his health. Only one new teacher for next year has been named for the Sla-ton school system. Tony Poulos, assistant coach at Abilene High School for the past four years, has accepted a contract as head coach at Slaton High School, Superintendent P. L. Vardy an-nounced recently. Several other vacancies have oc-curred in the local school system with the close of the school term;

however, a complete list of the new teachers probably will not be available until approximately two weeks before the fall term opens, Vardy explained.

Merchants Offer Feature Values

Today, Friday, June 2nd, Satur-day, June 3rd, and Monday, June 5th are Trade Days in Slaton. This is the first of a series of Trade Days that will be held once each month if the response proves to be good.

Month II the Pesponse proves to be good. All of the merchants who are taking part in the Trades Day promotion have reduced their pro-fits to a minimum on hundreds of items, some are below actual cost, in order to encourage the home folks and the people of this area to trade in Slaton. If the response is good this time all of the firms that are ad-vertising in this paper will offer more extra values next month and each month afterwards, so if you want to save money this week and have your choice of many more in the future, do your shopping to-day, Saturday and Monday. You will recognize the trades the future, do your shopping to-day, Saturday and Monday. You will recognize the trades names of hundreds of the items that are being advertised in this paper and it will be to your advan-tage to read the advertisements carefully where the first of the series of trade days values are listed. When you shop during the trades days make it a point to tell the merchants that you appreciate their efforts to bring extra values to Slaton, you'll find that they will make extra efforts to make it worth while to shop in Slaton every trades day and every day. Keep this copy of your paper, check the items which interest you and take it along as a shopping list, you'll be surprised how much help it will be.

Called For Mon. A Court of Honor for Slaton's Troop 29, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Monday, June 5, at 800 p. m. in Tiger Town Hall with C. D. Willis, Slaton civic leader, as principal speaker. Sour advancements will be presented along with an interest-ing program. Parents of boy scouts in this Slaton troop are urged to attend this court. The general public is cordially invit-ed to attend the meeting also. From June 11 to June 17, local scouts will attend the annual Sum-mer Encampment at Camp Post, located two miles southwest of Post. The sixday affair will in-clude hiking, swimming, picnick-ing Indian lore, archery, riffe marksmanship, and many other interesting adventures. Scouts of the Boy Scouts of Ameri-ca will be present. Approximately twenty-five boys from this troop are planning to so. Last summer, the best camp site and for be-havior, and they hope to win these and additional honors this year.

Agricultural Production

A gricultural Production A twentieth Century Fund report says that the United States prob-ably does not have a long-time comparative advantage over other countries in agricultural produc-tion. Thus, if foreign markets again turn to cheaper supply sources, American agriculture may have to contract, painful though it may be.

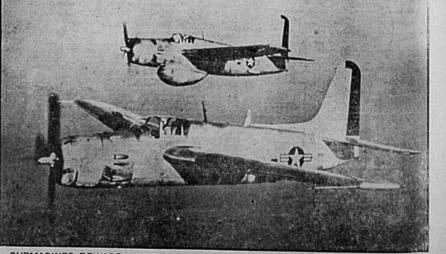

Sugar Plantations Louisiana's sugar plantations, after a battle against mosaic and other diseases that began a quarter of a century ago, are now bet-ter than ever and improving year by year.

SUBMARINES BEWARE-The Navy's latest answer to the threat of submarine warfare is the Grumman "Guardian," now in production. These heavily-armed attack planes will join the seven newly-designated VS (Anti-Submarine) squadrons. Having retired from the rose raising contest I am willing to step down and out in favor of P. G., unless Judge Smith can come forward with some roses that are bigger and better smelling than the ones P. G. brought down. Judge Smith used to make some prodigious claims about his roses but never could back them up and I doubt that he'll really do much but tell some fish stories about his roses but they are worth hear-ing and if he does I'll try to re-port them. —-000—

--000— It is said that up in the Panhandle the snakes are bigger and more vicious this year than ever before. While I have not heard much about rattlers in this part of the country it would not be a bad idea to watch out for them should you go projecting around in the out of the way places. There used to be some extra size rattlers in the canyon and it is getting to be the time of the year when they are beginning to get about a lot. # Do We Have Buttons Or Not ....

When Our Land Wears Out What Then ...

The land in West Texas may be able to produce bump-er crops year after year with no deterioation to the soil but if it can it will be the first time in history that such things have happened. Few farmers in this part of the nation are paying any attention at all to the future and with the fast development of irrigation it is most likely that the land out here will in a few years be as worn out as the land in South and North Texas is to-day.

years be as worn our as the hand in Bound and North Texas is to day. It has not been too long since Lamar County, Delta County, Cameron County and Ellis County were breaking records for cotton production, the land was selling at from $300 to $400 per acre, but a lot of this land will not produce cotton today re-gardless of weather conditions. A good part of it has been turned over to Johnson grass and to pasturage. Dairy farms have grown up on land that was too poor to cultivate and farming in South and North Texas requires a great deal of fertilizer if one is to raise any kind of crops at all. This is casy farming in this country now, but whether he irrigation water holds out or not, the soil will be denuded if its richness before many years have passed unless the farmers rake up.

This idea is being preached year after year by agriculrists who know what is going on, but most farmers are looking pead only to next year and it sems to be a race between irriga-on and wind erosion as to which will get the best of land that uld be treated properly and made to be productive for all time

Structural Lumber Structural lumber comes from the middle portion of the log and is the type of stock required for high class construction purposes where great strength is a prime requisite. Livestock owners bringing their mimals home after competition in requisite.

snimals home after competition in state and county fairs are advised to keep them apart from home herds for 30 days—just in case they may have picked up a con-tagious disease that is slow in showing up. The American Veter-inary Medical association says there is always a chance that show stock may be exposed to infection in transit or while on the fair grounds, yet it may take three weeks before signs of illness be-come apparent. In the meantime, quarantining them protects the home herd from exposure.

VACCINATE BIRDS BEFORE OUTBREAKS

VACCINATE BIRDS BEFORE OUTBREAKS Sick birds—and lost profits—are often the result of failure to vac-cinate. To illutrate havent you heard these words before? "If I had vaccinated, this wouldn't have happened." This is a typical statement by the poultry-raiser who suddenly finds his birds suf-fering from a disease outbreak. That's why a vaccination pro-gram is practical for both large and small poultry-raisers. The sav-ings in birds and profits will more than repay the raiser. Ordinarily, vaccination of poul-try is accomplished by two meth-ods: (1) injection of killed-culture bacterins under the skin of the fowl; and (2) application of live-virus vaccine to some part of the skin or epithelial membrane. "Nosedrop" Vaccine"

"Nosedrop" Vaccine" But recently, another type of vaccine has been added. This is known as intranasal vaccination, which is the administration of a live-virus vaccine through the nos-trils of birds. It is being referred to as the "nosedrop" vaccine. This newest technique is used for the prevention of Newcastle disease and offers distinct advantages ov-er other type vaccines. It is being and offers district advantages of er other type vaccines. It is being used by many poultrymen, and undoubtedly will be used by many more.

When To Vaccinate Knowing when to vaccinate is mportant, because vaccination too ate or too early can have harm-ul effects on poultry and egg pro-ful effects on poultry and egg pro-ful effects on poultry and egg pro-touction. For prevention of fowl pox, vac-cination at 6 to 12 wecks of age is desirable. Fowl pox, in both "dry" and "wet" forms is extreme-ly devastating to egg production, so it is best to vaccinate before birds start laying. Where laryngotracheitis is a problem, vaccination at 6 to 12 wecks of age is also recommend-ed. Laryngotracheitis is a diseasd which often strikes at an early age. By vaccinating as early as 6 weeks of age, poultrymen have immune birds going into the lay-ing house.

J. L. Preston Proves Slatonite To Be "Mighty Fine" Paper

J. L. Preston brought in a copy of a Slatonite this week which has been dead for the past thirty one years. Dateline on the old yellowing paper which was crisp and musty with age read "Febru ary 27, 1919." Trom the 1919 issue masthead, (which states title, ownership subscription rates, etc.) we learn ed that the Editor and Publisher was a gentleman by the name of W. Donald, and the Society Edi for a year cost $1.50 whereas new it is $2.00. As a matter of fact here were only two things in the paper which have not change ince that time — the phone num-ber and the paper's name. The front page of this particular
