The first bale of cotton raised in Lynn County this year was ginned at the Farmer's Cooperative gin in Tahoka Tuesday. It was raised by K. E. Williams on his farm six miles east and 4 1/2 miles south of Tahoka and was gathered from about 15 acres of land. The seed cotton weighed 2,000 pounds, and the bale of lint cotton tipped the scales at 533 pounds.

Hockley county may in the near future acquire and maintain a number of county parks.

In order to better care for the G. I. boys who desire vocational education and training, an Amarillo Army Airfield building was recently bought and moved to lots out on West Lockwood Street, better known as the Brownfield Highway, and the building is being reconditioned and converted into a model vocational education building.

The building as it now stands, though a substantial one, is not at all attractive, but it will be very attractive, according to Mrs. Lenore M. Tunnell, Lynn County Vocational Education administrator, when it is completed and decorated.

Fogging Machine To Be Here Today

Mayor L. B. Wootton is asking that householders in Slaton open all doors and expose all covered places on Friday, (today), Sept. 10, in preparation for the DDT Fogging Machine, which is scheduled to be here at that time. The machine has been broken down and has not been available for some time. Flies and other insects have been increasing and it is hoped that this condition will be improved after Friday.

It is believed that flies carry polio and therefore, it behooves every citizen of Slaton to co-operate in this clean-up effort. The fogging machine is very effective when prices are opened up to receive it.

New Garbage Truck Put In Commission

The City of Slaton Sanitary Department put a new Garwood Packer Garbage truck into operation this week and will more than double their capacity for handling garbage for the community. The new truck is in addition to the trucks that have been used for this purpose.

According to Mayor Wootton the new truck is the best of its kind available and carries a larger load than the ordinary trucks that have heretofore been used by the sanitary department. Not only can it be easily loaded and unloaded but the garbage is packed so that it does not blow away in transit.

"It's a big improvement," said the Mayor.

Mrs. Louis Mosser left Tuesday for Carlsbad, N. M., to visit her daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton, and will also attend the wedding of her nephew, Alfred Walterschied.

Over the Wire

Construction of the new V.F.W. building was started this week and if things go well it should be completed before the first of the year. Construction is also moving rapidly on the E. R. Legg home on West Lubbock Street and the foundation has been laid for a Knights of Columbus Club building that will be built out near the Mercy Hospital. All of these buildings including Mr. Legg's home will be constructed of stone blocks.

Considerable traffic is being done in real estate in Slaton and there are more homes under construction than there have been since long before the war started.

Three hundred and forty two dollars was presented to J. C. Smith and Elton Smith last Saturday afternoon by W. R. Sewell as Master of Ceremonies at the Grand Stand at the City Hall as a prize for bringing into Slaton the first bale of cotton for 1948. Slaton lost the first round of the Oil Belt League play offs to Sundown last Sunday by the score of 14 to 8. It was a very loosely played game as far as Slaton was concerned. Slaton committed more errors than any game that they have played this year. Although Slaton out hit the Oilers they could not keep from making errors when it hurt the worst. The most damage was done when Mgr. McCoy playing in left field dropped a fly that let two runs come in when it should have been the third out.

Sundown scored 3 runs in the second inning on 3 hits and a walk off Ed Altman. Slaton came right back in the bottom half of the second to tie the game up when Whistle Banks led off with a home run then Reiger doubled and Altman looked at two pitches and hit one over the fence for a home run. Sundown came back in the third to score 5 more runs with 4 hits and two errors. Slaton got a run in the third and 3 in the fourth and that was all of the scoring until the 8th when D. Altman hitting for Gray got a double and Bunky Gains hitting for Moyer got a double to bring in Altman to tie up the game. In the ninth the bottom fell out for Slaton and the Oilers scored 6 runs on one hit. Banks who came in on the 5th with two on and no outs retired the side in order and only gave up three hits the rest of the way.

This Sunday Slaton will go to Sundown and Banks will probably be the starting pitcher and if Slaton should win a night game will be played some time next week.

The Line score:
Slaton 035 000 006—14 12 4
Sundown 031 300 010—8 15 6

Batteries: Altman, Banks, Dill-Brown, Wright, Joiner, Carpenter.

By wide margins some 10,000 students voted speeding and clowning as their worst driving sins. Shenanigans like the one in the Chevrolet cabriolet above are an illustration. Look, Ma, no hands! WHEN TO HOUSE THOSE PULLETS

There are as many shades of poultry-raising as there are sections of this vast country, so when it comes to a question such as "When should pullets be housed?" there is no pat answer. The time at which the pullet flock should be selected and placed in the laying-house varies according to climate and season.

However, there is one pretty stable rule to go by in housing pullets, and that is — confine them before their rate of production hits 10%. This way, production is not upset by the act of housing, whereas, if you wait longer to put them in, you may have a little trouble getting production going. So when you see some eggs on the pullet range each day, it's time to think of housing.

Select Flock Carefully

Of course, only the well developed pullets will be laying eggs on the range. Since most flocks vary considerably among individual birds, it is usually a good idea to do some careful selection in making up the laying flock. If your pullets vary between well-developed and slow-maturing birds, choose only the former for your laying flock. Leave the slower birds on the range for a while longer, or market them immediately, according to your best judgment.

In selecting pullets for a laying flock, observe such characteristics of good layers as: a rather square, not-too-long head; well-developed comb, with good color; long, broad back; long keel bone; and plenty of depth of body.

Poor pullets usually are the opposite in characteristics, having long, "crow" heads, underdeveloped combs, and a short back and keel bone. They usually are very shallow of body.

Cull Constantly

There is ample opportunity for further paring of the flock; after the birds have been housed, of course. Constant culling should be practiced by the poultry-raiser; this means that nonproductive birds should be weeded out throughout the laying-house season. However, this opportunity should not be abused by allowing a high percentage of poor pullets to be housed with the good ones. Keeping poor stock in the flock at any time merely drags down the quality of the whole — and costs the raiser money.

Once you have decided against a bird, better get rid of her!

The huge Cole Brothers Circus, one of the world's biggest shows, is coming to Lubbock, Wednesday, September 15.

The big show will come to East Broadway aboard two special trains, loaded with spangleland stars and features, a huge menagerie tent housing a vast collection of rare and costly jungle beasts, and a big double sideshow Annex replete with human oddities and weird people from all parts of the world, including Major Mite, the smallest man on earth.

Performances are given twice daily starting at 2:15 and 8 p. m. with the gates opening at 1:15 and 7 p. m.

Nearly 1,000 people are listed under the Cole Brothers' banners this season — a season marked by the best circus program in many years. With additional railroad cars, which means more people, more horses and animals and more equipment than ever before, the Big Show offers circus patrons what is said to be the most outstanding circus performance in America this year.

The performances presented in three massive rings, two stages, the upper-reaches of the gigantic big top, and around the great hippodrome track, open with a gorgeously produced super-spectacle, "Ponce De Leon And The Fountain Of Youth," in which great masses of people and animals take part.

For your information, William's Funeral Home WILL upon presentation HONOR any Burial or Life Insurance Policies by any and all Companies, allowing you the full, complete value thereof on the services rendered by us.

All Burial Insurance Companies are governed by the same laws under the supervision of the Texas State Board of Insurance Commissions. It is our policy to solicit Burial Insurance only in our own area. However, West Texas Burial Policy holders have full cash value protection anywhere, with prompt payment.

FRAMING YOUR PICTURES ADDS INTEREST

As in any form of art, what you say in a photograph and how you say it are equally important. Many pictures fail because an interesting subject is handled in a dull way. And conversely, a dull subject can often be improved by the way the photographer handles it.

Today's illustration is a case in point. There is little exciting about some men and boys lounging on a dock. Yet the use of a ship's hawse-hole to frame the picture, plus the addition of the small boats on the tide flat makes an interesting composition of the scene.

Notice in magazines and newspapers how often some foreground object is used to frame a picture. It adds depth to the scene and seems to hold the various elements together. Most important, it enables the viewer to locate himself in relation to the subject.

For scenic pictures, a tree with high branches, the arch of a bridge or even a person looking at the view from the foreground, can serve as a frame. Windows, doorways, an umbrella and many other objects can be used effectively.

Train yourself to look for natural frames when you plan a picture. Make sure it is not an object that will fight for attention with the main subject and be sure it is placed in a subordinate position. With a little experience you will develop a feeling for good framing prospects. And you will be delighted with the way they put snap in your photographs.

trees are right here at home. To sit underneath a shady tree and day dream about catching fish is one of the best past times one can think of and you catch so much bigger fish this way.

Folks get into some mighty sloppy habits, one of mine is not tying my shoe strings when I get up in the morning. It is a lot of trouble to stoop over a big bulge to get the job done and in the evenings I can kick my shoes off with very little effort if they are not tied on.

It is mighty comfortable to sit in ones sock feet on the front porch and listen to the neighbors cut their grass especially when one reaches the age where popular opinion makes little difference any more.

A lot of women go around their homes in their stocking feet or bare footed and I believe women have a lot more fun than the men. They can dress sloppy as they please in the morning and for a change put on the best they have in the evening while most men do well to have two suits of clothes and they wear the same kind of clothes most of the time. No variety, and its no wonder that we find it a relief to go home and slip off our shoes and let the air blow through our toes, however most of the other men I know do go to the trouble of tying their shoe laces.

Do you read the advertisements in the paper? A lot of folks seem to feel that they should be ashamed to admit that they do. Admitting that some advertising is misleading and that in the past a lot of advertisers have taken advantage of the public, I still believe it pays to read the advertisements in most reputable publications.

The merchants in Slaton who use this paper to tell of their merchandise always do their best to stick strictly to the truth and when they say that they have received new merchandise or are offering reduced prices you can depend upon it they are telling the truth. You will quite often find interesting news in the advertising in the Slatonite. Read it.

Most every one who is in position to know say that Slaton will have a good football team this season, perhaps the best in this conference. The boys will be encouraged by the support of the local fans and you will likely get the most for your money this year so be sure to attend the first home game of the season, Friday, September 17, and it would not be a bad idea to be in Floydada to night when the Tigers play the Floydada boys.

JUST TALK
A.M.J.

A couple of weeks ago I reported that a man in Post by the name of Powers, had subscribed to the Slatonite and that he had spelled the name of the Slaton paper "Slatonite". This week I got a letter from Mr. Power and he got even with me by calling my attention to the fact that his name is Power and not Powers, a fact that I should have noticed as he wrote his letter on a printed letter-head.

To Mr. Power I apologize and I'll leave it to him to make peace with Mrs. Bryan Williams, who he refers to as the former "Minnie Will Wooten." Tut, tut, Mr. Power, our local Mayor spells his name "Wooton," not "Wooten." Mrs. Williams is his daughter.

Things like this are what cause newspaper men to grow old early, seem scared of their shadow and have to take soda and aspirin every few minutes.

L. W. Smith was in the office last week and he reported that a good many counterfeit bills have been floating around in Lubbock. When one stops to think it would be easy for counterfeit money to be passed for most people pay very little attention to the money they receive. Mr. Smith said that the hot money is in ten dollar bills which is in a higher class than I usually deal. One spots with an occasional five is my speed.

During the war and until recently every one who came into our office had twenty dollar bills to be changed and it kept us hustling to make change but now those who come in scrape the bottom of their pockets and quite often give us pennies when they buy things.

While there are many things I believe could be improved in the products that the Public Schools turn out I will give credit to the High School youngsters for being good typists. Many of them who have worked at odd times for me could not spell any better than I can, which is very low grade spelling, and most of them cannot add as well as I can, which is mighty loose work, but I have not found one yet who could not sit down at a typewriter and make it hum.

Whether all of them can make a good living writing on a typewriter or will have to make two and two come some where near equaling four, I do not know, but I have hopes for most of them, such as Joyce Pember, to make a successful marriage or to learn to model clothes, be a stenographer or as Joyce said, she would like to be a food technician in a Hospital. If she learns how to cook I'm betting on the first proposition.

Nearly every one I talk to seems to think that conditions will change soon after the Presidential election and most of them seem to feel that prices are due for a tumble but I don't think the Republicans are planning on throwing things into a tail spin for some time after they get into power. Of course Dewey has not been elected yet, and nothing is certain but death and taxes, but even if he, by some fluke, should not get the job, Truman would be crossed up by a Republican Congress.

One thing that I do hope is that new conditions will give us better beef. The stringy, tasteless stuff we have been paying so much for is weakening my stamina.

Its not the price so much as the quality of the beef that is giving me the dots before my eyes. If there is such an over supply of corn I'd like to see a few ears of it fed to one of the old bulls I'm going to eat a part of next fall. It sure would be a treat to taste a real 1935 style steak again.

Most folks fail to take advantage of the little conveniences and pleasures that are provided for them. While a few of our folks have taken advantage of the Club House Park this summer most of us have not entered its grounds.

A great many people go to a lot of expense and spend a lot of time going to far away places where they can sit under a few scraggly pine trees when a better climate and some fairly shady

A special, added ingredient in Nth oil (Patented) fastens extra lubricant magnet-like to your engine's working parts. So strongly is this extra film attached to cylinder walls, it won't all drain down, even overnight!

That means your engine's fine-finished metal surfaces are extra-protected from corrosive combustion acids... from destructive "dry" friction starts. You're extra-protected, too, from power-clogging sludge and carbon.

"Husband" Is A Woman

OAKLAND, CALIF.—(Soundphoto)—Oakland police unwound a case of impersonation so perfect that they had to inform a 17-year old "wife" that she had been married for two years to a woman. Police Inspector Clarence Covill is shown (left) as he made this disclosure to Roberta Lawson Nelson. Strange tale was uncovered as police sought Robert Stewart Nelson (right), 25, part-time book-keeper at a wholesale grocery, believed to have absconded with $900 of company funds. Police say FBI records showed Nelson had posed as a man and husband since "her" marriage in 1946. Records also showed Nelson had been arrested in 1944 as a draft evader, but was released after examination showed she was a woman. Search for Nelson now is centered in the Los Angeles area.

Plow Under Cotton Stalks Immediately

COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 7.—The sooner Texas cotton farmers plow under their cotton stalks, the more weevils and pink bollworms will starve out and freeze during the winter. C. A. King, associate extension entomologist of Texas A. and M. College, says it's a job the cotton growers can make money on by doing it early. And it's something they'll have to do later on anyhow to have a good crop next year — without the insects.

It has been tried before. Let's take a look at the record. Since 1943, the Lower Rio Grande Valley has had cleanup campaigns ranging from very poor in the fall to excellent in early August. After a very poor cleanup in the fall of 1944, 51 percent of the squares on the following season's cotton were punctured by the boll weevil. But when they had an excellent cleanup in early August of 1946, only 3 percent of the squares were punctured the following season.

And up in Central Texas, Williamson county had a county-wide stalk cleanup program completed September 30 last year. This year on July 16, only 9 percent of the squares were punctured. A week later the county total was 12 percent punctured, and on July 23, there was a 27 percent puncture total.

Right next door, Milam county didn't have a county-wide stalk destruction campaign last year. This year a July 16 check showed 45 percent of the squares punctured, and on July 23, 59 percent had the tell-tale weevil holes. A week later, the county total amounted to 63 percent.

Those figures meant profits for Williamson county, but losses for Milam county. Besides killing the insects turning under the stalks makes your soil richer by returning organic matter to the soil and increasing next season's yields.

So the earlier you turn under the cotton stalks, the longer the starvation period will be, and the better the insect control next season, says King.

It works. Mr. and Mrs. Mack Klattenhoff, Mary Ann and Mackie, and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Wilke, Barbara and Donna, returned last Thursday from a camping trip in the Ft. Davis and Big Bend country. They report this one of the finest places for a vacation they have ever visited.

See this new Maytag Dutch Oven Gas Range

Cooks either automatically, or as a conventional gas range. Also gives you the never-equalled flavor and excellence of famed Dutch Oven cooking

As a conventional range, you'll find many important, modern improvements, such as the speedy, heat-focusing, gas-saving Spiral Flame burners. And you'll like the ease of cleaning; range top and burner bowls are stamped from one piece of gleaming white porcelain.

Large oven cooks automatically, or by usual methods. Dutch Oven method cooks a whole meal, automatically, while you're away. Heavy insulation holds heat in — keeps kitchen cool. Only Maytag Dutch Oven Gas Range automatically turns off the gas and keeps right on cooking.

Can Black-Draught Help That Headachy Feeling?

Yes, Black-Draught may help you when you feel lousy if the only reason you feel that way is because of constipation. Black-Draught, the friendly laxative, is usually prompt and thorough when taken as directed. It costs only a penny or less a dose. That's why it has been a best-seller with four generations. If you are troubled with such symptoms as loss of appetite, headache, upset stomach, flatulence, physical fatigue, sleeplessness, mental distress, bad breath—and if these symptoms are due only to constipation—try Black-Draught. From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

One Great American Trait

I always think it does a newspaper editor good to get out from behind his desk and see how folks in other parts of America look, and think, and act.

And that's what I've been doing these past weeks, touring the country from Michigan to Texas, California to Maine. It's a mighty encouraging experience. Not only because of the different points of view you run into—but because of the tolerance which reconciles those different points of view.

I mean the tolerance of a Pennsylvania farmer for the habits of his city cousin; the tolerance of folks who vote one way towards those who vote another; the tolerance of those who prefer spring water towards those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.

From where I sit, it's that great American trait of tolerance—respect for individual tastes and liberties—that makes this country strong. Let's never lose it!

What They Write

1200 Mitchell Street, Clovis, N. Mex., Sept. 6 1948.

Mr. A. M. Jackson, Slaton, Texas.

Dear Sir:

I am inclosing a check for $2.50 to pay for my subscription to the Slatonite another year.

I have been reading the Slatonite ever since it has been published and feel lost without it. I enjoy reading all of the news, the classified ads and get a big kick out of your column.

We have been living in Clovis three months, but Slaton is my headquarters and still my home.

Clovis is a very busy little city and they call it the "Gate Way."

We drove over to Tucumcari the 27th of August to take our daughter Leona and her girl friend, Miss Jennie Angel of Carthage, Tennessee, to catch the mail bus for Roy, N. M., where they will teach school another year. They say that New Mexico pays their school teachers better than some other states and they have an old fashion rule that when the children get a whipping at school, they get another one when they get home.

Tucumcari is a pretty town of about six or seven thousand population. Hi-way 66 is on the south side of the town and is lined with tourist camps, motels, filling stations and cafes. A few miles south of town you can see the Tucumcari mountain, from which the town got its name.

The Indian legend as told by Chief Geronimo is that: An old Apache chief named Wautonamah lived on the mountain with his beautiful daughter Kari. He chose two braves of his tribe as prospective husbands, and to follow him as chief — one Tocom, loved by the girl, the other Tonapon, whom she hated. The old chief suggested a duel with daggers for her hand. Kari overheard the plan, hid in the trees, and when Tonapon killed Tocom, rushed out, slew Tonapon and herself, falling across Tocom's body. Her father hearing the news, killed himself with her dagger crying, "Tocom-Kari."

The name is now called Tucumcari.

Yours truly,
John C. Burton.

Would you like to have a new Underwood Portable Typewriter. We have them at the Slatonite for $75.00.

A double-deck plane, it gives the passenger freedom of movement, which has never been available before. With lounge, bar, berths and chef-cooked meals, there is a stability about it in the air that completely relaxes the passenger.
