THREE-DAY RAINFALL LEAVES 1.5 TO 2.5 INCHES

'Perfect' Rainfall Boosts Crop$

The Slaton area crop prospects zoomed to new heights this week following a three-day period of gently, soaking rains which were termed "ideal" by farmers.

The rainfall, which started Saturday night about 10:30, left from about 1.5 inches to 2.5 inches all around the area. And, more important, the June total climbed to near 7 inches in some spots south of Slaton.

The widespread rainfall ended Monday after soaking into the soil following highly beneficial rains Saturday night, Sunday afternoon and much of Monday.

The Slaton area again escaped the more violent thunderstorms which have hit the South Plains. No hail or heavy, damaging downpours were reported in this section. Farmers were jubliant over the rain especially the dryland farmers who had waited for enough moisture to plant. Many of them got their cottonseed in the ground following good rains about two weeks ago, and the slow, drenching moisture was just "what the doctor ordered." Heavy rains, hail and strong winds caused damage to young crops in some areas of the Plains -- especially parts of Lamb, Hockley and Cochran counties. The booming thunderstorms dumped up to 6 inches of rain in short periods and caused flooding in some sect-

Slaton recorded almost two inches for the three-day span, while other reports around the city were close to that mark. Victor Buxkemper reported 1.5 inches two miles southeast of Slaton; a report of 2 inches came from five miles north across the canyon; Earl F.

Wilson measured 1.8 inches one mile southwest of town; Francis Grabber recorded 1.5 inches four miles west of the city, and F. A. Strube had almost 2 inches four miles east of Slaton.

Glen Akin, southwest of the city, reported more than 2 inches of rain and about 4 to 5 inches for the month of June. On a dryland farm between Slaton and Gordon, he reported almost 7 inches during the month. Akin found a cotton bloom Tuesday morning on a crop he planted April 13. It came from Acala cotton, and was the earliest Akin had seen a cotton bloom in his fields for many years.

As the thunderstorms moved in for a three - day stay, temperatures dipped with only five degrees separating the minimum and maximum Sunday. High was 63 Sunday and the low was 58. High and low readings Saturday were 74 and 62. The mercury climbed back to a high of 86 Tuesday and an expected 95 Wednesday.

With continued favorable weather conditions, optimism is high for a banner crop year in the area.

Trash Barrels Not for Cement

With only a few days left in "Beautification Month", city officials this week asked residents to cooperate in trashbarrel pickups.

Citizens should use trash barrels only for trash and garbage, not for heavy junk, rocks, dirt, etc., it was pointed out by City Administrator Buford Duff. The trash barrels are handled by two - man crews, and heavy items in the barrell cannot be emptied.

Should citizens desire to have heavy junk hauled off, they should place them near the barrels in the alley. If the items are not picked up in a few days, call city hall and report the items and address.

The beautification committee of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce has sponsored a clean-up and fix-up campaign during June, with Mayor Jonas Cain proclaiming a "Beautification Month" and city officials cooperating in the project.

M. G. Davis, committee chairman for the C of C, reminded citizens this week that "it's not too late to participate ...help make Slaton a more attractive place in which to live!"

Rate Hike Requested By Pioneer Gas Co.

A rate increase that would add 72 cents a month to the average homeowner's gas bill was requested by Pioneer Natural Gas Co. at the regular Monday night City Commission meeting.

Slaton and 54 other towns would be affected by the average 11.5 percent rate hike. City councils in each town have 60 days in which to approve or reject the application.

Slaton's commission took no action on the application Monday night. All commissioners had not studied the detailed applications sent out by the gas company, and the commissioners also wanted to see the reaction in other area towns.

C. I. (Stony) Wall, Amarillo,

C. L (Stony) Wall, Amarillo, president of Pioneer, said "increased operating costs necessitated" the request for the second rate boost in a decade.

The company asked that the

The company asked that the new rates become effective on meters read Aug. 15 and thereafter. If approved, the minimum monthly charge for gas service in each affected town would climb 20 cents, from $1.65 to $1.85. For the average domestic user, the new rate would mean an annual outlay of $83.25 for gas, up $8.61 from the current $74.64, Wall said.

"Our Wages, taxes and other expenses of doing business have increased substantially since our rate increase in 1961," Wall stated. The company said its actual rate of return was 2.35 percent, and the new schedule of charges would provide a 4.9 percent return.

It was pointed out that this is still below the 6.5 percent return allowed by the Texas Railroad Commission. Pioneer said gas customers in this area still would be paying less than the statewide average.

All South Plains points, plus Midland and Odessa, served by the company were included in the rate hike request. Rates traditionally are identical in each city, Wall said.

The current minimum monthly gas bill in the area is$1.65. This is for the first 2,000 cubic feet of gas used. The new minimum charge would be $1.85. For the next 8,000 cubic feet used per month, a customer now pays 60.5 cents per thousand. The new rate would be 67.5 cents.

For the next 40,000 cubic feet, the monthly bill would go from 55 cents to 61 cents per thousand, for the next 50,000 from 50 cents to 56 cents, for the next 200,000 from 38 cents to 42 cents more and for the next 200,000 from 33 cents to

Slaton City Commission started formal action toward annexing the Slaton Municipal Airport site into the city limits during a regular meeting Monday night.

A motion to draw up the ordinance for annexing the 320acre site, including FM-400 to the land, was okayed by the commission.

In other business, the commission noted a rate increase application from Pioneer Natural Gas Co., officially accepted the resignation of City Administrator Buford Duff effective Aug. 1, touched briefly on a proposed revaluation program, and took care of other minor

The commission also went into an "executive session" with Police Chief Robert Breedlove for about an hour. No action was taken, recording to Mayor Lores Cain.

Contract for airport improvements was awarded recently in the amount of $85,-485,50 to Pioneer Pavers, Inc., of Lubbock. The 320-acre site was purchased for $96,000. Matching Federal funds in the amount of $90,912 have been approved for the project.

Duff had submitted his resignation at the last regular meeting, but the commission took no official action at that time. Monday night the commission unanimously accepted the resignation effective Aug. 1.

On a request from County

Commissioner Max Arrants, the city agreed to pay half the salary of a city - county park worker up to three months time. The regular caretaker is on sick leave. Following a short discussion on the July 4th holiday, the commission decided to close only could not take off for such an extended period due to the nature of their duties.

Cain reported that he still had received no word from school officials on a "more definite estimate" on the cost of a joint tax revaluation program. The commission also had requested details as to who would be employed and how the program would be carried out. Slaton Independent School District had asked the city to consider joining into a joint program.

Commissioner Henry Bollinger said he had received a complaint about trucks parking in a residential area and "causing a traffic hazard," It was agreed that 'no parking" signs should be placed in the area on Division Street.

Should You Buy Beef by Side, Or Retail Cut

not to purchase beef by the side or by the retail cut is an often pondered question by beef buyers, says Associate County Agent Jerry DeBord.

The answer, he adds, largely depends upon the local retail pricing for each cut.

As an aid to those pondering the beef buying question, De-Bord says Ed Uvacek, extension livestock marketing specialist, has prepared a fact sheet on the subject and copies are available locally at County Extension office,

Uvacek points out that about 2.25 pounds of live choice grade steer are required to produce one pound of salable beef in a retail store and that only about

The Niemans traveled to Galveston to join other Texas Press Association members for the state convention over the weekend. With a program planned for the entire family, it was certainly a fun trip for the four of us and it was nice getting away for four days.

I can certainly recommend the Flagship Hotel for an ideal place to stay if you are ever spending a summer vacation in Galveston, It is built over the ocean and has its own fishing pier, swimming pool, and a beach front for swimming and surfing, among other things.

We took a most interesting tour Saturday afternoon. We toured the world's largest dredge that is capable of disposing of dredge material by three different systems.

When we walked in the control room, much to my surprise I found that one of my old school mates, Roy Rose of Hamlin, was one of the engineers. I hadn't seen him in almost 20 years and was quite sure it was his younger brother I had gone to school with, but he assured me his gray hair had fooled me. He was probably thinking I looked so old that I must be my older sister. It's a small world.

From the dredge we traveled to the Galveston Airport where we saw an exhibition by the Galveston Sky Divers Club. Divers jumped from 7,500 feet, fell freely for about 5,000 feet, then opened their chutes to drift down the remaining 2,000 feet. The time from plane to target was two and a half minutes.

Of course those Nieman boys were right there when they landed to meet them and shake their hand, Man what a sport! WW

One afternoon we were guests at the Sea-Arama of Texas. It was all very interesting, but the best part, we thought, was watching the porpoises perform. Known to be among the most intelligent of all mammals, the fun-loving porpoises astounded us with their performing abilities.

While at the Sea-Arama, one man told his small son he could purchase a souvinir while there if he wanted to. He ran away happily to buy one and soon returned asking, "what does a souvinir look like?"

It's always fun for us to get with other newspaper people. I guess the question asked us the most was "How in the world do you publish a newspaper without any grocery advertising in it?" As far as we know, we must be the only newspaper that does. We certainly aren't proud of the fact and hope that we can have some grocery ads before there is no longer a Slatonite.

I would like to write more on this subject but at present the editor is editing my copy and this writer has not been given the freedom of writing on the subject of Slaton grocery

Know Your Medicare Program

"Many communities in the South Plains area are overlooking the advantages of Home Health Agencies which can be established under the Medicare program", according to John Hutton, District Manager of the Social Security Office in Lubbock, Texas. Almost everyone realizes that if he gets sick, he should see a physician and that the physician may send him to a hospital. Some people know that after a person is released from a hospital, he may receive care in skilled nursing homes under Medicare. Very few know, however, that Medicare provides for home health services. These services consist of up to 100 visits per year to a beneficiary's home by nurses, physical therapists and certain other workers. According to Clyde W. James, Medicare Coordinator for the Lubbock Social Security office, providing skilled services in the home is one of the newest developments in medical care. Hospital, nursing home, or other officials interested in establishing a home health agency should contact Mr. James at the Social Security Administration, Lubbock, Texas.

When to File For Medicare?

The Lubbock social security office receives many calls each week from area residents who are approaching 65 and want to know the best time to file their application for retirement benefits or medicare, according to John G. Hutton, district manager.

Hutton advised contacting the social security office 3 months before reaching 65 if you haven't already filed a claim. This is true even though you are not going to retire, because you do not have to quit work to qualify for medicare.

In order to have coverage under the medical insurance part (the part that helps pay doctors' bills) effective with the month in which you reach 65 you must complete your application during the 3-month period before the month in which your 65th birthday falls.

Another reminder, Hutton said, is to bring proof of your date of birth with you when you call at the office to apply. This should be the oldest records you have available. If you do not have proof of birth the social security workers will be glad to advise you how to go about getting satisfactory evidence. Also, you should bring in your W-2 form showing your wages for 1966, or your tax if you were self-

The social security office is located at 3428 Avenue H, in Family Park Shopping Center and is open from 8:30 to 4:45 Monday through Friday. In addition, the office remains open until 8 on Thursday evening.

Of Pesticides

The use of agricultural chemicals, especially pesticides, will increase as crops develop and insect problems multiply.

Pesticides are a boon to farmers if used at the proper rate and at the right time. But, warns, Associate County Agent, Jerry DeBord, they are formulated to kill and will do that job not only on insects but livestock, pets and even humans can become victims if the materials are carelessly

Each container of pesticide carries a label of contents as tions for its use. This label information should be followed to the letter, advises the associate county agent. Pesticides formulated for use on crops should not be used on live-Unless storage facilities are available, it is best to purchase only the amount of materials needed for a particular job. This will eliminate problems of storage and disposal, says DeBord.

If chemicals are delivered to the farm before they are needed, make sure they are stored safely and out of reach of children, livestock and pets. They should not be removed from the original containers until they are to be used.

Pesticides are safe in the hands of a careful user. They were designed to do a job and when used for that purpose and according to recommendations can be counted on to give effective results.

Danny Scott Named 'Bowler of the Year'

Danny Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland J. Scott was awarded the "Bowler of the Year" trophy at an annual banquet and awards program for the Canyon Bowl, in Canyon.

The award is given each year to a man and woman bowler who have proven to be outstanding in all phases including sportsmanship, leadership, and bowling records. The winners are selected by popular vote of the entire bowling group.

Danny's team, which was made up of West Texas State University students, won first place honors in the Canyon

City Men's League. A sophomore at WTSU, Danny will be bowling on the V. TSU team again next year which will be under the athletic department of the school. The school plans to set up a conference with other colleges.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., recommending that the 23county cotton producer organization in 1967 provide grantsin-aid totaling $32,200 to help carry out 12 research projects on High Plains Cotton production, according to Don Jones, committee chairman.

The committee's recommendations already have been approved by PCG's Finance Committee and will be considered later this month by the organization's full 48-man board.

The Research Committee will recommend that a major portion of the funds, $23,800, be spent on the development and evaluation of improved varieties and strains of cotton adapted to High Plains conditions and on cotton disease and weed control research.

Other studies the committee felt should get financial help include conservation and utilization of rainfall and irrigation water, various methods of modifying the cotton plant for adaptation to the low temperatures sometimes pervailing on the Plains, soil fertility and the influence of planting designs and climatic conditions on cotton fiber development. Established research institutions sharing in the grants will be the South Plains Research and Extension Center at Lubbock, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Bushland, High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway and Texas Technological College,

The $32,200 total to be spent by PCG on cotton production research in 1967 compares with $36,250 budgeted for grants last year. Jones said "Though it is felt by the committee that adequate research is no less important to producers now than in previous years, and that in fact there may now be more urgency for research in specific areas, the sharp cut in acreage and production has substantially reduced available funds.

"Accordingly, we are recommending approximately a nine per cent reduction in the budget for agricultural research. But we have thoroughly evaluated each individual project in order to make cuts where they would least affect the overall research program."

Ed Dean, PCG Field Service Director, commented that "The PCG Board has always recognized that deciding which of the many requests for research grants - in - aid should be honored is a job requiring much time and study, and consequently no significant changes are expected to be made in the Research Committee's recommendations."

Weather conditions this year have brought cotton producers in many areas of the Plains up to the first week in June without a stand of cotton.

Some areas without irrigation water still haven't had enough moisture to plant, Others have gotten a stand only to see it wiped out by hail or other turbulent weather.

To some extent in both instances but particularly on irrigated farms, producers are faced with deciding whether it will be more profitable to plant for a late cotton crop or revert to the generally less profitable, but faster maturing,

The current farm program provides that farmers unable to get and keep a stand of cotton early enough to allow reasonable expectations of harvesting a crop can plant cotton acreage to non-allotment crops, including soybeans, and still get both price support and acreage divbeen planted.

of economic stimulation for new fields, Lubbock County flows from its oil and gas wells each year, an annual study by Texas Mid -Continent Oil & Gas Association showed today.

"As one of the 206 producing counties in Texas, Lubbock County's economy is sensitive to fluctuations in the oil industry generally," commented W. A. Landreth, Fort Worth, association president.

"Long range, the demand for oil looks strong and current production rates continue to provide Texas a major source of its income. On the other hand, Texas operators are beset by competition from other oil producing areas, government ceilings on natural gas prices, heavy tax payments, and a price for crude oil that is insufficient to encourage the amount of exploratory drilling that is needed to find future reserves."

Based on latest U. S. Bureau of Mines production figures, Lubbock County in 1965 produced 318,900 barrels of crude oil, valued at $943,800 and 14,5 million cubic feet of natural gas valued at $1,900, and ranks 165th among Texas counties in production. A major distribution of income from sales of oil and gas went to county landowners in royalty payments totaling more than $118,213. In 1966, a year that saw drilling in Texas fall to its lowest level since 1947, oil and gas operators drilled 7 wells in Lubbock County. Of

Youth Camp Set At Floydada

The Baptist youth camp for Caprock-Plains and Lubbock areas is set for July 5-7. This camp, which will be at the Baptist Encampment near Floydada, will include all single boys and girls who were 15 years of age by the first of last September through age 24.

The program will include such personalities as Boyce Evans, Dale Durham, Tad Corbet and Dr. Bill Cook. Theme of the camp is "Straight Talk for Youth."

A giant youth rally is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the close of activities.

Well Child Conference Does Big Job Here

Well Child Conference was opened with 27 children being examined that day by Dr. Jaynes in the Catholic Hall, according to a report from Lubbock City-County Health Department.

Since then, 485 examinations have been done by the Slaton doctors. These have been done for children who are not under the care of a private physician.

The Public Health Nurses and the doctors counsel with the parents regarding child care and health problems of the family members with particular emphasis on feeding problems, immunizations, physical examinations and referrals for special conditions.

During the course of the conferences which have been held monthly, a number of crippling conditions, congenital heart problems, eye abnormalities, and severe anemias and other forms of malutrition have been found in this conference and TRAFFIC STOPPER---This miniature plane, mounted on a piece of column pipe at the corner of So. 12th and Powers Sts., has caused some traffic to stop "right in its path" and quite a bit of excitement, according to Cliff Weaver who built it as a hobby. Constructed from an airplane gasoline tank, parts of two electric fans, bicycle training wheels and lots of ingenuity, the model passenger plane swivels on a car hub. Weaver said that although his plane is "brand new", it is also obsolete because the large planes have now changed the styling of the tail construction.

results in most children, most of the time. Call it "child psychology" if you wish, but it's only another term which is substituted for "good ole common horse-sense."

Katherine Reed, in her book The Nursey School, lists several guides to speech and action. How else do parents discipline children if not through either speech, action, or both? Don't be skeptical until you have taken the time to think them through -- as a parent and as a child, You'll find that in most cases it's "Jest good ole common horse-sense."

First, state suggestions or directions to children in the positive rather than the negative. Using the negative "no" and "don't" will eventually lose it's effectiveness. It's like "hollering wolf" -- if a parent shouts no at every little thing his child does, then some day

Every direction should be given in a positive form. For example, instead of saying "Don't hit the window," say "Throw the ball over here." Say "Ride your tricycle around the bench," instead of "Don't bump the bench." Or say "Take a bite of your dinner" instead of "Don't play at the table."

By using this method of giving directions, the child can feel a sense of freedom -- while at the same time he is performing under YOUR sets of limits, Second, give a child a choice only when you intend to leave the situation up to him. Parents need to be careful to avoid offering children choices when they are not really willing to let him decide the question. How many times have you heard a mother say, "Do you want to go home now?" and when the child replied, "no" she acts as though he were being disobedient because he did not answer the question in the way she wanted him to answer it. The best method would have been to say, "It is time to go home now. You can come again and play another time," Sometimes using a question is only a habit of speaking.

ing to the child Choices are legitimate. With increasing maturity one makes an increasing number of choices; in fact, our society accepts the ability to make decisions as a basic development to maturity. But remember that once you give a child a choice, you must also accept the responsibility for

Avoid shouting! Nobody, not an adult and certainly not children, like to be shouted at. But some parents seem to think that the louder they speak, the greater chance of controlling behavior. Well, "tain't nec-essarily so." It may be necessary to speak firmly, but it is never necessary to raise one's voice. The most effective speech is simple, and direct, and slow. If necessary, move closer to the child and speak quietly, face to face with him. The parent sets a pattern -- if you shout to them, don't be surprised if you find your child shouting back to you!

Another important guide: Redirection is most effective when consistent with the child's motives or interest. All of this really means that parents need to learn that in changing a attempt to turn the child's attention to an act which has equal value to him.

or work puzzles. So if he is climbing in a dangerous place simply find a place when he can climb. Or if a child is throwing sand in a playmate's hair -- simply tell him that his friend is not happy, and then suggest that if he feels like throwing something he should find his ball! Redirection should help a childface his problems by showing him how it can be

It can also mean giving him time enough to work out problems rather than stepping in and solving it for him, When offering help that a child truly needs, be sure to be friendly about it. Confidence in self is based upon foundation of trust in others and a feeling of being
