Voter Registration Nears End

Citizens who desire to be eligible voters have little more than a week to register.

Registration is free, but you must register by Jan. 31 to be eligible to vote in this year's elections. Registration can be accomplished by going to the county tax assessor-collector's office in Lubbock; by going to the tax office substation here at the Drewry Insurance building (south of the Post Office), or by sending an application by mail.

Registration forms can be found in some business places, and are being published in The Slatonite. If a mail application is used, citizens are urged to fill out all information requested and the voting box number, if known. An official at the county tax office reports the application will be accepted if the voting box is not known by the registrar.

A large number of citizens are expected to register in the Slaton area. Even though it's an "off" year on elections, "wet" forces are working on registrations and local city and school elections are expected to draw interest.

On the city level of government, terms of the mayor and two city commissioners expire this year. Commission posts up for election are 1 and 3, now held by Hugo Mosser and Henry Bollinger. Two terms expire on the Slaton School Board, the seats held by Joe Miles, board president, and Willie Heinrich.

In order to vote in statewide elections, a person must meet the following requirements on the day of the election: he must be over 21 years of age and must be a citizen of the United States; he must have resided in Texas for one year immediately preceding the election; and he must have registered for the voting year in which the election is held.

In order to vote in local elections (county, school, district, etc.), he must also have resided in the county for six months immediately preceding the election. Residence in the city for six months is required for voting in a city election.

Persons over 60 are reminded that new voting laws enacted in 1967 makes registration necessary for all citizens. The law also permits voters who move from one Texas county to another within the period of six months preceding an election to vote on statewide offices if they lived in the state for a year.

Texas voters must register annually. The voting year begins March 1, 1969 and ends Feb. 28, 1970. Persons who become 21 after Jan. 31 may register now or later. If they register during the regular period, their voting certificate will show the date they become eligible to vote.

CAB Sets Election

A Community Action Board meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Stephen F. Austin School for the purpose of electing a representative from southeast Slaton.

In order to vote for the representative to the Lubbock CAB board, the person must reside in the southeast part of Slaton.

CITY HAS 'MODEL' BRANCH

Library Proves Success In Downtown Location

BY LAVON NIEMAN

After the Slaton Branch Library has been in operation in a downtown location now for a year, facts prove that professional librarians' evaluations were correct in predicting that more books would be checked out with the library in a busy area of the city.

Of course, the fact that hours have been increased at the library has probably been another reason for more books being checked out than the previous year. Hours were increased from a 20 hour week to a 40 hour week. The library is now open from 12:30 to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

Almost a third more books were checked out of the Slaton Library from October, 1967 to October, 1968 compared to the previous year. During the period from 1966 to 1967, 6,803 books were circulated. Last year 9,544 books were circulated during the same specified time.

Mrs. Janie Forehand is the librarian for the library and her goal is to obtain a degree in library science. She has attended South Plains College in Levelland and Texas Tech. Mrs. Floy Miller, who oversees the work of the library here, says Slaton is very fortunate to have such a capable person as Mrs. Forehand as librarian. Mrs. Miller finds her very efficient in all phases of the work.

Just recently a new machine was installed at the library making the job of checking out books faster and the machine makes a permanent record of the library cards. The machine is called a "Regiscope" and it takes a picture of the date due slip and library card. This film may be developed to determine which books are overdue.

When plans were revealed that the library would be moved downtown, a group of interested citizens met and decided to form a "Friends of the Library" organization. Greedy Sanders was elected president and has done a wonderful job the past year. "Friends" through memberships and donations, have contributed carpet, drapes, children's reading table, reading lights over two tables, divider over opening in back of building, new book truck and new children's books. A committee also refurnished the used furniture.

Members of the "Friends" who hold membership cards will want to renew their memberships soon, and many who are not members will want to join so their membership dues can be used to help provide better facilities for our library.

Someone else doing a good job in the library's behalf is Mrs. Bob Kern, who serves on the County Library Board. Being a branch of the city-county library, the county provides books for the library and the librarian's salary. City taxes pay for the rent of the building and the utilities. The new "Regiscope" machine was purchased with county funds. Furniture was moved from the old library and transferred from the old county library in Lubbock.

If you haven't visited the library lately you might be surprised to find such an attractive place. Slaton artists have been rotating art selections and a painting of a clown was donated by Mrs. Tommy Wallace for the children's corner.

The library now has approximately 4,500 volumes. A report shows that 772 of these volumes were transferred here from Wolforth. Since last January the following books have been added plus 200 books loaned from the State Library: adult, 238; reference, 204; juvenile, 377; and easy books, 90. Several magazines have been added and a subscription to the Lubbock Avalanche Journal.

Also, the library has recently added a new service. If the library here doesn't have the book of your choice, the librarian will get it for you through the Inter Library Loan. In a matter of just a few days she will have it here from the Lubbock City-County Library or the Texas State Library.

The library is for YOU, so why not use it?

City's Future Is Topic For Rotary Club Meet

"Quo Vadis Slaton?" was the topic for the Slaton Rotary Club when Bob Mills, Pioneer Natural Gas Co. official from Amarillo, appeared as guest speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting last Thursday at the Clubhouse.

"Where Are You Going, Slaton?" was the translation given for the talk by Mills, director of public relations for the gas company. The speaker said the difference in a "live" town or a dead one was "people with ideas working together for the betterment of a community."

The local Chamber of Commerce serves as a perfect vehicle for getting people together for this work, Mills added. "All of us have to put something back for what we take out," he reminded in quoting an old adage. "Too many citizens treat the Chamber like they do their church," he emphasized. "They hire a preacher and sit back to watch him do all the work."

Mills outlined some factors on industrial development in a community, stressing the importance of keeping an industrial contact team up to date and ready to confer with prospective firms.

The speaker reminded that the search for new industry is a longrange project and involves all facets of the community. Citizens must be ready to approve needed improvements in a town. "And, most of the time," he added, "voters will support a project if they are informed."

Mills also threw in a touch of Americanism in his talk, urging the club to consider the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" at its meetings instead of "America," which is sung to the tune of Great Britain's national anthem.

Several visiting Rotarians from Lubbock were introduced at the meeting, along with local guests.

Mills also met with Chamber officials later in the afternoon to discuss the local industrial development program.

Mothers' March Against Birth Defects Sunday

The Mothers' March--the annual doorbell-ringing campaign to raise money for the March of Dimes--will take place in Slaton Sunday afternoon.

Slaton Home Demonstration Club is providing women volunteers to make the "march," according to MOD chairman Carroll McDonald. The Slaton Lions Club will also have some members joining in the march to help cover the town.

Mrs. O.D. Wendel and Mrs. Wilfred Kitten are co-chairmen for the HD club in sponsoring the Mothers' March. The Lions Club team is composed of Bob Kern, Jim Newhouse, Tommy Davis and Joe Miles.

The march is scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. with all volunteer workers meeting at the Reddy Room of the SWPS building.

During the 10 years that the March of Dimes has turned its efforts toward the treatment and prevention of birth defects, science has made significant progress.

Rh blood disease, once an infant killer, can now be prevented by a newly-developed vaccine. A vaccine should also be available soon to prevent German measles, which is a major cause of birth defects.

Other projects planned during the January MOD campaign include a benefit dance at Tiger Town, a roadblock by the Future Homemakers of America chapter, and a benefit dance sponsored by the GL Forum.

The real work is only beginning in the fight against birth defects, remind the Slaton HD officials, who point out that the campaign "must be vigorously supported by each of us--through volunteer time and generous contributions."

L & V Ceramics Opens In Slaton

Working with ceramics is said to be "the world's most fascinating hobby". If you have any doubts, you are invited to attend the formal opening of L & V Ceramics, 205 W. Garza, and receive free lessons the day of your choice.

Mrs. Oscar Lee Clark and Mrs. J. M. Breland have opened the new business in Slaton and are eager to show and tell anyone interested about the hobby they are offering for Slaton and area women. Night lessons are also being offered from 7 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Mrs. Breland took a course in ceramics in Fresno, Calif.

in 1942 and after she and Mrs. Clark attended a course at Pot's Ceramics in San Angelo recently, she found the techniques have changed over the years. They became so fascinated with the new techniques that they decided to put in a ceramics shop here and strive to keep prices low enough so anyone could make it a hobby.

They extend an invitation to anyone who would like to spend 30 minutes to an hour at the L & V Ceramics learning all the techniques. Patrons may leave the article they are working on at the shop or take them home. They furnish the underglazes (colors) and the stains with the price of the greenware purchased at the shop. They offer a large stock of greenware, all colors in underglazes, stains, glazes, crystal stones, mats and satin tones, speckle tones, wood tones, art glazes, two kilns and tables to work on.

Mmes. Breland and Clark are wives of Santa Fe Railroad employees. They know what it is for their husbands to be out of town overnight and sometimes days at a time. That was one reason for forming the new business.

In opening C & V Ceramics they have hopes that there are enough women interested in ceramics in this area to make their new venture worthwhile.

If you are a woman who has a little spare time and finds it self rewarding to do things for others, you just might consider being a member of the Mercy Hospital Auxiliary.

The auxiliary was organized over two years ago and has accomplished many things since then. Two of the main projects of the organization have been to organize the Candy Strippers, a group of high school girls who give their free time working at Mercy Hospital. The other project is a long range one--purchasing an X-ray machine for the hospital.

If you are at all interested in becoming a member, whether active or inactive, you are invited to a "Membership Tea" on Feb. 2 from 3:30 to 4:30 in Mercy Hospital dining room.

The organization now has 33 "so-called" active members who pay $2.00 dues per year. About 15 of these women actually donate an hour a week at the hospital or at home in behalf of the auxiliary and it needs more women who are willing to give an hour a week.

There are eight associate members, one contributing and two life members now in the auxiliary.

During 1968 the auxiliary (including donations from other organizations and individuals) raised $2,122, to be used on payment for the X-ray machine. The auxiliary held a Harvest Dance, rummage sale and had a booth at the Spring Festival to raise the money.

The organization also has a gift shop at the hospital, rent televisions to patients and operate a coffee bar. It also hosted a tea and capping ceremony for the Candy Strippers and a tea for Slaton's two new doctors.

It was almost Christmas time, 1967, when a family was involved in an automobile accident near Slaton. The family was rushed to Mercy Hospital and doctors found the parents to be injured and that the children could be released.

Sister Mary Robyn at Mercy Hospital immediately thought of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Huser, and they came to the aid of this family who was a long way from home. They took the children into their home and kept them until their parents were dismissed from the hospital days later.

The Husers received the following note from Mr. and Mrs. Dave Murray of San Rafael, Calif. along with a Christmas greeting card.

"We were unable to do anything about Christmas last year so, we would like to take time this holiday season to thank you again for your help in our time of need. It was certainly appreciated and will be remembered.

It has never been our experience to come across a town more friendly and helpful. This is indeed a rare spirit in today's world and something to be very proud of."

Let's hope this spirit continues on and on in "Our Kind of Town".

Senior Citizens Meet Friday

With a number of members absent, including the president and vice-president, the dishwasher and the minister who was to give the devotional, 18 members of the Senior Citizens Club met last Friday for their regular weekly meeting and lunch.

NEWCOMERS

Well, the Winston Lesters got moved in yesterday. Oras Winston said, they got things piled in the house. Their moving van was hours late getting here, so it took them into the night to get things moved into their house. Once again, welcome back to our community.

Slaton S&L Observing 10th Anniversary He

Slaton Savings & Loan Association is celebrating its 10th birthday, and the financial institution is healthy and growing, according to reports issued this week by B.B. Castleberry, executive vice president.

The Association has paid $1,715,565 in dividends to depositors since opening for business Dec. 2, 1958, and directors can feel justifiably proud in knowing that much of this money has been placed back into the economy of Slaton and the trade area.

The savings and loan institution showed assets of $6,868,031 at the close of business Dec. 31, 1968. Its growth has been healthy and steady since the first report on Dec. 31, 1958 when assets totalled $329,399.

The Association was chartered with $100,000 capital and $25,000 surplus. Slaton S&L is a stock association with some 50 stockholders.

The Association held an open house in April of 1965, after extensive interior and exterior decorating and remodeling. The big, white building is now a prominent landmark on the north side of the square.

"We feel that we have had an important part in the growth and progress of our community," Castleberry stated. "The directors of Slaton Savings & Loan have worked very hard in building a sound and strong lending institution, and will continue to build on sound and conservative policies to the best interests of our depositors and stockholders."

Officers of the Association include Clark Self Sr., president; B.B. Castleberry, executive vice president; Hoffman, vice president; Larry; Joe S. Walker, juror.

Other directors are: Edwards Jr., Ash M.J. Nowlin. The office employs

Three members of the Slaton club are on the district cabinet. They include Hack Lasater, O. G. Nieman and Arvin Stafford.

Bob Kern was recognized as a new member and presented with a Lion's lapel pin at the Tuesday meeting. Guests at the meeting were Don Kendrick and C. L. Newcombe.

Highway Job Is Awarded

AUSTIN -- A contract for highway construction in the Lubbock district has been awarded by the Texas Highway Commission.

The work will be under the supervision of District Engineer O. L. Crain, and will be in Lubbock County.

Austin Bridge Company of Dallas was awarded a contract for grading, structures, flexible base, two-course surface treatment, grade separations and hot mix asphaltic concrete pavement on sections of Loop 289 and US Highways 62 and 82. Low bid was $2,223,349.18.

The project is located from northwest of US 62 and 82 and Loop 289 interchange to south of Farm to Market Road 40 and from southwest of the US 62 and 82 interchange to northeast of the US 62 and 82 and Loop 289 interchange.

Elmer Y. Wright of Lubbock is the Highway Department engineer in charge of the project, which will take an estimated 350 working days.

Police Report 'Quiet' Week

Things were relatively "quiet" on the local police scene the past week. Slaton police reported 19 jail arrests and issued 10 citations.

Police arrested one woman for carrying a prohibitive weapon. Charged in county court was Limme Jefferson, 42, of Post.

A burglary was under investigation here after a break-in was reported at Willie's Pool Hall last week. About $50 in quarters was reported missing from the juke box and pool tables.

One accident was reported Monday morning. Vehicles driven by Teresa Gatica and Joe Warnecke, Amarillo, collided in the 700 block of W. Garza. Total damage to both cars was estimated at about $300.

In county court-at-law last week, Julio L. Rodriguez, 24, of Slaton was fined $25 for driving while license suspended, and Carson White, 32, was assessed a probated jail term and fined $75 on a IQW charge.

Memo from Mac

R. B. (MAC) MCALISTER State Rep., Dist. 76, Place 3

The Wheels of Government turn slowly in a country of freedom. This is being brought home vividly to me as a rookie legislator. Our first two days found most of us "getting organized" in our offices and staff. Each one of us gets one full time secretary, and another half time secretary. This means there are six of us (two legislators share the same office in most instances) officing in a 12 by 15 office. Steps are being taken to create more space by the 62nd session.

Predictions are, it will be another ten days before committee assignments are announced. We are all eager to know since we are being given so much proposed legislation to study, it will be necessary for us to sift out the legislation which is referred to our specific committees. All students who do homework can well sympathize with us. I haven't read so much and studied so intensely since I had seventh grade arithmetic. Most of us feel it is unfortunate that the "school consolidation" was brought into the Governors report. There is much good in the report, but almost all of the mail and editorial comment is related to the school consolidation issue.

If you are against it, "keep those cards and letters coming." They are getting the job done. When you are in Austin, you will find me in Seat 25 in the House, in office 404-D, and when you have an urgent matter telephone (512) 475-3363.

Finally, I have found one item that beats the Seniority System. Due to my game leg I landed Car space no. 144 right by the north door. Seriously I believe the greatest impression this job has made on me so far is from the tremendous efficiency and sincere courtesy of the staff people in the Capitol. They make a tough task seem easy, and most important, pleasant.

ITEM: Furniture arrangement is a matter of properly coordinating furnishings with family activities and the floor space for each room.

Tigerettes Go For 20th Win

The Slaton Tigerettes will be shooting for their 20th triumph of the season when they go to Idalou for varsity and "B" games Friday night.

Orange Eye Open Saturday

Slaton's teenage coffee house, The Orange Eye, will be open this Saturday evening from 7:30 to 11:00 P.M. It is located at 705 South 9th.

The evening will again feature folk singing groups from the South Plains area and a person to fill the now-familiar "hot seat".

Hot Seat speaker for this time will be Professor Joe Gottlieb of Texas Tech. He is a professor in the department of psychology at Tech, and it is reported, is an excellent speaker on a variety of subjects. His topic is to be "How many miles per gallon," and he explained it has nothing to do with automobiles.

Usually, the hot seat speaker presents some fairly controversial subject and presents his side of it. Then, the young people in attendance are given the opportunity to ask questions or make statements, or just to react generally to what has been said. It is said to usually provide a very active encounter.

The local coffee house is sponsored by the youth of First Christian Church of Slaton.

The Tigerettes scored a 68-51 victory over Post here Tuesday night to chalk up their 19th win against only 4 defeats. The girls have adopted a slogan, "4 and No More", referring to a goal of winning the rest of the games.

Marilyn Davis took scoring honors against Post, putting 33 points through the nets. Sophomore Marilyn Meeks hit for 19, and Linda Johnson had 16. The Tigerettes played without the services of senior Jackie Clark, out with a broken toe.

Sharon Windham was high for Post with 16, followed by Karon Windham and Sherry Bird with 14 each.

The Slaton girls whipped Stanton here last Friday, 66-26. Davis scored 29 points; Meeks had 21 and Johnson 14 as the Tigerettes raced to the one-sided triumph over the 5-AA team. Doris Howard hit 17 for Stanton.

The Tigerettes have two more non-district games next week before starting conference play. Slaton goes to Stanton Tuesday and plays Frenship here Jan. 31. League play starts Feb. 4 at Muleshoe.

Tigers Seeking First Loop Win, Play Wildcats

After losing their first two 3-AAA outings, the Slaton Tigers will be seeking to chalk up a victory when they host the Littlefield Wildcats Friday night.

Junior varsity teams will play at 6:15 p.m., and the varsity games will follow.

Slaton travelled to Levelland last Friday and lost a close 71-65 decision to the Lobos. Richard Washington took scoring honors with 23 for Slaton. Two Levelland cagers hit 21 each to spark the home team--Mike Dukes and Charles Flowers.

Levelland also won the "B" game, taking an easy 52-29 decision.

The Tigers have a 6-14 won-lost record on the season and 0-2 in District 3-AAA, north zone. After playing Littlefield here tomorrow night, the Tigers go to Dunbar next Tuesday.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

SALES POLICIES ONE OF FIRST PROBLEMS FACING NEW AG SECRETARY

COMMODITY Credit Corporation sales policies that involve the marketing of cotton is a problem we have with us for along and one of the first problems that will face incoming Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hansen.

Johnston, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., who says PGC will be in touch with the new Secretary of Agriculture in the latter office January 20, reference was made to numerous references and policies have been made and mills to buy from CCC stocks rather than from producers.

When this situation exists, "the current crop cotton will be turned into the government and government costs are incurred and producers are denied a market for current crop cotton."

Johnston doesn't blame CCC for the frustration producers experienced to date in their efforts to market 1968-crop cotton, he says, "mills operators are going to need to deal more of this year's crop than has been sold so far, CCC sales policies that will be announced early this year will have much to do with determining whether the cotton will be sold from producers or CCC."

Johnston pointed out that there were 6.3 million bales of cotton in the carryover at the beginning of this year and that the total export consumption for the year is estimated at 5.7 million bales. This means and the trade will need to acquire a minimum of 5.7 million bales from this year's crop to carry them to market, when CCC will take any cotton unredeemed from the loan.

Johnston says that cotton will have to be bought by producers, either directly from the form of producer loans, or indirectly from CCC stocks.

CCC will not have the cotton to sell until after August 1 this year.

"But," he continues, "how much cotton can be sold between now and August 1 above this 5.7 million bales will be determined largely by the CCC sales policies that should be announced early this year by Secretary Hardin.

"And we will be urging the Secretary to announce CCC resale policies that will give a clear-cut advantage to purchases made from producers before the government takes title to cotton placed in the loan, either this year or in future years."

Any other course of action by the Secretary, Johnson said, will force a considerable amount of each year's crop to remain in the government loan. "And this would be inexcusable, particularly this year when consumption is expected to exceed production by more than a million bales."

As an example of how CCC sales policies can affect sale of current crop cotton, Johnson pointed to 1966 when production of the shorter staples fell about 1 million bales below consumption, yet CCC sold 1.8 million bales of such cotton, depriving producers of a possible market for some 800,000 bales.

In September of 1967, at the insistence of PGC, CCC revised its policy to provide for the sale of CCC cotton at "the current market price, but not less than 120 points (1.2 cents) per pound above the loan rate for such cotton at the time of delivery."

This 120 point spread between loan prices and CCC's resale prices went far to correct the situation and is thought to have added at least $1 million to producer income from the 1967 crop on the Plains.

Johnston said PGC will ask the new Secretary to either continue a policy similar to that adopted in 1967 or to devise some other mechanism which will assure that needed cotton will come first from current production and from CCC stocks only as the current crop falls short of filling market requirements.

"We recognize the need for a reasonable reserve of cotton to assure a continuous supply of all qualities to the market," Johnson concluded, "but it should be made clear to all concerned that there will be no economical advantage to buying from the CCC catalog over buying current crop cotton from producers."

"And this is a point that should also be kept firmly in mind when future legislation is written."

With the 1968 cotton crop on the High Plains for all intents and purposes "in the barn," Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has issued its final computer compiled report on crop quality for the year.

Based on a total of 61,832 samples out of classing just under 1,470,000 bales, the PGC analysis shows an improvement in staple length that can only be described as spectacular, a significant increase in fiber strength (pressley), and a slight gain in micronaire, or fiber maturity.

Grade and color of the year's crop however, thanks to a series of wet weather in the middle of the harvest season, was not so good as in 1967.

The report calls attention to the following points:

1. Staple length of the crop averaged 32.3 thirty-seconds of an inch with 67.7 per cent stapling an inch or longer. Average length for 1967 was only 31.6 thirty-seconds, with just over 59 per cent pulling an inch or more.
2. Pressley for the 1968 crop averaged 82,400 pounds per square inch and 90.2 per cent tested 75,000 pounds or above. The same figures, respectively, for the 1967 crop were 79,100 pounds and 67.1 per cent.
3. Micronaire readings averaged 3.4, up from last year's 3.3, with 36.4 per cent equal to or above the "tenderable limit" of 3.5. Last year's report showed 35.5 per cent in this latter category.
4. White cotton for the season accounted for 38.1 per cent of the crop with only 5.9 per cent grading Middling White and above. This compares with 40.8 per cent and 14.1 per cent, respectively, from the 1967 crop.
5. In the Light Spot class this year came 47.5 per cent of gings with 17.5 per cent going Middling Light Spot or above. Light Spots last year came to 46.4 per cent, and 32.5 per cent was Middling Light Spot or above.
6. The remaining 14.4 per cent of the harvest in 1968 was made up of Full Spot, Tinged, Light Gray and Gray grades, as compared to only 12.8 per cent that fell to these lower grades in 1967.

The PGC quality report, widely used and accepted by textile mills and others as the most complete and accurate analysis of each year's crop from the High Plains, cross-classes grade with staple, staple with micronaire, grade with micronaire, and micronaire with fiber strength.

It also contains a chart on fiber elongation frequency and one which correlates fiber strength and elongation, information not available to spinners and buyers from any other source.

PGC receives the results from Smith-Doxey classing on one sample from each sack delivered by gins to classing offices at Lamesa, Brownfield and Lubbock. For Pressley and elongation figures PGC gets from the classing offices "pressley plugs," which are tested for strength and elongation by the Textile Research Center at Texas Tech.

Analysis of the data is accomplished through the Computer Center at Texas Tech and a printed report is sent to members of the cotton trade, textile mills, researchers, seed breeders and others.

At the end of the season a county-by-county summary, plus complete figures on acreage, production and yields, is put together and distributed to interested parties.

SOIL RESIDUE AND CLODDINESS are two significant factors in helping reduce wind erosion and sandstorms, according to W.Y. Reece of the Soil Conservation Service. Dust storms can't be eliminated, but good soil practices can help reduce them, says the SCS.

Farmers Can Help Cut Wind Erosion, Dusters

What are the possibilities of "Dust Storms" occurring in the Lubbock County Soil and Water Conservation District and the surrounding area next spring? W.Y. Reece of the Soil Conservation Service stated that, according to the past 43 year record, from 1917 to 1960, there is an average of 32 dust storms per year.

About 67% of these occur during the months of February, March, April and May. This is the time of year when we are most likely to have the least amount of residue on the land. While it is not likely that sandstorms can be completely eliminated, there are ways that wind erosion can be reduced.

Two things have a significant effect on reducing wind erosion. These are the cloddiness of the soil and the amount of residue left on the soil surface. Soil cloddiness is, at best, a temporary measure since clods are soon broken down by weathering or by tillage operations. Rain dissolves these clods into small particles which are just right to blow with the least amount of wind. Clods are also broken down by tractors and equipment by pulverizing the soil.

Some people seem to think a clean field is an indication of a good farmer. The only way such a farmer can fight wind erosion is by some emergency tillage operation, such as listing. This operation must be done when the soil is moist enough to bring cloddy material to the surface; on loose dry soil, these operations can do more harm than good.

The second thing that can be done to assist in controlling wind erosion is the leaving of crop residue on the soil surface. This has proven to be the most lasting, effective method of control. The organic matter on the soil surface serves as a protection against soil movement in any form. The greater amount of residue on the soil surface, the greater the protection.

The minimum amount of residue on the soil surface, as shown by research and experience, needs to be about 1000 pounds per acre on the heavier soils and up to 2500 pounds per acre on the sandy soils. The residue should be left on the soil surface until the land is prepared for pre-plant irrigation or until about April 1 on dry land.

There are several benefits derived from the proper handling of crop residue in addition to reducing wind erosion. Stalks or other residue absorb much of the rindrop impact energy, thus reducing the detachment of soil particles. Water erosion is reduced by less water running off the land. More moisture is absorbed into the soil, thus making additional moisture available for the next crop.

Stalks also help hold snow in place and prevent it from drifting to fences and roads. Residue assists in shading the soil surface, thus keeping the soil cooler and reducing losses due to evaporation.

The proper management of crop residue does not require expensive or special equipment. The small sweep and chisel type plow is one of several tillage implements that do a satisfactory job. Run the small sweeps 4 to 5 inches deep the first operation following harvest; the old plant stubble is not disturbed to any great degree, except to cut it loose to stop water loss.

All the following operations are done in such a manner as to leave as much of the residue on the soil surface as possible. Proper crop residue management will have a marked influence on lessening the amount of dust and sand that gets into the homes and business firms of Lubbock and the surrounding area.

LETTERS to EDITOR

On the controversial issue of "THE ORANGE EYE", Slaton's teenage coffee house, let a note speak out.

This coffee house came about as part of a plan by some young people and some friends. They planned this as a place for the kids to go so that they would be able to stay off the streets. It is a place where the kids can go and air their thoughts without being afraid that they will be called down for it. This plan took many months of hard work and sweat on the part of these people. They devoted many hours to the planning and to the designs that went into this coffee house. There are other such establishments in a lot of our towns and most of them are church sponsored, like this one.

The fact that some parents have not understood what is really happening at this coffee house surprises me because there have been young people in this coffee house who haven't been to church in years, but they come here, even though it is church sponsored, because they feel that here they are able to be themselves and they can join with the others in relaxing entertainment and stimulating talks. The mood is perfect for those kind of participation by our young people. The color and the music suit the young people and the times. However, there is a real irony in the fact that some speakers have come to speak at the coffee house and that they have, by a few, been misquoted and misunderstood to the point that people need to stop and realize that the point of a coffee house is not to bring in some soft-spoken person and let him tell the young people all the things they have heard all their lives. The real purpose of a coffee house is to challenge their thinking, not to incite a riot against adults and authority, but to make them realize that these are the problems that they will have to face and that cannot go ignored. The parents are not all at fault. Some of the young people who went to the coffee house were not mature enough to tell their parents what really went on and just told them any old thing and their parents believed them. But on the other hand, some of us parents are not open-minded enough to realize that this is the first opportunity the young people of Slaton have had to express their feelings among their own friends. Jesus taught that a man is not made unclean by what touches him or by the food he eats. Rather he is made unclean by what he thinks and by his words and deeds. There were fault-finders in Jesus' day. They misunderstood his motives, in doing so they showed their lack of understanding. The same thing can happen to us today for committing ourselves to a Christian enterprise. There are eye brows raised, motives are sought for selfish behaviour, an well meaning people are criticized for things that are simply not true. Yet they were brave enough to venture into what seems to be totally unknown to a lot of people of the changing of times, and the brink of reality our children are all going to be faced with soon or later.

I challenge any one who thinks they have a complaint on the sincerity of the Coffee House to sit through any session on a Saturday night and witness for your self. Who knows you might release some of your frustrations and fears. I wonder if some one would even open a Coffee House on the adult level, where we could go in our old clothes, maybe leave our hair piece at home, have hot coffee, a good pizza to eat, and discuss, argue and talk out all of our anxieties in one night.

Mrs. J.W. Pettigrew
Dear Sir: I read in our local newspaper recently the Slaton school board's decision regarding the Junior Reserve Officer Training Program.

I was impressed and pleased for two reasons. First, it was to the credit of the school board that they honestly considered and studied this program. I had a part in contacting area schools about this program and know that in many instances the school administrators simply dismissed the idea without even really investigating.

Secondly, I feel the program has real merit and will be a credit and an aid to your school. I attended three high schools that had Junior ROTC programs during my high school days and recall all three programs as being a credit to their respective schools.

Slaton should feel pride at being the first area school to adopt the Junior Reserve Officer's Training Program.

Sincerely,
Thomas M. Cannon, Jr.
Lubbock, Texas

Dear Speedy and Lavon: Just a note to let you know that Charles and Peggy Baldwin and Peggy and I thoroughly enjoyed the evening with you and the good people from Slaton. Coming home, we all agreed that we could not remember going anywhere away from Lamesa that the people made us feel any more welcome than all of you did. Could have been that we were sitting in a bunch of outstanding people in your community (seemed that everyone that was incoming brass was seated across from us), but we were impressed. Peg, mine, that is, found that these same people were old Texas Tech classmates, so this, too, made the evening more pleasant. The Davises, the Balls, and others made us feel real good.

Lavon, please accept our apologies in not getting up to see yours and Speedy's new home. We are proud of it for you, and it could not happen to finer people than you. If you ever need a home, remember that all of us over at Lamesa love you. -- Too, remember the Golden Tornado Jubilee July 4th in 1970. Constable White and his deputies say its imperative you be there. Good luck, keep up the good work, keep your noses clean, and as Jarvis tells me, use them a little.

Former Teacher Here Dies In California

Mrs. Neva Burns received word this week of the death of Mrs. Maurice Hardesty Martin, about 70, who died Jan. 1 as a result of pneumonia following Hong Kong flu. She had been ill about 10 days.

Mrs. Martin, a former art teacher here in East Ward School, had been teaching art in a Baptist College in Riverside, Calif. for the past 13 years. She was the step-mother of Mrs. Burns' niece, Mrs. J.D. Boyd of California.

Funeral services were read Jan. 7 in Riverside.

Mexico Circle Meets Monday

The Mexico Circle of the W.S.C.S. of the United Methodist Church met Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. C.L. Heaton.

Mrs. L. A. Harral, circle chairman, introduced Mrs. Carroll McDonald who gave a progress report of the day nursery project.

Mrs. Ray Farley, program leader, gave a program entitled "Encounter Extra-Ordinary". Those assisting her were Mmes. Nan Tudor and H.V. Wheeler.

Others attending were Mmes. S.H. Jaynes, J.D. Holt and W.S. McWilliams.

A 1,000 pound steer gives only about 465 pounds of meat to be sold at retail.

It is estimated there will be 75 million Americans who are 65 or older by 1970.

Doing Right

"I delight to do thy will, O my God; thy law is within my heart."
— Psalms 40:8

It is not easy always to obey the Commandments of God. We can sometimes do so only when we turn aside from personal interests, from subtle prejudices, from clever temptations.

Obedience to the will of God, however, need not be complicated. In any given situation, at any given time, we need only listen to the voice of conscience.

God's will is that we do that which is right and just... at all times.

A farmer who was plowing in a field with a mule shouted, "Giddap, Petel Giddap, Joel Giddap, Sall Giddap, Suel!"
A stranger overheard the farmer and asked him: "How many names does that mule have?"
"Just one," said the farmer. "His name is Pete. But he doesn't know his own strength, so I put blinders on the rascal and yell a lot of names and he thinks other mules are helping him."

STATE Capital NEWS

AUSTIN--A sweeping plan to provide Texas with water for the next 50 years was unveiled by the Texas Water Development Board, architects of the Texas Water Plan, in Austin recently.

The plan, described by Howard B. Boswell, executive director of the board, as "a flexible guide for the development, conservation, management and use of the State's water resources to the year 2020 and beyond," calls for the importation of surplus water from the lower Mississippi River into Texas to augment the State's water resources.

"There is simply not enough water within the borders of Texas to provide the water our growing cities, our expanding industry, and our thriving irrigated agriculture will need beyond the end of this century," Boswell said. The State will pass from water surplus to water shortage in the 1990-2000 decade, he added.

The Texas Water Plan provides for 67 proposed or potential dams and reservoirs, having a total storage capacity of 52,123,900 million acre-feet of water (an acre-foot is 325,851 gallons and will cover an acre of land with 12 inches of water), transmission canals and pipelines, pumping stations and power facilities for the movement of 16 million to 17 million acre-feet of intrastate and interstate water annually to water-deficient areas in Texas and New Mexico to serve municipal, industrial, agricultural, and other beneficial requirements. The estimated cost of the Plan, in today's dollars, is $10 billion (B).

The Water Development Board, in its search for water for import into Texas, investigated the possibilities of securing water from the Columbia and Missouri rivers, the Canadian Northwest, Alaska, and the Mississippi River. The Columbia and Missouri rivers are not now considered as possible sources of surplus water. The most likely and earliest source appears to be surplus water from the lower Mississippi River. The board, however, is actively interested in the future possibilities of water being brought into Texas and other southwestern and western states from Canada and Alaska.

The major difference between the plan presented in Austin and the preliminary Texas Water Plan presented in mid-1966, Boswell said, is that the Texas Water Plan "serves more people" than did the preliminary Texas Water Plan.

The key to the Texas Water Plan is the Texas Water System, a complex of dams and reservoirs, pipelines and canals, pumping stations and power facilities necessary to manage an imported water supply and the water resources of Texas basins with an interim or long-range surplus to meet intra-basin needs and to make surplus waters available for movement to areas of deficiency in Texas. Three divisions--Trans-Texas, Coastal, and Eastern--form the System. The Trans-Texas Division will supply all municipal, industrial, and irrigation requirements in the northeast Texas basins, the Dallas-Fort Worth area and west to meet the water needs of North Central Texas, the High Plains, the Trans-Pecos area, El Paso, and eastern New Mexico. Municipal requirements will receive 600,000 acre-feet of water annually, irrigation 7,584,000 acre-feet, and New Mexico will receive 1,500,000 acre-feet of imported water.

Movement of water through the Trans-Texas Canal will begin in the upper Sulphur River Basin in East Texas and end at terminal storage reservoirs at the Caprock Reservoir and the Bull Lake complex near Lubbock on the southern High Plains. Water will be lifted approximately 2,700 feet through the Canal from Cooper Reservoir in the Sulphur River Basin to Caprock Reservoir, a distance of almost 500 miles.

Southwest of Wichita Falls, a pipeline can divert water from the Canal to supply 95,000 acre-feet of water annually for Abilene, Sweetwater, Snyder, San Angelo, and Colorado City as it is needed and if these cities elect to contract for delivery of the water. Diversions from the Canal will also be made to supply irrigation in North Central Texas if contracting entities are formed.

Water will be moved through storage on the High Plains to supply 1.5 million acre-feet of water from the Mississippi River annually to eastern New Mexico from Bull Lake Reservoir. Water will be moved south from storage in Caprock and Bull Lake reservoirs by canal to supply 505,000 acre-feet of water annually for municipal use in the Lubbock, Midland-Odessa, Big Spring, and Pecos areas, and by pipeline from Pecos to El Paso, and 933,000 acre-feet annually for irrigation in the Trans-Pecos area.

Additional water in the El Paso and Pecos County enlargement of the System. Planning for the year 2020 and beyond.
