Qualifying Trials For Indianapolis Races End Friday

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28. (AP)—Qualifying trials for the 500-mile automobile race to be run here Friday end at 7:05 o'clock this evening. Assured starters—unless they hit one of the walls during the few remaining hours left for practice—include two men from Italy, Bacon Borzacchini and Letterio Cuccinotta. The former put a 16-cylinder job over the course yesterday at 96.213 miles an hour. Cuccinotta's average in an eight cylinder car was 91.584 miles an hour.

The remainder of the field is American, or comprised of drivers now living in this country. In the list are Peter Depaolo, Billy Arbold, William (Shorty) Cantlon, Louis Meyer, present American racing champion, and a host of dirt track boards making their first bid for speedway glory.

Removal of the limit of 91 1/2 cubic inches piston displacement of motors this year has resulted in a varied field. The two largest motors in the race cars are straight eights, having 322 inch piston displacement.

Johnny Seymour of Escanaba, Mich., has the smallest motor—91 1/2 cubic inches piston displacement—the same size as was used in major racing events in America in 1926, 1927, 1928 and 1929. Others range from 101 up to 322 cubic inches.

Added weight of the new cars has given the speed boys some worry over their tires. The grating on the rubber in the turns, they anticipate, will cause more tire changes and accident hazard than in several years.

FIVE TEXAS TEAMS IN BATTLE

By GAYLE TALBOT, JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

A peccol of the Texas league standing today revealed that five clubs were staging about as spectacular a race for the pinnae as that grand old circuit has witnessed in many a year. The Fort Worth felines, victorious in nine of their last ten bouts, still were in the second division, but they were only four and one-half games behind the pace-setting Wichita Falls nine.

If the present merry scramble between Wichita, Houston, Beaumont, Shreveport and Fort Worth continues a little longer, there appears slight chance of the league being split July 4, even if it would mean money in the league treasury to put Dallas back in the race. It will require a vote of six of the eight clubs to divide the program.

Sports Win

Yesterday's results served further to condense things around the top. Dropping their final to Shreveport, 5 to 3, after having won four straight, the Spudgers were only one jump ahead of the Houston Buffs, who captured their opener with Waco, 9 to 6. Beaumont, by knocking the San Antonio Indians over twice, 6 to 1 and 3 to 0, climbed to within two games of the lead.

Parker Perry, Sport centerfielder, stopped the mad career of the Spudgers almost singlehanded when he caught one of Hal Wiltsa's slants to his liking in the seventh and whammed it far, far away. Three teammates trotted in ahead of him. It was a coincidence that four of the five games of the series were decided by home runs.

Eckhardt Hitter Oscar Eckhardt, the league's leading batter, did some pretty fair country hitting in the course of the Exporters' double win. All the ex-Longhorn did to four San Antonio fingers was wallop eight hits in as many trips. Martin held the Indians to four hits in the first game and Denny Burns allowed five in the afterpiece.

Holmes' offerings in the seventh for three runs to lick the spavined Steers, 5 to 3, and make it four out of five for the series. Dick McCabe had the Herd well in hand except in the third, when Williamson parked one with Eggert on base. Bill Kelly, Cat first sacker, again assumed the lead in the homer race when he put one over the wire, in the fourth, his thirteenth.

"My wife was determined that I should try Argotane, so I bought a bottle and began taking it, and the results are I am actually feeling like a different person and better than I have felt in seven or eight years." This is what T. L. Fry, residing on rural route 12, San Angelo, Texas, says after using two bottles of the most famous stomach treatment ever formulated.

"I had suffered from indigestion and stomach trouble until my health was so shattered I was in a general run down condition. I had such sharp shooting pains through the small of my back that it was almost impossible to get a good night's rest."

"I was bothered a great deal with constipation and gas after eating, caused me no end of trouble. I was nervous and restless and fell out of sorts most of the time. No one knows how I did suffer and although I spent lots of money and tried everything I knew of nothing seemed to reach my case or do me any good."

"I kept falling off in weight but when I commenced to take Argotane especially after the second week, I gradually went to picking up in weight and strength and I have been doing so ever since. I can now eat what I want, as much of it as I please, with no bad feelings afterward. My backaches are broken up, I sleep like a log and simply feel like a different man."

Genuine Argotane may be bought in Big Spring at the Collins Bros. Drug Store.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By
Dr. S. Parkes Cadman

Questions from readers are answered daily by the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Radio Minister of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

Trenton, N. J.
Why should a God who has painted the reproductive instinct in us not provide proper means of expression? I personally would prefer to give this instinct its activity in lawful marriage rather than out of it, both for moral and esthetic reasons. But must I wait for an indefinite period—which may be very long, indeed—for the one girl to cross my path who will be intellectually alive and a mental companion? Is it not true that viewing marriage as the sequel of love is nothing more than a habit of mass thinking?

I suspect your letter was dictated by a mood of disenchantment. Its impatience with the course of events is more natural than helpful. The internal conflict it registers has brought you to the verge of a moral breakdown. Under such circumstances, when your bodily desires and spiritual ideals collide, the lower being will triumph over the higher unless you fight with all your might to maintain your manhood.

You say you want a wife who is intellectually alive and in every way competent as a companion of your mind. Very good. But do not forget that countless men of brains have been blessedly content with mates who were intellectually inferior to them, yet quite their equals in character. Beware of the merely mentally alert woman encased in frigid armor. The ideal you imagine and desire may be a kind of "Romola," but I seriously doubt her suitability for you.

Again, why blame God for the miscarriage of modern marriage? Man as He made him, untouched by our conventionalisms, had no difficulty in match making. African savages do very well at it, and until they were corrupted by the whites the Zulus knew nothing of spinsterhood, bachelorism, divorce or venereal diseases. It would seem from this as though the claim for thwarting the reproducing instinct is on us, not on the Deity.

Certainly you had better tarry for the woman ordained for you rather than take a leap into the dark. Stop fuming against life's laws and conditions. Recollect that under prescript circumstances you are not entitled to challenge all creation. Drop your antagonism to its arrangements. Put on a cheerful courage and never allow the sensual in you to coerce the rational or the idealistic. You need first to change your entire attitude and then win the woman you crave because you are worthy of her. At present that worthiness is not conspicuous in your letter.

Mass thinking on major issues is far more likely to be correct thinking than that of a somewhat soured observer.

Do you think one who regretfully admits a bad past should choose the medical profession as a career? Would such a profession unduly tempt the morals of such a person or would it have a tendency to strengthen his moral character? Kindly omit address.

If this man is uncertain of his self-control he should leave medicine as severely alone as the ministry. Abnormal eroticism is always a personal and a social handicap; but it becomes a positive menace in the medical calling. I recall the case of a graduate who took the highest honors in his finals, having majored in the diagnosis and treatment of mental diseases. He later discovered that insanity ran in his own family and thereupon wisely avoided further specializing in that field of his profession.

The individual mentioned in the question may belong to a different category, but he owes with regret that he has had a questionable past and wonders if his lingering taint weakens his powers of future resistance. Since the physician is entrusted with the honor as well as the health of households and admission to the intimacies of family life is essential to his practice, I do not think a man who has the slightest misgivings regarding his ability to subordinate his propensities to the high duties of the medical profession should become a physician.

Possibly experienced doctors may tell him that preparation for a medical career would serve to eradicate the tendency he fears, since in the course of his training he would encounter the morbid phenomena of the drastic penalties inflicted by Nature upon the licentious man, the repulsive aspects of which are not familiar to the laymen. They may urge that this experience will enable him to conquer his animalistic streak and to become that most serviceable of men, a good physician. Well, it might bring about that result and then again it might not. It seems to be a safer rule both for the man in question and for society that a candidate for the medical profession who has any doubts about his power of self-control over the habits indicated in the question should not become a practicing physician.

THE WATER BUCKET

Just as soon as our banion quits hurling we're courthouse bound to lodge a civil suit against our dentist. Open up the golden gates to justice, Mr. Judge, we're one the verge of galloping through the porch with a petition alleging mental anguish and sparking with legal terms that would astound the leading barrister. No dentist can make us this a 2 to 2 baseball game and get away with it. Second 3 to 2 game this year and we missed both of them. Our substitute reported gleefully that it was what the society editor would refer to as "perfectly wonderful," the galley boy, "plenty hot," the prize fighter as "Okay Casey," and he "gosh all hemlock!" Having said his say and added that it surely was, too bad, we had to be sitting in a dentist chair with our tonsils, if any, on display, we immediately dispatched him to the Dusty D. again in the hopes the score would be 33 to 44, four innings.

As we were elucidating yesterday, the Barbers are tougher than the toughest. As the little girl said to the equally little boy when she accidentally spelled the word, "I hate to go above you." The Barbers said something like that to Richeo yesterday eve. But whether they said it or whether they didn't, they're up there today, next door to the laundry, second rung of the ladder from the top, and Richeo is floundering around on the fourth step, just below Condens Refinery. We can remember when Richeo led this league.

It was Garcia versus Vicko yesterday afternoon, and may be the best man win. It marked the first appearance of each of the two hucklers on the city league mound this year. That's what we care the most about, pitching duels. The battle of the orbits, as it were. Two smart pitchers opposing each other furiously just about as much entertainment as a couple of smart quarterbacks. It is our prediction that Garcia will face Vicko many more times before this season is brought to a grand finale. That being the case we'll read out certain portions of our trousers sliding around the boards of the grand stand.

Another good fray is on tap this afternoon. Spike Herringer's Cosden Refinery lads and the Texas and Pacific Shops. Can't go to that game either on account of Lefty Fisher, the skipper of the Railroaders, giving us a dollar to hold for him the last time the Shops played, and us going away without going through the formality of handing the buck back to the original owner. Should we fail to see him tomorrow that will give us until June 1 to keep the dollar, inasmuch as the T&P doesn't play until then, and we can see Barber coming thru the office window should he attempt to catch us at our desk.

It looks very much as if Lois Madison and Carl Madison went long way toward placing the game of yesterday in the cooling coils for the Barbers. C. Madison got a bingle, and his chubby brother, slender Richeo left fielder, accepted six chances during the afternoon, some of them sending him all over that portion of the diamond.

Still seems to be some controversy as to just who is supposed to umpire the baseball battles. Looks like the only way to stop it is cut the wages to $1.50 a day, with a 10 per cent gross deduction for bad behavior.

Twice during this month our heart has been heavy with sympathy. We believe it was Addison that chirped, "A brother's suffering claims a brother's pity." The Brothers have been suffering—and how. Another is due. And we're getting pretty weary of this pity business. We got other things on tap besides pity. It was just a few weeks ago that one Prexy Anderson, the lippy haired sports editor of the Abilene Reporter-News, drifted but upon the turbulent matrimonial sea and started learning about cars. That put him in the same class with Henny Butler of the Cisco Daily News, Boyce House of the Ranger Times, and Blundy Cross of the San Angelo Standard-Times. Married and Married.

arrives again." So there goes Hodges—on a non-stop flight into the dark. That leaves us. There arises before our eyes a picture. In it we see the press at the Mineral Wells high school stadium. Reclining in the press box is The Water Bucket and by his warm side is Wes Hodges. The time is early last football season when The Buckies drifted over to the Water Hole and partook of a bit of football game with The Mountaineers. Hodges wasn't feeling very well on account of Chuck Bird setting Boone Magness on Boone Magness's ears about every second down. Hodges said something awfully defamatory about Bird. We knew he would live or great it. It won't be long now until Hodges knows what first class ear flopping really is. House, Butler, Cross, Anderson, and now Hodges—yes, the wedding bells are pealing potatoes.

Barbers Cop Battle As Vicke Wins Hurlers' Duel

GARCIA HAS NICE DAY ON HILL

Richco Nosed Out 3 To 2 In Sixth Frame

Out of the sunset that is supposed to close upon men after they have passed the forty-year mark, stepped Jess Vicke, veteran minor league campaigner and ace of the staff of hurlers of the Lamson team that went to the finals of the Denver Post tournament several years ago, to hold the slugging Richeo nine to four hits and two runs while his mates, the Barbers, were obtaining three off of the delivery of Garcia, brown-skinned speed specialist. The tally was 3 to 2, and the Barbers had the 3.

The winning run came in the sixth. Chapman singled and went to second when Woods missed the third strike. L. Madison swung at Hicks, slapping out a long single and Chapman came home with the winning tally.

Score in First Each team scored a brace of tallies in the first. C. Madison singled and scored when Lois Madison drove one up against the left field boards for a home run. Hicks and Glenn fled out to left field to retire the side. After Drake had struck out Clarke singled. Hoehn fled out to left field but Cook doubled to right center, scoring Clarke. Cook came home on Morton's safe blow to left field.

From then until the sixth it was a case of Vicke versus Garcia. The veteran aimed to grow stronger as the game proceeded, while Garcia was constantly in danger. Two men reached first for the Barbers in the second and third inning on Hutchins' single and a miscue by Morton, one of the pair made during the entire contest. Vicke retiring Richeo in order until the sixth when Clarke slammed out his second hit of the afternoon, a single to left field.

Two Whiff Away In the last half of the seventh, after Garcia had piled up his eighth, ninth, and tenth strikeouts of the day at the expense of Hutchins, Patton, and Vicke, the veteran Barber hurler seemed to be fading away when he walked Morton to start the inning. But Jess quickly rallied, and put a magnificent finish to the game by striking out Halley and Walker in succession. Woods went up to Chapman unassisted to terminate the day's play.

There were numerous bright spots in the day's fielding. Chapman at first saved his teammate, Hutchins, a pair of errors by reaching to unheard of heights after wild throws from third base. Walker, slender Richeo left fielder, accepted six chances during the afternoon, some of them sending him all over that portion of the diamond.

Four Hits Each Each hurler allowed four hits. Garcia held the edge in strikeouts, whiffing ten to Vicke's eight. Vicke was the only one of the pair to issue any free pass to first base and neither moundman committed any wild throws. Inability of Woods, Richeo receiver, to hold Garcia's heaves accounted for at least one of the Barber tallies. Four times the Richeo backstop was forced to throw men out at first after Garcia had slipped the third strike by them.

Clark and L. Madison hit the only extra base blows of the day, a double and a home run respectively. Clarke was the only man on either side to obtain more than a single safely. C. Madison, L. Madison, Hicks, and Hutchins knocked out the quartet of Barber hits with Clarke, Cook, and Morton receiving the same distinction for the losses.

Only two bobbles were committed by the Richeo outfit with the tonorial artists performing perfectly afield.

arrives again." So there goes Hodges—on a non-stop flight into the dark. That leaves us. There arises before our eyes a picture. In it we see the press at the Mineral Wells high school stadium. Reclining in the press box is The Water Bucket and by his warm side is Wes Hodges. The time is early last football season when The Buckies drifted over to the Water Hole and partook of a bit of football game with The Mountaineers. Hodges wasn't feeling very well on account of Chuck Bird setting Boone Magness on Boone Magness's ears about every second down. Hodges said something awfully defamatory about Bird. We knew he would live or great it. It won't be long now until Hodges knows what first class ear flopping really is. House, Butler, Cross, Anderson, and now Hodges—yes, the wedding bells are pealing potatoes.

RUTH HITS 6 HOMERS IN TWO DAYS TO RUSH AHEAD OF 1927 SCHEDULE

"Babe" Ruth earns some of the $800,000 the New York Yankees are paying him this year by slugging out six home runs in two days.

NEW YORK, May 23. (AP)—The lesser fellows before whom pitchers don't cower got the jump on the big "Bam" this year, but Ruth finally proved that a swing will tell. By slugging out six home runs in two days of an engagement the New York Yankees had with the Philadelphia Athletics, the big hitter found himself back at the top of the home run hitters in the American league. His hitting also put him on an even keel with Hack Wilson, the Chicago Cubs' compact load of dynamite. Ruth's mad hitting not only created a record for which he has strived for some years, but also put him ahead of his schedule in 1927, the year he drove out 60 homers. It was not until May 28 of that year that the big hitter got his twelfth homer. This year's was registered, May 22. The "Bam's" new record is the hitting of three homers in a single game during the regular season. Ruth had hit three twice in world series competition, but never before in a league game.

EXPECT LAVENDER AND WHITE TO BATTLE FOR TOURNNEY CHAMPIONSHIP

BROWNWOOD, Tex., May 23 (AP)—First flight matches in the annual West Texas golf tournament were in prospect today, with the probability of a final duel between Dennis Lavender of Stamford and J. Dixon White of Dublin for the 1930 championship. Several favorites fell by the wayside yesterday, including N. C. Bussey, defending champion, and K. D. Harrison, San Angelo, tournament medalist.

White survived the first two rounds, defeating Bob Scott of Colorado 2 and 1 in the first, then James Phillips, Ranger, youth, 5 and 4 in the second. Lavender defeated O. F. Wells of Fort Stockton 6 and 5 in the first round and H. E. Arvin of Brownwood 7 and 6 in the second.

ESCUTCHEON OF SLATTERY GETS "NO BOUT" BLOT

BOSTON, May 23. (AP)—The escutcheon of Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, recently crowned lightweight by the New York boxing commission, today contained the blot of a "no contest" decision. Slattery met Pete Latzo of Scranton, Pa., former welterweight title, in the Boston garden last night in a bout under the auspices of a Boston American Legion post. The dancing tactics of the New York commission's champion, plus Latzo's bobbing style, irritated the crowd of 4,600 from the start of the first round until referee Johnny Brasili halted the match at the end of the seventh.

Most of those at the ringside agreed that both boxers were trying, but all of the experts admitted their usual styles could provide nothing but a dull and tiresome contest.

Decision—

dom of conscience" in the matter of supporting party nominees "the law of land." Ferguson evidenced keen disappointment and said the court had construed the constitution as keeping from him the governmental forgiveness it could give to a criminal in the form of a pardon.

"I have made up my mind, but I shall reserve my decision at this time," Gov. Moody said when pressed for a statement definitely fixing his attitude toward a third term.

While no one's name could be used as authority for the observation, it was freely predicted that the Governor would make his formal announcement not later than Saturday, for release in Sunday papers, after his appearance before the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Abilene this week. It was said he preferred not to address the convention as candidate but as governor of Texas.

He said a statement given out by Speaker of House W. S. Barron of Bryan that Moody had told him (Barron) on the telephone that he would throw his hat "into the ring" and let the people of Texas kick it out if they care to do so was not entirely accurate.

"I might have said something about throwing my hat into the ring, but I did not remark about the people kicking it out," he said.

Elimination of former Gov. Ferguson from the primaries by the Supreme Court merely served to pave the way for the entrance of another former Gov. Ferguson, James E. Ferguson made way for his wife, Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor, who was defeated for a second term by Gov. Moody in 1926.

Retirement of Fred B. Robinson of Waco did not reduce the number of candidates, because Paul Lovan of New Braunfels, who said he was a cousin of United States Senator Morris Sheppard, stepped right in the field, holding the number of aspirants to 16.

However, little had been heard of the candidacies of Oscar F. Holcombe of Houston, Dr. C. E. Walker of Grapevine, E. G. Senter of Dallas, T. N. Mauritz of Ganada, Charlton Brown of Mineral Wells, F. G. Thompson of Sherman and Frank Putnam of Houston since their announcements.

Senter had offered to retire should former Lieut. Gov. Lynch Davidson of Houston become a candidate, and it seemed probable the East Texas lumberman would get in. In Austin Saturday he evaded the inquiry: "When will you announce your candidacy?" with the reply: "That's a hard question."

Davidson gave out a statement, however, deploring a reported conference between Gov. Moody, Senator Love, R. S. Sterling of Houston chairman, and Cone Johnson of Tyler, member of the highway commission, for the purpose of entering on an "administrational" candidate. He said if such a conference were held it was "plainly an attempt to hand-pick a governor, a job which the voter has always cherished as his own."

While speculation continued rife at Austin over plans of Gov. Moody, Love, Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller of Dallas, W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas, James Young of Kaufman, Senator C. C. Small of Wellington, former United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield of Austin, and Miss Katie Daffan of Ennis, the only woman aspirant, were actively filling speaking engagements. The Fergusons were expected to take the stump shortly.

"There is something responsible for this growth besides 'just happened so.' I think it is cooperation and enterprise working hand in hand. This great stretch between El Paso and Fort Worth should work hard in hand to develop this section more in the future than it has in the past."

Judge Gibbs, San Angelo, also was a guest. In a very short talk he declared: "I want to hire your Watson discussed plans for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, which opens at Abilene Thursday.

He told of the part Big Spring would have in the parade Saturday afternoon, and urged members of the club to attend the convention and participate in the activities.

According to Watson several unique features demanding assistance of residents will be given. He urged those planning to attend to report at the office of the commercial organization and receive paraphernalia to be used in the parade.

Colonel Will Fisher was a guest of the club, and in a short talk urged the club to back a movement for the construction of a new Howard county courthouse on the site of the Central Ward school, and dispose of the present location for business property. He expressed the opinion the property could be disposed of for enough to construct the new building.

Gasoline Burns In Refinery Fire

Fire Tuesday afternoon caused a damage of $3,000 at the Richardson Refining Corporation, East Bankhead Highway, when a tank containing about 250 barrels of gasoline was destroyed.

The blaze was caused by spontaneous combustion, according to a statement given by officials of the company.

Serious damage to the surrounding tanks and refinery was averted when employees of Coston Refinery and Richardson extinguished the blaze in 45 minutes.

A 1,800 barrel tank, located in the center of a number of similar sized tanks containing gasoline, was destroyed.

The loss was covered by insurance. No one was injured.
