Cars Stolen from 2 Homes Here Over Week End Found; Youths Suspected

Two cars were stolen in Slaton Friday night, but were recovered Monday. Police Chief Bill Daniels said that the thefts were probably the acts of teen-agers. Cecil Scott's car was taken from his home at 900 W. Lynn, and the car on the north side of the school building. D. Cummings' car was taken from the driveway at his home at N. 12th street. It was located the 400 block of Lynn street. "People could easily get shot in driving cars like these were taken," Daniels said.

Twelve persons were jailed over the week end, on charges of drunkenness, disturbing the peace, vagrancy, and breaking the curfew law. Nine traffic tickets were issued, for violations which included speeding, negligent collision, and running stop signs. Vandals broke into a garage at 955 S. 11th street Monday and stole a bicycle. The garage was locked, and nails were pulled from the hinges in order to gain entry.

The water there was bad and the name was the Indian name for bad water. Cancer Crusade In Slaton To Be Held Tuesday, House-to-House Canvass

Mrs. Tom Claiborne is local chairman of the Cancer Crusade. Mrs. Claiborne pointed out that no paid employees are employed by the American Cancer Society, but that all funds collected in the drive each year go toward research and education. Twenty-five cents from each dollar contributed goes into a nationwide research program. Sixty cents is used for education and service to cancer patients. Twelve cents go into the national educational program for both public and professional education, and for fund raising. Three cents go into medical grants and clinical fellowships awarded to medical and scientific organizations.

Urging liberal donations to the Cancer Crusade, Mrs. Claiborne pointed out that through generous donations, research and education have brought polio from the list of dread diseases. The same can be done for cancer, she emphasized. Whether you contribute or not, Mrs. Claiborne continued, you are urged to take the pamphlet about cancer and read it.

FALSE ALARM PERIL

Cities large and small are plagued from time to time by irresponsible children or adle-brained adults who think it is funny to turn in false fire alarms. Nothing could be less funny. Such alarms can result in danger to the community and to the firemen who must respond to them.

The very process of getting to a fire can be dangerous. Men whose business it is to fight fires do not complain of this danger when alarms are genuine. But it is a bitter thing for a fireman who has been hurt to realize that he has been the victim of a senseless prank.

Every time a fire truck answers a false alarm it means that the firefighting equipment of that station is not at full strength until it returns. If a real fire occurs in the meantime, serious delay may ensue before the equipment dispatched to the false alarm can be redirected to where it is needed.

Children must be taught that the fire alarm box is not a toy—that there is nothing funny or clever about turning in false alarms. As for foolish adults who turn in such alarms, a different approach may be needed. A spell in jail or a compulsory visit to a psychiatrist might be the answer.

BLOCKADE TO PEACE

A recent Associated Press dispatch from Cairo reported, "Egyptian officials reiterated today that Israeli ships were barred from using the Suez Canal." The explanation of this is that Egypt still contends that it is technically at war with Israel and that, therefore, it has the right to bar Israeli ships.

Unless this stand is reversed, it means that President Nasser of Egypt, saved because of United States pressure applied to France, Great Britain and Israel, is right back where he was before. It further means that he plans to continue disturbing the peace of the world.

If Nasser bars Israeli shipping now, this will be but the prelude to further discriminatory acts. These will threaten the West and endanger peace. The United Nations should take strong action against Nasser if he now attempts to control passage through the Suez Canal for political reasons which can only serve himself and the Russians.

A WHIR OF WINGS

A great naturalist tells us that spring advances northward across the face of America at the rate of about 15 miles per day. It begins at the tip of Florida very early in the year, and by April there are unmistakable signs of it even in the northernmost tier of states.

Numerous other statistical notations may be made about spring. Scientists tell us, for example, that a few days past mid-March the axis of the earth is at right angles to the direction of the sun, and that we then have the vernal equinox. This year the magic day was March 20, and we are thus technically enjoying spring.

But anyone with blood in his veins, however thinned by the travails of winter, knows that spring rises above merely statistical. The scientific explanation about equinoxes accounts for spring no more than a rain drop accounts for the Mississippi river.

To say that spring moves northward at 15 miles a day may be scientifically accurate. But spring does not plod in the way these figures suggest. Spring moves lightly and unpredictably, darting in and out, advancing and retreating, before it comes to stay. No, spring does not trudge north like some placid cow goaded by statistics. Spring is an ebullient creature that arrives in a whirl of golden wings.

SIGNS OR SCENERY

Congress is now concerned with the question whether some limit should be placed on the erection of billboards along the vast new interstate highway net work. It is a matter that concerns not only those who want to put up billboards, but those who will have to look at them if they are put up—in short, all of us.

The administration proposes withholding some federal highway money from states which refuse to comply with rather stringent curbs on the construction of billboards. This, and almost any other proposal for signboard restrictions, brings down the wrath of the outdoor advertising industry and some other groups which would profit by having unrestricted access to all that potential advertising space.

Proponents of a restrictive code are mostly those who assert that a string of billboards would be unsightly. It could be argued persuasively that, since billboards are a long-established part of the American scene, those who want them along the new highways should be allowed to have them. That may be, but there is no getting around the fact that if there is no restriction on billboards they will clutter many miles of the 41,000-mile system. The argument pretty much boils down to whether we want to see signs or scenery.

The Air Force is asking a lot more money for missiles. In the old days, soldiers had to polish brass buttons; now it's pushbuttons they polish. Easy with that polishing rag, boys!

IT MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature; old things have passed away; behold, all things are become new." II Cor. 5:17.

There has never been a time in the history of America when there was a larger percentage of the population upon the church rolls. And yet, with so many enlisted in the ranks as Christians, professing an allegiance to one with so great power, it is puzzling to observe that the world is not being turned upside down for God and righteousness. Perhaps the answer hinges upon the question of how many members are truly Christian.

Then we have to ask the question, What is a Christian? Perhaps this has been the question asked of every age. People outside of Christian fellowships have always asked and are asking this question today. Without doubt, it has been too difficult to distinguish between professing and non-professing Christians. Christianity is more than a name, and the church is more than a club, lodge, or institution. Yet there are many that wonder, and rightly so, "What is a Christian?"

There are many differences of doctrines and interpretations of the Scriptures, but there is one thing that all are fairly well in agreement upon, and that is the answer to the question in discussion. "Therefore if any man be in Christ (a Christian), he is become a new creature; old things have passed away; behold, all things are become new." A true Christian has a new life with a new sense of direction. Jesus called it "a born again experience." "Ye must be born again." New interests, new desires are created and the things once loved that were detrimental to Christ's Kingdom, self, and society are hated. One can say, "It is not I but Christ that liveth in me." I have been convicted of sin, righteousness, and the judgement. I am a new creature, or "once I was blind but now I see."

A new creature (Christian) sees things differently and rearranges his interests and values of life. A true Christian seeks the Kingdom of God first, and trusts that other things will take their rightful place. The question has been settled once and for all what shall be done in conflicting opportunities. When the choice has to be made, God's work or something else, it is no problem for the Christian has already made the decision and fails only in ignorance.

Therefore, a Christian is a new creature in Christ who sparkles with freshness of life, and has as his objective the serving of Christ and His Kingdom.

HOW VALUABLE

... IS LOCAL NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING TO LOCAL BUSINESS PEOPLE?

Here's what the American Bankers Magazine, a publication which represents a traditionally hard-headed profession, has to say:

"No business man or woman in any town should allow a newspaper to go to press without his or her name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town . . . it's the best possible town advertiser. The man or woman who does not advertise does an injustice to himself or herself and definitely to the town.

It's consistent advertising that counts, and The Slaton Slatonite, this area's best advertising medium, stands ready to serve you. 10,000 readers

ROADMASTER 75

Custom Built by Buick

NOW ON DISPLAY

A NEW CONCEPT in motorcar excellence awaits your inspection in the ROADMASTER 75 just introduced.

You will see what we mean the first time you glimpse the interior.

The impeccable tailoring and taste of the rich appointments are as obvious as the comfort is opulent.

The seats, for example.

They are meticulously fashioned in glove-finished fabrics of broadcloth or Nylon, with backs topped in supple, hand-buffed leather. They are thickly layered with contoured foam rubber. They are wide, deep, superbly soft.

The doors present a new standard of luxury and restfulness—fully upholstered and softly cushioned from floor line to window.

The instrument panel, below the safety cushion, is chromed from end to end. The deep-pile carpeting is backed by foam. The integral armrests are fully in keeping with the spacious grace of the car.

The complete interior is matched by the mechanical excellence that is ROADMASTER tradition.

Indeed, nowhere else among the world's fine cars can you enjoy superb performance quite like that of a ROADMASTER 75—from the instant response of its brilliant new Dynaflo, to the smooth obedience of its all-new air-cooled aluminum front brakes—newest and the finest in the fine-car field.

GOOD! BETTER! BEST!

Governor Asks State-Wide Clean-Up of Crime, Corruption to Maintain Confidence of Public; Proposes State Law Enforcement Commission

Governor Price Daniel says Texas must have "an immediate state-wide clean-up of rapidly increasing crime and sporadic corruption if the good name of our state is to be saved from destruction by scandal-mongers and lack of public confidence."

The governor declared: "I call on every citizen and official of the state to join in a crusade for honesty, integrity and better law enforcement."

Daniel said an important weapon in the crusade for clean government "is the establishment by the Legislature of a nonpolitical, nonpartisan state law enforcement commission to investigate alleged misconduct in state government and means of improving law enforcement and crime prevention."

Dishonesty Exception

He continued: "The spotlight of truth and strict law enforcement are the surest means of preventing violations of the law and showing the world that dishonesty is the exception rather than the rule in Texas government."

"Texas is being damaged equally as much by the dishonesty and exaggerated accounts of official conduct by political demagogues and out-of-state publications. For selfish interests they thrive on making people believe that isolated instances of corruption are typical of state government rather than the exception, but they too can be exposed if the few wrongdoers are so well investigated and punished that they are easily distinguished from the overwhelming majority of honest public officials."

Plenty of Work

"There is enough to be done in our state to keep legislative committees and a state law enforcement commission busy. The committees are now working diligently, but they simply do not have the time to go into all matters which need investigation and at the same time continue the regular work of the session."

"If the state law enforcement commission were in existence today, the House of Representatives could refer to it completion of investigation of all the collateral matters which have arisen in the Cox case, such as the acid throwing attack, actions of naturopath lobbyists in previous sessions, and other matters not directly concerned with the specific charges against Mr. Cox.

"Also, instead of both a House and Senate investigating committee working during the session on the ICT insurance failure, the Legislature could refer this entire matter to the state law enforcement commission for investigation and report."

Emergency Label

The legislation was given an emergency label by Daniel in his January 17 message to the Legislature. The same designation and recommendation was given legislation for a strict lobby registration act, a code of conduct for state officials and employees, and registration of those who represent others before state agencies.

Daniel also pledged his full support to the good government bills backed by the Texas Press Association.

Bill Introduced

The state law enforcement commission bill was introduced in the house this week by Representatives R. H. Cory of Victoria, J. E. Winfree of Houston and many others. The bill was drawn by the governor and his staff and Attorney General Will Wilson and his staff.

The commission would be composed of a grand juror from each of the 11 court of civil appeals districts, selected at district meetings of county grand jury foremen. A twelfth member, the chairman, would be appointed by the chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court and would be a person of previous judicial experience.

Reports Made

The commission would be required to report its findings to the governor, the Legislature, and local grand juries.

"The commission is necessary to study means of crime prevention and the improvement of the enforcement of criminal laws," Daniel said. "Major crimes in Texas last year increased 39% since 1950, while our population increased only 22%."

"Our prison population has increased over 80% since 1947, nearly four times as fast as our population increase. Texas continues to rank above the national average in the increase of major crimes, and it is time for us to do something about it."

"This is a job not only for state officials, but for cooperation of local officials and every citizen who is interested in preserving the good name of Texas and protecting the lives and futures of our people."

Guests last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Hord were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Collins of Dexter, New Mexico, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wright of Roscoe.

Mrs. J. R. Thompson spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Garland Swan, Mr. Swan and children of Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Moore and Angela of Fort Worth spent the week end with Mr. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Moore.

Guests Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Meeks were Mrs. Meeks' uncle, Albert Thomas, of Post, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Saage.

Mrs. E. L. Phillips and T. C. spent Sunday with Mrs. Phillips' sons, Mat Phillips, and Mrs. Phillips, and O. C. Phillips of Plainview.

FIRST IN THE NATION—The first commercial-sized, breeder-reactor atomic power plant is gradually shaping up in Monroe, Mich. Shown is the foundation for the atomic reactor building, the dome-shaped unit which will provide the energy for the Enrico Fermi plant. Located at the bottom of a 56-foot excavation, the foundation itself is 20 feet deep and 87 feet across. The breeding process, scientists say, will extend the supply of atomic fuel to outlast the reserves of fossil fuels more than 50 times.

Reserve Program Changes in Effect April 1; Broaden Choice of Selection

Better sweet potatoes are expected to grace South Plains tables because of Texas Tech research.

In experiments by the horticulture and food and nutrition departments, 15 varieties of sweet potatoes have been grown and cooked for three consecutive years. The improvements are determined by experimental cookery tests made during the study.

Dr. George Elle, professor of horticulture, is studying sweet potato varieties from the producers' point of view, while Dr. Mina Lamb, food and nutrition department head, checks on qualities of importance to the consumer.

Cooking tests have been made by experimental cookery students, Miss Opal Wood, an instructor in food and nutrition, and Dr. Lamb in an effort to determine which varieties will be most acceptable to local consumer use.

"The first year we cooked sweet potatoes by every conceivable method described in cookbooks, including deep-fat frying, pan frying, sweet potato pies, and casseroles made from stewed and baked sweet potatoes," Dr. Lamb said.

"Experimental cookery students rated stewed and fried sweet potatoes of low acceptability," she added. They considered the cooking quality of sweet potatoes to be entirely visible in the standard baked version. Consequently, baking has become the standard procedure for judging cooking qualities of the sweet potatoes.

Rating sheets are used to determine the consumer acceptability of the varieties, which are judged on general appearance, including smoothness of the skin, and the effect of size and shape upon cooking time.

Interior qualities are based upon the looseness of the skin after the potato is baked, the color, moistness, and freedom from strings.

Dr. Lamb says, "In testing for strings, we run a dull knife through the potato crosswise and note the number and length of the strings which cling to the knife." This test can be made by the housewife in her kitchen.

Sweetness, flavor, smoothness of the cooked potato, and aroma are also considered by the cookery class in rating the varieties. Dr. Lamb, explains that, "The aroma of a sweet potato should be slightly earthy and the expected color in Texas is a deep rich bronze or yellow."

Results of the three year test are being compiled at present. The detailed results will be presented later for the use of both producers and consumers.

The sweet potato project is being coordinated through Tech's Office of Research, headed by Dr. Sylvan J. Kaplan. The Office serves as a center of information on projects at Tech and other colleges and universities throughout the nation.

The Office also is available for counsel with Tech researchers on possible projects.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By—Vern Sanford
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, Tex.—After five weeks of headline making, three Legislative investigating committees still are busy.

House committee looking into ICT's failure was to run until April 1; Senate committee to April 10.

Recent additions to the committees' massive records:

1. Several former ICT directors denied having signed a document wiping out a $900,000 debt owed ICT by Jack Cage and Co. Shown photostat of such a document, they said it was not the instrument they signed.

2. Leaders in the Texas Federation of Labor called Ben Jack Cage, former manager of ICT, a "scoundrel." Union members had invested millions in the company.

3. A number of union members and officials told how they were paid by Cage to help advance the cause of ICT among labor members. One said he thought he was paid to keep to himself his belief that Cage was a "crook."

4. Max Wayne Rychlik, son-in-law of former Insurance Commission Chairman Garland Smith, remembered an additional $9,800 he had received from a Ben Jack Cage affiliate. It made a total of $18,200 paid Rychlik for his "job" without work.

5. House members investigating bribery charges questioned the former executive secretary of the Texas Naturopathic Association. But Albert D. Brown, who was with the organization back in 1955, could give only estimates and guesses on how TNA had spent some $20,000 raised during the last session for "legislative education."

6. John McCully, labor union employee, had a difficult time accounting for his expenditures of union funds. In his operation of the union's publicity office, the Action Agency in Austin, he "accidentally" dropped a few political advertising bills into ICT files.

BIG PUSH—Legislators face a killing pace for the next few weeks if they are to finish session in 120 days.

After that point, their pay ceases. Time is almost two-thirds gone. Multiple investigations have diverted a lot of time and energy. Important bills are stacked up.

But a major milestone—passage of the general appropriations bill—is in sight. Senate committee approved it for floor action this week. House already has passed it.

Senate committee's version differs slightly. It includes a 10 per cent raise for lower-bracket state employees, 15 per cent for college teachers.

Wrapping up the big money bill will put the session over the hump in the minds of most members.

Meanwhile, both houses are hacking at the small stuff. Special sessions have turned out local and uncontested bills at the rate of one a minute.

CODE OF ETHICS—Scandals and investigations put new impetus behind the administration-backed drive for a code of ethics and lobby registration act.

But it hasn't made the subject much easier to agree on than in previous sessions. Objectors claimed it isn't possible to pass a law making people honest.

House, nevertheless, passed a bill to third reading. It would require registration of persons paid to appear before state agencies. Officials would be prohibited from using their public office for private gain, accepting gifts, favors or services that might influence official action, etc.

Sponsors fought off an attempted amendment requiring officials to file a written statement of their earnings from all sources.

DELAY GRANTED—Physicians Life and Accident Ins. Co. has until April 11 to present a more favorable picture to the Insurance Commission.

Commission's show cause order alleged the firm's capital was impaired. Former Gov. Coke Stevenson, head of the company, said the management is "making progress" toward recovery of needed funds. He asked and was granted more time to prepare the case before the Commission.

DEPOSITORS DENIED PREFERENCE—US Trust and Guaranty Co. creditors will have to "share and share alike."

At least that is the decision of Austin Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts. Depositors had brought suit asking for first claim. Several contended the company's advertising, by Drew Pearson, led them to believe their funds were being held "in trust."

US Trust went bankrupt more than a year ago. Assets salvaged by the liquidator total a little more than $2,000,000. Claims against it add up to nearly $7,000,000.

Distribution of these assets may be held up further if depositors decide to appeal.

UTILITIES CONTEST—Private and cooperative utilities have moved the arena of their chronic combat from courts to Legislature.

A recent Supreme Court decision held that a co-op could continue to serve customers in an area annexed by a city but could not add customers in that area.

Co-ops are working for passage of a bill that would give them this right of expansion. It provoked hot debate before a Senate committee.

Private power company spokesmen said the co-ops were trying to go far beyond the original concept of the rural electrification program. Co-op attorney contended present restrictions would mean "slow death" to REA.

Bill was sent to subcommittee to work out compromise.

WATER BILLS MOVE—Piece by piece, the mammoth water conservation program is moving forward.

Key feature, the $200,000,000 bond program to help finance local conservation projects, went to joint conference committee for final adjustments.

Senate committee gave approval to the next big item, another $200,000,000 bond issue. This would be used to buy water storage space in federal dams. Committee also approved a bill which would allow use of public storm and flood waters to recharge underground reservoirs.

NEW YOUTH AGENCY—Creation of a state youth authority has received Senate committee approval.

New authority would have charge of the state's three training schools at Gatesville, Gainesville and Crockett. It would replace the present State Youth Development Council.

EGG PROFIT OPPORTUNITY

The United States Dept. of Agriculture reports:

- Chicks started in Jan.-Feb. were 26% less than last year.
- Eggs in incubators for March hatch were 26% less than last year.

This foretells a tremendous shortage of fall pullets and . . . high egg prices next fall and winter!

How You Can Benefit

1. Raise your usual number of chicks, but start them now to get early eggs when prices should be highest.
2. If you're thinking about commercial egg production, now is the time to start.
3. See us for chicks now. We can supply good ones right away.
4. If you've already started chicks, be sure to grow them right for lots of eggs this fall. Our Purina Growing Program helps put good pullets in the nest.

How to view TV . . . Our friends often ask us what is the right size set for them and where to place it. Well, one depends on the other. The size of the room and the sets position determines to a great extent what size screen you should buy. A 21 inch set may be just as bad for your home as a 10 inch. Here's a hint. For best viewing, . . . set at approximately 5 to 7 times the height of your screen. Another Hint: If you want top quality service on your set call us. We're proud of our highly trained technicians and our prices are right.

"That proves it to me... the J-2 Rocket is like two engines in one!"

HE: Right! This J-2 Rocket* is really a new driving experience!

FRIEND: Well, I've handled a Rocket Engine before, but nothing like this. They've always had pep, but this one's got that extra pep when you need it!

HE: Don't forget economy.

FRIEND: Yes, but you can't feel economy.

HE: Feels pretty good to the pocketbook.

FRIEND: Right! But it beats me how you get economy with a big car like Olds.

HE: Easy. For cruising around, you just use one dual-barrel carburetor.

FRIEND: Bet that waters down your performance some.

HE: Not a bit. I've got regular Rocket performance right through the economy range. And believe me, that's plenty. But if you need more power . . .

FRIEND: Then what?

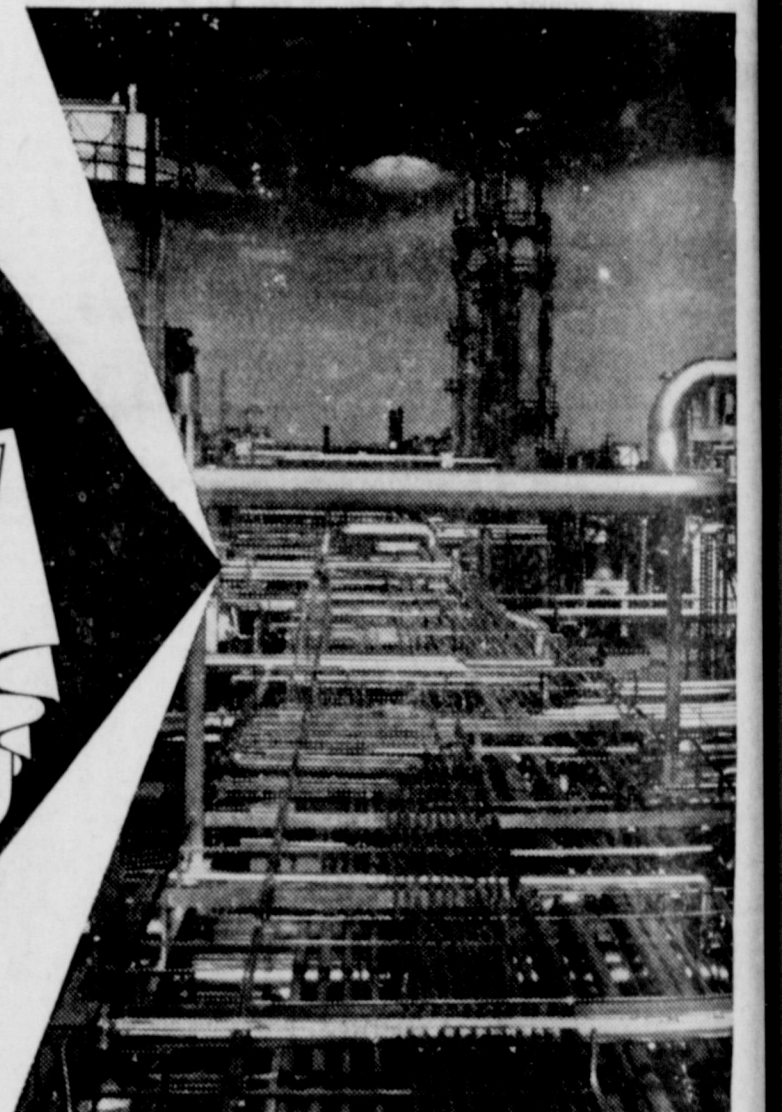

HE: Go to Stage Two. You just saw what that does. Give it three-quarters throttle and you've got three dual carburetors dishing up more power and torque.

FRIEND: Tell you the truth, I've always liked an Olds. Thought we might get one ourselves some day.

HE: Checked the price lately? You'd be surprised how easy it is to own.

Farm Workers' Coverage Under Social Security Changed by Recent Rulings

Rules covering farm workers under social security changed beginning in January, 1957. Mr. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock social security office, said recently. Changes are included in recent amendments to the Social Security Act.

"If a farm employer pays a farm worker $150 or more in cash during 1957, the cash pay is covered by the law," Hutton said.

"Also, if the worker fails to earn as much as $150 cash pay from a farm employer, but works for that employer on 20 or more days in time basis rather than on a piece-1957 for cash pay figured on a rate basis, the pay is covered."

The total number of days worked and the manner of figuring the pay do not count if the worker meets the $150 per year test.

Farm employers are required to keep accurate records of the amounts paid to farm workers who will meet either the wage or time test during the year.

Representatives from the Lubbock social security office will be in Slaton at 9 a. m. Friday, April 5, in the Red Cross room at Slaton City Hall.

R. J. Schuette and Victor Heinrich spent several days last week in Schulenburg.

This Week in AUSTIN

by Senator Preston Smith

How does the Governor react to recent scandals in state government?

He thinks there will be more shocks and disappointments on the part of all Texans before the current "cleanup activities" are finished.

He has publicly warned the state that more is coming but did not give any idea about what to look for in the way of new scandals.

"There will be some convictions and punishments meted out when some of these cases reach court," he said.

The Governor's recommendations for progress and good government include:

1. A lobby registration law.
2. A code of conduct for state officials, legislators and employees.
3. A law requiring registration of all persons who practice for pay before state agencies.
4. A complete reorganization of the Texas Insurance Commission.
5. Establishment of a State Law Enforcement Commission.

There are other recommendations, including establishment of a paid parole and probation system; revision of narcotics law; expansion of the Youth Development Council in an effort to curb juvenile delinquency.

The Governor's attitude toward recent scandals seems to indicate there's going to be more house cleaning. But he also points out that of 40,000 persons on the state payroll, scandal or the hint of dishonesty has touched only a few.

All around the capitol a new desire seems to be growing. Legislators and employees alike are seeking ways to help restore the public's confidence in state government, and some think that the Governor's proposals may offer the answer.

IT'S THE LAW in Texas

A public service feature of the State Bar of Texas

"NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS"

The average person does not often use the term "negotiable instruments" in his everyday conversation, and the words may not mean much to him. Actually, it is just a mouth-filling term used in law to describe certain important pieces of paper that we normally call by simpler names.

Even though we seldom use the words, we deal with negotiable instruments all the time. Every check we write to pay the gas bill is a negotiable instrument, and so is your paycheck or pension check. The note you sign to buy a new car, the money order you purchase at the bank or post office, or the traveler's checks you take with you on a trip instead of cash, are negotiable instruments.

It was all started by merchants who had to send large sums of gold or currency between cities or nations. They worked out a way to exchange money, or the value of money, by written messages, much of the time through a third party like a broker or bank. But when you deal in pieces of negotiable paper instead of hard money, there have to be certain standards and safeguards or the paper could lose its value.

Consequently, there developed a whole system of laws within nations and between nations, upon which all our business rests. Through the courts, if necessary, the owners of negotiable instruments may enforce the terms written on the paper.

In the United States things used to be confusing some times because of different state laws, but by 1924 all 48 states had adopted a uniform negotiable instrument law which sets up the same rules nationwide.

Since so-called negotiable instruments are so important, since they are ordinarily just like money in many ways, since they often are used like money, or are sold to other persons or companies, and since there are special laws defining the ins-and-outs of negotiable instruments which we wouldn't ordinarily have any reason to know about, there are one or two simple rules we should follow:

We should make certain we read what's on the paper, that we know what the words mean, and what the penalties and dangers may be, before signing our name.

Remember: You are the only person in the world with that signature, and the courts as a rule, must take your signed promises at their face value.

(This column, prepared by the state bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

Lubbock Christian College Construction Begin Soon; School To Open in Fall

Approximately $750,000 subscribed to the Lubbock Christian College Development work will soon begin on construction of the first building. It is estimated that the new school will be located on a 160-acre site in Lubbock on Street just west of Chicago.

Administration Building
... Lubbock Christian College ...

4-Story Tower
The building will be 350 feet high with a four-story tower area which will house five levels of book stacks. It will also contain the Administrative offices of the school, a dining room sufficiently large to accommodate 300 students at a chapel and study, and 17 classrooms and laboratories. Seven hundred students can be accommodated.

The school will open next September at which time registrations will be made. It is estimated that the population this fall will be 200 with an increase by 1958 to 500 and it is predicted that within ten years students will be in attendance.

Deans, Registrar
The men with Ph. D. degrees have been employed in administrative capacities as the two deans and registrar beginning this fall. The twenty additional faculty members have been employed and all will hold an MA degree.

Approximately $500,000 was raised by the membership of the Churches of Christ in Lubbock. At the present time a solicitation is being made of the membership of the Churches throughout West Texas and the eastern section of New Mexico. $250,000 has already been subscribed in these areas.

Churches with the program only about 30 per cent complete. It is felt that this phase of the campaign will produce in the neighborhood of $600,000.

A campaign is now being organized for an additional $500,000 among business and industry in Lubbock making a total goal of the campaign effort of $1,500,000. As soon as the additional money is available, two dormitories, a gym, and a student center will be erected.

Temporary buildings have already been moved on the site with full assurance that the school will open this fall.

FROM WARM SPRINGS FACT AND FANCY

by Walter H. Richter

(Wherein the director of public relations at the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation tells of Texas' own physical rehab center and also throws in a little tongue-in-cheek palaver for which, incidentally, the management is not responsible.)

I have been aware for some time of the fact that it is fashionable in the business world to be able to boast of having one or more ulcers. Preferably more.

Recently I heard the vice-president of one rather large concern state that one cannot really be considered successful until one has had his third ulcer. He tried to make the remark seem facetious, but the pride that he felt from having personally made the grade showed through.

Of course, the man who is really and truly the envy of the solid gold Cadillac set is one whose insides are literally riddled with ulcers. His standard witicism is the declaration, "Why, even my ulcers have ulcers!" This is always good for a chuckle, albeit somewhat forced from the envious one and two-ulcer bearers.

But just you wait, when and if they finally make the grade, they too will use this same hilarious remark.

You may be interested to know that I have recently made a survey of the ulcer situation, which is something I feel every ambitious young businessman should do. After all, a Boy Scout doesn't work toward a merit badge without knowing what is involved.

It is heartening to learn that there are well over 100 different types of ulcers, so hardly anyone who has been in business five or more years could possibly have any real good excuse for not having at least one of these variations. For example, there are traumatic ulcers, endemic ulcers, peptic ulcers, perforating ulcers, and even perambulating ulcers.

There are also constitutional ulcers which I imagine it would be rather jolly to have. Patriotic, too.

Well, I'm definitely going to see if something can't be done to get a little recognition for those of us who haven't quite managed an ulcer but who are surely on the way. We ought to get a small something or other for trying.

The "warm springs" which give the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation its name are the result of an unsuccessful oil exploration that the drillers must have felt would have, no doubt, been considerably minimized had they realized the humanitarian use which would later be made of their discovery.

Flowing at 200,000 gallons per day, the water is piped to three treatment pools through gravity flow, and here the therapists are able to help the patients find new strengths and new hope. The water, which comes out at 106 degrees, can through rate of flow be kept at body temperature in the pools, which is considered ideal for treatment.

The water in itself does not have medicinal or curative powers.

Electricity Works For Sorenson From Egg to Egg

VETERAN POULTRYMAN PREDICTS BRIGHT FUTURE FOR EGG PRODUCERS.

From egg to egg electrically defines the success of Nels Sorenson, pioneer hatcheryman and egg producer, Amarillo area.

Nels entered the poultry industry when it was "egg money" for the farm housewife. Through 36 years in the poultry industry, he has developed many electric applications for profitable and efficient chicken and egg production.

He depends on electricity to incubate the eggs, brood the chicks, warm the water, operate an automatic feeder, and provide 14 hours of light per day and egg refrigeration. In addition, Sorenson employs Reddy Kilowatt to grind and mix his feed, pump his water, and keep water pipes thawed. The veteran poultryman's electric operation is coupled with strict sanitation practices and a mandatory vaccination program.

Sorenson's poultry raising activities have progressed from selling hatching eggs to being one of the major egg and chicken producers in the area. His thermostatically controlled incubators can hatch 9000 eggs per week, and he has space in his electric battery brooders for 15,000 chicks.

Sorenson is optimistic about the egg picture despite the current low price in eggs. He bases his favorable outlook on the reduction in the number of chicks put down this spring.

"Seventeen percent less laying pullets are being put down in the Southwest than a year ago, Sorenson remarked, "and it indicates a high egg market next fall and winter."

From electric incubator to electric home where the future laying hens will live for the next three weeks. Sorenson's loss during this brooding is less than 1/4 of 1%.

Controlled breeding and electric incubation gives Nels Sorenson an 87 to 90% hatch. Picture shows him examining and counting one of his bi-weekly hatches.

FISHING AND HUNTING AUTHORITY

Just took a quick look at today's outboard motor ownership figures, compared to 5 years ago. In 1951 there were about 1 million outboards in use. Today—million. We're going amphib!

A bulletin from Bruck Tackle tells us that their Lucky Barb hooks are now available at most sporting good stores... We've talked to several men who've tried the new Heilite ultralight camping trailer (it fits up into a tent in 1 minute!) and they say it's a honey... National Wide Sportsman has a new one called The Nipple Dipper. They claim fishermen will snap up a starving bass going after it.

Did you know you can sleep four comfortably in the new Nimrod Camper. Sturdy steel, sets up in 4 minutes... What's an evening campfire without a good can of beer? That's why it makes sense to pack a couple of dozen of Miller's High Life in your kit... Sunset's new "Starlite" fly line was especially created for evening risers. It's completely non-sinkable and luminous in the dark, they say.

From the interesting facts department, Alcoa says that every third day is a Playday in the USA. That's right... with holidays, weekends, and vacations, the average American has 121 days of leisure every year.

Tobacco, the Indians used to say, is good for fishing. They would sprinkle it around for good luck. But the best place for it, Model and Old Briar remind us, is right in your pipe.

Langley's super spinners, they tell us, give more casts per hour and catch more fish per strike. Their 822GB model weighs only 8 ounces... Ever get your gun wet while hunting? Civilian Employee Strength at Reese Air Force Base Cut; 68 Jobs Deleted

Reese Air Force Base has been directed to reduce its civilian manpower by 68 spaces. This is necessary to meet proposed manpower ceilings.

As reported in the March 9 issue of Air Force Times, the strength cuts will reduce total Air Force civilian rolls by over 10,000 by June 1958. Peak civilian strength last October was 354,000. With the new cuts, it will trim to about 345,000 by this June. Thereafter, the limits will depend on a number of factors, including budget limitations, but the planned strength for June 1958 is about 341,000.

Normal Cut-Downs
The Air Force has directed the reduction to be made by realized normal attrition as far as possible. This means simply not filling spaces left by employees who retire, quit, or leave for other reasons. When attrition does not suffice, some forced reductions will be made.

Officials could not say what types of employees would be removed in the cutback. However, when attrition does not meet the ordered reduction, the usual procedure is to reduce in the least critical skilled positions.

Relocation Efforts
Of the 25 people who will be given final notice, all possible effort will be made to relocate them on both federal and private industry. Specific notices will be given employees affected not later than the middle of April 1957. Civilian regulations require not less than 30 days notice be given employees who may be separated or reassigned and the final action must be based on the employees' rights under retention preference regulations.

Proportional allocations of civilian losses have been given commanders and staff section heads who will decide on a functional priority basis those civilian positions which can be released. In an effort to find employment for those employees who are released under this reduction in force, the civilian personnel division will contact other federal and private industry in this area for vacancies which might be filled by those released at Reese AFB.

A NEW TWIST FOR SUBURBIA—The daily trip from home to office and back may be made in a plastic flying saucer of this type by 1965. Designed to make any back yard an airport, as shown in this sketch from Mechanix Illustrated Magazine, the proposed craft would take off and land vertically by means of a ducted fan drawing in air and expelling it in a powerful jet. The pusher-type propeller would provide a 165-mile-per-hour cruising speed.

FIVE THOUSAND TIMES FIRST—Jockey Johnny Longtin astride "Bente," returns from the finish line at the Santa Anita race track in California recently, after riding his 5,000th winner, the most in history. The 47-year-old jockey achieved his mark after riding in more than 25,000 races over a 30-year span. He has won over 16 million dollars in purses, accounting for his "Mr. Moneybags" nickname.
