Slaton's Newest Industry To Hold Open House Sunday

An open house on the afternoon of Sunday, August 5 will herald the formal opening of Slaton's newest industry—Interstate Fixture and Supply Company at 218 Texas. Visitors will be received from 2 to 5 p. m.

Slaton residents will have the opportunity to see at first hand the equipment used by the organization who state with pride their motto—"If it's built of wood we can build it."

The motto might well be enlarged upon with the phrase—"We can also match it up to look like any other piece of furniture in your home." Interstate's services are many and varied including bank and finance fixtures, store fixtures, furniture refinishing and rematching, kitchen cabinets, cabinet tops, and floors covered.

Wood-carving is also numbered among the many specialties offered by the firm. An excellent example of the type of wood-carving as done by Interstate is the carving on the exposed beams in the ballroom of the Caprock Hotel in Lubbock.

The two men behind the scenes in the organization are Jim L. Benton and Jack D. Boyd. These two men went into partnership about two months ago when the cabinet factory was first opened. They have worked together for the past 12 years in Lubbock for the Interstate Store Fixture Company.

Benton is a former resident of Slaton and graduated from Slaton High School in 1931. He has been in this type of business since 1932.

Though the factory can refinish or rebuild an old piece of furniture it can and has designed many of the interiors of office buildings in various cities all over the United States. One of the examples Benton cited was the design and construction of a complete courtroom for Crane County, Texas.

Wayne McBee is the mainstay in the shop work. He is a "Top notch" refinisher on cabinets and all woodwork.

At present the business refinishes organs and pianos for two piano companies in Lubbock and services accounts ranging from Oakland and San Francisco to Tennessee. In the process of construction at the shop now, is the 20th set of fixtures for Universal Finance Corporation in Longview, Texas. Other interior construction includes the Hi-De-Ho Drive-In in Lubbock.

The firm can obtain practically any type of wood the customer desires as well as order from a complete line of fixtures to go with it. Another specialty is built-in stoves, refrigerators, rubber-topped cabinet tops, and laying linoleum.

The partners have taken the two buildings which they are at present occupying and completely remodeled them. The two front offices contain furniture that the firm built and the walls are decorated in Zolotene, which is in effect speckled paint.

Should a customer desire it, the organization could completely design, build and finish the interior of a room or a home.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hampton and children of Belen, N. Mex. and Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hampton of Brownwood visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. Al Edwards and family and Mr. and Max Jackson and family of Southland.

The new colored school is scheduled to be finished in September, but classes are not expected to get in the new building before the last of that month.

Slaton Merchants Give New Factory A Big Welcome

It is not every day or week that a factory moves into a town, but that is what happened in Slaton when the Interstate Fixture and Supply Company opened for business at 218 Texas Avenue.

Slaton merchants realize the importance of Jim L. Benton and Jack D. Boyd and their business to their city. That's why 44 merchants have an ad in this week's Slatonite welcoming them to town and calling attention to their open house Sunday from 2 to 5 p. m. These merchants and the people of the town want this firm to prosper, that's why they helped give them this big boost.

As they grow more and more families will be employed by them. This in turn will benefit every business in town.

SLATON BOXES POLL HIGHEST NUMBER IN HISTORY WITH 1029

Slaton voters turned out in their greatest number in the election last Saturday when 1011 votes were cast. "This is the highest vote that I can remember ever being cast here," said J. H. Brewer, veteran election official.

Precinct No. 26 cast 316 votes; No. 27 cast 294 votes, and No. 28 cast 419 votes.

For governor the Slaton boxes showed Yarborough 406, Price Daniel 342 and O'Daniel 199. State-wide results show that Price Daniel and Ralph Yarborough will be in the run-off.

For senator Preston Smith led in the Slaton boxes with 449 votes. Carroll Cobb received 280 and Kilmer Corbin 282. Preston Smith lacked a few hundred votes having a majority in his race. There will be a run-off between Smith and Carroll Cobb.

In the representative race Waggoner Carr ran off with the votes here, receiving 717. Alton Brazell received 281.

For state representative place 2, H. J. (Doc) Blanchard carried the Slaton boxes with 568 votes. Harold Chapman received 425. Blanchard won the race over the county and is elected.

In the district attorney's race George Gilkerson carried Slaton by a majority of 85 votes. The vote showed Gilkerson 540, James F.

Moore 455. Gilkerson won the election over the district.

The county attorney's race was a one sided affair. Bill Gillespie won over the county. In Slaton he received 576 votes with Sam Brown receiving 398.

A complete tabulation of voting by boxes in Lubbock county can be found on another page of this newspaper.

The precinct conventions were held at 2 o'clock Saturday at the city hall. Liberal Democrats predominated and almost the same delegates were nominated to attend the county convention as were nominated in the May 5 conventions.

FIRE AT COUNTY BARN DOES LITTLE DAMAGE

The fire department was called out Tuesday at 1:40 p. m. for a fire at the county barn, located in the 400 block on south 3rd street.

Elbert Wilson, fire chief, reports that the blaze was put out in short order without much damage.

Last week the fire truck made a run to near Posey where a butane transport was on fire. This was extinguished with dry chemicals before the main tank was ignited.

Pony League Could End Up in Tie For Second Place; Last Game Friday

The Pony League will wind up their year's schedule this week. With two games to go, it looks like there may be a tie for second place between the Cubs and the Braves. Geo. Harlan states that if this is the case then there will be a three game playoff beginning Monday and ending Wednesday.

The two games yet to be played are: Thursday, August 2, Tigers vs. Braves; Friday, August 3, Cubs vs. Red Sox. All games are played at 8 p. m. at the Pony League park.

The Red Sox are a head and are a cinch for top place for the season. All teams have been resting this week because of the all-star games played last week. The game Friday will wind up the season provided there is no playoff games, state Mr. Harlan.

After the season it is planned to have several all-star games, either between Slaton teams or between Slaton and some of the neighboring towns. This has not been determined at this time.

Member-Public Relations Concludes Clinic Articles

(Editor's Note: This is the seventh and concluding article of a seven article series dealing with the report and analysis on the Community Clinic which was held in Slaton on May 28-29. The report was compiled by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Community Services Department under the direction of Ralph Duncan, manager of the department. The last article deals with the classification of Member Relations-Public Relations-Publicity. The article follows.)

"Your organization should give particular attention to the development of several projects in this phase of your chamber operation, Duncan said in the report.

Lack of Understanding

"There appears to be a lack of understanding on the part of your members and your people as to the activities and functions of the chamber. Experience has taught us that interest can be developed only when there is a knowledge of the chamber program, and we can expect participation from our members only when they were made a part of the program.

"However, we did note a good interest on the part of your people, and we are of the belief that when the program of the chamber is made known to your membership you will have their participation."

Member Relations

Member Relations-chamber education program, (a) small group meetings of your membership to indoctrinate your members on the chamber program, (b) periodic chamber membership meetings (monthly or quarterly each program should deal with some major phase of your chamber program); committees, (a) it is suggested that a wider segment of your membership be given committee assignments, and (b) each committee should have a full knowledge of their work; and bulletins, (a) monthly bulletins to members (interest can be maintained by keeping membership informed regularly of the chamber's activities).

Public Relations

Public Relations-area relations, (a) closer relationship between farmer and businessman (annual meeting suggested—annual awards for outstanding farmer and for outstanding soil conservation work), and (b) work closely with other communities in trade area; Other organizations, (a) work (Continued on Back Page)

Saturday Is City Bond Election Day; $150,000 Improvements At Stake

The voters in Slaton will decide Saturday whether to approve a $150,000 Bond issue for various improvements in the city. Sentiments expressed concerning this election have been varied, some asking for a large issue, while others question the wisdom of the amount decided upon by the City Commission. In order that the desires of the people can be carried out, the Commission divided the voting into five separate parts: $38,000 for street improvement, 2. $80,000 for improvement and addition to the water system, 3. $12,000 for garbage disposal equipment, and 5. $15,000 for fire fighting equipment.

The City Commission issued a letter of explanation to the major clubs of the town, a copy of which was carried in The Slatonite three weeks ago. In this letter, they explained that the $150,000 was selected as this was all that the city could issue and still sell them at par value. They estimate a 9% increase in taxes to finance the bonds.

Voting will be in the city hall with the polls opening at 7 a. m. and closing at 7 p. m. The Slaton Junior Chamber of Commerce will carry anyone to the polls and return them home free of charge. Their phone number is 470 or 475. This is being done as a public service by this civic minded organization.

Church of Christ Revival Services Begin Sunday, to Continue for Week

C. L. Newcomb, Minister of the Slaton Church of Christ, announces that their revival meeting will begin Sunday, August 5th, and continue through August 12th. Bro. J. D. Thomas, instructor at Abilene Christian College, is the Minister in charge of the meeting. The song leader is Woodrow Chandler of Greenville, Texas.

Services will be held each evening at 8:00 o'clock. The Church of Christ is located at 11th and Division streets. "Everyone is welcome," said Newcomb.

Vacation Bible school is to be held in connection with the meeting at morning services on Monday through Friday from 9 to 10:30 a. m. The evening services are scheduled at 8 p. m. each evening. Sermon topics of the week will include: "Your Memorial," "Faithfulness is Faith Expressed," "Our Propitiation," "What Saves Us," "A Clean Heart," "Positive Divine Law," "Excuses," "Interpreting the Bible," "Spiritual Greatness," and "Crises of Decision."

WCS to Meet Monday Morning

Monday, Aug. 6, the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church will meet in Fellowship Hall for their regular meeting at 9:30 a. m.

The nursery will be open for those small children. Beverly Booth of Amarillo, Mrs. and Mrs. Bill Cherry of Canyon, and Mr. and Mrs. Phil Brewer spent last week fishing in Colorado on the Conejos River.

Most courteous clerk for the month of July is R. T. Brookshire, shown in center. He is a clerk at the Berkley & Haddock Grocery, and has been with them the past two years. On the left is Ed Haddock and on the right is John Berkley, his employers. Mr. and Mrs. Brookshire reside at 630 S. 12th Street, and have two children and one grandson. Mr. Haddock said: "They made a good selection in Mr. Brookshire for most courteous clerk for this month." But the recipient of the award was surprised and commented: "I didn't expect this honor." This recognition is given jointly by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce and The Slatonite. Different judges are appointed each month for selecting the one to be honored.

Southland Residents Visit At Lackland Air Base

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams and daughter, Eva Lou, and Fred Myers, all of Southland, visited Airman Billy Roy Williams and Ned Ayers at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio last week end.

Field Day, which is held every four to eight weeks, was held while they were there. Billy Roy participated in the band parade and also won a gold football as first in football kickoffs. Officers served over 500 lbs. of watermelons and free drinks.

While in San Antonio they visited the park and also spent the night at New Braunfels. Williams has been transferred to Chanute Air Force Base in Illinois where he will attend a nine week school for instructors. He will be an instructor in parachute jumping after Oct. 2.

Myers is an instructor at Lackland and is to remain there for the next 18 months.

HIGH HOSPITAL COSTS

The people who look at a hospital bill and say you can't afford to be sick any more are probably right. And so are the hospitals, which keep jacking up their prices but say they still can't make ends meet.

A hospital room costs more than a first-class hotel, patients observe, but they are inclined to forget all the expensive services essential to a hospital and non-existent in a hotel.

The professional crew of doctors, nurses and technicians there for three shifts a day, seven days a week; the special equipment, from elaborate machines to thermometers; the food service—all these are routine in the hospital program and costly items in the budget.

Any hospital worthy of its accreditation has to be staffed for an emergency all the time. It can't cut its personnel much nights and week-ends, as other businesses do.

The only answer, to keep up the quality of service without charging impossible rates to patients, seems to be to spread the costs. Insurance plans have done this in one way. Public drives for funds do it in another.

It's almost as important to the person who hasn't been in a hospital lately to have a good hospital nearby as it is to the current patients. He may be next on the patient list. If a hospital is intelligently run, contributing to its public fund drive is one of the best ways residents of the area can insure themselves of good care when they need it.

DIVORCES ANONYMOUS

Since Alcoholics Anonymous has had much success with a serious problem, why not have Divorces Anonymous? Such an idea occurred to a Chicago lawyer, Sam Star, who started a movement that has spread from coast to coast.

The idea of both the old movement and the new is the same, the importance of what social workers call group therapy. This means discussion of a vital personal problem with others who have been in the same plight. Members of the movement have been meeting with discordant couples in their homes, in offices and factories; and in many cases they have effected readjustments.

Whatever the impulse toward divorce in a particular case, even those who obey that impulse generally will admit that it would have been far preferable if they could have saved their marriage. If Divorces Anonymous achieves anything like the success of Alcoholics Anonymous, it will have made a major contribution toward solving a serious American problem.

LATIN IS DECLINING

If the study of Latin seemed assured in any country, it would be Italy. Its people are descended from the Romans and speak a language derived from theirs. On every side, ruins of this ancient race of rulers remind Italians of their heritage. Also, the services of the Catholic church, to which most Italians adhere, are conducted in Latin.

Nevertheless, the tendencies that killed Latin as a prescribed subject in the United States are appealing in Italy. There is a demand to make the language optional for technical students.

To Latinists this seems like the thin edge of the wedge that will ultimately pry this ancient language out of Italian schools. If Latin ceases to be compulsory, it will be only over the strong protests of many cultivated Italians.

Latin is studied now by only a few American students. Yet the great part that it played in our own language makes its neglect seem unfortunate to many. The courses which replace it may be more conducive to getting bread and butter, but they also may be less broadening and enriching to the mind.

The world waits anxiously to see what new developments will come from the Communist party convention. It was just a couple of years ago that during the course of such a convention some Communist invented the telephone.

STEEL STRIKE BEING FELT IN SLATON

July 25: As a result of a decrease in traffic occasioned by the nation's steel strike, the Santa Fe Railway has made a force adjustment throughout its system affecting approximately 1,900 employees, or about three per cent of the railroad's workers, President Fred G. Gurley announced at Chicago today.

Return of the employees involved will depend upon the rapidity of adjustment after settlement of the strike, Gurley declared. Nine people in Slaton are being included in this adjustment.

REFUGE and STRENGTH

Into the House of God they have come for spiritual strength and comfort. The care or sorrow or need which brought them here is not important. It is important that the experiences of a lifetime have taught them that God is their refuge and their strength.

The beauty of faith shines in their faces, and from this devout worship they will go forth stronger in spirit.

But faith is not the exclusive possession of age. From childhood to the grave, man may find hope and comfort and peace in God. For faith banishes fear, overcomes difficulties and imparts new life.

In these troubled days, men need religion more than ever before. In the presence of vast powers hitherto unknown, we may feel frustrated and helpless. Human problems lie heavy upon our spirits. But God is a Rock of Refuge and Pillar of Strength to those who trust Him. Come to the House of the Lord.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in our search for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

SOCIAL SECURITY REPRESENTATIVE TO BE IN SLATON AUG. 10

"Self-employed farmers past age 65 who had net profit of at least $400 or gross income of at least $800 from their farming activities in 1955 should discuss their cases with a Social Security representative as soon as they have grossed $800 in farm income in 1956," said John G. Hutton, Manager of the Lubbock District Office.

Mr. Hutton explained that optional methods of determining the amount of farm earnings to be credited to their Social Security accounts are available to farmers in the above income brackets under some conditions. He added that it is important for an accurate Schedule F to be filed with Internal Revenue Service as part of the income tax return in order for proper Social Security credit to be given.

Farmers whose options enabled them to pay the self-employment tax for 1955, and who have done so, may become insured under the Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program as soon as they have earned a sufficient number of credits to meet the requirements of the law. For persons already 65 or older this requirement ranges from six to ten quarters of coverage depending on the individual's exact date of birth. However, credits earned at any time in the past through work covered by the Social Security Act also count toward meeting the requirement.

To assure accurate advice with respect to their specific cases, these older farmers are urged to take with them a copy of their complete 1955 tax returns, including Schedule F, and a statement of their gross farm receipts and expenses so far in 1956 and meet their Social Security representative as soon as their gross receipts in 1956 reach the $800.00 level.

A representative from the Lubbock Social Security office will be in Slaton on Friday, Aug. 10 at the Red Cross room—city hall at 9-00 a. m.

Lubbock County Soil Conservation News of Interest

Winter cover crops can be grown successfully throughout the South Plains. Hairy vetch, Austrian winter peas, and small grains are well adapted in this area.

The purpose of cover crops is to protect and improve the soil. Cover crops protect the soil from wind and water erosion and increase soil fertility. The organic matter from cover crops improves soil structure, increases the water holding capacity, and allows better penetration of rainfall and irrigation water.

Cover crops can be planted in solid stands or between rows of cotton and grain sorghum. Since this is principally a row crop area, most farmers prefer to plant winter cover crops between rows of growing crops just before or immediately after the last irrigation. By using this method, a cover crop can be grown without missing a cash crop. This is usually done during the latter part of August, but both legumes and small grains can be planted as late as October 15. Early plantings usually make more growth and give better protection to the soil.

Special legume row seeders are available for rental through the Lubbock Co. Soil Conservation District. Other farmers have attached planter boxes to cultivators to seed cover crops during the last cultivation of cotton and grain sorghums. Legume crops should be inoculated with the proper inoculant before planting. Phosphate fertilizer is usually recommended for best results on legume crops. It may be

Mrs. Riley Wood Dies Following Heart Attack

Mrs. Riley Wood, Rt. 2, Post, died early Monday, July 30, in Mercy Hospital following a three day illness. She suffered a heart attack Friday.

Johnnie had been disobedient and finally his teacher asked him to stay after school.

"Well," said the youngster, "I think you really ought to go home and have a good dinner and rest before you mark mine."

HOME SUPPLY SHORT

It was World War II. A young soldier who has escaped over the frontier into Switzerland from a prisoner-of-war camp wrote to his father.

"Hope to return home soon, so kill the fatted calf. Is there anything you would like me to bring?"
His father wrote back: "Yes—bring fatted calf."

HYDRANT MISSING

DALLAS—Police are not only looking for the motorist who, failing to make a turn at a high rate of speed, smashed into a hydrant, shearing it off at the ground, but they are also looking for the hydrant. It seems that the driver, after hitting the hydrant, got out of the car, inspected the damage, drove around the block, stopped and then loaded the hydrant into his car and drove off.

WHAT TO DO IN CASE OF A WINDSTORM OR A TORNADO

(NOTE: Last year windstorms breaking $814 million property loss and the death of some 400 persons, according to U. S. Weather Bureau estimates. It is hoped the following precautions will help reduce the death toll.)
Violent windstorms each year cause untold damage and loss of life which often can be avoided if a few precautions are taken. Here is how to protect yourself, your family, your property.

Tornadoes, most destructive of all storms, may appear with little warning. Fast action is necessary to escape their fury.

Safest place to be during a tornado is underground in a storm cellar. Next best is within a reinforced concrete or steel-framed building, near an inside wall away from all windows.

At home, if no storm cellar is near, a corner of the basement nearest the approaching tornado is safest, particularly in wood frame houses. If in a basementless house, seek shelter elsewhere—even an open ditch offers some protection.

Avoid auditoriums, gymnasiums, other buildings having large area roofs relatively lightly anchored. They may collapse.

In open country move at right angles to the tornado's path. Most tornadoes travel at 25 to 40 miles an hour. A person in an automobile can usually outrun one. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest ditch, ravine, or other depression. Don't stay in an automobile which may be rolled over and crushed.

Hurricanes

Hurricanes affect much larger areas than tornadoes, but their winds are not as strong. Adequate warning of their approach is usually available so that precautions can be taken to prevent injuries and damage. Measures which minimize hurricane damage are equally valuable in other windstorms of lesser, but nonetheless destructive, magnitude. The National Board of Fire Underwriters suggests the following precautions:

Before A Storm

Before a storm, tune to radio and television broadcasts of latest Weather Bureau information. In case of power failure, a battery-powered radio will come in handy.
Go inland. Get away from beaches and the low waterfront which may be swept by storm waves. Hurricanes bring abnormally high tides, high waves.

If your passage to safety is over a road likely to be under water, leave early. Otherwise you may be trapped by high winds and rising waters preceding the arrival of the storm center by several hours. Travel at the height of the storm is exceedingly dangerous.

If your house is out of danger of waves and is substantially built—anchored to strong foundations and with its roof securely fastened—it's possibly the best place for you to stay.

Put loose material and movable objects such as garbage cans and porch furniture where they cannot be blown against the building or through a window. Movable awnings should be raised and securely tied or removed entirely.

Keep trees pruned away from your home. Dead branches, overhanging branches, and those which may sway against windows or roof are the most likely to cause damage.

In seriously threatened areas board up windows or put storm shutters in place, at least on the sides exposed to the most violent winds. Shutters should be securely fastened several hours in advance of the expected arrival of the storm. They are difficult to handle in a high wind.
Use good lumber and attach it firmly to the building. Makeshift boarding or insecure shutters often blow loose, do more damage than none at all.

Garage doors and others having large exposed areas must be secured particularly well.

Sterilize and fill jugs, bottles or cooking utensils with fresh water. The water supply may fail. A tub filled with water may be useful, too.

One or more windows can be kept open on the lee side—the side opposite that from which the wind is coming—to provide some ventilation and, under certain conditions, to prevent wind damage.

If wind or flying objects make an opening on the windward side of the building, wind pressure will build up within the building. Having an opening on the lee side will allow this pressure to escape, minimizing the interior forces tending to lift the roof or push out the walls.

Only small openings are advisable as long as the windward side remains intact. But as soon as windows are broken additional openings should be provided on the lee side to help equalize the pressure.

Have a flashlight in good working condition readily available. Be careful of fire. If oil lamps or candles must be used for emergency lighting use them carefully. In an emergency a bucket of sand can be used to absorb spilled fuel or to smother a small oil fire. Better still would be a fire extinguisher of a type approved for use on flammable liquids. Be sure it is in good condition and you know how to use it.

Have extra food on hand, food that can be eaten with little or no cooking. Remember electric power failure may leave you without refrigeration.
Emergency cooking facilities should be in safeworking condition. Be particularly careful with appliances in questionable condition because of long disuse. They may cause a fire.

After A Storm

After a storm, don't hinder first aid and rescue work. Unless qualified to render valuable emergency assistance, stay away from disaster areas.

If you must drive immediately after a storm, drive carefully. Watch for fallen wires and tree branches. In coastal areas or near swollen streams, beware of washouts and undermined pavement.

Don't touch dangling or loose power lines or electric wires. In a storm the live power lines may become entangled with metal fences, telephone and other wires. Contact, in some cases, would be fatal.

Even after water service is restored, it may be wise to boil or sterilize drinking water until otherwise advised by your local health department.

Be careful of fire at all times. Damaged communications may result in a delayed fire alarm; debris-obstructed streets can slow response of fire apparatus and low water pressure can make fire fighting difficult.

FARMERS HOLDING ON

Despite a prolonged decline in their prices and incomes, most farmers are holding on to their lands, according to the Agriculture Department. The few being sold are bringing higher prices than last year, an average increase of 5 per cent for the country as a whole.

NO VACATION

TRAVERSE CITY, MICH.—The Cloyd Taylor family recently started out on a five-week vacation trip to Mexico. The youngest boy, developing chicken pox, was left behind. Then every connecting rod in the family car burned out and Taylor had to buy a new car. Fishing was impossible because all the rivers and streams were flooded. Mexican temperatures dropped to 11 above and $50 worth of color film taken was blank because the camera lens was stuck open all the time.

CALF TRIPLETS

DUARTE, CAL.—Clara, a Brown Swiss cow owned by Hans Sulzer, recently gave birth to triplet calves—all bulls. While triplet heifer births are not too infrequent it is said, triplet bulls are a great rarity. The calves weighed about 60 pounds apiece.

Bright Future Ahead for June Graduates

This year's college graduate need not take off his cap and gown and timidly pound the sidewalks while job hunting, according to the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine.

There are plenty of jobs. For every engineering graduate there are an estimated 12 to 15 openings available; for every would-be teacher, eight to ten openings; for every business trainee, five to six openings; for every liberal-arts graduate, three or four offers.

Starting pay is up $20 to $25 a month over what it was last year, which was a record maker. Offers of $500 a month and more are reported. Those are for men. Girls are lucky to get much over $300 a month.

Engineers hold the lead as far as pay is concerned. One big midwestern university reports that neophyte engineers are being offered $347 to $527 a month.

In the fields of business, sales and teaching, starting pay for business trainees is from $325 to $425 a month; teachers, $285 to $357 a month; government employes, $306 to $399 a month; accountants and salesmen, $352.

Girl graduates will find it tougher, although salaries beginning at over $300 a month can be found in the sciences, statistics, libraries and editorial work.

Few college graduates will go into business for themselves right away. They will get practical training first. Most will find the risks, the required capital and the hard work not worth the gamble.

Graduates are emerging into a world in which technological achievement will be fantastic, living standards very high and leisure time abundant. The wise ones will start planning now to make the most of what's in store for them.

Stocks of butter reached a peak of 466,000,000 pounds in mid-1954. Some 900,000,000 pounds have been either moved into use or have been committed for disposal.

GENEROUS BOY

DALY CITY CAL.—When one of his fifth grade friends admired his bicycle, an eleven year old boy would present it to the admirer. Police figure that, in all, the boy gave away fifteen bicycles—all of them stolen—a check of the parents of the youngsters who got the bikes revealed that not one of them made any report or made their sons return the bicycles and some of the parents, police said, even helped the kids paint them a different color.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE MEMBERSHIP has been attained by Texas Tech. Although the Red Raiders will not compete for the grid title until 1960 or for other championships until 1957-58, the big (8,600 enrollment) West Texas school at Lubbock will meet three Southwest Conference foes on this fall's rugged schedule. Above are Tech's Jones Stadium, capacity 22,000, scheduled for expansion, and the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium-Coliseum, which seats 16,000 for basketball. Pictured also is DeWitt Weaver, athletic director and head football coach, who in five seasons piloted Tech to four Border Conference titles and a Border record of 19 wins, one loss, and two ties.

Safety Assn. Says Americans Like Speed

The Texas Safety Association has found that the Americans have a high regard for speed. The fact that we make things faster and distribute them faster than other nations has a great deal to do with our economic strength. In sports we like fast moving games. For most of us life is geared to a pretty swift tempo.

But there's a place for everything, including speed. And the staggering toll of traffic deaths and injuries plus the fact that speed is involved in the vast majority of them makes it plain that speed has no place on the highway.

It's rather interesting to note that safety authorities don't limit the speed menace just to exceeding the speed limit. They list failure to yield the right of way, passing without caution, driving too fast for road and weather conditions and driving too close to the car ahead as symptomatic of the "hurry complex" that causes accidents.

That "hurry complex" is the target of the "Slow Down and Live" campaign on the highways of the nation this summer.

The sponsoring National Conference of State Coordinators believes that if that message can be implanted in the minds of drivers everywhere it can effect a reduction in the traffic toll.

Sixteen of the states participating in a similar campaign last year did record reduction in traffic deaths on the highway.

Of course, it always is difficult to trace the exact reason why an accident didn't happen.

But certainly the continually growing menace of the highway death and injury toll to every highway user warrants the cooperation and support of everyone in this national effort to have all of us keep speed in its proper place and accept "Slow Down and Live" as our slogan for the highway.

IT'S THE LAW
in Texas
A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

Law of Escheat Explained
Made your will? If not, the State of Texas may wind up as owner of your estate upon your death. Under our statutes, the estates of persons having no heirs who die intestate revert, or "escheat," to the State.

Such provisions have been carried over from the English common law. There, under such circumstances, the estate escheated to the British crown. The theory of the process is that the sovereign (or State), having been the original owner of all lands before they were parcelled out to individuals, is entitled to a return of such lands when the possibilities of legal inheritance have been exhausted.

This idea has been expanded to include personal property as well as real estate. It also applies in the case of a person absent for a term of seven years and not known to exist who leaves no heirs and no will.

Presumably, there is hardly a person who does not have some individual or charity that he would prefer to have his estate, rather than have it go to the State by default, so to speak. Yet, surprisingly, estates worth many thousands of dollars do escheat to the various states from time to time.

Now, before you shrug the matter off with the idea that these statutory provisions could not possibly apply to you, better think a minute. Suppose you and your spouse have no heirs besides each other and your children. Many people do fall into this category.

In event of a catastrophe resulting in death for you and your entire immediate family, no legal heirs would remain. Therefore if you had no will, your property would go to the State. In preparing a will, it is possible to provide for such an eventuality.

In this hypothetical case, you would probably want to designate some friend as executor, to take care of all necessary arrangements and then distribute the estate according to your wishes.

On the other hand, if you have plenty of possible heirs, a will could be used to designate which of them shall participate in the division of the estate. And even if you wish your property to be distributed entirely in accordance without statutes of descent and distribution as explained in previous columns, a will can perform useful functions. Among other uses, a will could provide for an orderly and economical partition of your property, preventing any waste of the assets by heirs impatient for a settlement.

What happens to property which escheats to the State? Following certain required legal formalities and court proceedings, all escheated lands are set apart to the Permanent Free School Fund of the State, and may be leased and sold by the Land Commissioner under certain regulations. Escheated personal property is sold by the local sheriff under a court writ and the money received therefrom paid into the State Treasury.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN—Texas' critical teacher shortage and some reasons for it are spotlighted in two reports just released.

With school bells due to ring in a month, an estimated 7,615 teaching positions still are vacant in Texas, according to the Texas State Teachers Association. To fill these jobs only 1,310 teachers are known to be available.

This means six openings for each teacher wanting a job, said TSTA Executive Secretary Charles Tennyson. Almost 4,000 teachers left the profession last year.

Apparently explanation for this wholesale snubbing of classroom posts came in statistics reported by Dr. Hob Gray of the University of Texas Teacher Placement Bureau.

This year's education graduates will average $346 per month for nine months, said Dr. Gray. But the engineering-science graduate can expect $431 per month all year.

Teachers with master's degrees do a little better, averaging $358 monthly. But a master's degree in engineering or science commands an average salary of $557.

Almost all University graduates go to schools paying more than state minimum requirements, said Dr. Gray. Highest school salaries in the state are at the West Texas oil town of Snyder. There the beginning minimum is $4,000 for nine months, or $445 monthly.

Less affluent districts have to scramble. University graduates can be quite choosy since demands for their services are exceptionally high. Ratio of jobs to graduates is 10 to one in all positions, 100 to one in mathematics and science.

COURT UPHOLDS UNION SHOP—Texas' controversial right-to-work law has lost another round in the courts. But champions of the law say the issue is far from being finally settled.

By a 6-to-3 decision the State Supreme Court upheld a closed shop contract between unions and Santa Fe Railway Co.

Texas law prohibits compulsory union membership, but a 1951 act of Congress authorized closed shops in the railway industry.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd, who had intervened on behalf of Texas law, predicted a motion for rehearing after the court reconvenes Oct. 3. "The full question of compulsory union membership is yet to be determined," said Shepperd. "Nor do I think the majority decision abrogates our right-to-work law."

Their decision, majority judges noted, paralleled a U. S. Supreme Court ruling in a similar case from Nebraska. Union shop contracts, said the Texas ruling, do not "compel full union membership, but only payment of union dues and assessments."

Dissenting judges spoke out against "Compulsory financial support of a private organization by those who do not subscribe to its program" as "the chief evil to be forever prohibited."

1957 ROAD PROGRAM ANNOUNCED—Plans to spend $229,000,000 on building new roads in 1957 have been outlined by the Texas Highway Department.

In addition, $35 million will be spent on maintenance. Through the federal aid bill, Uncle Sam will absorb $117,000,000 of the $264,000,000 total tab.

Motorists can look forward to smooth sailing on the roads planned under the new federal-state building program. Some 3,000 miles of modern expressways without cross traffic or railroad crossings are due in the near future, said State Highway Engineer DeWitt Greer. Many will be divided highways. Two-lane roads will be built so two more lanes can be added.

In anticipation of this flood of highway spending, road contractors are trying to get enough engineers and skilled laborers to do the work. Texas Highway Branch, Associated General Contractors, is considering two plans.

One is to grant scholarships at engineering colleges. Another is to set up a training school on operation of machinery and heavy equipment at some university.

MORE INTEGRATION PREDICTED—More integration in Texas public schools next year is predicted by the Texas Commission on Race Relations.

Austin headquarters of the anti-segregation commission said last week that 300,000 students in 71 districts attended wholly or partially integrated schools last year.

This meant that one in five of the state's 1 1/2 million students and one in 26 school districts were affected. None of these was located in the eastern quarter of the state nor in the major cities of Houston, Waco, Dallas and Fort Worth.

Ninety Negroes are expected to enroll with some 18,000 white students at the University of Texas this fall. Thirty will be freshmen who passed admissions tests; 19 transfers from other colleges and about 40 returning graduate students.

This will be the first time for Negroes to attend the University's undergraduate schools.

VACCINE SUPPLY OVERFLOWS—In April, Texas had too little polio vaccine for too many people. Today the problem is reversed.

Despite the State Health Department's continuing campaign for wider use, Texas turned back 90 per cent of its most recent vaccine allocation. Lack of demand was given as the reason.

In Austin the county polio chapter chairman suggested Salk shots be made compulsory for school entrance, just as smallpox and diphtheria vaccines. School Board members promised to consider it at their meeting August 13.

SHORT SNORTS—Manufacturers will be asked to discontinue production of insecticides containing thallium sulphate, a State Health Department official reports. At least three children have died and dozens more have been hospitalized from thallium poisoning, said the announcement. . . . Texas will be asked to provide 687 men in September draft call, said State Selective Service Headquarters. At the same time draft boards will be asked for 1,140 men to take pre-induction physical and mental examinations. . . . Lower Rio Grande Valley farmers have ginned 149,073 bales of cotton so far this year, compared with 138,915 for the same period in 1955, said the State Agriculture Department. . . . Texas has won two more civil suits for recovery of veterans land funds. An Austin district court has just awarded the state judgments totaling $97,611.00. . . . E. C. Nelson, senior engineer assistant at the State Health Department, resigned last week to enter private business. He is the second engineer to leave the department within the past month.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Arrants, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Edwards Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoffman visited over the week-end with Barbara Arrants, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Arrants, who is attending Camp Davis near Las Vegas, N. Mex. They also visited with Mrs. Edwards' sister, Mrs. Louis Schiele.

IMAGINATION

A mother lost her little daughter in the week-end confusion at a railway station. After a frantic search she finally located the child in the midst of a group of nuns. Both the little girl and the nuns seemed to be having a good time.

"I hope my daughter hasn't been giving you too much trouble," exclaimed the relieved parent.
"On the contrary," chuckled the Mother Superior. Your little girl seems to imagine that we are pen-guins."

BIRD SONGS IN HOME

GOLDSBORO, N. C.—So entranced were Mr. and Mrs. James Lewis Jr., with the sweet song of a mocking bird, whose favorite perch is the chimney on the Lewis' home, that they piped the music down the chimney. Now, the mocking bird's songs can be heard all over the house.

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE

WASHINGTON, D. C.—When the Congressional Record stated the other day that Representative Yates (D., Ill.) was not on hand for a vote, because he was "homesick" the Congressman had the record changed immediately. Yates said it should have read: "Home sick." In other words, he was ill at home—a slight difference from homesick.

A PLEASANT BUSINESS—When one can make a hobby into a profitable business as Mrs. M. L. Turnbow has, it becomes very pleasant work. She is shown surrounded by some of her lovely antiques.

Hobby Of Antiques Proves Source Of Income-Pleasure For Mrs. M. L. Turnbow

"Not only has my antique shop been a source of income for me, but it has offered other rewards," says Mrs. M. L. Turnbow. Before the death of her husband, the late M. L. Turnbow, who was a contractor and builder here, he told her of his wish for her to open this shop, for antiques have always been of interest to their family.

Mrs. Turnbow has had the opportunity to meet such "lovely" people with the same hobby and has really found it a blessing and great help to her now that she is alone. When her children were at home she says she loved to cook, keep house and sew, but since they are away and she has more time she occupies herself in other ways and still enjoys life.

Loves to Grow Flowers
She and her husband had a mutual hobby of growing beautiful flowers and she has continued this hobby and loves it. She says she doesn't begin to grow flowers as he grew them, but a drive past her home at 1205 South 12th will show that she has spent many hours in the yard. She doesn't mow the lawn anymore but other than this does most of the work.

Oil painting has been a source of enjoyment and relaxation for years, but now that she is older she finds it a great value in adjusting to life. She feels that everyone should have a hobby and especially people in middle age and later.

Cacti and western scenes, with mesquite and bear grass is the type of painting she enjoys doing and she has numerous original pictures of that theme, in beautiful shades of blues and greens and bright splashes of red and orange in the cacti blossoms. These are very attractive. Mrs. Turnbow gets more pleasure and can forget the cares of the day more readily while painting than any other way. A joke in the family has been that Mrs. Turnbow never burned the beans unless she got interested in painting a picture.

Shop Opened in 1949
Since Turnbow Antiques opened with an open house in Sept. 27, 1949, Mrs. Turnbow, a daughter, Mrs. J. D. Freeman and a son, J. W. Turnbow, and his wife, Wilda, all of Austin, and a granddaughter, Mrs. George Attridge, have traveled many, many miles over 27 states and Canada searching for articles.

Mrs. Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Turnbow have refinished all the antique furniture in the shop. They have taken the crazed finish off and polished until the wood on the old bedroom suites, chairs, sofas, and tables, glistens like dull satin.

One of the reasons Mrs. Turnbow and others who collect antiques enjoy this hobby so much is that in the knowledge and study of antiques one becomes more aware of the lives and ways of our forefathers, for in this study is found both history and art.

To Learn Antiques
"The best way to learn about antiques and to develop your own taste and judgement is to study antiques, look at them, train your eye to observe fine points of style, decoration, material and construction or workmanship. Visit museums, shops and homes of your friends who have antiques and I feel you will enjoy this and feel it is time well spent," says Mrs. Turnbow.

Mrs. Turnbow says there have been collectors as long as there have been people. It started out to be a fad but has long since become more than that. In fact she feels that this is a sound investment as she is paying twice as much for the same type articles as she was when she started her business.

Oldest Pieces
When buying for her shop they try never to buy anything less than a hundred years old. Possibly the oldest pieces she has are an oil painting of a mother and her child that is very, very old, and a dated pitcher 201 years old. She feels sure the picture is by an old master from comparing it with pictures in art galleries. This painting was damaged at the lower edge, the back looks as though it has stood in water and although it has been restored there is no signature. From her study of antiques she has found that signatures were seldom put on paintings until the middle of the seventeenth century. This is one prize she will not sell.

In answering a question as to the type of antiques she likes she immediately said furniture and lamps. Then she said pitchers have so much individuality she likes them and cut glass, hand painted china, so it was readily evident she likes all types.

Most Satisfying
When asked about the most satisfying thing of her life she says, "Rearing a worthwhile family." The Turnbow children include Mrs. Freeman, Mrs. J. W. Hennington of Hereford, J. W. Turnbow and Mrs. R. H. Todd Jr. of Slaton. Mrs. Turnbow is so proud of her six grandchildren and 1 great-grandson, Phillip, who is the son of the Henningtons' daughter, Hope. They are living in the Philippine Islands and will be there another year

Iranian Visitor Arrives in Slaton; First Week Spent in Clark Self Home

Iranj Master of Iran arrived in Slaton last Thursday afternoon. He was met at the bus station in Lubbock by Clark Self Sr., Gordon Davis and Sherrill Boyd. His first week has been spent in the Clark Self Sr. home. Mr. Self is president of the Slaton Rotary Club.

The arrival of Mr. Master here was the end of a long trip from Europe by air to New York and then by bus to Lubbock. This is the second foreign visitor sponsored by the Slaton Rotary Club and the International Research Foundation that brings these foreign students to the United States. Master spent Friday morning resting with the exception of making an inspection trip through the Slatonite newspaper office. That afternoon he visited the wholesale houses in Lubbock with Mr. Self. A complete study in American elections was the program Saturday. In the morning Dub Williams went with him to Lubbock to see the voting machines. In the afternoon an inspection of the voting and tabulating of votes was observed at the Slaton city hall.

On Sunday Mr. Master attended the Church of Christ services. In the afternoon he enjoyed swimming in the Slaton pool, which he liked very much. He was the speaker Monday at 3 p. m. at the meeting of the Federation of Church Women, at Grace Lutheran church. His talk concerned facts about his country, religion and customs. He contrasted elections in his country and in the United States. Following the talk a question and answer session was held. Monday night he enjoyed a back yard supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Self Jr.

Tuesday was spent on the Self farm near town. Mr. Master is an agricultural student and is interested in how they farm in Texas. He remarked that Mr. Self's 25 acres would require eight people for work in his country.

He also stated that on the 2000 acres owned by his father in Iran, they had only one tractor. Work there is done by laborers. Tuesday noon he enjoyed dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Green who served an oriental meal.

Mr. Master speaks good English, but says he has trouble understanding American slang, and often asks the meaning of expressions used

Land Bought for Negro Community Center and Park

The colored section of Slaton is assured of a community center and park. The deed for the property was brought to The Slatonite office Tuesday of this week. The site is located on lot 8, block 2 of the Johnson addition. This is on Oklahoma street near the Geneva street intersection. The school is nearby.

The lot was purchased at a cost of $250.00, with the former owner, Clarence Johnson, donating $50.00. The lot is 50 by 130 feet with an option on the lot next to it.

An organization to be known as "The Community Youth Center" has been organized with Charles W. Jones as president. The deed is made out to this organization.

Building to Be Moved
A building has been given by Archie Underwood of Slaton. This building is now on the compress property, but plans are under way for it to be moved on Thursday of this week to the community center. Mr. Jones states that the cost of moving is $100.00 not including the new foundation and wiring.

A meeting was held following church services Sunday night and the plans for the community center outlined to the people. The building is to be used for community and youth meetings. The lot will be made into a park and playground for the young people.

Future plans are to establish a trust fund at the local bank, and then ask all the people of Slaton to donate to the improvement of the project. The amount of money that will be needed has not been worked out at this time.

Supermarket Big Hit in Rome

As a result of cooperative action between a group of American food chains and the Department of Agriculture, a typical U. S.-type supermarket was exhibited at the International Congress on Food Distribution in Rome. Response, it is now reported, exceeded all expectations. Some 17,500 people visited the market on the opening night alone. The Paris Herald Tribune described the exhibition as "one of the hit shows of the Rome season." It then said: "The show is almost too good judging from preview reactions. Some of the Italian newspapermen and their wives at the preview walked through the sample store in stunned silence. It was so different from the pushcart-buying which kills hours each day for most Roman housewives, resident Americans included, that many were at a loss for words."

One enthusiastic observer said the market "will do more for American prestige than millions in giveaways." And an enterprising Italian group has offered to buy the market and everything in it, right down to the mirrors, with the intent of duplicating it.

A typical modern American store dealing in commodities other than food would receive an equally rapturous reception. The American system of mass distribution—based on big volume at a very low unit profit—has no comparable counterpart abroad. For the most part, European merchandising is many, many years behind this.

Code of Ethics Reduction Urged

It is proposed that the American Medical Association reduce its code of ethics to a one-page document, which would mean a wordage cut of almost 90 per cent. This proposal will be up for final adoption at an AMA meeting to be held next December.

The projected new code deals entirely with ethical principles. These are of the highest importance to all who ever visit a doctor—which, of course, means everyone in the long run. Here are some of them: The prime objective of the medical profession is to render service to humanity.

Doctors should try to increase their own knowledge and share it with others.

Doctors must expose unethical conduct of other doctors.

They should not permit anything to interfere with their independent medical judgment.

They should limit their professional income to medical services.

They should seek consultation on difficult cases.

They should participate in any community activity that has the object of improving the health and welfare of the people.

There is, of course, nothing new about any of these principles, except the admirably brief and simple wording. Doctors—with very few exceptions—have always held to the highest standards of ethics. One responsibility is paramount to all others—to do all for the patient that skill and knowledge will permit. There is no room in medicine for those who will not or cannot uphold such standards.

FAUCET RUNS CORN

DETROIT, MICH.—Police held two men for investigation because their kitchen faucet ran pure corn liquor, instead of water. It seems the men had two 600-gallon stills running in a chicken coop outside their home. Serving as a coil, police said, was a pipe leading through subfreezing weather to a kitchen tap.

MILE-HIGH EDUCATION

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Students in the Monroe Junior High school here claim the distinction of attending the only exactly one-mile high school in existence. A recent survey showed the 5,290-foot elevation mark just outside the school.

And there are those who say that a dark horse will win the Democratic nomination this year.

country. And that helps to explain why our living standards so far exceed those of the rest of the world.

Sound Strictures Violated During Parcel Post History

When Congress authorized the post office to inaugurate parcel post service, the legislation specified that the rates charged should be adequate to cover the costs, that the service should not compete with private enterprise in the same field, and that, finally, the service should supplement, not supersede, private commercial carriers.

These eminently sound strictures have been violated, to varying degrees, during the whole history of parcel post.

The Hoover Commission and other authoritative bodies, for instance, have shown that parcel post has often been operated at a very heavy loss—and thus has been a tax-subsidized service, paid for by those who do not use it as well as those who do.

Nicarbazin Tough On Egg Quality

Laying hens should not be fed rations containing nicarbazin, one of the newer drugs for controlling coccidiosis in growing chicks. Kermit F. Schlamb, extension poultry marketing specialist, says recent tests conducted at Texas A & M College bear out the manufacturer's recommendations on the use of the drug.

When laying hens were fed the drug at a level of .025 per cent in their ration, those normally laying brown shelled eggs in 72 to 96 hours were producing white or near white eggs. Too, egg size decreased as much as 25 per cent after a few days. But more important, points out Schlamb, the interior quality of the eggs was affected. Severe yolk mottling and occasionally yolk seepage into the egg white resulted from feeding the drug. Mottled yolks are hard to detect by candling but are very objectionable to consumers and egg sales may suffer.

Continued feeding of rations containing the drug will cause a decline in egg production and eventually hens stop laying. Several days after the drug is removed from the ration, egg production may be resumed and shell color returns to normal. Egg size again increases until normal is reached and yolk mottling gradually disappears.

Schlamb points out that the recommended feeding level for nicarbazin for controlling coccidiosis in growing birds is .0125 per cent of the ration. The maker of the drug specifically recommends that the drug not be fed to laying hens. However, Schlamb says reports have been received that laying hens were getting the drug.

He cautions laying flock owners against feeding hens rations containing the coccidiostat and feed companies to thoroughly clean their mixers after mixing rations containing nicarbazin before mixing rations for laying hens.

Furthermore, changes in parcel post rates and practices designed to reduce or eliminate subsidies have been only partially successful. The hidden and indirect costs involved in parcel post are estimated at many millions a year. These include contributions to the Government Retirement Fund, employees' compensation costs, custodian costs, depreciation, and other important items.

As a consequence the Hoover Commission urges that parcel post rates be made to reflect all the costs—including the indirect costs. Bills to this end have been introduced in Congress. The sole intent is that the people who use parcel post pay the proper charge for what they get.

Competition based on subsidy is manifestly unfair—not only to the taxpaying private enterprises involved, but to all the taxpayers.

Estacado Reunion Sunday, Aug. 12

Former and present residents of the Estacado community of Crosby county, the old Quaker colony, will hold their annual reunion Sunday, August 12, in Aggie Grove, on the Texas Tech Campus southwest of the Administration building.

Registration will begin at 10:00 a. m., and dinner will be spread picnic style at noon.

Talks on the history of the community will be made by Dr. Ernest Wallace of the Tech History Department and Dr. "Ike" Conner of Tech Museum. Following lunch, there will be a guided tour of the Museum.

Estacado was established in 1878 by Paris Cox as a Quaker settlement. For a while the community thrived, and the first college on the Plains was established here. Then, most of the Quakers moved away, and they were succeeded by other settlers. Today, only a store and church remain, but the area is one of the richest irrigated farming sections of the Plains.

Mrs. Frank Hill and Mrs. Harley Henderson of Tahoka were instrumental in organizing the reunion a few years ago. Mrs. Margaret Carter of Lubbock arranged this year's program.

Lions Hear Crow On Mental Illness

The program at the Slaton Lions Club Tuesday noon was on mental illness. J. S. Edwards Jr. introduced Don Crow, who brought the club a film showing the need for a constitutional amendment to relieve the mental problem in Texas.

Mr. Crow brought out the fact that mental illness is an illness and not a crime. Texas law requires a mentally ill person to endure a jury trial. This illness has proven to be a medical problem instead of a criminal one. Commitment should be under a civil court and not a criminal court as is now the case, said Mr. Crow.

It was brought out that Texas will be voting on an amendment this fall to correct this situation. The amendment will provide for a waiver of jury trial if asked for that competent medical testimony be required, and that the legislature be given the power to enact specific laws for the mentally ill.

Under the present conditions there are 16,000 Texans in state hospitals now. It is estimated that one out of twelve Texans will need hospitalization for mental illness sometime during their lifetime. 90% of all first admissions are returned to their communities as productive citizens within a year.

Visitors at the meeting were Dr. John Locke of Slaton, and Jerry Holmes of Lubbock.
