Tigerettes Waltz To Victory In WT Girls Tourney

COPELAND
The Tigerettes of Coach [Name] played the [Game] almost [Time] Saturday night [Location] championship [Tourney] West Texas [Tourney] Chamber [Competition]

defeated Greenwood 85-61 despite the presence in the Greenwood line-up of 6'3" Capri Kimbrow. Slaton played conservatively the first few minutes of the game, but then the Tigerettes started quickening the pace and moved to a 22-12 advantage at the end of the first quarter.

After that the lead was never in jeopardy. The Tigerettes led by 14 at the half and increased their lead steadily until reaching the final 24-point win. Rosemary Scott had 34 points for the Tigerettes in that game.

Slaton advanced to the finals with wins over Colorado City, Christ the King, and Knox City 57-24 in the semi-finals. Greenwood gained the finals with a 53-50 win over Coahoma. In other final round action Knox City took third place with a 48-28 win over Coahoma. Post took first place in the consolation bracket by way of their 69-45 win over Borden County. McCamey whipped Iraan 67-49 to win third place in the consolation bracket. The Team Sportsmanship Trophy was won by Roosevelt.

In the individual awards department, Slaton could again claim victory as the Outstanding Forward and Outstanding Guard both were chosen from among the Tigerettes. Miss Scott, a 5'6" senior, was chosen the tourney's Outstanding Forward. She was named to the All-Tournament team last year and was a second-team All-Stater last year as a junior. The only other senior starter for Slaton, Mildred Maxwell, was named the tournament's Outstanding Guard.

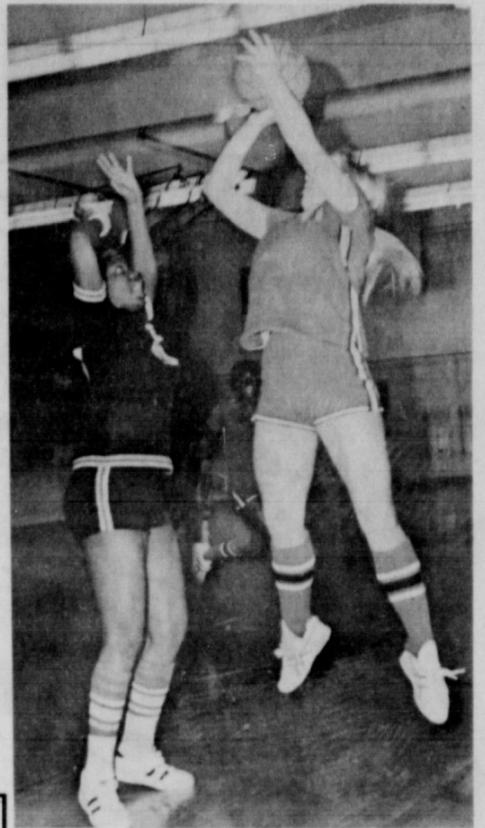

Named to the All-Tourney team at Forwards were Becky Cranford, Greenwood; Patti Hulme, Coahoma; Jenda Gilmore, Post; Tootie Stevenson, Seagraves; Philena Farmer, Borden County; and Temi Baker, Knox City.

The All-Tournament guards were Laquita Lee, Greenwood; Sarah Valentine, McCamey; Betty Howell, Frenship; Dorinda Lovelace, Abernathy; Ella Brown, Roosevelt; and Beth Duffy, Amherst.

Jaque Howard of Frenship won the free throw contest.

COMPLIMENTS to Radio Station Lubbock, and to sponsors of the three of Christmas nostalgia many of us on Monday and Tuesday nights before Christmas, when that station re-broadcast six midtime radio programs which we all remember so faithfully when we were kids and there was no television in most homes.

It's all so fresh and new at the programs, and it's so interesting around the room listening to the change. And we had forgotten how programming time was taken up by the oldies. In those days, a 30-minute program had a plug for the sponsor at each and every one in the midway break point, and it was brief.

Programs we listened to were Christmas programs put on around 1950, and included Benny, Duffy's Tavern, Fibber McGee and Molly, Amos 'n Andy, Gildersleeve and Bergin and Charlie McCarthy. My wife and I when she was a kid they always had to do their homework done before 7 o'clock on Christmas, so they could listen to the best music.

Our teenagers listened to some of the oldies and enjoyed them, although I never heard of any of the performers like Benny, a top entertainer for years and died of cancer at the age of 80, 10 days after Christmas.

It's a fact that the programs were funny and that the younger folks, and we all know that television has almost no really good programs. They don't have the clean material that appeals to most of us, and we don't have the performers to present material in really amusing ways.

Our brains in TV obviously think comedy is getting off-color and abrasive and vulgar, like Archie Bunker and Ed Carson. Of course, there are still some good ones, even now. But some of the best television programs now can be seen on daytime re-runs, like Our Miss Brooks, The Dick Van Dyke Show, Hazel, Beverly Hills Cop, and The Love Boat.

There is a tremendous market, I think, for a lot of folks would turn off the TV if they would re-broadcast all of the good old radio programs of the 40s and early 50s. Of course, the best comedy writers in radio then, as were the best performers, and a lot of the appeal lies in the nostalgia, but what's wrong with that?

POTHOLES: Genius finally has been recognized. I received a very formal and printed notification the other day that the directors and officers of the American Society of Management have nominated Wood to Executive Membership in recognition of his individual executive management ability. I was supposed to acknowledge the nomination, and then, I suspect, they would try to give me something (perhaps a Blue Book of Bigshots, with my name down there in it). I didn't show the announcement to my wife for fear they might go into spasms of grief and we'd never get any work done here. . . . Going back to TV for a change, I guess I really am old-fashioned. I like Tracy Wet Look is a lot better than Dick Tracy Dry Look. . . . Heard to 1975 with expectations of big things, and you'll probably experience

Cotton Harvest Winds Up Far Short Of 1973

The 1974 cotton harvest in the Slaton area is virtually completed, as the Slatonite made its final bale count this week and came up with 45,503 bales ginned in the 12 area gins.

The total was 36.3 percent of last year's record crop of 125,499 bales ginned by the same companies. Despite this, it still was more than the 25 percent some had predicted earlier in the season after almost no dry land cotton was planted, and after too much rain came for the irrigated crop.

The 1974 final figure was about half the 91,300 bales ginned by the area gins in 1972 (which ended in March 1973).

Acuff Co-Op Gin had the most bales in the area this season, a total of 10,750. Slaton Co-Op, the usual top total firm, had 9,300. Others included McClung Co-Op 4575, Union Co-Op 6125, Posey Gin 1750, Farmers Gin 1700, Basinger Gin 420, Hackberry Co-Op 1830, Wilson Co-Op 3985, Wayside Gin 3068, Gatzki Gin 1200, and Moses Gin 800.

Sleet and freezing drizzle over the High Plains halted final stages of cotton harvesting according to Paul R. Dickson, in charge of the USDA's Cotton Classing Office in Lubbock. "Very little cotton is in the fields now," he added.

The USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service reported Lubbock, Brownfield, Lamesa, and Levelland classed 133,500 samples during the week ending Friday, Dec. 27. This brought the season's total to 842,000. On this same date last year the total was 1,924,000, Dickson said.

At Lubbock predominant grades this week were 41 and 42. Grade 41 accounted for 18 percent while grade 42 was assigned to 34 percent of the cotton samples. Twenty-nine percent of these samples were reduced one grade because of bark. This is down from 30 percent the previous week.

The predominant staples were 30 and 31. Staple 30 amounted to 23 percent and staple 31 was 38 percent of

Six Wrecks Listed During Holidays Here

Crawford Chevrolet was the victim of several thefts and vandalism during the last nine days and six vehicle accidents were reported, with no serious injuries resulting.

On Dec. 26, Crawford reported four wheels and tires stolen from a 1971 Pontiac at the agency. Two cars also were reported stolen, including a 1975 Monte Carlo on Dec. 29, and one of the vehicles was recovered. A speaker valued at $60 was reported stolen from atop a gas pump at the dealership, and glass was reported broken in another 1975 vehicle, with damage estimated at $52.50. Two youths admitted jacking one of the stolen cars.

On Friday in the 700-block of 9th St., a 1968 car driven by Arlene Phillips Noble, 350 S. 10th, and a 1974 motorcycle operated by Joe Ysasaga, 440 E. Kent, collided, with damage totaling $55. The cycle rider suffered minor injury.

Also on Friday, M. R. Jones, 305 S. 8th, reported two Hollywood type mirrors stolen from a 1974 pickup. The mirrors were valued at more than $70.

Tape Player Stolen

Ray Pequeno Jr., 915 S. 7th, told police Saturday that while his car was parked at 20th and Panhandle, someone took an 8-track stereo tape player valued at $42.

Three wrecks which occurred Monday, Dec. 23, previously had not been reported in the newspaper. At 9th and Division a 1974 car driven by Raymond Sedillo Florez of Lubbock and a 1969 car driven by Robert Milton Beasley, 1110 S. 13th, collided, with damage totaling $450.

Also on 9th St. a 1974 pickup driven by Taylor Clemons of 920 S. Collins and a 1961 auto driven by Raul Tamez, 310 S. 4th, collided, with damage estimated over $200.

And at 9th and Garza, Clyde Harold Boswell of Fletcher, Okla., was driving a 1963 auto when it was involved in a crash with a 1972 car driven by Carson White, 120 S. 2nd, again with damage estimated at $200.

Englund's advised police Monday that someone has stolen an estimated 100 gallons of gasoline from a storage tank, after sawing off a lock.

Early Tuesday, a 1972 auto driven by Sally Hartman Zimdahl of Lubbock went out of control on ice on the overpass at U.S. 84 and FM400 and skidded into a guard rail, causing about $500 damage.

A truck jackknifed on U.S. 84 about 9 a.m. Tuesday near the intersection of Woodrow Rd.

COAL-FIRED GENERATORS — Harrington Station, Southwestern Public Service Company's first coal-fired generating station, northeast of Amarillo, is scheduled for completion in mid-1976. The new 350,000 kilowatt generating facility is a part of the $345-million expansion and improvement program projected for SPS over the next 5 years. The investment for 1975, $62.4-million, will be the largest annual amount ever budgeted for SPS, but the record will be short-lived, as the projected budget for 1979 will exceed $77-million.

Dryden, Crow Wed In Wichita Falls Church Ceremony

Julie Dryden and Don J. Crow Jr., were united in marriage Dec. 27 at the First United Methodist Church of Wichita Falls. Dr. Bruce Weaver officiated.

Parents of the couple are Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Dryden Jr., of Wichita Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Don J. Crow Sr. of Lubbock.

The bride chose a white gown of imported Alençon lace and silk chiffon. The bodice of lace, intricately seeded with pearls, was fashioned with a high Victorian collar and long full bishop sleeves softly gathered on to lace at the wrists. The gathered skirt of flowing chiffon swept to a chapel length train.

Her veil, edged with matching lace, extended beyond the length of the train from a coil of jeweled lace and flower petals. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis, pink sweetheart roses and needlepoint ivy.

Mrs. Gary H. Shores of Austin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Susan Crow of Lubbock, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid and Elizabeth Arakellan of Wichita Falls was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Debby Grozier, Wichita Falls; Sandy Hall, Fort Worth; Carole Campise, Houston; and Kristen Holter of Austin. The bridal attendants were dressed in identical dresses of berry silk jersey fashioned with high Victorian necklines, long fitted sleeves, softly gathered skirts and waists tied with sashes.

Their bouquets were cascades of roses, carnations, and ranunculus in shades of pink and baby's breath. Pink rosebuds were fastened in their hair.

The groom's father served as best man and groomsmen were Robert Crow and Jim Crow, brothers of the groom, Lubbock; Howard Lawson, Lubbock; Scott Slaughter, Lubbock; Emory Bellard, Austin; and Mike Anderson of Dallas.

Ushers were Bill Hinckley, Houston; Jimmie Whitmire, Wichita Falls; Lee Coleman, Victoria; Jay Mesinger, Houston; and Steve Dryden, brother of the bride, San Antonio.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts for a reception at Wichita Falls Country Club.

The bride, a graduate of Rider High School, is a senior at the University of Texas where she will be graduated in May and is on the Dean's List. She is a member of Chi Omega social sorority where she has served as rush chairman and is a Little Sister of Lambda Chi Alpha Social Fraternity.

Crow is a graduate of Lubbock Coronado High School and is now a senior at the University of Texas where he is an honor student and on the Dean's List. He is a member of Alpha Epsilon Delta, honorary pre-medical fraternity, and Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

The rehearsal dinner was given Friday night by the groom's parents at the Wichita Club.

Free Turkey Goes To Good Cause

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hawkins and the eight boys from the Lubbock State School they kept were able to enjoy a traditional Christmas turkey dinner thanks to the generosity of a Slaton couple.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Trussell were winners of a turkey in the recent Chamber of Commerce sponsored turkey giveaway. They in turn gave the turkey to the Hawkins couple for their Christmas dinner.

"I called Mrs. Hawkins and asked her what she was going to have for Christmas. She told me the only 'extra' she'd be able to fix was part of a ham she'd bought. I just couldn't see the two or three of us eating all that turkey, so I asked her if she could use it," said Mrs. Trussell. "She broke down and cried when I told her the turkey was hers."

The Hawkins couple provides a family type home for eight boys from the Lubbock State School. They are supported by the school, but they have not had an increase in food allowance in some time.

According to Mrs. Trussell, whose son Tommy lives with the couple, the boys range in age from the late teens to the late twenties. "The Hawkins take them to their jobs and they have meals together. It's just a family atmosphere provided for the boys after they finish school."

Mrs. Trussell said she wished to thank all the merchants who participated in the turkey giveaway. "I'd just like for them to know that the turkey provided a Christmas dinner for the Hawkins family and the boys. It went to a really good cause and we were just happy to win it and be able to give it to the family."

Gambles Have Yule Dinner

The family of Mrs. M. D. Gamble and the late McDuff Gamble met in the Slaton clubhouse Dec. 22 for their Christmas dinner. Forty-three members of the family were present.

Family members attending were from Clovis, San Angelo, Midland, Odessa, Abernathy, and Lubbock, as well as Slaton.

Several were unable to attend due to illness.

Vows Unite Couple

Virginia Carol Milliken and Norman Anthony Martin solemnized vows of marriage at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 27 in the First Baptist Church of Slaton.

The Rev. J. L. Cartrite, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Milliken, Slaton, and for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Martin, also of Slaton.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of yellow linen and Venise lace. The Venise lace bodice was styled with a standup collar and an empire waistline. A band of yellow rosebuds enhanced the waistline. The softly gathered skirt fell to a flounce ruffle hemline, also of Venise lace.

The bride's gown featured leg of mutton sleeves. She wore a yellow garden hat and carried a bouquet of yellow rose buds, white gladioli buds and baby's breath.

Becky Mathis was maid of honor. Mrs. K. sister of the bride, Magouirk served as maid.

The attendants wore tiered, formal gowns of blue-green illusion. Each girl carried a daisie stemmed yellow. Dan Butler was serving as groom's brother of the groom, Leland Martin.

Bobby Milliken of the bride, was as was Jackie F.

Glenna Jones organist and soloist. A reception in ship hall followed.

The bride is a graduate of Slaton High School and employed with Co-Op Gin.

Parents of the bride hosted a rehearsal of the fellowship church.

Annual Tea Is Gala Affair

They came in numbers and in red from all directions again Sunday, Dec. 22, for Virgie Hunter's Red Dress Tea. It was a red gala affair, red carpet and all. The rooms were decorated throughout with red and gold sparkling poinsettias and candles. The Christmas tree was festive with red and white gingham checked bows.

The serving table was laid with a red Christmas cloth designed with felt and sequined poinsettias and candles on the sides. Greenery was arrayed across one side of the table with silver, crystal and china appointments.

Old and new friends met and visited over tea and eggnog in this Christmas setting, with more guests registered than ever before.

What If We Ran Out of Iron?

Stamford, Conn. — (HK) — What would happen if we suddenly ran out of iron ore to make steel? Considering that everything that man uses is either grown or comes from a mine, and that iron ore is the most useful mineral resource of all, the effects could be staggering. Cars made from other materials, if it could be done, would be twice as expensive. So would appliances. Skyscrapers would be impossible.

For about 100 years, from the mid-1800's, most of the iron ore for our steel mills came from ranges such as the Mesabi in Minnesota as well as from Michigan and Wisconsin. Red ore, it was called — a red, iron-rich hematite that could be scooped like soil and fed directly to blast furnaces. By 1950, red ore production was on the decline.

The public was not too concerned about the situation since we could import better and more economic red ore from foreign nations. But responsible resource managers were thinking ahead.

managed by Pickands Mather & Co., the resource management arm of Moore McCormack.

Today jet piercers make holes in the hard taconite to start the mining process. More economical giant shovels and trucks load and transport the ore to the processing plant, where huge rod and ball mills grind it to powder fineness, magnets remove the iron, and marble-size pellets are formed and baked. A single plant, run with computer assistance, can process over 30 million tons of taconite into 10 million tons of pellets per year.

Moore McCormack's resource arm, Pickands Mather & Co., a leading firm in resource development and management, is continually seeking ways to further improve the process. As noted geologists point out, an average cubic mile of the earth contains about 450 million tons of iron. That kind of reserve offers the potential of an adequate supply for generations — if it can be economically mined.

Firms such as Moore McCormack Resources' Pickands Mather subsidiary and its steel company associates established a new domestic source for iron.

The answer was in a hard rock, containing only half as much iron (31 as the soft hematite (above 50 — a rock so hard, it couldn't be drilled, one which required a whole new process to convert it to above 60 usable iron. But the rock, taconite, and similar ores, were so abundant in North America that it would supply the needs of our nation for generations if it could be economically mined.

FOOD FACTS AND FANCIES

The Chinese and Romans were as proud of their special hams as are Americans, Italians and Poles today. Chinese hams were cured with yellow wine brine, smoked over tea leaves and dried in the wind.

The Romans processed the first country hams in Gaul. Curing and smoking of meat were practiced in many parts of the world because these were the only methods of meat preservation.

The Spanish and English brought hogs to the New World. The standard fare of settlers and pioneers was salt pork, with occasional game birds or fish for a change. Pork was preferred then because it tasted better salted, smoked or pickled. In the days before canning and refrigeration, the salting of meat was very important.

The heavy, fat hog, preferred until a few decades ago, has given way to a leaner animal which provides you with fewer calories and more nutrition. When you buy ham in a can you are getting more economy, too. There's no waste in canned ham, and it's a terrific buy right now. But be sure the can is refrigerated at the supermarket and keep it refrigerated at home.

Nutritious ham is a good source of protein, has absolutely no carbohydrate and contains calcium, iron, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin—all in one delicious can!

CONSUMERS' CORNER

What should be known about department store credit cards?

Just about six years ago, unsolicited credit cards were first mass distributed. Today, many people carry over ten credit cards.

They are a convenience when you pay the statements in full when received. That way you avoid the service charges. Convenience turns into expense the moment service charges are added.

"Revolving" or "Open End" department store credit accounts are designed to let you purchase new products or services while paying only a part of the balance each month. This is an example of convenience turning into additional expenses. The service charge for the unpaid balance is 1 1/2% per month or 18% a year. This is the usual amount, however, many stores have even higher service charges.

The "Option Account" combines the 30-day charge with the "Revolving Charge". With this type of account, you can avoid all service charges for credit simply by paying the entire amount of the bill at the end of each month. However, you do have the option of paying on a revolving basis with its 1 1/2% service charge a month. The best way to use credit cards, and not abuse your budget, is to pay the entire balance of the bill each month as it is due.

LIVING- AS YOU LIVE ...and get more from the GOOD YEARS

A friend writes: "Living as I like during my retirement years, I have learned several new things. One of the most important is that I don't have to worry about proving anything to anybody. For twenty years on the job, I competed with other salesmen. Week ends, I tried to "outdo" my neighbors—to have a better lawn, a bigger car, a better vegetable patch. If there was something I knew I could not do well, I just didn't bother with it. Now, things are different, or my attitude is different. I have tried leathercraft, cabinet making, photography, and many other hobbies. I have failed miserably, done well on other, tant truth is, no one I can even laugh at. Sometimes we make or place too high a race. Retirement was opportunity to do something difficult, something impossible, living as you like it, to accept new challenges is rewarding, but the failure is no greater lows it to be.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN — The Christmas gift-buying season inevitably is followed by the post-Christmas gift-returning season.

There are many reasons for returning gifts. . . maybe Cousin Agatha had put on so many pounds since you last saw her that the gold belt you bought her looked more like a necklace. Or Uncle Wellington's home winemaking kit. . . he loved it, but had received one just like it for his birthday in October.

Or maybe it's you with a gift that's unusable or impractical. . . like that white terrycloth bow tie for formal tennis games that your brother-in-law gave you.

Most consumers expect to be able to return or exchange gifts in such cases with little or no trouble beyond perhaps having to stand in a waiting line.

The fact is, though, that stores are not legally required to refund money, exchange merchandise, or accept returned goods for store credit unless the item is defective or is not as represented.

Most merchants, however, are very agreeable about adjustments since this is a form of customer service which encourages repeat business.

Sometimes certain stores may be unable to cooperate fully with the post-Christmas gift returner, since they may operate under more restrictive adjustment policies than other establishments.

There are certain instances in which a store is legally required to make adjustments. For example, if a store advertised car coats with sheepskin linings, but you discover the lining is actually acrylic pile, you have the right to return the coat for an adjustment.

Or perhaps you ordered a size 12 dress but the store sent a size 14. Or you specified a green table lamp, but got a blue floor lamp. The store must correct its error or make some satisfactory adjustment in such cases.

It's important to remember that if a store has advertised goods for a special sale, there may be a "no return" policy on that particular merchandise. Other items such as swim suits, undergarments, and other intimate apparel may always be sold on an "all sales final" basis for the customer's protection.

Just as most stores try to cooperate in making adjustments when possible, most consumers are careful to ask for an adjustment only if it is needed. But a few individuals may attempt to return merchandise that is worn or used, that they damaged themselves, or that they purchased months earlier. In such cases, merchants may rightfully refuse to make an adjustment.

If you find you must return merchandise for an adjustment, our Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division recommends the following:

- * Take all manufacturer's hang tags, price labels, and all sales or charge receipts with you, since the store will need proof of purchase and proof that the goods actually came from their store.
- * Return goods in their containers, boxes, or sacks, if possible.

* Return the department where purchased, or the merchant desk if the return.

* Explain the return.

* If you have an adjustment with an adjustment, think is desirable to settle it with the store. If work, consult the General's Consumer Protection Division or Better Business Bureau.

PROJECT INDEPENDENCE THREATENED

(HK)—Federal engists, gathering opinants on Project Indeheard another take gting governmental re-ts and the increased pressures that en-tal restrictions are placing electric utilities and omers.

ned to make the United States
self-reliant for its energy needs by 1980. However, the Clean Air Act of 1970, as it now stands, is making it difficult and expensive for electric utilities to use America's most plentiful fossil fuel—coal.

"We've got to update the Clean Air Act," William G. Lalor, Jr., senior vice president of Southern Services, Inc., a subsidiary of The Southern Company, told the Federal Energy Administration panel. "In a nutshell, our problem with the Clean Air Act is uniform sulfur-emission limits which will soon be enforced by the Environmental Protection Agency."

These standards measure exhausts at the top of the stacks, no matter how tall they are or where they are located. To comply with these limits, electric utilities would have to either install scrubbers to clean stack gases or develop systems for purifying coal before it is burned. "Both of these alternatives are expensive and neither is currently available," Lalor said.

The effort to allow non-uniform emission standards by no means destroys the Clean Air Act. Everyone, including electric utilities, wants clean air.

But a realistic approach insists that the air we breathe is what counts, not air coming out of the top of stacks.

Lalor stated that The Southern Company system, a group of electric power companies operating in the Southeast, can burn the plentiful, relatively high-sulfur coal and meet federal clean air standards for the air we breathe with a comfortable margin of safety.

If the Clean Air Act is not amended, Lalor warned, consumer electric bills could increase by $100 million over the next five years without any benefits to the public health and welfare in return.

These uniform emission standards, Lalor told the Project Independence panel, are "illogical, wasteful, and not in the public interest."

Revival Now In Progress

A New Year Revival is in progress at the Assembly of God Church, 14th and Jean, Slaton.

The Rev. Scott Mitchell of Lubbock is doing the preaching. Mrs. Mitchell will be doing some special music. The Rev. Mitchell has pastored North Side Assembly of God in Lubbock for 28 years.

Week night services begin at 7:30, and Sunday night services are at 7 p.m.

The Rev. Floyd Schaeffer, pastor of the church, said, "You are invited to hear the Rev. Mitchell preaching the old fashioned gospel in a modern age."

Church Honors Staff Members

Westview Baptist Church honored their pastor, Birdie L. Jones, and his family along with other members of the church staff with a Christmas fellowship and gifts following the worship service Dec. 22.

The pastor's family was given a special love offering and members of the staff were given various gifts along with expressions of love and appreciation from the church.

Refreshments were served by the deacons' wives to members of the church and guests who attended the fellowship.

To do right honors God; to sin is to despise him.

Behold, I make all things new. (Revelation 21:5)
Someone asked Henry Wadsworth Longfellow why apple trees seem to have more beautiful blossoms each spring than they had the year before. Longfellow is reported to have said: "The apple tree grows a little new wood each year. Therefore its blossoms are more beautiful with the coming of each springtime."

The beginning of the new year is a good time to take stock — and to resolve to grow some new wood spiritually. We do this by Bible study, prayer, and corporate worship. We do it through rededication of our time, talents, and resources to the enrichment of God's kingdom.

Mark's Gospel reminds us that Jesus went out to a solitary place early in the mornings just to be alone with God. Thus His own faith was renewed and His sense of direction made clear.

The continuing sense of divine direction we need comes as we take time for the leading of the Holy Spirit. It means waiting upon the Lord. It means being open to God's revelation through Jesus Christ.

PRAYER: Our Father, strengthen us by Your presence that we may face the new year with faith and courage. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY: Plan to be in on some of the things God can make new.

000 water samples, plus reviews of plans for construction and additions to water and sewage plants. More than 1,400 inspections were made of existing plants, and examinations were given operators of these plants to assure proficiency of the operators.

Surveillance of all radiation devices — such as those used by physicians and dentists — was made during the year. The General Sanitation Division operated in such fields as youth camps, day care centers, migrant labor camps and jails, as well as other public health areas.

Public health is being extended to Texans through the 68 local health departments, which cover 81 per cent of the population, as well as six public health regions operating throughout 145 counties. Your tax dollars are making all these health services available.

The streams and lakes in Texas are monitored regularly. During the year 521 bacteriological samples were collected from Texas streams and lakes for laboratory evaluations of water quality.

In addition, almost 1,200 water samples were collected from oyster growing areas in Texas bays and estuaries. And, 5,100 chemical tests were performed on Texas coastal waters. During the past year the Division of Shellfish Sanitation Control surveyed and classified 1 1/2 million acres of shellfish growing waters and made 3,224 inspections of shellfish and crab meat processing plants.

We can all be thankful for the many gifts of good health furnished through the use of your tax dollars by the State Health Department, which is employing more than 6,000 persons at all levels.

Always remember to close the damper when your fireplace isn't in use. An open damper results in loss of heated room air — and higher fuel bills.

Open dating of perishable food doesn't guarantee quality or wholesomeness — only proper handling and storage from the processor to the dinner table will do that.

The 4-H Club will meet Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the Roosevelt Clubhouse for High Plains Cotton & Grain Sorghum producer representatives met December 10 and 11 with top U.S. Department of Agriculture officials and congressional leaders in Washington concerning what they termed the "misadministration" of the disaster provisions in the current farm law.

The meetings with USDA were arranged by the Producer Steering Committee of the National Cotton Council. The PSC has a special subcommittee working for more favorable interpretation and administration of the disaster provisions in the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973.

Involved in the discussions from the Lubbock area were Don Marble of South Plains, President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.; Donald Johnson, PCG Executive Vice President, and Y.F. Snodgrass of Abernathy, Service Director of Lubbock's Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Johnson, one of two cotton industry officials invited to address the cotton session of the National Agricultural Outlook Conference on December 12, also fulfilled that commitment while in the Capitol.

The top USDA official involved in the meetings was Assistant Secretary Clayton Yeutter. Yeutter, it was reported, admitted there were problems with the disaster program but showed little inclination to consider changes in the way it is being administered, at least in 1974.

"Despite the obvious inequities," said Marble, "we were given little or no encouragement that the current Administration is willing to make corrections this year." He went on to say, however, that the conferences without doubt would serve as a good base from which to get a "fair shake" for farmers in 1975.

The producer group's primary petition was for a change in the "mandatory substitution rule" being used by USDA to determine each farmer's eligibility for disaster payments when subnormal crops are harvested. Armed with specific examples, the group pointed out that without a change in this rule many farmers would be denied payments even after suffering true crop disasters.

One of the examples illustrated how a farmer whose 200 acres of cotton was completely hailed out was being denied over $7,000 in much-deserved disaster payments simply because his grain sorghum allotment was underplanted by 10 acres. This is by no means an isolated example, Marble stated, adding that there will be hundreds of similar cases on the High Plains this year.

"This situation is not at all in accord with the intent of Congress when the law was passed," Marble said, "and we will continue to seek revisions that will make the disaster program work at it was meant to work."

Johnson, speaking to the Cotton Session of the National Agricultural Outlook Conference on December 12, stressed that adequate cotton production in 1975 cannot be expected unless producers are provided with some prospect for recuperating production costs.

their regular monthly meeting.
The program will be tips on showing livestock for contest.

its new "Standards of Performance" policy: 54 ways to give the traveler "one less thing to worry about — his Hertz car."

Believed to set the highest industry standards ever for vehicle quality control and to establish a new peak in customer service, the 54 standards were culled from almost two years of interviews of 1,200 frequent car renters to find

- At every oil change, air conditioner, and power-steering tightness.
- Replace pollution valve near air time of every tank.
- Clean battery weekly to get ways to improve rental car service.

Many of the checks performed by Hertz mechanics as a part of the program require sophisticated equipment; some, however, can be done by car owners at little or no expense to keep their cars in good running order.

For long-range maintenance of car, Hertz recommends:

- Rotate air filter 180 degrees at 2,000 — 3,000 mile interval.

Accent on Health

What's odorless, tasteless and colorless and can kill you before you know you're being poisoned?

The lethal answer to this State Health Department riddle is carbon monoxide, a product of all combustible substances — from gas used in your kitchen gas range to the gasoline in your automobile or gasoline-powered lawn mower.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is preventable, but a lot of people are unaware of its danger.

It is a threat year-round, but the most hazardous time is during the cold months of the year when homes and businesses are closed up tightly against the weather.

But, even summer air conditioning can add to the threat, say State Health Department engineers from the Occupational Health and Radiation Control Division.

In some air conditioned warehouses where forklifts are used to move heavy materials, carbon monoxide has been found at serious levels. This same problem has been found in garages, where a automobile motors are often left running for tests. Enclosed parking garages and drive-in banks also have proved to be sources of trouble.

"You can't depend on leaks around doors or windows to bring in fresh air," says a Health Department engineer. "In places with a source of carbon monoxide, you've got to bring in fresh air constantly to keep up a positive pressure so stale air will be pushed out through ventilators."

The autumn chill in the air has brought heating units and gas stoves into play. Hopefully, each home owner had his heating system checked before turning it on for keeps.

This might've prevented a tragedy occurring at Killen, where a family of four went to bed one night and three were dead the next morning. A little girl survived. An inspection later showed a faulty burner and faulty duct work in the home.

With Texas in the midst of its fall and winter hunting season, hunters should check ventilation in their stoves and should examine smokestacks and chimneys to be certain they aren't clogged.

Of particular concern are the use of catalytic heaters and other unvented heaters in tents and campers.

In the home, make sure the damper is open before lighting the fireplace. Have your gas refrigerator service-checked annually even though newer models have improved control systems. All furnaces, regardless of fuel type, should be checked and properly vented to the outside. Combustion-chamber leakage is a serious hazard, particularly if the heating unit is old. All individual room-type gas heating equipment should be vented. And, say safety experts, don't use your gas cooking range for heating.

Automobiles and trucks, as well as other gasoline engines, shouldn't be run indoors for long periods — even with the garage door open. A charcoal grill of hibachi should be used only outdoors.

While carbon monoxide poisoning is sneaky, there are recognizable symptoms — if you are alert.

Early symptoms of carbon monoxide poisoning include yawning, headache, nausea, dizziness, ringing in the ears, and abdominal pain. Difficult breathing and unconsciousness quickly follow. The victim should get fresh air immediately and should be kept lying down and warm. A physician should be called promptly, and inhalations of oxygen or an oxygen-carbon dioxide mixture should be administered.

Once carbon monoxide is inhaled, it invades the blood stream through the lungs. It unites the hemoglobin in the red blood cells so they cannot carry oxygen to the cells of the body. Asphyxiation results.

Carbon monoxide is so poisonous that when combined with red cells in the blood the bond between the two is 200 times stronger than the normal bond between oxygen and red cells. When oxygen and sizable amounts of carbon monoxide are breathed in together, the carbon monoxide muscles the oxygen aside, causing illness. If oxygen is depleted sufficiently, death follows. Many deaths occur from faulty appliances even though a window may be slightly open, says the Health Department.

At least 1,400 deaths are attributed in the United States each year to carbon monoxide poisoning. Texas had 141 deaths in 1973. More than 10,000 persons nationwide are poisoned by carbon monoxide. Those not killed may suffer temporary or permanent damage to the brain, with serious disturbances of vision, hearing, speech and memory.

Carbon monoxide is dangerous, but it doesn't have to be fatal, repeats the State Health Department. Be aware of the dangers, observe caution in the use of appliances, have them checked regularly, and you may never suffer from carbon monoxide poisoning.

THE OUTSIDE STORY. While the old story about not judging a book by its cover may be true, when the subject is food, it's often what's outside that counts toward keeping what's inside in good shape.

Many people who buy fruits and vegetables, for instance, know they're covered as far as freshness is concerned when they know the food is covered. For example, the package around pre-packaged produce can keep heat and moisture out, oxygen in, so it all stays better longer, without shrinking or shriveling.

The packaging also protects the food by keeping it clean and away from dirt, insects and the fingers of supermarket personnel and customers. It keeps things from being bumped, bruised and crushed on their way to market and while sitting on the shelves with a bunch of other fruits and vegetables.

Essentially, it would seem, the packaging that protects your family's food gives more value at lower cost, while protecting your family's health!

The Welsh believed that anyone who cuts down a juniper bush will die within the year.
