

FOR CITY PERSONNEL

Pay Hike Approved

An across-the-board salary increase for city personnel was approved Thursday in a special meeting of the Slaton city commission.

Commissioners voted a five percent pay hike and set a $15 minimum for salary increases during the three-hour session.

With Commissioner Robert Banks absent, commissioners agreed unanimously on the pay boost but the discussion centered mainly around the possibility of employing an additional patrolman.

J.W. (Curly) Martindale made the motion that the patrolman be included in the 1965-66 budget but the motion died for lack of a second.

The commission, however, did not rule out the possibility of an additional officer, Commissioner Earl Reasoner explained that he was not yet ready to make a decision.

Reasoner also suggested that the city judge's salary be set at $125 per month in order to "take the burden off the mayor and get this thing settled."

Mayor Jonas Cain inserted "I don't think the job is worth that much," Commissioners did not take action on the suggestion.

The post of corporation court judge has been vacant for more than a month since the resignation of W.H. (Doc) Legate following a salary disagreement with the council.

Legate had asked for a salary increase of at least $125 per month. The mayor is serving as judge until the post is filled.

Commissioner J. A. Smith said he would go along with the $125 suggestion, City Administrator Wayne Baker also added that Slaton is unusual for a city of its size because of the heavy city court work load.

The commission had asked for the special meeting in the task of preparing the new budget. The proposed budget now stands at $158,631. The tax rate is $2 per $100 valuation. Tax valuation is $7,931,550.

In other action, commissioners agreed to furnish "adequate water and sewer mains" to Slaton's proposed low-rent federal public housing project.

Approved by the federal housing authority are 70 units—40 for aged residents and 30 for non-aged residents.

Agreement to extend city services to the sites is one of the steps in obtaining the housing.

The sites are tentatively targeted for southeast Slaton. The housing will be available to low-income families—below $3,000 per year. There will be 36 one-bedroom units and four two-bedroom units for the elderly category.

Of the other 30 units, 20 will be two-bedroom houses and 10 will be three bedroom.

A report on the progress of the city's major paving project was made. Curb and gutter is 75 percent complete. Seal coating project is on schedule and completion date is set for the latter part of August.

Record Enrollment Expected Slaton Public Schools

Record enrollment of students is anticipated to get underway in public schools.

It is expected to reach a high of 2,240 in the school year, Dr. F.L. Vardy, superintendent.

On the first day of classes, Slaton students should report to their respective buildings. The first day will consist of enrollment, issuance of books and other first-day procedures, Dr. Vardy said.

Students who plan to attend Slaton High School and who did not fill out enrollment blanks last spring are expected to enroll Tuesday from 1-5 p.m.

All students, except first grade, will attend classes all day Aug. 30. For two weeks, beginners will attend school from 9-11:30 a.m.

First grade teachers will visit in the homes of their pupils in the afternoon of the first two weeks to gain necessary information about the child to increase the teacher's opportunity to care for the individual differences of these children, the superintendent explained.

It is necessary that all children entering the Slaton school in the first grade for the first time to have a birth certificate and a certificate showing they have been vaccinated for smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio.

The superintendent said "This type of procedure in connection with the policies of the State Health Department has practically eradicated these diseases in this state."

He urges parents to complete these requirements prior to the opening of school.

The school attendance zones within the city limits of Slaton will follow the same lines as they did in 1964-65. All students will attend the schools that they are eligible to attend unless a transfer has been requested and granted.

Buses will begin operation on Monday and will make the same routes as last year with the exception that all students of all races will ride the same buses.

Any variations in bus routes found necessary will be made at the end of the first week of school. Should a parent feel that a change in route is necessary, it is requested they notify the superintendent as soon as possible.

Cafeterias will open for service on the first day of classes. The price of lunches will be the same as last year. Elementary students will be charged 30 cents and junior high and senior high will be charged 35 cents and 40 cents.

All buildings have been thoroughly cleaned and repaired. All necessary painting has been completed and buildings are in readiness to start school, Dr. Vardy pointed out.

He said all buses have been thoroughly checked for safety and efficient operation and added that in the near future a new bus will be added to the fleet.

"MILLION DOLLAR MOISTURE"

General Rain Soaks Area

A slow, soaking rain fell on Slaton last weekend as other parts of the South Plains were raked by turbulent weather.

Generally, Slaton received two inches of rain during the cloudburst which started late Saturday night and continued through Sunday morning.

It was a "million dollar" rain for Slaton, giving the needed boost to crops during the baking August weather.

When Slaton received the 1.5 inches in July, local farmers had reported that cotton was "in the best shape in years." They said another good rain in August would put the icing on the cake.

And the icing is there. While Slaton is enjoying the steady fall of moisture, other parts of the South Plains were being battered by the storm.

In Lubbock, 12 miles northwest, streets were flooded and curb-deep water flowed into several businesses.

High winds, up to 60 mph in some sections, accompanied the thunderstorm. The gale-like winds missed Slaton.

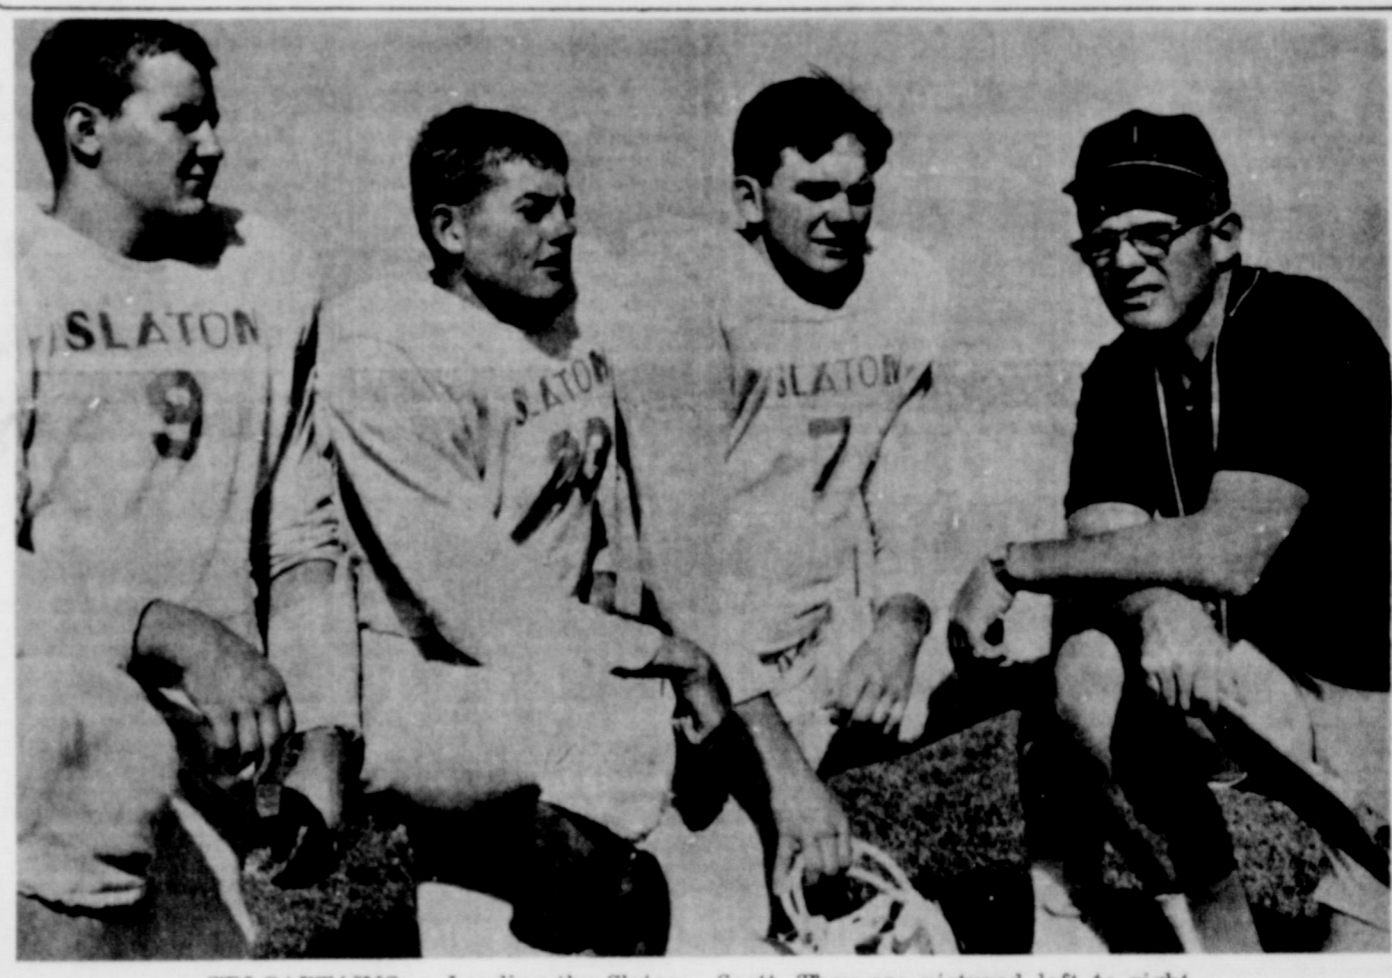

Light hail was reported north of Lubbock but Slaton again luckily escaped the hail.

Heaviest rainfall appeared to be northwest of Slaton where as much as three inches were reported. Two inches was gauged in most other parts including Southland, Posey and Wilson. A total of 1.4 was reported at Roosevelt.

Slaton residents were teased with a thundershower Friday night, but only a trace of moisture was recorded.

The city's major paving project was delayed slightly by the rains. Most of the work was back in full swing by Wednesday.

Farmers reported it was the most general and most beneficial rain in almost a year.

Pioneer Slaton Newsman Dies At Age 82

Funeral services for Mrs. Bessie M. Donald, pioneer Slaton newspaper woman, were held at 3 p.m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church of Slaton.

Mrs. Donald, 82, died at 4:20 p.m. Thursday in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Officiating at the service was the Rev. Clarence Wylie, retired Presbyterian minister. Burial was in the Englewood Cemetery under the direction of Williams Funeral Home.

She and her husband, W.M. Donald, were the second publishers of the Slatonite.

The family bought the paper in 1919. Mr. Donald moved here and the family followed in 1920 from Princeton, near McKinney, where they were also in the newspaper business.

While publishing the Slatonite, Mr. Donald also carried on a real estate business. He died in 1923 and Mrs. Donald continued to run the paper until 1928.

That year the Slatonite was sold to Roderick and Nunn of Amarillo. She bought the paper back in Dec. of 1930 and in 1938 sold it to J.M. Rankin of Ralls.

Mrs. Donald was an early member of the Slaton Presbyterian Church and sang in the church choir.

She was an early member of the Civic and Culture Club and was also active in the Senior Citizens organization.

Three sons are still connected with newspapers as printers, W.D. and R.C. Donald are employees of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal while Walter is employed by the Hartford, Conn. Times.

Other survivors are two daughters, Mrs. R.E. Porter of Lampasas and Mrs. Ralph Cline of El Paso; and one sister, Mrs. W.A. Bevel of McKinney.

hours and 20 minutes to pay for this element of the cost of living. Food and tobacco cost one hour and 18 minutes clothing and related items 30 minutes, recreation 19 minutes, transportation 39 minutes, medical expenses 21 minutes.

It's hard for many people to realize a tax bill of this size and scope, the primary reasons being that many taxes are hidden in the cost of goods and services we buy and that most individual income taxes are paid through the withholding system.

Faculty Clinic Starts Aug. 26

A three-day pre-school teachers workshop gets underway Aug. 26, Dr. F.L. Vardy, superintendent, announced today.

The workshop for all system teachers begins at 9:30 a.m. with a general assembly at the high school.

Dr. Vardy and other administrators will present general school information including policies, operations, insurance programs, salary schedules and professional memberships.

Thursday afternoon, teachers will meet in their respective buildings where building procedures will be explained, class schedules and room assignments will also be presented.

Teachers will meet all day Friday in the junior high cafeteria where a program on the changes in elementary math will be presented.

Saturday morning will be devoted to a meeting of all teachers new to the Slaton schools. At this meeting, further orientation will be held, the superintendent explained.

Farmer-Merchant Barbecue Plans Progress Here

Plans were snowballing this week for the huge 8th annual Farmer-Merchant Barbecue scheduled Sept. 10 at the Slaton Little League ball parks.

More than 850 area residents are expected to attend the celebration which is sponsored by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce.

A total of $300 in cash prizes will be awarded at the feed. Recipients of the cash prizes will be the producers of the first three bales of cotton ginned in the Slaton trade area.

First place winner will receive $150 and $100 will be given to the second producer. A prize of $50 will be given for the third bale produced. Door prizes will also be awarded during the fete.

The only requirement of the contest is that the bales be ginned at one of the 16 participating gins. Ginners should call the Slatonite office as soon as the first bale is received in order that a winner may be declared.

Participating gins are Slaton Co-op, Farmers Gin of Slaton, Campbell Gin, Posey Gin, Union Co-op, Gordon Gin, Pleasant Valley Gin of Post, Hackberry, Basinger Gin of Southland, Acuff Gins, Gatzki Gin of Wilson, Wilson Co-op Gin, McClung Gin Inc., Woodrow Gin and Malone Farmers Gin Inc.

Jay Gray is chairman of arrangements for the traditional barbecue and Willie Heinrich is co-chairman. An alternate date of Sept. 14 has been set for the fete in case of bad weather.

New, Exciting Fall Styles For Teenagers

COLLEGE STATION—Junior and senior high school girls have an exciting array of new styles from which to choose their back-to-school wardrobes, says Lynn Parks, Texas A&M University consumer education specialist.

Leading off the new fashions are the lively "OP" designs. Knits and woven fabrics are dazzling with dots, wobbling wih h checks and dancing with stripes. Knits are more popular than ever and offer unlimited washability benefits.

Fashion highlights include "sweaterlings"—skinny knit sweater dresses. The dresses are often accented with smart turtle neck collars and come in assorted sizes and colors.

Another notable feature of high school fashions is the coordinated look. Choices range from a dress with one dramatic pleat in the skirt and a bolero-type top to a lacy Orion herringbone sweater with a blending skirt. Lined cotton corduroy jumpers with inverted pleats and frilly blouses are also in style.

Pert touches to complete the coordinated picture might include a fake fur hood that looks just like fox. High socks that go up to or above the knees are still popular. Some of the latest socks are splashed with checks, plaids, florals or stripes. Some are even tassel-trimmed.

Teens should have no trouble in looking their most attractive through the entire semester with so many attractive styles from which to choose.

Dr. and Mrs. Guy N. Magness of St. Louis, Mo., visited Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Taylor. Dr. Magness is a nephew of Mrs. Taylor.

Back in 1847 the U.S. Post Office delivered newspapers for a distance up to 30 miles without charge, but deliveries over 30 miles and under 100 miles were made for a penny.

James Thomas Coffield, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Coffield, 1150 So. 8th St., Slaton, enlisted in the Navy last week and was sent to San Diego, Calif., for basic training.

Stratford-on-Avon, Shakespeare's birthplace, is a market town noted for its ale.

Recipe Of The Week

Few people remember Slaton in the days of 1912 as does Mrs. J.J. Kitten, who came here from Nebraska as a young bride of one month "the day after Thanksgiving" of that year.

Shortly after arriving her husband built their home; several years later they built a larger house (still standing); and now live in a smaller new brick home...the third in the 53 years of their marriage, and all located on their original farm, west of Slaton on Union Road. Three homes in 53 years on the same farm does not constitute much moving around!

The Kittens have six children all of whom were here for their parents' Golden Wedding anniversary in 1962. They also have 30 grandchildren, and four great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Kitten says in her spare time she baby sits and sews a lot "for the grand kids...not for myself." The Kittens are lifelong members of the Catholic Church.

Four of their children still live around Slaton. They are Mrs. Emil Wimmer and Joe L. Kitten who are twins; Nestor Kitten and C.F. (Bud) Kitten. Another son, Edmund, lives at Farwell, and still another, J.B., resides at Austin.

Of the many hundreds of recipes Mrs. Kitten uses, these are some of her favorites. This is a family favorite:

COCONUT PIE

3 eggs, 3/4 c. sugar, 1 1/2 c. milk, 3/4 c. coconut, 1 t. vanilla. Beat eggs, stir in sugar, milk and vanilla. Add coconut, put in uncooked pie shell. Cook until knife comes out clean when stuck in middle.

This cake, she says, she bakes more than any other kind.

BANANA NUT CAKE

1 1/2 c. sugar
1/2 c. butter
2 eggs
2 c. sifted cake flour
1/2 c. buttermilk
1 t. soda
3 mashed bananas
1/2 to 1 c. pecans
A pinch of salt

Cream butter and sugar until light and fluffy; add eggs, beat until very light. Add 4 t. butter-milk, stir in mashed bananas. Sift soda & flour together, add with rest of buttermilk alternately. Fold in pecans. Bake in greased & floured loaf pan at 350 degrees.

ICING

1/4 lb. butter or margarine (soft)
3 c. powdered sugar
1 banana (mashed)
1 c. chopped pecans
Mix all together, pour over baked cake while it is still hot.

ICE CREAM

6 eggs
1 c. Karo
1 can Eagle Brand Milk
1 c. sugar
1 c. cream

Beat eggs well, stir in other ingredients; add enough milk to fill a gallon freezer. Freeze.

Record Number Report For Football Practice Monday

A record number of Slaton High School gridgers turned out for the opening day of workouts Monday.

Coach Neal Chastain reported that a total of 48 boys are currently training for the approaching season.

Approximately six additional gridgers are expected to report before school gets underway. Two boys dropped from the squad this week and two others did not pass their physical exams, he said.

Chastain was well pleased with the number of boys interested. Last year a total of 49 participated in the fall sport, including freshmen.

Fresh gridgers will not start workouts until the beginning of school, Chastain reminded. The freshman squad will work the fourth period and will play a separate schedule.

The tempo of workouts is expected to increase as the two-a-day practice sessions progress this week and next. Tentatively, a scrimmage is scheduled with Abernathy here Tuesday. The time had not been set by coaches.

Coaches are still attempting to work the soreness out of the players, Chastain said. He was pleased with the attitude of the squad after the initial practice sessions.

Mark Curtis, a transfer student from Lubbock, was praised by coaches as doing an outstanding job at end.

The Tigers have 11 returning lettermen. Seven of the lettermen were defensive regulars and five were offensive starters.

Quarterback Billy Gass, halfback Steve Harlan, fullback Larry Bownds and guard Oscar Henderson saw action on both units last year.

On offense, Doug Williams played at center while defensive regulars were guard Joe Olague, and halfbacks Victor Christian and Henry Johnson.

The predominately senior squad is blessed with little speed but the group possesses fair size. The line will average approximately 175 pounds while the backs will average 155 pounds.

Coaches said the end position is probably the strongest at this point while the team is weak at the tackle slot.

The heaviest linemen are Martin and Williams who weigh about 200 pounds each.

Two workouts each day will continue until the start of school Aug. 30 when sessions will be curtailed to one each day. Workouts are now at 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Coaches are Chastain, Doug Duncan, Tommy Laceywell, R.G. Copeland and Joe Sparkman.

Tri-captains for the 1965 edition of the Tigers Bownds, Danny Martin. The season opens with Petersburg. In two pre-season games, Petersburg City is the favorite to repeat as champion. In one poll, Slaton and in another, the picked fourth.

Waning Summer Days Hazardous

SQUARE DANCE CLASSES SET

Sammy Hill announces square dance lessons beginning Sept. 15 in the Slaton American Legion Hall at 15th and Lynn. Enroll now for the classes. For further information call

VA8-5288

The waning days of summer vacation activities are attracting more and more Texas parents and their children out into the wonderful outdoors for a last fling at fun in the sun before the reopening of school starts confining them to home. This is a time of increased exposure to the hazards of accidents and unexpected emergencies which inevitably come with accelerated outdoor activity. Of the approximately 70,000 people who die each year in Texas, about 10 percent die as a result of accidents. Doubtless, many are saved by prompt emergency care, but many more could be saved.

It's not at all uncommon to find many people throw all responsibility on the physician or rescue squad personnel who respond to emergency calls, undertaking none themselves except to telephone for help.

Many times they simply do not know what to do, other times they are too excited to think or act wisely. The urgency of the situation may lead people to give grossly improper care for burns, internal injuries or extensive lacerations and abrasions.

The person telephoning for help should not rely solely upon the physician or ambulance attendant to give him advice; he should find out by asking directly what to do until help arrives.

In most situations the telephone conversation need not be rushed; there is time, for instance, for careful directions in cases of heart attack, burns or head injury. Even though the caller has never had a course in first aid or has forgotten what he has learned, he can still obtain directions that may save a life.

"Hurry cases" of first aid include cessation of breathing, severe bleeding and poisoning. In such cases a delay of even a few minutes could result in death. Rescue squads save extremely few people who have stopped breathing unless someone has given artificial respiration or resuscitation on the spot.

Teaching Texans to react promptly and efficiently in emergencies is one of the prime

Slaton Beauty Queen Candidate

A Slaton High School twirler is one of the hopefuls in the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Queen contest slated tonight at the Lubbock Country Club.

Sixteen-year-old Caron Caldwell is entered in the contest with other South Plains beauties. Winner of the county title will compete for district honors at Levelland.

The brown-eyed beauty is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carter Caldwell of 1436 W. Crosby. Her father farms southwest of Slaton.

The contestant will be a senior in high school this fall. She has lived in Slaton all her life. In addition to her band activities, she is a member of Future Homemakers and takes part in basketball and volleyball.

Queen contestants must be between 16 and 22 years of age and must be a member of a Farm Bureau family.

Lake Meredith Gets Approval

Texas U.S. Sen. John Tower this week announced that the senate has officially approved the name Lake Meredith to the waters impounded by Sanford Dam.

In a telegram to the Slatonite, Tower said the resolution to name the reservoir has been sent to the White House.

The designation is in honor of the late A.A. Meredith of Borger, Meredith was an advocate of the Canadian River project.

The senator said the lake will provide water for many communities and will be a center of recreation for as many as 1.5 million visitors annually.

Senator Tower said, "It is most fitting that formal approval has been given the name 'Lake Meredith' and all West Texans can be proud of this farseeing project, soundly financed and built through cooperation of local, state and federal governments."

Teenagers are showing increased interest in politics and service activities, according to one university admissions director. . . . More 1965 applicants were concerned with these activities than ever before. . . . The report, issued by George Dischinger at the University of Rochester, indicated that the majority viewed political work both as a chance to gain experience for a career and as an outlet for expression. . . .

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Every once in a while a reader will ask why so-called industrial captains are not more prominent in decrying the politically motivated economic fallacies of the times.

The answer is best found in the fact that so many of these big industrial captains have government as a major customer. They just do not want to lose this business.

It was therefore quite interesting to note recently that in a special report, Kaiser Steel, which is not one of the giants in the industry, reports tin plate production will be curtailed this year due to the policies of Labor Secretary Wirtz.

By refusing to permit Mexican farm workers to come into the country, the need for tin cans to pack tomatoes, asparagus, and other crops, largely grown in California, has substantially diminished.

With the uncertainties created, bankers were not prone to loan money to put in crops that probably would not be either cultivated or harvested.

It is most difficult to accurately appraise the economic loss to the nation created by this bureaucratic stand.

To afford just one example on one product, it now appears that the California tomato harvest could well be over a million tons short of last year. The acreage planted is substantially reduced, and in addition due to delays in getting an, kind of word out of Washington, plantings were delayed, which means that the crop will mature later, because with a great irreverence for bureaucratic nonsense, tomatoes just won't hurry to ripen to please anybody, and if they should delay until the first rain or frost hits, they are garbage.

Of course, after damage was done, causing an economic loss in one state of more than $50 million to growers, to labor, to truckers, et al, there was announced another fantastically dreamed up plan.

That is the idea of high school athletes for harvest.

While this may impress city folk, it falls flat elsewhere.

There is one big flaw in the entire opium-like dream. Tomatoes are harvested in September and October, when schools are in session.

Thus the nation's high school boys are in a painful dilemma. They are urged to study to prepare themselves for useful roles in the Great Society. In accordance with the President's Fitness program, they are supposed to also continue to play football this fall along with the studies. And now in addition to all else, they are urged to pick tomatoes as a patriotic duty to cover up the stupidity of Secretary Wirtz. If the high school athletes try to cover all these bases at the same time, the conflicting stresses will create severe emotional disturbance. But of course, this resulting situation will then justify greater tax expenditures for an expanded national Mental Health program.

GRID SEASON HERE — Grunts, groans and brusies characterized the first week of football workouts as the Slaton Tigers began preparation for the season opener with Petersburg Sept. 3. Linemen are shown in blocking practice on the two-man sled. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Relatives in Your Home

When Betty's aging mother-in-law moved into the household, no one said a word about money. For the next four years, Betty dutifully performed the various tasks thus added to her chores—including some nursing care. After the older woman died, Betty, backed by her husband, put in a claim against the estate for services rendered.

But another son, fearing a cut in his share, raised an objection. "Mother never promised to pay for Betty's services," he argued in a court test.

"Not in so many words," conceded Betty. "But a promise should be presumed because of all the extra work I did for her."

However, the court, finding no adequate evidence of a promise-to-pay, denied her claim. And that is the usual rule. The law will not presume, without good reason, that a relative who has joined the household intends to pay for his care.

Of course, special circumstances may convince the court in a particular case that payment was indeed intended. Suppose, for instance, that the services were especially onerous. Or that the relative was especially wealthy. Or that the relationship was a distant one. Or that the extra work prevented the claimant from earning money elsewhere. Such facts would argue that, even though nothing was said, payment—sooner or later—was taken for granted.

But by and large, the courts are wary of these claims. After all, in most cases, the issue arises only after the relative is dead—forever beyond questioning. The claimant might be trying to collect merely as an afterthought, with no prior understanding at all.

Besides, the law is reluctant to find financial motives within the family circle. In one case, a man kept detailed records of his mother-in-law's periodic visits during the last few years of her life. When she died, he presented an itemized bill for his hospitality.

But the court dismissed his claim with this comment: "It would be a crime against nature and humanity to give to all the courtesies, favors, and visits that are exchanged between parents and children the mercenary quality of dollars and cents."

PERSISTENCE PAYS OFF FOR MRS. KITTEN IN CONTEST

Persistence paid off for Mrs. Nestor Kitten as she became the eight winner in the "Weekend in the Rockies" contest.

After being a preliminary winner three times, her name was finally drawn Friday at Webb's. Her husband was also one of the 10 preliminary winners.

She and her husband have registered each week since the start of the contest, she explained. Nestor Kitten farms two miles south of Slaton.

Kitten was born here and the family has lived here since their marriage. The couple has six children. Rodney lives in

From Henrietta Berndt, Lake Geneva, Wisconsin: In the early 1900's our lake became the summer home for wealthy Chicago business men. This was before the days of automobiles. Horses were the means of transportation in the community.

The rivalry as to who had the best, fastest and most stylish turnout produced a daily horse show as they met the "five fifteen" train at the railroad station.

Coachman and footman in full livery on the box, horses, their coats shining from careful grooming, tails docked as was the style, harness with metal parts gleaming waited nervously for the train to arrive.

There was beauty and variation in the vehicles. There would be victorias, station traps, broughams and others but the ones we youngsters loved the best were the tally-hoes.

With their two pairs of horses driven tandem style and two men, usually the owner and a coachman on the high front seat, and footman and bugler on a small seat with railing on the back they would come dashing down the dusty unpaved roads while the bugle was blown loud and clear to warn other traffic of their approach.

My greatest thrill was a ride atop a real stage coach with the horses in full gallop over the uneven roads and bugle sounding while I held fast to my cousins on either side for my legs were too short to reach the floor.

These are some of my memories of childhood.

Contracts for such programs have been negotiated with archeologists at the University of Texas, Texas Tech, and Texas Western. Southern Methodist University will start a program this fall.

Beginning September 1, a $12,000-a-year salary will be available for an archeologist to be a member of the staff of the reconstituted Building Commission.

The present cotton crop in the Lockney area is being described by farmers and ginners as "one of the best ever at this time of year." Most farmers were fortunate in getting up their first planting and the cotton has grown off in fine shape. The stalks are well loaded and the weeds have not been a big problem this year, due in part to new chemical weed control measures.

Labor Relations To Be Debated In High Schools

Students in some 10,000 high schools across the country will participate in discussions and debates on labor-management relations during the coming school year.

The three principal discussion questions are: "What share should labor have in the management of industry?" "What should be the policy of the federal government toward strikes in the basic industries?" and "What should be the policy of the federal government in regulating elections of labor organizations?"

The debate propositions include: Resolved: (1) That the federal government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in basic industries. (2) Resolved: That the federal government should prohibit the requirement of union membership as a condition of employment. (3) Resolved: That the federal government should prohibit industry-wide collective bargaining.

The National Association of Manufacturers, Industrial Relations Division in New York has prepared a list of articles and authorities, as well as a complete kit, students may use in conducting research on the topics. It is available on request.

Advertising Advice . . .

BY A BANKER
— IN —

AMERICAN BANKERS' MAGAZINE

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, even if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and to the town. The man who insists on sharing his business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise in the paper, is not a valuable addition to any town . . . The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising man."

Three more cotton spinning test projects will soon be started by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., aimed at showing three more textile mills how they can use Texas High Plains cotton to their advantage.

James S. Parker, textile consultant for Plains Cotton Growers, has just returned from the textile region of the Southeast where the test projects were set up as a part of PCG's free technical consulting service to mills. Parker visited with top mill officials and cotton buyers in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina.

He points out that not every project results in a mill switching to cotton from this area, but said: "We have high hopes that in these three cases testing will prove that High Plains cotton will spin into the yarns they manufacture with comparable quality and reduced raw fiber costs." He added that the recent trip left him much more optimistic about the near-term picture for consumption of cotton from this area.

This optimism stems largely from follow-up work on previous consultation and testing for three mills. In Alabama, a mill indicated to Parker that plans call for stepping up use of our cotton from 65,000 to 75,000 bales per year. And two textile mills in Georgia are increasing use of this area's cotton, one almost doubling the amount used previously. "These," said Parker, "are steady customers for High Plains cotton, and we know that our technical consulting service is at least partially responsible for this fact."

Asked what products on retail shelves normally contain our kind of cotton, Parker replied that the most common, everyday items made from High Plains cotton are blue denim and khaki twills. In addition there are ducks, muslins, toweling, osnaburgs and other constructions well suited to the use of shorter stapled cotton, he stated.

He reports that the free textile service being provided by cotton producers in this area through Plains Cotton Growers is extremely well received and has made a multitude of friends as well as customers for the High Plains since its beginning in 1962.

In addition to specific test projects, the service gives mills access to technical reports on textile research done by PCG through the facilities of the Textile Research Laboratory at Texas Technological College. And information in these reports was directly responsible for one of the mills mentioned above wanting a test project on production of their yarns from High Plains cotton. The Texas Tech fiber laboratory and pilot spinning plant, with over 1,000 spindles, are among the most complete and modern found anywhere and PCG research reports compiled there have gained the respect of textile people around the world.

According to Parker the High Plains will produce this year about 100,000 bales or more of cotton with a staple length over one inch--cotton which sells "real fast." And while prospects for expanded use of High Plains cotton already look good, Parker says many, many more mills could be induced to buy in this area if we had a larger supply of this longer stapled cotton to offer.

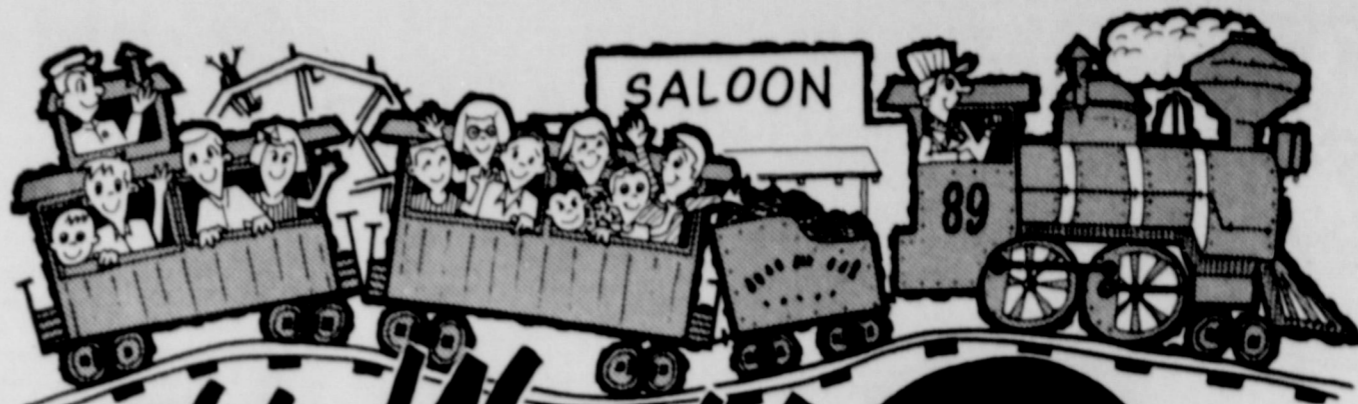

"The amount of this type cotton being grown this year is a decided increase over past years," he went on, "and indications more and more point to greater interest in growing this cotton which can be marketed on a much broader base." For this reason, at least five or six cotton buyers for large mills plan to visit the area this fall to look over the 1965 crop.

Generally speaking, Parker finds that through PCG advertising, promotion and technical service, the textile people know us well and believe the High Plains to be a very promising area for the production of their raw fiber needs. Mill people, he said, are always complimentary and appreciative of the technical service being provided, and many have made the statement that we are on the right track to increased markets.

"No other producer organization provides a comparable service," he continues, "and the textile industry is very favorably impressed with our sincerity in wanting to grow cottons that fit their need, and with our willingness to conduct pilot plant tests and fiber studies toward that end."

Parker also sees a future for the High Plains as the site for additional textile installations, calling attention to the mill already in operation at Ralls and the fact that plans have been completed for two others to start construction in the near future. And, during his recent visit, two mills in the Southeast were asking questions about the possibility of establishing plants in this area.

Summing up, Parker said the textile industry itself is in excellent condition, using more cotton than at any time in recent years, and with continued hard work and product improvement, the High Plains can look forward to an ever-increasing percentage of this expanding raw fiber market.

F.W. CALLAWAY

Southland Pupils Enroll Aug. 27

Registration for classes at Southland Public Schools begins Aug. 27, according to F.W. Callaway, superintendent of schools. Registration starts at 8:45 a.m. and classes begin the same hour Aug. 30. The administrator said about 200 pupils are expected to enroll. Callaway also released the school calendar for the year.

Thanksgiving holidays are Nov. 25-26 while classes will dismiss for the Christmas holidays Dec. 24-Jan 3. Pupils get a day off March 4 while teachers attend the district TSTA conference. April 9-18 is set for the Easter holidays while the final day of classes is May 27. The football and basketball schedules will be released later, Callaway said. High school principal is Robert W. Dyess while principal of the grade school is Noble G. Allen. Two positions are yet to be filled on the faculty. The areas are junior high and math and science. Mrs. Ruby Hulise will teach the first grade while Mrs. Claudia Monk will serve as second grade teacher. Third grade instructor will be Mrs. Anne Chaffin. Fourth grade teacher is Mrs. Noble Allen while Mrs. Ruth Hall is in charge of the fifth and sixth grades. Mrs. Irene Kuykendall is English teacher and Robert Dyess is social science teacher.

St. Joseph's Sets Beginning Date

Instruction at St. Joseph's Catholic School begins Aug. 30, according to an announcement by Sister Mary Angelita, principal.

Projected enrollment at the private school in Slaton is 166. The school will observe approximately the same holiday schedule as the public schools. The school day opens each morning with mass at 8 and classes follow the opening service. Sister Angelita said the cafeteria would be open for service the first day. Sister Angelita also teaches seventh and eighth grades while Sister Mary Kenneth is instructor for grades six and seven. Sister Mary Regina teaches grades one and two while Sister Mary Andrine is on the faculty for grades three and four.

A lay teacher, Mrs. Robert Huser, will teach grades two and three.

From Ethel Drury, Las Vegas, Nevada: I remember as a child living in Durango, a beautiful mountain town in southwestern Colorado. At that time it was a coal mining town. Now it is a scenic resort.

I remember the glorious Fourth of July—when children could have and shoot all the firecrackers and fireworks their parents could buy. Then fathers had time to supervise the fun on the evening of the "Fourth." What excitement and enjoyment there was for we children and Papa—who had built the equipment necessary to shoot the sky rockets safely. I do not remember any accidents—not in our neighborhood, anyway.

I remember the fried chicken and homemade ice cream always served on this wonderful day. This was before one could buy ice cream in drug stores. I remember the wonderful Christmases, when for weeks before the holiday right after school, we hurried to church to "practice" our pieces and learning the old Christmas Carols. "Silent Night, Holy Night," the great favorite. On the way home, just about dusk, more than often it would begin snowing. What fun it was walking through the snow to a warm supper prepared by a loving mother.

Cooper Has New Administration

Familiar faces in new positions will characterize the opening of Cooper Schools Aug. 30.

Harold Carpenter, formerly high school principal, stepped up to the position of superintendent. Lowell Bynum, elementary principal last year, will serve as principal of high school.

Principal of the elementary school is Bob Marlett. He was formerly a science teacher. Earl Madding remains as principal of junior high.

Projected enrollment is 750 according to Carpenter—up slightly over last year.

Pre-registration for high school students will be held Aug. 27 at the high school. Freshman and sophomore students will begin registration at 10 a.m., while junior and seniors will register at 1 p.m.

Junior high and elementary students will enroll Aug. 30, the superintendent explained. All the buildings have been painted during the summer months and workmen are busy getting classrooms ready for the first day.

Some additions have also been made to the academic program at Cooper. Foreign language will be taught for the first time as will applied math and bookkeeping. A new fifth grade room has also been added.

There will be 28 classroom teachers on the Cooper faculty and all but two of the positions have been filled. Thanksgiving holidays are Nov. 25-26 while Christmas vacation runs from Dec. 24-Jan 3. Students get a holiday March 4 when teachers attend the district TSTA convention. Easter holidays are April 4-9 and school ends May 20 and commencement exercises will be held that evening.

High school faculty members are Sara Nixon, Gary Grimes, Joe Longley, Jesse Holland, Barbara Clarkson, Velma McWhirter and Dan Taylor.

Junior high teachers are Jerilyn Youngblut, Roy Blair, Gary Bell, Linda Taylor, Melvita Floyd and Elaine Jontes. On the elementary staff are Lavenia Carpenter, Paula Forrest, Natalie Evans, Viollette Jones, Sarah Edwards.

Anna Lou Huff, Josie Allen, Jeffie Smith, Sarah McInturf, Betty Morris, Francis Heath, Dortha Smith, Patricia Neugebauer and Ruth Barton. Suzanne Hinnant will teach music while Mildred Dennis is supervisor.

Let's look at the RECORDS!

On Eliran's first Capitol LP is a collection of social barbs expressed in song and story in an unique album with the title "What Do You Do When You're Young and White and Jewish?" Among the 13 subjects Eliran tackles are The Real Story of Exodus, Genesis, I'm Standing on the Outside of Your Shelter, The Tel Aviv Blues (a parody on Abeline), Massachusetts Bubble and the title tune. A native of Haifa, Israel's major seaport city, Eliran attended the University of Jerusalem and became a member of a troupe of Israeli entertainers about to embark on a tour of Europe in commemoration of their homeland's 10th anniversary.

It was during the tour that Ed Sullivan noticed the young singer and invited him to perform before an American audience on his CBS-TV show. The appearance proved to be the turning point in Eliran's oriums across the country. Manhattan's Village Gate, Washington's Constitution Hall, Chicago's Gate of Horn and Los Angeles' Shrine Auditorium, among others. He's on his way and shows a great deal of promise with his debut waxing.

The hit songwriting team of Jay Livingston and Ray Evans got together a collection of favorite songs from far-flung locales, wrote tongue-in-cheek new verses for some and all-new lyrics for others; added some new interludes and counter-melodies and then wrote a brand new song—That Travelin' Two Beat and presented the whole package to Billy May who arranged the selections for the two vocal stars of a new LP, Bing Crosby and Rosemary Clooney. Among the tunes the duo harmonize on are I Get Ideas, Poor People of Paris and Ciao, Ciao, Bambino.

Habits are just the customary ways of doing things. We all want to have good, constructive habits. We do not need to be bound to destructive habits, but unless we know the secret of ridding ourselves of them, we have a hard time in doing so. Seek God's help in changing our way of life and substitute better and more desirable patterns of behavior.

The rural traffic accident summary in the county for the first seven months of this year shows a total of 230 crashes resulting in seven persons killed, 152 persons injured and property damage of $177,185.

"School days are almost here again and many of the schools in this area will be starting their classes before Labor Day," he reminded.

He said now is the time to start paying close attention to signs of warning of school zones and school buses.

"Many parents attempt to make the Labor Day weekend their final vacation outing. The Sergeant stated, "Don't let this final outing be fatal." A total of 39 lives were lost in traffic mishaps over the Labor Day weekend in 1964.

Early this fall more than 240,000 young Texans will be entering public schools for the first time.

Even though the opening of school is still some weeks away, parents are busy making preparations to insure that their child makes a smooth adjustment to his new environment. The child's adjustment will be more rapid and satisfactory if he starts his school life in good, sound health.

Have your family physician or local clinic give your child a complete physical examination including an eye check. His teeth should also be checked by the family dentist. If these examinations show there are ailments or defects that can and should be looked after, then follow the doctor's and dentist's advice and have them corrected, if possible, before you enroll him in school.

It's likely that your child has already been immunized against certain of the childhood diseases such as diphtheria, whooping cough, and smallpox. If not, have it done immediately either by your doctor or by the local health clinic. If all immunizations have been done previously, make sure your child gets the necessary booster dose.

Insist on your child's regular and sufficient hours of sleep to help him enjoy school. He needs ten to twelve hours of sleep in a quiet, darkened room with an open window to build up his energy and offset his tiredness.

Proper nutrition is important. When school starts, allow enough time for a wholesome breakfast. A good breakfast includes citrus fruit or juice, milk, whole grain cereal or bread, eggs or bacon or both.

Lunch and dinner should be a leisurely meal. The new adventure of school is a pretty fast pace, but mealtime offers an opportunity for the family to pause and relax together.

Also, nearly every school district in Texas requires proof-of-age for first year students in the form of a certificate of birth.

You may obtain a copy by sending a dollar and a half plus the name of the child, the date of birth, the place of birth, and both the father's and mother's names to the Records and Statistics Section, Texas State Department of Health, 410 East 6th St., Austin, Texas.

Payroll expense is the most important item in the operation of hospitals, accounting for 67 per cent of the total budget of all hospitals.

WHEN SCHOOL STARTS AUG. 30

Wilson Expects 42

An estimated 425 students will cross the threshold of Wilson Independent School District when the bell rings for the first day of classes Aug. 30.

Supt. of Schools Leroy Scott said a faculty of 18 awaits students for the 178-day school year. Students will attend classes where most rooms have been freshly painted.

The high school gym floor was completely refinished this summer. Activity at the high school is already starting. Football workouts began Monday for the Wilson Mustangs and the WHS band is also engaged in pre-school rehearsals.

Wilson Youth Attends Seminar
 Kenneth Corley, son of Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Corley, Route 1, Slaton, a junior in Wilson High School, was selected by the Lynn County Farm Bureau to attend a three day seminar on the campus of Sam Houston State Teachers College in Huntsville, August 10-14. This was the third annual High School Students Citizenship Seminar sponsored by the Texas Farm Bureau.

Two other students from Lynn county were selected, Milton Edwards of Tahoka and Sidney Sealy of New Home. Several well known lecturers and educators were on the program. Students are selected on the basis of leadership and scholastic accomplishments. Parents of the three Lynn county students also attended. A capacity enrollment of 320 high school juniors and seniors from 144 counties participated this year.

Plan Now For Education After High School

COLLEGE STATION--The class of 1966 is preparing to enter the final year of secondary school work.

Now's the time to take a thorough, realistic look ahead to the fall of 1966, says Patsy Reynolds, specialist in family life education with the Texas A&M University Extension Service.

Parents and school counselors should help students take a look at their education or career plans early this fall.

Students who plan to apply for scholarships should keep this early deadline in mind.

She advises young people to talk to school counselors and write to the colleges or business schools in which they are interested.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

THE BIG RACE

We live in a world of competition. Local retailers vie for local business. Towns and cities bid for new industries. Nations challenge one another in the search for scientific discoveries. In the quest space achievements. Many individuals have their own private "race." It's a constant struggle to keep up with the neighbors, or to get ahead if possible. Buy a newer car, a bigger house, give a bigger party, boast of a greener lawn. Or, perhaps we race only with ourselves. We set a high goal, the achievement of a small fortune, a particular station in life or on the job—and then we charge forward, whatever the cost.

Ambition is well and good. But it is not what we want that is so important as how we go about getting it. Are we giving up, are we overlooking some of the more important things?

This is a rather personal question. Each individual must answer it for himself. Next time you consider how you may "stack up" in your community, ask yourself at the same time what the keeper of the records is writing against your name in preparation for the day of judgment.

Confidence

"And you will have confidence, because there is hope; and you will be protected and take your rest in safety."
— Job 11:18

The difference between setback and defeat is sometimes nothing more than a point of view. The man who refuses to give up hope still has a chance.

Whatever befalls you is an experience that someone, somewhere, has endured. No problem is so peculiar that no one has not attempted to solve it before you. However cloudy your outlook may be, the world becomes darker still if you close your eyes and turn away.

Have hope—and you have confidence; you have the spirit and the will to say, "I'll try," rather than "I quit." Rest assured that God does not forsake you. Have faith, maintain hope—and confidence will urge you to try again.
