Public Schools Will Offer Free Kindergarten To All 5-Year-Olds

Five-year-old children in the Slaton Independent School District will be offered free kindergarten classes in the school beginning with the opening of school Aug. 20, it was reported this week.

An act of the state legislature House Bill 787, enacted last session, provides that each public school system in the state must offer kindergarten to all 5-year-olds starting this fall.

Slaton schools have been offering free kindergarten classes for three years, restricted to those designated as educationally handicapped. Under the new program, full-time all-day classes will be offered to this group, and half-day classes will be offered all year to all other 5-year-olds.

Because of crowded conditions in Slaton schools, the group qualifying to go only a half day will be split into two sections, with one class going only in the mornings, and the other class attending only in the afternoons.

"All children who meet the guidelines that would have qualified them for public school kindergarten last year will be eligible for the all-day program," said Joe Sparkman, administrative assistant. "The guidelines are: (1) the child is educationally handicapped; (2) the child does not have the ability to speak or comprehend the English language; or (3) the child comes from a family with income of $3,000 or less."

Anyone who wishes to enroll a child in kindergarten is urged to contact the school administrative office at 300 S. 9th St., phone 828-6503. The classes will be taught at West Ward.

The group admitted that prospects of convincing the major foreign textile firm to locate here are slight, in view of attractive financial inducements offered by communities in Louisiana, but agreed to return to the company through the Texas Industrial Commission a questionnaire detailing what Slaton would be able to do in the way of concessions to land the industry.

Slaton is among 13 cities on the High Plains and five in the Waco area under consideration for visits by officials of the Japanese company. From this group a smaller number will be chosen for the visits.

Those present at Tuesday's meeting agreed that while Slaton could hardly match the financial offers made by the Louisiana communities, this community

There were lots of "big doings" around Slaton on the Fourth of July, including eating, playing, swimming and sports contests, and Mercy Hospital was the big winner in all events with a $3,000 shot in the arm for its "Have Mercy-Keep Mercy" fund.

Without knowing the exact amount of all expenses, but with a good idea of how much still remains to be settled, it appeared early this week that the approximate net for the hospital would be $3,046, according to Bill Sewell, chairman of the hospital foundation.

Total income from all the activities which took place in the park last Wednesday was $4451, with expenses of $1405. Profits from all the celebration events were turned over to Mercy Hospital by the various clubs and organizations operating them.

"The community effort of all those who worked long and hard on the projects has paid off well for Mercy Hospital," said Wayne Edwards, chairman of the celebration. "All the groups who took part are due a big vote of thanks."

Organizations who donated time and/or money to help the hospital were listed: VFW and Auxiliary, American Legion and Auxiliary, Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, Chamber of Commerce and Women's Chamber, Lions Club, Rotary Club, Tiger Club, Home Demonstration Club, Knights of Columbus, Catholic Daughters, Hospital Auxiliary, A'benian Study Club, Boy Scouts and Garden Club.

Winners of the Little Mr. and Little Miss Ideal Slaton contest were Tasha Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Smith, and Eric Porterfield, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hody Porterfield. Dee Bowman was emcee for the program as contestants were interviewed in the park, and judges were P. Merville Larson, professor of speech at Texas Tech, Mrs. Bertha Housek, president of Lubbock Little Theater Guild, and Phil

Wayland, head of the Children's Theater in Lubbock.

No fireworks were touched off as the wind got up about dark, and the fireworks were returned.

Glenn Montgomery won the adult singles in the ping pong tournament, and he and his brother Jerry won the doubles. In the junior division, Scott Beard repeated as singles champ, and Bob Melton and Tim Bourn teamed up to win doubles.

Although the scheduled controlled display of fireworks did not take place here, there were plenty of fireworks shot by individuals. Firemen answered eight calls last Wednesday night to fires touched off by fireworks. Three more were answered Thursday. And a Slaton fire unit which went to Buffalo Springs Lake on standby got involved in what was described by some as a riot, when rocks were thrown at people, including firemen, by young hoodlums congregated at the lake.

During the day of activities in the park, members of the Hospital Auxiliary maintained a first aid station in the clubhouse. On duty were Mrs. C. O. Buxkemper, Paul Martin, Cheryl Emert, and Mary Martin.

The Babe Ruth league had a double-header and queen crowning, and mothers of softball girls played a whole bunch of games at Poe Wee park.

New Police Dept., Jail Building For Slaton Gets Green Light

A new police department and jail for Slaton was given the go-ahead by Slaton City Commission Wednesday morning as preliminary plans for remodeling of a building at 8th and Lynn were approved.

A representative of the architect firm of Brasher, Goyette and Rapier met with the commission and was given approval to go ahead with detailed plans and specifications for remodeling the structure at a cost estimated to be $55,750. The building was purchased recently by the city for $12,000. Bids will be sought on the remodeling project.

Thefts of bicycles in Slaton continued to plague bike owners and police during the last week. Richard Johnson, 745 S. 4th, said someone took a blue Schwinn 10-speed bike from his front yard. Mrs. Juan Romero reported loss of a yellow 10-speed Huffy bike from her yard at 835 S. 17th. And Bob Brake, 415 W. Garza, recovered two bikes which were stolen from his yard. He said two youths came into the yard about 10:30 p.m. and rode away on the bikes. He gave chase and overpowered one of them, getting that bicycle back. The other later was found in some weeds.

At 1400 W. Division a collision Friday involved cars driven by Mrs. Jewel Banta Sage, 620 S. 13th, and Mrs. Genevieve Heinrich, Rt. 1.

Mrs. Sue Ann Burchett has been hired as a new dispatcher at the police department. She is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attends Texas Tech.

Rainfall Boosts Crop Prospects

A good rainfall varying from .30 of an inch north of Slaton to nearly two inches in some spots fell Tuesday, boosting cotton crop prospects in the area, and breaking a long dry spell.

In the city itself, and over most of the immediate area, especially south and west of Slaton, the rainfall was about an inch. It was the first appreciable moisture in the area since the winter snows.

Textile Plant Possibility Discussed

Slaton City Commission, Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors and members of the Industrial Foundation had a joint meeting Tuesday night to discuss possibilities of attracting a $22 million textile plant here.

The group admitted that prospects of convincing the major foreign textile firm to locate here are slight, in view of attractive financial inducements offered by communities in Louisiana, but agreed to return to the company through the Texas Industrial Commission a questionnaire detailing what Slaton would be able to do in the way of concessions to land the industry.

Slaton is among 13 cities on the High Plains and five in the Waco area under consideration for visits by officials of the Japanese company. From this group a smaller number will be chosen for the visits.

Those present at Tuesday's meeting agreed that while Slaton could hardly match the financial offers made by the Louisiana communities, this community does have a definite advantage in being able to supply better than anyone else the 15/16" staple length cotton required by the textile mill. The TIC fact sheet on the industrial prospect stipulates that the mill would require 4,000 bales per month of 15/16" SL Texas cotton available locally, desiring a three-year contract commitment from producers.

Commissioner Otis Neill commented that in the Slaton area "we have the best 15/16 cotton grown anywhere in the country."

The fact sheet specified that the mill would be an open-ended cotton spinning plant, initially 200,000 square feet with expansion area of up to 800,000 square feet, located on a 50-75 acre site, and hiring 300 male and 200 female workers on a three-shift work day.

Earl Bartley, C-C manager, and Mayor John Landreth, presenting the matter to the group, noted that the company has been offered in Louisiana free land with utilities on site, ten-year tax moratorium, revenue bond financing, low interim financing and $750 per worker training expenditure.

Industrial Foundation member T. J. Wallace explained that Louisiana law permits municipalities to issue revenue bonds at low interest with tax breaks not permitted under Texas law.

Mayor Landreth suggested that even though it appeared on the surface that Slaton could not compete with the offers made by others, the questionnaire should be completed, listing all the concessions which the community could afford to make, and at least showing the interest of the community in securing such a plant. Other than the big plus factor of having the quantity and quality of cotton needed available near the plant site, the city officials agreed that the city could supply the utility lines to the site at no charge to the prospect.

"If we're ever going to make any progress, we're going to have to stick our neck out somewhere," Landreth commented.

This led to a general discussion of the need for residential as well as industrial development here, with city officials indicating a strong willingness to extend water and sewer lines to any area where a sizeable housing development was contingent on this action by the city.

Information on the availability of labor in this area also was included in the questionnaire, and here again Slaton has an advantage, the group agreed. Also, assistance was pledged in obtaining cotton contracts from producers. Cotton growers at the meeting expressed doubt that the Louisiana area could provide the amount and kind of cotton needed by the plant without importing large quantities from other areas.

Visits by company officials to prospective sites will be in August, Bartley said.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN -- If you ask the average family physician to help you solve the problem of overweight, he's likely to respond with enthusiastic encouragement, and a diet program tailored to your individual health needs.

But he won't guarantee any specific weight loss, because he knows that each body type has its own way of metabolizing. That doesn't satisfy the craving some people have for "instant beauty," so they are quickly attracted to the advertisements which claim, "Lose 20 pounds in 20 days."

Many become disillusioned when they don't shed the pounds like the "before" and "after" model whose photographs were shown in the ad.

But wait a minute: Were those "before" and "after" pictures really of the same person? Or, was one photo taken in poor lighting while the subject slumped to increase the girth of abdomen, and the other photo taken under glamor conditions--with tummy sucked in, chin up, and chest out?

The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division has received many complaints about operations of some "health studios" which specialize in claims of an almost-instant metamorphosis for the overweight person.

Through our own investigations, we have found that sometimes the photographs are misleading.

And other deceptive trade practices by some health spa operators are being uncovered in state and federal complaint follow-ups.

Owners of legitimately-operated health salons are co-operating in the investigations. And there are many of these establishments which do serve a useful and healthful purpose.

After all, the average person--especially, the average overweight person--lacks the intense discipline required to monitor his or her eating habits, and stick to an exacting program of exercise. And they can use a little "group therapy" to keep them inspired in the war against unwanted pounds.

Unfortunately, they are sometimes prey to the type of operator who would promise them anything, and too often, the result is a flattened wallet, instead of a trim figure.

Some of the deceptive practices you should be on the watch for include:

The "bait-and-switch" tactic, in which the operator advertises a claim that his studio can rid you of "10 pounds in 10 days" or "20 pounds in 20 days" (there seems to be a magic in twice-repeated numbers), but when the consumer goes to sign up for the quick course, she is talked out of that, and talked into a more expensive long-term contract.

The advertised inference that the facilities will be there for you to use at your convenience. Often, it is discovered, the times are very limited, and if your own schedule changes, you may not be able to take advantage of the program for which you've paid.

The heavy pressure to buy a "life" contract. One man paid a rather high sum for a "life" contract, and when he died a few days later--never having taken one treatment, his family was unable to get any refund. Others have complained that they started a course, but had to drop out at their physicians' insistence, and could not get a proportionate refund.

Claims that passive exercise devices automatically can produce weight loss. The Federal Trade Commission declares that is misleading.

If you're considering the idea of enrolling in a health club, take enough time to see just what you'd be getting.

Visit the place during its business hours, without an appointment. Talk to some of the members. One question to ask would be what sort of attention they actually receive. The claim of "personalized care" sometimes is not carried out.

Inspect the equipment. Look over the studio to see if it is well-run and sanitary.

Inspect the contract you are offered if you do decide to join. There have been complaints that the consumers signed "applications" to try out a facility, and later learned that they really had signed a tight contract, committing them to long-term payments.

If you have reason to believe you are being deceived, do not hesitate to get in touch with your local better business bureau, your district or county attorney, or the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division.

DPS Recruiting Law Enforcement Personnel

The Texas Department of Public Safety is actively recruiting applicants to fill the ranks of its uniformed services. Major C. W. Bell, Regional Commander of the DPS, announced that the training school for new uniformed law enforcement personnel will begin Sept. 25.

The major noted that the DPS has been increasingly successful in recruiting persons from minority groups to these positions and said efforts in this direction will continue. Also in keeping with the current trend, female applicants will be considered.

Major Bell said general qualifications for DPS officers are these: applicants must be 20 through 35 years of age; height not less than 68 inches; weight not less than two pounds per inch of height; visual acuity of 20/40 correctable to 20/20; and a minimum of 45 semester hours of college credit.

Applications may be obtained by contacting any DPS office. Completed applications should be taken to offices where the competition is given each Wednesday at 9 a.m.

GEORGE WORRELL
JULY 22 - 29, 8:00 p.m.

Following passage June 28 of a "clean" Agricultural Appropriations Bill, the running wrangle over what payment limitation will be applied to farm programs in 1974 and thereafter shifted back to the House, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"Had the Senate tacked a $20,000 per person payment limit onto the appropriations bill, as did the House," Johnson said, "the battle as far as this particular issue was concerned would have been over."

The respective Senate and House appropriations bills will now go to conference committee where farm leaders have high hopes the Senate version, without the payment limitation, will prevail.

The House on its money bill not only attached a low-level payment limit but also adopted amendments that would have prohibited sale and lease of acreage allotments from farm to farm and would have blocked the already authorized annual transfer of $10 million from Commodity Credit Corporation to Cotton Incorporated for cotton research and promotion.

The Senate's action in voting an appropriations bill without such amendments, Johnson continued, "doesn't get us out of the woods by any means," but does leave the door open for further efforts toward a more acceptable program.

Soon after the July 4 Congressional recess, probably on July 10 or 11, the House is expected to take up the omnibus farm bill reported from the House Agriculture Committee. The committee bill carries a payment lid of $37,500 per crop per farmer under each of the cotton, feed grain, and wheat sections. Maintaining this limit level against anti-farm program forces on the House floor is the next big hurdle for agricultural interests.

The Senate on June 8 voted a farm bill limiting total payments under all three programs to $20,000.

"Assuming the no-limit aspect of the Senate appropriations measure is upheld in conference, and if we can pass the farm bill in the House with a limitation higher than the $20,000 per person imposed by the Senate," Johnson reasons, "we will have a fair chance to salvage something in the farm bill conference committee."

There are other differences in the act passed by the Senate and that proposed by the House Agriculture Committee. The "target price" for cotton in the Senate bill is 43 cents per pound, with payments equaling the difference between that price and the average spot market quotations for Strict Low Middling inch-and-a-sixteenth cotton during the first five months of the cotton marketing year, August through December.

The House bill as reported by the committee calls for a target price of 38 cents, with payments figured on the difference between 38 cents and the average price paid to farmers for all cotton over a 12 month period. This method of calculating the payment rate was urged on the House committee by PCG.

"The 12 month average price paid to farmers for all qualities of cotton normally comes out about 2 cents a pound below the five month spot market quotations for SLM inch-and-a-sixteenth cotton," Johnson explains, "so regardless of what target price is finally settled upon, the farmer's payment under this formula would be about two cents a pound more."

The House committee bill also contains language that would require a higher Commodity Credit Corporation loan for cotton than would the Senate's bill, another feature sought by PCG.

Asked what the final outcome of the farm bill may be, Johnson said "We still have our work cut out for us. The Administration opposes even the 38 cent target price contained in the House committee bill; they are against the higher loan provision, and officials have yet to indicate any strong support for a payment limit higher than the disastrous $20,000 per person passed by the Senate."

So any flat predictions as to the outcome at this point would be foolish."

Panhandle Big Beef Area

AUSTIN--"The Panhandle contributed more than 70 per cent of the Texas cattle and calf production in 1972," Agricultural Commissioner John C. White reports.

Texas has more than twice as many cattle and calves and three times more beef cows than the second place state.

The cattle and calf population for Texas as of Jan. 1 this year totaled 15,350,000 head. "Our human population and the cattle and calf population for Texas in years past has pretty well been about equal. But this past year, our cattle population showed a huge increase, about 2,500,000 over 1972," White said.

Beef cows numbered 6,320,000 in Texas contrasted to 2,283,000 head of second-place Oklahoma.

Texas is also first in the nation in cattle on feed. Last year, about 4,300,000 head of cattle were fed out in Texas; this year, it's expected the figure will top 4,500,000 head.

The state ranks ninth in the nation in milk cow numbers with a total of 360,000 head.

The only area of livestock production in which Texas is not in the top 10 is in swine. Texas is 14th in total numbers of swine, the same spot it held in 1972. "But I believe we are going to see Texas soon in the top 10 states in hog production," White said.

The past two years, Lubbock county has been in the top 10 counties in hog production in Texas this season.

However, Lubbock decreased from its 71 production total of 35,000 hogs to 30,800 in 1972.

PERMITS IN POLLUTION CASES -- Texas livestock and poultry feeders can protect themselves against law suits due to odors by obtaining a water pollution control permit, says an agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Feeding operations in compliance with water pollution regulations generally have low odor levels. Runoff ponds are sometimes the main source of feedlot odors.

Governor Starts Mobile Office

Gov. Dolph Briscoe announced Friday he will initiate a new Mobile Field Office as an extension of the Governor's Office sometime in July.

The Governor's Mobile Field Office will be located in every County seat in the State at least one day during the coming year and will be staffed on an alternating basis by the top members of the Governor's staff.

Gov. Briscoe said whenever possible he himself will staff the Mobile Field Office.

Addressing the County and District Clerks Association in Corpus Christi, the Governor said, "We will be in the communities for many purposes. We will be there to listen to what the public has to say... to answer questions... and... to help inform the public on matters of special interest to their communities."

Gov. Briscoe pointed out that "the doors to this office will be open to everyone. The public will be encouraged to take advantage of this opportunity to communicate with their government."

Among other assignments, those staffing the office will help to inform the public of ways and means of conserving energy; will establish face to face communications with local governmental officials; and will search for ways of improving the overall delivery of government services to the communities, the Governor said.

"By establishing this close link to the people in the Governor's Office, it is my belief that the Governor's Office will be in a better position to serve all the people. The Mobile Field Office will be an instrument which will make State Government more accessible and more responsive to the public we all serve," the Governor said.

Dog In Dogwood?
 The dog in dogwood really is short for "dagger." In the old days Europeans found they could fashion tough dogwood timber into a good pointed knife called a "dag." The weapon gave its name to the tree.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

Each year approximately 200 children die and several thousand others are crippled by a disease most of us know little about. The disease? Lead poisoning.

Its victims may suffer blindness, cerebral palsy, kidney disease, mental retardation and other permanent brain damage, say state health officials.

Some 400,000 children are poisoned annually in this country by repeated intakes of lead-based paints, with 4,000 of this number receiving permanent damage. The tragedy of this silent, man-made threat is that it is preventable.

While most instances of lead poisoning in children is traceable to flaking paint on old houses, other sources also are suspect. These include automobile exhausts, innocent-looking playthings, and lead-glazed ceramic ware.

Americans are beginning to realize the potential danger that lies hidden in lead-based paint--an unforeseen legacy from pre-World War II days. Even after the war, many paints were pigmented with durable white lead. Even though manufacturers of paint now must meet stringent regulations for indoor paints, millions of children throughout the United States still are exposed to existing toxic-paint--in addition to the cloud of lead-laden exhaust fumes covering many cities and metropolitan areas. Research is underway now to determine the effects of automobile exhaust fumes on city dwellers.

Lead poisoning occurs when children eat the sweet-tasting chips and flakes of lead-based paint from the walls and other surfaces of old houses. Most grounds and facilities are being given a facelift.

Fair officers for the year are: Lennis Baker, president; Joe E. Baldrige, vice president; and Homer E. Hunt, treasurer.

Directors include Charles L. Adams, Jr., Charles R. Bacon, R. E. "Bob" Gee, Chas. A. Guy, E. K. Hufstader Jr. and John E. Vickers.

TO ANSWER YOUR QUESTION.... 'Will My Baby Be Healthy?'

Of utmost concern to most pregnant women today is the question: "Will my baby be healthy?"

Although giving birth is safer for both mothers and babies than ever before because of widespread medical care, many young women come to marriage knowing less about pregnancy and baby care than their grandmothers did.

Many young mothers come from small families and did not help care for younger brothers and sisters. Too, because families move more frequently today, a young mother may find herself miles from the guidance of her own mother and that "dear Aunt Mary" who had six pregnancies before she was 30.

For these reasons, most doctors and maternity clinics give their expectant patients booklets that describe prenatal development.

The early months of pregnancy present the greatest risk for damage from rubella (also called "German" or "three-day" measles). This seemingly mild disease is known to cause blindness, deafness and other abnormalities in unborn children.

Health departments in Texas now have the authority to require women applying for marriage licenses to show they have been tested for rubella. The purpose of the new law is to warn women who are not immune to the disease so they may receive the rubella immunization.

Doctors advise pregnant women who are not immune to rubella to avoid contact with anyone who might have the disease since the vaccine cannot be given during pregnancy.

Another possible danger to the mother-to-be lies in medications. A general rule is: never take anything -- laxatives, tranquilizers, diet pills, baking soda -- without talking to the doctor first.

Research has shown that tobacco, alcoholic beverages, and x-rays are safe in small amounts, but large amounts -- especially x-rays -- could injure the unborn child. Many doctors advise their patients to quit smoking entirely.

The first good service a mother can perform for her new baby," wrote Dr. Margaret Lilley in "Modern Motherhood," is to "feel as well as possible while she is carrying him."

The expectant mother should eat lean meat, vegetables, fruits, whole wheat bread, eggs, liver and milk products. She should avoid cakes, pastries, soft drinks, candy, pizza, fried foods and other fattening items.

Doctors advise a limited weight gain -- about 20 pounds for most women -- during the entire pregnancy. A greater gain may mean complications at delivery as well as excess weight that will be hard to shed once the baby is born.

A rule of thumb, wrote Dr. Lilley, is "eat for one but drink for two." Increased body fluid and blood (blood volume increases from about eight pints to 12) requires the mother to drink at least six glasses of water per day.

Exercise, such as brisk walks, swimming, and golf, will help keep muscles supple -- essential if a woman is to recover rapidly after the birth of the child. More strenuous activity depends on the woman and on her doctor's judgment.

Many pregnant women employed outside the home continue working until six or eight weeks before delivery. A job may provide moderate exercise and keep the mother-to-be away from the icebox as well as promote her mental well-being.

Studies have shown that pregnant women feel differently about their pregnancies at different times; some women are subject to quick changes of mood, feeling exuberant at one moment and dejected at the next.

The women whose pregnancies are the smoothest emotionally, according to "Prenatal Care" published by the Children's Bureau of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, are the women who:

- learn as much as they can about childbearing and childbirth,
- ask questions when something comes up that they do not understand,
- share their feelings with their husbands,
- stick to a good health routine,
- have fun, and
- follow the advice they get from their doctors.

Sidewalk Art Show Planned At Littlefield

Littlefield and area artists are making plans to show their paintings and handicrafts at the sixth annual Sidewalk Art Festival, to be staged in Littlefield during Festivities Days from 1 to 8 p.m., Friday, Aug. 24. The event is sponsored by "We The Women", Littlefield Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, Hart Thaxton Hardware, Littlefield Glass Works, The Gallery, Perry Brothers Variety, and the Art Associations of Littlefield.

Registration begins at 1 p.m. in the 500 block on the west side of Phelps Avenue. The actual viewing will begin at 3 p.m. The number of works exhibited will be limited to five per entrant. All artists who have completed work within the past 12 months are invited to exhibit their work.

Work will be classified as follows: Adult Oil and Acrylic, Adult Water Color, Adult Ink and Pastel, Intermediate (age 15 to 18), Junior (14 and under), and Crafts.

Popular vote of the viewing public will determine the winners. The winners will receive gift certificates, cash prizes and ribbons. The announcement of winners will be made before the close of the show at 8 p.m. The cash awards will come from "We, The Women" and the gift certificates for frames and art supplies will be provided by Hart - Thaxton Hardware, Littlefield Glass Works, The Gallery and Perry Brothers Variety.

An area will be provided for visiting artists to relax. Hot dogs, sandwiches, cakes, and drinks will be available at a food booth, sponsored by "We The Women".

A separate section will be provided for the sale of works that are not entered in the contest and are not judged. Works are limited to five per exhibitor, and paintings for sale must have the artists name, address and price on the back.

As a final climax to the Art Festival, there will be several oil paintings given away by the various art clubs of Littlefield. The public (adults only) is invited to register for these paintings during the show. Names will be drawn from the registration box to determine the winners. You need not be present to win.

In case of inclement weather, a building will be available for the exhibit.

Chairmen for the sixth annual Sidewalk Art Festival are Mrs. Barbara Perrin of Littlefield and Mrs. Neva Busby of Springlake.

Tuesday night the 13-year-old All-Stars opened tournament play with a 20-6 win over Lubbock. Barry Copeland went all the way for Slaton on the mound.

Lubbock scored 5 runs in the first inning and 1 in the second to lead 6-0, but the defensive play held after this. Slaton had 3 double plays in the game.

Brad Clark and Roddy Smith each had one hit, Lonnie Ardrey and Copeland had 2 hits. Brad

Slaton FFA News

Fort Worth is the host city for the annual Future Farmers of America State Convention being held July 11, 12, and 13. Joe Alspaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alspaugh, and David Gossett, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Gossett, will receive their Lone Star Farmer degrees at this year's convention. The Lone Star Farmer degree is the highest degree in FFA offered on the State level. To receive this, a Future Farmer must meet outstanding requirements in leadership and supervised farming programs.

David is president of the Slaton FFA and holds an office in the Lubbock District of FFA. He is a member of the National Honor Society, and was a representative to Boys State during his junior year.

David's project program has included cotton crops, sows for pig production and he has shown barrows at every major livestock show in Texas.

He was a member of the Livestock Judging team that was sixth in the state in 1972, and represented Slaton in meats judging in 1973 also on the state level.

Gossett received a scholarship to South Plains College for his livestock judging ability.

Alspaugh, who will be a senior next fall, has one of the largest and most practical project programs in the state.

He represented Slaton at Boys State this summer and is also a member of the National Honor Society. He holds an office in the local FFA Chapter, and is a good candidate for the presidency of his chapter in the fall.

Alspaugh's project program consists of registered Angus cows, registered Duroc sows, grain sorghums and irrigated cotton land.

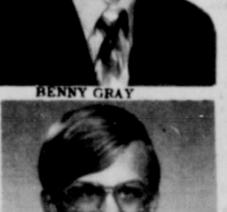

He has been to the state judging contest at A and M, two times as a member of the poultry judging team, and has been a member of the chapter conducting team.

He was selected by his VA teachers as the outstanding junior in the local FFA. He will be a logical candidate for the American Farmer degree, which is the highest degree offered on the national level.

Cooper FFA

Three members of the Cooper FFA Chapter were awarded the State Lone Star Farmer Degree at the State FFA Convention held in Fort Worth. The state degree is the highest a member can receive on the state level of FFA. The Lone Star Farmer Degree is based upon a member's outstanding achievements in leadership, cooperation, chapter and community activities, and their project program in agriculture.

Members from the Cooper Chapter receiving the awards are Dennis Pate, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcom Pate; Joel Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Green; and Benny Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Gray.
