Area Gets Rain

Welcome rainfall covered the Slaton area last Friday afternoon and evening, bringing smiles to the faces of farmers and businessmen and homeowners who've been battling yard work and gardening.

Tornado Shelter Help Requested

Slaton residents were reminded this week of the Chamber of Commerce program of designating emergency shelter areas. Any persons who have cellars, basements or some type of tornado shelter which could be used in emergencies by other persons are asked to allow these shelters to be so designated.

A call to the chamber office, 628-6238, will bring someone to paint an orange stripe on the curb.

The .50 measured by several rain gauges in Slaton was only the third measurable precipitation here this year. In January, .20 was measured, and a total of .05 was recorded in March. Friday's rain brought the total for the year here to .75.

Considerably more rainfall is needed in the area, but last Friday's moisture certainly helped, area observers agreed. At Wilson, .20 was recorded, along with heavy hail, but no damage was reported. Hail was reported as marble-size and slightly larger, and rainfall in some spots near Wilson was reported heavier.

Air Pollution Officials Get Wind Of Burning Being Done Here

Representatives of the air pollution section of the City-County Health Dept. informed the City of Slaton and Mayor Bland Tomlinson Tuesday of violations regarding deliberate burning of auto interiors in the city, a practice which it has approved so long as it has been in connection with the cleanup campaign.

Lee Orr, supervisor of the city-county agency, explained that it might be possible for the city to obtain temporary immunity from the law by petitioning the Texas Air Control Board and explaining the situation here regarding the beautification program.

ordinance prohibit open burning of any material for any purpose.

Orr explained that his agency is anxious and willing to cooperate with Slaton or any other communities in the county and appreciates contact from any citizen regarding any situation. "There are only three of us covering the entire county, and we naturally can't be aware of every situation."

He added that his group does and will continue to patrol the cities and county areas, assisting local officials in determining violations of the air control ordinances, and that the city-county agency's representatives have the authority to issue citations.

Slaton area voters will join a vast group of other Texans in going to the polls Saturday to cast ballots on a number of contested statewide races and some other interesting contests of a more local or area nature.

Republican voters in boxes 36, 37 and 38 will vote at West Ward school in Slaton. Democratic voters in box 36 will ballot at the county clubhouse in Slaton, in box 37 at West Ward, and box 38 at Stephen F. Austin School.

Republicans in boxes 33, 34 and 35 will ballot at Cooper Elementary School, Woodrow, and GOP voters in precincts 39 and 40 will vote at Roosevelt School. Democrats in box 33, Woodrow, will vote at Cooper High School Agriculture Building, and those in box 34 in Cooper High auditorium.

Posey residents, Democrats in box 35, will vote at Posey School (clubhouse). Democrats who vote in precinct 39 will vote at Roosevelt Clubhouse, and those in box 40 at Acuff Gin.

Of prime interest to local voters are the races of U.S. senator, governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, state treasurer, Lubbock County sheriff and state representative from this district.

In the latter race, incumbent Dist. 76 Rep. Delvin Jones of Lubbock is opposed by James E. (Pete) Laney of Hale Center. With the realignment of districts, Jones' district does not include the city of Lubbock, but only that portion of Lubbock County outside the city, plus Hale and Swisher Counties. Political observers believe this race may be a close one.

C. H. (Choc) Blanchard, Lubbock County sheriff, is opposed in his bid for re-election (since this race, like the state representative contest, has no listed Republican candidates, nomination in the Democratic primary is tantamount to election) by two men, A. C. (Charlie) Bowman and Paul Enger.

Seven Democrats and six Republicans are listed on the respective ballots for nomination in the gubernatorial primary, with high interest in the uncertain Democratic race. Incumbent Gov. Preston Smith of Lubbock, during whose administration considerable flak has been thrown up regarding alleged payoffs, stock deals and other financial operations by some state officials.

Smith, Ben Barnes and Dolph Briscoe are given the best chance among the Demos, with a runoff for the nomination possible. Others in the race are Mrs. Frances Farenthold, Gordon Willis, Bill Posey, Robert Looney.

(Democratic and Republican sample ballots are printed on page 4 so voters can study these before going to the polls. The Democratic sample is not exactly like the one Slaton voters will find, since the names of Delvin Jones and Pete Laney in the Dist. 76 state representative race are not listed on the sample. Their names will be on the official ballot in place of the Dist. 75 races shown on the sample. In addition, of the last five contests shown on the sample, Slaton voters will have only the county Democratic

'LITTLE MISS'--Marsha Dee Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Davis of Slaton, was named "Little Miss Abernathy" in contests there last week.

Revenue-Sharing Funds Possible

Slaton will receive $131,192 in revenue - sharing funds from the General Revenue - Sharing Bill recently approved by the House Ways and Means Committee, if Congress approves the measure, Gov. Preston Smith said last week.

Based on information we have received from the House Ways and Means Committee, the revenue - sharing bill approved by the committee earlier this week will provide a total of $202 million during the first year to cities and counties of Texas," Smith said. "Allocation of funds will be retroactive to Jan. 1."

Initial estimates indicate that a total of $3,602,083 will be allocated to all governmental units in the county. The county itself will receive $829,164.

clians, will be held in each voting place immediately after the polls close at 7 p.m. At the precinct meetings, resolutions are adopted and delegates for the national political conventions are chosen. It is not necessary to favor a certain candidate to have a voice in the precinct convention proceedings. Those who attend may register as uncommitted or as supporting a specific national candidate, and may vote on whether their delegates should be committed to a specific candidate or not.

For the lieutenant governor nomination, top - running Demos are Ralph Hall, Joe Christie, Bill Hobby and Wayne Connally, brother of former governor John Connally.

Attorney Gen. Crawford Martin is being challenged by John Hill and William Pate, and State Treasurer Jesse James faces the bid of Nolan Robnett and four others.

Forty - three persons had voted by absentee ballot in the county ballot office substation in Slaton by mid-afternoon Tuesday.

Precinct conventions, often poorly attended but considered of vital importance by politi-

Burglary Loot Is Recovered

Articles valued at approximately $500 when stolen from a residence here recently were recovered by Slaton Police officers this week. About $600 in furnishings and other items were listed as stolen from 630 New Mexico St., a home owned by Mrs. Johannie Fettle.

Officers recovered part of the items from an abandoned house in Slaton and obtained the rest from a home here after getting a search warrant. Arrested and charged with receiving and concealing stolen property was Willie T. Pinkston, 37.

Some of the articles listed as stolen still have not been recovered.

A car driven by Janyce Carole Brackman, Post, struck and killed a black calf in the traffic lane of U.S. 84 bypass about 9:35 p.m. Monday. Damage to the car was estimated at $200.

Jinks Johnson, 840 Jean, reported theft of four tires valued at $20 Monday. On Tuesday, C. L. Walton, 140 W. Powers, reported theft of a motorcycle helmet valued at $25.

A pair of brown boots were listed as stolen from Gay Johnson, 615 E. Powers on Monday.

Yard Winners Named Monday

Ansil O'Neal, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Beautification Committee, announced the winners of the "Yard of the Month" titles in the four wards of Slaton.

Ward 1 winner was the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Conroy Bain of 615 S. 16th Street; Ward 2 winner was the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Richey of 415, W. Panhandle; Ward 3, the R. J. Clark home at 205 S. 2nd; and Ward 4 winner was Mrs. P. L. Williams of 800 S. Collins.

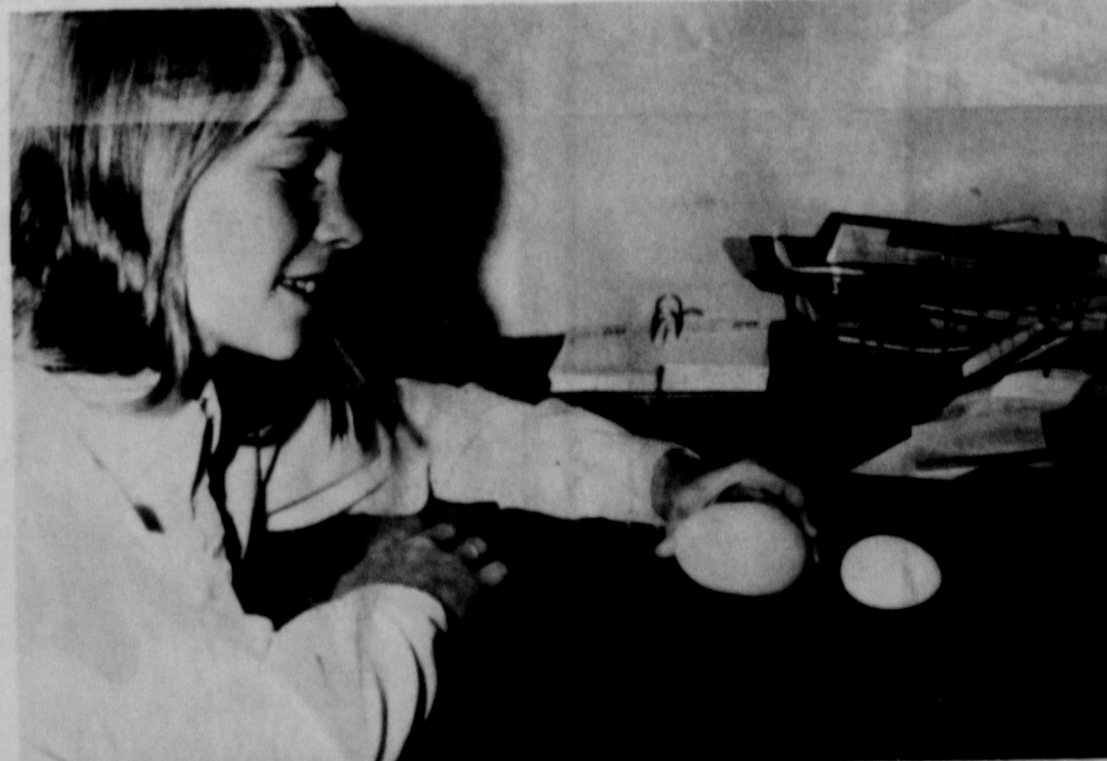

Assisting O'Neal with the selections were members of his committee, including Mmes. Bill Smith, J. S. Edwards, E. C. Davidson and O. B. Allen.

Also on Monday Mrs. Trina Diaz reported theft of a purse from her car after a window in the car was broken to gain entry. The purse later was recovered in an alley, with $2.20 missing.

A stereo tape player and nine tapes were reported stolen from a 1966 auto owned by Mrs. Celestino Rodriguez, 120 E. Edwards. Total value was set at $125.

Two residents on Lynn reported thefts from their cars Monday night. Stanley Heinrich, 1055 W. Lynn, listed as missing from his 1971 auto parked in front of the home a stereo tape player and two tapes. Lawrence King, 1155 W. Lynn, reported loss of a billfold from his parked car. The billfold contained drivers license and six credit cards.

Mrs. Bonita Jackson, 1025 S. 12th, reported articles missing from her home after burglars forced a bedroom window Thursday night. Taken were costume jewelry, a watch, camera, a pistol, transistor radio and other items.

BIG PRODUCTION---Rhonda Hoffman, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huddy Hoffman, 635 S. 16th, compares this whopper of an egg laid by her pet chicken Friday with a normal egg. The big one weighed 5 1/2 ounces, the regular egg 2 ounces. The lengthwise comparison was 3 5/8 inches to 2 1/4 inches. The chicken which laid the egg was in the junior play, "Aunt Samantha Rules the Roost" earlier this year. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

Stairways present a danger in houses old and new. Desirable features in stairways are: handrails that are at least 31 inches above the steps; uniform measurement of treads and risers; basement stair risers that close the opening between treads; stairs that are not too steeply pitched; and a good source of light.

All rooms should have at least one window large enough for exit in case of fire.

All fuel-using devices should be vented to the outside. Fuel shutoffs should be easy to locate and fuel lines should be protected from damage.

FOOT NOTES

BY MARGRET BARTLEY

Here it is almost through the first week in May. I told you a while back that it would be here before you knew it! Graduation parties, gifts, wedding showers, weddings, baseball games, field trips, swimming lessons. . . they all creep up in a fast run. Oh well, busy days are better than lazy days. (Can't remember who said that)

Everyone's invited to attend the Cub Scout Carnival to be held Sunday in and around the Scout Hut in City Park. Time for the event is 2 to 6 p.m. The Scouts and their parents have planned many games for the afternoon, and all types of refreshments will be available, including hot dogs, snow cones, popcorn, cokes, and pickles. Entertainment will feature a side show and cake walk, along with games of chance and skill. Money from this local project will be used to register scouts and leaders for the new year and other local projects. Clown scouts will be there with balloons and games for all.

Local artists are invited to enter their works in the Art Show to be held May 20. Sponsors of the event are the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce. Beverly Kercheval and Mrs. O. F. Kitten are co-chairmen of the show. It was a great success last year, and even more entries are hoped for this time. Eighteen awards will be given including five cash awards from $100 to $20. Entries will be accepted May 19.

If you have young boys in Little League age, you're bound to be running to get them to practice and back. My own son was fussing because he had to practice very day, and then was the first to vote 'yes' for Saturday practice. I think it is good for the little fellows to develop their skills and to participate in competitive sports. Can't let the big guys have all the glory!

Sewing Nook Needs Space For Storage

There are more sewing machines than bathtubs in American homes -- a statistic that can lead to a number of conclusions.

One is that a high percentage of homes in this affluent nation lack essential facilities. Another: that showers are preferred to tubs. According to a report from Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, however, it indicates a home sewing "hobby explosion."

The average sewing hobbyist, says the report, is in the 18 to 30 age bracket, above-average in intelligence and income, and has a strong interest in fashion. Enjoyment of sewing and the opportunity it offers to save money both figure in the hobby's growing popularity.

In advising how to make the most of this hobby, the report suggests the need for proper equipment and sufficient space depending on the kind and extent of sewing done. While some hobbyists could use a separate sewing room, others might do with a sewing closet.

Basic needs are simple. Other than a machine, storage is the biggest requirement. A panel or two of perforated hardboard is practical for storage. Hooks which fit into the perforations are ideal for hanging spools of thread -- easily visible and close at hand. Also, the panels can be used as pin-up boards for patterns.

Nursing Home News

by Bobbie Hogue

Our residents were treated with a "Hawaii Party" Saturday night. The lobby was decorated with leis, monkey trees, tropical fish of many colors (artificial of course), and from each light fixture hung a colorful hula skirt. Those who entertained were Johnny and Nelda Flannigan, Bobbie Hogue, Lou Ann Milliken, Judy Sage, Barbara Jones and Ida Rushing. Ida Rushing made a great hit by doing the "hula" in her grass skirt.

All the entertainers adorned crepe paper hula skirts, and as everyone entered the lobby, Misses Kayla Jane Hogue and Francelle Greer placed leis around the necks, saying "welcome".

Around 80 persons attended the event.

Those who helped serve refreshments and prepared them were Mmes. Vivian Rucker, Louis Mosser, Gladys Richardson, Cecelia Steffens and Bobbie Greer. Lime - pineapple punch was served with various dips of cheese spreads.

At the end of the program, names were drawn for the prize of a real fresh pineapple and a coconut. Clarence Johnson and Mrs. Florence Stevenson both of our Home were the winners.

Our thanks go to Bro. Ascher, of Wilson, who brought to our Home a beautiful cake which was baked for his son's wedding. The cake was certainly enjoyed by all our residents.

Bro. and Mrs. Randy Collins came and gave a wonderful devotional Monday morning. They were special guests for dinner, enjoying the fellowship without residents.

Some of our pastors are failing to show up on the Sunday evening services. Please try to remember us on this day. Our residents look forward to the Sunday services. We are happy that Bro. Ascher will be coming out once each week to help bring our morning devotionals.

With no other news for this week, I leave you my weekly "thought" to be in step with the WORLD is to be OUT of step with CHRIST."

Publishers Giving Refunds

Attorney General Martin today announced a recovery of almost $1 million from book publishers who allegedly fix the price of books sold to Texas libraries.

The most recent Texas' total recovery was $1.1 million last year, and that is coming. In 1971, Texas recovered $233,000 and we have an additional $1 million coming.

There is a refund coming to Texas schools and libraries stems from settlement with the last of more than 30 Book Publishing and Distributing firms sued by Martin in antitrust litigation in 1968. Martin said his office is mailing out checks to 757 school districts and 189 public libraries on whose behalf the Attorney General originally filed the price-fixing suit.

Martin said the most recent refund in Lubbock County totals $15,187.80 and goes to Cooper, Roosevelt and other county school districts.

Panels Offer Uniform Beauty

A unique process is employed to assure the uniform design of prefinished hardboard wall panels. These sections are mounted on a 4-by-8 foot panel, photographed and etched on plates. Then they are printed on a special hardboard base panel. For instance, to produce a walnut woodgrain design, as many as 150 walnut flakes are examined before the most attractive sections are chosen. Result is a uniform grain and color for all panels. The need to match panels is eliminated.

Better Cotton Yields Needed

This year could be decisive for cotton. There has been a resurgence in demand for the natural fiber because it is ideal for clothing that is colorful, casual, comfortable, and carefree. This is evidenced in the popularity of denims, corduroys, and other cottons.

Cotton yields have been declining, however, just when a comeback is indicated in the market. The Beltwide average yield per harvested acre was only 438 pounds for the 1971-72 season. It was only 437 pounds in 1970. This compares with a record of 527 pounds in 1965 and 516 pounds in 1968.

Unfavorable weather resulted in a short crop in 1971 and the crop has been normal in only one year since 1965. These setbacks have brought about a critical shortage of cotton. Carryover for the 1971-72 season, ending July 31, is projected at 3.25 million bales. This is less than a four-month supply and the lowest in 20 years.

The short supply could undermine confidence of mills in the ability of the U.S. Cotton Industry to provide cotton in the quantities and qualities they need.

A campaign to obtain "Better Yields of Quality Cotton for Profit and Market Growth" is under way. It was kicked off by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz and National Cotton Council President Charles F. Youngker.

This program deserves the full support of all concerned with the future of cotton, a commodity essential not only to this area but to the whole country.

New Aerosol Cans
By Virginia Knauer
Special Assistant to President Nixon for Consumer Affairs
How many times have you noticed the warning on an aerosol can, such as used for shaving cream and hair spray—"Warning: Keep away from heat. Do not put in fire or incinerator. Do not puncture."
Or do you even notice the warning any more? All of us are so accustomed these days to using products in aerosol cans that we seldom take the time to read the directions. Yet, the warning is still there and still important.
Whenever an aerosol can is overheated, the heat causes the pressure to rise excessively, and the top of the can buckles upward. Pressure will continue to build up until it is so great that it causes the container to burst. The exploding can may cause injury to anyone nearby. I do not know of any statistics on the number of injuries or deaths caused by exploding aerosol cans, but the figure is assumed to be quite small.
Nevertheless, it is good news for consumers that this potential hazard may disappear. The National Safety Council has recently reviewed a new safety device for aerosol cans. It is called "rim vent release" (or RVR aerosol can).
The new can is designed with a number of tiny cuts at precise points around the top seam. When pressure builds up in the new can, the cuts open and release the contents of the can. Since the contents are released this way, there should be little chance of enough pressure remaining in the can to cause an explosion.
The National Safety Council says the RVR aerosol may be a step forward in reducing aerosol explosions. Yet, the council says the new can is not a "cure-all" for misuse. The council believes "precautionary labeling should be continued on RVR aerosols—especially emphasizing the dangers of contents which are caustic, poisonous or flammable when released due to overheating."
The next time you are shopping for products that usually come in aerosol cans, look for the cans with the tiny slots around the top rim and read the labels. The labels may tell you if the container is the new RVR aerosol can.
If you write to Mrs. Knauer, address your card or letter to "Dear Virginia," Office of Consumer Affairs, Washington, D.C. 20506.

Save Money Saving Power

By Virginia Knauer
Assistant to President Nixon
for Consumer Affairs

Have a waterfall in your backyard with electrical shortages this summer. Emergency Preparedness has warned areas of the country could be affected everyone to conserve energy.

Things you can do to conserve power and save your money:

- Use only a little water to cook vegetables. You want to cook the vegetables, not heat water. And once the water is boiling, turn the heat down. Leaving the heat on high won't cook the vegetables any faster, and you may just burn the beans.

- Don't open the oven door. Every time you do, you lose 20% of your heat.
- If you have a refrigerator which needs to be defrosted, do it before the ice deposit is 1/4 inch thick. Ice acts as an insulation and lessens the cooling power of the coils. More frequent defrosting will also lessen the chance of spoiled food from long defrosting periods.
- If you are thinking of buying a refrigerator-freezer, keep in mind that a frost-free model uses approximately 50% more power than a frost type.
- Check to make sure that your refrigerator is airtight. Closing the door on a piece of paper is a good check. If the paper is easy to pull out, you probably need to have the rubber gaskets around the door replaced.
- Only run your dishwasher when you have a full load and preferably in the morning or late evening when the temperatures are lower and the demands on electricity not so high. Using the dishwasher only when necessary will not only save you power on its actual operation, but also on the cost of the hot water used.
- Don't let hot water faucets leak. A leak which will fill an ordinary cup in ten minutes wastes 3,280 gallons per year, water you have to pay to heat.
- Make sure your house is well insulated. This is equally important for both winter and summer as insulation works to keep out heat as well as cold.
- Storm windows year round will help to cut your heating and cooling bills by as much as 15%.
- Keep your windows closed. No matter how large your air conditioning unit, you can't cool the outdoors.
- Do things which generate heat only during the cooler early morning or late evening hours to make less work for the air conditioner.
- And do turn off those unused lights. They not only waste electricity, they generate heat. It is going to be hot enough without any added discomfort.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I damaged my car in an auto accident. Can I deduct this loss as a casualty loss?

A) Yes. The loss from uninsured damage incurred in an auto accident to the taxpayer's own automobile, if it was not caused by the willful act or willful negligence of the taxpayer, may be deductible as a casualty loss to the extent that each loss exceeds $100. The limitation does not apply if your car is used in your trade or business. For details on how to compute a casualty loss deduction, write your IRS district office for a copy of IRS Publication 547, Tax Information on Disaster, Casualty losses, and thefts. It's available free.

Q Can you recommend a good tax preparer for me to see about my complicated tax situation?

A) Call your local accounting, legal or tax practitioner association. They will be able to supply you with the names of qualified people. Avoid any person who "guarantees" you a refund or who suggests that the refund be sent to his address. Also, you should not sign a blank return or one that has been prepared in pencil. Remember, you are legally responsible for every item on your return even though someone else helped you prepare it.

Q How long should I keep the records that support my income tax deductions?

A) Records that support an item of income or a deduction must be kept as long as they are material in administering any Federal tax statute. Usually, this is three years from the date the return was due or filed, or two years from the date the tax was paid, whichever occurs later. Some records, such as those dealing with stock and property transactions should be retained even longer.

Q I had a part-time job between school semesters last year and earned nearly $1,500.

ITEM: Grocery shopping may soon be as easy as pushing a button. An automatic retailing machine, developed in Europe, gives consumer a choice of 280 items in any size and weight. The machine collects the shopper's money, and automatically retrieves and delivers items through a special receiving door.

Do I still have to file a return?

A) If you are single and your adjusted gross income is under $1,700 or you are married with combined adjusted gross income of less than $2,300, generally you do not have to file a return. But if you had income tax withheld from your pay, you must file a return in order to get your refund.

Q Are gambling losses deductible?

A) If you itemize, you may deduct your gambling losses incurred during the year, but only to the extent of your winnings. Gambling winnings must be reported as income.

Q I heard that there are five tests that must be met for a taxpayer to claim a person as a dependent. What are they?

A) For a person to qualify as your dependent for 1971 the following tests must be met:

- 1) You must furnish over half of the dependent's total support during the calendar year;
- 2) Unless the person is less than 19 years of age at the end of the year or a full-time student during five months of the year, you may not claim him as a dependent if his gross income is $675 or more;

3) The person must be a member of your household and live with you for the entire year or be closely related to you;

4) He must be a U.S. citizen or resident, or a resident of Canada, Mexico, Panama Canal zone or the Republic of Panama for some part of the year.

5) The person must not file a joint return unless one is not due but was filed merely to obtain a refund.

Q Do I have to report interest from U.S. Savings Bonds on my federal income tax return?

A) Yes. Interest earned on your Savings Bonds is taxable and must be reported. However, if you are a cash basis taxpayer, you have the option of reporting the interest on Series "E" bonds each year as the redemption value increases or all at once when the bonds are redeemed, or mature, whichever is earlier. If you elect the yearly method of reporting, you must continue it for all future bond purchases.

Family SHOPPING BAG

ITEM: Nearly nine cents out of every dollar spent for farm-produced foods goes to pay for packaging costs. Of the consumer's $101.6 billion bill for these foods, a whopping $8.8 billion was spent for containers and packaging materials needed to get them from the farm to the table. Paper products topped the list, accounting for 42 percent of packaging costs. Metal containers accounted for 22 percent, glass, 9 percent, plastic, 9 percent, wood, textiles and miscellaneous, 18 percent.

ITEM: Surveys indicate that it is not always the most lean beef that makes the best burgers. Both ground beef and ground chuck are especially good for "hamburger" or beef patties.
