Way Back Yonder In 1940 In Slaton

Slaton is showing the effects of the campaign for whiskers for Slaton's Pioneer Day, and the "sights" on the streets are very reminiscent of the days when Slaton was populated by pioneers, railroad builders and folks moving west; the days when Slaton was founded, June 1911.

They also bring back the days of 1940 when a Rodeo was a feature attraction in Slaton and when the young fellows pictured above raised some facial adornments that must have frightened the visitors who came through town, and made the timid maidens of Slaton and this area, cringe.

Week's Question . . . . .

Majority Of Slatonites Favor Prospective Oil Activity Here

Each week the oil conversations seem to grow a little stronger. The closer the wells get to Slaton, the higher the enthusiasm soars. Some people say they wouldn't like to see Slaton become an oil center, while others seem to be sitting by anxiously waiting and hoping that it will. Question this week is, "Would you like to see Slaton become an oil town?"

Raymond Mauldin's answer to the question was, "Certainly. I don't know exactly why, but the thought of all that money is very pleasant. I even think there is some possibility of its helping me somewhat—and what could be nicer than that?"

Gen. Bradley To Speak At Lubbock Armed Forces Day

Plans are being made by Lubbock's Armed Forces Day committee to honor General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who will be the guest speaker at the Armed Forces Day celebration in Lubbock at 8:30 p. m., May 22, in Rosenthal Field.

A western barbecue will be held prior to the general's speech, according to the committee. No admission will be charged for the general's talk, and everyone in this area has an invitation to hear the message the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff will bring.

"We hope everyone in this area will attend the western barbecue and help show General Bradley a real West Texas welcome," L. E. "Jack" Davis and Major Samuel S. Williamson, Jr., chairmen of the Armed Forces Day committee, said. "We surely want everyone to hear the vital message the general will bring us."

Interest In Oil Grows In Slaton

Interest in oil prospects for this area is active and the well that is being drilled on the Hollars place, six and one half miles southeast of Slaton, is being watched with close attention.

Local business men are still skeptical about any oil boom for Slaton but most of them are greatly encouraged by recent rains and crop prospects are good for a rushing fall season.

Post Scores 19-7 Win Over Slaton

Post's Miller scored an easy 19-7 victory over the Slaton Lions last Sunday afternoon at Postex Park to hand the last-place Lions their fourth straight defeat of the Oil Belt League campaign.

The Millers blasted across eleven runs in the first three innings of play and then coasted to victory behind seven-hit pitching of two Post hurlers, Joel Locke, starting Slaton pitcher, retired the first two Miller batters in the first frame, before the home team could get started.

Post nicked Locke for two more runs in the second and sent him out of the game with a four-run outburst in the fourth. Jack Cornell and Charles Pressley shared relief hurling duties of the Lions, but the Millers continued to pour across the runs in every inning except the eighth.

Al Griffin hit four for five for the Lions, accounting for more than half of Slaton's safeties. The loss left Slaton in the last position of the loop.

Sunday, the Lions journey to Seagraves for an afternoon game, and the following Thursday they meet Levelland's Refiners here at the Park in a night game.

What They Write

Slaton, Texas
May 8, 1950

Mr. A. M. Jackson,
Slatonite Editor:
Dear Sir:

Am sending my subscription for another $2.00 worth of your "Bologna."

Not that we think it is worth that much, but what else is a fellow doing for a bit of home news, when this, is all he has for consolation.

It seems that you are not for oil, and neither do you want the environment of the city, and you won't farm, can't forecast, any better than you garden. And are the poorest fisherman I have ever heard of.

The only time you ever see a good fish is at the store, or some friend, through dire pity, gives you a portion of a hard days trolling.

Pretty soon we will celebrate a founders day, for the fair town, and of the ten or fifteen different Editorial Staff's we have had the misfortune to know, over all these past birth days of our town, we have never known an Editor, with such poor stand of whiskers, your editorials with the spice of Charlie Austin's long-handles, and your slick seated pants, do not compare with that front you have put on since you arrived in our fair city.

Even then if you are afraid of the bad element, that comes with a little of the black-gold, then we can build us a little boom town of our own, down south of Slaton, and will hire us an Editor, of the type that will draw Capital, and all the trimming.

In fact I am glad you don't want this greasy money, as it might make your town keep on growing, after the Santa Fe has Deseised all it's trains service and the round house and R. R. yards are returned to the Coyotes, and Rabbits. From whence they came.

Yes if you don't like the oil-folks, and their ilk, then we will be glad to take them on, as they will have plenty welcome down in RAG-TOWN, south of Slaton.

As I guess you know by reading the other papers) we have started us an oil-field, six miles south of Slaton, and will soon be looking for an outlet, for a lot of our greasy money, however don't think there is any animosity, between the Two Cities until you start something, then we aim to turn our works on you, faster than yes-guys can grow a poor set of half Sandy Beard.

In fact we don't aim to have no Flying-Saucers, or self rocking-chair stunts in our Oil-Journal, and Candidates are taboo, with us too. As we aim to live in our own little greasy world, no outside advertising, no law except that west of the Yellow House Canyon, and not even a Garbage Department, to leave trash in our allies.

No sir, we are not going to ruin your fair city and its environs with this tough elements of roughnecks and millionaires, anyway send us the Slatonite, so we can make up our own mind, on what Rag-Town will not want.

Thanks,
Jas. W. Savell,
(Rag-Town-Mop)

If the judging narrows down to this rare pair, the question seems to be, "which winsome twin will win?"

"A FRIEND INDEED"

From the basement of their Maplewood, Mo., home, Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Ross run a thriving chicken hatchery business. Says Mr. Ross: "Never realized how our business telephone helps us save and make money until we kept a five-day record of our telephone calls recently. It's a friend indeed! Here are just a few of the calls we made and received."

Sudden thunderstorm! Had to make quick call for emergency electric power! Ventilators go back on — 200 baby chicks saved!

Customer calls for shipment of baby chicks. Because Mrs. Ross is hard of hearing, she uses a special amplifier. Hears easily.

Prospect calls about chick prices. Our ad in yellow pages of directory is sales builder!

Sister-in-law asks about son who works for us. To save time, Mrs. Ross takes call on basement extension.

Each year brings greater progress in your telephone service. New telephones added—greater improvements made! The result: quicker, more trouble-free service—a real budget value that grows in value every year. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Contending Earnestly
For The Faith

"I tell you, Nay: but, except ye repent, ye shall all in like manner perish" (Lk. 13:3)
Can a thief be saved unless he repents? Can a murderer be saved unless he sincerely and indeed repents of his sin? Until an adulterer truly repents of his sin, can he be saved? Must a liar repent to be saved? Please read 1 Cor. 6:9,10 for the answers. Now, judge within yourselves: is it not indeed foolish to teach or even believe that man is saved by faith only. Let not our hearts be deceived, God.

God, Christ, the Holy Spirit, and the Church of Christ here in Slaton invites you to pursue the way of salvation. We welcome you to bible study and other services of the church of the Lord.

AMARILLO, TEXAS.—It hasn't come yet in these days of airmail, but the drastic post office budget cutback that has resulted in a cut in daily mail deliveries might well bring back the mule as a letter carrier. This one primped up for a possible job in the event that Amarillo's postmaster should need him to carry some of the load for the city's reduced force of mail carriers.

Post Stampede, slated for May 24-27 will feature seven main events this year, Homer McCrary, secretary, announced.
Bareback riding, calf roping, cowgirl sponsor, saddle bronc riding, ribbon roping, cutting horse and wild steer riding will be featured in each performance of the rodeo.

Several local merchants are reportedly planning floats for the parade on the opening day. Invitations have been sent to sheriff's posses and riding organizations in Lubbock, Seminole, Crosbyton, Amarillo, Brownfield, Graham and Lamesa. A Quarter horse trophy will be awarded the best mounted group.

Andrews retail trade increased from a mere $300,000 in 1939 to $2,925,000 in 1948, according to 1948 Business Census released this week by the bureau of census of the Department of Commerce.

The retail trade, broken down, revealed that in 1948 Andrews grocers sold $1,023,000 worth of groceries. Eating places sold $190,000 worth of meals. Service stations sold $172,000 worth of gas and oils, and other retail stores such as drygood, drug stores and lumber yards sold $1,540,000 worth of merchandise in 1948.

The city commission this week completed a contract for the reopening of the Seminole airport which has been closed for several months.

Virgil Lee Olmstead, Hobbs flyer, will assume charge of the airport at an early date, City Secretary Tom Carie said.

Carie said that the runways at the airport will be graded and other repairs and renovations will be made to put the airport in to good shape for operation.

Within the next thirty days or so, The Frontier Salt company will be producing at its plant southeast of Brownfield one hundred tons per day or more of salt for consumption in West Texas and New Mexico.

This firm, which is an affiliate of the Frontier Chemical company of Midland, has recently purchased the chemical plant formerly operated by the American Cyanam company. A well has just been completed to tap the salt strata underneath the area adjacent to the plant, and the plant itself is being converted to production of a high purity evaporated salt.

Preliminary figures on the federal census released Thursday by C. V. Shelton, census supervisor in Gaines and Andrews counties, indicate that the Gaines County population will fall far below the estimates during the past few years.

Shelton cautioned that the figures released are considered only 90 percent complete. Many of the 10 county census workers have practically finished their canvassing, but their most recent reports have not yet been received by the census headquarters in Seminole.

Growing from an enrollment of only six students when the first class session were held on June 10, 1947, to a present enrollment of 74 veterans in five classes, is the record of the Crosby County Veterans Vocational schools. And in addition the classes maintain well equipped works shops in three towns and employ a total of six full-time instructors.

Topping of the new Tahoka-Wilson-Slaton highway was started Friday by Bryan & Hoffman, Plainview road contractors. Pouring of asphalt was started at the Southern outskirts of Wilson with the paving crew working toward Tahoka.

As soon as the road from Wilson to the "Y" two miles north of Tahoka is completed, work will proceed from Wilson to the existing paving at the county line about two miles south of Slaton.

The Levelland area reported eight new completions and four new locations according to reports submitted to the Midland district office of the oil and gas division of the Railroad Commission of Texas this past week.

The Cochran County side of the Levelland field reported six of the new oil wells. The Slaughter field of Hockley County added two new producers to the county.

Two new drillsites were staked in each of Cochran and Hockley counties during the past week.

activation of the city corporation court, is expected to demand more respect for city regulations on the part of local residents, it was revealed this week.

Frank Kiser, city attorney, says that Levelland has now adopted the uniform traffic code, drawn legislature and, through newly acquired access to the county jail, is in a position to enforce laws up for municipalities by the state on the statute books.

Advertising Is Interesting . . .

Many people pride themselves upon the fact that they sincerely believe that they do not read what they consider as advertising and yet practically everyone in the United States is influenced by what comes under that general classification.

Practically everything that is bought in the United States is being constantly promoted in some fashion or other and newspaper advertising has been a boom in the buying public of the country.

There was a time in this nation when the public had many reasons to doubt the sincerity of advertising. Patent medicines, misleading promises by unscrupulous merchants and bold claims by promoters, who had nothing to back up their statements, were published, but seldom are such conditions true today and legitimate advertising deserves the confidence and support of the general public.

Most people look upon advertising as published statements in newspapers and magazines. Some people consider radio, sign boards and other things that appeal to the eye or ear, as advertising but these forms of calling attention to different products are different from newspaper publicity in many ways.

When you see statements in newspapers made by business men or business firms the statements are made and backed up by the firms or individuals making them and they are paying considerable money so that you may have the convenience of knowing what they have to sell without your having to go to the trouble of visiting the places of business to find out all of the details.

Those firms or individuals who do not live up to their claims soon find that newspaper advertising exposes their tricks and that it is dangerous to try to mislead the public. Those who take advantage of the newspapers find that well thought out, well planned and honest advertising is profitable to them and that the public is more and more dependent upon newspapers for information concerning merchandise and news about the business firms of the nation and of the community.

What About Slaton In 1960 . . .

Is Slaton destined to become a town of considerable size. Ten years has shown a growth of nearly 1500 people and should the next ten bring a proportionate increase then by 1960 there should be around 7000 residents of Slaton.

The way the town is laid out is quite a problem to our present population and with the probability of an ever increasing traffic congestion the town will become more and more complicated.

One of the biggest disadvantages in Slaton today is the drainage of the business district and of the Southwest part of town. Some day the problem of water standing on the West of town will have to be solved and the longer the correcting of this drainage is put off the more expensive it will likely be.

The triangle corners that make so many streets in Slaton such traffic risks would stump the judgement of the greatest traffic experts in the nation but to have no rules at all concerning these confusing situations is causing more and more hazards as time goes on and within a few years the traffic problems will be even more confusing in Slaton.

That there is a limit to the amount of money that can be spent on correcting these conditions is self evident. The errors were made many years ago, the longer they go uncorrected the worse they get and the more it will cost to change the conditions.

Slaton is most probably on its way toward being a town of fifteen to twenty thousand. What problems the folks will have between now and that time will be governed considerably by what is done in the near future and how well plans are made and followed by us of today.

Will We Arm Our Enemies . . .

How near is the United States to war with Russia and how much war material should this nation send to the nations that are bordering on Russian territory or to nations that are friendly to Russia.

Several men who operate short wave stations that are capable of tuning in foreign countries are living right here in Slaton and they report that the propaganda that comes from a good many of the supposed to be neutral nations, from Russia and Russian dominated countries, does not bear up the optimism the President of the United States for "no war in the foreseeable future."

This nation would seem to have the responsibility of arming all non-communist nations that show an honest desire to oppose the Russian with more than a token of resistance, and the policy of sending arms to those nations seems feasible but if the arms we are being urged to send overseas is to be turned against us, because the weaker nations even with suitable arms, are in no position to defend themselves, then our state department and our Congress is showing mighty poor judgement by sending arms to small nations in the shadow of Russia.

Placing Help Where Help Is Due . . .

Modern newspaper men often place themselves in the position to campaign for the many things which they believe would improve the hometown—things to make it more desirable, more livable, or perhaps more industrial or commercial. Many times these suggestions are made in the line of improving that which is already good.

Improvement is always desirable, because through improvement we find progress; but perhaps in the constant demand for improving good things, we overlook or entirely ignore the things which are not already good, the things demanding not improvement, but a complete overhaul job.

In the southeast section of Slaton, which we discourteously refer to as "the flats," living conditions are deplorable. With the slightest rainfall, these streets are practically impassible, and the sewage and water conditions are so poor that they can do nothing but breed germs.

However, the very frequent argument for this situation is that people living in that particular section can't afford to do the work which needs to be done, and the tax payers refuse to spend money on it when there is much work which needs to be done right in their own communities.

But it takes very little rational thought to see that this argument is not a sound one—unsound because the poor conditions found in east Slaton help to spread diseases all over town. Even the cleanest colored families find it impossible to remain germ-free when the school children from the less clean families are in constant association with the others.

"But we aren't around those people," the selfish argument continues. Not only selfish, but blind; for many Slaton families have colored women working closely with them in their own homes. Despite the fact that these women are both clean and reliable, they too have been forced to live in the same abominable conditions described above, thus placing them in the same disease susceptibility caused from poor sewage and water conditions.

Even though many people fail to have any sense of moral responsibility of helping these people whom we have forced to live in one segregated section, we should feel responsibility toward protecting our families against the resulting diseases.

QUOTES . . .

Almost everybody under the age of seventy overrates the value of experience. Experience in life may add to our knowledge, but it usually doesn't reduce our follies until we are too old to care.—Sidney J. Harris, "Strictly Personal" Chicago Daily News, Chicago, Illinois.

There is one question we would like to have answered in ratio to the usual desert drama—The hero dashes up on hossback, thunders across a wooden bridge, cracks a lane through an acre of broken dishes, and make more racket than a dress rehearsal of Wagner's "Parsifal." He gallops his pony across a loose porch and then jumps off. Why does he then tippy-toe around the little cabin where the heroine is chained to a hot kitchen stove? What woman isn't?—Arthur "Bugs" Baer, Milwaukee Sentinel, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

A fellow who takes off his hat in elevators, helps old ladies across streets, and writes books on politeness, will chase his fellow man up an alley, yell at school children, and chase out pedestrians for getting in his way, once he is in a flivver. The kindest gentleman in the community, known for his warm smile, takes on the instincts of a gorilla the minute he finds himself tooling the sedan down Main Street.—H. I. Phillips, San Antonio Evening News, San Antonio, Texas.

The line between moral outrage and titillation is narrow, very narrow. In cases of doubt, these days, one calls in a psychiatrist who casts a scientific aura of respectability over the most lurid discussion.—John Crosby, Miami Herald, Miami, Florida.

More citrus molasses was used in Florida last winter than ever before, and cattlemen who used it were well pleased with their results.

Continuous exposure to sunlight weakens curtain fabrics. Such fabrics become weakened in the lower areas faster than at the top where they are protected by shades. To counteract the effect of Old Sol's rays, use tailored curtains with equal size hems, top and bottom, so the ends may be reversed after laundering.

Freezing Peaches
Ascorbic acid—either the tablets or the crystals—will help retain the fresh, ripe peach color. When preparing peaches for freezing, slice them into the carton as you peel them. Add three 50 mg. ascorbic acid tablets to the syrup for each pint—about one cup of syrup. When crystals are used add one-fourth teaspoon of the crystals to each four cups of syrup.

East African Peanuts
During the war, the disruptions that cut off peanut imports from many nations intensified efforts in other to raise this nutritious food. To help meet demands of a world still short on fats and oils, the British are currently engaged in a huge project for growing oil-rich peanuts in East Africa.

Although George Washington stressed the need for a canal across Cape Cod during the Revolutionary war, it was 1909 before work was actually begun on the waterway. The Cape Cod canal was completed in 1914 at a cost of $13,000,000.

Littlefield Plans Phone Expansion

Work on a contract calling for the enlarging and remodeling of the present exchange building in Littlefield was well advanced this week, according to a news release last Thursday in the County Wide News.

At an estimated cost of $100,000 the expansion program would include installation of additional telephone cables and switchboard equipment, as well as an enlargement of the building. Much of the work has already been started. Additional telephone facilities will be added which will give subscribers in Littlefield better service. The improved facilities will include another switchboard position as well as another toll circuit to Plainview.

According to G. D. Shelley of Lubbock, district manager of the Southwestern Associated Telephone company, Littlefield had only 544 phones on January 1, 1946, while today there are more than 1,188 telephones in service. In four years the number has more than doubled, Shelley said, and it is estimated that the city will have more than 2,200 by the end of 1953.

It is now possible with either aerial or ground equipment to treat an acre of woodland effectively with one gallon of concentrated spray applied with a power sprayer, as compared with the former requirement of 600 gallons of dilute spray, says the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine.

JUST TALK

by
A.M.J.

It is possible that some of the old timers resembled a few of the men of Slaton who are growing beards and wearing narrow brimmed hats, but I doubt it.

My wife drove around town with me last week and several men tipped their hats and grinned from bewhiskered faces. She shuddered each time and asked "who in the world was that?"

It must have been a fearsome sight in the days when whiskers were in their prime and I do not understand how in the world the women ever married them.

One of the directors of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce reports that Doctor W. E. Payne stopped him on the street to inform him that he did not intend to grow a beard, that he did not intend to pay a license for not wearing a beard or whiskers, and that if they tried to duck him in a tank he would sue the Chamber of Commerce. The good doctor had the Chamber of Commerce backed up against the wall and the director told him that if he did not want to grow a beard or a single whisker that it would be O. K. and that he would not be molested in any way.

"Then I think I'll sue the Chamber of Commerce anyway," said the Doctor.

It is just as I told you, the Doctor is an individualist and he is not going to be pushed around. He called the C. of C.'s bluff and I feel sure that this organization had no intention of ducking folks for not growing whiskers, but I do not feel sure enough not to grow a modest mustache myself.

It is not a first class one that can wink at the ladies, as they go by, nor has it that appealing color that I might at one time have turned out, but it is the best I can do. Gray, wispy and dejected.

If you will look under the caption on "What They Write," you can find out that young Mr. J. W. Savell does not agree with me when I stated that I do not believe that an oil boom would be the best thing for Slaton. He says that I probably would not want to get my fingers all greasy with the oil money that would be getting all over things if oil should be brought in near Slaton.

Whether I want oil wells in the back yards and on the city hall lawn of the Slaton City Hall, smelling up the air all around town, makes no difference, it will be here if the big oil companies want to bring it in, whether I like it or not.

There are probably as many advantages as disadvantages to having Slaton an oil town and it must be that I'm getting old if I want quiet, comfort and something resembling law and order in place of honky tonks, hot check artists and boom and bust.

While some towns can outlive an oil boom and eventually settle into a good substantial town most of them go through a period when a good part of the business firms go broke before adjustments from boom times to normal times can be made.

It is my opinion, and it is shared by many, that Slaton is about right to make a town in which folks can live well. We do not have the traffic risks nor the parking problems that folks in larger towns do, we can get most anything in Slaton that we need, or even desire, we can get in touch with our friends in short order and do not have to drive many miles to do so, and we do not have a lot of the foreign element that make labor troubles and create friction.

By this I do not mean that there are not a lot of improvements that could be made in Slaton. There are. We need some more paving, better school facilities, our boys and girls need better supervision and we need better traffic regulations but with all our faults we have a mighty fine town in which to live.

Not long ago I was talking to a woman who lives in Lubbock and the conversation got started on the census and how many people lived in the towns about. She said "I am sorry Lubbock is getting so big. Other folks seem to want more and more people in a town, but I would like to have it so that I can find a place to park, to have my friends within a few miles of me and not be pushed around by milling crowds all the time. Lubbock is big enough and too big so far as I am concerned."

For years I have been believing that Brownfield, Littlefield and several other towns in this area are much larger than Slaton, but from some of the predictions that are coming in none of these towns will be a great deal larger than our own home town.

The census taking bureau probably knows now what the population of most all of the towns are but they are not going to put out the information until they get ready to let it all out at once.

There is one thing that I do not like about big organizations and agencies and that is that they muzzle all of their employees when it comes to expressing their views or telling anything about the activities of the Government or the business firms.

One, it seems to me, would feel as if he or she were working for a communist state and would stand in fear of criticizing any one or anything.

Admitting that a lot of criticism is unjustified and sometimes does damage I still feel like anyone is entitled to give the Government the devil if they want to, to disagree with other folks without losing their jobs and to feel that they are not bound body and soul to anything or anybody. This is the rights of Democracy and when our Government or our big trusts go to putting muzzles on us then we are slaves in most every sense of the word, even if some of us should get well paid for being slaves.

Our pooch is in bad at home. He got out in the rain last week, got his feet all wet and came into the house, slopped mud on the carpet, jumped on the bed and smeared up the fancy spread, turned over a pot of flowers, tripped my wife and got into a fight with another dog and the other dog got the best of him.

Now he spends most of his time on our front porch looking grieved and watching out for the dog that give him the pummeling.

There is a moral somewhere in this but I cannot quite put my finger on it.

Old-Timer

The mammoth belonged to the post-Tertiary or Pleistocene epoch of geology. It roamed many parts of the earth as much as a quarter-million years ago, and lived until after the glacial period 15,000 years back, and into the dawn of early man.

THIS And THAT FROM HERE And THERE

GETTING OUT ON A LIMB—Of course there are a number of other improvements that could be made here—this ain't no Utopia. After 25 years, I've given up trying to get the train in on time. But I think the least the Santa Fe could do is run a spur track down to the post office, right down Main street so everyone would know when the mail came in and quit worrying them to death down at the post office.

No telling how much time is lost by people having to go to the post office three or four times a day to get their mail. Of course, I could write my congressman about it, but best I figure, the whole deal is fouled up enough already without bringing the government in any further.

Sometimes progress gets ahead of itself and we don't like the quick, easy method as much as the good old-fashioned way. I don't know what the refrigerator manufacturers mean by the way they are doing.

They put in frozen food storage space, butter storage space, butter softener space, vegetable crispers and every other darn thing to make you think your food was fresh out of something, but they still want you to make ice cream like ice cubes.

Of course half the flavor to old-fashioned freezer ice cream was in turning the handle while a pretty girl sat on top to hold it down. The texture wasn't grainy or icy, it just tasted better than any you make in an automatic ice box.

Like I say, I like to see Post make progress and I am proud and happy to see all these improvements. I just hope we don't get too refined. —The Post Dispatch.

IT SEEMS TO ME—Pappy O'Daniel is quoted as saying that he is getting thousands of cards and letters urging him to run for governor again, and that many of the letters contain money for campaign expenses. He is quoted by radio as saying that he is keeping the money for future announcement. Which is a double-barrel announcement from the Republican who runs as a Democrat. First he is acknowledging receipt of any money that he may have received, and second, it is a strong and urgent request for more funds.

But we Texans have not forgotten the last time that Pappy took a collection—or some few big oil men of Oklahoma took one for him. That was when he took a hundred thousand dollars of money given him (according to sworn testimony of the oil men) and came to Texas to defeat Franklin D. Roosevelt. But the O'Daniel ballyhoo and the big oil money did not fool the people of Texas. They knew what FDR had done for them, and they knew what O'Daniel had done to them.

One man, just for the fun of it, in that campaign, made a check out the "vast crowds" Pappy was reporting in his radio speeches (paid for with oil money). That man sat in his car on the outskirts of an anti-Roosevelt rally in Amarillo, with his radio tuned on O'Daniel's speech as he watched him about 30 feet away. Pappy told his radio audience that there were thousands of people there to hear him. But by actual count there were 233. Let Pappy run if he so desires, this is a free country. —The Anton News.

CARNIVAL NIPPER — A. W. Harris, claiming to be the advance agent of Bohn's and Son Carnival blew into town last Thursday and signed a contract with the American Legion obligating them to sponsor the show in Andrews the following week.

The ink had hardly dried on the contract before he headed for the News office where he had 50 placards printed and a three column eight inch advertisement run in the News, total bill $25.50. He was in a hurry for the cards.

The next thing he went down to the El Royale Hotel and got a good room for which he did not pay, skipping out early the next morning.

But during his stay here he nipped the merchants for a neat little sum for advertising, for a carnival screen—paid in advance. The sheriff's office has failed to locate the said carnival or the A. W. Harris. Moral: If you are going to be nipped, why not let the home folks nip you. —The Andrews County News.

TRENDS—Here's a true story concerning a candidate for sheriff (not Crosby county, however), but some local office seekers might check the list just to see what a candidate must go through:

"Lost four months and twenty days canvassing; lost 1,360 hours of sleep thinking about the election; lost 40 acres of corn and a whole lot of sweet potatoes; lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in personal encounter with an opponent; donated one beef, four shoats, gave away two pairs of suspenders, five calico dresses, five dolls and fifteen baby rattlers; kissed 126 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up eight stoves; cut 14 cords of wood; carried 24 buckets of water; gathered seven wagon loads of corn; pulled 455 bundles of fodder; walked 4,806 miles, and shook hands 9,606 times; told 10,001 lies; talked enough to make 10,000 volumes; attended 26 revivals; was baptized four times by immersion and twice some other way; contributed to foreign missions; made love to nine grass widows; got dog bit 30 times and then got defeated."

Now do any of you fellows want to withdraw? — Crosbyton Review.

Ramsey Announces For. Lt. Governor

Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, backed by a long record of outstanding service in both the Texas House and Senate, has announced for Lieutenant Governor.

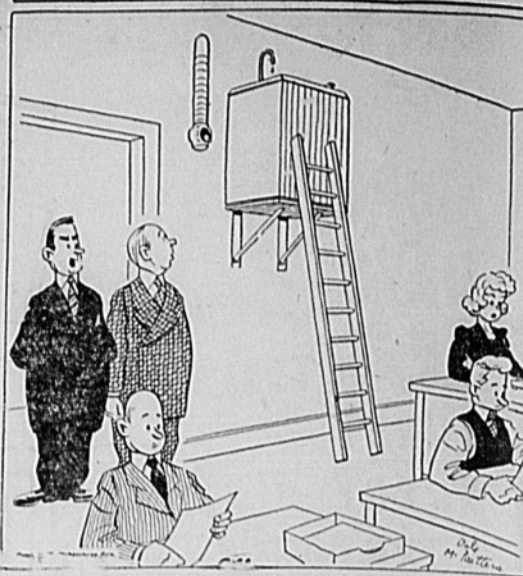

Ramsey resigned as secretary of state Feb. 9 to prepare for the state race, convinced that the thinking people of Texas must take a more active interest in the actual operation of their state government.

Ramsey has been a leader in advancing rural electrification in the state and in the farm-to-market road program.

Before buying a refrigerator, make sure it passes these 4 tests

1 The housekeeping test: Will your new refrigerator burden you with the nuisance of weekly defrosting? Not if it's an Admiral Dual-Temp. Admiral's exclusive moistrol automatically evaporates excess moisture. Foods don't dry out. Flavors don't mingle.

2 The frozen food test: Are you able to quick-freeze fruit, meat, leftovers at 20° below zero? Yes, if it's an Admiral Dual-Temp. Its separate freezing locker quick-freezes and stores up to 84 pounds of food.

3 The fresh food test: Will fresh foods dry out and lose flavor? Not if you choose the Admiral Dual-Temp where fruits, meats and vegetables thrive in the cool, dewy atmosphere. The Sterilamp helps kill "ice box" odors and retard mold growth.

4 The storage space test: Want lots of storage space without crowding kitchen? Then you want our new 1950 Dual-Temp. Your choice of 13½ or 10½ cubic-feet of storage space, in streamlined, compact cabinets.

Slaton Women Give Their Favorite Tested Recipes

This week's recipe was submitted to us from Mrs. Wilfred Kitten with the explanation, "This is a fine cold salad which may be prepared the day before the company arrives."

Ingredients for Mrs. Kitten's Macaroni Salad call for:
2 hard boiled eggs
1 small onion chopped
1 green pepper chopped
2 sweet pickles chopped
1 cup macaroni

Chop all the above ingredients into a large dish. Cook one cup macaroni in salted boiling water until tender and drain. Add macaroni to chopped ingredients and mix together with your favorite salad dressing.

Although you may use the manufactured salad dressing, Mrs. Kitten suggests this one which she makes herself and calls Velvet Dressing. Ingredients necessary are:

1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
2 tablespoons of corn starch
2 teaspoons dry mustard
1/2 cup water

Cook all the above ingredients together until thick, then add 6 tablespoons of vinegar. Blend dressing with macaroni mixture while warm, and chill.

Mrs. Kitten originally got the recipe from her mother-in-law, Mrs. August Kitten, who says that Macaroni Salad is an old family recipe, and a family favorite.

Mrs. Kitten, W. Kitten that is, says that she enjoys cooking very much and that she spends much of her time trying out new recipes. This Macaroni Salad is particularly good for picnics as it can be made several hours before serving, and Mrs. Kitten says that it stays much fresher than potato salad.

Separate Pullets And Cockerels

As soon as the sex can be distinguished, the cockerels should be separated from the pullets. This is particularly true of Leghorns and other fast-growing breeds, because they develop sexually early and begin annoying the pullets.

Remove the male birds and place them in a separate enclosure, finishing them off as broilers. Retain only those cockerels needed for breeding purposes.

Removal of the males gives pullets additional room and eliminates crowding at the feed troughs. The birds will do better as a result, and the poultryman will realize a saving in feed costs.

Keep Good Breeders

Cockerels for breeding purposes should be selected when they are of broiler size. Look for birds with the best body growth, good vigor, rapid feathering, moderate comb development, and well-pigmented shanks. Retail cockerels that are free of standard disqualifications and have no body deformities. Eliminate the runts and slow-feathering birds.

About three times as many cockerels should be selected as are needed for breeding purposes, as it is usually necessary to discard many birds because of defects before they are fully grown. The end ratio for medium and heavy breeds should be only one male to every 15 females. For Leghorns and other light breeds the ratio should be about one rooster to every 20 hens.

Care Of Males

The breeding cockerels should have a grass range by themselves, the same as the pullets, with all the necessary equipment and helpers. If only a few cockerels are kept as breeders, they may be allowed to run with the pullets.

When your pullet flock begins laying, do not house males and females together until the production of hatching eggs is started. It is best to produce market eggs which are infertile.

Before placing males with females in the same house, inspect the cockerels carefully again, making sure you keep only the best male birds. Get rid of any birds which show poor vitality and lack of development.

Ben Ramsey Wants To Be Lieut. Gov.

Austin, May 5—Ben Ramsey of San Augustine, who has a long record of service in both houses of the Legislature, today formally announced his candidacy for lieutenant governor of Texas.

Thetall East Texan resigned this spring as secretary of state in order to prepare to make the state race. He was appointed secretary of state in January, 1949, by the late Governor Beauford Jester and continued to serve under Governor Allan Shivers when he took office.

Ramsey began his political career in 1930 when he was elected to the House from San Augustine County. He served in the House four years and in 1940 was elected to the Texas Senate, where he served eight years.

Ramsey said he is running for lieutenant governor because he is convinced that the thinking people of Texas must take a more active interest in their state government, to solve their own problems in their own way.

Ramsey has been a consistent supporter of improving educational opportunities in Texas, and the farm-to-market road improvement program.

"Sand" To Open Wednesday At Slaton Theatre

Acclaimed as even better than "Smoky," Twentieth Century-Fox's new outdoor dramatization of Will James' "Sand" is scheduled to open Wednesday, May 24 at the Slaton Theatre. The Technicolor film stars Mark Stevens, Coleen Gray and Rory Calhoun in a story of the West today in the tradition of the West of old.

Set in America's Alps — the Rocky mountains — the film was made on location in Durango, Colorado, under the aegis of the same trip that made "Smoky," "Thunderhead," "Son of Flicka" and other top-flight outdoor films for the studio. Producer Robert Bassler, Director Louis King and Camera-man Charles Clarke worked with the crew in and around Durango, taking fullest advantage of the area's scenic splendor. "Sand" is the first major Technicolor production ever filmed in the San Juan country, in southwestern Colorado.

Mark Stevens has his first western role in "Sand," following his successful portrayals in such recent hits as "The Snake Pit," "The Street With No Name" and "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Co-starring with Mark is Coleen Gray, comely blonde actress who is enacting her third out-door role in a row—the others having been "Furry At Furnace Creek," and "Red River."

The largest herd of trained animals ever to leave the film capital on a location-trip accompanied Director King and his staff to Colorado for the making of "Sand." But the animal star of stars is the picture's "Jubilee," a magnificent mahogany-hued stallion selected from hundreds of entries for the key role in the picture.

The introduction of liquid paints in ancient Egypt brought the need for brushes. In the British museum today there are specimens of tools used by the Egyptian craftsmen, including three brushes which seem to have been made of reeds or the fibrous stems of palm leaves.
