Coin Auction To Be One Of Celebration Features

An auction of the select first 10 sets of Slaton's first commemorative coin series will be one of the highlights of the Fourth of July Celebration in the city-county park here.

Plans for the celebration, including booths, a water fight, display of paintings and sculpture, exhibition of the old-fashioned art of quilting, ice cream, dunking board and other attractions were advanced at a meeting of the Slaton Bi-Centennial Committee in the Chamber of Commerce building Tuesday night.

Greeley Sanders, chairman of the Fourth of July celebration, said locomotive engine 1809, which has been on display in an area on Texas Ave. near the Santa Fe Depot, would be moved to the city square by July 4 as part of the bi-centennial observance which is officially being kicked off everywhere on that date.

Hospital To Benefit

All of the proceeds from the barbecue which will be sold at the park that day will go to Mercy Hospital, and a portion of the proceeds from all the other activities also will go to Mercy, for which a long-term fund campaign has been waged in order to provide enough to pay off a note which was borrowed to upgrade the hospital and keep it in operation here.

Groups wishing to have booths at the park during the observance are urged to contact the Chamber office, 828-6238.

The railroad theme and the motto "The Town Santa Fe Built" are prominent on the commemorative coins, many sets of which already have been purchased by businesses and individuals. Only the four-coin sets were numbered, and only 75 of these sets were minted. With drawings by Ada Mae Kitten, the coins show Engine 1809 on one side and the late O. L. Slaton on the other.

Sets of Four

Each set of four coins includes one 24-carat gold on .999 silver, one pure silver coin, one 10 gauge antique brushed silver coin and one antique bronze coin, each stamped with matching serial numbers on the coin edges and encased in engraved holders with the coins visible from both sides of the holder.

Sets numbered 1 through 10 were held back when sales were initiated and will be auctioned off to the highest bidders July 4. Coy Biggs will be auctioneer.

All other medals and coins — those not numbered — also will be on sale, not auctioned, at a booth on the park grounds.

Slaton Receives Sales Tax Money

Slaton received $8,399.18 as Comptroller Bob Bullock sent checks worth $28.8 million Friday to more than 800 towns and cities in the third round of monthly city sales tax rebates.

Bullock said the June payments were considerably higher than the previous two months because of big end-of-the-quarter tax payments made by merchants following the April 30 deadline for reporting taxes they collected from the public in January, February and March.

Bullock converted the city sales tax payments to a monthly system in April to get away from the old quarterly rebate system which had been in use since the start of the city sales tax and which forced cities to wait 60 to 90 days for their money.

Archer Bags Critter

Lynn Williams, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Williams of Route 2, Slaton, shot a porcupine with his bow and arrow in his back yard recently. The Williamses live on the Clarence Stephens farm.

"We're looking for a really big July 4 celebration in Slaton," Sanders said, "and we hope everyone will plan now to take part. It's going to be a lot of fun, for a worthy cause."

Sanders indicated that details on some of the other activities at the park would be available within the next two weeks.

Money Discussed

The board was closeted with attorney Charles Cobb regarding the latter issue and took no action after reconvening in open session. School board members also took no action on the matter of the tax value of the Jones Station unit, but did appear at odds with SWPS representative Malcolm Laing over how to arrive at an assessment figure.

It was only about 95, and we all had a hard time concentrating on our work. One day it, though — the people who came off the office Monday didn't tarry long. They left their business, or bought what they needed and left.

of the office help was too impressed with your cool comment that summer doesn't really start until Saturday.

is the hottest story we could come up with this week.

... three weeks ago when I was giving you how to save money on your trips (sponge off Uncle Orbie and Donald), I forgot to mention another way to save dough. Here's the way to do it:

When you are in a strange town on Sunday in the summertime, look for the community building, city park or school. Invariably you will find one or more family reunions going on at one of these places.

Then you get your family to fall into a line, talking animatedly to each other. You will be able to interrupt you before your plate loaded down. Smile brightly at everybody, and remember, nobody knows who you are at one of these reunions.

You can, then leave. Or, if you like, you can play a couple of games of horseshoes first. When someone asks you who you are, you say, "I mean you don't remember me? Go home and ask your yonder and see what she says."

And if they go to ask that lady, you say, "I got caught, tell them you're so sorry. You thought it was the Wood family reunion, or whatever your name is."

The Wood family has never had a reunion so far as I know. Most of us can't remember any other.

Windstorms Hit Mobil Homes

Texas windstorms, such as tornadoes and hurricanes can take deadly aim on mobile homes with disastrous results, according to J.O. (Jim) Smith, chairman of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association.

"Anyone who owns a home of any kind should be ready for a windstorm," Smith says, "but mobile home owners need to be extra cautious because of their vulnerability."

Smith says the TIAA recommends several ways for mobile home owners to prevent loss of life and to minimize destruction. Use an anchorage or tie down system to secure the mobile home on a yearround basis.

INSUR-MATION

By Bob Kern
Pember Insurance
828-6251

Is there a policy which will cover me for damages if I am injured as a result of the actions of a driver not owning liability insurance? Luckily there is such a policy and one that many people are not aware of. Personal injury Protection "no-fault" insurance is designed to insure you if you are injured by someone who does not have liability insurance... paying for the injuries you sustained in the accident. You may carry this policy for the amount you desire depending upon the premium you wish to pay. These policies will pay up to 80% of your present salary during the time you are totally disabled. This is one of the ways you may protect yourself against those who do not carry the required liability insurance.

Awards Presented At Jaycee Banquet

Highlighting the second annual officers installation banquet for the Greater Slaton Area Jaycees Friday night was the naming of Outstanding Jaycee of the Year and Outstanding Officer of the Year.

When presenting the Outstanding Jaycee of the Year plaque to Marlin Payne, Jim Dulin cited the long hours Payne spent working with the club and the tremendous help he was to the organization when he assumed secretary - treasurer duties earlier in the year.

Bobby Brake, vice president both last year and this year, was selected as Outstanding Officer of the Year. Dulin told the crowd of both Slaton and Lubbock Jaycees that Brake had stood by his oath of office and devoted himself to the club when other officers had no time for Jaycees.

Installed as new officers for the 1975-76 year were Gregg Nowlin, president; Brake, vice president; Payne, secretary - treasurer; Ted Dawson, internal director; Dulin, external director; and Landy Bownds, state director.

Wayne Hollingshed, who was a Texas Jaycee officer last year and a leading member of the Lubbock Jaycees, installed officers during a short ceremony near the conclusion of the banquet.

Guest speaker of the evening was Judge Denzil Bevers of the 72nd District Court in Lubbock. One of the goals of the Jaycees is to rekindle pride in America. Bevers told his audience that pride must first originate in the home and family, then spread to the church, then to the community then to the nation. "The best way to rekindle pride in American is to first build pride in the family," he said.

Other Jaycees receiving awards Friday night included several members who had been named Jaycee of the Month. Those were Scott Harris, Jerry Hopper, Dr. Mike Evans, Bownds, Lamar Smith, Brake, David Elder and Tom Roy.

Other certificates of achievement were presented to members who participated in the Speak Up program. They were Harris, Payne, Dawson, Brake and Bownds.

This is only the second year of existence for the Greater Slaton Area Jaycees, and last year it received the Outstanding Club of the Year award at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet.

Not shown is internal director Ted Dawson. Payne was named outstanding Jaycee for the last year and Brake was named as the outstanding officer.

In his opening remarks as newly installed president of Jaycees, Nowlin said he firmly believed that the club could win the award again. "I want to put all out problems behind us and forget about them. We need to forge ahead and fly down the road," said Nowlin.

He listed his other goals for the year as obtaining new members, working community improvement and personal development and beginning Jaycees organization. Jaycees Wives club

Roosevelt Boy Goes To Mexico

Roosevelt School senior Jesse Perez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Apolonio Perez, Route 2, Slaton, left June 11 for a summer cultural exchange visit at an agriculture college in Durango, Mexico.

The 18-year-old placed fourth in the third year native-speaker category of the National Spanish Tests given in April at Texas Tech by the Llano Estacado Chapter of Spanish Teachers. Project Good Neighbors secured him an invitation to visit in several Mexican cities where the Instituto Tecnológico Agropecuario has branch schools. The Llano Estacado Farm Workers of the South Plains contributed to Jesse's transportation, as did several Lubbock businessmen.

While a junior high pupil in Roosevelt Rural School, Jesse appealed to the high school Spanish teacher, Mrs. Mary Gonzalez, for help in learning to read Castilian, which he already spoke.

 Kills Bear In Missouri

Dusty Means, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Means of Squires, Mo., saw a bear in his back yard May 18, apparently attracted to the contents of the trash barrel. Alone at the time, Dusty picked up his father's rifle, shot through the screen door, and killed the bear with one shot. Missouri law prohibits the killing of black bears, except in the defense of life or property.
 The bear, 4'9" tall, had a seven-inch foot measurement. Conservation agents were called in and investigated the case, took pictures, and removed the 500-pound bear.

 Dusty was born in Slaton and moved to Missouri when he was six years old. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Roberts of 955 S. 13th, Slaton.

BICENTENNIAL BITS

By NEWMA CARNES

The Fourth of July celebration in the planning here promises good food (barbecue beef donated by Rotary and prepared by Knights of Columbus; homemade ice cream), fun (booths as usual); numerous items for sale (commemorative coins, sunbonnets, etc.), and free demonstrations (china painting; quilting by the Jolly Quilters, etc.).

The Women's Division is going to hold a Rockathon (a contest to see which sponsored rocking-chair occupant can last the longest), and Rev. Gene Cherry and Raudin McCormick are going ahead with plans to reconstruct a brush arbor. Plan to take part in the big day in some way. Clubs, churches, and individuals are invited — urged — to plan to participate with booths, entertainment, or demonstrations. Contact Mrs. J. W. Dunn of the C of C for further information.

Pioneer recipe contributions are still requested. Turn recipes in to Mrs. Harvey Tunnell or at the C of C office.

Several persons have called about old papers, pictures, school mementos, etc. in their possession. Interest in the museum is growing. The museum will probably begin in the upstairs area of the C of C building. That upstairs is a little like a museum already — the many odd-sized, odd-shaped rooms are amusing to examine just as they are.

The committee to write a history of Slaton has acquired a large amount of information. Anyone with a story, anecdote, or memory to contribute to the collection should contact Maxine Walker, Jackie McElfresh, or the C of C.

Bicentennial Moments will be aired over KCAS, beginning on July 4. KCAS has provided public service time for the broadcast of these items from Slaton's past. Committee members indicate they have both interesting and amusing items.

Little League News

In the Little League play, the Lions Club team took an early lead June 3 by scoring five big runs in the first inning but VFW came back scoring 12 runs to beat the Lions Club 12-5.

On Wednesday night in a high scoring ballgame Hackberry Co-op took an early lead by scoring four runs in the top of the first inning, one of them being Gary Bourn's second home run of the season. Teague's pitcher, Toby Pickens, got his first home run of the season. The sixth inning was a thriller with Teague Drug scoring eight runs, but could not hold on long enough. Hackberry won the game 16-14.

On Thursday night VFW beat the Trainmen 7-3. All three of the Trainmen runs came in the first inning. One of these was a home run by Troy Moses. VFW fought back, scoring their winning runs in the fourth and fifth innings.

It took six innings for the Lions Club to beat Teague Drug 8-7.

June 9, 10 and 11 ballgames were called because of rain. These games will be made up at the end of the season if it makes a difference for team standings.

Thursday night the Lions Club upset Hackberry in a 5-4 ballgame. The Lions Club scored all of their runs in the first inning, then held tight to their lead to win the ballgame.

Friday, the 13th, proved to be bad luck for Teagues, but VFW wasn't superstitious, they won the ballgame 20-6.

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health

Accent on Health

J.E. PEAVY, M.D., Commissioner of Health

You don't have to let mosquitoes take a bite out of your summer fun if you'll take a few preventive measures in advance.

This is the word from your Texas State Department of Health, which has long experience in this field.

Bountiful — and frequent — spring rains throughout most of Texas have left the state ripe for mosquito infestations in practically all areas. Perhaps you've already seen and felt evidence of a mosquito hatch in your own yards, or in a camping or picnic area.

It only takes a little standing water and some adult mosquitoes to bring on the pain, discomfort, aggravation and sometimes disease from the pesky insects.

Water in which to pass their early life stages is a necessity for mosquitoes. Adult flying mosquitoes frequently rest in grass, shrubbery or other foliage but they don't develop there. In walking through such areas you can run into a swarm of them, leading you to believe they hatch out there.

Some mosquitoes lay their eggs in standing water where they hatch in a day or two. Other mosquitoes lay their eggs in old tires, tin cans, or other water-holding containers in which they may remain unhatched for weeks or months until they are covered with water.

With both types of mosquitoes, the wrigglers or larvae grow quickly and turn into tumbler or pupae. Soon the skin of the tumbler splits open and out climbs another hungry mosquito — looking for you as its victim.

In addition to being pests, says the State Health Department's Vector Control Division, mosquitoes can spread disease. Such diseases as encephalitis, yellow fever, dengue fever and malaria are common diseases spread by the flying insect. They are major health problems in other parts of the world.

One of the latest epidemics of mosquito-borne diseases in Texas was Venezuelan Equine Encephalitis (VEE) which struck the state in 1971 after entering through Mexico. The disease hit many people — mostly in the Rio Grande Valley — and made heavy inroads into the half-million horse population.

While mosquitoes are a threat to health and bodily comfort, there is something that you as an individual can do to ease the situation and lessen the job of local and regional health organizations and mosquito control units.

These could be called the Ten Commandments of Home Mosquito Control. They are:

1. Empty, remove, cover or turn upside down any receptacle that will hold water — particularly old bottles and tin cans.
2. Change water and scrub vases holding flowers of cuttings twice each week — or grow cuttings in sand.
3. Discard old tires or store them indoors.
4. Screen rain barrels and openings to water tanks or cisterns. Seal cisterns not in actual use.
5. Repair leaky plumbing and outside faucets. They may cause standing water in which mosquitoes can hatch.

6. Connect open wastewater drains to a sewage system, or construct separate sump or leach lines.

7. Clean clogged roof gutters and drain flat roofs.

8. Fill holes in trees with sand or mortar, or drain or spray them, as required.

9. Stock ornamental ponds with mosquito-eating fish.

10. Clean and drain evaporative coolers frequently.

These tips will help you prevent mosquitoes from reproducing. Your health department may have a summer spraying program to rid infested areas of the insects. You can keep your window screens in good repair, screen fireplaces and other openings and also kill all mosquitoes inside your residence with proper insecticides.

What if you're going into areas where mosquitoes may be prevalent? There are several repellents on the market which can be used on exposed areas of your skin to drive the insects away. Used on clothing, they may also protect you from chiggers and ticks.

The State Health Department wants you to have a safe, happy summer and reminds you that now is the time to prepare for it where mosquitoes are concerned.

Safe Driver Awards Given

The Travelers Motor Club awarded five area students the outstanding safe teenage driver of the year trophy recently. They are Nanette Carnes of Roosevelt, Vince Garza of Wilson, Amanda Wheeler of Southland, Sam Louder of New Home, and Vondell Wood of Slaton.

following qualifications: observe safe driving rules, have courteous driving habits, and be selected by a majority of the safe driver committee. He may also be a driver who has had a previous bad driving record and shows enormous improvement during the school years.

TEXAS TALK By FRED MYERS

Movie stampedes not being what they were, and the price of feed being what it is, the Longhorn may be moving back to the pasture. The Longhorn has retained all the characteristics which made them the bedrock of the western beef industry. Number one on their list of appealing traits is their foraging ability. With pasture land being depleted by grass guzzling steers in near record numbers, producers are renewing their appreciation of any animal that excels on the least possible pasture. That's the Longhorn. An ability to not only survive but to gain on rations consisting of cactus or mesquite and whatever kind of grass is available made the Longhorn a Texas trademark in the days of the trail drive. That same quality obviously was on the minds of cattlemen early this year for the first annual Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America sale. While exotic breeds were drawing little attention the Longhorn sale was described as standing-room-only.

PRAISE THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD
"Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord." II Peter 1:2.
In the Bible in many places we find that the Lord wants to bless us, and not only add blessing upon blessing to us, but even wants to multiply them to us.
When you make an investment with money, and think it might be doubled back to you in a certain period of time, it makes you happy. But if there's a possibility of it being multiplied many times, then how much better that would be!
The Bible compares our faith to seed we plant. I cannot think of any example of planting a seed and it only doubles — it always multiplies many times. Plant one seed of corn and each plant produces several ears of corn — that must make hundreds of kernels. I've got corn growing in my garden this year, so I'll have to make it a point to count the kernels one seed can make.
The Bible says that if we put Jesus first in our lives, then all these things (things we need for living — material things, and things we need each day such as peace, joy, comfort, health, knowing someone loves us) shall be added unto us — each day. Each day times the number of days you live then becomes more. In order to "things" we do them first in our hearts — we are at the very core being. He is the all these gifts.

Think of one who love very much, think primarily of can give you? really love someone constantly thinking we can do for them show that we dearly and appreciate.
The same thing with loving Jesus Christ Him first in Then if we really and are putting these things He with just come atically as harvest seed time!
"So don't worry about having an and clothing. Why the heaven? For pride in all these are deeply concern them. But your Father already perfectly well that them, and he will to you if you give place in your life he wants you to 6:31-32.)
Have you plan of faith today? If a harvest in due haven't, then not can multiply the back to you.

CARD OF THANKS
We are grateful beyond expression for the many words of sympathy, the many kind deeds and the beautiful flowers given us in the dark hours of our bereavement. We wish to especially thank our friends and neighbors for the good food and special services given to all our family and relatives. May heaven's richest blessing be upon each of you through life's journey, and may you find such loving friends when sorrow comes to you.

"THE BEAUTY OF A CHAIR"

A CHAIR is something to sit on. A chair also can be a thing of great beauty. For example a camp stool can serve as something upon which to sit.
BUT what modern woman would be content to have a camp stool installed in a prominent corner of her living room in the place of a finely made chair exuding beauty and charm.
What we are leading up to is this: Fine Furniture, modern furniture, goes beyond the point of mere utility. A home is made lovely by its furniture. And the selection of this furniture begins with its purchase at the wholesale level.
That is why we go to the wholesale market to personally select the merchandise we offer our patrons.
We carefully inspect the newest furniture, handcrafted by the nation's leading makers. We feel the finish, check the fabrics, analyze the construction, not from the slick pages of a catalog, but at first hand.
This entails time, trouble and expense, but it's the only way to assure our patrons of a selection that's complete, new and in the latest trend.
We'd like you to see this furniture, knowing as we do, of the pride that the homemaker take in beautiful surroundings for their families.

Accent on Health

One of the most productive pieces of legislation ever passed by the Texas Legislature, from the standpoint of public health, was the 1971 compulsory immunization law. This law, with adequate funding provided by the Legislature, has produced dramatic results in reducing disease among school-age children and influencing a downward trend in immunizable diseases in all age levels.

Today, from one end of the state to the other, the average immunization levels for all school children are above 95 per cent, reports the Texas State Department of Health.

Many people doubted that the Texas law would be effective. And, there were those who thought a compulsory law for school children would cause pre-school immunizations to lag. But these doubts have long since been dispelled.

Along with school immunizations, the Texas State Department of Health has conducted a sustained educational campaign, operated an Infant Immunization Surveillance Program among parents of newborn, scheduled additional clinics and expanded outreach work by immunizations division staff. In addition, a companion law provided for immunizations of children enrolled in day care centers and child care institutions.

The Texas school immunization law requires protection against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, reboola (measles) and rubella. The requirement for smallpox has since been deleted. Exemption to the law may be granted for religious reasons or medical contraindication, but religious exemptions may be set aside by the State Commissioner of Health in time of emergency or epidemic.

Individual and combination immunizations are given for polio, measles and rubella, while the combination shot is given for diphtheria, tetanus, and pertussis.

FROM MRS. MARY MOBLEY, Colorado Springs, CO: I remember an old car I rode in starting about 1912. My Uncle Martin had a Chalmers two-seater touring car. It was black trimmed with brass, and had an off white cloth top which was partly held in place by long straps extending from the front and fastened to the fenders (this kept it from blowing off). The horn was so fancy, all the driver had to do was squeeze a big rubber ball to sound it.

The seats were black leather, very hard and very slick. We went "riding" and also out for picnics. Actually, we went "shaking" for it rattled and shook from side to side.

The tires were very hard and narrow, holding 40 pounds of air. If we had a flat tire, the car was jacked up (the jacks weren't like the ones we have today), then the tire was removed from the rim of the wheel, the inner tube was cold-patched, then it was all put back and my father had the task of hand pumping it full of 40 pounds of air.

School immunization levels reported to the Texas Education Agency in these various categories — for the top 20 major cities in Texas — show these figures: DTP/Td 96 per cent; polio, 95 per cent; measles, 97 per cent; and rubella, 97 per cent.

One city — Arlington — reported 100 per cent immunization among its school-age population, while Pasadena showed a perfect mark for all but the combination shot — registering 99 per cent in that category.

Success of the school immunization program, plus intensification of the pre-school efforts, resulted in another drop in reported disease during 1974, according to the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services.

The State went through an unprecedented second year in 1974 without a case of paralytic polio being reported. Only nine cases of diphtheria were reported. Measles dropped to just 212 cases, while 99 cases of pertussis (whooping cough) and four cases of tetanus were reported. Figures can be compared with those of 1970 showing: 234 cases of diphtheria during a bad outbreak; measles, 8,494; rubella, 8,409; polio, 22 cases in a relatively high year; and tetanus, 14 cases.

An unusual aspect of the school immunization program has shown up during 1975 with outbreaks of rubella in some parts of the state.

The effectiveness of the immunization program was reflected in a recent rubella outbreak in Beeville. Among 15 to 18-year-old high school students (too old for immunization), more than 100 cases occurred. Among the 1800 younger children, who were almost completely immunized, only three cases were reported.

Those who are now 15 years and older were above the recommended age for rubella immunizations when the compulsory school immunization law went into effect in 1971. Rules were established then for immunization up to the 12th birthday.

Beeville had only four late-arrivals among its 1,861 elementary students under age 12 who weren't immunized. The 15 to 18-year-old population — in which the outbreak occurred — numbered 745 students.

The county health officer, Humberto Enriquez, M.D., who reported the original cases, took immediate action when the outbreak started to urge immunization of pre-school children and to warn pregnant women to check in with their doctors. Birth defects can result if pregnant women contract rubella.
