Almost weekly, guidebooks prepared by the federal writers' project pop from the presses. From various presses, be it at ded, since some are printed by the govern-ment at Washington, and some are farmed out to private publishers. The ones this reviewer has seen have been extraordinarily good far better than anyone has a right to expect from communal effort of this sort. One of the best just has arrived from Provincetown, Mass., that tourist-ridden little town on the fist of Cape Cod.

This book is also (so far as this department knows) unique in that its author, Jeremiah Digges, is the only writer so far in the guidebook series who had been given permiss'on to publish with a by-line. Mr. Digges did not do all the research by any means, but he did put the material into shape and write the text. He did a corking job of it,

FRANKIE PARKER CLINCHES DAVIS CUP FOR AMERICA THE SPORTS YOUNGSTER Watkins And Weber About Tonight Giants And PARADE BEATS HARE By HANK HART-6-2, 6-4, 6-2

The coming heavyweight fight between Joe Louis, current reigning king of the superdreadnaughts, Tommy Farr, labeled as the heat British heavyweight since Charlie Mitchell, is really nothing more than an exhibition of Louis' prowess.

The arrival of Farr to these shores can be accredited to Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century club of New York City who at the same time brought a fellow by the name of Marcil Thil to America.

The only difference between the two, other than the fact that Farr is a heavyweight and Thil is fighting among the middleweights, is that the Frenchman is supposed to be champion of the International Boxing association which takes care of France and England but not the United States.

national tennis trophy for the first time since 1927. Budge's victory came after 21-year-old Frankie Parker of Milwaukee had clinched the cup with an astonishing straight set triumph over Charles Edgar Hare, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, thus making the final score four victories for the United States against one for Great Britain's unsuccessful cup defenders.

Mattern Tunes Up Ship For Flight He Hopes To Make To Moscow

POLAR PEGASUS

Here's the prow of "The Texan," the Lockheed plane which Jimmie Mattern hopes to nose over the North Pole to Moscow on a flight from San Diego, retracing the spectacular hops of Russian airmen. That's Jimmie in the cockpit. Note the bucking bronco "trademark." Mattern is famed as a long distance flier.

Rev. W. S. Garnett scrutinized the painting his wife's uncle had kiven her. To him it seemed that the picture lacked that something which lifts the canvas from arti ficiality to distinctiveness. He said as much, and added the typical masculine boast "I could do better hiyself."

"Why don't you, then?" said Mrs. Carnett in an pointed attempt to close the argument. Instead, she drove her husband to his hobby.

Rev. Garnett, pastor of the East Fourth Baptist church, marched bodily to a paint store, laid in a store of oils, got a canvas, procured a palette and knife, a few brushes and set to work. He found the art of painting was hardly as easy as talking about it, but he found it interesting. Moreover, it furn shed a splendid means of relaxation and expression.

A Second Start

Rev. Garnett painted first one landscape and then another before he ventured to show any of his works. He chanced to take them to Mrs. Edith Lavelle, local art teacher, and she offered criticism and suggestions, and even encouragement.

The parson junked his first paintings and began all over again. He drove to the foot of Signal Mountain and sketched a view he had always admired. But it seemed that it was too drab, for he painted it in the winter season. So last week, he retrieved the canvas and retouched it with new colors.

What he and others consider his best painting is one of Nat Shick's rustic bridge in the city park during the snows of last winter. Here Rev. Garnett displayed the spirit of a real artist and a genuine hobbyist. Despite sub-freezing temperatures, he set up his easel and went to work.

IT'LL BE A DUET.

In his contemplated trans-polar flight, Pilot Jimmie Mattern (left) will be accompanied by H. S. Jones (right) as navigator. Here they are examining one of the instruments, Government approval of the hop was not immediately forthcoming.

RIP FOR TWO - $90,000. This is a ground view of the $90,000, twin-motored Lockheed plane that is being groomed for the Mattern-Jones flight over the North Pole to Moscow. It is equipped with the '-'c' t in flying devices and the eight-passenger cabin was outfitted with a 1.150-gallon gasoline tank. The flight is scheduled for August.

NEW YORK-An agent of this department, who lives in Nyack, reports some weird happenings in that little hamlet on the other side of the Hudson. . . . Nyack is a pic-turesque village about 30 minutes away where Helen Hayes lives and in the neighborhood where Maxwell Anderson, the playwright, also hides out.

Burgess Meredith has a home nearby, too, a very pretty one they say, in the hills within sight of Anderson's abode, which, really, is only a cocoanut's throw (if you're Johnny Weissmuller) from High Tor, that promontory of the Pali-sades which became famous as the name of New York's best drama of the year, all Pulitzer Prize awards to the contrary notwithstanding.

Weird happening No. 1: Just as everybody was scurrying about and whipping up breakfast, one day last week, a fire broke out and the fire department came arunning.
