Mustangs Beat Slaton Again

WOOD The score was 22-0 at DC, as the eager Tigers fumbled all over the place to kill their own offense, especially in the first half, although Slaton, now 1-4 for the year, did a creditable job on defense. Things won't get any easier this week as Post brings a potent offense to town seeking their second straight district win. Last Friday Post bombed Cooper 35-6, with Quarterback Bryan Davis passing for two TDs and running for another.

Denver City showed no really high-powered attack, but is a solid team which simply made fewer mistakes than the visiting Tigers. Slaton made no first downs at all in the first half while DC was making 11, although the Tigers made 8 in the last half to 6 for DC.

Slaton Fumbles

At the outset of the game, just after the kickoff, Slaton fumbled, and the ball went to Denver City at the Tiger 41, although three Slaton players fell on it. From there, DC drove to a touchdown with QB Darrell Knox scoring from the 4, and FB Kevin Munn kicking the point. Slaton fumbled twice more in this quarter, but recovered.

DC took over after a short kick into the wind at Slaton's 43 and drove to another score midway of the second quarter as Munn ran 1 yard, then kicked. Slaton could do nothing offensively, so the half ended 14-0.

Slaton finally made a first down with 8:29 left in the third quarter when Bill McClesky ran 17 yards. But this was followed by two more fumbles by Slaton backs, and DC recovered the second one on the Slaton 19. This threat was killed, however, as Greg Basinger recovered a Mustang fumble on the Slaton 5, and the third quarter was scoreless.

Strongest Bid

Early in the fourth, Slaton made its strongest bid to get back into the game, as QB Gary Aycock hit McClesky for 13 yards, then ran 17 on a keeper, and got an extra 15 yards on a personal foul penalty. This moved Slaton to the Mustang 18, and Aycock then hit McClesky for 13 yards to the 6, with still 10 minutes left in the game. But Aycock was hit for an 11-yard loss trying to pass, and he and QB Mike Tumlinson threw incomplete passes to halt Slaton's best effort of the night.

Denver City came back with a strong passing attack, hitting on passes of 32, 15, 7 and 18 yards to the Slaton 9, and then Jeff Ham ran for a TD. Ham took a pass for two points, and Slaton was out of it at

Charges Against Slaton Policeman Are Aired In Two Sessions Here

Slaton city commissioners Wednesday afternoon were listening to chapter two of a long, involved and emotion-charged hearing in which Slaton patrolman Joe Saldivar is accused of brutality by using unnecessary force in the Sept. 18 arrest of a 58-year-old Slaton farmer. The commission was not expected to make a final decision Wednesday on whether to fire Saldivar or dismiss the charge or take some other type of disciplinary action.

Hearing the second round of the inquiry Wednesday were Commissioners Byron Crandall, Eugene Mask, Otis Neill and J. P. Spears, who returned this week from Colorado especially to take part in the hearing. Absent was Mayor J. N. Landreth, who had prior commitments. Before the hearing, one of the commissioners indicated no decision would be made Wednesday because the commissioners felt it imperative that all commissioners and the mayor be present to make the final ruling. This means it would be sometime around Oct. 30 before a final ruling is made, since various members of the commission have commitments to be out of town until that time.

Close Quarters

Last Friday in a crowded

22-0 with six minutes left. McClesky was limited to 36 yards in six carries, but he did catch four passes (two from Aycock, two from Tumlinson) for 43 yards. Defensive leaders for Slaton were Ricky Denzer, John T. Basinger, Tumlinson, Chris Williams and Keith Bumpass.

commission room made physically warmer because of the number present and because the air conditioning failed, attorneys George Gilkerson and Travis Shelton represented Saldivar at the hearing and City Atty. Harvey Morton represented the city. Saldivar was present, but was not called to testify at that time. He sat performing his regular in-car duties.

Davies testified that Saldivar kicked his feet out from under him, put his foot on Davies and struck him with some kind of instrument, apparently a weighted leather weapon called a slapper. Davies said he did not resist arrest.

Robison and Jones both said Davies grabbed the patrolman's pants legs and resisted efforts to handcuff him. They said the officer struck Davies only after repeatedly warning him to turn loose.

The youths' account of the incident also differed from Davies' in the position of the cars at the scene, a point stressed by Gilkerson purportedly to show that Davies could not remember details of the incident with accuracy.

Davies, who also accused Saldivar of not permitting him to use the telephone at the time he was jailed, said he sought medical aid the day after he was released from jail. He said he went for treatment of his hands, which he said remained swollen — "I was hurt bad, and still am."

Davies brought charges against the 22-year-old patrolman to the city commission, which said Friday he was heard in open meeting Sept. 25. However, there apparently are no minutes of this meeting, and the procedure for conducting an executive session, or closed meeting, as set forth in the Texas open meetings law, never was followed.

The issue before the commission is whether Saldivar used unnecessary force in making the arrest. Davies has pleaded not guilty of the charge of drunkenness, nor is any official action apparently planned regarding the circumstances of Davies' release from jail the morning after his arrest. Police claim he was released illegally by Commissioner Otis Neill, who denies this. Gilkerson at one point in last Friday's hearing made an apparent reference to this when he labeled Davies' release an "escape", a comment which drew strong protest from Morton.

Much of Friday's hearing was taken up by legal wrangling between Gilkerson and Morton regarding the definition of terms such as the difference, if any, between "disciplinary action" and "dismissal" and other wrangling between Davies and Gilkerson on whether the hearing had any bearing on Davies' guilt or innocence on the charge of drunkenness.

Because of the time set for Wednesday's hearing, the Slatonite was not able to publish details of what occurred at Wednesday afternoon's session.

JOE SALDIVAR

quietly as his accuser, Kenneth Erle Davies, testified that he was beaten without reason, followed by contradictory testimony from two young wrecker drivers, Brad Robison and Bill Jones. All were under oath at the hearing, attended by 50 or more in the room, with about 75 others standing in doorways and in the hall.

Although it earlier had been reported that Saldivar had been fired, Morton said the patrolman still is on the city payroll, although not

Just Three Misses, But Tie-Breaker Still Needed

Charles Didway of Post missed just three games in last week's Slatonite football contest, so Didway wins first prize of $10 if he claims his prize before 5 p.m. Monday in the Slatonite office.

Joe Mercer of Slaton also missed only three, but his tie-breaker score was 35 points, compared to Didway's 28. The actual total was 22. Mercer wins the second prize of $5.

Third prize and $2 goes to Steve Buskemper of Rt. 2, Post. The Southland area resident missed four games.

This week's contest drew more than 100 entries, the highest total of the year so far. Another contest, with the games listed in each sponsor's block, appears in this issue.

A three-way tie for the first place has developed in the Fearless Forecasters (See CONTEST, Page 3)

Mayor Proclaims Bicycle Safety Week

Today through next Thursday has been declared Bicycle Safety Awareness Week in Slaton. Mayor John Landreth has issued a proclamation declaring the week, and sponsors of the event, the Women's Chamber of Commerce, are urging everyone to cooperate. "Tag your bike with a flag" is the theme of the week said Carolyn Davis, president of the Women's Chamber. The emphasis of the week is to make motorists aware of bikers and to make bikers aware of motorists.

The Women's Chamber members will place reflector tape on bikes and have flags available for bikers Friday. They will be at the West Ward school at 10 a.m. and then they will go to Stephen F. Austin from 1:30 to 3:45 p.m.

At 3:55 p.m. they will be behind the junior high building. "At this time, any high schoolers or adults may also bring their bikes," said Mrs. Davis.

The reflector tape is being furnished by the VFW and Dave's Bicycle and Mower Shop also has flags and other equipment to make bikes more safe and more easily visible.

A cyclethon sponsored by the Greater Slaton Area Jaycees in cooperation with the American Heart Association will be Saturday from 8 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Gregg Nowlin, chairman of the project, said cyclethon will result in raising money for the Heart Association and in giving the contestants a chance to ride in the state competition.

Contestants must solicit sponsors to pay a certain amount per mile for each mile ridden. Winners will be determined by the amount of money they raise. Entries will be divided into 10-15 year olds and 16 years old and over.

Entry blanks are available at the school, and the form should be brought to the high school parking lot at 8 a.m. Saturday morning when the cyclethon starts. The forms must be filled out by sponsors.

The course is three miles long, and contestants may ride it as often as they wish, between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. Motorists are advised to watch for the cyclists Saturday and keep their eyes open at all times for bikers on Slaton streets.

PROCLAMATION EXCHANGE — Carolyn Davis and Mayor John Landreth are shown exchanging the proclamation which declares Oct. 10-17 as Bicycle Safety Awareness Week. Both motorists and bicyclists are urged to watch for each other and observe all traffic laws. (SLATONITE PHOTO)

BAREBACK CHAMP — Bradley Wright, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Harlan Wright, Slaton, won first place in the bareback competition in the Southwest Little Britches Rodeo Finals in Roosevelt. Bradley won $44 and a sterling silver belt buckle which he displays here. He qualified for the finals in the Post Junior Rodeo this summer. This is his first year to ride in rodeo competition. ... you have noticed that it's always some person who tells you that you should go on a diet (or even more irritatingly they tell you that you ought to work as hard as you do and you wouldn't be so fat). This comes from some joker who for some reason of metabolism or physical condition should eat a 400-pound buffalo at one sitting and not gain an ounce. Or it's the guy who doesn't smoke or who tells you that you ought to quit smoking. There are exceptions, of course, because a lot of people actually have quit smoking because they know what they're talking about. The average person simply doesn't have the power to quit smoking or eating. Slaton recently had a non-smoking day, a campaign in which everyone was urged to quit tobacco. Reportedly it was not successful, but there was a dent in the counter cigarette sales that day. The story to the Minnesota story is that a similar one-day ban in his own state in January and said he got pledges from persons who said they were quitting smoking. A check with 195 of them three days later showed that 17 kept their

... about what could be expected, most people would rather go 15 miles to Godzilla than make the effort to quit. This I can understand, because I know the same kind of addiction to steak and butter and whipped cream and pie and all those things which taste good and treat you so bad. I can't understand is how anyone could fight the battle of quitting cigarettes and go back to them several days later, as some of my friends have done. Finally, none of the members of the staff smoke, but we do eat a lot.

CLUB ROUNDUP

VFW AUXILIARY

The VFW Auxiliary will meet in regular session Monday night at 8 p.m. in the Post Home. Members are urged to bring a covered dish. Supper will be served jointly with the Post.

Anyone wishing to donate gifts to the Big Spring State Hospital may bring them Monday night. Dues should be mailed to Geraldine Mann, 315 S. 7th.

CATHOLIC DAUGHTERS

The Catholic Daughters of America met Monday at 7:30 p.m. in St. Joseph's Hall. Regent Loraine Pionka presided.

A meat cooking demonstration was presented by Catherine Berry, assisted by Betty Brown. Mrs. Berry is the home economist for Furr's supermarkets. Mrs. O. E. Heinrich won the two steaks given away.

The court discussed the up-coming annual bazaar set for Nov. 3 at St. Joseph's School. The usual booths are being planned. They are bingo, spinning wheel, darts, cake walk, country store, fancy work and crafts. Three quilts will also be given away along with a filled cedar chest.

Quilting Day for the members will be Oct. 15.

Advertising chairmen are Margaret Melcher and Shirley Bednarz.

The sick committee for October are Lenora Nesbitt, Mary Payne, Dora Pinkert, Angie Pionka and Hattie Pionka.

Refreshments were served by Molly Kuback, Mary Kuss, Diana Kuss, Connie Lewis, Iris Melcher and Margaret Meicher.

Door prize was won by Dara Pinkert.

ATHENIAN STUDY CLUB

The Athenian Study Club met Oct. 1 in the home of Mrs. Tommy Davis.

Eighteen members attended the meeting and heard Mrs. Raymond Wood present a program on private plane flying. Secret pals were revealed. Mrs. Ed Cook was a guest.

TOPS

The Tops Club met Thursday night in the clubhouse and 17 members weighed in. Mary Banks was welcomed as a returning member.

Eleven members lost a total of eight 8 1/2 lbs., and two Kops and a KIW maintained.

Lucille McMeekan won the Grab Bag prize for losing the most. Mickey Jones was crowned Kops queen for September. Susan Zant and Billie Lane volunteered to be Tops contest committee.

The turkey contest starts next week, and the member with the least gains will win the turkey at the Christmas party.

Next week is secret pal gift exchange night.

CIVIC AND CULTURE

The Junior Civic and Culture Club met Oct. 1 in the home of Mrs. C. E. Waugh with Gertrude King serving as co-hostess.

As a new civic project, the club decided to make a new skirt for the annual Club House Christmas tree.

Mrs. M. H. Lasater and Mrs. R. J. Clark are the committee to see about the materials.

Mrs. Lou Walton showed slides of members and their work several years ago. Refreshments were served.

HD CLUB

Mrs. Eldon Allison presided at the Tuesday meeting of the Slaton Home Demonstration Club.

Roll Call was answered by "What I like about fall." Mrs. B. B. Green and Mrs. R. L. Montgomery served refreshments to eight members and seven guests.

Guests were Mrs. Lona Bickers and Mrs. Louise Meeks of Slaton, Dianna Jones, Teresa Eckert, Vicki Winter, Marshalllette Sharp and Patty Stone from Texas Tech. They are majoring in Home Extension work.

The program of the day was inflation, with group study, a skit and a lecture on the subject.

FFA

Kirk Burkett, freshman member of the FFA, showed breeding stock recently at the Southwest Spotted Poland Breeders Sale in Tulia.

His first place January gilt was judged reserve grand champion of the show, and was the highest selling animal of the conference.

Burkett also showed a second place January boar and a third place January gilt.

Clay Mitchell, senior president of the FFA was elected parliamentarian of the 17 school Lubbock District of the FFA. Clay will serve the 1,000 member district for the second year in a row.

Members exhibiting barrows in the Dallas State Fair will be Glen Heinrich, Clay Mitchell, Richard Saddler, Jeff Jones, Craig Belt and Burkett.

During the South Plains Fair at Lubbock, Ricky Denzer and Heinrich exhibited their farm shop projects. Denzer entered his tandem axel trailer which won second. Heinrich's entry was a headache rack he made his junior year.

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America met Monday at 7 p.m. President Jo Edna Smith presided over a short business meeting. Chris (Sketer) Williams was elected September member of the month.

It was Ma, Pa, and Me night. All mothers and fathers came with their FHA members. Entertainment was talent provided by some of the members. Mary Melcher and Margie Denzer accompanying themselves on guitars, sang a couple of numbers. Susan Mercer, Cindy Davis, Brenda Johnson and Donneva Sikes, playing the piano, also sang a few popular songs.

Some of the sophomore girls put on a 1950 style show. They were Donna Pack, Roxanne Schutte, Sandra Mercer, Clarice Schwertner, Robin Kerr, Regina Tomlinson, Debbie Sikes, Regina Williams, Zoe Preston, Carla Bales and Dwana Mosser.

Refreshments were served in the Homemaking Department following the meeting. Host classes were Home and Family Living, first period and HECE. Approximately 250 members and parents attended.

Date of C-C Banquet Set

Feb. 3 has been set as the date for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet here, and chamber board members Tuesday morning agreed to ask Dan Baker, a former Methodist minister who now is primarily an after-dinner speaker. Baker lives in San Antonio.

It was announced that Kent Hance, Democratic candidate for state senate from this district, will be speaker at the annual Veterans Day parade and celebration here on the traditional Veterans Day Nov. 11.

JUNIOR JOLLIES

Calling themselves the Junior Jollies, a group of young women met in the home of Mrs. Jerry Harlan to organize a quilting club. Using the by-laws and customs of The Jolly Quilting Club as criteria, they adopted by-laws and elected officers for the Junior Jolly Quilting Club.

Recognizing the art of quilting would soon disappear unless kept alive by young women like themselves prompted the organization of the club.

The new club met for the first time Tuesday and quilted on a quilt owned by Mrs. Joe Sparkman and pieced by Mrs. Sparkman's grandmother, Mrs. C. S. Oats.

Officers elected were Mrs. Jerry Harlan, president; Mrs. Lawrence King, vice president; Mrs. Wayne Moses, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Joe Sparkman, reporter.

Other members are Mmes. Bobby Harlan, Tony Roye, Bill Davies, Eddie Granel, Don Basinger, Lee Meurer and Robert Taylor.

Quilting day was set for the second Tuesday in each month. Mrs. Kenneth Davies, vice president of the Jolly Quilters, helped the Junior Jollies get organized.

Nursing Home News

By MARY ANN RESCH

This week has been a rather busy one at the nursing home, or at least I have been busy trying to remember everyone's name and position. I am a new Social Director at the Home, and also a new resident to Slaton. My name is Mary Ann Resch. I am married and have three children. We came to Slaton Care Center from Hillcrest Care Center in Clovis, N.M.

We also have a new LVN. Her name is Bettie Taylor and she lives near Tahoka.

We have a lot of things in mind for our residents to do in crafts and anyone wishing to donate scrap materials, especially double knits and gingham checks, please bring them by the nursing home or call me at 828-6268 and I will be glad to pick them up.

We would like to say a special thank you to Mr. and Mrs. Cutsinger for the whirlpool bath they donated to the home. Also, a special

A Philco table model television set valued at $450 was reported stolen from Wendel TV Friday. The set belonged to A. L. Clemons of Holiday Park. The police records showed no auto accidents investigated in the city during the last week.

Women's Chamber To Collect Gifts

The Women's Chamber of Commerce met Monday at 1:15 p.m. in the Chamber Board Room with seven present. The Women's Chamber is sponsoring the Bicycle Safety Week Oct. 10 through 17. They will have a bike inspection, and put tape on the bikes that are brought to them at 10 a.m. at West Ward school Friday, and at 1:30 to 3:45 at Stephen F. Austin school. The tape will be free and the safety flags will be available for anyone who wishes to buy them. It was decided to collect gifts to be given to the patients at the State Hospital at Big Spring for Christmas. These gifts must be there by Nov. 14. The women extend an invitation to anyone wishing to send something to bring it to the chamber office before that time. The items must be new and not wrapped. Most anything may be used, but a few of the most wanted items are: needlework sets, house shoes for both men and women, combs and brushes, hand cream, cosmetics for men and women, panty hose, blue jeans of all sizes, body powder, handkerchiefs, instant tea, instant coffee and many other items. Five members showed up for the paint day at the hospital recently. They painted four patient rooms and a bathroom. Plans for the "Tour of Homes" that is to be the first part of December seem to be coming along very well, as are plans for the Veterans' Day Parade float.

Winners Selected In PP&K Contest

Winners in the Punt, Pass and Kick competition were selected Saturday from 81 contestants. Winning the eight year old division were: Carl Denzer, first place, 159 points; Arthur Arguello, second place, 124½ points, and Jarrod Edmonds, 123½ points for third place. Brent Holt took first place in the nine year olds with 178½ points. Following him were Andy Wheeler with 172½ points and Noel Mask with 153 points. In the 10 year old competition, Mike Voigt took first with 217½. Next was Douglas Heinrich with 176½ and Jesse Lopez with 155. In the 11 year olds, Troy Moses won with 216½ points. Second place went to Bennie Keck with 208 and Glen Buxkemper won third with 195½. Danny Ardrey won the 12 year old competition with 246½. Second place went to Glenn Edmonds with 234½ and third place went to Lonny King with 223 points. In the 13 year old competition, Glenn Culver won with 308½ points. Steve Denzer had 290½ and Steve Evans racked up 276 points. The six first place winners will advance to zone competition in Lubbock Saturday. The PP&K contest was sponsored by Smith Ford.

Open House To Honor Hance

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kahlich will host an open house from 6 to 9 p.m. Oct. 14 honoring and introducing Kent Hance, democratic candidate for state senator. Hance is a Lubbock attorney, and is a member of the Texas Tech faculty. He defeated Doc Blanchard in the primary and is a candidate for election in the Nov. 5 balloting. Mrs. Kahlich said, "We want all the Slaton and Wilson area people to come. Mr. Hance will be glad to answer any questions you may have."

The Kahlich home is located a quarter of a mile north of Wilson on the Slaton highway. It is a two story brick home on the right side of the road.

Officers To Attend Workshop

The West Ward PTA officers will be attending a District 14 workshop at Petersburg Friday. The theme of the workshop will be Educate to Legislate. Jimmy Hooser, director of Governmental Relations of the Texas State Teachers Association is scheduled as guest speaker. His topic will be Public School Finance. CONTEST (continued from Page 1) competition, as previous leader Dalton Wood slowed up a bit so the others wouldn't quit. Wood missed four last week, as did Joe Sparkman and J. W. Holt, while missing only three were Pete Williams and Bill Ball, who now are tied with Wood at 38 right, 21 wrong for the year. Holt stands at 35-24 and Sparkman clings stubbornly to his cellar position at 34-25.

Basketball Programs To Be Organized

Parents of Slaton children interested in playing basketball will be meeting next week to organize cage programs here.

A prior meeting for the girls' basketball program took place in September, and another meeting is set for Oct. 16 at 6 p.m. in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service Co.

According to Bill Baker, the girls will not participate in the National Little Dribblers, but will organize their own league and adhere to the Texas University Interscholastic League rules.

Letters have been mailed to surrounding towns and the response has been favorable to the proposal.

All interested persons are invited. The girls will probably need several new coaches this year and a lot of help will be needed to get the organization off the ground.

The boys in Slaton will continue in Little Dribblers. A meeting of the parents of the interested boys is scheduled for 7 p.m. Oct. 16 in the Reddy Room.

Boys 9-10 years of age will play only in city competition. Boys 11-12 years of age will be entered in official Little Dribblers competition.

Boys who will be 9 years old by Sept. 1, 1975 and boys 11 years old by 1975 are eligible. Boys 13 years old by Sept. 1, 1975 cannot play.

At the meeting, dues and playing dates will be set.

and officers will be elected.

This year, for the first time, Southland and Wilson boys will be able to join the league.

It is important for all parents to attend this meeting so that the program will be successful this year.

Staff Attends Fashion Show

Members of the staff of the Cinderella Beauty Salon and Merle Norman Cosmetic Studio recently attended an All Fashion Style Show.

The show included the new hair styles of wet set and blow cuts, new fashion make up and the new fall trend in clothing.

Guest artist was Frank Frvia of Houston, who has won over 30 hair styling awards.

Representing Texas in the parade of states were Jessie Lee Sharpley and Lynda of Houston, professional model. Jessie Lee is the owner of Lubbock's Jessie Lee's Hair Design Institute and the author of 10 hairstyling books.

Members attending the show were Charlotte Sartor, Sandy Self and Orilia Aguire.

Weeds In Sorghum Fields Soon As Threat To 1975 Cotton Crop

LUBBOCK — A disease known as Verticillium wilt, or "vert" as cotton farmers call it, is having its day this season with cool temperatures and high soil moisture. This may serve to remind producers to take preventive measures now to avoid the disease next year, says a cotton pathologist.

One way is to get those careless weeds out of sorghum fields that will be planted to cotton next year.

Why sorghum fields? Because, producers often rotate cotton with sorghum, says Dr. Earl Minton of Agricultural Research Service — U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Careless weeds growing in sorghum and other crops are hosts for the fungus responsible for causing Verticillium wilt. When cotton is planted the next year in place of sorghum, "vert" may be there waiting. Pointing to a recently completed research study in cooperation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock, Minton notes that the lowest incidence of wilt occurred in sorghum plots which had been kept weed-free. The degree of wilt damage in cotton planted in plots where weed-infested grain sorghum was grown for four years was markedly higher than in cotton grown on test sites following weed-free sorghum.

"This holds true across the board," he said. "Whether four years or one year, the wilt damage was higher in the weedy sorghum."

"Our studies indicate that a three-year rotation gives the best results, and that two years are better than one before going back to cotton. The degree of control is in direct relationship to the number of years the weed-free sorghum was planted."

Minton says that the studies also showed that the earlier in the season Verticillium wilt occurs in the cotton crop, the lower its yield and the greater damage to lint and seed quality.

Sorghum is not the only crop that can be used in a rotation series, Minton hastens to explain. Barley, wheat, castor beans and soybeans are very effective in controlling the spread of Verticillium wilt. Right now, barley is leading in reduction of wilt damage.

"No matter which of these crops is used," Minton concludes, "careful attention should be given to controlling weeds if 'vert' control is to be achieved."

Minton says that shredding and mixing crop residues with the soil as soon as possible after the crop is harvested will also help reduce the severity of this disease in cotton.

BENEFIT DANCE TO BE HELD

A benefit dance will be held Oct. 12 at 9 p.m. at the Cotton Club to benefit C. V. Kitten who is a patient in a Big Spring hospital.

Dale Murphy and his Twin Fiddler Texas All-Star Band will furnish the music. Admission is $5 per couple.

FAMILY POT LUCK

BY HELEN HALE

Looking for a quick, satisfying dessert? Blend together a 10-ounce package of frozen strawberries with 2 cups of canned applesauce and a cup of miniature marshmallows. A rosy sauce for cake or ice cream.

To glaze plain donuts, beat an egg white until frothy, then blend in 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar, drizzling the glaze over them.

Sections of navel oranges may be used for dessert, or garnish when they're blended with undiluted tangerine juice and a smidgen of almond extract. Garnish with toasted coconut.

Making meat loaf? Blend in a can of deviled ham. It brings a bit of flavor, also adds moistness.

Arrange scallops in a shallow pan and dot with butter, then sprinkle with chopped parsley, basil and salt. Bake in a moderate oven for 25 minutes.

Helen's Favorite: Barbecued Meat Balls (Serves 4)

- 1 pound ground beef
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 cup salad oil
 - 1/4 cup wine vinegar
 - 1/2 cup chili sauce
 - 1 tablespoon worcestershire sauce
 - 1 tablespoon brown sugar
 - 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
 - 1 teaspoon chili powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
- Combine beef and salt; shape into 1-inch balls and brown on all sides in hot oil. Pour over them the sauce made by boiling together all remaining ingredients, stirring gently to coat the balls. Cook slowly for 15 minutes, stirring once or twice during cooking.

The Consumer

Consumers whose gas and electricity bills are soaring have a tool to assist them in conserving energy — a new energy conservation labeling program.

The program is designed to give consumers, for the first time, the information they need to choose household appliances that make the most efficient use of energy.

For individual consumers, buying more "energy efficient" appliances could mean significantly lower monthly gas or electricity bills.

And, since about 20 percent of all energy used in the U. S. is used in apartments and homes, and since in 1973 alone, more than 43 million major appliances were sold in this country, there is a potential for energy saving on a nationwide scale.

The energy conservation labeling program for household appliances and equipment was begun this past summer by the Department of Commerce as a voluntary cooperative venture between consumers, retailers, and manufacturers.

Although the labels that tell how much energy an appliance uses were designed mainly to help consumers make buying decisions, the program also aims to encourage retailers to stock such supplies, and manufacturers to design and produce products that waste less energy.

Since the program now is entirely voluntary, its success depends on the cooperation of all three groups to make it work.

Manufacturers who participate in the program will be labeling household appliances to show how much energy they use and their relative efficiency compared to similar models.

A bill approved last year by the U. S. Senate would also require appliance manufacturers to state energy use in dollars and cents on the labels, although manufacturers say different rates of use and regional variations in utility costs would make such information useless.

Retailers cooperating in the program will provide information on how the energy conservation labeling program works, and will use the energy efficiency information in advertising and point-of-purchase material. Some retailers are cooperating by distributing booklets on energy conservation published by local agencies.

Consumers can use the energy efficiency information to compare appliance models and see which will cost less to operate.

Sometimes an appliance may cost more initially than a competing brand, but operate so much more efficiently that within a few months it has made up the difference by reduced energy bills.

For example, a refrigerator with a more than 10 percent energy efficiency label would use only four months' worth of electricity to pay for itself. After that, it would save more money than it cost.

The first appliances labeled with the new program are air conditioners, other household appliances, and refrigerators. The program will also be labeling electric ranges, kitchen ovens, water heaters, and conditioning equipment.

Energy conservation labeling has been proposed for a number of other energy-consuming products. The program is being expanded to include more products.

Consumers are encouraged to look for the energy efficiency label on appliances.

Their appearance in the past summer at a unit had been certified by the program standards.

Eagles Soar Past Frenship 32-0

By MIKE PATSCHKE
The Roosevelt Eagles must have been fed raw meat during the week layoff after losing their first game two weeks earlier to Seagraves, because last Friday night they came out ready to devour the Frenship Tigers. The Eagles soared to a 32-0 district 5-AA win over the Tigers in a game that most observers had expected to be closer.

Coach Houston Powell's Eagles rolled to 397 yards total offense, with David Holland the top ground-gainer with 82 yards on 8 carries, and he scored one touchdown.

End Glen Campbell scored the first touchdown on a pass in the second quarter, and Raymond Frizzell's try for point was no good. Also in the second period, a Frenship fumble was recovered by Guard Dickie Dunson, and a Roosevelt fumble was covered by the Tigers' Jay Hart. Another Eagle threat was thwarted by an interception of a Jeff Anderson pass by Frenship's Kelly Sewell on the Tiger 5.

With just 2:24 left in the half, Holland scored, and Frizzell kicked point to make it 13-0 at halftime.

The third period was scoreless. During this quarter, Eagle end Lon Pierce recovered a fumble.

Tailback Rodney Jackson rambled 12 yards for a touchdown with 7:42 left in the game, and Lowell Bridges kicked point, since Frizzell had suffered an injury in the second quarter, his second injury this season. He was hospitalized in Lubbock and treated for a concussion. He was listed in fair condition.

Fullback Charles Baker raced 25 yards to score with 3:20 left, and Bridges missed the point to leave it at 26-0. Quarterback Roger Daniels hit Wingback Tommy Sansom on a touchdown pass with 1:29 left, and this made it 32-0.

Defensive rover Amarante Lucero played a top game for Roosevelt. On offense, Jackson carried 12 times for 55 yards. Frenship's Bruce Wright gained 76 yards on just 7 carries, most of it coming on a 52-yard run.

Southland

By MRS. ROBERT MOCK
Our sympathies are with the family and friends of Lee Mason, who recently died.

Tommie and Edmund Wilke are home and they report that Martha has been released from the hospital. Larry will be hospitalized for approximately another month. The couple was injured in a plane accident which claimed the life of their daughter.

Tommie said they have many friends helping them there and she appreciates the prayers of the people here.

Even though the Southland Eagles are having their problems, they have a great cheering section led by Debbie Craddock, Arla Nelson, Mary Buskemper and Joy Basinger. They credit their success to Jeannie Adamec who coached them this summer.

A large group of football fans gathered at Mr. and Mrs. Bill Weavers' for coffee and cake Friday night. The group also toured the Weavers' house.

Mrs. J. W. Payton was released from the hospital and is recovering at home.

Congratulations to Joe E. and Mary Basinger on their new baby boy. Mother and child are at home with the family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Bevers were honored when a few friends brought gifts and refreshments and best wishes for life in their new home.

Hackberry Co-Op ginned their first bale of cotton Oct. 4. D. I. Dunn brought in 2040 pounds and got a 489 pound bale with 880 pounds of seed.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Landers of Lubbock visited with the Jack Burkett family Sunday.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Wrong Victim

One winter's day, Art, a teenager, was amusing himself by hurling snowballs at passing cars. One snowball missed its target and struck a pedestrian across the street, injuring his eye. Could Art be held liable for assault and battery?

In a court hearing, his lawyer said no.

"Art had no wrongful purpose toward this man," went the lawyer's argument. "Hitting him was purely accidental."

However, the court ordered Art to pay damages. The court invoked the doctrine of "transferred intent," by which an original wrongful intent—in this case, the desire to hit the passing car—was transferred to the accidental consequences.

This widely recognized doctrine is based on the law's reluctance to let a wrongdoer get off scot-free. It has even been applied in a case of mistaken identity. Thus:

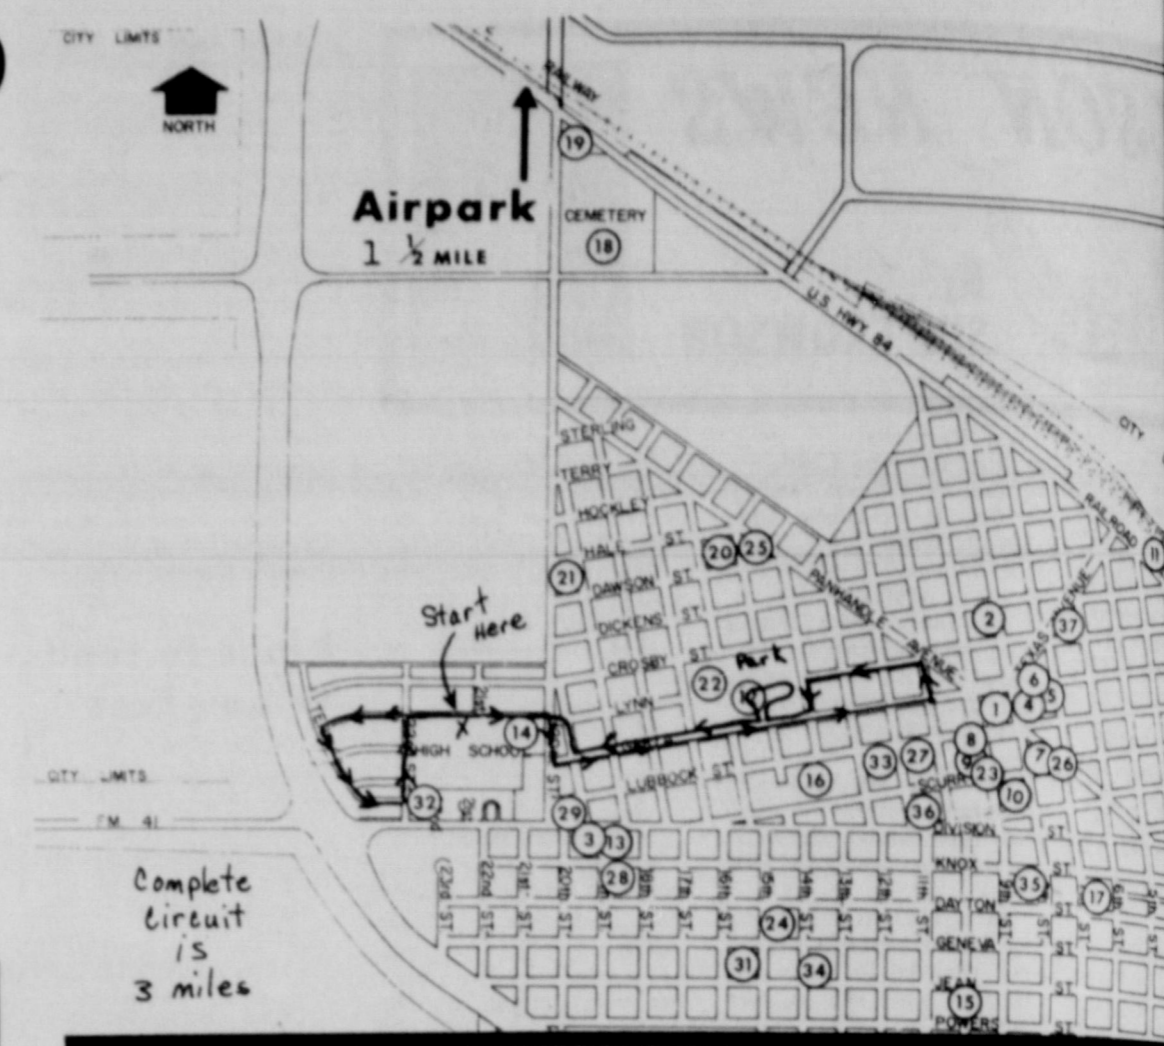

A man sneaked up behind another man, thinking he was an old antagonist, and bashed him on the head. Actually, the victim happened to be a total stranger.

But that didn't help the first man when he was haled into court afterward to face a damage claim. Applying the doctrine of transferred intent, the court had no trouble finding him liable.

On the other hand, the doctrine will not apply if there was no wrongful purpose in the first place.

Suppose, for instance, that a woman who is being chased by a mugger throws a rock in his direction. And suppose the rock misses the mugger and hits an innocent bystander.

Under these circumstances, the woman could not be held responsible for injury to the bystander, because she had acted in legitimate self defense. With no wrongful intent to begin with, there would be nothing that could be transferred into legal liability.

Storyhour was Saturday afternoon, from 2 until 3 p.m. in the Slaton Branch Library. New film-strips were shown and stories read. Mrs. Gregg Nowlin was in charge of activities. Forty-two children were present.

The Slaton Friends Club board met Sept. 26 at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. Paul Buchanan, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. R. C. Hall Jr., in the absence of the secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting. Mrs. George Privett, treasurer, gave a report. Mrs. Ted Melugin, librarian, presented an invitation to all Friends members and patrons to attend the "Lunch Bunch" programs at Mahon Community room in Mahon Library on Tuesdays from 12:15 to 12:45 p.m. Plans were made to clean the floors and carpet in the library, also the walls and draperies in the near future. Plans were set to have fourth grade tours the early part of December to the Slaton Branch.

The Friends Club board members asked that a special plea of volunteer Storyhour helpers be made. Anyone wishing to read or tell stories at the Storyhour programs, please call the Slaton Branch at 828-3457. The Storyhour programs are scheduled the first Saturday afternoon of each month at 2 o'clock. Your help would be appreciated. These programs are free and sponsored by the Friends Club.

The freshmen amount to 40 percent of the total membership and are gladly welcomed by the chapter.

Seven members will leave for the Dallas Stock Show Oct. 14-19. These members will stay one week in the chapter's van (The Porker Hilton). Those exhibiting will be Jimmy Kahlich, Kirk Thomas, Kris Thomas, Rhea Cooper, Keith Bdxkemper, Randy Dunn and Brad Burton.

RAILROAD PENSIONS PASS BY VOTE 343-10

The Railroad Retirement Act of 1974, H.R. 15301, passed the House Sept. 18 by a vote of 343 for and 10 against. On Sept. 25 the Senate passed this measure by a voter of 85-1.

The bill is now at the White House awaiting the President's signature.

Post Hammers Cooper 35-6

By BILL SERYABILL

Bad field position and a tough Antelope defense brought the Cooper Pirates to their knees in their second defeat this season. The Post Antelopes started slow, scoring a touchdown in the second and third quarters, but came alive in the last quarter by scoring 21 points to win 35-6.

The first quarter was highlighted by a field goal attempt by the Antelopes. Tony Conner of Post tried a 20-yard kick into the wind, but the ball went wide even though it had the distance.

Post scored early in the second quarter after a 65-yard drive to the Pirates 1-yard line. Antelope Joe Moore dove over the middle of the Pirate line for the score. The kick by Conner was good and with 10:03 left in the half, the Antelopes led 7-0. The remaining minutes of the half were spent as each team moved the ball from one side of the field to the other. Post threatened several times, but the Pirate defense succeeded in holding ground.

No Long Drives

The opening minutes of the third quarter were a repeat of the first quarter. Neither team was able to sustain a lasting attack until the Antelopes broke loose with 6:22 left. Post quarterback Bryan Davis completed a screen pass to Moore, who sprinted 22 yards for the score. The kick by Conner was good, putting the Antelopes ahead 14-0. The quarter passed quickly without the Pirates getting the chance to score.

The fourth quarter proved to be disastrous for the Pirates. The only good thing that happened to the Pirates was a completed pass to Clayton Bates for the score. Pirate quarterback Kelly Choban kept the ball on the conversion, but was stopped before crossing the goal line. The Antelopes came back minutes later with a 20-yard pass by Davis to Conner for a score. The kick by Conner was good, putting the Antelopes ahead 21-6.

Fumble Kickoffs

With a little more than three minutes left in the quarter, the Pirates fumbled two kick-offs that led to two more Antelope touchdowns. The first was by Davis from 4 yards out on the keeper. The second was by Dennis McDonald, who took a pitch-out around the left end for 25 yards and a TD. Conners kicked both extra points to close the door on the Pirates 35-6. As the game came to the end, the Pirates failed to move into position to score.

The Pirates will face the Denver City Mustangs at Pirate Stadium this Friday night.

After the game with Post, Donnie Seale was rushed to the hospital for emergency surgery. Donnie had returned home complaining of not feeling well. He went to his room where he passed out and was then rushed to the hospital, apparently suffering from internal injuries. Monday, he was still in intensive care, but was reported doing well. He is expected to be out most, if not all, of the season.

PSAT/NMSQT TEST

Thirty-two students at Cooper High School will have the opportunity to join over one million other students around the world in taking the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test / National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test as an important step in making college plans.

The test, to be given at Cooper on Oct. 22, is designed to measure verbal and mathematical abilities that are important in doing college Board and the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

In addition to helping students find out more about themselves and their abilities, the PSAT/NMSQT can lead to other opportunities such as: entering the competition for scholarships administered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation; participating in the college Board's Student Search Service so they can get information from colleges that may be looking for students like them.

Seniors who are taking the test should give their money to Mrs. Brownfield before Oct. 22.

FHA OFFICERS

The Junior Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America held their first meeting of the year on Sept. 17. The officers were announced and the emblem was explained to the mothers. Refreshments were served after the meeting and the mothers got acquainted with the sponsors and members.

The Junior officers are as follows:
President Shari Hagens,
1st Vice President Pam

Smith, 2nd is Tonya Scott, 3rd is Carla Gentry, 4th is Lynette Martin, 5th is Donna Holmes, 6th Vice President is Allene Boller, Treasurer Schyler Trimble, Parliamentarian Suzy Smith, and Historian Missy Cooper. The senior officers are as follows:

President Kandy Jones, Vice President Janet Green, Encounter Tami Jones, Point System Carol Kahlich, Social Chairman Sharla Jones, Reporter Cindy Hagens, Secretary Delsey Cooper, Treasurer Terri Robertson, and Parliamentarian Cassie Kitten.

The Senior chapter took the children from the Buckner Children's Home to the Fair on Sept. 25. There was one child to every two members.

The FHA served sandwiches to the football players on Sept. 25 before going to the fair.

The installation of the new FHA officers was Sept. 30. The informal installation was Oct. 1.

EL CIRCULO OFFICERS

On Sept. 19 at 7:30 the members of the El Circulo Espanol gathered together in room five for their first meeting of the year. There was a good turnout and members gave their opinions on such topics as decorating the door, and writing a constitution. New officers were elected for 1974-75.

They are as follows: Able Cardenas, president; David Bermea, vice president; Frances Hernandez, secretary; Mary Lou Barrera, treasurer; Carmen Perez, reporter; and Sara Aleman and Oscar Bermea, parliamentarians.

This year the seniors of the club will rewrite the club constitution. This will serve to instruct officers and members of their duties and obligations.

The goal of the club this year is to broaden the Mexican culture in school and in others' lives.

Cooper FFA

Tuesday night the Cooper FFA met in regular session. Freshman initiation was the main concern of the night as 22 Greenhands were received by the chapter.

The following day all were to wear dresses and

WHY DRIVE ON SLICK ROADS?

A GOOD SWAP?

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" (Matt. 16:26) Many people have high ambition for the acquisition of property and money. Often, young couples have in mind the devotion of all their time and energies to getting together a good fortune before they think of anything else. People frequently spend the years of their best health and strength in acquiring a home, or farms, or a lucrative business, expecting to settle back in old age and enjoy the fruits of their labor.

Let us ask this question: How would you like to possess ALL the money in the world — to own EVERY acre of land? Do you know what that would be worth to you ultimately? NOTHING. Do you expect to be here always? Have you never thought of dying? What, REALLY, would it be worth to you to gain the whole world and lose your own soul? Surely, then, it isn't worth neglecting Christ and his church to make the totally insignificant amount that you have. If your first concern will be Christ, you will have all you need (Matt. 6:33), and be assured of the safety of your soul.

A sincere welcome is yours at every service of the church of Christ:

Our Health

By C. H. Tracy, M.D.

My young son is very eager to begin participation in his school's Fall sports programs. To prepare a worried mother, would you please explain the difference between sprains and strains and the best treatments for these injuries.

Sprains are injuries to the soft tissues — ligaments, tendons, and blood vessels — surrounding a joint.

Pain, swelling and sometimes discoloration of the skin about the joint accompany a sprain. A doctor should always be consulted after such an injury since there is the possibility that there also may be a fracture or dislocation which can be detected only by X-ray.

First aid for a sprain: raise the injured joint on a pillow, apply cold, wet compresses to relieve pain. A doctor will then usually apply supportive bandages.

A strain involves injury to muscles due to overexertion or unaccustomed movements. Rest and warm applications will help to relieve the pain, but a doctor should be consulted if pain persists.

My skin always feels dry and slightly tough after a long summer in the sun. What can I do to "soften up"?

Even if you conscientiously moisturized your skin during the summer as everyone should, continued exposure to strong summer sun may result in the slight "toughness" you observed. It is important to pamper your skin carefully as the weather cools in order to avoid dryness and to prolong your healthy glow from the summer.

One convenient way to restore needed moisture to dry skin is to add a capful or two of a soothing oil such as Alpha Kerol to the bathwater every time you bathe.

PRAY THE LORD

By LENDA WOOD

"O Lord, you have examined my heart and know everything about me. You know when I sit or stand. When far away you know my every thought. You chart the path ahead of me, and tell me where to stop and rest. Every moment, you know where I am. You know what I am going to say before I even say it. You both precede and follow me, and place your hand of blessing on my head.

"This is too glorious, too wonderful to believe. I can never be lost to your Spirit! I can never get away from my God! If I go up to heaven, you are there; if I go down to the place of the dead, you are there. If I ride the morning winds to the farthest oceans, even there your hand will guide me, your strength will support me. If I try to hide in the darkness, the night becomes light around me. For even darkness cannot hide from God; to you the night shines as bright as day. Darkness and light are both alike to you.

"You made all the delicate, inner parts of my body, and knit them together in my mother's womb. Thank you for making me so wonderfully complex! It is amazing to think about. Your workmanship is marvelous — and how well I know it. You were there while I was being formed in utter seclusion! You saw me before I was born and scheduled each day of my life before I began to breathe. Every day was recorded in your Book!

"How precious it is, Lord, to realize that you are thinking about me constantly! I can't even count how many times a day your thoughts turn toward me. And when I waken in the morning, you are still thinking of me!"

The above is a portion of Psalm 139. Isn't this a wonderful message? Knowing the things of God like this is what makes our lives worth living. This tells us that God is very much concerned about us because He loves us. And when we know someone loves us, we can literally do anything! If we lose that love, then we feel like nobody cares, so what's the use of trying.

One night, several years ago, I took a plane trip, and every time we passed over a city, large or small I could see the farm house behind the thoughts kept of me: How in the God have time about all those me too, and all people all over world, at the same time. Knowing that us so much that plans for us, reason to praise things (good and We (being evil) make plans for us because we love things don't smoothly. But these few years children are little them to trust things out even going gets rough. In this same wants us to have trust in Him, especially when gets rough, and see any way out. Remember, He keeps on saying work together for them who love G

Read Psalm 20:1-5

He that is of God heareth God's words. (John 8:47) An unhappy love affair left a girl in such straits that to remain alone with her sad memories was anguish. Wiping her tears, she sighed, "I think I will do nursing — take up something for others."

Her wise old friend warned her: "Nursing is too sacred a work to be undertaken from any selfish motive. Wait awhile and see if it really is your rightful calling." A number of persons leap into some form of service out of a need to get away from personal problems. The spirit may be so eager to engage in new, demanding work that other necessary qualifications are lost sight of.

We should pray about our future — pray daily to be shown light on our paths and to be helped by the Spirit to find our true vocation. God knows what gifts and abilities we have; the limit of our patience and endurance; our physical and intellectual talents.

One way to peace is to be sure that what we are doing, be the work lowly and routine or dramatic and publicized, is God's will for us.

Prayer: God, grant us light to know the way in which we should walk and the will to walk in it. Amen.

Thought for the day — In God's will is our peace.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Working Together
 The problems and troubles of this world are many. The problems and troubles of this nation, state, and community are many. The problems and troubles of some families are multiple. Yet they all seem to grow because one important element is missing in the course of human relationships.

If all men could work together, just think what a wonderful planet this earth would be. Imagine if people were more concerned with helping one another, and less concerned with just "looking out for themselves." If we could compromise for the benefit of all peoples, think what the Human Experience could be.

These ideals are fine, but where do we begin?
 We begin with you and me — the individual. In order for all mankind to be able to work together, we, as individuals, must start this great trend going within our homes and communities. Once it begins and increases on this local level everywhere, then it will spread and increase to all levels. It will only work when all people, everywhere, begin working together toward a better world.

EFFICIENCY
COMFORT ECONOMY

you get it all with
 NATURAL ENERGY
Gas Heating
 Fresh, warm air gently circulating from floor to ceiling — so nice to take for granted. Comfort is clean gas heat.

And that dependable comfort is such a bargain here in West Texas. Though gas energy costs a little more than it used to, gas furnaces still cost less than one-third as much to operate as similar electric furnaces.

And at the same time you're saving money with gas heating, you can also have warm feeling knowing that you're helping conserve energy. Gas heating uses half as much energy as an electric system doing the same job.

Comfort, efficiency, and economy — you get it all with natural energy gas heat.

Junior High Jottings

By BEATRICE PARRAS
Last Friday was 'nifty fifties' time for all Junior High students. Girls wore full skirts and boys wore rolled up jeans. The girls wore their hair in pony tails and the boys looked like 'greasy kid stuff'. Mrs. Carnes was teacher of the day.

New nicknames for students are: Daryl Piwonka, Richie; Brent Peterson, Fondsy; Loy Sadler, Lo Lo; Beatrice Parras, Betty Lou; Marilyn Tipton, Mary Poppins; Chris Kennedy, Raggedy Ann; and Wanda Thomas, Angie Mama.

Virginia Gabel enrolled in the eighth grade. She is from Lubbock. Teresa Martinez withdrew.

Kenneth Matney enrolled in the sixth grade as did Lonnie Gabel. They are both from Lubbock.

Eighth grade art work on balance is on display. Art displayed is by Jerry White, Todd Taylor, Tim Hartley, Olga Martinez, Jimmy Keith and Mike Kenney.

The sixth grade art students are working on a sculpture made of cubes cylinders and spheres. All art students will draw fire prevention posters for the poster contest.

Sixth graders took the SRA test last week.

Choir students sold candles for $1.50 to raise money.

Mr. Davis reminded all students that we will have an assembly this Friday at 2:15 p.m. Admission will be 25 cents.

The nine week exam schedule is as follows: odd periods on Tuesday of next week, even periods on Thursday.

Tuesday was Beat Post day. School spirit was high and many students and teachers dressed in red and black.

Students in the eighth grade are writing their fire prevention themes this week. Don Kendrick and Bob Kern stayed at Junior High all day Tuesday to give the students fire prevention information and to show slides about the Slaton Fire Department. Their help is greatly appreciated.

8th Graders Defeat Post

Slaton 8th Grade football team topped the visiting Post 8th grade team 14-6 Tuesday night as Jerry White scored one touchdown and Vaughan Gentry took a pass from QB Ricky Davis for a second TD, with White running for 2 points after that one.

Several scores were called back, including a 50-yard pass from Davis to Gentry. Most valuable defensive players were Roddy Smith, Herman Hernandez and Stanley Randall.

The 7th graders, after two weeks off, found the going a little rough in their first district game. Slaton had one touchdown called back, Post had two called back, and when the game ended, it was still 0-0. For Slaton, Craig Maberry did a good job on offense and Jeff McClanahan was tops on defense.

The junior high teams travel to Roosevelt next week for their second district game.

Slaton Woman Edits Non-Fiction Book

Author Jeanne Lively, Lubbock, who has penned a non-fiction book on West Texans called "Howdy," will be honored with an autograph party Sunday, Oct. 13, from 2-4 p.m., at Lubbock's YWCA, 3101-35th St.

Among West Texans featured in "Howdy" are pioneer physician, Dr. M. C. Overton; Amon G. Carter, and Will Rogers; Lubbock bootmaker, Willie Lusk, and two of his famous customers, Benny Binnion of Las Vegas' Golden Horseshoe and screen star Chill Wills; and well-known area farmers, F. O. Masten and D. E. (Gene) Benham.

Through the pages of "Howdy," you can almost feel that you've attended one of Pep, Texas' Thanksgiving spreads, ridden with the cowboys of the North Spade on the last round-up, or visited Old Emma, the town that used to be!

Linda Roy of Slaton, edited the book and will greet guests along with western artist and illustrator, Kenneth Wyatt of Tulia.

Special guests will be there who have stories in the book and the public is invited to attend.

Art Teacher Wins Prize

Mrs. Lois Lawrence, art teacher at Slaton Junior High, has been awarded a purchase prize for her pencil drawing entitled "Waiting My Turn" in the Llano Estacado Art exhibition at Hobbs, N.M.

The show is comprised of entries from Texas and New Mexico. The exhibit is on display in the Watson auditorium at the fine arts building of Tarrant Junior College until Saturday.

Accent on Health

Young children wish that Christmas came every month, and personnel in the public health field have that same feeling about Immunization Action Month.

This special month — being observed in October for the second year — puts the emphasis on immunizations, an effective weapon in the State Health Department's battle against disease in Texas.

Only through continued emphasis on immunizations — particularly in pre-school children — can the so-called childhood diseases be conquered, says State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy.

October is set aside for a cooperative effort to reverse the trend of declining levels of protection among one to four-year-old children against polio, measles, rubella, mumps, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus. Being used in this effort are intensive educational and motivational programs to increase the utilization of immunization services.

Texas last year had an enviable decline in immunizable diseases, and there has been no paralytic polio in the state since 1972. But, warns the State Health Department, unimmunized youngsters can provide a reservoir for disease. All parents are urged to check their children's immunization records and correct any deficiencies which they find.

The State Health Department, along with its local health departments and public health regions, the federal Center for Disease Control, and other agencies, has a two-part October campaign. It is directed at private and public health care providers and parents for the purpose of increasing immunity levels among the pre-school populations.

In addition to television and radio spot announcements and newspaper stories, the immunization campaign is being taken directly to parents and mothers.

The Texas Department of Public Welfare has joined with the Health Department to insert an immunization message into all food stamp authorizations for October. The insert, modified to include immunization schedules in Spanish, will be mailed to approximately 400,000 food stamp recipients. It is anticipated that another 70,000 mothers who receive aid to dependent children also will receive the message.

In addition, 1,200,000 immunization messages will be mailed to public utility consumers throughout the state.

Day care center directors will receive a recently developed leaflet on immunizations. The leaflets explain the parents' obligations concerning the child's health statement, TB skin test, and immunization status. This leaflet is being distributed to the more than 3,000 child caring facilities throughout Texas.

Local health departments during October will review their immunization records to determine which clinic children haven't completed their full immunizations. Special postcards in Spanish and English have been devised to notify parents.

And, throughout the state, special immunization aides will continue their efforts in contacting all parents of newborns concerning immunizations.

The State Health Commissioner is solidly behind these increased immunization activities during October — and every month in the future — and urges parents to have their children protected against possible life-taking, crippling diseases. After all, our children are the only future we have.

Accent on Health

Young children wish that Christmas came every month, and personnel in the public health field have that same feeling about Immunization Action Month.

This special month — being observed in October for the second year — puts the emphasis on immunizations, an effective weapon in the State Health Department's battle against disease in Texas.

Only through continued emphasis on immunizations — particularly in pre-school children — can the so-called childhood diseases be conquered, says State Health Commissioner Dr. James E. Peavy.

October is set aside for a cooperative effort to reverse the trend of declining levels of protection among one to four-year-old children against polio, measles, rubella, mumps, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus. Being used in this effort are intensive educational and motivational programs to increase the utilization of immunization services.

Texas last year had an enviable decline in immunizable diseases, and there has been no paralytic polio in the state since 1972. But, warns the State Health Department, unimmunized youngsters can provide a reservoir for disease. All parents are urged to check their children's immunization records and correct any deficiencies which they find.

The State Health Department, along with its local health departments and public health regions, the federal Center for Disease Control, and other agencies, has a two-part October campaign. It is directed at private and public health care providers and parents for the purpose of increasing immunity levels among the pre-school populations.

In addition to television and radio spot announcements and newspaper stories, the immunization campaign is being taken directly to parents and mothers.

The Texas Department of Public Welfare has joined with the Health Department to insert an immunization message into all food stamp authorizations for October. The insert, modified to include immunization schedules in Spanish, will be mailed to approximately 400,000 food stamp recipients. It is anticipated that another 70,000 mothers who receive aid to dependent children also will receive the message.

In addition, 1,200,000 immunization messages will be mailed to public utility consumers throughout the state.

Day care center directors will receive a recently developed leaflet on immunizations. The leaflets explain the parents' obligations concerning the child's health statement, TB skin test, and immunization status. This leaflet is being distributed to the more than 3,000 child caring facilities throughout Texas.

Local health departments during October will review their immunization records to determine which clinic children haven't completed their full immunizations. Special postcards in Spanish and English have been devised to notify parents.

And, throughout the state, special immunization aides will continue their efforts in contacting all parents of newborns concerning immunizations.

The State Health Commissioner is solidly behind these increased immunization activities during October — and every month in the future — and urges parents to have their children protected against possible life-taking, crippling diseases. After all, our children are the only future we have.

Accent on Health

There's a revolution happening in emergency medical care in Texas.

Until a very few years ago, the only ambulance service in any Texas city was operated by a private company — in many cases, a funeral home. That's still true in the vast majority of Texas communities. In many instances ambulance services had neither the training nor the equipment to provide complete emergency care in the field.

In recent years, more and more local governments have assumed full responsibility for providing emergency medical services.

The City of Dallas provides an illustrative example. That city assumed responsibility for emergency ambulance service in 1972, but, of course, it didn't happen overnight. Months of planning by a committee preceded the first day of the new operation. The committee included representatives of the County Medical Society, the Dallas Fire Department, the Dallas City Health Department, and the Southwestern Medical Center of the University of Texas.

The elaborate planning process included a computer simulation of the projected 25,000 ambulance calls that would be received the first year, to determine the optimum location for the ambulance stations. Even though the first year actually saw nearly 40,000 calls, instead of 25,000, the computer analysis was so accurate that the average ambulance response time was less than five minutes.

The most important step in providing the new ambulance service was to provide trained ambulance crews. It had already been decided that the Dallas Fire Department would operate the ambulances, and 105 new firemen were hired to permit more experienced men to be trained for emergency ambulance duty. The training was provided by another cooperative effort, with the Dallas City Health Department providing overall coordination, the Southwestern Medical Center providing most of the faculty, and the Texas State Health Department contributing its advice and counsel based on past experience.

Anyone who had been a fireman for more than a year was eligible for the first level of training as an Emergency Medical Technician, or EMT. There were more volunteers than there were openings in the first class. So far, 120 Dallas firemen have received EMT training, and eventually every fire company in the city will have at least one EMT.

there were more volunteers than there were places in the class. In less than two years, Dallas has trained enough firemen to provide a minimum of one paramedic and three EMT's on every shift in each of the 16 ambulance companies.

Fireman-EMT Brian Dorethy, an ambulance driver at Fire Station 6, described the EMT training as consisting of "What it takes for a body to exist biologically. How to get air into somebody, to keep the blood circulating, heart massage, breathing for somebody — that's basically what they teach, to sustain life, to get them to the hospital."

According to the firemen, the paramedic training is considerably more advanced and more difficult. In fact, according to paramedic Pat Sullivan of Station 6, "A lot of people didn't want to volunteer until they heard how excellent the training was. I, frankly, wasn't head-over-heels about it, but I didn't want to miss out on anything new that was happening."

Fireman Dorethy explains,

"The primary purpose of this whole training is to keep these ambulances from driving 60 or 70 miles an hour with an attendant back there looking at somebody dying and not doing anything about it. These ambulances aren't designed to go fast. The purpose of the training is to get someone in an ambulance and stabilized, then get them to the hospital."

There's a lot of people in this world who are really sick and they don't know how to help themselves. It's gratifying to know that you can help people."

Another fireman-paramedic, David Stambaugh, also feels that the training he received was excellent. "I don't think the training could have been any better," he says. "With the equipment we've got and the training we have, I don't think there's any way you can count the number of lives that are going to be saved." Like his colleagues, Stambaugh is proud of his job. He says, "I love it. You couldn't pay me enough to quit."

Fireman Dorethy concurs: "It really makes you feel great to know that you've saved somebody's life."

Saving lives is the real purpose of the Department's medical services. State Department salutes this outstanding emergency medical service now in operation.

Pigments Cause Fall Colors In Leaves

Visitors to Texas' eastern forests are dazzled by the brilliant colors of leaves at this time of the year. Yellows, orange-yellows and shades of red excite the eye and the imagination. Shrubs and trees join in to herald the coming of fall.

Where do the colors come from?

Why do some plants turn bright yellow while others turn a vivid red or a warm purple?

The differences lie in the plants themselves, very much in the way that some people, for example, have red hair, others black. A heredity factor decides what the fall color will be.

As fall approaches, plants receive signals to prepare for winter — the gradual shortening of the days, and the slowly lowering day and night temperatures. The most visible preparation by plants that cast their leaves is the change in leaf color.

During spring and summer, of course, almost all leaves are green. Their color is due to tiny structures containing chlorophyll. These bodies die and are replenished all during the growing season. As the warning signals of fall are received, each leaf produces a corky layer at the bottom of its stalk. This layer stops the movement of minerals and water needed by the chlorophyll bodies. They die and are not replaced in the fall.

In many trees, including walnuts, hickory, yellow-poplar, and sycamore, a lovely rich yellow color appears. Oddly enough, that color has been present in the leaves all the time, hidden by the green chlorophyll. Only now as the chlorophyll disappears can the yellow appear to our eyes.

Trees that have red fall foliage, such as some oaks and maples, tell a different story. The layer of cells on the leaf stalk that cuts off food and water also keeps the plant sugars manufactured in the leaves from moving out. The plant converts these sugars in the leaves into red and purple pigments. The rate and degree of color change vary from tree to tree. This process is much favored by cooler nights and by clear, cooler days, and many other factors may affect the process.

Frost is not needed for color change to begin. In fact, a heavy frost kills the leaves, and the bright colors disappear soon after.

Trees that produce red foliage in autumn, then, do so by manufacturing pigments in the leaves at that time of year. Trees whose leaves turn yellow do not produce these pigments.

Slaton, and trainmaster at Temple.

In 1963, Adams was appointed superintendent of shops at Topeka and in 1963 was promoted to works manager-Topeka shops. He was named assistant general manager at Chicago in 1969 and became assistant chief mechanical officer-administration in 1971.

Kitten Meets With Senators

Ray Kitten of Slaton, vice president of the Board of Directors of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, met in Lubbock Sept. 16 and 17 with the Public Works Committee of the Nebraska legislature.

The Senators visited the Water District Directors and staff in an effort to review some of the current water problems in the State of Texas, to discuss research activities being carried out in relation to water management, and to discuss institutional organizations required for effective water management.

The Senate committee plans to utilize the information gained in Texas, the nation's pioneer in groundwater legislation, in their study and possible rewriting of Nebraska's laws relating to underground and surface waters.

Alfaro Wins Scholarship

Six students majoring in automotive mechanics at South Plains College this semester are recipients of scholarships awarded by local and area businesses.

Receiving scholarships are Abel Garza of Lamesa, Donnie Kuehler of Morton, Randy Stephens, Springlake, Danny Duncan, Abernathy, Albert Alfaro of Slaton and Jimmy Dominguez of Levelland.

Several scholarships were awarded last spring and summer by area businesses to eight other students majoring in auto mechanics at the college. They are Gilbert Dominguez, Mrs. Winnie Reid, both of Levelland; Ronald Sproles, Dixon Moreland, both of Lubbock; Wayne Haggerton of Sundown; and Terry Shaw and Steve Thomas, both of Morton.

A total of 16 businesses in Levelland and the surrounding area are responsible for awarding scholarships to the auto mechanics students.

Scholarship donors include G & C Gin, Morton, Griffith Equipment Co., Morton, Helton Hardware & Surplus, Levelland, Hi Plains Drilling Inc., Abernathy, Joe Thompson Impl., Abernathy, Johnson Gin Inc., Brownfield, Levelland State Bank and Levelland Vegetable Oil Inc.

Other businesses include Opdyke Farmers Cooperative, Newberry Auto Supply, Owens Independent Gin Inc., Paul Musslewhite Trucking Co., Rhea's Hot Oil Service, Inc. and West Chevrolet, all of Levelland; and Sanders Auto Supply, Abernathy, and South Plains International Trucks Inc. of Lubbock.

Cotton Wasties May Be Key To Cleaning Oil Slicks

Cotton growers of West Texas have an old product which is creating new interest for the U.S. Coast Guard.

The product is cotton wasties — the lowest market grade of the fiber. Its interest for the Coast Guard hinges on its usefulness in picking up oil slicks.

Texas Tech University researchers have discovered that the cotton, when properly dispersed, can pick up 50 times its own weight in oil and still stay afloat without any apparent loss because of wave action.

That's a better record than anything previously used, including commercial sorbents, straw or even coconut hulls.

Lt. Comdr. Donald S. Jensen of the U.S. Coast Guard's Office of Research and Development, Pollution Prevention Projects Branch, has been named technical monitor for an $89,000 Texas Tech research project which involves building a "sea" on which to test the new concept.

Working together at Texas Tech are three principal researchers. They are Dr. George F. Meenaghan, chairman of the Department of Chemical Engineering, Dr. James E. Halligan of the chemical engineering faculty and A. A. Ball, head of fabric structures at the university's Textile Research Center.

For the past 12 months the team has been working under the sponsorship of Cotton Incorporated, the research and marketing arm of America's cotton growers who have an interest in anything which might create a better market for wasties.

In their move from the laboratory beaker to the tank stage the researchers hope to establish the limits of their concept.

The tank they are constructing will be approximately 50 feet long, four feet wide and four feet deep. It will be their "sea" and the water running through it will be able to travel at four knots for experimental purposes. They will be testing dispersal, retrieval and disposal concepts.

Dispersal of the cotton is in itself tricky because it cannot be dumped on the oil coated water but must be spread in a very fine gauze-like layer seven thousandths of a foot thick or, as Halligan describes it, "the width of a gnat's eyebrow."

The short staple, weak, spotted fibers which are a drag on the textile market have a peculiarly superb quality when criss-crossed over the oil slick because they form capillary bridges which pick up the oil and hold it between the fibers.

The cotton does not absorb the oil into the fiber, Ball emphasized, but sorbs it by holding it in the capillary bridges.

At this stage the concept calls for using a blower to spread the cotton over the oil water, first ringing the slick to contain it and then spreading the entire surface with the cotton.

The next step would be to sweep up the mass of cotton with the oil clinging to it, and later tests indicate that the layer does not disintegrate but tends to hold together. In disposing of the "mop" the oil could be wrung from the cotton, or the cotton-oil mix could be disposed of in combination, possibly by incineration. Cotton is almost entirely cellulose and so is biodegradable, making disposal easier on the environment than might be possible with synthetic products.

Meenaghan said that the cotton has a sorption rate of anywhere from 15 to 250 per cent better than the synthetic materials now used for oil slick cleanups. "The supply of cotton wasties can be estimated at about 224,000 bales per year," he said, "and this quantity would have the capacity for holding approximately 400 million gallons of oil, on a conservative basis."

The researchers are using estimates of 15,000 oil spills per year, representing at least 15 million gallons of oil being discharged.

Jensen said that the reporting of oil spills has improved and he believes there has been some decrease in the number of spills occurring. A spill, recognized as a sheen on the surface of the water, can come from anything as small as a vacationer spilling a few drops when servicing an outboard motor or as great as a super tanker disaster.

"The danger to the environment, however, may be increasing," Jensen said,

"because there is so much more oil being transported and in such large quantities. Any spill could be catastrophic. The Coast Guard is looking for any improvement in cleanup methods, and we have to be ready for catastrophe."

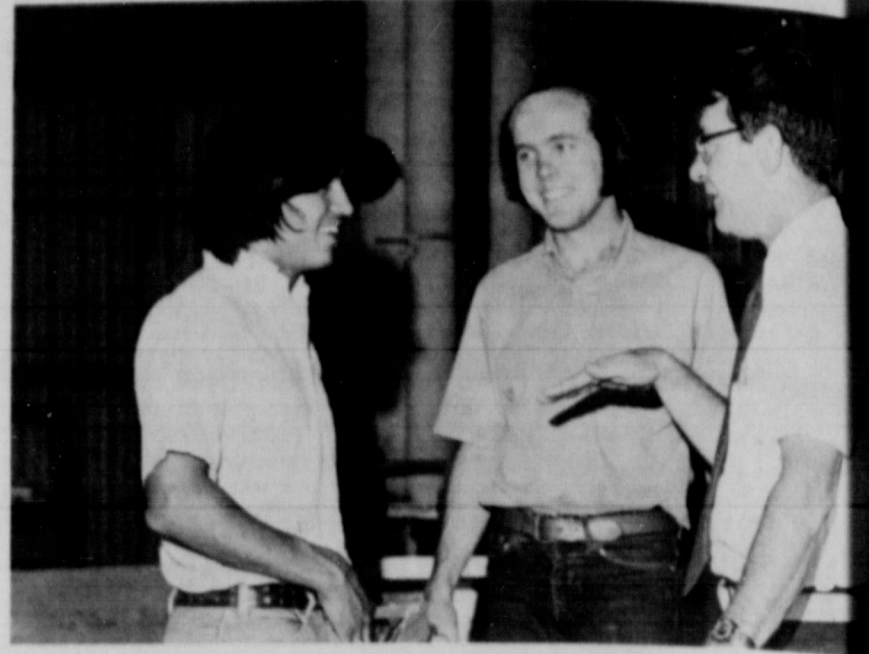

The Coast Guard's responsibility covers coastal waters, bays, harbors and estuaries. It works cooperatively with the Environmental Protection Agency which is responsible for navigable inland waters. The polluter has the primary responsibility with the governmental agencies taking over when the polluter cannot do the job, Jensen said.

Because the cotton has the capacity to contain the oil slick and keep it afloat, the pickup system being developed at Texas Tech will likely take the form of a sweep angled out from a ship, according to the researchers. A mechanism could then pull the mass onto the ship at an estimated rate of about 1,000 gallons per hour.

Dispersing the cotton by helicopter and storing the waste material in plastic barrels at sea to be towed to shore for disposal are under consideration. The immediate problem, however, Jensen said, is to devise a system which could be operated from a platform which could be towed to the location of a slick.

"One of the beauties of our concept," Halligan said, "is that it doesn't require us to develop new systems but only to modify existing technological capabilities to a new purpose."

INLAND SEA — Juan Martinez Jr., left a freshman chemical engineering major at Texas Tech, and graduate student Steve Cheaney discuss with Chairman George F. Meenaghan, right, of the Department of Chemical Engineering, the intricacies of building a "sea". The two students are building the walls of a tank which will represent a Texas Tech research team. The researchers believe their work can show the cotton wasties in picking up oil slicks. Martinez is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Sr., Route 1, Slaton. Cheaney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theo Cheaney, Slaton.

FHA

The FHA chapter won 16 ribbons at the Panhandle South Plains Fair Sept. 21-29.

Placing first were freshman Trenia Craze and senior Sharon Mann.

Eight second place winners were freshmen Rhonda Byers, Gail Moore, Renee Sherrod and Cindy McKinney. Winning juniors were Lynda Hall, Brenda Reynolds and Deb Draper.

Capturing five white ribbons were freshman Kathy Hogland, sophomores Renee Sherrod and Gail Novian, and juniors Rina Belcher and Betti Park.

FFA
The Future Farmers chapter won first prize plus $40 for the top prize in agricultural mechanics for a welding trailer. Jewel Pierce also won the $40 first place award with a hay-rack feeder in the individual division.

Clarence Milam placed seventh on a Hereford heifer that he won in Houston in the calf scramble.

NEWSPAPER STAFF
Kaye McMellan, senior, and Kay Sharp, junior, have been appointed as 1974-75 co-editors of the Roosevelt school paper "Reveille" by B. J. Eudy, sponsor.

Most valuable staff member for August and September was Elaine Hogland, junior, assistant editor of the school paper. She was awarded a certificate.

ANNUALS ON SALE
The 1974-75 Eagle annuals are now on sale through Oct. 18. The price is $5 each.

NEWS BRIEFS

At the weekly Booster club meeting Monday night, the eighth grade football team was honored and introduced by Coach Allen Harmon. Next week the freshman team will be honored.

Leon Whetzel, who was seriously burned in the TI explosion, was released from the hospital Friday. The doctors reported to the Whetzels that the skin grafts on Leon's arms took 100%.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Wally Moyers Jr. over the loss of their newborn baby last Sunday.

Jan Biggs of Lubbock spent the weekend visiting with Jan Hall.

Mrs. Ricky Warmack of Humble visited a week in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. D.

Killian Jr. and family.

4-H NEWS

The 4-H chapter met Monday night at B&B Sign Company on FM 1729 just north of the Canyon church. Bud Newell, owner of B&B, showed the group how to make neon signs, blow glass and also how to make other kinds of signs.

In the business segment of the meeting, Lynda Hall, president, announced the winners of the Lubbock County 4-H Poster contest. Out of 15 entries the Roosevelt 4-H Club had six posters entered. The winners were: Ella Brown, 1st; Jan Hall, 2nd; Teri Stanton of Shallowater 4-H, 3rd; Mike Ragland, 4th; and Lynda Hall, 5th.

Other Roosevelt 4-H members to enter the contest were Brenda Reynolds and Donna Jan Oliver.

All the posters are on display at the South Plains Mall this week in observance of National 4-H Week.

In the recent South Plains Fair, Sandra Patschke won third place on soup mix and also won some jars and a blue book.

The Roosevelt and Idalou 4-H Clubs are in charge of the decorations for the Lubbock County 4-H Awards Banquet to be held Tuesday, Oct. 29, at 6:30 p.m. at Vann's Catering Service on the Slaton Highway.

Next meeting of the Roosevelt 4-H Club will be Nov. 3. They will tour the Ranch Headquarters and the Museum.
