slaton's Tigers close 1968 grid season at Levelland Friday night, with Coach Ernie Davis' crew seeking their fourth victory after a rough initiation into Class AAA competition.

Injuries were reported in a car - train collision Sunday night at FM-400 and Industrial Drive. Daniel Rich and James Drittain of Wolfforth, occupants of the car, were hospitalized and later released, Elmer Trimble of Lubbock was en-

Moisture has slowed the cotton harvest in the Slaton area, but the bale count jumped to 24,019 according to a Slatonite survey Wednesday.

Rainfall last Thursday and Friday put a damper on the harvest, with .25 of an inch of rain reported in Slaton and up to 1 inch recorded in some areas around the city. Sleet and light hail hit sections north of Posey and north of Slaton,

Most of the heavy sleet and hail, however, appeared to be north of Lubbock. The area has received a light snowfall the week before, so that only about 7,000 bales of cotton were ginned the past two weeks.

While "sweating out" the weather, local cotton producers were also waiting out the cotton market. Little cotton has been sold, according to several local observers, as farmers hope for a better market.

Temperatures dipped to lows of 32 and 30 Monday and Tuesday of this week. The high reading was 67 Tuesday after reaching only 50 and 52 degrees Sunday and Monday.

Bale count totals this week included Slaton Co-Op, 8,590; Farmers Gin 1,475; Posey 1,-160; Union Co-Op 3,325; Acuff Co-Op 2,200; Wilson Co - Op 2,666; Hackberry 1,273; Gatzki 850; McClung 350; Basinger 130; Wayside 2,000.

The three Cotton Classing Offices of the USDA in this area classed 151,000 samples of new crop cotton last week ending Friday, Nov. 15. This brought the total for the entire season to 322,000, 132,000 Samples had been classed on the South Plains this time last Predominant grades were Middling, Strict Low Middling, Middling Light Spotted, and Strict Low Middling Light Spotted. These four grades represented 87% of the total classed.

The average staple length from the South Plains area last week was 1-inch.

Micronaire readings by percentages were 3.5 - 4.9 (64%) 3.3 - 3.4 (16%), 3.0 - 3.2 (15%) and 2.7 - 2.9 (5%

The average Pressley tests, which is the breaking strength of the fibers, for the Lubbock area was 88,000 pounds per square inch, for the Lamesa area was 84,000 pounds, and for the Brownfield area was 84,000 pounds.

Prices reported to the Consumer and Marketing Service of the USDA at Lubbock ranged from $10.25 to $12.75 per bale over the Government loan value for White Grades, and $13.25 to $17.25 per bale over the loan for Light Spotted grades in the 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire Average cottonseed prices paid to producers was $49 per gineer of the Santa Fe train. Damage to the car was estimated at $300.

The other accident occurred at the intersection of S. 9th and Geneva Saturday evening. Drivers of the vehicles involved were Randolph Sammons and Pauline Rodgers. Damage to both vehicles was about $250,

For a good season under very difficult circumstances, Coach Ernie Davis and his Slaton Tiger football staff are saluted this by Citizens State Bank. CSB recognizes, as do most football fans, that the Tiger gridders performed to the best of their abilities against some much larger schools with more physical manpower. The move up to Class AAA competition was a big test for the coaching staff and the boys, and we think they passed with flying colors! We at CSB salute Coach Davis and varsity assistants Bob Martin, Gene Franklin and Bill Gerber. Our commendation also includes freshman grid coach Kenneth Housden, and junfor high coaches R. G. Copeland and Joe Sparkman for their invaluable service in "Scouting" the opponents.

He took post - graduate work at Stanford University and completed a number of courses from the International Correspondence School. He entered service as a draftsman at San Francisco in 1942.

Rising through the ranks, Jones has worked at Fresno and San Bernardino, and Ash Fork and Parker, Ariz., until his promotion to division engineer at Richmond in 1960.

Minutes later, Washington broke on a 47-yard run that carried to the Wildcat 17. After Farrell got 3, a penalty moved the ball back to the 19. A pass to Partain fell incomplete, and a third - down toss was almost intercepted. Pettigrew came in to try a field goal, with the ball placed down on the 27. The attempt was long and on the mark, but fell just under the crossbars.

Minutes later, Slaton had good position again when Choate recovered a fumble on the Wildcat 41. The Tigers drew a 5yard delay penalty on 3rd and then Williams lost 1, but Washington picked up the necessary 7 yards on fourth down to keep the drive going. He fumbled on the next play, how-

In 1946, the U. S. Office of Education called a meeting of state DE supervisors to develop plans for a national organization. The first conference that led to the adoption of a resolution to form a national organization was held'in Memphis, Tennessee in 1947.

"The growth and development of DECA has been rapid," according to Harrell. " Many interested educators and business organizations have given their advice, their cooperation and their support. Past growth and plans for the future give every indication that DECA is destes 1941 and 1944 ined to become one of the lead-

BY DR. P.L. VARDY Supt. of Schools

The Distributive Education program is a vocational program supervised through the Texas Education Agency in all participating schools in Texas. One of the primary goals of this program is to develop salesable skills in high school youths that they may be better prepared to participate in the business world in the distribution of goods and services.

The program is a cooperative one between the public school and the business community. The Distributive Education student participates in a formal education program and at the same time participates in the actual selling of goods or services.

From all analyses and surveys made by the Slaton Public Schools, these students continue to use their training and education received through this program. There are cases where students have paid part of their expenses for their education in various colleges through information derived from their participation in Distributive ducation.

Also, there are students that

Distributive Education Big School Business

TEXAS BUSINESSMEN have come to rely on a statewide source of student manpower to help them serve their customers.

Take the businessman in Central Texas who called the local school district and asked for help--a student helper. His business?

THANKS TO THE LOCAL SCHOOL'S distributive education program, the monument maker got his helper. And that young man began learning to carve stone while getting his high school diploma.

Distributive education is big business in Texas. You might even say it is like a big brother to big (or small) business.

THIS YEAR MORE THAN 225 school districts will help train approximately 27,000 high school students in some 85 occupations, including auto mechanics, cosmetology, movie projectionist, dressmaking, sheet metal, and steamfitting. There is even a hatter

Two objectives have been outlined; give students the opportunity to go into a skilled occupation as soon as they graduate from high school or continue further training at a higher vocational or technical institution.

STUDENTS IN DISTRIBUTIVE education may become skilled (auto mechanics, for instance), semi-skilled (sheet metal worker), or semi-professional (laboratory technician) through two types of programs; the day trades skill program, which now has an enrollment of 17,000 students, and the industrial cooperative training program with 6,000 students.

Trainees in the day trades skill program divide their school days between classroom instruction in regular academic subjects and training in the school's specially equipped shop. This program may extend through two or three years of training, depending on the school district.

STUDENTS in the two-year industrial cooperative training program also divide their school hours with half of them spent away from the school at the job site. The curriculum for this program calls for 700 hours of classroom training and 1,080 hours of on-the-job

Students in either program now earn at least the minimum hour wage of $1.25. And some of them -- particularly the bricklayers, and electrical and iron workers -- may earn $3 an hour by their senior year.

HAS THE PROGRAM been able to supply all the answers?

Well, take the request from a East Texas businessman for an unusual skill.

Officials looked it over carefully and then decided the student just couldn't get in the required 700 hours of related classroom

Seems there is just not that much textbook material available to keep a student busy--learning taxidermy.
