Slaton Police Officer Of Year Announced

Senior Patrolman Jerry Edwards was named "Slaton Police Officer of the Year" Friday night as members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and citizens of Slaton paid tribute to the Slaton Police Dept. in the annual Police Appreciation Banquet at VFW Hall. It was the first time the banquet has been open to the public.

In making the announcement and presenting the plaque to Edwards, Police Chief Fred Clark commented that "If there's anything going on, you can look up and he's almost always there. He's one of the finest police officers I've ever worked with, and he gets along with his fellow officers... and when there's a job to be done, he does it without having to be told."

Chief Clark also was presented a plaque by members of the department, and the department was presented plaques of appreciation from the sponsoring veterans groups. Fifteen certificates of appreciation were presented by Clark to various organizations and individuals, for their support of the police department or for outstanding work in the department. These went to the Lubbock County Sheriff's office, Wayne Perkins, American Legion, VFW, Alex Webb, Alvin Schmidt, Jim Dulin, Dutch Robinson, Dispatchers Maxine Davis, Debbie Robison, Deway Strain and Gary Gilbert, to Billy Weaver, Edwards and Asst. Chief Wayne Smith.

Mayor John Landreth, principal speaker at the event, announced that the city has contracted to buy a building to be remodeled for a new police department and jail. Landreth, advocating citizen support of the officers, observed that "99 per cent of the people of Slaton are law-abiding, and the other one per cent cause the trouble."

1972 Is Record Year For Santa Fe Industries

Santa Fe Industries had a record 1972 and is on its way toward new records in 1973, John S. Reed, chairman, told stockholders at the annual meeting held in Chicago today. "According to present forecasts, we will substantially exceed $1 billion in revenues," Reed stated.

Revenues have increased in each of the five years since formation of Santa Fe Industries and, except for 1970, income before extraordinary items has also exceeded the previous year. Reed said that this encouraging trend has continued in 1973 with attainment of a new high in net income of $27.3 million for first four months compared with $23.7 million in 1972, and increase of 15%, while earnings per share rose to $1.07 from 95 cents.

In 1972 the transportation group, comprised of railway, truck, pipeline and air freight operations, account for 90 per cent of revenues and 67 per cent of income before federal income tax. During the first four months of 1973, railway operating revenues increased $35 million reflecting increases of 9 per cent in carloadings and 12 per cent in revenue ton-miles. However, railway operating income was down slightly due to an increase of 15 per cent in hourly wage rates since March 1972; higher costs associated with efforts to expedite export grain movements; and substantial increases in prices of fuel and material, while freight rates were up on 3 per cent. Reed emphasized the urgent need for I.C.C. to grant promptly the railroads' request for a freight rate increase of 5 per cent to offset at least partially these higher labor and other costs. Santa Fe's real estate group showed the largest percentage gain income before federal income taxes in 1972. With the addition of Robert E. McKee, Inc., and the Zia Company in January of 1973, this group should again produce increases in revenue and income, Reed said.

Reed pointed to Santa Fe

Air Freight Company and Gulf Central Pipeline as problem areas in Santa Fe's profit picture. He outlined recent improvements in the air freight company operation, but reported it was not yet on a profitable basis, and described 1973 as a crucial period. The most important element in the continued unprofitability of Gulf Central Pipeline is the shortage of natural gas for production of anhydrous ammonia, he reported. Reed stated that one of Santa Fe's major strengths is the ability of railroads to provide transportation service with relatively lower consumption of energy and less pollution than any other surface form of transportation.

Senior Citizens' Problems Discussed

Stretching retirement dollars to meet needs and wants poses a stumbling block to Senior Citizens on fixed incomes.

"Increased costs -- especially those of food and medical care -- are making it harder for retired persons to make ends meet," Mrs. Doris Myers, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, reported.

"Simply parting with some long-held asset often will help ease the strain."

"It's a good idea to take inventory of all assets to see where you stand," she advised. "There comes a time in everyone's life when it's a good idea to 'dis-save.' That is start using up some of the accumulated assets you've strived so hard to retain."

Many older persons have saved for that "rainy day" and are so afraid times will get worse, they refuse to cash in any asset, the specialist asserted.

"With other retirees, it's a different story. Assets are limited, or there aren't any at all."

"Stretching a small retirement pension or welfare check to last 30 days is almost impossible."

"However planning the use of income before it's spent can help anyone do a better job."

Turning to specific budget plans, Mrs. Myers suggested listing regular income -- including payments from a retirement system, social security benefits, pensions or veterans benefits, and other sources, such as help from relatives. Also money from hobbies or part time work.

"Be sure to list all money that comes in during any given period."

"Next list all fixed expenses, such as rent or mortgage payment, taxes, insurance and debt payments."

"Then list variable items and their cost, such as food, household operation and maintenance, medical care and clothing."

"This list may be very long, but for a true spending plan, all items must be included."

She directed the budget-maker to look over items carefully and cut down or eliminate items, if necessary, to make expenses and income balance.

"When money is short, more drastic cuts have to be made. Be sure to include enough money to provide adequate nutrition -- without proper food the medical expenses are sure to increase."

Mrs. Myers also suggested getting a copy of the bulletin, "A Guide to Budgeting for the Retired Couple," House and Garden Bulletin No. 194, United States Department of Agriculture.

These are available at the local County Extension Agent's office or can be ordered from Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Often -- puzzling weight gain for older persons, who eat less than in slimmer days, is usually due to tricky, "hidden" calories.

"Senior citizens need fewer calories each day than the middle-aged," Karen Kreipke, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University, said.

"This is because of changes in body chemistry, as well as a decrease in activity."

"A woman over 55 years of age needs about the same number of calories as a child four to six years old -- about 1700 calories."

"A man over 55 needs about the same number of calories as a boy 10 years old -- about 2400 calories."

Miss Kreipke noted that calories "hidden" in everyday foods such as cream and sugar for coffee, gravy for bread or potatoes, and butter, margarine or jelly for toast add to the daily calorie total significantly.

She tallied the "hidden" calories in those foods.

"One cup black coffee or tea has no calories, while adding a tablespoon of light cream and a teaspoon sugar gives it 47 calories."

"One cup of skim milk has 90 calories, while one cup whole milk has 160."

"A half cup mashed potatoes has 62 calories, but adding milk and butter gives it about 90."

"One slice of bread has 70 calories -- a teaspoon and a half of butter or margarine adds 50 more calories. Count 25 more calories for a teaspoon and a half of jelly."

To solve the dilemma of high-calorie desserts, Miss Kreipke suggested fruits.

Fuel Allocation Program Slows Summer Shortage Problem

Despite continued reports of spot shortages, voluntary allocation of gasoline supplies appears to have "alleviated some of the problems" Deputy Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon has told the American Automobile Association.

He added that though he also has the authority to institute mandatory controls and will hold public hearings to determine whether they will be needed during the tight summer season, the present "plan is about as voluntary as your income tax."

A survey of more than 250 gasoline stations in 16 states -- tends to confirm a current broad availability of gasoline for motorists.

Simon, who as chairman of the Oil Policy Committee holds the power to implement rationing in a fuel emergency, stressed that there still may be certain acute shortages in some areas from Memorial Day through Labor Day. However, Simon agreed that motorists need not shelve summer vacation plans if they and oil companies continue to cooperate.

Motorists can avoid major inconveniences in areas where gasoline supplies are tight by "driving on the top half" -- keeping their fuel tanks above the half-full mark and by filling up during the day on Fridays or Saturdays to skirt Sunday closings some stations now are employing.

A total of 562 stations, less than a quarter of one per cent of the approximately 220,000 gasoline stations in the U. S., were closed as of May 9, with

1,376 "threatened."

An oil industry spokesman indicated that a number of the closings, however, may not be directly caused by fuel shortages but by other factors. It is common for some 25 per cent of all stations to change hands each year -- bringing about temporary closings while the changeover takes place, he said.

Stations permanently closed have been on the increase since 1970, while the rate of new station openings has declined. He stated that the total number of gasoline stations in the U. S. has decreased approximately 2,000 each year since 1970.

Capulin Mountain, New Mexico. It is a June day, and we are approaching the base of this huge cinder cone volcano, with its almost perfect rim.

As we circle up the road to reach the summit, the cinder smell is inescapable, and on the plain below we see lava beds still definitely outlined after the centuries since Capulin last erupted.

Once at the top, we follow the rim of the crater on foot. At one place the shrubs and scrubby trees are leaning into the prevailing west wind. The direction of their growth is not governed by the west wind, but by the updraft from the crater. The cone wind, not the west wind, is master of the direction in which this vegetation grows.

What wind is prevailing in the direction our lives are taking? Is it the wind that contorts and blights and is ruinous? Or is it the wind of the spirit of God determining the direction because we have accepted Jesus as our Saviour, and we want our lives "to tell for Jesus?"

PRAYER: O God, we yield ourselves to the influence of Thy governing spirit. Direct us in the way You would have us go. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
I want God's spirit to give my life direction.

WOOD

This life is so busy for most people. And it seems like the only way we can take some quiet time with the Lord each day, is to just plain take it. If we don't, then we find that we have come to the end of another day, and didn't really take that quiet time again. Of course the Lord knows our intentions. But our good intentions don't really get anything done.

We want to quote the following "modern parable" which we ran across the other day. It's a little depressing, but very well may be the truth. And sometimes the truth does hurt. However, the truth, when we accept it, does set us free also.

Also, as you read this, keep in mind that it is not His will that any should perish, or that any should be turned away.

MODERN PARABLE

Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and greatest commandment." Matthew 22:37-38

And there once lived a woman whose name was Martha, and her century was the 20th.

She did lead a busy life, and many were her friends as well as her things. Martha did go here and there most all of the day and part of the night. A worker she was, a real worker. Martha worked for her church, and she worked for her community, and she worked for her family.

And Martha's church prospered and grew, and Martha's family prospered and grew.

And one day her church and her community and her family decided that Martha deserved special honors for her hard work, her unselfishness, her thoughtfulness of others.

So they did elect Martha "Typical Woman of the Twentieth Century", and from then on, even greater became her busy-ness.

Then Martha, one day, at the height of her busy-ness, was called to meet her Maker.

And Martha did say to her Maker: "Lord, I have come."

And her maker did answer: "Depart from me, Martha, for I never knew you."

And Martha then did begin to answer her Maker thus: "But Lord, I knew you. I am a member of your church, baptized and confirmed in it. I went every Sunday to its services. I gave generously, of my time and my money to it."

"And what about all the work I did for the community and for my family? That was work for you, wasn't it? Lord, I believe in You, I prayed to You. I gave thanks to You. I know you, Lord."

And Martha's Maker did answer: No, Martha, you don't know Me. You never knew Me. You never really opened your soul and invited just Me, alone, into it. You never once gathered all of your scattered, dis-integrated thoughts and gave them completely and utterly to Me. You never even sat still, perfectly still, long enough to gaze into My Face and know what it looks like. You have spoken at Me and about Me often, Martha, but you have never really spoken to Me.

"You don't even know what is the sound of My Voice, because you never quieted the tumult in your life long enough to hear it."

"Martha, I followed you, I called you, I pleaded with you to know Me--to make Me your dearest, your most intimate Friend--to let our companionship begin and grow and mature in that other world."

"But I could never reach you, Martha! I could never get into that mind of yours because it was so utterly full of that world's thoughts--not bad thoughts, Martha, not evil thoughts, but simply and entirely and completely thoughts of that world, those people, those things."

"I waited years and years hoping to find an entrance through your affections-- your heart, Martha! I meet so many people through their hearts, but yours was so full of other people. Oh, Martha, how you did love people: Your family, your friends -- good people, fine people and you should have loved them. If only you could have learned to love Me more than them. It has to be more, Martha.

"And your soul, Martha. I tried there hardest of all, but yours was so busy, Martha--so very busy. Even in your youth it had started to shrivel and die a little.

"If only you could have stopped along the way, and given it a little real nourishment, instead of all that superficial nourishment--even 15 minutes a day of stillness and aloneness, when I might have been able to make you hear Me and see Me.

"But Martha, I could not find even one minute of stillness in your soul.

"Or if you had continued the daily Bible reading of your young girlhood I could have used the WORD to enter into your soul and meet you.

"If only you had sat down, Martha. If only you had been alone awhile, Martha. If only you had stopped working, talking, moving--if only you had looked at Me, Martha--really looked at Me--I could have come to you, sat with you, talked to you, stayed with you! I could have known you, Martha, and you could have known Me--the real, living Me--and not just the world's picture of Me.

"Oh, Martha, I must say it to you: 'Depart from Me for I never knew you.'"

And at these words Martha did cry out: "But Lord, first, please, let me go back and tell my daughter about this. Let me just warn her to sit down and be still awhile before it's too late for her, too."

And Martha's Maker did answer: "No Martha. Each woman must make her own silences, her own stillnesses, if she really wishes Me to enter and know her. You cannot command or beg your daughter into doing this. She must make this choice herself--alone.

"Good-bye, Martha."

[Memo From Mac]
By REP. R. B. McALISTER

THE WORST hundred years... It has taken us 100 years plus, to pass a new penal code, but it was done this week, and if the 63rd had done nothing else, this I think, is a success story. It will take a few years to smooth out some rough spots though (and I hope we can have real judicial reform in the revised constitution too). Liveliest subject of debate on that penal code was "What is Nudity?" The law was made to state clearly that anyone parading the streets in Lady Godiva-style would be disturbing the peace (and traffic I might add).

HOW TO KILL a rattlesnake? Beat him on the head, not the tail. Much bad legislation is being killed this week by heading off the bills before they hit the House floor. One bill that got by us would require that all athletic equipment in schools be sterilized before every usage. Only thing is, is that just two companies in America sell that sort of equipment that all of us use. Hopefully this bill will die in Senate or by Governor veto.

WHAT IS A TEXAS Tech? To some it is an educational institution, but to the hard-headed business man it's also a major industry -- 75 million dollars will be pumped into Lubbock in the next two years.

FYI: The House and Senate were highly enthusiastic about the Texas Tech Medical School, with leaders in both Houses expressing belief that before any other medical schools are founded and funded, the Tech school (and the UT Med school in Houston) should be solidly developed.

"MR. PRESIDENT..." We've introduced a resolution extending an invitation from Texas to President Nixon to be our guests at the Coaches All America game the evening of June 23 in Lubbock. The President, along with the late Lyndon B. Johnson, have been invited each year, and my horseback opinion is the President would welcome an opportunity to fly away from WAW (Watergate and Washington).

MONKEY BUSINESS and the Bible. Rep. Leroy Weiting introduced a bill this week which would require all references to evolution in textbooks be specifically defined as theory not fact. I voted against the bill in committee -- it's confusing for both teachers and students.

YOU'VE BEEN great, folks! And you should know that your Beef Prices Got You Down?

AUSTIN -- Consumers lured by low advertised prices into interest and involvement in state government is four times what it was in the 62nd session. I've received several thousand letters and they've come from several thousand different people. In the past mail came in large volumes, but it was mimeograph from special interest groups. The winner in this year's "special interest" category: annual sessions and constitutional revision.

PROFILE: Rep. Frank Madla from San Antonio. A member of the American Association of University Professors and the American Political Science Association, this freshman is naturally devoted to educational reform in Texas. He says he campaigned on that platform and to his credit is the passed (although adjusted) version of HB 1066 providing for educational opportunity for students from economically deprived backgrounds. He is fascinated with the workings of the Legislature, and thinks "a term in the Legislature is worth more than all the government textbooks in the world." He's pulling for a special session devoted completely to getting something done about equalization of educational opportunity for all Texans.

THAT'S ALL FOLKS...MAC

buying beef on the low advertised price... warned that a 700-pound animal selling for $1.25 a pound will cost $1.25 by the time it is ready to be hamburger. And 30 per cent of the weight is water.

Only 44 per cent of the animal actually weighs edible cuts in your words Ed Whitehead, director of Consumer Services.

Live weight selling consumers is a real pain in beef sales prices in the supermarket, like this.

A company will sell a live animal by the low price. The price slightly for the animal slaughtered and dressed, and delivered beef are based on live weight.

Therein lies the pain. A 700-pound animal's original weight is 385 pounds, but the pays for 700 pounds of beef, what you would retail outlet trimmed bone, will be 44 per cent of the animal's weight, or 303 pounds.

The consumer pays more than $1.25 for the carcass or $1.25 for meat cut and specifications.

$122 and $142 per month, 33 years--

RELIGION IS NOW -- a weekly message relating the world of today to the lessons of Faith and Church . . .

— But go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. And as ye go, preach, saying, The kingdom of heaven is at hand. — Matt. 10.6, 7.

How many of us are like lost sheep to the will of God! Let us be mindful to the word of God and return to the flock of righteousness. We must give up our evil ways and surrender fully to God's love and mercy. To be without God is true loneliness.
