Mrs. Hopper, in tears at the scene, said there was no insurance on either the house or contents.

Two fire units from Slaton and one from Lubbock answered the alarm, with the units returning for a total of seven loads of water. The alarm was received in Slaton just before noon and firemen battled the blaze for about two hours in a vain effort to save something. They did manage to save a nearby garage which contained tools and miscellaneous items.

No one was at home at the time the fire broke out. Mrs. Hopper said the blaze apparently started from some straw next to the house which had ignited from a light used to keep a puppy warm in the "more than $10,000," said the fire was under the floor and in the walls when Slaton firemen arrived, and "by the time we got it pinpointed, we ran out of water."

Several locations for making donations to help the Hopper family quickly were designated. They include Posey Gin, Slaton Implement Co., Farmers Gin, and Slaton Co-Op Gin. Anyone wishing to donate cash also may make contributions at the Slatonite or the Chamber of Commerce. Those wishing to donate furniture or clothing or appliances should contact the chamber office, 828-6238, and then meet a representative of the chamber at the show barn on 20th St., a steel building where the donated articles can be stored.

increased by more than 10,000 bales during the last week, as gins stayed busy despite spurts of bad weather. As of noon Wednesday, 33,613 bales had been ginned in 12 area gins.

Slaton Co-Op Gin had ginned total of 10,000 bales, and A cuff Co-Op Gin reported a total of 6,100 bales. Others included: McClung Co-Op 3,264; Union Co-Op 2,389; Hackberry Co-Op Wilson Co-Op 2,112; Farmers Gin of Slaton 2,025; Posey Gin 1,856; Basinger Gin 1,318; Wayside 1,254; Gordon Gin 600; Gatzki Gin 570.

The final estimate of 1972 cotton production from the 25 High Plains counties served by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., made Dec. 7 by the joint PCG-Lubbock Cotton Exchange Estimates Committee, edged past the 2 million bale mark for the first time this season.

The fifth monthly estimate for this year was set at 2,012,000 bales, up 23,000 from the November projection of 1,989,000. Estimates from August through November had hovered just below the 2 million bale figure. The final "guess" moved up slightly in response to encouraging yields and gin turn out from many of the first fields As of the date of the estimate only about 354,000 bales, something like 18 percent of the crop, had been received at classing offices in Brownfield, Levelland, Lamesa and Lubbock.

Garbage Pickup To Be Contracted

Slaton City Commission voted Tuesday night to award a fiveyear contract to a firm which will take over garbage collection operations in the city starting Jan. 1.

City officials for some time have been considering a contracted sanitation service rather than trying to operate the garbage collection with city workers and city trucks. City residents will continue to pay the same garbage collection fee as they presently are paying, but will be faced with a charge of 25 cents per cubic yard for dumping trash at the dump grounds, with a minimum charge of 50 cents.

Also, city residents will be required to get rid of their 55-gallon containers by July 1, when only 30-gallon or smaller containers may be used. Triple C Sanitation Service is the firm getting the contract. Report of Arthur Davis, CPA, on an audit of the city's finances for 1971-72 was approved, as were bids on gasoline for the city with Red Barn Chemical

Cotton Stacked In Field As Farmers Try New Harvesting Procedure

By DALTON WOOD

The cotton is stacking up in the fields around Slaton these days, and some of the farmers don't mind it a bit, because they're doing the stacking.

About 20 or more cotton farmers in the Slaton area are trying a new procedure of cotton harvesting this season, a procedure which involves stripping the cotton from the plants and then stacking it up in the field rather than putting it into trailers, or in most cases, rather than waiting on trailers to be emptied so they can use them.

Long ricks of cotton, holding 20 bales or more in a stack, are being built up on several farms in the vicinity, waiting for the time when a loading machine from Slaton Co-Op Gin or Farmers Gin of Slaton can pick the cotton up and take it in for ginning. The stacks of cotton, packed down by specially - designed cotton stacking machines, stand approximately 8 feet high and

Only One Wreck Reported Here

One collision was investigated by Slaton Police Dept. during the last week. The mishap on FM 400 was a col-lision involving a 1972 car driven by Louise Barker Sherman of Idalou and a 1964 car driven by Leslie O. Bunch of Lubbock. Total damage in the wreck Saturday was estimated

Alex Bednarz, who farms several places in the area, explained the operation this week and expressed optimism that the new procedure would profitable. He said the idea had been expounded by Roy Forkner, of Cotton, Inc. after Forkner experimented with the cotton ricker last season.

Texas A& M earlier had experimented with the operation. On one farm about three miles west of Slaton, Bednarz has four stacks of about 20 bales each waiting for the time when the after it from the gin. The cotton is gathered by a stripper and then dumped into the stacking machine which forms the long stacks and packs them down so that moisture accumulates only on the outside layer during bad weather. Freshly gathered cotton "sweats" and needs to stay in the stack about three weeks, Bednarz said. Then, whenever the outside is dry enough, the equipment from the gin picks it upand takes it to be ginned.

Bednarz said he began operating the stacker after he ran out of trailers, and said it took about eight hours to gather and stack the 80 bales in that one location, using two machines. "Had we not had the stacker, we simply would

Remember The Old-Time Christmas?

In the frenetic pace of modern life, the simple Christmas traditions of the past seem all but forgotten, but at Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum in Dearborn, Michigan, the unique joys of earlier Christmases are well remem bered and faithfully recreated. This year beginning December 9, the real spirit of the season comes to life there so that visiting families can experience today the kind of Christmas their ancestors knew.

The warmth and nostalgia of earlier Yuletides abounds in the Greenfield Village houses decorated as they might have been by their original famous wners - men like Edison, Ford, the Wright Brothers, Noah Webster and Stephen Foster. These and other authentic early American buildings, aglow with candles, freshly-cut greenery, festive logs, trace 300 years of Christmas tradition.

The nostalgia is punctuated by activity. Bread bakes in the hearth of a pioneer cabin, taffy bubbles on the stove of 19th-century farm kitchen and hammers shape red-hot iron on the ancient anvil of America's oldest operating forge. In a cozy old parlor, a costumed hostess crochets Christmas gifts to the accompaniment of traditional Christmas music of the period.

Outside, groups of singers roam the streets singing traditional Christmas carols. The sound of their music drifts through the bare trees to mingle with the tinkle of harness bells on the horses pullacross the crusted snow.

At the Town Hall on the picturesque Village green, visitors are greeted by the friendly aroma of the hot, spiced cider and Christmas cookies served there. In the nearby Clinton Inn, families dine amid festive decorations which re-create Christmas as it was in a roadside hostelry a century and more ago. Nostalgia also reigns in the adjacent Henry Ford Museum. Intriguing and often quaint Christmas decorations from out of the past line the aisles and the sound of Yuletide music of other eras fills the air. From time to time, visitors hear concerts of traditional music played on antique instruments from the Muse-

Garlands Make Graceful Decorations

Garlands make graceful, fixed decorations in the proper setting. On banistered staircases the garland can be wound in and out of the stair columns with the newel post and finished off with velvet

The garland is satisfactory to outline a large mirror or painting on all four sides. Also, the garland can be draped in scallops around the ceiling mouldings, studded with wreaths at intervals. This is recommended only for very large rooms.

With the indignation over the disrespect to the National Anthem during the award ceremony, we think this is the time for education of the public to the correct way to show our respect for the Flag and the United States.

We of the American Legion Auxiliary think our general public is uncertain about the proper manner in which to show respect but that they want to know how to be correct. We are making a special appeal to the young people, especially those ages twelve to eighteen, for greater participation in flag ceremonies during sports events, etc. These quotations are from Public Law 829 -- 77 Congress, Chapter 806-2D Session. H.

Editorially Speaking CHRIST IS BORN IN A MANGER

LUKE 2:1-7

From THE LIVING BIBLE

About this time Caesar Augustus, the Roman Emperor, decreed that a census should be taken throughout the nation. (This census was taken when Quirinius was governor of Syria.)

Everyone was required to return to his ancestral home for this registration. And because Joseph was a member of the royal line, he had to go to Bethlehem in Judea, King David's ancient home-journeying there from the Galilean village of Nazareth. He took Mary, his fiancee, who was obviously pregnant

And while they were there, the time came for her baby to be born; and she gave birth to her first child, a son. She wrapped him in a blanket and laid him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the village inn.

Do you believe Jesus is the same today as he was almost 2,000 years ago? Heb. 13:8 says, "Jesus Christis the same yesterday, today and forever."

Do you believe he heals just as much now as he did then? And do you believe be sets agrees upon - the lovely, lady free those who are oppressed, and those who are burdened?

I believe he is the same to- wear though the holidays. day. John 8:36 says, "So if the Son sets you free, you will skirt with a sleek jersey blouse, indeed be FREE!"

much of Jesus' ministry was healing people. The Word even says that we will do greater works than he did because he has gone to be with the Father and has sent the Holy Spirit to live in us.

"Anyone believing in me shall do the same miracles I have done, and even greater ones, because I am going to be with the Father. You can ask him for anything, using my name, and I will do it, for this will bring praise to the Father because of what I, the Son, will for you. Yes, ask ANYTHING, using my name, and I will do it!"

You may say, "Well, if I had lived back then and could have personally seen Jesus, or even been in the crowd and could have touched the hem of his garment, I would be made

But, if you said yes to the question, is Jesus the same today, then we must know that Jesus can heal as much today as then. We CAN touch Him today!

In James, the Word says we have not because we ask not. (Or maybe we ARE getting what we ask for -- maybe we are asking Him to just give us grace to endure.)

He who made us in the first place is able to cure any disease -- from a headache to what we term as "incurable diseases"! When we ask Him, however, we must not doubt. When we pray for healing (or any other problem) and throw in the phrase, "If it be Thy will", then that lets doubt come

Did you ever hear Jesus pray way regarding a sick Did he ever pray, "Father, give him grace to bear this sickness?" No, I find such statements as these:

"Your faith has healed you," "Woman, you are healed of your sickness," "Jesus took the sick

After you decorate the tree and the house, mail the cards, hang up the wreath, buy the presents, wrap the presents, bake the cookies - after you've done everything to make the holidays perfect for your family - take some time to get yourself in shape for a celebration. man by the hand and healed him," "Your faith has made you well." And many, many others.

Of course it's His will that we live life in its fullness. What does that mean? If I were sick, I believe it would mean a full, healthful and happy life! If I were heavily burdened by a problem, I believe it would mean being free of that burden. "My purpose is to give life in all its fullness." John 10:10.

Jesus gave the apostles authority over all demons -power to cast them out -- and to heal ALL diseases. Then he sent them to tell everyone about the Kingdom of God and to heal the sick. (Luke 9:1-2.)

Finally, in Mark 16, the Word says those who believe (that's me and you) will be able to place their hands on the sick and heal them. That's quite a statement, isn't it?

James 5:14: "Is anyone sick? He should call for the elders of the church and they should pray over him and pour a little oil upon him, calling on the Lord to heal him. And their prayer, if offered in faith, will heal him, for the Lord will make him well; and if his sickness was caused by some sin, the Lord will forgive him."

Have we ever tried doing what the Wordsays? How many times have we run to the doctor when we feel bad rather than to Jesus? This is not to say that doctors are not needed at all. They arel Even Luke, one of Jesus' own chosen ones, was a physician!

"Be not afraid; for behold, I bring you good news of a great joy which will come to all the people." (Luke 2:10,

These words of our text were spoken to shepherds frightened by an uncertain present and an unknown future. These words are not repeated to us who are paralyzed by fear of civil strife and global war; distraught by rebellious youth and nonconformists; troubled by controversy and the ferment of

These words speak not only of fear, but also include adjectives good and great--words needed for modern churchmen. How frustrating and painful it is to see persons so afraid of change that they must leave the church rather than confront the heady, heavy issues! Yet, how thrilling with "the good news of a great joy" when other persons respond to the potential of the gospel in contemporary mode. PRAYER: Heavenly Father, while we celebrate the birth of Your Son, our Savior, we are torn between our fear of losing out amid the formless meanderings of our days and our longings to have Your nature brought to life in us. We are grateful that He was born to deliver us into Your kingdom of love. Amen.

THE LIVING BIBLE Illustrations from TAYLOR'S BIBLE STORY BOOK

"That night some shepherds were in the fields outside the village guarding their flocks of sheep. Suddenly an angel appeared among them, and the landscape shone bright with the glory of the Lord. They were badly frightened, but the angel reassured them.

"Don't be afraid!" he said. "I bring you the most joyful news ever announced, and it is for everyone! The Savior-yes, the Messiah, the Lord-has been born tonight in Bethlehem! How will you recognize him? You'll find a baby wrapped in a blanket lying in a manger!"

Suddenly, the angel was joined by a vast host of others—the armies of heaven—praising God:

"Glory to God in the highest heaven," they sang, "and peace on earth for all those pleasing him."

When this great army of angels had returned again to heaven, the shepherds said to each other, "Come on! Let's go to Bethlehem! Let's see this wonderful thing that has happened, which the Lord has told us about.'

They ran to the village and found their way to Mary and Joseph. And there was the baby, lying in the manger. The shepherds told everyone what had happened and what the angel had said to them about

If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.

We must build bridges to span the river, to cross the deep ravines.

If we would live at peace with our neighbors we must reach across any differences and bridge the gap firmly with the cement of friendship and understanding. There is great hope for the world if men will seek peace with determination in the spirit of good will.
