CLASSES SET SATURDAY

Bomb Hoax Empties High School

Another bomb hoax — the second in recent months — emptied the high school building Wednesday just before noon, giving students the rest of the day off. But if the caller was expecting some free time off, he could be frustrated, because high school students will have to make up the missed time by attending classes this Saturday morning.

Mrs. Troyce Wood received a telephone call at the Slaton school administrative offices about 11:10 a.m. Wednesday. The caller, a male, said there was a bomb in the high school building, and hung up. No time for any explosion was given.

Principal M. W. Kerr and Slaton Police Dept. were notified and the building was evacuated. A search by police and firemen turned up nothing, but Chief of Police Fred Clark, Kerr and Supt. J. C. McClesky decided that students should not be allowed to return to the building Wednesday afternoon, since the building search could not be thorough in such a short time.

Supt. McClesky said that high school students must report at 9 a.m. Saturday to their third period classes. Classes of one hour will be continued through 1 p.m. with no time out for lunch, making up the missed third, fourth, fifth and sixth period classes. He explained that this is necessary, since the Texas Education Agency requires that students attend all classes for 180 days, and Slaton already has used up all of its time out of classes.

Any further classes missed in the future for the same reason also will be made up on Saturdays, school officials said. Students in other schools, of course, do not have to go to classes this Saturday.

Anyone with any information about who made the phone call is requested to contact the police, school officials or the newspaper. The Slatonite will protect

Absentee Vote Now Underway

Absentee balloting in the first Democratic primary May 4 is now underway, and any persons wishing to vote absentee in that election may do so at the county tax substation in Lubbock.

The tax substation on the east side of the square is open from 8:30 to 5 p.m. during the week. Anyone planning to be out of town may vote absentee until April 30.

Several county races are drawing considerable interest in Slaton, with primary interest on the Precinct 2 commission race, where incumbent Max Arrants is opposed by Coy Biggs. Both are residents of Slaton.

the identity of anyone giving any information on the bomb calls.

In other police activity this week, officers investigated three cases of vandalism and a wreck. Last Thursday rocks were thrown through windows at Bryant's Farm Supply and Forrest Lumber Co. and a soft drink bottle shattered a window in the home of Mrs. Mary Watson, 445 W. Panhandle. The Forrest window was a large one valued at $135.

Nothing was reported missing in a burglary at Evans Day Care Center, 1000 E. Geneva, where entry was made by breaking a glass in a door Monday.

At 1200 S. 9th Saturday, a 1972 pickup driven by Carel Ray Whisenhunt and a 1970 truck driven by Wayne Todd West collided, with damage totaling $150.

School Board Looks For Added Revenue

Slaton school board reorganized Tuesday night, naming Joe Gamble as new president, discussed a number of items, mostly related to financial problems, and moved to get updated renditions on personal property in the district.

The board authorized business manager Edwin Knight to contact patrons in the district to obtain more accurate figures on personal property owned by farmers and merchants.

The athletic department of the school system was reorganized with separate and equal positions of athletic directors for boys and girls activities created. Bill Curry, who has been athletic director for all sports, will serve as athletic director for boys, and Mrs. Gay Benson was named athletic director for girls, at $2600 above salary schedule. The plan was instituted on the recommendation of Supt. J. C. McClesky.

In the monthly assessment of finances, McClesky told the board that a deficit of as much as $65,000 is possible when the school ends its year Aug. 31. At the end of last year the deficit was about $41,000. This led to the discussion of personal property tax renditions, and also brief discussion of the necessity of raising school taxes this year.

Inflation and rising costs, requirements of putting employees under workman's compensation, a scheduled mandatory $1,000-a-year increase in salaries of all teachers and administrative personnel, and the increase in the minimum wage law all are factors which affect the school, the superintendent pointed out.

Among cost items, Administrative Assistant Joe Sparkman pointed out that repairs to one 1964 school bus have cost the school $2100 this year.

Resignations of 12 faculty members — some of whom just didn't return their contracts — were noted. Seven are SELCO personnel, and the others include James R. Edwards, junior high coach; Gary Mosier, assistant coach at high school; Mrs. Sara Holloman, 6th grade math; Mrs. Joyce Whitley, language arts; and Lesly McCuiston, building trades. Mrs. Betty Knight is now employed in Mrs. Holloman's position, and Miss Jan Johnson has replaced Mrs. Whitley.

The fall school term will start in the summer, as has been the practice in recent years, with first day of classes scheduled Aug. 16. The board adopted the school calendar for next year as presented by Sparkman. Christmas holidays begin with school out on Dec. 20, a Friday, and classes resume Jan. 6, 1975. Spring break next year will be March 24-28.

R. C. Hall Jr. was named vice-president of the board, and Mrs. Bettie Burks elected secretary. Don Kendrick, who did not seek re-election, presided until Gamble was elected. Kendrick and Tommy Davis Jr. each had served on the board for nine years. Kendrick told the board that "It really has been a rewarding nine years. . . there have been some rocks in the road, and I'm sure there (see SCHOOL, Page 3)

PRAISE THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD

"For I am the Lord — I do not change." (Mal. 3:6)

"But whatever is good and perfect comes to us from God, the Creator of all light, and he shines forever without change or shadow." (James 1:17)

"Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever." (Heb. 13:8)

There are many scriptures that declare that God has not changed. In fact, all through the Bible, it declares that He is the same today.

If Jesus were to walk into your room today, what would you ask him for? If you're physically sick and in pain, wouldn't you ask him to heal you? If you're having emotional problems, wouldn't you ask him to heal those? If you're having problems with finances, wouldn't you ask him to help in that area? More than that, if you're needing to know how to love and trust Jesus for the first time, don't you think he would show you how? This can and does happen today, because He is the same today, and He walks into our room in the form of the Holy Spirit, and He delights in answering our every need.

Does your heart thirst to know more about Jesus, like the woman at the well?

I would like to remind you of a couple of meetings that are to be in our area this week, where you can sit and listen to someone who has given her life to God and who shares it so beautifully with others. That's Sister Margarita Jimenez, a spirit-filled Catholic nun, who has the following speaking engagements in Slaton:

Thursday (tonight) at 8 p.m. — in the chapel of First United Methodist Church. Both men, women, young people and all are invited.

Sunday, 2 p.m. — St. Joseph's hall, for all women of the area.

Sunday, 4 p.m. — all teenagers of the area.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to express my appreciation to friends, neighbors and relatives who sent cards, made phone calls of inquiry, and gifts to me while I was a patient in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

A great big thank you, folks, to Rev. and Mrs. Jack Bell and the members of the Missionary Church for their prayers and cards. Also to Mom who took such good care of me after I returned home, also to J. B.

God bless each and every one.

Hazel Carr

IGNORANCE

"The times of ignorance therefore God overlooked; but now he commandeth men that they should all everywhere repent." (Acts 17:30)

How often have you heard someone say, "I don't claim to know the Bible. I just can't understand it." Perhaps you have made this statement yourself. Many feel somewhat secure in the fact that they do not know what the Bible says, feeling that they will be excused from its requirements simply because they have made no effort to learn them. The judgment day will be a disappointing one to them, for the Lord has promised to accept no such excuse.

If you would spend eternity with God, you must study the Bible and obey its precepts in your life. The lazy attitude which expects to get by simply on what is heard from the pulpit is one that will destroy the soul.

"Study to show thyself approved unto God." (2 Tim. 2:15) Remember, ignorance of God's word will not excuse us from meeting our responsibilities. God no longer overlooks ignorance.

Rabies Cases Still Occur

Rabies is a subject that has lost its concern to the average person unless...

Your dog is picked up and impounded for not having a rabies tag...

A pet goes wild, frothing at the mouth...

Or, maybe your child is bitten by a stray dog, or wild animal, which runs away.

Then, rabies becomes very personal. You may have to pay a fine, have your pet put to sleep and a rabies examination performed, or - worse - have your child submit to a series of painful rabies shots.

During 1973, reports the Veterinary Public Health Division of the State Health Department, there were 271 laboratory confirmed animal rabies cases in Texas. This is a decrease from the 343 cases reported in 1972 but still a sizable figure.

The State Health Department furnished 721 antirabies treatment series to people of the state in 1973.

Only a small fraction of the cases of confirmed rabies appeared in pets. But, during 1973, seven dogs and 18 cats had confirmed rabies cases.

Most pet owners are extremely lax about having their cats vaccinated.

Forty cases of rabies were confirmed in livestock during 1973, five more cases than were reported the previous year. Cattle accounted for 23 cases, horses 16 cases and sheep one case.

Rabies in livestock can be a dangerous situation for both farmers and ranchers and for veterinarians. Often in attempting to diagnose an animal's illness, a person will expose himself to rabies.

Wildlife produced the largest number of rabies cases last year. Two hundred six rabies cases were confirmed in wildlife, and skunks headed the list with more than half the total. Skunks accounted for 140 cases, foxes 31 cases and bats 26 cases. Rabies also was found in raccoons, bobcats, coyotes and ring-tails.

Which brings up another good point. If you observe any wild animal acting strangely, with no fear of man, keep away from it. Also train your children to avoid animals in the wild. These friendly animals could be rabid. It's a sure bet that something is wrong if they don't flee from man.

Rabies appeared in 97 Texas counties last year, and suspected rabies specimens were sent into State Department of Health Laboratories from all sections of the state. In fact, 6,757 specimens were received by Health Department laboratories for rabies examinations.

Rabies may be of little concern to the average person these days, but to your State Health Department and local health departments rabies still is a very serious matter. You can do your part to insure the safety of your family and friends by having all pets vaccinated against this disease.

Harley Sadler Mementoes Sought

Remember the nostalgia that Texas Tech's University Theater is looking for. "Toby" was the stage character made famous by the late Harley Sadler of Sweetwater, tent show entrepreneur of the 1920's, 30's and 40's whose traveling repertory company brought live theater each summer to the towns and communities of West Texas and the Texas Panhandle.

Plans are under way to revive the tent show concept this summer, using some of Sadler's plays if possible, and we are in need of all the information we can get concerning the productions," said University Theater Director Richard Weaver.

Old playbills, play scripts, mementoes and especially recollections about Harley Sadler and his company will be greatly appreciated, Weaver said.

Details about many of these early-day productions are lacking as much of Sadler's personal collection of mementoes and keepsakes were loaned to a Washington correspondent following the producer's death in 1954 and subsequently were lost or destroyed.

Information may be sent directly to Weaver or to Dr.

Clifford Ashby, professor of speech and theatre arts, University Theater, Texas Tech, Lubbock 79409. The telephone number to call is 742-2153.

Sadler productions have been described as "good, clean, wholesome family entertainment, productive of both laughter and tears." Some of his most popular titles included "Saintly Hypocrites and Honest Sinners," "Ten Nights in a Barroom," "The Awakening of John Slater" and "Laugh That Off." In the 30's he added several Broadway hits to the repertoire, such as "The Family Upstairs," "Skidding," and "Tommy."

A performer as well as a producer, Harley played an important role in each of the plays, usually as the country bumpkin who outwitted the city slickers, and sometimes as "G. Siring," an old man comic whose make-up included a bald wig with a white fringe of hair, wire-rimed glasses, a white goatee and a cane.

The company, which often numbered as many as 40 persons, including the orchestra and the members of Sadler's own family (his wife Billie and his daughter Gloria), usually traveled by motorcade, and played many of the same towns on the same date year after year.

Noted for his generosity and public spirit, Sadler attended local civic clubs, church services, and school functions wherever he went, points out Suzanne de Pauw Ricker, graduate student at Texas Tech, in her master's thesis entitled "Harley Sadler and His Own Company."

"Everywhere Harley Sadler and His Own Company went," writes Mrs. Ricker, "they were welcome. They had the reputation for never playing in a town without putting money back into that town. . . they became 'citizens' of the towns they visited." Sadler put his show in storage during World War II and in 1942 opted for a political career. After three terms as state representative from Nolan, Mitchell and Fisher Counties, he and Mrs. Sadler moved to Abilene, where he was elected to the House from Taylor County.

If you can't get PIONEER Brand 8311 here are some excellent alternative hybrids for High Plains farmers.

Pioneer Brand 8311, the "Golden Bronze Yield Leader," has been our most popular hybrid this year — so popular, in fact, that it may be in short supply in some areas. One reason is that the demand has been so great downstate where 8311's disease tolerance is so important. Fortunately, there are several other Pioneer Brand hybrids that are proven top performers on the High Plains. If you can't get 8311, ask your dealer about these.

PIONEER Brand 8417

This versatile yellow endosperm sorghum is a champion yielder in the medium-late maturity class, for irrigated or non-irrigated land. It has large open heads, uniform head height, strong stalks for easy threshing, good tolerance to smut and anthracnose.

PIONEER Brand 820

This top-notch full-season hybrid, is a consistently high yielder. Excellent drought resistance and standability plus good roots and stalks make it a good choice for irrigated or non-irrigated farming on the plains.

PIONEER Brand 828

One of the highest yielding sorghums you can plant, this full-season hybrid responds well to good management on good land with plenty of water. Plains growers like it because it holds its quality and threshes well even after an early freeze. It produces sturdy stalks with semi-compact heads of dark red grain.

PIONEER Brand 846

Famous for its versatility and adaptability, this medium maturity hybrid yields along with the full-season varieties. Resistant to smut, rust and MDM, its outstanding hybrid vigor and excellent drought resistance help it turn in consistently high yields even under stress.

Park Service Readies Plans To Save Energy

HOUSTON — Detailed plans to help Americans visit national parks with a minimum use of gasoline and other forms of energy are being developed by all 298 National Park Service areas, the American Automobile Association reports.

AAA says some of the plans, designed to reduce fuel consumption and private auto traffic in the parks, are already in effect. Hired vehicles serve visitors to the Lyndon B. Johnson National Historic Site in Texas, mini-trains carry visitors to widely spaced points of interest in Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado, and shuttle buses are in use at a number of other sites, including Yosemite Valley in California, the Shark Valley area of Everglades National Park, Mount McKinley National Park in Alaska, and Grand Canyon National Park in Arizona. At Grand Canyon, an expanded bus fleet of 12 vehicles will serve the west rim when the tourist season moves into full swing this Spring.

Some energy saving devices are new, like the electric bus being tested in the National Capital Parks to provide quiet, pollution-free travel in Washington, D.C.

An older method is represented by a fleet of pre-1937 buses that are used in Glacier National Park to move visitors over the road from Lake McDonald to Logan Pass — a road too narrow for modern vehicles.

AAA says the park service is working with the Department of Transportation and the Department of Housing and Urban Development to offer mass-transit links between the railroads and the New York Gateway recreation areas.

HELPING HOUSE PLANTS

House plants that aren't growing well are often suffering from such things as foliar and root diseases, restricted root growth, improper watering, and poor light and fertility management. A brief check of the plants can help find the problem, suggests a plant pathologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Applying nitrogen and repotting can help if leaves are yellowing and dying. Overwatering causes yellowing of the entire plant as does root rot. Fungicides can help prevent root rot. Keep plants out of hot or cold drafts and away from direct sunlight. Avoid wetting the leaves of the plant when watering.

Citizens Urged To Join Prayer, Fasting April 30

Slaton citizens are being urged to participate in a national day of "humiliation, fasting and prayer" proclaimed April 30 by the U. S. Congress, and four churches here will have services that day emphasizing the importance of worship and prayers to people everywhere.

Services scheduled that day, a Tuesday, will be as follows:

7 a.m. — First Baptist Church.

8 a.m. — St. Joseph's

Catholic Church.
12 noon — First United Methodist Church.

7 p.m. — Trinity Evangelical Methodist Church.

The resolution in Congress points out that this nation and its people have been richly blessed, but that many appear to have forgotten God, and "have vainly imagined, in the deceitfulness of our hearts, that all these blessings were produced by some superior wisdom and virtue of our own; and we have become . . . too proud to pray to the God that made us; and . . . have made such an idol out of our pursuit of 'national security' that we have forgotten that only God can be the ultimate guardian of our true livelihood and safety; and

Whereas, it therefore behooves us to humble ourselves before Almighty God, to confess our national sins, and to pray for clemency and forgiveness: Now, therefore be it

Resolved, . . . that the Congress hereby proclaims that April 30, 1974 be a National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer; and calls upon the people of our nation to humble ourselves as we see fit, before our Creator to acknowledge our final dependence upon Him and to repent of our national sins."

Shelving—A Decorative Idea

COLLEGE STATION — Shelves can transform meaningless corners and over-sized, empty walls into useful, attractive areas, one authority says.

"Besides serving as versatile storage and display units, shelving works as a decorating aid," Anna M. Gottschalk, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas A&M University System, noted.

Used properly, shelves provide unity of space and shape, she said.

"For example, to unify a room, match shelf color to that of the room.

"To accent shelving, cover the wall behind it with contrast — using colorful cloth, paper or paint.

"Another possibility involves papering shelves and wall with a dynamic print."

For shelving, the specialist advised consumers to keep personal needs in mind — but remember that flexibility results in long-lasting use. Also, plan shelves in relation to the room and surrounding spaces.

"Available either unfinished or finished — in wood stains or bright enamel paints — individual shelves are sold in many different lengths and widths.

"To install them, use brackets or standards especially designed for flexible use.

"Or, stack shelves from the floor, using sturdy vertical supports — such as bricks or building blocks."

Overall interest increases through use of different shelf lengths — and varying space between shelves, Miss Gottschalk added.

16,830,000,000 Pages! That's Fantastic!

By Clarence Duncan

Three huge web offset presses work full time in printing The Living Bible in Versailles, Ky., Kingsport, Tenn., and Taunton, Mass. Already the 16½-million Bibles which have rolled off these presses have consumed a quantity of paper which, when loaded into railroad box cars, would stretch for six miles. That's 38,744,800 pounds of paper packed in 472 box cars.

Even the 15-inch binding cloth in each Bible, rolled out end to end, would reach from Washington, D.C., to Salt Lake City Utah . . . or 1,762 miles in any direction.

While aside from the actual message contained in each Living Bible, the ink used in printing these words has no meaning, the 311,000 pounds of the black stuff would fill six railroad tank cars . . . or a 35,000 gallon olympic swimming pool.

830 million) pages of Living Bible. Nearly 17 million copies of The Living Bible have been sold since this paraphrased version by Dr. Kenneth N. Taylor was issued just after Thanksgiving in 1971. There is no way to measure the spiritual impact of this Bible in the idiom of the day, except to say it has been fantastic.

Each Bible has a cover board in front and in back. These are 5½ by 8½ inches, and the quantity used thus far if they could be stacked so high, would reach 151 miles in the air. This is the distance between London, England, and Paris, France.

Much time is involved in the production of The Living Bible. So far, the presses have run 7,900 man hours, or four years of 40-hour work weeks for one person, with a two week vacation each year thrown in for good measure.

It takes that long to print 16,830,000,000 (16 billion—
