Proposed Boost In State Crude Levy To Be Considered

Omnibus Tax Bill, Reported Favorably By Committee, To Come Before The Lower House Tomorrow

AUSTIN, Oct. 6 (AP)—The house set a proposed oil tax increase as special order of business Thursday in response to appeals today for early floor consideration of revenue-raising measures.

The bill originally called for a levy boost from two to 19 cents a barrel, but the revenue committee changed the increase to two and three-fourths. Advocates of the measure said they wanted to rush it to the senate as soon as the determined rate is considered fair.

Outlook Not So Bright For Tax Measure

Solons Must Adopt Idea Of Spreading Levy Over Many Sources

By RAYMOND BROOKS (Herald Austin Correspondent)

AUSTIN, Oct. 6.—The legislature this week has started its long warring match with the issue of raising revenues to pay old-age pensions.

It is the right sort of tax for the people who must pay for pensions and those who will receive them.

It is argued for the omnibus bill, Frazier said it was much like the one passed by the house at the last session, and therefore members would be familiar with it.

Admittedly, the prospect is far from bright; and those who would pay the pensions voted by the electorate and the legislature, are trying for a formula that will improve it.

The committee reported adversely a sales tax bill by Rep. Elmer Pope of Corpus Christi, which the author claimed would yield $20,000,000 annually and "not hurt anybody."

Fat Men Keep Getting On Clark Griffith's Washington Team

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (AP)—Fat men, it seems, keep getting in Clark Griffith's hair—and on his Washington American League baseball club.

It wasn't long before Linkke got a railroad ticket to the Nationals' farm at Chattanooga in the Southern Association. There he pitched so well he has been ordered to report to the Nats' spring training camp next year.

Hogan, once a highly-paid member of the New York Giants, was picked up late last season from Albany, where he had been sent by the Boston Red Sox because he was blocking the view of umpires behind the plate.

Shanty was called back to the big leagues when Cliff Bolton, the Nats' first-string catcher, took a walk to his North Carolina home. He always could hit and he started right off with a .500 average.

Before he got into a game, however, he sat on the bench three days while a special uniform was made. Even the two largest uniforms the Nats' had, ripped up and sewed together, wouldn't fit his barn-like figure.

Harris said he plans to ask Griffith to send Hogan somewhere this winter, with a bodyguard-rubber suit, somewhere where the weather is warm, the food not too plentiful, and the work plenty hard.

If the worst comes to the worst the Nationals may hear a couple of players in a clubhouse duet mourning "nobody loves a fat man" comes next spring.

Teaching Golf Pleasure For Seaview Pro

Leo Carries On Work Of His Father, "Smiling Jim" Fraser

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 6. (AP)—Leo Fraser smiles at the suggestion that teaching golf is a trying task. He insists that he thoroughly enjoys showing an embryonic Bobby Jones how to hit a golf ball properly. And after watching Fraser put an aspiring golfer through his paces it is easy to understand why he likes his role of instructor. He is business-like, efficient and thorough, yet so completely at ease that his pupil soon loses all tension and readily yields to his efforts to mold a smooth flowing swing.

Leo is carrying on the work of his father, the late "Smiling Jim" Fraser, as pro at the famous Seaview Golf club just outside Atlantic City.

"There are three things I stress in teaching one how to hit a golf ball—the proper grip, position and method of swinging the club with the hands," he explains.

"Now, let us take the grip. Isn't it logical to believe that unless the hands are placed in an absolutely correct manner on the shaft it is very unlikely the club face will come through straight? The hands are the only part of the body attached to the club. Be sure you learn to place them on the grip properly—if you don't, golfing success will elude you."

Watch Your Feet

"Regarding position—I don't care what sport you try to play, correct position is vital. In standing up to the ball, proper placement of your feet and proper distribution of weight makes it easier for you to swing the club with your hands. Most people, until they are instructed, do everything with a club but swing it. They try to push or lift it up and guide it through.

"I like to tell my pupils the club is not attached to the body in any way. The hands are the only thing touching the club—use them to swing it. I repeat, if your hands are in complete control of the club and you practice enough to recognize a 'feel' that you are bound to acquire it will most certainly help your golf game."

"Don't worry about your hips or shoulders. Their action is in no way voluntary. They should move naturally and are secondary to swinging the club.

"The best advice I can give anyone wishing to learn to play golf properly is to seek out a competent instructor. Try to do exactly as he says regardless of what your ideas may be. So many people misinterpret what they hear or read. Your instructor will give you a clear mental picture of the stroke, and that is half the battle in learning to play golf. When you learn to actually swing the club with your hands, hitting the ball follows naturally.

"Teaching golf is interesting because it presents so many problems. The difference in tempera-

Tech Sights Aimed For Kansas Wheatshockers

LUBBOCK, Oct. 6. (Sp.)—The Texas Tech Red Raiders polished their arms early this week and prepared deftly and grinning for their first raiding spree of the season. They attack the ramparts of Wichita university Friday night in their fourth gridiron gesture of the year.

The Wheatshockers from Kansas called on Tech last year, fell in an exciting 13-7 game. It was possibly the hardest played game on local turf this season, and Coach Pete Cawthon is trying to drill into his Raiders the obvious fact that the Shockers will be set for the Techs Friday night.

Pleased with the showing of his reserve forces, or his shock troops, against a battling Oklahoma City university team last Friday night, Cawthon devoted the first two days of practice this week to smoothing the troops' offenses. Key man in the backfield is Charley Duval, peppery quarterback who plays right half on the regular lineup. Ed Smith and Maurice Chernosky were the halfbacks in Saturday's starting lineup, with Sophomore Elmer Tarbox doing fullback duties. It is a light backfield, averaging something like 175 pounds, but speedy and clever, what with Smith capable of chunking a neat forward pass game and with Duval to boot 'em out in coffin corner.

Off the gridiron, John Coody, guard on the University of Tulsa football team, is an expert wood carver.

ment, conformation and general makeup of each pupil makes each an interesting study. The instructor must study the individual as well as teach him. The most difficult to convince, perhaps, are those with highly trained, analytical minds—engineers and the like. They try to figure out the why and wherefore of every move and often question everything the instructor suggests.

Girls Can Swing It

"Girls, as a general rule, more readily develop a smooth, rhythmic swing because they lack the tension so often found in boys and men. Football players and boxers are the most difficult to teach. They insist on trying to put their shoulders into everything they do.

"The mental angle is important in golf. Concentration on the business at hand is most essential. You can't swing a club properly unless your thoughts are centered completely on the shot you are trying to make. Imagination helps, too, but that comes later when you are actually playing the game on a course.

"The reason I stress getting proper instruction before trying to play golf is simple enough. Persons starting out on their own invariably develop faults which must be eliminated before the business of developing a proper swing can be attempted. This makes the task doubly long as well as additionally difficult. Habits are easily formed, but hard to overcome. In golf bad habits have a way of cropping up even after we think they have been eliminated. Most people expect great improvement in a short time—they don't have the patience to permit the instructor to complete the job. He is entitled to a fair amount of time and cooperation. Give him a chance."

Hubbell

Later, in the eighth inning, Hubbell juggled Rolfe's bunt and the Yankee infielder intended sacrifice put Rolfe on first and Crosetti, who had previously doubled, on third. None were out. The Giant infielders gathered around Hubbell and babbled words of encouragement as DiMaggio waited his turn to bat. The big Italian youngster smashed a terrific liner to Whitehead who took it at his shoe tops and doubled. Rolfe at first Crosetti scampared back to third safely. The tying run on third base and Lou Gehrig coming up! Hubbell still was on the spot.

Things did not look any brighter for the Giants when Hubbell hit Gehrig, for that brought Dickey to the plate with two men on the base. Dickey, boasting the highest average of the Yankees for the regular season, had gone hitless up to that point and seemed due for a safe blow. But Hubbell rose to the heights and snuffed out the uprising by making Dickey ground out to Terry at first.

That Was All There Was

Powell, Lazzeri and Selkirk went out in order in the ninth to give the Giants and Hubbell the first game of the Series.

If Carl Hubbell never does anything more, his amazing effort on that miserable day at the Polo Grounds assures him of lasting fame as a World Series pitcher. He was the real champion. Rising to the heights under the most discouraging conditions, he proved his right to stand alongside the great figures of sports—a great champion.

From the press box, directly behind and above home plate, Hubbell's famous screw-ball is a thing of beauty to behold. It breaks sharply to the left and down. The effortless grace of the delivery makes it all the more effective. Hubbell's control of this difficult pitch was uncanny when you consider the wet, slippery ball he was handling most of the first game.

If Hubbell had followed the advice of Ty Cobb several years back, when he had a tryout with Detroit, the now famous pitch would never have been perfected. Cobb advised the then young left-hander to forget about the trick delivery. "It will ruin your arm and, besides, you'll never get any place with it," he said.

Ohio State

Williams and McDonald, along with "Tippy" Dye and Nick Wasylak, the pint-sized quarterbacks; and Frank Antenucci and Johnny Bettridge, halfbacks, the six returning lettermen in the ball-toting department, scored 120 of the 237 points piled up by Ohio State last season. This same sextet, all available this year, counted 84 of the 190 points made in Big Ten games.

A brother act looms at one of the ends. Capt. Merle Wendt having his brother, Emerson as an understudy at the left wing job. The younger Wendt weighs 190, a pound more than the captain, and is three inches taller than his 5-foot-10-inch brother. Emerson Wendt served as a center on the freshman team last year, but his slashing style of play caused Coach Schmidt to shift him to end.

Promising Sophs

The line, from tackle to tackle, will be a veteran wall except at center, where Ralph Wolf, a 6-foot-2-inch star from Youngstown, O. is expected to get the call. Wolf was on the squad last year, but, with Capt. Gomer Jones in harness, saw little action.

The Buckeye coach said his veterans would bear the brunt in the first two games, until he had a chance to give his youngsters a good "looking over," but he indicated some of the sophomores will be in there as regulars when the conference campaign gets under way October 17 at Evanston, Ill., against Northwestern.

"We have some boys among the newcomers who look mighty good," Schmidt has said, "but most of them can do but one thing well. That doesn't fit into our system, for they have to be all-around players to get on our backfield. But we'll work something out of it before the season gets very far along."

"The tough part, however, is that we are facing a hard schedule, without a soft touch in it, and we must build practically a new team. It looks like an interesting season—if you like to play 'em the hard way."

Mex Gridmen Need Reserves

Big Charlie Marr Of Alabama Is Coaching In Mexico

MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 6 (AP)—A grave, game 180-pound youngster who plays at the same place in the line big Charlie Marr stopped for Alabama is Marr's biggest help in building the University of Mexico's eighth football team. Gonzalo Flores, captain of the team, acts as assistant coach as Marr strives otherwise single-handed to whip 40 backs and linemen into two full teams, something Mexico university has never had.

A veteran of seven years of preparatory and university play, the 23-year-old Flores gives the benefit of his experience to the raw youngsters turning out the first time for this still new American game. More, he translates when Marr's fast-improving Spanish fails him, tongue-lashes the lazy or the careless and advises the coach in the temperamental problems he comes up against every day.

son Tide players, aftermath of Alabama's Rose Bowl performance, broke the series of Yale coaches that started with Charlie Root in 1922. When Howell went to the Pacific coast to play professional football, Marr got the job as coach. This year, hopeful of ending Mexico's unbroken string of defeats in international play, he is trying with Flores' help, to build two teams—"something you've got to have," he says, "to win football games these days."

San Francisco Lions Have 'Flip-Zip' Offense

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The University of San Francisco's 1935 eleven was commented on thusly by the Spaulding football guide: "The Dons featured liberal use of the lateral pass, and the team was described by critics as one of the most crowd-pleasing on the Pacific coast." This year the Dons have a new "Flip-Zip" offense, completely saturated with laterals, forwards, laterals-off-forwards, forwards, laterals-off-forwards, etc.

LIQUOR CANNOT STAND THE LIGHT OF TRUTH
MADE BY THE DEVIL
Uncle Bob Smith, in The Dallas News, Sept. 22, says he's proud that his pension is being provided from the money collected from liquor dealers, and adds: "The good Lord put the alcohol in grain, and now it is found to be a blessing to us old folks."

"I don't blame Uncle Bob for enjoying his pension, but the statement that the good Lord put alcohol in grain is very erroneous. There is no alcohol in grain. Alcohol is a product of the rotting of the grain, just as decomposition follows death. The life of the grain must be destroyed before alcohol is distilled from it. True, God made the booze, and it's the greatest asset he ever had.

That this license blood money should be used to help the aged, when it has emerged from the death and destruction of the young, is diabolical.

PRESIDENT DUE TO TALK IN MICHIGAN
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 6 (UP)—President Roosevelt probably will make speeches in Grand Rapids and Detroit on Oct. 15, it was understood today as he surveyed the Michigan political situation with Frank Murphy, democratic candidate for governor.

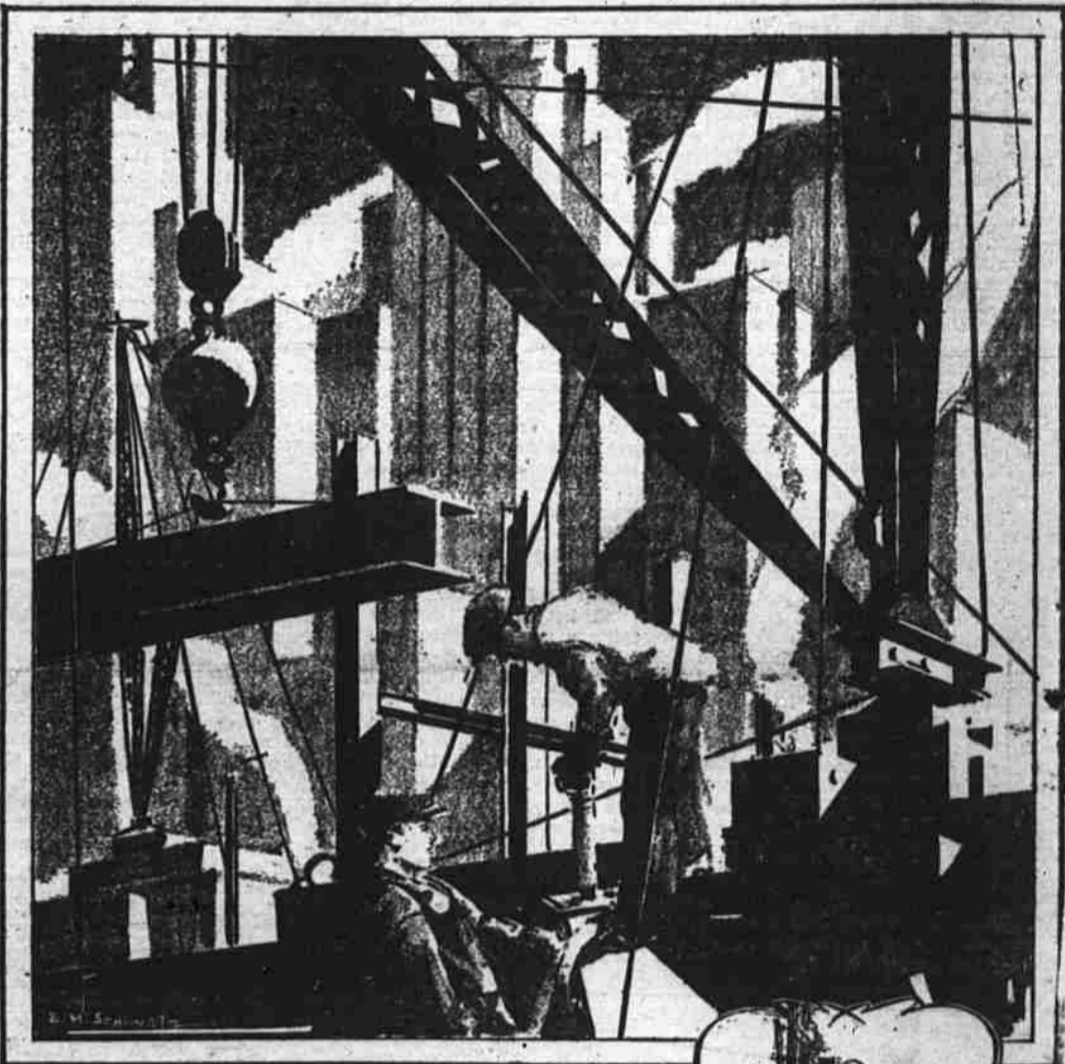

Murphy and William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor, lunched with the president.

"The president is stronger today than he was four years ago in Michigan," Murphy reported. "I have made a very intensive tour of the state and I find genuine enthusiastic sentiment in every section. It is now a question whether the Michigan press, which opposes us 100 per cent, can tear down that support by election day."

Fourteen-year-old Louis Ross, Brooklyn, N. Y., was last in the Boys' Club Navy Yard yacht race last year. This year he won it.

Like the proud cities of Texas, and the busy towns... Humble products are continuously improved

In 1836, Texas villages were scattered, homes were crude, population was scarce—in all not much to build on... These days, Texans are proud of their towns and cities. In neither will you find a placid contentment with things-as-they-are! New resources are being developed, new people are coming to town. The rat-tat-tat of a river gun signals new structures; the whine of a carpenter's saw indicates new homes a-building; industrial areas echo the clang and clamor of construction. Improvement is in the air!

HUMBLE KEEPS STEP with the continuous improvement of the towns and cities of Texas. It is a fundamental Humble policy to find new products for new needs, to conduct a never ceasing search for ways and means of giving the Texas motorist a better motor fuel, a more dependable motor oil. Humble technicians are ever alert to give you everything the automotive engineer asks of the petroleum industry. Continuous improvement is their slogan — and continuous improvement keeps Humble ahead.

When you drive through the proud cities of Texas and the busy towns, look for the Humble sign. Fill your tank with a Humble motor fuel, drain and refill with a Humble motor oil. Test both of them thoroughly, in your car... You'll come back for more.

1836 TEXAS 1936

At the Centennial Exposition, Dallas—Humble's Hall of Texas History

You are cordially invited to visit the Humble Exhibit at the Central Centennial Exposition in Dallas. Striking dioramas recreate dramatic moments and vivid episodes from Texas History. See the battle of the Alamo, the capture of Santa Anna, the prisoners of the Mier Expedition drawing the black beans, the battle of Sabine Pass, Colonel Goodnight treating with Comanche Quannah Parker. Then see and listen to the story told by the rocks of Texas, and how Texas oil is drawn from many thousands of feet under the ground. On your way to and from Dallas—stop for service where you see the Humble sign.

Here's the motor fuel that delivers all the performance automotive engineers have built into that car of yours. Try it. Stop today at a Humble Service Station or at a Humble dealer's, tell the man at the pump to fill it up with Esso and—watch the difference. Test it in traffic and on the road; compare it with gasolines you've used. When you've tested a tankful, you'll be so pleased—you'll come back for more!

Esso is a premium motor fuel*, but if you're an average motorist, it will cost you only 5¢ a day more to get the benefit of Esso's superlatively fine performance. It's more powerful than any gasoline, accelerates faster, starts easier, has a higher anti-knock rating. Like all Humble products, it's continuously improved.

* In computing gasoline prices, don't forget that what you pay includes a State tax of 4¢ per gallon and a Federal tax of 1¢ per gallon. Gasoline is cheap, only the tax is high.

Land Measuring For Soil Program Is Well Underway

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6.—Work on measuring compliance with agricultural conservation plans which entitled farmers to grants of money is about one-third completed, it is estimated.

Not every farmer has believed in this new-fangled method of measuring his land. But the results are justifying its use as illustrated by a story of a man who protested his payments being based on this method—and standing over the map—demanding to be shown how the thing worked and how many acres the instrument indicated that his farm contained. Being shown and told that his farm was 155 acres according to the calculations he said: "I knew it was wrong; I knew it couldn't do it. My farm has 155 acres in it. I bought it from Mr. So-and-so 15 years ago and paid him for 155 acres and have been paying taxes on 155 acres ever since."

arguing thought enough of the man's word to take his chain and go out and measure the farm. The measurement turned out to be 155 acres. The farmer who had been paying taxes on 155 acres is now threatening to sue for the return of the purchase price of 30 acres of land which he did not get. It is planned to be through the measurement in the state of Texas by October 20. One district has completed the work already.

MOST OF CONTRACTS ON COTTON CLOSED

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 6.—Though Texas cotton contracts totaled about 735,000 for the years 1932, '34 and '35 there now remain unpaid only about 5,000 contracts. The principle cause for delay in clearing these contracts has been the getting of legal papers of states in shape.

It is the intention of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to get these papers in shape as rapidly as possible and adjust all claims which call for payment and cancel all others so that the record of the crop control program may be closed with no cases in suspense.

THE WORLD WITH A FENCE

A New Novel by Marian Sims

Chapter 20

BEFORE THE BATTLE

Blake lay in his berth and tossed impatiently, cursing the hours that lay between him and his battle with Irma. He planned his attack with care, and hoped fervently for enough self-control to carry him through the ordeal with dignity. Irma would probably storm and weep; it was for him to keep his temper and his pulse.

He tried to guess at her reaction, to prepare an answer for any argument or justification she might offer, and saw the hopelessness of the attempt. He had humored her so long, had for the sake of peace given in so completely to her whims that her attitude was unpredictable. He had no key by which to read her now.

The train roared through a night that seemed to have no end. When the train stopped at intervals the silence was thick and warm and threaded with a snore from the opposite berth. He swore beneath his breath and snapped on the light above his head. If he could not sleep he could perhaps read.

But the printed words had no meaning. He tried an article on "Our Neglected Frontier," and discarded it for a story in the same magazine. The story was drab and formless and wholly uninteresting and he threw it angrily aside, wondering why the "literary" magazines were so averse to grace or color in their writing. There was drama in the upper strata as well as the lower ones—look at Carol and himself; he thought—but the fact that they were articulate and fairly solvent seemed to put them beyond the pale.

He turned. At the light and closed his eyes again, and Carol came at once to him in the dark. He lay still and remembered her: the clear steadiness of her eyes and the humorous twist of her beautiful mouth. He remembered how her hair felt to his fingers: thick and short and crisp, like a boy's.

Her body was boyish too; he wondered suddenly if she would want the children, and knew instinctively that she would. Her personality would not depend for its fulfillment upon maternity, but her curiosity and her zest for living were too great for her voluntarily to miss that experience.

He fell asleep at last, and sleep came for three or four hours. When he woke he was at least able to say to himself: today I'll see her and perhaps know the answer. Perhaps, or perhaps Irma might vacillate and put him off, feeling a sadist's pleasure in prolonging his quivering uncertainty.

The day wore on, and he found a sort of respite in the mechanics of arriving at his destination; in changing trains and eating breakfast and lunch, in watching the country take on color and warmth with the miles. The miracle of a summer that had come in the night moved him greatly, and he longed to share the miracle with Carol.

His love for her had deepened his own awareness of beauty and ugliness, of joy and pain, and a sensation shared with her was a sensation doubled in intensity. He was glad now that he had taken the train instead of driving; he had not only escaped the physical strain but not had blanketed the monotony of south Georgia and northern Florida and he had waked to a bright new world.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Cakes—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, crank and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes three good old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up antsy." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Absolutely refuse anything else.

Family Gathers At J. B. Wood Home for Birthday Dinner

The family of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wood gathered at their home near the airport Sunday to celebrate the 58th birthday of Mr. Wood.

Among those attending a birthday dinner were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Wood and daughters, Jennette, Reba and Lucille, of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Kinnard and daughters, Meldeen and Melba, of Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Wood and son, J. E.; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Wood, Curtis Wood and J. B. Wood, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Wood and family, and Miss Mary Frances Hale, all of Big Spring; and Miss Sylvia Wentringham of Lamesa. Several friends called during the afternoon.

Mrs. H. S. Faw was confined to her home Monday with an attack of influenza.

her and she crushed it beneath her heel. Blake couldn't have fallen in love with another woman; he was definitely not the type for that. You didn't live with a man for 11 years without knowing whether you could trust him. Her own temperament was too cool for her to imagine a love that defied one's own wishes and scruples; if you fell in love you did it because you wanted to.

She picked up the telephone to break her bridge engagement and slowly replaced the receiver. Should she tell Mrs. Francis that her husband was in town? Mrs. Francis would be sure to learn that Blake was staying elsewhere; the woman knew everything.

No, she would wait until she had heard Blake out and brought him once more under control. Then she could be light and arch about his coming and his departure. Business, you know... January is a terrible month for him. He just wanted to see me...

She took up the receiver again and called Mrs. Francis. A slight headache... nothing serious, but she thought it best to go to bed immediately after dinner... Tomorrow night, she hoped...

She turned from the telephone to her mirror and studied her face carefully. There was time for an application of her beauty mask treatment, she decided.

And tomorrow, Blake tells Irma the truth.

The key to pension financing in favoring the "luxury" tax. It was in his platform, on which he won nomination in the first primary over four opponents. It is in the democratic platform, and in his message to the legislature.

What is LUXURY?

It is undefined. Gov. Allred illustrated it meagerly with the suggestion that taxes on amusement admission fees is one kind of a luxury tax. Sales tax advocates believe that any tax, except upon the basic food and clothing needs of the average family budget, is a luxury tax. That is, they would perhaps exempt a $10 purchase, and apply their sales levy on the amount of every purchase which exceeds the $10 exemption. Farm tools, and the sale of farm products would be exempted in any case.

Censorship Of New Sources Is Charged By Landon

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 6. (UP)—Governor Alf M. Landon said today the new deal was employing a "censorship of the source of news," which "is just as bad as censorship of news itself."

He named Harry Hopkins, head of the Works Progress administration, in reply to questions concerning the administrator's statement that the relief records were "open to anybody who has a legitimate reason to see them."

Landon said he thought WPA cost records and payrolls were "public business and the information should be available to any newspaper."

Figures Compiled To Refute Knox Assertion 'No Deposit Safe'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. (UP)—Democrats loaded their campaign guns today with banking statistics compiled in a secret administration study for reply to republican charges that "no bank deposit is safe."

The report, prepared from statistics in the office of the comptroller of the currency and the federal deposit insurance corporation, is being put into shape for use by democratic speakers.

It asserts $159,900 deposits were affected by bank failures during the Hoover administration, compared to 342,700 during the first three years of the present administration.

The charge that no bank deposit is safe under the present administration was made by Frank Knox, republican vice presidential candidate, in Pennsylvania a month ago.

The study—covering the period from 1921-34 estimated depositors and shareholders during the 1929-33 period lost a total of more than $2-
