

VOTING FOR THE DEAD

South Koreans recently cast 1,645,000 vote; for a dead man for president. This was P. H. Shinicky, who had died during the campaign. He ran third, the winner being President Syngman Rhee, whose 4,504,000 votes gained him a third term.

Before saying "Those dumb Koreans," remember that many American communities have done almost as badly. Plenty of cases have occurred in which a candidate died during a campaign, and still received many votes, sometimes enough to elect him.

Ignorance is not confined to one people. Neither is lack of the interest in public affairs which would enable a voter to know what is going on.

The composite picture of a lady of fashion this spring is a grasshopper's journey through geography and history. From the neck up the ladies are Etruscan (Italy, eighth to first century B. C.). Their gowns have waist lines hovering around the armpits (Empire style, England and France, circa 1812). On their feet, they will wear those Minnie Mouse shoes with skinny heels (U. S. A., vintage 1920's). There is probably no quicker way to review world history, ancient and modern, than to watch this year's Easter parade.

In bowling it's amazing how the ball can get pin fright so often and run away to the gutter!

WORKING LIKE A

Every now and then, an oft-used and familiar expression suddenly sticks out of a conversation as if it had been set in bold-face type. Then, all at once, the expression can really be seen and someone is sure to say, "How do you suppose that began?"

The other evening, for example, someone said, "Mrs. Jones next door has been working like a nailer getting her house cleaned for the party." And within a few minutes someone else said, "I've been working like a dog at it."

Whereupon the question arose: How does working like a nailer differ from working like a dog, and how did the expressions originate? That led to a general hunt for similar expressions—working like a beaver, like a trooper, like a Trojan, like a fool; doubtless there are others. Nothing was settled, and nothing is settled here. It's all just thrown out to provide a little light intellectual chewing.

Whatever became of the popular Davey Crockett, who just a few months ago was the favorite of members of the small-fry? They're not fickle, we'll argue, just fast moving—even when it comes to things they idolize.

WORLD SERIES STORY

The baseball world series is such an established institution that many think of it as having existed always. Far from it. The first instance was in 1903, when the Boston American Leaguers defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates, five games to three. Such legendary heroes as Cy Young and Honus Wagner took part. A plaque in commemoration has just been unveiled, with Freddie Parent, the Boston shortstop in the series and possibly the sole survivor, officiating.

There were earlier series. In the 1880's the National League, oldest of them all, had a rival, the American Association. This was not the body going by that name today. The League and Association champions had post-season contests for some years.

In the '90's, with only the National League existing, the first and second place teams met for a cup donated by a Pittsburgh man named Temple. Interest soon fell off, however, and the series was abandoned.

The present-day excitement was slow in growing. An elderly gentleman recalls attending the first series game in 1903. He made up his mind at lunch to attend, and got seats readily. Indeed there were vacant seats throughout the game. How different from today!

Those pictures in the seed catalogues are wonderful. If the flowers and vegetables really grew that big they'd be bigger than the weeds a fellow usually harvests.

EAR PLUGS — FROM THE INSIDE

FOR IT HAD BEEN BETTER FOR THEM NOT TO HAVE KNOWN THE WAY OF RIGHTEDNESS THAN, AFTER THEY HAD KNOWN IT, TO TURN FROM THE HOLY COMMANDMENT DELIVERED UNTO THEM.
 — II PET. 2:21

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

By Edwin Gorom

You wish for "the good old days." You find yourself turning the pages of life backward to some period which brought a fuller measure of joy and happiness to your heart. Who hasn't done it?

Even Solomon must have thought of "the good old days." He said:

"Say not thou, What is the cause that the former days were better than these? For thou dost not enquire wisely concerning this." (Ecclesiastes 7:10).

We must turn the pages of life forward. We must have the "forward look." Our lives must be a "reaching forth unto those things which are before." Life cannot be static. It must advance, or we perish.

Dr. Kenneth McIntyre of the University of Texas, in a recent speech on education, pointed out that as far back as 400 B. C. young people were being criticized for not being as good as former generations. So it goes with all of life.

Why should the "former days" be better than these? Perhaps some one worked a bit harder than we work. Perhaps some one gave more thought to the issues of life. It is possible that some one gave more serious heed to the values which are lasting and eternal. Perhaps they put a little more into life than we are willing to do when we take "the backward look."

Egyptian history dates back to about 4000 B. C.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hobbs and sons, Mike, Pat, and Tommie of Beaumont arrived Tuesday for a few days visit with Mr. Hobbs' parents Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Turner. They were en route to Colorado and Arizona.

Price Daniel's Campaign for Gov. A Family Affair

When U. S. Senator Price Daniel campaigns for Governor, it's a family affair. Daniel's wife, four children, sister and brother are all playing an active role in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Mrs. Daniel, the former Jean Baldwin of Houston, is the great-granddaughter of General Sam Houston, so her Texas political heritage runs a long way back. She has been helping her husband campaign since they were married on June 28, 1940, when he was in the midst of a race for re-election to the Texas House of Representatives.

This summer she has been with the Senator on many of his campaign tours, and on some occasions has had their four children along to meet the people and help pass out literature. The oldest son, Price Jr., 15, has an eye on a political future himself. The other Daniel children are Jean, 13, Houston Lee, 10, and John Baldwin, 8.

The Senator's sister, Ellen Daniel, is a volunteer worker at State Campaign headquarters in Austin. She has also traveled with the family.

Their brother, former State Rep. Bill Daniel of Liberty, is chairman of the Senator's statewide Speakers' Bureau and has made scores of speeches and personal appearances in behalf of Price Daniel's candidacy.

Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Brown and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Neldon Sullivan, of Sherman were week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Thompson. They also visited with Mrs. Brown's brother, J. I. Drewry and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Peebles returned last week after visiting relatives and friends in Houston, Nacogdoches, Lufkin, and Livingston. They attended the Alexander reunion at Livingston.

"Keep The Change"

If you've seen "Mac" Johnson this week, chances are he's told you his waitress story. For those who haven't heard:

"Mac" recently stopped at an out-of-town diner. He ordered the chef's special—and his waitress (brand new on the job) made every possible mistake. She confused the order, spilled the soup, dropped the rolls, brought him a wrong dessert.

Despite it all, "Mac" left a substantial tip. But she smiled and handed the money back. "Keep it, Mister—you've sure earned it more than I have," she said. From where I sit, that girl deserves credit for admitting her shortcomings—something not everyone is big enough to do. For instance, I'm convinced lots of folks know they're wrong when they deny me the right to a glass of beer with my supper... just because they happen to prefer some other beverage. They wouldn't like me ordering them to accept my choice.

 "What's the beef?" asked his buddy.
 The draftee explained, "Fifteen years ago I asked for a soldier—and now I get it!"

What Happens if ... ?
 In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if."
 For in your policies, leases, wills, insurance contracts, escrows, and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."
 Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partnership goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smash-up?
 The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions—but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if?"
 Take your will now: Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.
 Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that have come up, or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.
 You may long ago have had your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote the will? What would happen to them if things go wrong now?
 Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out. Would you want your property to go equally to her and to your well-heeled bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?
 You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens—if." One way is the device of contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies.

County Farm Bureau Appoints Slaton Agent

The Lubbock County Farm Bureau this week announced the appointment of Otis A. Rogers Jr. of Lubbock as special agent for Farm Bureau insurance services in Slaton and the surrounding area. Rogers is temporarily working out of the Lubbock office but plans to make a move to Slaton in a month or two where he will establish residence. No stranger to this area, he was reared in Lubbock County and is a graduate of Texas Tech where he received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture in 1949. He has just returned from a tour of duty in the army where he was working with guided missiles at Fort Bliss. An active member of the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce, he is chairman of the agriculture committee of that organization. While in Slaton he will "work to service the needs of Farm Bureau members and since Slaton is classified with the underwriting department of Southern Farm Bureau Insurance Company will be able to accept any Slaton resident in the insurance program." Types of insurance coverage he will offer include auto, life, and fire. The coverage offers the policy holder yearly dividends. He can be contacted by writing to Box 181, Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Elliot returned last week from a vacation trip to Kentucky and Alabama where they visited relatives and friends. They also toured the Great Smokies, visited Lookout Mountain and the Atomic Museum at Oak Ridge, Tenn. They also took a boat ride down the Mississippi River. Mrs. Alvin Bruner and son, Gary, of Cleburne visited in the M. H. Lasater home last week. Mary La Nora LaGrange of Amherst spent the week-end in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Crabtree. Lt. Col. Eldon W. Schmid spent the week-end here with his mother, Mrs. Frank Drewry. He was enroute from his home in Washington D. C. to Albuquerque N. Mex. for a two weeks assignment.

Miss Betty Louise Payne of Washington, D. C. is leaving Monday after spending two weeks here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Payne.

I AM THE CHURCH

They pause in the road of life and gaze at ME. And their feelings are a mixture of longing and hesitation. What shall I say to their longing ... to their hesitation?

I am the Church. I come not from man but from God. Man raised my steeple to the sky, a prayer of steel. But God opened my doors to the reverent. He lifted the Cross of His Son to beckon men. He engraved His message on the hearts of my people.

I am the Church. They long for me because I teach truth and awaken faith ... because hope and courage and strength and happiness are promises I make to those who heed me.

I am the Church. They hesitate as they approach me. For they say, "How can we be sure your Truth is true—your Faith believable—your Promises certain?"

I am the Church. That is why men can be sure! I come not from man but from God. Men may toy with the truth, but not God. Men may break faith, but not God. Men may forget their promises, but not God.

I am the Church. I belong to you ... to your family ... to your nation and your world. Do you belong to me?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Little League Completes First Half of Season

Little Leaguers completed the first half of their season on July 5 with the Indians taking first place with a 10 game winning streak. In second place were the Dodgers with a 6-4 record. The other teams in the order of their standings and games won is as follows: Giants, 5-4; Tigers, 4-7; Yankees, 3-7; and Cards, 2-8.

On July 3 the Yankees defeated the Giants 13-10. On July 4, the Little League ball park was the scene of a double header with the Yankees taking the Cards in the first game by a score of 13-9. In the second game the Indians beat the Dodgers 9-2.

On July 5 the Giants dropped the Tigers 2-8 to end the first half of the season's play. In other games played last week the scores were as follows: July 6, Tigers 5 and Cards 3; on July 7, the Tigers 7 and the Cards 5; on July 9, the Indians 7 and the Giants 4; and on July 10, the Yankees 13 and the Dodgers 12. On July 11 the Giants met the Cards, on July 12 the Tigers played the Dodgers, and on July 13 the Yankees meet the Indians. In other games coming up during the week the Cards and the Indians play on July 16; the Tigers meet the Yankees on July 17; the Giants and the Dodgers play on July 18; and the Dodgers and the Cards play on July 19.

Little League fans can find team standings in an ad sponsored by the Slaton Pharmacy in The Slatonite.

Dorcas Backyard Party Held at Smith Home

Mrs. R. L. Smith was hostess when the Dorcas Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church met in her backyard for a social hour Thursday evening, July 5. The members' husbands were invited to be their guests.

The opening prayer was led by Roy Parks before Mrs. Smith presented the devotion on "Victory of Prayer" based on Mark 11:24.

Mrs. L. R. Gregory had charge of the social hour. Homemade ice cream and cake were served to the 13 who attended.

Mr. and Mrs. William I. O'Neal and son, Michael, of Los Angeles, Calif. spent the week-end here in the home of Mr. O'Neal's sister, Mrs. J. P. Pearson and Mr. Pearson. Phil Pearson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson, was also home for the week-end. Phil is employed by the Santa Fe in Mountainair, N. Mex.

Never Neglect Giving Fresh Water to Dog

Don't forget that dogs need plenty of fresh water to drink in the summer time, warns the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. Water put out for the dog in a bowl or pail in the morning should be placed in a protected spot or shielded from the sun to keep it from soon reaching near boiling point on hot days. Better still, advises the Center, replenish the vessel with fresh water several times a day.

People who see their dogs drinking from stagnant pools or muddied sink holes in a road when they're out for a walk, sometimes wonder if all the fuss about fresh, clean water is justified. But, explains the Center, water that is on the ground or in pools is a lot different from stale, scummy water in a pail. What looks like unclean water to us may be palatable to the dog. Many dogs seem to like the taste of muddy water, even when they have a choice between that and a sparkling brook. In some cases it may be just a hereditary reflex in the dog to lap up water he selects for himself in a natural setting.

But the dog that is kept in a yard or confined to a kennel is entirely dependent on his owner for his drinking water, says the Center, emphasizing that it is one need that should never be neglected. Also, your dog will suffer less from the heat if he has a shady place to dig in and make a deep hole for himself in the earth's comparative coolness.

Temperature of Dog's Nose No Health Clue

Whether a dog's nose is warm or cold has nothing to do with his state of health, states Harry Miller, director of the Gaines Dog Research Center, New York. The theory that a dog's nose is his thermometer is one of those ancient legends that persists despite its fallacy and one that often misleads dog owners into using it as a method of diagnosis.

A dog may be in perfect health and yet have a nose that feels warm to the touch. By the same token, a dog with a high fever, even in the last stages of a serious illness, may have a nose that feels cool.

Dogs normally lick their noses, sometimes as a reflex but mostly because the tears from the tear ducts drain just inside the nostril. It is just as normal for a dog to lick his nose as it is for people to lick their lips.

When a dog's nose is wet the moisture on it evaporates until it is dry. Evaporation makes the nose become cold in the same way that a person's finger feels cold if he wets it and holds it up to test the direction of the wind. When the dog's nose is dry it becomes the same temperature as his body and feels warm.

As with nearly all beliefs, there is some basis for the "cold nose—healthy dog" theory, states Mr. Miller, because a dog with a fever will get a warm, dry nose very quickly, but it will still feel cool to the touch while it is moist. The nose of a dog in perfect shape may feel hot after he has taken a nap when his nose has been tucked against his body or covered by his tail.

Open Season on Whitewing Awaits Further Study

Whether Texas will have birds enough to resume open seasons on white-winged doves this year will not be determined for another month or so, according to the Wildlife Restoration Division of the Game and Fish Commission.

The once plentiful and popular game bird has been reported in good numbers in upper south Texas but population estimates in the Rio Grande Valley's principal habitat have not been completed.

The season on whitewings has been closed since 1953 because of a severe population slump, dating back to a crisis five years ago when a freeze killed many citrus trees, influencing landowners to convert to field crops. Brush clearing practices have also reduced the birds' habitat.

Meanwhile, plans are going ahead for the annual study of nesting conditions in Mexican areas which occasionally bulwark feeding flocks flying northward into the Valley during the early September harvest period.

The Commission moved last year to help relieve the whitewing habitat crisis by arranging with the International Boundary and Water Commission to use a Falcon Lake shoreline area, stretching from Zapata Village to Falcon Dam, for whitewing propagation.

top three of America's best-selling cars. Yet, you'll find it priced right close to the well-known smaller cars.

That sure makes Buick a whale of a lot of car for the money. And look:

Nowhere but in a '56 Buick can you get the absolute smoothness and the electrifying performance of Buick's terrific new Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Nowhere else can you get the obedient responsiveness of Buick's big and mighty new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine. Or Buick's matchless new handling ease and ever-level ride buoyancy — or Buick's bold new sweep-ahead styling, and solidity of structure, and stretch-out roominess.

Add it all up and the answer comes out the same, any way you figure it: Now's the time to buy your 1956 Buick.

Will you come in — before another sun sets — and get set with your best buy yet?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Ulich, extension agricultstaggering losses, he adds, reason why President El-has proclaimed the week of July 22-28 as National Farm Safety Week and is requesting all persons and organizations interest-d in the welfare of farm people to join in a campaign to reduce all farm accidents.

The President said that in nearly every accident human failure is associated with the tragic loss of life and that experience in industry has proved accident prevention measures always pay.

Engineer Ulich points out that specific studies in other states show that as high as 86 per cent of all farm machine accidents involve tractors and tractor equipment. This might be a mighty good place to start a safety program on most farms, says Ulich.

"You wouldn't think of selling a good right hand or arm, an eye or a leg, but many have lost these precious possessions by simply sticking them into a moving or operating machine, by stumbling over an unshielded power take-off or by getting an eye knocked out by flying dust or debris from an operating machine being checked at too close range. Think about these needed body parts and your life when working with machinery and you'll develop a consciousness about safety you never had before," says Ulich.

When every farm worker develops this type of attitude toward safety, farm accidents will drop to a new low-level and farm living will become more pleasant and satisfying as a result. Your safety is in your hands.

Water and Texas

By Walter T. Rolfe, F. A. I. A.

Water and Texas have always seemed dramatically associated through my many years of Texas life. With it Texas becomes a garden; without it, it remains a desert.
How anyone can take water lightly is beyond my comprehension. Water is not a casual thing, never has been, and never will be. It is time Texas and Texans rose to their water emergency. One does exist.
There simply is not enough water to allow it to dissipate itself as it always has done. Water must live a planned life—planned by men. To fail to realize this significant need is to court disaster.

Water is our benevolent friend and our vicious enemy. From it comes our very life itself. It also takes away our soil, carrying it always to the sea. It floods our homes, destroys our crops, and challenges all human security. It is so beautiful in its peaceful life and most disastrous when it is aroused.
Man can control much of its life—
and must do so or be destroyed himself.

Water has always been important. All man's early cultures have been allowed to flourish only where there was water. Cities become great only where there is water. Water is the elixir of life itself—the most important of all the elements in combination, for without it all others become nothing.

We humans take so much for granted. We turn the tap and taste this amazing liquid. We never stop to think about it until we have lived in a country with a contaminated water supply. Travelers from abroad feel almost beyond description when they fully realize they can drink water in every place, village, hamlet, farm or city in this marvelous land.

Water is the first measure of the success of a country. It is the criterion of civilization. It is the vaccine of health, the life fluid of mankind.

Water is a magic word. It is the breath of hurricanes, the spindrift of the earth's atmosphere. It rises as clouds from lakes, rivers and the sea to travel inward to the mountains where it becomes frost, frozen rivers, lakes, and eternal glaciers.
Awakened it rushes back to the lowlands from which it came, carrying with it the life-giving soils of civilization. Man is slowly learning how very important is the control of water. It must be saved from the time it is a hazard until the day it becomes a need.

Life in Texas will continue only so long as there is water. No one escapes this tremendous truth. A city, a ranch, a farm can flourish only where water is in abundance.
All of man's activities require water. His industry, his agriculture, his everyday life—all must have it.

Therefore, wise is he who knows that today is almost too late. Water must be controlled and its life span planned. Our rivers, our springs and our wells are an index of the water table below them. Our future rises and falls with this table. Not only does our future become a hazard; the very day that water is no more—then we are through.

It is time we see water in a new light. It is not only the vehicle for boats, barges, ducks and aquatic life. It is also more importantly the life stream of civilization. It gives rise to the poetry of man, but also it is his most priceless practical possession. Water is not only the mystery of life, it is life itself.

May no one ever read these thoughts and feel quite the same again about water. What is more important, may you see to it that there shall be a maturing leadership toward doing something very important in behalf of our precious water supply. It is not enough merely to prevent the flood; we must plan for all our people to have their share of water when and where the need comes. Water is more important to Texans and to all who associate with them than oil or sulphur—even land. Without water there is nothing. With it there is the potential of the greatest civilized advancement ever known to mankind. Now is the time to take it seriously.

HOW TO DRIVE ON A SUPERHIGHWAY

If a motor trip is included in your vacation plans for this summer, chances are that you will spend some share of your travel time on a superhighway. Here, from the editors of Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine, are some superhighway driving rules to help you avoid an accident.

* Keep your speedometer at a familiar speed, one you're used to and can handle. Remember that you don't have to travel at the top limit. Slow down for bad weather or bad road conditions. Observe signs reducing speed limits.

* Don't do anything but drive while you're at the wheel. Don't look at maps, toll tickets or the scenery. Even a little error at 70 may be fatal.

* Drive conservatively in all respects. Nearly 22% of turnpike accidents are caused by failure to observe ordinary driving rules.
Stay at least 20 feet, or a car's length, behind the car ahead for every 10 mph you are traveling.
At 70 mph that's nearly half the length of a football field.

* Avoid the kind of reckless driving that comes from short-fused tempers. It's bad on any road, but it's dynamite on a superhighway.

Beware of impatience, bursts of speed, excessive use of brakes, bumper riding, cutting in and out.

* Never stop on the highway.
Pull onto the side strip, making sure all the wheels are off the paving. If you need help on a turnpike, hang a white handkerchief from the window. Don't cross or walk on the highway or attempt to flag down cars.

* Slow down as you approach tollgates and before turning off at exits and restaurant and service station entrances. Remember that the usual exit ramp is designed for a speed of 25 mph; 50 is too fast.

* Stay awake, really awake. Stop for coffee frequently or pull off the road for a cat nap if you are sleepy. Avoid highway hypnosis by watching everything that is happening on the road ahead of you.
* Don't use the rear lights of trucks as a driving guide at night, and, don't risk driving a car with poor tires or in poor mechanical condition.

Jamestown, Va., founded in 1607, was the first permanent English settlement in North America.

Deep In The Heart Of Texas

Texas Longhorn Cavern, the world's third largest cave, is one of the nation's most impressive natural wonders. Over eight miles of its labyrinthian splendor have been explored without an end being reached and the lowest point on the guided tour is an eerie 120 feet below the surface. The cavern is a popular attraction for tourists and sightseers, especially in the summertime, because it is a real cool cave. The temperature inside remains at a comfortable 64 degrees even in the hottest summer weather. Longhorn Cavern is located off U. S. Highway 281 four miles south of Burnet.

Hepatitis Gains Ground as Hazard To Public Health

Hepatitis has recently become a public health problem, declared Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health. It is an infectious disease that attacks the liver and is caused by a virus. The name means inflammation of the liver, and the disease is usually spread by personal contact. Overcrowding, poor personal hygiene may be contributing factors. It can also be spread in water, milk and food.

There are two types of hepatitis caused by a virus and only man is susceptible. Formerly this disease was referred to as yellow jaundice or catarrhal jaundice. Now the most common variety is called infectious hepatitis and the other is serum hepatitis.

Dr. J. E. Peavy, director Division of Communicable Disease Control, says that probably the actual occurrence of the disease is much greater than the number of cases reported because of the many mild cases and the outstanding complaint, yellowing of the skin, does not always occur.

Infectious hepatitis has been known throughout the world for hundreds of years. Large numbers of troops in both world wars were infected. As a communicable disease among the general public, it has not until recently been considered a serious problem.

Infectious hepatitis was made a 1952 when 265 cases were reported. The number of cases reported have shown a steady increase. Last year 1316 cases were reported and so far this year 620 cases. The number of deaths has only been a small percentage of the reported cases. There have been 126 deaths reported from hepatitis in the past four years.

Children are the most frequently attacked by this virus and usually have mild attacks. However, the illness can be severe in older persons. Infectious hepatitis is seldom fatal, but when death does occur, it is usually in persons over thirty years of age.

Personal hygiene and the sanitary disposal of sewage cannot be over-emphasized as preventive measures in the control of infectious hepatitis. Milk and water should be obtained from sources that are known to be tested frequently and careful attention should be paid to the storage of food.

"DON'T BE Sidetracked!"

Preston Smith has declared time and again that the big issue in the State Senate race is HONESTY IN STATE GOVERNMENT.

Don't be sidetracked from that issue by tricky phrases like "new faces in Senate races" or fact-dodging tactics.

HONESTY IS THE ISSUE. If integrity and honor were more common around the State Capital, most of our problems in Texas government wouldn't exist today.

Absentee Voting Deadline July 28

Absentee voting for the July 28 Democratic primary will continue until the deadline three days prior to the election, according to County Clerk Louie F. Moore. Absentee balloting began in the county on Monday.

The voting in absence privilege is designed for persons who for some reason or other can not go to the polls on election day. To receive the ballot a citizen must send a written request to the County Clerk's office in Lubbock. The request must be accompanied by a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate.

The ballots when they are received by the voter are signed, notarized and returned in a sealed envelope to the clerk's office to be placed in the proper ballot box from that voter's precinct.

Each person who wishes to vote in absence must request the ballot. In other words a husband can not write for two ballots, one for himself and one for his wife. Each voter must write requesting the ballot for himself.

Johnson Rites Held Wednesday

Funeral services for J. R. Johnson, 59, pioneer resident of this area were held at 4 p. m. Wednesday in the Slaton Methodist Church. A resident of the area since 1916 Johnson died in Big Springs Veterans' Hospital Monday morning following a long illness. He was a retired farmer.

The Rev. J. L. Mayhew, former pastor of the First Methodist Church in Slaton officiated at the services. He was assisted by the Rev. Elmer Crabtree, retired Methodist minister. Burial was in Englewood Cemetery under the direction of Williams Funeral Home.

Johnson is survived by his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Fred Swagerty, Winslow, Arizona; Mrs. Stanfor Swartz, Tucson; Mrs. J. B. Hutchens, Rankin; and Mrs. H. E. Hogue, Snyder; a sister, Mrs. Harry Turner, Lamesa; three brothers, Frank, Carrollton; T. D. Kermit; and H. H. Corpus Christi; and nine grandchildren.

Mrs. Bulgantin entertained her first American guest in Moscow and served home made strawberry jam. If heads of state could just get their communications down to the give-and-take level of a recipe exchange, a lot of world problems might be solved.

Accidents are never cheap and that's why safety pays all ways. Farm accidents in the U. S. each year cause economic losses of one and a half billion dollars to say nothing of 14,000 accidental deaths and more than a million injuries. The week of July 22-28 has been proclaimed by President Eisenhower as National Farm Safety Week. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council urges every Texan, especially those living in rural areas, to join with their neighbors in conducting community and countywide safety programs. The life saved could be your own.

Tea Compliments FHA Area Visitors

A tea and reception honoring the retiring national president of Future Homemakers of America, Miss Susan Higby of Twin Falls, Idaho, and the Idaho State Advisor, Miss Martha Graves of Boise, Idaho, was held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. R. A. Parramore in Lubbock.

Guests were greeted by Miss Barbara Wilke of Slaton and presented to those in the receiving line who were Miss Helen Anne Norris, Susan Higby, Mrs. G. K. Haile and Miss Graves. The honorees were presented yellow rose bud corsages.

Those serving at the refreshment table were Misses Sharon Couch and Claudette McLarty both of Anson, Miss Nancy Boles and Miss Linda Kiner, both of Roosevelt.

Table Decorations

The refreshment table was laid with a brown linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow rose buds flanked by brown candles in copper holders. Green napkins and crystal appointments were used. The refreshments of yellow sandwich loaf, cookies trimmed in brown and yellow and lime green punch carried out the color theme.

Guests who attended the only FHA reception given for the national president in Texas were from the following schools: Anton, Abernathy, Petersburg, Plainview, Roosevelt, Monterey, Tom S. Lubbock, Shallowater, Idalou, Cooper, Friendship, Slaton and Texas Tech.

Those Attending

Those attending from Texas Tech were Dean Willa Vaughn Tinsley, Dr. Mina Lamb, Mrs. Vivian Adams and Miss Doris Nesbitt. Those from Slaton were Marilyn Boyce, Louise Moore, Sharon Smith, Kathy Smith, Linda Smith, Eunice Wiley, Sandra Long, Kay Sain, Pam Maxey, Mrs. Jim Sain, Mrs. E. L.
