

City Eyes Welfare Work

Slaton City Commissioners got a "short course" instruction on the operation of the City - County Welfare Board during a regular meeting Monday night at City Hall.

Mrs. Rosa Settle, director of the welfare board, was a guest at the meeting to explain the operation of the organization and to answer questions by the city commissioners.

In the only action taken on the agenda, commissioners tabled a proposal to initiate development of Russell Park, and approved a garage easement.

Commissioners also agreed to set up a special meeting with County Commissioner Max Arrants to discuss a possible site for a county "barn" in Slaton.

Mrs. Settle headed an informal but informative discussion to better acquaint city commissioners with the city-county welfare program. She was accompanied by Gene Menefee, assistant director, while board secretary Bill H. Smith of Slaton and County Commissioner Max Arrants also participated in the discussion.

The welfare director explained how welfare cases are determined, with case workers following rules and policies set up as to who is eligible for welfare assistance. On approved medical cases, it has been the policy for the county to pay 65 percent and the city 35 percent on hospital bills for indigent cases.

She distributed copies of welfare guidelines to the city commission including standards of eligibility for distributing USDA donated foods.

Mrs. Settle said transportation was a big problem for indigent cases in Slaton. She pointed out that persons must apply for assistance, the welfare board is not allowed to go seeking persons to aid.

City Administrator Buford Duff, in response to an inquiry at the last meeting, estimated it would cost about $1,400 to install a sprinkler system in Russell Park--an undeveloped tract in west Slaton near Division and 22nd St.

Commissioner Rudy Dominguez said he thought the residential area should be more fully developed before a park project was launched. Mayor Jonas Cain added that he thought a comprehensive park plan should be drawn up before work was begun. Commissioners agreed to table the matter.

A garage easement for R. E. Ayers, 650 W. Lubbock, was read and approved by the commission.

Attending the session were Mayor Cain, commissioners Curly Martindale, Jack Smith and Dominguez, Duff, City Sec. Gerald Kendrick, City Atty. Carroll Smith, Police Chief Robert Breedlove, Water Supt. Joe Cardenas.

Airport Plans May Be Ready For June Bids

Plans for Slaton's municipal airport are moving along slowly, but according to schedule, it was reported this week by Earl Eblen, chairman of the airport board.

Eblen said the tentative bid date is still set for June 7. A tentative work schedule has been outlined by City Engineer Bennett Reeves after consulting with Federal Aviation Agency officials.

Basic plans have been approved, Eblen said, and matching funds from the Federal government have been set aside for the project. Plans and specifications are to be submitted to FAA for approval.

The FAA will return the plans, with comments, and the city will then submit a project application and advertise for bids.

Slaton received approval late in December for a Federal grant of $90,912 for development of an airport. City voters had previously approved, in August, an $85,000 bond election with the issue dependent on the Federal funds.

Eblen said the basic plans call for a landing strip 2,800 feet in length and 60 feet wide. The airport site is two miles north of Slaton on FM-400.

The city appointed Eblen, Ted Swanner and Tommy Wallace as first members of the city airport board.

Welcome Wagon Coming to City

"Welcome Wagon" is coming to town. An expression of friendship will be extended to every newcomer moving to Slaton by Mrs. Cleo Reasoner, hostess for "Welcome Wagon".

This expression will come from many Slaton merchants by means of gifts in a gaily decorated basket carried by the hostess, plus gift certificates to be redeemed in various businesses. "Welcome Wagon" also will serve the community by providing families with vital civic, religious and commercial information.

In the early days of our country, as settlers made their way westward, they were met by a Conestoga Wagon -- a "Welcome Wagon" -- sent out from their new community. Today more than 2,000 cities in the United States and Canada carry on this great tradition in their calls on families.

The Welcome Wagon is an expression of congratulation or welcome from the whole community, including civic and social service organizations as well as public - spirited businessmen.

In a "Community Clinic" conducted last year by the Chamber of Commerce, many Slatonites expressed their belief that Slaton needs to do something for newcomers -- to make them feel more welcome and to acquaint them with Slaton business places.

Burglary Is Foiled

Alert work by Slaton police and a Lynn County deputy resulted in the apprehension of three burglary suspects here early Sunday night.

Two men were nabbed inside White's Auto Store about 9:30 p. m. Sunday, and a third man was arrested when he apparently drove by to pick up the men in the store.

Police Chief Robert Breedlove reported the suspects had approximately $1,500 worth of merchandise stacked by the back door at White's, and patrolmen found about $2,000 worth of merchandise in the trunk of the car driven by one of the suspects.

The goods in the car were reported stolen from Kimbrell's Grocery in Wilson earlier Sunday night.

Charged with the break-in at White's were three Lubbock men -- Charles R. Gray, 23; Gerald D. Burleson, 21; and Walter L. Roberts, 28. Gray and Burleson were arrested inside the building.

The three men were placed in Lubbock County jail under $3,500 bonds. Gray posted bond and was taken to face similar charges in Lynn County, also posting a $3,500 bond there.

Police were alerted by a report of a possible attempted break-in at Lasater - Hoffman Hardware Sunday night. City policemen Gene Carpenter and Don Blackerby were joined by Lynn Deputy Doyle Woody in checking business places around the square.

The officers discovered the back door of White's had been forced open, then Woody spotted two men when he looked through the front windows. Carpenter covered the back entrance and ordered the men to come out, and the two suspects surrendered without offering resistance.

Minutes later a car started up the alley, then quickly sped away. Patrolmen stopped the car at 9th and Lubbock and apprehended the third suspect.

Still Life Art Exhibited At W.T. Museum

"Contemporary American Still Life", an exhibition of 38 works by 27 artists organized for circulation by The Museum of Modern Art, New York, will be on view at West Texas Museum on the Texas Tech campus, sponsored by the Texas Tech Artists Course through April 16.

William H. Gerdtz, acting gallery director of the Department of Art of the University of Maryland at College Park, selected the exhibition, which shows how recent artists have reinterpreted a traditional theme.

Still life, today as in the past, presents a starting point in reality for the artist's imagination. Recently in America, it has again come into prominence, serving a wide range of styles and objectives, and its relatively new use as a subject in sculpture has been greatly expanded.

The exhibition reflects the variety of current still life painting and sculpture in works by artists such as Nell Blaine, Jim Dine, Jane Freilicher, Michael Goldberg, Jasper Johns, Roy Lichtenstein, Claes Oldenburg, Fairfield Porter, Larry Rivers, James Rosenquist, Andy Warhol, Wayne Thiebaud, and Tom Wesselmann.

Throughout art history, still life has been dealt with in many different ways. Always, these have been indicators of much broader characteristics of a particular period or style. The present exhibition is a case in point, for it highlights some of the unique qualities of recent American art.

MRS. MIKE SHERROD

Mrs. Mike Sherrod, a member of the Roosevelt Young Homemakers is sharing her recipe for Beef Bourguignon, a favorite French recipe, with us this week.

Mrs. Sherrod's husband farms in the Canyon Community and they are the parents of three children, Kim, 9; Rene, 8; and Bryan, 5. She says they all like to fish and all work together on the farm.

Mrs. Sherrod is also a member of the Roosevelt Parent Teachers Association and her hobby is collecting cook books, antiques and trying new recipes. Following is one of her favorite recipes:

Beef Bourguignon

3 lbs. Top round steak cut in 2" cubes
1 small onion, sliced
2 cups of red wine
1 small bay leaf
4 sprigs of parsley
pinch of thyme
1/2 teaspoon of salt
1/4 teaspoon of pepper
1 small carrot, sliced
1 clove of garlic, crushed

Combine all the above in a large bowl and let stand four hours, turning the meat occasionally. Remove meat and pat dry with paper towels. Strain marinade and set aside for future use.

In dutch oven or large heavy saucepan, heat two tablespoons of butter. Add meat and cook until well browned on all sides. Add one tablespoon flour and cook for three minutes, stirring constantly. Stir in 1/2 cup consommé and marinade. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer for two hours. Meanwhile in a small saucepan, heat one tablespoon of butter. Add 1/4 pound of salt pork, diced and 24 small white onions, and cook over medium heat for 10 minutes or until pork and onions are golden brown.

Remove them to pan in which meat is cooking. Add one cup of canned mushrooms sliced. Bring to boil. Cover and simmer for 45 minutes or until meat is fork tender. Serve hot.

ITEM: Your outdoor garden will be enhanced by the varied beauty of caladiums by starting dormant tubers indoors in late winter or early spring. Plant several caladium tubers two or three inches apart in clay bulb plants set in a pebble or vermiculite-lined tray, which can be heat-treated by setting it over a radiator to insure 70 to 80 degrees bottom heat. Tubers should sprout within four weeks, to go outdoors when spring temperatures top 60 degrees.

ITEM: When a recipe directs to scald the milk, it means to heat milk over low heat just below the boiling point — when tiny bubbles form at the edges.

For And About Teenagers

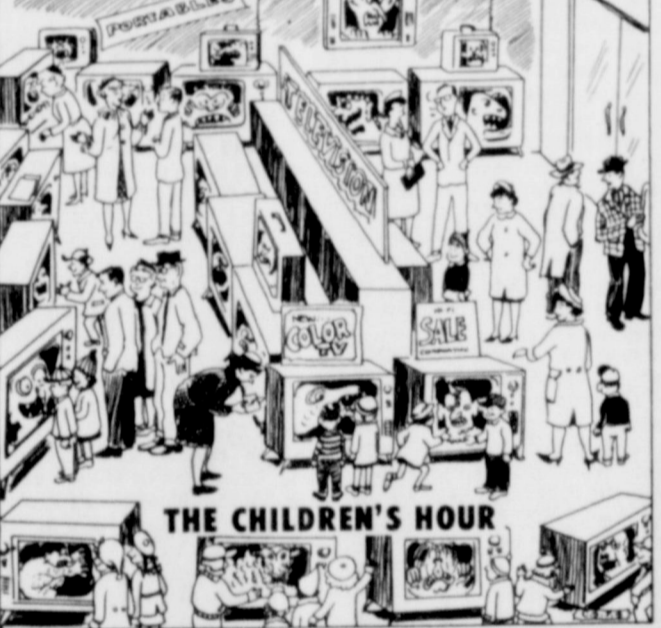

THE WEEK'S LETTER: "I like this boy and this is my second try to get him. I liked him once before in the 7th grade, now he is a sophomore and I am a freshman. He pays attention to me, such as saying 'hi' and things like that. I think he knows how I feel about him so why does he act as he does? I can't give up. It's not that easy. I have gone steady three times since I started liking this particular boy. I thought I could forget him, but I broke up with the other boys because he started acting so very nice to me. He does go out with other girls. What should I do, or what am I doing wrong?"

OUR REPLY: The mere fact that a boy speaks to you and is friendly is not enough to get too excited about. He just might be a friendly person.

It is also wrong to assume that because you like him and want to go steady, he should feel the same way — or there is anything you can do, right or wrong, to make him feel the same way. Possibly, since you say that he seems more friendly to you when you are going steady with someone else, it could be that he is more relaxed because he feels you haven't got your sights on him at the moment.

You say he goes out with other girls. Does he go out with only one girl on a steady basis? He may not be the steady type.

If you have a teenage problem you want to discuss, or an observation to make, address your letter to FOR AND ABOUT TEENAGERS, COMMUNITY AND SUBURBAN PRESS SERVICE, FRANKFORD, KY.

THE CHILDREN'S HOUR

ITEM: The culinary uses of bay leaves are numerous. They impart an excellent flavor to meats, potatoes, stews, soups, sauces and fish, making them a chef's favorite the world over. They are indispensable in pickling, and in the manufacture of vinegar.

ITEM: Water-thinned paint products, used as recommended, can be expected to last as long as high-quality oil paints. The ability to be applied to damp surfaces is an advantage of water-thinned coatings. This does not apply, however, to solvent-thinned primers.

HD Club Bake Sale Nets $53

The bake sale, sponsored by the Slaton Home Demonstration Club and held last Wednesday, netted $53 which was donated to the Crippled Children's Easter Fund campaign.

Six of the club members presented the check to officials at the Cerebral Palsy Center in Lubbock, and toured the establishment accompanied by Dr. Esther Snell.

Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Corley of San Antonio are the parents of a son, Kyle Edward, born Mar. 26, weighing 6 lbs., 9 1/2 oz. Grandparents of the infant are Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Corley of Slaton.

ITEM: At the frozen food counter in 1967 you will probably see more fruits packed in "thaw in water" pouches. "Boil in the bag" vegetables should also reach new heights of popularity.

Larry Pickens took a second-place ribbon in the 440-yard dash, and Paul Hall was second in the 100-yard dash. Jack Mason was third in the high hurdles, and Arnold Hernandez was third in the mile run.

Civic Lubbock Signs Jonathan Winters Show

Civic Lubbock, Inc. has announced the signing of Jonathan Winters to appear at the Lubbock Coliseum on the evening of Saturday, May 13, at 8:15 P.M.

The Levee Singers, popular recording group, will perform with Winters. This is the only personal appearance currently scheduled in the Southwest for the comedian.

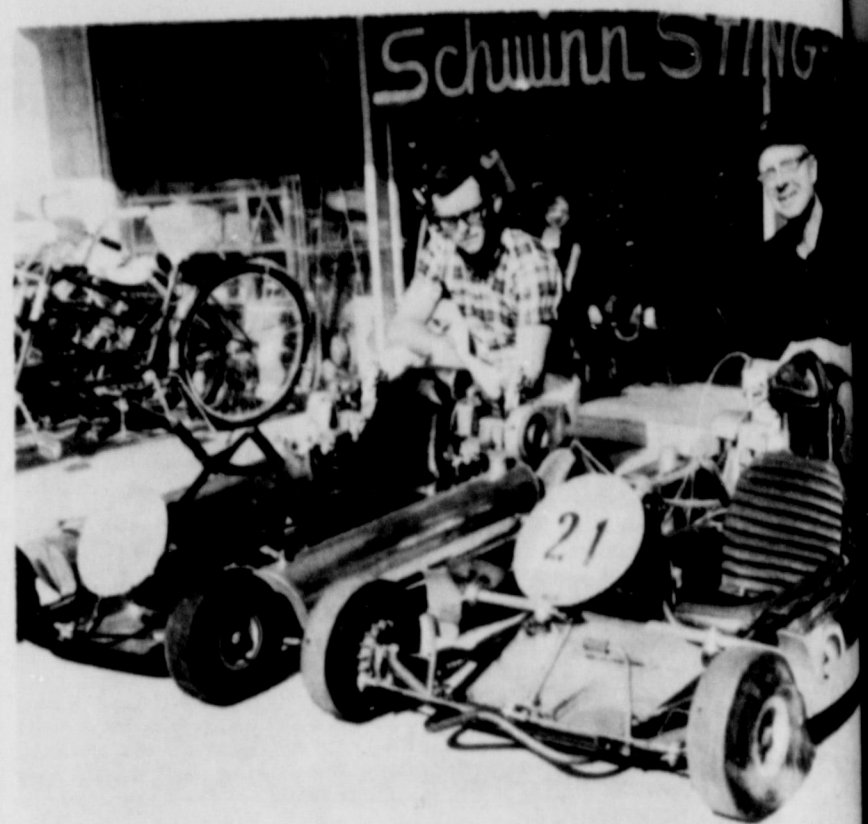

Original and inventive are two words that go hand in hand with Jonathan Winters. Whether playing the Dreamer in "The Love One" or appearing as Granny Frickert on his own television "Special," he never fails to give his audience a perceptive and satirical impression of his fellow man.

Jack Paar said recently of Winters, "When the wind is right and the moon full, Jonathan can be a genius." If genius can be credited to Winters, that genius is his ability to capture traits and qualities of human nature. This sets him apart, not as an imitator, but as a reflection of other human beings.

Tickets are $3, $4, and $5 and may be ordered from CIVIC LUBBOCK, INC. Box 5486, Lubbock, Texas, 79417.

Accidents

Of all causes of death among adolescents and young adults, accidents take by far the greatest toll. In 1964, accidents were responsible for 62 per cent of the deaths among males aged 15-24 and for 37 per cent among females in the same age group. For both sexes, this was seven times the loss of life inflicted by cancer, next in importance as a cause of death at these ages.

Buffalo Lake Go-Kart Races Scheduled Sunday

The 7th annual Buffalo Lakes Road Races--an international event for go-kart enthusiasts--is scheduled Sunday under the sponsorship of the Buffalo Lakes Road Runners.

And, for the third straight year, Slaton Lions Club is helping sponsor the event by providing trophies for about 60 winners. The Lions will distribute free souvenir programs at the races.

Drivers from all over the United States will be entered in the thrill-packed event where the small but powerful karts reach speeds in excess of 100 mph, while zooming around the 4.6 mile course at Buffalo Lake.

Thousands flocked to the lake last year to watch the drivers compete. The races start at 11 a.m. Sunday, and there is no admission charge except for the usual 25 cent fee to enter the lake area.

Three different one-hour racing events are on the schedule, with the fast single-engine cars going from 11 a.m. to noon, the dual engines taking over from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., and the fastest single engines running from 4:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Race officials said spectators should arrive early for good vantage points. "Bring your picnic lunch if you want to see it all," advised one official.

Sam Carr of Sudan is president of the Road Runners this year. Several Slaton men have been active in the club for several years.

The club was organized in January 1962 and includes kart drivers and enthusiasts from all around the area. Kart racing is a relatively new amateur sport. While it has the thrill of the big-car races, it enables a driver to participate at a much lower investment in his racer. Practice was held at Buffalo from 3 to 5 p.m. Sunday from 12 to 1 p.m. Trophies will be placed in each of the karts in a drawing sponsored by the Federation.

Karr announced Wichita, Kan., represented city entries.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INC.

The Cotton Board of the Cotton Research and Promotion Act met for the first time March 15, in Washington. They elected officers, employed a manager, designated the "first buyer" as the one responsible for making the $1 per bale collection, and set up tentative procedures for producers to obtain refunds.

Cauley Cortwright, Mississippi cotton farmer and former president of the National Cotton Council, was elected Chairman of the Board. Russell Kennedy of Bakersfield, California, Lubbock's Roy B. Davis, Manager of Plains Cooperative Oil Mill, was elected Secretary. Manager for the Board will be Carlton Powers, former Associate Director of Field Service for the National Cotton Council.

Detailed regulations on how the program will work with the first buyer making collections have not been formulated. This could mean the collector would be the grower (if he buys the cotton), the country merchant who buys either for export or domestic markets, the mill which buys direct from producers, or Commodity Credit Corporation if the cotton goes into the Government loan.

Refunds, according to the first information from Washington, will be made from serially numbered request forms through a central office, probably in Washington.

It is presumed that further details on both collections and refunds will be worked out by members of the Cotton Board, Powers and USDA officials at an early date.

"...we are going to have a flourishing cotton industry on the Texas High Plains for many years to come, but it isn't just going to happen -- we are going to have to make it happen. And I have enough faith in this area's physical capabilities and in the wisdom, ingenuity and pertinacity of its people to believe we can and will make it happen."

So concluded an address made March 17 to some 150 Panhandle and South Plains bankers and their wives by Donald A. Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. Title was "The Future of Cotton on the High Plains.

The bankers were gathered in Lubbock for the third annual meeting of Lubbock National Bank's area correspondents.

On the national cotton scene Johnson called attention to a number of facts he believes will make a substantial contribution to the future well-being of the cotton industry of the Plains could never divorce itself from conditions which exist in the overall cotton picture.

By the end of the current marketing year, he said he expected to see the cotton carry-over in the U. S. reduced to about 12.5 million bales, down from almost 17 million the previous year.

He singled out the increasing popularity of durable or permanent press apparel as one of the things helping cotton's markets, telling the group that cotton is the "work-horse" in permanent press fabrics.

The development of gossypol-free, glandless seed in some of our better known varieties, according to Johnson, shows great promise of improving the farmer's total income from a bale of cotton.

He quoted Dalton Gandy, cotton production specialist for the National Cottonseed Products Association, to the effect that an international food manufacturing concern is now offering around 10 cents per pound for cottonseed meal made from glandless seed, which would mean at least $150 a ton for unprocessed cotton seed--more than double the 1966 price.

He predicted that 90 per cent or more of all cottonseed oil and meal would be going into food for human consumption within 10 years, or less, provided development continues at its current rate.

"This would mean somewhere in the neighborhood of $30 or $35 per bale more for the producer -- the equivalent of six or seven cents per pound extra for lint."

Johnson noted that these and other bright spots in the cotton picture are the results of research and promotion on all levels, and said he expected even more rapid and spectacular results from the newly approved Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Under the act, producers will contribute $1 per bale on U.S. production to pay for expanded efforts in the fields of research and promotion.

It was pointed out that in recent years some 60 per cent or more of High Plains cotton has been going into export markets, but Johnson said High Plains farmers now have the economic incentive to produce for domestic mill consumption,

"feelers" to newcomer-type organizations, and Welcome Wagon indicated they would like to organize in the city. Since it is an independent enterprise, the Chamber will not be connected with "Welcome Wagon", except to welcome and serve them as any other business in the city.

Welcome Wagon will be financed by merchant sponsors, and Mrs. Reasoner will begin and will be using all the improved varieties and production tools available to compete in that market.

For the years immediately ahead, he told the bankers to expect four things: (1) Higher quality, more marketable cotton from the High Plains, (2) A reduction of the cotton surplus to around 7 million bales, which Washington planners consider a desirable reserve, (3) Increased domestic consumption of cotton as research and promotion funds begin to pay off, and (4) A gradual return to larger cotton acreage allotments to supply the growing demand.

The Chamber also has a newly formed "Newcomer's Committee" headed by Mrs. Bill Smith. A newcomer's tea is in the planning stages, and would be sponsored by the Chamber.

ing source of income in our state, and Texas and many of its towns are actively seeking new plants and encouraging the expansion of others.

While we in Slaton are seeking to locate new industry here, we must recognize and show appreciation to those already here who make material contributions to the well being of our community.

If you are an eligible voter, be sure to make your choice in the city and school elections coming up within the week. These offices to be filled are vital to our community, and the men are offering their services with little reward except for the satisfaction of doing their best to serve their city or school district.

Cast your vote, then support the men who are elected to the posts.

In his latest news release to community newspapers, Sen. John Tower has some fine thoughts about larger and larger percentages of our tax dollars going to the Federal government.

Tower is urging study and planning in the direction of improved state revenues, bringing revitalized state government and adding new life throughout our system as local planners once again have the resources to meet local needs.

"So many of our tax funds now go to the federal government that our states and our local communities are hard put to find a source for their own tax revenue needs. And, since they cannot find tax funds to finance local efforts, it is a sad necessity for them to depend more and more on the federal government to contribute to the solving of local problems," Tower says.

"As the National government has increasingly become the source of nearly-absolute authority; the principle collector and spender of the peoples' money; and the central point of control over our lives, the position and strength of the individual states has been undermined and weakened."

"Because I fear this destruction of the American Federal system of co-ordination and co-operating state and national governments -- governments that preserve local initiative and diversity -- I have joined in urging that there be begun by this Congress studies that can lead to the sharing of tax revenues between the National government and the individual states," he added.

Crop Rotation Can Reduce Verticillium Wilt Losses

LUBBOCK... Losses due to Verticillium wilt, a devastator to cotton production, can be reduced by rotating cotton with one or more grain crops.

Several years of testing at the South Plains Research and Extension Center here have resulted in this finding, reported Dr. E. R. Minton, U.S.D.A. pathologist.

Rotating cotton with corn on a yearly basis reduced Verticillium wilt infestation by almost 50 per cent, Minton said.

Furthermore, the rotation of cotton with corn and grain sorghum reduced the disease infestation from 96 to 20 per cent, he added.

The all-important area of lint yield per acre showed substantial gains with these rotations, the pathologist pointed out. With the cotton rotation, lint yield increased 630 to 950 pounds per acre. About the same increase resulted from the cotton-sorghum rotation.

Not only did this rotation reduce the wilt, said Minton, but it delayed any infestation that took place, will that later in the season due to such a drastic effect on yield & fiber and seed.

Other measures were taken to reduce losses. Verticillium wilt, caused by Minton, include the following:

1. Skip-row planting
 2. Bed planting
 3. Alternate-row
- These three practices increase soil temperature, an important factor in the off Verticillium wilt.
4. Planting tolerant
 5. Balancing fertilizer
 6. Maintaining a high moisture-high nitrogen combination.
 7. Avoiding root deep cultivation.
- By following the above practices, infestation by Verticillium wilt will be delayed and susceptibility to the wilt will be reduced.

SCS Aids Plans For Livestock Operation

Milton Kirksey, Edwin L. Forrest, and Grice Herrington, cooperators with the Lubbock County Soil and Water Conservation District, state that management is the key to successful production of irrigated grass. Good management includes the right combination of fertilizer, water, and rotation of grazing to produce an abundance of high quality forage.

Irrigated grasses can be used to supplement farm income at opportune times during the year.

Some points to consider in the management of irrigated grasses to reach the higher production levels are listed below:

A grown cow will eat about 1-1/2 tons of green grass per month. In order to carry two grown animals per acre per month on irrigated pasture, you must grow three tons of green grass per acre. This will require 30 pounds of available nitrogen, 10 pounds of phosphorus, and 27 pounds of potash.

Looking at the fertilizer requirements to graze two cows on an acre of land for a five month period, May through September, it will require 160 pounds of available nitrogen.

This should be applied in three separate applications in March, June, and August. It would require 50 pounds of phosphorus and 135 pounds of potash. This could be applied in March.

It will require four inches of water to grow three tons of green grass on one acre of land. It requires about twice as much water when the grass is not fertilized to produce the same amount of forage.

To produce 15 tons of green grass, it would require about 25 inches of water. The water could be applied in at least five separate applications with the first one in March.

Another management tool that should be used is the rotation of cattle every seven days. By breaking the pasture into a four pasture unit, this would allow the grass 21 days to make a good recovery and also leave ample time for fertilizer and water to be applied.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, located in the Federal Building on 19th Street in Lubbock, will be glad to assist anyone interested in the development of plans for a livestock operation on their farm.

Cost-share is available under the Great Plains Conservation Program.

Once nematodes get at your cotton, yields go down and so do profits. But with FUMAZONE 86 soil fumigant applied at only 1 to 2 gallons overall an acre, you can take care of root-knot, sting, meadow and other nematodes--those microscopic, worm-like soil pests that attack plant roots, suck away profits.

FUMAZONE 86 soil fumigant increases yields up to 1/2 bale an acre. Many High Plains farmers just like yourself tell us that's exactly what happened to their yields after their soils were treated with FUMAZONE 86. It can be applied right from the drum. No mixing, no diluting, no nozzles clogged with foreign material. You can use the chisel method, the plowsole method or inject FUMAZONE 86 into your irrigation water. Could you ask for greater flexibility? Sure you could. So here it is. Apply FUMAZONE 86 before planting, at planting or after planting. It's the only type of soil fumigant that can be used on living plants. Ask your Dow farm chemicals supplier about it.

There's a good reason why large glasses are called "tumblers." The first glasses were shaped like ice cream cones, and a glass was held until it was empty. When it was set down it "tumbled" over.

New Texas Maps Now Available

AUSTIN. -- Six new public lakes, 819 miles of new highways and 18 new safety rest areas make their appearance for the first time on the Texas Highway Department's colorful 1967 Official State Highway Map.

Before the year is out, about one million copies of the map will be distributed throughout the world, inviting Texan and out-of-state visitor alike to "Discover Texas, America's Fun-tier."

All the new lakes are accessible to the public via the 67-thousand-mile Texas highway system.

Largest of the new reservoirs is Lake Meredith on the Canadian River in the Panhandle. Others are Lake Arrowhead, Fin Creek Reservoir, White River Lake, Bardwell and Somerville Reservoirs.

The new map shows 115 additional miles of Interstate highways, added since last year. More than 1,700 miles of these superb new highways are in service now.

The 1967 Official State Highway Map also delineates approximately 704 miles of new farm to market roads. Many of these provide the visitor with access to recreational areas throughout the State, as well as serving agriculture and industry.

Eighteen additional safety rest areas are shown on the map for the first time. More than 1,100 safety rest areas, scenic turnouts and roadside parks now enhance the safety and convenience of Texas highways.

A message from Governor John Connally welcomes the visitor and extends a personal invitation to explore Texas.

Further emphasizing the water resources of Texas, a scenic photograph of the Sam Rayburn Reservoir in East Texas graces the cover of the map.

Padre Island centers a pictorial display, along with 12 other vivid color photographs of scenes and sights from every area of the State.

For the convenience of the traveler, the face of the map contains a handy mileage table, inset maps showing principal streets in larger cities, and listings of State parks, Texas Highway Department Tourist Bureaus and highway patrol offices.

The 1967 Official State Highway Map is but one of a variety of services provided for the convenience of the traveler by the Texas Highway Department.

Through its Travel and Information Division, the Texas Highway Department assists nearly three-quarters of a million visitors each year in eight Tourist Information Bureaus located at key highway gateways and in the rotunda of the State Capitol in Austin.

Additionally, the Department answers more than 261 thousand inquiries annually, furnishing information and descriptive literature about Texas.

In performing these services, the Department distributes more than 3.5 million pieces of travel-oriented literature about Texas annually. Of this volume, more than two million pieces are produced as a part of the Highway Department's travel promotion program.

Texas motorists may order the 1967 Official State Highway Map when registering motor vehicles during February and March. County tax officers have been provided with supplies of special order cards. Copies of the map also may be ordered directly, sending name, address and ZIP code to: Texas Highway Department, Travel and Information Division, Post Office Box 5064, Austin, Texas 78703.

The Chamber of Commerce has ordered a supply of new Texas maps and on their arrival will be available free of charge on a first come basis.

Favorable Situation Seen For Texas Castor Producers

LUBBOCK...A favorable situation confronts Texas castor producers as planting time draws near.

The demand for castor seed is great, says Dr. Raymond D. Brigham, research agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center here.

Only 15 per cent of the 158 million pounds of castor oil consumed in the United States last year were produced in this country, Brigham points out.

With the recent breakthrough in the use of castor meal as an economical, high protein livestock feed, increased demands for castor seed should result.

The price situation also presents a favorable front since oil prices were up in 1966 and appeared to be on the increase in early 1967.

Another enticing situation to growers in that this year they are allowed to plant castors on the 20 per cent mandatory diverted feed grain acreage, says the agronomist.

Furthermore, seed producers have a good supply of high yielding castor planting seed available in the form of six hybrids and two varieties. Brigham points out that these firms also will contract with growers to purchase their castor production at a guaranteed price.

Last year's yields in that state's castor producing areas were reduced by 20 to 30 per cent due to unfavorable weather conditions, says the agronomist.

The cool, wet weather in late August and early September slowed growth and an early killing frost in mid-October shortened the growing season.

Yields in the Kress area on the top five farms averaged 2,083 pounds per acre while the top four farms in the Plainview area yielded 1,982 pounds per acre. One of the top per acre yields of this area was the 2,368 pounds produced by Jack Rhine of Hale Center.

In the Lockney, Muleshoe, Hereford and Dumas areas, yields ranged from 1,800 to 2,000 pounds per acre, reports Brigham.

The state's top yield of 3,150 pounds per acre was produced by Preston Underhill of the Higginbotham Community, Gaines County. Near that mark was the 3,000 pounds per acre produced by Stanley Ancinec of Loop, also in Gaines County. Brigham says the primary reason for the higher yields in this country was due to more favorable growing conditions.

According to the agronomist, the dwarf - internode hybrids produced higher yields than the open pollinated varieties.

Research is continuing at the South Plains Research and Extension Center to find high-yielding, disease-resistant hybrids which will increase yields and thus make castors a more profitable crop.

Brigham says that yields could be increased by 10 to 15 per cent if capsule mold diseases were effectively controlled.

Balloon tires were first developed and perfected by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company in 1923.

The Texas Forest Service administers four small state forests located near Maydelle, Conroe, Warren and Kirbyville. They are maintained to demonstrate cultural practices for continuous timber production, water conservation and as a habitat for wildlife. Self-guiding nature trails are available on each forest.

Cannibal Tribe Member Visits Here

An 18-year-old Indian, Yun Diaz Calderon, who just eight years ago was a member of a fierce band of cannibals in the jungles of Peru was a visitor in Stephen F. Austin School here Wednesday of last week.

He spoke to the fourth and fifth grades and entertained them playing his guitar and visited in the other rooms.

A teacher's aid at the school, Miss Mary Perez and her sister, Miss Fidencia Perez, also of Slaton, brought him from Lubbock to visit the school.

Yun says he plans to return some day as a missionary in his country. The risk of being decapitated and eaten by his own people, is one that Yun says he is willing to take some day.

He was kidnaped from his tribe at the age of 10 by a group of white hunters. From then to now is a long story--being held a chained prisoner in the hold of a ship, escaping and then learning about civilization and Christianity in Central America, and making it to Texas to be trained as a missionary, despite six months imprisonment in the Texas Rio Grande Valley for illegal entry into the United States.

He could speak only a few phrases in Spanish and virtually no English when he was held by immigration officials at Port Isabel, Tex.

Now he speaks Spanish fluently and divides the day between cleanup work at Lubbock Latin American church and carrying on his studies--both religiously and academically--to become a missionary.

He lives in a small room in the Iglesia Metodista la Trinidad, a Latin American Methodist Church where he was brought by Dr. Roberto Pedraza, minister of the church and head of the denomination's Latin American missionary work in Lubbock.

Yun is only 4 feet 6 and has to stand on a chair to answer the church phone. But he said most of the members of his Peruvian tribe are tall.

During the years since he was abducted from his own primitive world where years are not measured and a man's strength or lack of it is his only limitation, Yun has changed much.

He has learned to weep tears of anguish and guilt; find solace in prayer; comfort in the kindness of strangers and the brotherhood of man.
