There are southern flank of the United States, some Red-dominated unions, but they are small. Communism and no official action is being taken to control their activities. Nevertheless, various police organizations keep a close watch on the Reds and sometimes lock them up to head off trouble.

The official attitude of the Interior Ministry — which controls the federal police — is that there are not enough Communists in Mexico to "interfere with the normal processes of democratic government."

The Communists are not register.

The Communists are not regis-tered as a party. The Interior Min-istry says they cannot muster the 75,000 members a group needs to qualify as a party. And Mexican laws ban political activity by any group which "has links with any foreign organization, if these imply nation of the Mexican

While the Communist party is small — the best estimates are 20,000 members in a population of 25 million — the Popular party follows the Communist line. It polled some 60,000 votes — 5 percent — in the 1952 presidential elections.

In applying for new registration, the Popular party claimed 120,000 members. Activity in the party is sufficient to bar a Mexican from the United States.

Another source of Red strength is sympathisers who pull considerable weight with the government. Among them are Gen. Heriberto Jara, former navy minister and winner of a Stalin Peace Prize: Diego Rivera and David Alfaro Siquairos, mural painters; and some once-famous but now outmoded writers.

Ante-Bellum Belles Not So Helpless

REBEL ROSE, Ishbel Ross. Har-

It's one of America's quaint fan cies that women used to be pretty helpless creatures back in antebellum days. If you are one to cling to that fancy, here's a book to shatter your illusion.

Rose O'Neal Greenhow - the 'Rebel Rose" of the title - was far from the clinging vine type. Her exploits as a spy and propa-gandist for the Confederacy are among the most brilliant in Civil War espionage. She was intrepid and indomitable, beautiful and alluring, defiant and reckless - a character calculated to stand out in any company of any time.

Perhaps the "spy" is a misnomer. Every one in Washington in 1861 knew Widow Greenhow was a Southern sympathizer, and she advertised her loyalty at every op-portunity. Considering this, her success is more amazing. She received the personal thanks of Jef-ferson Davis for her work in tipping the Northern plans for the battie of Bull Run; she sent to Rich-mond detailed plans of Federal forts and garrisons around Washington; Gen. McClellan once said she knows my plans better than Lincoln or the Cabinet." Even un-WESTBROOK — Balloons and get information to the South. Power To The Crack-Down On The Moving Traffic Violations In City

During the past week the tempo of action against moving traffic violations has been stepped up considerably. Almost every day has seen several people before the city judges on offenses ranging from speeding to running stop signs and red lights, from failing to yield right-of-way to speeding about city streets without headlights, from operating a car without licenses to failing to maintain a proper lookout while driving.

In many instances the offenders have been cautioned or warned and let off; in more serious cases, fines have been imposed. A few have been turned over to the juvenile officer for a follow-up.

This is all to the good, and we hope it will be kept up so long as there continues the abundant field of harvest that exist while not all of those brought before if bar of justice are younsters, most of them are in the 'teen age bracket. A few are so young they really don't have any business driving. Some, chronic cases, are results of parential indulgence.

By and large, most of these brought in were in trouble because they were doing things the crowd was doing or doing things that they thought they could gut away with. If it takes a court experience and fines to impress upon offenders the wisdom of obeying traffic regulations and thus contribute to the safety and general welfare of the public, then let the crack-down campaign continue. More power to down campaign continue. More power

None of this has been pleasing to our prides. But it may well have been good for our souls. For by the late spring our for-eign relations were in a condition where something had to crack and give way. The imminent loss of Northern Viet Nam, which had been described efficially as of "trans-grave problem thus created.

The first would be to grant West Germany full sovereignty and proceed to organize EDC without French participation. That would mean a collective army made up of German, Belgian, Dutch and Laxembourger forces, plus Italian if Red-ridden Italy could be induced to join—a very unlikely thing, since Italy like France has not even ratified EDC.

The second would be to grant West Germany her sovereignty and then receive her as a member of NATO. NATO differs from its abortive cousin EDC in this rect. Fourteen nations are bound in mutual defense in case either is attacked, but each nation retains full control of its armed forces, merely being subject to inter-staff direction. Under EDC, the armed forces of the six participating nations would be under a single direction and control.

NATO looks like the best bet. Since it was organized in 1949, Greece and Turkey have been admitted to membership. France could not very well block the admission of West Germany.

These are the "dog days," named for Sirius, the Dog Star, and people used to blame everything disagreeable that oceurred in the midsummer on old Sirius. The Dog Star received credit for the hot,

France's Fear Of Germany Ha Brought New Tragedy To Europe

PARIS - The tragedy of Europe, as seen in the failure of the European De-fense Community nations to agree at their recent meeting in Brussels, has one fundamental cause. It gets down to the deep, almost neurotic, fear in France of living alone on the continent with a res-urrected Germany.

This fear explains many of the errors of French policy since World War II. It explains, above all, why the French feel they must hold on to everything they have in order to meet the competition of Germany. But the effort to apply force to held pieces of the colonial empire—source of manpower and raw meterials—has repeat-edly failed and it almost certainly will fail again. This is the seemingly hopeless diemms of France, isolated after the Brussels conference by the refusal of the five other European partners to consider the sweeping changes in the EDC treaty proposed by Premier Pierre Mendes-France.

What has become evident in the wake of the Brussels conference is that the French National Assembly probably would have rejected the EDC treaty with the reservations Mr. Mendes-France had attached to it.

He let it be known that leading members of the Popular Republican party - Robert Schuman and Georges Bidault - agreed with the need for his drastic modifica-tions. Mr. Schuman promptly repudiated this view, saying that his party would vote in the Assembly against the modified EDC because they believed it had been sobbed of its European supra-national char-acter. Andre Phillips, one of the Socialist leaders favoring EDC took the same stand. With these votes added to those of implacable fees of EDC - Communists on the left and Gaullists on the extreme rightdoemed from the outset.

Blame for this failure, which presents Western diplomacy with the gravest crials since 1939, rests in part on Great Britain. It was Prime Minister Winston Churchfill who, in a series of speeches beginning unity within a defense and economic community But Britain declined to become a part of that community, standing aloof even from the coal and steel pool considered to be the first step toward true integration.

While French fear of German rearms ment and domination once again of the continent sometimes seems irrational, it must be added that similar fears are apparently widespread in Germany. The failure of the Brussels conference, which greatly increases the threat to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's pro-European govern-ment in Germany, coincided with another of those lurid incidents revealing, as did the defection of Dr. Otto John, that all is far from well within the Federal Republic. This time one of the leading members of Chancellor Adenauer's own Christian Democratic party went over to the Communists in East Germany, Unlike Dr. John, who was unstable and high strung, Karl Frans Schmidt-Wittmack was a solid citizen wit a prosperous business. Going over to East Berlin he took his wife and child with him and also the innermost secrets of West German rearmament and security, which he had access to as a member of key committees of the Bundestag.

There is only one explantion-this man was frightened that West German re-arming would make another war inevitable and with it the incalculable destruction of hydrogen and atomic weapons.

Short of some dramatic and wholly unforeseen turn of events the latest treason coupled with the failure of Brussels, would seem to number Chancellor Adenauer's days. And what comes after Adenauer po one will predict, except to say that it is almost certain to be bad-the resurgence of the extreme Nationalist and former Nazi

These Days-George Sokolsky Russia Has Made Progress In Plan To Isolate United States

It is evident, from all that is happening in the world these days, that the United States is no longer the world leader. There will be Americans who will regret this change of position, but there is nothing that can be done about it. As a matter of fact, there is no world leader.

Beginning with the Marshall Plan, the American concept of world leadership was to export capital to any country that would take it, for the purpose of strengthening that country, and to win it to our foreign policies. The countries were strengthened and, as each one felt the sap of renewed vigor, it sensed the necessity for independ-ence from the United States. It would be possible to withdraw all sid and then some of these countries would flop on their faces, but that is not American policy. We go on strengthening these countries with our aid despite ther open antagonism to Great Britain, for instance, is the real stumbling block to the European Defense Community. As Great Britain will not join it, why should France? Why should anybody? Sir Winston Churchill has for a decade spoken elequently about a Europeon, but there is not a scintilla of evidence that he has ever done anything about it and, in the recent show-down with Premier Mendes-France, he missed the chance of putting France into the EDC. If Church-ill insists on Great Britain staying out, what arguments can the spell-hinder produce for getting Mendes-France to put his

"Le Dauphine Libere" asks a very wise question:

"Will Churchill encourage the supporters of the treaty to put it rapidly into application? One must not forget the responsibility which Britain bears because of her absten-tion and hesitation. He might at any rate held out the hope that she would ultimately rally to the EDC once the community had become a tangible reality..."

Perhaps the answer lies in a speech de-livered by Kuo Mo-jo, vice chairman of the National Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference, at a reception in honor of Clement Atlee

"Our distinguished guests here are well aware that since the end of the Second World War, as a result of the practice of the 'Policy of Strength,' of arms drives and war preparations, the world has been sharply divided into two groups—the East and the West-and the contacts between them have been artificially prevented, the cultural interchange and trade between them obstructed.

"Faced with this menace, an increasing number of people have in the last few years expressed a common desire. They demand that the different countries of the world resolve international disputes through negotiation so that the international tension may be gradually eased.
"This universal appeal found an initial fulfillment in the recent Geneva Conference. The achievements of the Geneva Conference testify that by means of negotiatons any international dispute can be resolved reasonably and justly." Geneva represented Red China's first and most diplomatic victory. At Geneva, it was Red China that eliminated the Unit-States from world leadership. At Geneva, Great Britain and France joined with Soviet Russia and Red China against the United States.

This means a new day for the United States. We cannot become friends and as-sociates of Soviet Russia or Red China even if public opinion in the United States would have it so, which it will not. The reason: It is the fixed policy of the Soviet Universal State to isolate the United States, to reduce its economic leadership in the world, to limit its political influence in Europe and Asia. To date, the Russian success in this direction is so outstanding that it would be stupid for the Russians to reverse their

By separating this country from Great Britain and France at Geneva, Soviet Russia has accomplished the first forward step in the isolation of the United States. The second can be the total failure of EDC. The third step would be a revival of the Little Entente which would indirectly make France an ally of the Soviet Universal State via Poland and Czechoslovakia. As these steps develop, the United States will be forced to switch its focus from and of the policy of liberation, wh was built on top of containment like a kind of penthouse. The purpose of both policies is admirable, to prevent the Communist orbit from expanding and to make it contract. But a re-appraisal of both policies became necessary when they were militarized, when the attempt was made to translate into military projects, when they ceased to be backed by a flexible and resourceful di-plomacy. As military policies and projects the policies of containment and liberation are not within the real military capabilities of the Western Allies and their Asian partners. Western armaments are potent against organized aggression but they are very nearly impotent-against guerrilla rev-

Geneva marked the end of the open warfare in which the two great coalitions were engaged. A condition not of peace but of co-existence now prevails.

It is founded upon the partition of Ger-many, Korea, Indochina, and of China itself. The partitions have produced a kind of truce. For partition is what happens when two rival powers cannot agree and weeks. The first was the showdown in Washington over military intervention in Indochina. The second was the sight of the great powers on both sides of the Iron Curtain, negotiating a truce while we were not actively present. A showdown over intervention proved that the Administration, quite rightly in the particular circumstances, was not willing to go to war. Our passivity at Geneva showed that diplomatic relations on a world scale are possible without our always playing the leading part. The President drew the true conclusion from these events when he said that we were not trying to lead but to be good pariners, cannot settle the issues by fighting. And the partition of great countries, like Germany and China, cannot be permanent.

The present global truce may therefore be expected to last only as long as these partitions can be made to last. The truce is almost certain to come to a great crisis whenever the national forces in any of

'WE'RE BACK IN BUSINESS.' IS CLAIM OF YANKEES' MANAGER

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK IM - "Yesterday we were out of business; today

we're back in it" Manager Casey Stengel was in an expansive mood after the New York Yankees' 4-1 "must" victory over Cleveland yesterday that sliced the Indians' first-place margin over the defending champions to 41/2 games.

"It was a game we had to win," said Stengel, "and just as we've been doing for six years, we won it. That's why you can't count us out yet. Never sell the Yankees short until they are mathematically

"The other guys don't have it wrapped up yet. They just think they have. Don't forget they haven't had a slump all season. But If we can beat them again tomorrow and keep the pressure on them, we might scare them into one. "I'm not saying they'll choke. They never have. But they could slow up a little. I know one thing, we better not choke. We can't afford to lose any more." As expected, the Cleveland clubhouse was quiet but no one apeared dejected. Manager Al Lopez accepted the defeat philosoph-

"I feel the same about it now as I did Tuesday night," he said. "I still think that was the big one for us. No matter what happens tomorrow, we'll still leave here with a pretty comfortable lead. After all, it's too much to expect us to sweep all three games here. This is still a pretty good club we're playing. Yankee battery of southpaw Ed Lopat and catcher Yogi Berra was the "whole" club yesterday. Lopat spaced nine hits for his 12th victory of the year and his 40th lifetime win over the Indiams. Berra laced three of the Yanks hits, including his 18th home run, scored twice and drove in two runs.
