to work today to plan security and housekeeping details of the Berlin foreign ministers conference. A compromise — last night on sites for the session assured that the parley will open on schedule next Monday.

The American, British, French and Russian commandants of the divided city appointed deputies to meet late today to work out detailed arrangements for the conference on German unity and the Austrian peace treaty.

Orders from their home governments ended 10 days of wrangling over the conference site. The Western military chiefs and Soviet Commandant Sergel Dengia agreed last night that the ministers will meet for one week — the second — in the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, and for the first and third weeks in the building in the American sector formerly used by the Allied Control Council.

Riding The GRUB LINE
With Franklin Reynolds

It was a fine thing to have known and to have contested with that fine old marksman, the late George Hall.

Last fall he and I shot a 100-yard tie with scopes at Sterling City, and it made me feel mighty good that I could equal his score that day. Then we both attended the turkey shoot at Garden City the Saturday and Sunday before Christmas. Mr. Hall was the oldest shooter contesting and in both the scope-rifle and pistol and revolver events he won more turkeys than any other single shooter there.

He was a good sportsman, too. He took defeat and victory with the same smile. He was one of West Texas' best marksmen.

He once told me about killing a deer at an almost incredible distance with a .30-30 rifle.

"That was mighty good shooting," I said.

"Good shooting!" he exclaimed. "It was just about the biggest accident that ever happened to me. I was holding way above that buck without any idea of hitting him. I just wanted to scare him enough to make him move. I was more surprised than he was when I saw him drop."

Like most firearms enthusiasts he has a lot of ideas about loads with which most shooters didn't agree. He had to take a lot of kidding from them, but when he got down on the firing line he could always prove, right up to the last, that he knew what he was doing. Not many shooters have ever equalled his record with rifle and revolver, and those of us who had the good fortune to know him and shoot with him learned a whole lot from him.

Bobby Carille and Roy Koonce, members of the Stanton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, will exhibit steers at the annual Martin County Junior Livestock Show at Stanton, Thursday and Friday.

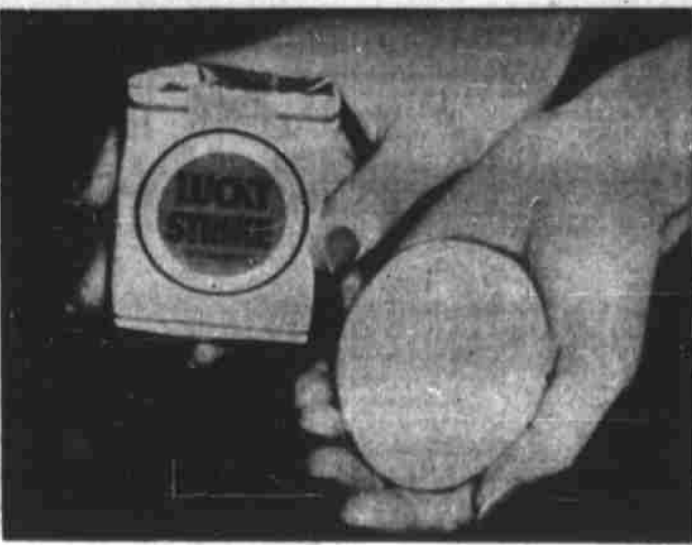

Stanton FFA members who have entered steers in the show and sale are Bobby Carille, Roy Koonce, Archie Butler, Charles McKaskle, Ivan Chandler, Robert Lomax, Delbert Donelson and Leon White. Members with entries in the bro-

An Egg Within An Egg

This king-size egg, weighing a fraction more than six ounces, is from a pullet that just recently went into production in the Fisher Fowl Farms hens-in-cages program. For size it is compared with a package of cigarettes. When the outer shell was broken another perfect egg, shell and all and more a pullet size, was found inside this outer shell which also held everything that is normally found inside an egg shell. Ed Fisher says there's nothing like the cages program for big egg production.

Jan. 30 the Stanton FFA boys will also have a float in the parade at noon Friday.

The sale will be held at p.m. Friday at the Martin County Show Barn, a few blocks east of the courthouse. No steer will be sold but lambs, hogs, capons and broilers will be offered.

Jan. 30 the Stanton FFA boys will leave for Houston where they will have a float in the parade at noon Friday.

The sale will be held at p.m. Friday at the Martin County Show Barn, a few blocks east of the courthouse. No steer will be sold but lambs, hogs, capons and broilers entered in the fat stock show.

Cheerful Letters Urged For Soldiers

DALLAS (AP)—Write cheerful letters to servicemen overseas, says Methodist Bishop William C. Martin.

And above all, write more often, the bishop told his audience at First Methodist Church here last night.

Martin, of Dallas, is president of the National Council of Churches. He returned Wednesday from almost a month in Korea and Japan.

"Mail call is a big event in a soldier's daily routine," he said. "Write cheerful letters, not the kind that disturb a man's mind about things he cannot control, nor the kind that cause him to feel that he is wasting his time."

Fishermen Rescued

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Seventy stranded fishermen rode an ice floe for three hours yesterday on Bear Lake after waves from a passing Lake Michigan oil tanker caused an ice breakup. Police, firemen and volunteers brought the fishermen to shore in rescue boats. None was harmed.

South Boston Area Has Its Irish Up

BOSTON (AP)—The Pentagon has 24 hours to apologize to the residents of South Boston—or else an invitation for armed services troops to participate in the March 17 Evacuation Day parade will be withdrawn.

Chief Parade Marshal Patrick F. Sheehan demanded the apology last night after Army officials announced no troops would parade in South Boston unless all the liquor places in the district are closed.

Sheehan said: "The Pentagon has insulted our people are drunks. I demand an immediate apology, otherwise I will cancel our invitation to the armed services."

Army officials said soldiers and sailors were the targets of eggs, vegetables and stones during the parade last year.

South Boston residents observe St. Patrick's Day and Evacuation Day in a joint celebration each March 17.

Yugoslav Reds Fire High Official After He Is Denounced By Tito

By ALEX H. SINOLETON
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The Yugoslav Communist party's Central Committee has expelled Vice President Milovan Djilas from its ranks after hearing President Marshal Tito denounce his top aide. Tito said Djilas attempted to "liquidate" the Red party in Yugoslavia and sought to adopt the capitalist system.

Immediately after the 100-member committee, meeting yesterday in extraordinary session, issued its unanimous decree firing him, Djilas resigned as chairman of the Yugoslav Parliament.

He also repented his actions, confessing that his attitude had been wrong. He denied that he opposed Tito and his policies and swore he still was a "true Marxist."

The committee gave Djilas a stern "final warning" to alter his views. This appeared to threaten his complete expulsion from the party.

It appeared likely also that he would be ousted from his government post as one of Tito's four vice presidents. The committee hearing, however, apparently dealt only with party matters. Djilas' purge from the party leadership climaxed the most disrupting politico-social controversy among Yugoslavia's rulers since the war.

The storm burst after the 41-year-old partisan fighter wrote a series of articles in the party newspaper Borba proposing modifications in the Red setup in the nation.

Though the party committee confined itself mainly to Djilas' political views, the writings that brought down the Red wrath were his criticisms of the wives of other top Communists.

Djilas charged in a long article in New Thought that some of the ladies of the "inner circle"—itself a bad term to the Reds—had snubbed the actress wife of one official. Without mentioning names, he made it clear he was talking about the recent bride of Chief of Staff Gen. Peko Dapcevic.

Tito, hurrying back from a vacation in Slovenia, grimly took the stand against his former close friend and accused him of seeking to break down party discipline.

Tito said Djilas' articles created "enormous harm, not only to the party but to the unity of the country."

Djilas proposed in his Borba

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Hauled before the Common Pleas Court on a charge he failed to support his wife and three children, Edison Hughes of Middletown said he did help provide for them.

"What did you provide them with?" demanded Judge Fred B. Cramer last week.

"Well, I took some wine home to 'settle the wife's nerves,'" he replied.

"You probably drank it yourself," the judge said. "Six months in the workhouse for you."

IT HAPPENED

Newlyweds Unhappy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Indignant inquiries from couples with new marriage licenses are being explained this way by the Marriage License Bureau:

The bureau has been enclosing with licenses it issues a Treasury Department letter urging each couple to buy savings bonds.

In a recent mixup, however, the bureau received a bundle of Treasury Department letters intended for new parents. These were enclosed with the licenses without being read.

They said in part: "Dear parents: Please accept our warmest congratulations on the birth of your child . . ."

Pinkerton Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—The Pinkerton Detective Agency had a mystery on its hands today and called in city police to help.

The national agency said an inventory of its firearms stock, made prior to filing for renewal of licenses, showed nine .38-caliber guns out of 400 licensed weapons are missing.

But Not Wreckless

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. (AP)—A car driven by Rudy Anguiano struck a power pole Friday. The resultant chaos included:

1. Snapping of a 11,500-volt line when the pole broke.
2. Blacking out a mile-square area from electrical power.
3. Idling 1,000 men employed in seven factories in the area for 90 minutes.
4. Breaking a city alarm telegraph wire.
5. Setting off alarms in the office and boiler room of St. Catherine Hospital.
6. Tying up traffic during the time factory shifts change.
7. Bringing out four police squads to handle the traffic while stop-and-go lights were being fixed.

Anguiano, who suffered only bruises, was charged with reckless driving.

Man Held In Wife's Death

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—The body of a woman, dead in her bed since she was shot Tuesday, was found by officers yesterday.

The husband, John Price Hunter, 50, went to the courthouse to tell officers about the shooting of his wife, 39-year-old Elva May Hunter. They found her in bed, a bullet hole above her right eye and a Bible under her pillow.

Hunter was jailed without bond on a charge of murder with malice.

Hunter gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Charlie Sells.

Then Hunter made a written statement to Dist. Atty. George W. Anderson Jr. which said the shooting followed an argument when his wife came home at 6 a.m. Tuesday after being out all night.

Hunter said he went to work as a house painter that morning but came back at noon. His wife still was in bed and the shooting followed.

The woman was shot with a .22 caliber rifle and police found such a gun with one empty chamber and 13 live shells in the home.

Hunter also said he phoned his mother in Chillicothe, O., Wednesday and told her about the shooting. She didn't believe him. Then he wrote her a special delivery letter but she still didn't believe it.

Hunter was a personal friend of the courthouse custodian, W. W. Givens. They said Hunter got Givens out of church to go to the courthouse with him.

Suppressed Desire

DENVER (AP)—Homeward-bound passengers on John P. Leslie's tramway bus looked up in surprise the other night when the big vehicle pulled to the curb in the middle of the block.

Leslie, 37, turned to face them, grinning.

"I want you all to go with me to dinner and a show," he said. "I'm not kidding."

Ten of the passengers—nine of them women—accepted the invitation. The others were delivered to their doorsteps.

It was part of a "suppressed desires" contest conducted by the Denver Post. Leslie was one of 10 winners, saying he wanted most to take to dinner and a show his passengers, "who have treated me swell."

The nine women passengers? Well, Mrs. Leslie also went along for the party.

Immigration Officer Is Due In Big Spring

Emil H. Pullin, administrative officer in charge of U. S. Immigration Service offices in Pecos, will be in Big Spring two days this week to assist aliens and others with immigration problems.

Elmo Rainbolt, inspector-in-charge of the local Border Patrol unit, said Pullin may be contacted at the Border Patrol offices on the third floor of the courthouse. The immigration officer was to arrive this afternoon and will remain in Big Spring through Wednesday.

Rainbolt suggested that anyone having immigration matters to discuss, particularly those concerning legalization of residence as provided in the McCarran Act, contact Pullin while he is here.

Impressive Entrance; How Did They Leave?

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police received a report last night that three men with pistols were holding up a Baltimore bar.

Eight officers invaded the front of the establishment. Seven others entered the back door. The 15 policemen met midway and discovered the report was a false alarm.

Hunter said he went to work as a house painter that morning but came back at noon. His wife still was in bed and the shooting followed.

The woman was shot with a .22 caliber rifle and police found such a gun with one empty chamber and 13 live shells in the home.

Hunter also said he phoned his mother in Chillicothe, O., Wednesday and told her about the shooting. She didn't believe him. Then he wrote her a special delivery letter but she still didn't believe it.

Hunter was a personal friend of the courthouse custodian, W. W. Givens. They said Hunter got Givens out of church to go to the courthouse with him.

Man Held In Wife's Death

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—The body of a woman, dead in her bed since she was shot Tuesday, was found by officers yesterday.

The husband, John Price Hunter, 50, went to the courthouse to tell officers about the shooting of his wife, 39-year-old Elva May Hunter. They found her in bed, a bullet hole above her right eye and a Bible under her pillow.

Hunter was jailed without bond on a charge of murder with malice.

Hunter gave himself up to Deputy Sheriff Charlie Sells.

Then Hunter made a written statement to Dist. Atty. George W. Anderson Jr. which said the shooting followed an argument when his wife came home at 6 a.m. Tuesday after being out all night.

Ever add up the TAXES you pay with your TELEPHONE bill?

YOU PAY $3.53 PER MONTH IN TAXES WITH THE AVERAGE TELEPHONE BILL

WHEN YOU PAY your telephone bill, here's the part that goes for the kind of taxes all businesses share — state, county, and city property taxes, income taxes, and other levies to support the cost of government. Last year, our total operating taxes in Texas amounted to $42,800,000, or $1.95 per telephone per month. Because these taxes are paid directly by the company, they are included in the basic price you pay for telephone service.

MOST PEOPLE THINK of telephone service as a necessity. Yet telephone service carries a Federal excise tax — in most cases a tax levied on "luxuries." This tax is levied directly against you — as a user of telephone service. The telephone company acts only as a collecting agent. Last year, Texans paid $34,700,000 in direct Federal taxes on telephone service, or $1.58 per month per telephone in Federal excise tax.

THE FEDERAL EXCISE TAX IS OVER AND ABOVE the rates you pay for telephone service. This wartime "luxury" tax adds 15 per cent to the cost of your local service and long distance calls under 25¢, and 25 per cent to long distance calls of 25¢ or more. When you subtract this tax from your bill and consider the real cost of telephone service alone, it is an even better bargain than you may have thought.

On the average, the advertising for a package of breakfast food amounts to less than 3/10¢ for bread, less than the wrapper.

Selling more goods helps make mass production possible—which means lower production costs, lower selling costs, lower prices.

A Bible Thought For Today—

"Behold Lord half of my goods I give to the poor." — Luke 19:8. Zacchaeus was a small man physically, but there was nothing small about his heart.

Liberty Must Be Guarded, For Liberty Is Actually Contagious

The first major speech of Chief Justice Warren since he took office contained food for thought for thoughtful Americans. At a bicentennial dinner at Columbia University, Mr. Warren called liberty "the most contagious force in the world," a force that will eventually penetrate the Iron Curtain itself.

The strength of our country, he said, "is in our diversity" and "our power is in freedom of thought and research."

No totalitarian government of whatever kind could tolerate that approach to the problems of life and survive. Mr. Warren continued, "because they cannot tolerate dissenting views. All must bow to one creed, one party, one faith."

"So 'Liberty, not communism, is the most contagious force in the world. It will permeate the Iron Curtain. It will eventually abide everywhere. For no people of any race will long remain slaves.'"

But there is no room for smugness in America, the land of the free. As the chief justice sees it, the right to dissent must be safeguarded, "if America is not to store up the seeds of its own destruction."

And "The more turbulent the times, the more essential the freedom of inquiry. We are now living in such times."

Where fear and distrust become prevalent and men grow afraid to take a stand, he might have added, the spirit of inquiry and research essential to liberty is hampered, restrained, undermined. We have seen something of that sort slowly but relentlessly developing in America of recent years, and the chief justice does well to remind the nation of the threat to human freedom it involves.

Finally, Mr. Warren sounded this note, one of hope and challenge: "When men are free to explore all avenues of thought, no matter what prejudices may be aroused, there is a healthy climate in the nation . . . Our universities and our colleges are, therefore, even more precious to us now than in normal times."

Liberty isn't something to be taken for granted. It is something that must be guarded and protected and, if necessary, fought for.

Idea That Food Is Strategic Material Is Not So Far-Fetched

An AP dispatch from Washington has thrown a new light on the current dickerings for the sale of American surplus butter to Russia as "nonstrategic" material. A single Wisconsin dealer has asked clearance for 20,000 tons.

The AP explains that if the deal goes through, the Soviet government stands to make a profit of 500 per cent. Export price of the surplus butter is 40 to 50 cents a pound. Russia now sells, through its state stores, Danish and Argentine butter at the equivalent of $3.40 a pound. So the Soviet could make $2.90 to $3.00 per pound on the American butter.

In view of this, it is difficult if not impossible to call butter a non-strategic commodity, not susceptible of being explained away as of no value to Russia's war-making potential. You can disregard the fact that raising the dietary standard of the Russia worker by so much as a pound of butter a month could influence his output of guns, and consider the butter deal from a more direct angle.

The direct angle is that with the profit from butter, the Soviet government is able to finance more war production, with money supplied directly by its own workers. The workers would pay through the nose for the butter, and the Soviet government would have that much more money to spend on armaments.

Oh, sure, the analogy may be far-fetched. But if we are to use trade as an instrument of feeding our friends and starving our enemies, it isn't so far-fetched after all.

Unless all signs fail, the movement to re-open trade in "non-strategic" goods with Russia and her satellites may have rough sledding in Congress.

Matrimonial Discord May Be A Sign Of Spiritual Senility

During the past two or three weeks, I have been wondering why our people get so excited about the matrimonial misadventures of the rich and the bizarre. The weddings lack charm and beauty; the photographs of the multiple-married show rather haggard women upon whose faces life has often written cruelty.

Why should more wealth make people suspicious or important or newsworthy? Suppose someone did inherit 10 or 20 or 30 million dollars and does not know how to use the money, is that particularly interesting? In England, estates are entailed to prevent the inheritors of great wealth from dissipating the inheritance; in the United States, foundations are established to make sure that some of the money will be put to good purpose.

Unless they display these, nobody would pay any attention to them. The really cares how much the wife gets as alimony or to dissolve a sacrament? It used to be that collusion was frowned upon in divorce cases, but now the lawyers announce the collusive settlements to show how smart they are and to get other clients. And the courts do not object.

Some pundits in our times call all this matrimony. They feel that it is mature to make divorce as important as marriage. If a mother wants to become a celebrity, all she seems to need to do is to get a notorious divorce. I wonder how many are ashamed of themselves when the first flush of attention has led to nothing more than a few clippings in a scrap-book. Perhaps it is not maturity at all; perhaps it is spiritual senility.

I passed a hotel and saw a crowd. There were news and radio men and all sorts of cameras and sound machines to capture a whiff of a wedding of two persons who, in sum, had gone through it a total between them of nine or ten times. I cannot remember which. The crowd, rather than the marriage, captured my curiosity. Why were they there?

Was it because one of the parties was rich or was it that both of the parties were so often married? I know of a man, a refugee with a title, who has made a specialty of marrying American girls of a sort who provide him with an annual stipend and then pay him off to rid themselves of an incubus. It is a sort of alimony for males. I have often wondered why these girls go through all the trouble. I am told that he dances divinely, but surely expert dancers could be hired for less without the involvement of multiple marriage.

I am also told that he has a line of conversation that women like. He talks about clothes and jewels and dining and places all over the world. He has been everywhere. He knows just the right place to fit every mood. But why do they have to marry him?

Perhaps because I am naive about queer people, I cannot grasp what "the International Set" is. Seems these are people who drift between New York and Paris, talking in perhaps the Riviera and Rome as side-shows and, bored with themselves, keep moving from place to place. I know some of these people and they always look so distressingly tired of themselves. Not doing anything useful or sufficiently absorbing, they devote their lives to fighting boredom.

It is too bad Muggs Siegel got bumped off just as he was moving in on this mob! It would have been fascinating to see what a second-class racketeer could do about it. He might have made them tick in the world of crime and vice.

Excelsior

A bunch of young women are getting a practical course of instruction at a college in Illinois. They have a real live baby they are taking care of as a part of a home management course.

There's been some criticism, mostly by welfare agencies who claim that too many co-eds can spoil a male, even if he is a mere infant.

However, the president of the college had a pretty good answer. He pointed out that the child was homeless and then observed that the only way girls could learn how to take care of a baby was to take care of a baby.

A lot of professors and other so-called authorities apparently don't realize that.

Jaywalking Is Popular

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Patrolman John Baldwin started giving out jaywalking tickets as part of a police drive against midblock crossing.

Within minutes a crowd had gathered. Baldwin could see he was not going to win a popularity contest right then—particularly when large groups deliberately jaywalked right in front of him.

He left. Police Chief Marvin Potts hasn't decided whether to resume the campaign.

Berlin Conference Seems Doomed Not To Open Any Pathways Toward Peace

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—An invisible sign — "No Children Allowed" — will hang outside the conference room door when the Big Four foreign ministers meet in Berlin Jan. 25.

Not one of the four — on one side the United States' Dulles, Britain's Eden, France's Bidault and on the other side Russia's Molotov — has any resemblance to a babe in the thorny woods of East-West relations. They have dealt with each other many times before, in many ways.

Neither the Allies nor the Russians can have any illusions about what they're up against and perhaps not much hope for any progress through talking. All of them, nevertheless, may well be self-conscious when they meet.

For this conference is the result of multiple pressures from the people of the world, expressed or implied, upon their leaders to make some effort toward peace beside the unimaginative reliance upon weapons.

In Stalin's later years, thanks mostly to him, the West and Russia were not on speaking terms. Face to face, that is, if they talked at all. It was across continents in interviews and speeches or through ambassadors or notes.

When Malenkov succeeded Stalin and mumbled about peace, the Allies saw a chance to show the rest of the world they at least would like to break the ice. They peppered Moscow with requests for a conference.

That Molotov agreed to go to Berlin is probably due more to concern about how Russia would look if he refused than hope, or desire, for peace or any willingness to yield an inch.

For that matter, there's no sign the West will yield any inches either at Berlin.

What Russia apparently fears

This Day In Texas

By CURTIS BISHOP

Born on this day in 1796, in Logan County, Kentucky, was Thomas Barnett, one of the historic "three hundred" colonists of Stephen F. Austin who launched Texas' formal settlement by North Americans.

He was a sheriff in Livingston County, Kentucky when he decided to cast in his lot with those moving toward the Lone Star domain. In Texas, he found a bride and was elected to office in the Ayuntamiento of San Felipe de Austin.

He figured in all of the early "consultations" and "conventions" which led to the Texas Revolution, representing his municipality in both of the early gatherings of Texas patriots and then serving as a delegate to that memorable convention at Washington-on-the-Brazos where men huddled together in an unheated building to sign the Declaration of Independence.

On December 20, 1838 President Sam Houston appointed him chief justice of Austin County.

The rapid reorganization of Texas counties saw him a resident of Fort Bend County, and his public service continued as he represented that district in the third and fourth Congresses of the Republic.

He died at his home in Fort Bend County on September 20, 1843 and was buried in the family cemetery eight miles from the present site of Richmond.

Married to Nancy Spencer, Barnett became the father of six children.

well in helping Western Europe stay divided. The hope of a single army looks more forlorn daily.

At Berlin, if Molotov continues these tactics, as he undoubtedly will, by playing off the United States, Britain and France against one another, weakening their alliance, his mission in Russian eyes will be a great success.

The three Allies can't play off Molotov against anyone, unless it is world opinion, of which Moscow is aware but to which it never makes basic concessions.

Since Western Germany — re-armed or unarmed — is the key to any settlement in Europe, the Berlin conference seems doomed not to open the innermost door to peace.

Russia wants Germany to remain unarmed. Dulles said only last week a rearmed Western Germany must be the foundation tone of Allied strength in Europe.

There are other points on which Russia and the United States will not agree at Berlin, but the disagreement on Germany is enough for a starter.

So far, by its tactics and propaganda, Russia has done extremely

U. S. Senators Follow Romans On Bath Retreat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators in the days of the old Romans used to talk over problems of state in their marble baths.

It was a privilege of office and a luxury that set them apart from their constituents, perhaps leading the Roman man in the street to mutter enviously:

"Why should Sen. J. Quintus and his pals get steam-cleaned at the taxpayer's expense when I have to patronize a public bath with the stink?"

This may be the origin of the saying that "a politician is always in hot water."

Be that as it may, the senators of practically every country since Rome have managed to have their private baths where they can quietly discuss public issues while their tissues are being pummeled by attendants. Senators are a traditional breed, linked by a brotherhood of dignity and position that defies differences of time, language, and politics.

They still do as the Roman senators did, who set the pattern long ago. The U.S. Senate has its private marble baths, too. But it doesn't brag about it. Indeed the senators' downright bashful about mentioning this special plumbing privilege—and the fact they have their own swimming pool.

I discovered the existence of this marble-walled senatorial retreat when I asked how the older statesmen managed to keep physically fit for their exhausting tasks. Talking over a hot desk all day can be pretty wearing.

"They go to the baths and relax," said a veteran correspondent here. When I expressed an interest in seeing them, he looked shocked and replied:

"Why, you couldn't get in there. That is one place where senators want to be alone, and they are very jealous of this privilege."

Well, that piqued me as a taxpayer. If Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower permit people to wander through the White House, why couldn't I at least take a peek at the senatorial baths, particularly if I promised to bring my own soap and not leave the hot water tap dripping?

Easier said than done. But I finally made it after going through four channels, three roadblocks and piercing two Iron Curtains of verbal objection. I pushed open a swinging door in the Senate office building that said "For Senators Only" and stood at last within the sanctum sanctorum.

Frankly, I was disappointed. The mysterious baths consisted only of some old-fashioned marble-walled bathing chambers, a small steam room, a tiny gym with a rowing machine and a mechanical horse.

Trestle Tripping Accident Is Fatal

ST. CHARLES, Mo. (AP)—Two men and a boy, on a hunting trip, were crossing a railroad trestle yesterday when a freight train bore down on them. They started to run.

Fred Linberg, 43, jumped to safety as he approached the end of the 50-foot-long trestle. His son Jack, 11, climbed over the side, clinging to a support and, after the train had passed, slid 25 feet to the ground.

The third hunter, Gene Callanan, 31, apparently tripped as he fled before the train. He was killed.

Automobile Drivers Are Able To Speak Much With Their Eyes

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald—Editor's Note.

Most automobile drivers I know have learned to speak with their eyes.

They usually underline what they mean by curling their lips, that is, if they're in the right. If they find they've done the wrong thing, and are being scrutinized by some one else, they try to be casual about it, or dodge the optical arrows being pointed their way by ignoring everything about them.

If you hurry from one stop light to the other, in hopes of making it without having to change gears, you get labeled as a speed demon. If you poke along, then you get a meaningful look from the fellow who invariably passes you. Says that scorching glance:

"Ya jerk, what'da mean, parking in the street! The things they let have driver's licenses these days."

Most of the motorists I know regard traffic laws as having been written for someone else. I don't feel isolated, though. I'm right with them, in that respect.

If the traffic officer raises a warning hand in my direction, or has the audacity to tag my car for overparking there are no boundaries for my impatience. I can think of a lot of the manswarm who have done worse by the traffic laws and never suffered for it.

If we all took it a bit easier at the wheel of the family chariot, we probably not only would be more tolerant of the fellow man but we'd save wear and tear on our vehicles, as well.

If you want to save gas, I'm told, follow a few simple rules. Coast slowly to red lights. Keep the car in high, whenever possible. Don't try to set get-away records when the light turns green. Never race the engine.

Chances are, if you try to save gas, you'll be doing much to save your neck. It's worth the trouble to try.

Regime Facing Battle In Own Ranks On Its Agriculture Plan

President Eisenhower has announced that he intends to fight for his farm program. It is already obvious that he will have to fight with every weapon at his command—from patronage to the veto threat—to get anything remotely resembling this program through Congress.

The heart of the Eisenhower program is, of course, flexible price supports, to be determined within certain limits by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson. Sen. Milton R. Young of North Dakota, a tall, soft-spoken man who may conceivably cause the Administration more trouble than any other Senator except Joseph R. McCarthy, intends to make mincemeat out of the whole program with an amendment making 90 per cent supports mandatory. Young claims with absolute assurance a bedrock minimum of forty-nine votes in support of his amendment.

Young counts—no doubt quite correctly—on virtually all the Southern and border state Democrats, plus a smattering from the Middle West and farm states. He also counts on at least thirteen Republicans to oppose the Republican administration on this issue.

These are Capehart of Indiana, Case of South Dakota, Cooper of Kentucky, Cordron of Oregon, Griswold of Nebraska, Jenner of Indiana, Langer of North Dakota, McCarthy of Wisconsin, Mundt of South Dakota, Schoepfel of Kansas, Thye of Minnesota, Wiley of Wisconsin, and of course Young himself. The list is interesting. It includes a large number of those who in the past have most fervently denounced "give away programs" and "the welfare state." For example Sen. Mundt very recently deplored the fact that "some Republicans from large Eastern Cities" voted for "the welfare state program" under pressure from constituents with a "southern European background."

It would be difficult to deny that rigid, high farm price support has a certain "welfare state" coloration. Yet the most conservative politicians from the Middle West and wheat and corn areas have been able to rise above principle in this regard, and for a simple reason. The reason was bluntly stated by Sen. McCarthy at the Republican conference a few days ago.

Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, was giving an unctuously optimistic picture of Republican electoral prospects, when McCarthy brusquely interrupted him. In the recent special election in his native Wisconsin, McCarthy pointed out the Republicans had the best known candidate and most of the money in a traditionally Republican district, and yet they lost. It was time to face a few facts about the farm vote, McCarthy said, including the fact that the Republicans were rapidly losing it.

McCarthy has repeatedly warned Republican colleagues that the "Communist issue" will never win the election, if the Republicans lose the farm vote—and what ever else they may think of him, his colleagues have respect for McCarthy's political cunning. Indeed, the notion that anything less than rigid 90 per cent farm supports will doom the Republicans is becoming almost an article of faith among farm state politicians.

Yet the President was persuaded to favor flexible farm supports for a very simple reason. He was warned by many experts—notably including his brother Milton Eisenhower—that a rigid support system, continued much longer, would end in the collapse of the whole farm support system.

It is not generally known that the system has already broken down in certain areas. In some states, farmers are selling supposedly price-supported commodities way under 90 per cent parity. This is not because they are indifferent to receiving full parity prices. It is because the warehouses and elevators are already bulging with the mountains of commodities the government has acquired, and there is simply no more storage space. To receive the parity price, the farmer must find storage space for his produce.

Given many more months of rigid supports, according to such an expert as Sen. Clinton Anderson, former Secretary of Agriculture, and there is likely to be no more storage space anywhere. Thus the rigid support system could very well turn out to be a tragic fiasco—and the farmers, Anderson believes, are hardly likely to be grateful to the politicians who foisted the fiasco on them.

In discussing his farm program at his recent press conference, the President remarked that perhaps he was "not too smart politically." The Democrats are happily preparing to beat him over the head with his campaign speech at Kason, Minn., in which he seemed to offer 100 per cent parity. Farm state Republicans like Young will fight him harder than the Democrats. In these circumstances, the prospects for the President's program are certainly not good, no matter how hard he fights for it. Yet one cannot help wondering whether the President's flexible program may not turn out in the end to be smarter politics than a program which could simply disintegrate, even before next November.

Anniversary Is Lively

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP)—Police Lt. Lawrence Mellillo, desk officer at Hamden police headquarters, decided to celebrate his 25th anniversary on the force by doing a tour of duty on his old squad car beat.

In no time at all he was involved in an 85-mile-an-hour chase of a speeder. While the man was being questioned another car sped past the scene, and crashed into a wire service pole a block away. After only half an hour in the cruiser, Mellillo said he guessed he'd "stay inside" henceforth.

Army Worries Swedes

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Neutral Sweden, whose soldiers have not fired a shot in anger for more than 100 years, is worried about a shortage of suitable officers for its army.

"The army brass are keeping out" is the gist of a special report just issued. "The (armed) forces are facing a serious crisis in intellectual quality."

Corn Freak Displayed

RELIEF, N. C. (AP)—Dove Hughes of nearby Pigeon Roost has some ears of corn on display at his farm. Because of dry weather, apparently, there are 16 rows of kernels from the stalk end to about halfway up the stock—but there they dwindle to only eight rows of kernels.

Plane Stayed Up 12 Seconds

The common viewpoint of historians is that the first practical power-driven airplane was made by Wilbur and Orville Wright. During secret or half-secret tests they flew an airplane which would carry a man and land him safely. Before that time (just over a half century ago) a few others had made power-driven planes which carried pilots very briefly through the air, but none of these seemed to be practical.

The Wright brothers lived in Dayton, Ohio, and Orville was a native of the city. Her elder brother was a Hoosier by birth, with New Castle, Ind., as his birthplace. The two set up a bicycle shop in Dayton, and this became a small factory, as well as a center for repairs.

News of the glider flights of Otto Lilienthal of Germany and Octave Chanute of the United States came to the Wrights, and their minds were fired with the idea of learning further secrets of aviation. Chanute kindly helped them to build gliders, and some of these were tested at Kitty Hawk, N. C., where winds and ground were excellent for the purpose.

A gasoline motor was fitted to a glider, and on a December day they carried out four successful flights. The first flight was made by 23-year-old Orville, and lasted 12 seconds. The fourth flight was made by Wilbur Wright, then 36 years of age. It lasted 59 seconds, and covered one sixth of a mile.

Think of the difference between a speed of one sixth of a mile a minute and the speeds made by rocket planes the past year—from 25 to 25 miles a minute!

Let the slow speed do nothing, however, to lower the glory of the Wrights! They were pioneers. Less than five years later they gave exhibitions in both Europe and the United States, and amazed the public.

A Wright biplane was taken to France, and was launched from a tower. Wilbur Wright piloted that plane while it made a flight lasting one hour and 31 minutes. Tomorrow: Glenn Curtiss.

No Worry About Winter

Texas-born Martha Hyer, now working at Paramount in "Sabrina Fair," tells how she protected her complexion from winter wind and snow.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Tells How To Protect Complexion In Winter

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — When Martha Hyer and I lunched together at Paramount recently—she's making "Sabrina Fair" there—she was full of comments about her personal appearance tour with her last picture, "So Big."
"Living in California has spoiled me," she announced. "I had to battle the winter winds and snow. My lips, face and hands got so chapped."
"They look lovely now," I remarked.
"Well, on the way I worked out a routine that proved to be very good," Martha said. "First of all I carried little envelopes of hand lotion in my purse. You know you can buy them in any cosmetic department now—they are about the size of granulated sugar packages wrapped for individual serving. Well, everytime I had to wash my hands when I was away from the hotel, I would smooth a package of lotion on them.

"Then every night before I went to bed I would massage a good, rich cream into my hands. A character actress once told me that just a few minutes of massage every night will keep fingers from becoming knobby-looking, and I must say that she had lovely hands."
"What method of massage did she recommend?" I asked.
"Her instructions were to pretend you were putting on a very tight pair of gloves and to work the cream down each finger, beginning at the nail. Do this slowly by rubbing each finger carefully. If you use enough pressure you get quite a good massage."
"What did you do to protect your face and lips?" I asked.
"I carried a little colorless lip-stick with me and every night I put a thick layer of this on my lips. I found that it helped to correct and prevent chapped lips."
"But my face was the real problem," Martha added. "I had to give up using soap but once a day. And after every washing I immediately put cream on my face. Instead of soap, I used oil to remove my make-up."
"But the thing which helped me the most, and I have a very thin, sensitive skin, was protecting my face with make-up," Martha explained. "I found that a stick-type of base was best. It protected my skin against the wind and snow."
"How did you use it?" I wanted to know.
"I found that if you use it sparingly—use just a few dabs and spread it all over the face—it won't look artificial," Martha said. "And it really does a good job in preventing your face from getting chapped and dry."

REPORT TO PARENTS
Bad Driving Habits Are Often Taught By Parents

It is the most natural thing in the world for children to imitate their parents.
Why shouldn't they? For all their growing years, their parents are the most powerful influence in their lives.
Some parents seem to forget this when they brag about how they "got away with" something at the office, or managed to drive a very shrewd bargain because they "out-talked" the other fellow.
If their children imitate this kind of behavior, parents probably are shocked beyond measure, and wonder where their children "picked up" any such ideas.
One of the most dangerous kinds of parental examples to set, from a standpoint of physical survival, is in bad driving habits.
A writer in a national magazine recently pointed this out and it seems to me that his warning is quite worthy of repetition.
He cited two examples of parental irresponsibility on traffic:
The case of a father who was trying to "slow down" his son, who he thought was driving too fast, only to be told by the son that he would wager his father had driven even faster. The father had to admit he had, but excused it by saying he was "experienced."
The case of a man who bragged at the dinner table about how he had talked a policeman out of giving him a ticket, even though he knew he had been exceeding the speed limit when the officer spotted his car in traffic.
How could either of these men expect their children to respect traffic regulations, or the need to drive carefully?
There are an increasing number of traffic safety programs being conducted as a part of public school programs. In Los Angeles, California, for instance, a program was started late in the '40's when the National Safety Council rated the city tenth on traffic safety for cities of its size.
By last year, Los Angeles had climbed to first place, and while those who conducted the safety program do not think they are entitled to all the credit for this climb, they do believe Los Angeles has been made more safety conscious.
In addition to such safety programs in the public schools, parents themselves can, by their own examples, have a part to play in convincing children of the values of safe driving, safe walking.
It is unfortunate but apparently true that far too many parents are neglecting this part of their role in bringing their children up to maturity. Accidents are a greater killer andcrippler of children than all the infectious diseases of childhood put together. In adolescence, more than half these fatalities occur from accidents in moving vehicles.

Wheelchair Homes

More than 25 million dollars has been granted by the Veterans Administration for specially equipped homes for disabled veterans including those of the Korean War. New "wheelchair" homes total 2,662 and remodeled homes for seriously incapacitated veterans number 267.
Congress authorized the VA in 1948 to defray 50 per cent of the cost of "wheelchair" homes for eligible veterans up to $10,000. These grants can be used to buy a lot, to remodel a house, or to apply against a mortgage of a suitable house already occupied.

Boxed-In Hazards

Old-fashioned boxed-in back steps rot easily because of dampness retained within their enclosure. They often are an invitation to termites, being in direct contact with the ground and providing the dark and damp passage required by these destructive insects.
When replacing such steps it is easy to build a sturdy, open flight which will not permit water or rubbish to accumulate.

Mary Margaret
McBRIDE SAYS

The stingiest man I know is paying himself on the back these days because, as he puts it, he was "right all along about what happened to that money poured out to charity organizations."
This is apropos, of course, of the New York State legislature's investigation of charity racketeering which has certainly brought to light some lamentable facts about money-raising habits. Just the same, it will be outrageously unfair if good groups, innocent of dishonest tactics, lose support, and men like my stingy acquaintance get stung and smugger. It is easy to feel bitter when you think you have been done, but the fair-minded person in these circumstances will try hard not to generalize.
Like everybody else, I'm a particularly easy and undiscriminating touch when the cause dears, or purports to deal, with some matter that I feel strongly about. For instance, I've always been quick to respond to anybody who is old, broke and alone in the world. The result is that I've been fooled and have had periods of suspecting the worst of any hard luck story.
I remember one distraught man who identified himself as having worked in Bassett's dry goods store in my home town. He told me he was stranded in New York City and had been forced to pawn his only means of support, his car. I broke and alone in the world. The result is that I've been fooled and have had periods of suspecting the worst of any hard luck story.
I gave him the money, but a suspicious-minded friend who happened to overhear the conversation, planted himself outside my apartment and followed the strand-

The table was laid with a Madeira linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of blue iris. White candles completed the decorations.
The honoree wore a green tulle dress with a white carnation corsage.

Artesia has a season-ticket sales campaign going, trying to save professional baseball there, again this season.

The city's diamond operatives took a bath in red ink last year but the experience was nothing new. The team has lost money since it came into existence.

The objective is 600 season tickets, revenue from which would go toward eliminating the $12,000 debt tied to the backs of the club directors.

If the money is used to retire the debt, what's the club going to use to operate on?

Artesia has company in the misery boat. Odessa lost $18,000 last season, after opening the campaign with money in the bank.

A directors' meeting has been called for Wednesday night, at which time the problem of keeping the club will be discussed.

For a number of months, Bill (Ace) Abbott, a solid citizen of Taylor County, has retained a license to promote wrestling here. Abbott, quite a wrestler in his own right, would like to give Big Spring a regular grapple show, if he can find a decent location.

He's visited here several times in recent weeks looking over possible sites for an arena but has found nothing that meets his requirements.

Ace is no 'fly-by-night' operator, like the bunco artists who gave wrestling a black eye years ago. The game was a long time recovering from the stigma they left. You know the type. They descend upon a community, stage a show or two and then fade away, leaving behind a pyramid of bad debts.

Abbott is a pillar in his own community and would like to become one in ours. He feels wrestling fills a role in our lives as entertainment.

Ace now resides in Wiley, which is right outside Abilene. He suggests to one of the ministers there be allowed to build a gym in the basement of a church, with the idea of teaching the youngsters of the community the art of self defense.

The pastor right away took him up on the suggestion. Wiley's young men were all for the gym. The training not only is healthful for them but takes their minds away from other endeavors less conducive to good citizenship.

There would be less juvenile delinquency if there were more Ace Abbotts, ready to shoulder the job of teaching young people to take their places in a community.

According to Spec Gammon of the Odessa paper, Amarillo—once the scourge of Texas high school football—has lost five straight grid verdicts to both Odessa and Pampa.

Bobo Olson, Joe Rindone To Meet Saturday Night

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobo Olson plans to take two fights before he defends his middleweight title against Kid Gavilan April 2 in Chicago.

The champion, idle since Oct. 21, when he won the title by battering Randy Turpin, boxes Joe Rindone of Roxbury, Mass., Saturday at San Francisco on the Saturday night fight (ABC-TV).

Although Olson will be a heavy favorite to win, Rindone holds 1953 victories over Pierre Langlois and Joey de John. In fact, he sent De John into retirement with a second round TKO Nov. 23 at Syracuse, N. Y.

Olson will take another fight in March, no opponent named yet. Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., and Rocky Castillo of Chicago a pair of youngsters anxious to move up into the first 10 of the welter class, top the Friday show at Madison Square Garden (TV, NBC, radio-ABC).

Brundage To Check On Aussies' Plans

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee, may make a flying visit to Australia in the next two months to check on the organization of the 1956 Melbourne games.

"I'm seriously considering it," the top Olympic executive said today. "If I go it will be before the IOC meeting in Athens in May. But I have invitations to visit Peru, Rome, Berlin and several other places so I'd have to work it in."

The last obstacle in Melbourne's fight to keep the games apparently was eliminated yesterday when the Olympic executive committee declined to take action on a proposal to move the event elsewhere.

Angelo Bolanaki, Greek member of the IOC general committee, had suggested a change in site because of Australian quarantine laws which make it impossible to hold equestrian competition there.

Big, Fast Linemen Pace East's Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coach Paul Brown, with his first victory over a Buddy Parker piloted outfit in eight tries, thanks a bunch of fast, burly linemen.

For it was the defensive giants of the Eastern All-Stars who crashed through the favored Western division of the National Football League to win 20-9 yesterday in the Fourth Annual Pro-Bowl game.

The individual standout was 230-pound line buster Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles. His contributions included calling of defensive signals, recovery of a fumble that led to the second field goal by Cleveland's Lou Groza and a 24-yard touchdown charge with an intercepted Bobby Layne pass.

Commented Brown who has piloted the squad in all four of the post-season charity games. "We apparently wanted to win it a little more than they did. Our boys just played a little harder. Especially up front."

He discounted a suggestion that perhaps money had something to do with it—the winning squadmen each getting $700 to $800 for the losers.

Going into the game the West was a touchdown favorite so the win must be some balm for the coach whose Cleveland club has lost to Parker's Detroit Lions twice in a row for the NFL championship.

Along with Bednarik, huge Arnie Weinmeister of the New York Giants, Ernie Stautner of Pittsburgh, and Gene Brito of Washington were standout line performers for the winners.

One of the big questions for the 44,214 fans who watched under overcast skies was why Parker waited so long to use Quarterback Y. A. Tittle of the San Francisco 49ers.

Late in the third quarter the crowd set up a chant for Tittle and he master-minded a 63-yard march highlighted by a 36-yard run by Hugh McElhenry and culminated by a 16-yard touchdown dash by Joe Perry, both also of San Francisco.

That made it 13-9, but Ray Renfro of Cleveland iced the nationally televised game for the East with a 23-yard touchdown pass.

Parker explained it was difficult to utilize the services of three quarterbacks and Layne and Norm Van Brocklin knew his system better. Layne quarterbacks Detroit and Van of Los Angeles played for Parker in last year's Pro-Bowl game.

The Badgers have lost two games to Hutchinson, two to Dodge City, Kansas; and once each to Pratt, Kansas; Frank Phillips and Wharton, Texas.

HCJC's losses have come at the hands of San Antonio J.C. Weber, Utah; Wharton, San Angelo, Odessa and the Tech Frosh.

Wharton beat Amarillo, 61-54, and HCJC, 69-63.

Amarillo, with Tom Boyd at the post, will have a height advantage on the Hawks. HC figures to make up for that disadvantage with speed and the ability to hit from outside.

Amarillo Faces Hawks Tuesday

Tuesday night's important basketball tussle between Howard County Junior College and the Amarillo Badgers looms as a toss-up.

Neither quadrant has been scorching the hardwoods this year but the winner is due to figure strongly in the skirmishing for first place in the West Zone standings.

No quarter other than HCJC and the Badgers has ever won first place in the zone but, oddly enough, the two teams are now tied for the cellar position in the circuit with identical 0-1 won-lost records.

The Jayhawks lost their opener to Odessa in Odessa. The Amarilloans yielded to Frank Phillips of Borger in Borger.

The Big Springers have won 11 times in 17 starts. Amarillo's record shows nine victories in 16 assignments. The Badgers dropped

Undeclared Quints Figure To Improve On Record

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—Kentucky, Duquesne, Western Kentucky and surprise Connecticut were the only major college basketball fives with unimpaired slates today and the immediate offing holds little for the first three to worry about.

Kentucky, rolling in high gear with 11 straight, takes on none-too-formidable Tennessee Saturday night. Western Kentucky, unbeaten in 16 games, figures to add a pair of victims, Tennessee Tech and Memphis, to its skein this week, and the Ducks can rest on their 15-0 record until Jan. 27 when they meet Georgetown.

Only the high-scoring Connecticut quintet (14-0) can look to the future with some foreboding. In next game, on Feb. 3, is against Fordham, another Eastern power and the best of the New York City clubs.

Last weekend, Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 ranking team in the latest Associated Press poll, walloped Tulane, 94-43, in a Southeastern Conference game.

Duquesne, No. 2, deftly handled one of its toughest assignments by defeating Niagara, 61-53. Western Kentucky ranked fifth, thrashed Eastern Kentucky, its arch rival scored a convincing 106-61 win over Boston College.

Holy Cross and George Washington, ranked sixth and seventh respectively, both suffered their first setbacks Friday. The Crusaders fell victim to Notre Dame's collapsing defenses and dropped a lopsided 83-61 decision. George Washington bowed to Maryland, 68-61.

Otherwise, the first 10 teams justified their high ratings. Indiana's third-ranked Hoosiers continued to dominate play in the Big Ten Conference by whipping Wisconsin, 90-74. The Indiana five will attempt to make their league record 6-0 tonight against Ohio State.

In the national possession-minded struggle between the schools the Oklahoma Aggies, No. 4, edged Tulsa, 46-40.

Holy Cross got back on the victory road Saturday, trouncing Belmont Abbey of North Carolina, 103-63. Oklahoma City, No. 8 with an 11-1 record, easily downed Murray State of Kentucky, 78-43.

Rounding out the performances of the top 10 were Duke's 60-61 decision over McCary Eagles, an independent team, and Minnesota's 59-35 verdict over Iowa.

In the second 10, 11th-ranked Dayton bowed to La Salle, 82-58.

Wichita (15-1) moved to the top of the Missouri Valley standings with a 91-61 victory over Detroit. The Kansas Jayhawks won their third Big Seven game, defeating Kansas State, 65-62, and Louisiana State, led by Bob Pettit's 37 points, downed Tennessee, 75-62.

Colorado A&M, No. 18, topped New Mexico, 67-46, and Illinois a notch lower, whipped Ohio State, 82-78, in a Big Ten fray.

Bevo Francis and Rio Grande came in for their share of the weekend scoring spotlight. The much-heralded center dropped in 61 points as the Ohio school drubbed Alliance (Pa.), 107-77, Friday and then followed it with an 84-point performance the following night in Rio Grande's 133-70 triumph against the same college.

Cornell remained on top of the Eastern league by defeating Dartmouth, 79-58, for a 5-0 record in conference play.

In the Southeastern Conference, Alabama beat Auburn, 75-58, Mississippi whipped Georgia Tech, 90-71, and Vanderbilt conquered Mississippi State, 79-68.

North Carolina held its lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 75-66 verdict over Virginia.

HARRISON IS CROSBY KING

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Easy going E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, veteran trapper on golf's tournament trail, was $2,000 richer today and the champion of the 1954 Bing Crosby 54 hoier.

"This is a swell way to start the new year," Harrison drawled.

The old Arkansas traveler of the fairways fronted his fellow professionals in the wind-up of the famed spar-with-par event with a three-day total of 210. Harrison posted 71-68-71 respectively on three courses, Cypress Point, Monterey Peninsula and Pebble Beach.

A crowd estimated at close to 20,000 saw the final round. Harrison led by two shots at the end of 36 holes. He threatened the 18th green for a 7, two over par yesterday but edged out Jimmy Demaret by a single stroke.

Demaret, veteran from Houston, shot 73-68-70 for 211 and $1,250.

Record Catch?

Lafayette And Baton Rouge Need Help In Evangeline

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP)—Two financially pressed baseball teams have three weeks to find solutions to the money troubles that threaten to keep them out of the Class C Evangeline League this year.

League directors voted yesterday to give Lafayette and Baton Rouge until Feb. 7 to clear up their troubles and both teams were optimistic about their chances.

The meeting was called to determine which clubs plan to field teams this summer. Lafayette, which filed a bankruptcy suit last month, faces a $17,000 federal government tax lien from the 1952

Snad Winner By 6 Strokes

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP)—Sammy Snad, White Sulphur Springs, Va., has finally ended the jinx that Roberto DeVicenzo of Argentina held over him in the Panama Open Golf Tournament.

Snad set a new course record of 271 in winning the $7,500 tournament yesterday by six strokes over DeVicenzo, who had beaten him the last two years and also held the former course record of 274.

This year, DeVicenzo finished with a 277 total, barely edging Pete Cooper of Tampa, who shot a 278. Skip Alexander of St. Petersburg, Fla., was fourth with 281.

Ban On Nocturnal Sports Proposed

DETROIT (AP)—Night-time prep school football and basketball faced a possible ban at Detroit's public schools today as a result of 'teenager hoodlumism' in which a boy was stabbed and badly hurt.

Supt. Arthur Dondineau called a meeting of school principals at which he said he would demand a ban.

Five boys were held by police. They were among 12 arrested after what police called a "mob attack" on three players following a basketball game Friday night.

Ross DeBoskey, 17, star center of the Mackenzie High team, was stabbed in the back with an ice pick. He and two teammates were attacked after their team had played a game with Central High.

Part of the ice-pick, five inches long, had broken off in DeBoskey's back. It was removed at a hospital. DeBoskey was taken off the hospital's critical list yesterday.

Longhorns Take Rest In League

By WILBUR MARTIN Associated Press Staff

Pace-setting Texas can sit back and watch four other Southwest Conference basketball teams try to knock each other out of a chance at the title this week.

The Longhorns, winners over A&M and Rice last week, sport a perfect record—four victories—in league play and are certain to keep it for at least another week. They don't play a conference game again until Feb. 2.

Southern Methodist, also idle this week, dropped out of a share of the lead and had its own clean conference slate spoiled by Arkansas, which thumped the Mustangs, 61-58, in Fayetteville, Ark., Saturday night.

Rice, pre-season favorite now hanging on the ropes, squares off against Arkansas Monday night on the Porkers' home court. The loser of this one can just about quit hoping to take the crown.

Last week Rice beat Texas Christian, which plays Baylor Monday night at Fort Worth, 69-52, but dropped its game with Texas, 74-68.

Baylor, tied for second place, knocked off Arkansas, 63-59. The Bears play in the only other game this week, meeting Rice in Houston Saturday night.

A&M, which figured in rumors of a player-coach feud, dropped two games, losing to Texas, 74-74, and to TCU, 69-52. Two Aggie players were revealed to have quit the squad. They were guard Don Moon and forward Rodney Pirtle. Coach John Floyd denied knowledge of a report the entire Aggie team had threatened to quit at one point this season.

The Aggies haven't won a conference game this season and have won only one of 13 all year. Gene Schwinger, Rice's great scorer, kept his individual scoring lead. He scored 41 points in two games to boost his season total to 346 and conference to 100. Henry Ohlen of TCU is second in season scoring with 259 and Fred Saunders second in league play with 71.

ABC VS. LIONS

The March of Dimes campaign for funds benefits from a basketball doubleheader scheduled for the HCJC Gymnasium this evening.

The American Business Club fields a team against the Lions Club in the 7:15 o'clock opener.

HCJC's B team takes the court against the Tennessee Milk team of the YMCA City League in the second go.

There'll be no admission charge. Instead, the onlookers will be asked to donate any amount they choose in between games. County Judge R. H. Weaver will make the appeal.

Ronda Dobbins, Lions' president, says his lineup will consist of Jack Smith, Jimmy Mason, Louis Carrouthers, Carl Coleman, Gil Jones, Pete Cook, B. M. Keese, Avery Falkner and Mickey Butts.

Jack Johnson, the ABC manager, will attempt to hold the line with a starting lineup composed of Paul Limer, Roy Reeder, Vernon Whittington, Coy Nalley and Doug Orme.

Johnson says he'll make liberal substitutions.

Tennessee Milk is currently setting the pace in the City League and should give the HCJC reserves a stern challenge.

The Jayhawk second stringers have enjoyed a successful season to date.

Both baskets should take a lot of punishment in the last imbroglio. The gladiators may suffer from wear and tear in the opener.

West Texas, Tech Pacing Circuit

By The Associated Press

West Texas State and Texas Tech are staging a two-team fight for top honors in the Border Conference basketball race and so far they're all even.

Texas Tech licked New Mexico A&M, 80-51, and West Texas downed Hardin-Simmons, 64-52, last week to keep perfect league records. Three victories against no defeats.

In other games, Texas Western beat Arizona, 75-57; Arizona beat New Mexico A&M, 67-65; and Hardin-Simmons clipped New Mexico A&M, 59-54.

Hapless Trinity Seeks First Win

By The Associated Press

Hapless Trinity seeks its first win of the year Monday night at Denton when it takes on the powerful North Texas Eagles, opening their Gulf Coast Conference basketball season.

Midwestern got off to a winning start in league play last week, beating Trinity twice, 88-63 and 93-63. Trinity also dropped a non-conference game with Southwest Texas, 92-98, for its tenth straight licking.

North Texas' pair of games with Trinity Monday and Tuesday, a game with Oklahoma A&M Saturday at Denton, and Midwestern's tilt Wednesday with Sheppard Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, round out the week's schedule.

In the only other game last week, North Texas beat Wayland, 73-62.

WT-NM Is Ready To Open Season

PLAINVIEW (AP)—The West Texas-New Mexico baseball league has declared itself ready to go with eight teams.

The matter of enlarging the league to 10 teams was referred to a committee at a meeting here Saturday night of club representatives.

Borger President Chippy Spencer asked that the league change its three-player limit on veterans on each team to four veterans, but his motion was defeated.

The league decided to hold a queen contest in the coming season.

Barry's Shot Wins For American Team

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A visiting polo team was 6-5 over a Mexican quartet yesterday when Roy Barry of San Antonio knocked in the winning goal after two extra chukkers.

The final victory in the International Series meant the two countries had divided honors with two wins each.

For Barry, a six-goal handikap man, it was the first goal he scored in the series. Four others were scored by Cecil Smith, 10-goal leader of the U.S. team.

Nats Will Look At Three Negro Stars In Camp

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The Washington Senators may have a Negro on the club next season for the first time. In fact, they may have three.

At least three will receive trials in the Nats' spring training camp at Orlando, Fla., next month. They are outfielders Angel (Scotty) Scull and Juan Della and first baseman Juan Bequer. This trio is part of a skinny crew of newcomers who will try for a regular job with the Senators.

Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, had often said he wouldn't be rushed into acquiring a Negro, but would wait until a player of major league calibre was available.

Scull, 23, was obtained in 1953 from Havana of the Florida International League and optioned to Charleston of the American Association. The fleet-footed Cuban heartened the Senators' bosses by boosting his mark 51 points to 286.

Scull stole 28 bases last year and was one of the best fielding outfielders in the league. He was voted the most valuable player on the Charleston club.

Della, 23, batted .288 hit 11 homers and drove in 75 runs in 194 games at Havana last year. He stands 5-11, weighs 170 and, he too, is exceptionally fast. He was a shortstop until two years ago when he broke a small bone in his ankle while playing at Danville, Va., in the Carolina League. He was switched to the outfield while recovering. He is righthanded all the way.

Bequer, 21, is a six-foot, 165 pounder who throws and bats left-handed. He played at Havana last season and hit .254. He had nine home runs and 63 runs batted in in 118 games. He is regarded as a flashy fielder. Two years ago when former Yankee George McQuinn spotted Bequer playing for Drummondville, Canada, in the Provincial League, he told Nats farm director Ossie B. Luge that Bequer was a sure-fire major league prospect. Since then both the White Sox and Indians have tried to buy Bequer.

Javelinas Pacing Texas Conference

By The Associated Press

Only one game is scheduled in the Texas Conference this week as basketball teams take a holiday from play.

The lone tilt matches Howard Payne against Hardin-Simmons at Abilene.

Last week Texas A&I jumped ahead in the chase for the conference title by beating McMurry twice, 82-79 and 72-70, after McMurry had started league play with a 67-52 decision over Abilene Christian. In the only other game, Howard Payne lost to Stephen F. Austin of the Lone Star Conference, 77-73.

Fanfani Signs Italian Cabinet
ROME (AP)—Amintore Fanfani, moderate leftist member of the middle-road Christian Democrat party today handed President Luigi Einaudi the lineup of a new cabinet he hopes will end Italy's 13-day-old political crisis. Einaudi immediately signed the decree appointing the new government.

But the 46-year-old Fanfani and his Cabinet still must win the approval of Italy's bitterly and almost evenly divided Parliament. The new Premier will go before the 590-member Chamber of Deputies, in which his party's 262 seats are 34 short of a majority, on Jan. 26 to present his program.

Fanfani, former interior minister, and the youngest man ever called to Republican Italy's premiership, is expected to win by a narrow margin in the subsequent vote of confidence. He was asked to form a government after the resignation Jan. 5 of Giuseppe Pella, another Christian Democrat who had governed precariously for five months with Monarchist support.

Leftist members of his own party split with Pella, charging he was too far to the right. They called for more liberal economic policies, and particularly a speed-up in the land redistribution program, to counter recent Communist gains. Except for one independent, the new 19-man government consists entirely of Christian Democrats. In 35-year-old Giulio Andreotti, it probably has Italy's youngest minister of the Interior. Andreotti is a protégé of Alcide De Gasperi. He served as under-secretary to that veteran statesman in several of his eight cabinets. Attilio Piccioni, 61, former vice premier under De Gasperi and a World War I aviation veteran, is the new minister of foreign affairs. TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist China's official Central Daily News today urged the U. N. Command in Korea to beware of any Communist attempt to kidnap the unrepatriated war prisoners. The newspaper urged the U. N. to warn the Reds that any such attempt would be considered a renewal of hostilities and would automatically provoke retaliation.

Paper Admen Told They Can't Relax
CHICAGO (AP)—Newspaper advertising executives today were told that their business is at a peak level but that they can't relax in the year ahead. The advice came from Arthur A. Porter, vice president of an advertising firm, Leo Burnett Co., Inc., Chicago. Porter, in a speech entitled "If I were a General Advertising Manager," suggested these selling points for newspaper advertising: "I can prove 95 per cent of the families in my community pay $15 to $30 a year, year after year, for my product. This proves the respect and authority my medium commands. "I can prove that the commodity I sell—news—is an essential, vital ingredient in the success of any product—new or old. "I can prove that no better place exists for combining the basic message of the national advertiser and the specific 'Buy It Here Today' appeal of the local dealer."

Porter said the newspaper offers a specific local market, gives the national advertiser a "higher percentage of exposure than any other medium," and provides the local advertiser with "deliberate, voluntary readership." "The newspaper and the Sears Roebuck catalog have much in common," he said. "They are both sought out and deliberately consulted, particularly by women, for items to buy."

British See Atom Power Development
LONDON (AP)—A British government report says that within 20 years nuclear energy may provide about a fourth of Britain's estimated power needs. The 200-page report, entitled "Britain's Atom Factories" was made public yesterday. It was written by Kenneth Jay, 44, principal scientific officer at the big Harwell atom research plant. Jay said nuclear fuel might be developed in the next two decades to produce as much electricity as 20 million tons of coal. This is the amount by which Britain's coal production is expected to fall short of the country's needs. If certain assumptions turn out to be valid, Jay added, "it might ultimately be possible completely to replace coal by nuclear fuel for the generation of electrical power in the United Kingdom."

British Supply Minister Duncan Sandys said in a foreword to Jay's report that Britain had moved in the past year from the purely research stage into regular atomic energy production. Texas Ranger Hellums Dies Up In Lubbock
LUBBOCK (AP)—Texas Ranger Jesse M. Hellums, 41, of Lubbock died yesterday in a hospital here. He had been convalescing a week with a heart ailment. Hellums had been with the Department of Public Safety since 1935.

President To Press Proposals In Session

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was said by close associates today to be prepared to press for legislation he believes will put a middle-of-the-road tag on the Republican party for the November elections.

Eisenhower has told Republican congressional leaders that while some compromises may be in order, he is prepared to turn on the heat to get major proposals enacted in this session.

A case in point apparently involves his recommendations for changes in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

The President sent Congress a series of proposed amendments that set up a howl from two sides, with organized labor objecting to some and managers to others. Associates said Eisenhower expected just such a reaction.

The administration aim, as disclosed by one of those who has discussed it at the White House, is to get Congress to pass amendments which will be accepted in the public mind as "liberalizing" the Taft-Hartley Act.

The prospect that union leaders will criticize the net result as being too little and segments of management will say the changes favor the unions is calculated to give the whole business a middle-of-the-road look to the average voter.

To get some amendments to the act, there are clear signs that the administration is prepared to throw overboard the strike vote proposal which union leaders have attacked and which the President appears to have included in his message with reluctance.

On the health program scheduled for submission to Congress today, some of the President's proposals are expected to draw fire from the American Medical Assn. and, from the other side of the fence, groups which want the government to install a compulsory medical insurance system.

Eisenhower's social security recommendations, which were warmly received by Congress, were apparently aimed in part at meeting complaints that his party has been reactionary.

The President is represented as having reached the conclusion that it isn't enough for him to propose. He is said to want the Eisenhower stamp put on the Republican record by congressional enactment of his major proposals.

That may not be easy, since some elements of his party are not going to like being "liberalized" and will fight it openly. Some GOP lawmakers think Eisenhower has gone "New Deal," as they put it.

To meet expected resistance from these sources, the President is reported to have told his lieutenants he will use his White House forum to appeal directly to the country whenever he thinks this is necessary.

McCarthy Turns To Probe Of Voice Of America Again

By EDWARD LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman McCarthy (R-Wis.) says his Senate investigations subcommittee is checking on how the Voice of America engineering division is operating under the Eisenhower administration.

A recommendation for such a check was made in a report yesterday by the investigative group that multimillion-dollar waste, "incompetence, stupidity or worse was the rule and not the exception" when the division was operating under Secretary of State Dean Acheson in former President Truman's administration.

McCarthy said in a statement the subcommittee has received information "of continuing waste and abuses of taxpayers' funds." He said it has directed that a new survey be made by engineers who will report within three weeks, after which the subcommittee will call witnesses.

The report the subcommittee filed yesterday with its parent, the Government Operations Committee dealt only with the technical operations division of the Voice, a cold war propaganda weapon which beams broadcasts to friendly and Iron Curtain countries.

The subcommittee said "Communist infiltration and left-wing slanting of and bias in programs" will be separately treated in another report.

The subcommittee has been an all-Republican group since its Democratic members walked out last summer in a row with McCarthy over his asserted sole right to hire and fire staff members.

Reviewing its hearings on the Voice's technical division, the subcommittee claimed credit for preventing the "squandering" of 18 million dollars for construction of two 10-million-dollar radio stations.

Two million had been spent, the report said, before the hearings brought out testimony that the projects were located in areas of atmospheric disturbance and could be replaced at a tenth the cost on more favorable sites.

115 AF Wings Seen In 1954

FORT WORTH (AP) — A 115-wing Air Force—five more wings than foreseen—can be expected before year's end, says Deputy Defense Secretary Roger M. Kyes.

Kyes, in a Texas radio speech last night, quoted a recent Air Force report as saying, "We can now see our way clear to provide 115 wings instead of 110 in 1954, and 120 wings by 1955 instead of 115."

He spoke on the State Republican Committee's weekly transcribed program over the Texas State Network.

Kyes said the estimates reverse the stand taken by Air Force officials in last spring's congressional hearings. It was contended at that time that under existing appropriations only 110 wings would be possible this year.

The Air Force is bent on cutting out "unnecessary activities," the defense official said.

"They are doing so well that they will be able to man 120 wings with 90,000 fewer people than their original estimate."

The entire Defense Department is working hard to improve both organization and procedures for increased effectiveness, he said.

Much money has been saved, Kyes declared, by eliminating duplications in millions of "hard goods" items, such as screws, nuts and vacuum tubes for defense forces.

He said the government has also saved money by doing away with excessively large inventories of items readily available in peace or war.

'THE ROBE' TO END TUESDAY

Final showings of "The Robe" first CinemaScope production to appear here, will be Tuesday, the Ritz management has announced.

An earlier announcement in The Herald said the picture will play through Wednesday, but screenings tonight and tomorrow mark the conclusion of the run.

The week-long engagement of the famous Lloyd C. Douglas story probably will have set an attendance record at the Ritz. The giant screen presentation, plus new stereophonic sound and superb color have been of compelling attraction.

Polio Vaccine Trial Hoped For 500,000

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis says it hopes to have enough trial polio vaccine for at least 500,000 second grade school children before June 1.

Basil O'Connor, the foundation president, adds that sufficient vaccine possibly may be produced by June to inoculate as many as a million children.

However, he says that "no polio vaccine will be available for the general public in 1954" and that "it will be 1955 before it can be demonstrated whether or not the substance is effective."

The vaccine is that developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh. The trials are to start next month in counties throughout the nation; the counties have not yet been named.

AF Wants To Alter Goodfellow Purpose

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force wants to convert Goodfellow Air Force Base at San Angelo, Tex. into a basic school for multi-engine airplane training.

The base is the last of the government operated primary flying schools. It has been a standardizing school for nine civilian schools now handling the entire primary training program. These schools include the Texas Aviation Industries School at Hondo.

The transfer to multi-engine plane training at Goodfellow already has started. No new primary students are being admitted.

Thieves Steal Family's Furniture From Garage

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP) — Little Mickie Pierson's daddy built her a desk for her 11th birthday yesterday, the day they were going to move into their new house. But it wasn't there when she came to see it.

Neither was the family range, refrigerator, deep freeze, automatic washer and drier, radio-phonograph, living room suite, bedroom suite, rugs or their trunks.

Thieves evidently backed up a moving van the night before the Piersons were going to move their furniture from the locked garage into their new house, and cleaned them out.

Mickie, her father George, 33, her mother Marian, and her brother Tom, 12, sat on packed cartons and stared at the one piece of furniture left, Mrs. Pierson's sewing machine.

Pierson, an aviation research engineer, said he had paid $765 to have the furniture moved to Los Angeles from Detroit last August.

"We worked hard for it, but it was all paid for," he said. "We were out of debt. It was all we had. We put everything else into the down payment on this house."

He said he'd asked for police protection after someone snoop around the loaded garage and jimmied the lock, and he even sat in the empty house until 11 o'clock Thursday night with his .22-caliber rifle, but then left without seeing either prowlers or police.

He said their only neighbor in the new tract offered to cook for them and put them up, and the milkman brought ice for their picnic ice box.

Mrs. Pierson looked at her sewing machine and said, "Now I guess I'll have to take in sewing."

El Paso Meeting On Braceros Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A meeting will be held in El Paso Tuesday to work out plan for the United States to start its border recruiting of Mexican farm workers.

Don Larin, chief of farm placement service in the Labor Department, said the new program probably will start within the next week.

The United States announced its new program yesterday after the collapse of efforts to renew a 12-year-old agreement under which Mexico recruited laborers for U.S. farm work.

Under the new plan, this nation will process Mexicans at border stations.

Larin said managers of labor reception centers, heads of three border immigration centers, health officials and others have been summoned to the El Paso meeting.

Red Demonstrators Sentenced In Oslo

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Three young Reds who interrupted the awarding of the 1953 Nobel Peace Prize to Gen. George C. Marshall last month have been fined a total of 800 kroner ($112).

Oslo radio said the Communist demonstrators were found guilty yesterday of defaming Marshall and attempting to break up a public meeting. The two older Reds were fined 300 kroner each. Their companion, 18, was fined 200 kroner.

During formal presentation ceremonies at Oslo University, 29 Communists shouted against Marshall and showered the audience with leaflets before the police could hustle them out.
