Fireside Gardening Is Pleasant Pastime

Fireside gardening is a pleasant winter pastime for many persons. Reading flower catalogs often carries one into dreams of spring and summer gardens that do materialize.

Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service suggests practical planning for the enjoyable flower garden. How will the flowers be used—corsages, cut flowers for the home or church? Winter bouquets? Or color in the landscape? Will you choose hardy annuals or those that require much care?

Other questions might be—how much space do you have for growing flowers? Is there enough water? Will you need help for cultivation and care?

"Remember," Miss Hatfield advises, "flower gardens require digging, planting, weeding, cultivating, dusting, spraying and mulching."
"You can have an attractive flower garden during the spring and summer without too much work," the specialist adds. "First of all, plant flowers in one or two well prepared beds. This not only improves the design of the landscape, but saves time when you need to water, dust, or do any of the other necessary jobs of caring for the flower garden. Or, if you are a very busy person, plant one or two rows of flowers in the vegetable garden. You prepare the soil for flowers as you would for growing vegetables."

For varieties, the specialist recommends larkspur, poppy and cornflower to grow in most of the areas of Texas. These can be planted in the fall and winter for early blooms, and then replaced with others such as petunia, pinks and phlox. When these flowers are full of buds plant the hot weather flowers—gallardia, coneflowers, coxcomb, globe-amaranth, periwinkle and salvias and straw flowers. Many bulbs and perennial flowers are useful in corsage making or as cut flowers. Gladioli and chrysanthemum which come in different varieties and colors are useful for church or other places where you need large arrangements. The smaller sizes make lower arrangements and corsages.

When you're doing your fireside gardening this winter, use a practical labor saving approach to the plans for spring and summer blooms. "You'll find it more pleasant and profitable," the specialist advises, "if you do not have to overwork yourself to make the flower garden a success."

Howard and Jim were brothers, but Howard was three years older and very protective. One day Howard came to his father and said, "Dad, Jim's twelve now, so I thought it was about time to have a talk with him about the facts of life. Was that all right?"
"Sure," said his dad, "How did it go?"
"Oh, fine! I learned a lot."

What They Write

Austin, Texas
January 17, 1953

Dear Editor:
Believing that you and your readers are deeply interested in what we are doing in the Legislature, I request the privilege of giving you this and other letters as the session progresses.
Where only one man represented the same area two years ago, there are four of us representing the same region now. Mr. Waggoner Carr from Lubbock County now in Place 1, and the writer from Lubbock County in Place 2, Mr. Carroll Cobb, of Seminole, represents the territory to the south, and Mr. J. O. Gillham, from Brownfield, represents the four counties west and immediately south of Lubbock County.
After being sworn in by the Secretary of State on last Tuesday, January 13, it was my privilege to introduce Resolution No. 1, of this session. This resolution was routine in nature and provided for the occupancy of the House Floor during the period of organization.

All of us being very much interested in water and soil conservation, five men from our section drew assignments to this committee in the House. They are Mr. Leroy Saul from Kress; Mr. J. O. Gillham from Brownfield; Mr. Jesse M. Osborn from Muleshoe; Mr. Elbert Reeves from Matador; and Mr. Waggoner Carr from Lubbock. Also Mr. W. A. Stroman from San Angelo, with Mrs. Dorothy Gillis Gurley from Del Rio as Chairman. The committee is composed of twenty-one people and thus you can readily see that our area is well represented thereon.
Due to the other gentlemen being assigned to this most important committee I bowed to them in this regard and made my request to be placed on other committees that our area of the state is particularly affected by. My committee assignments are as follows:
1. Judiciary—which covers Civil practice in the Courts of our State.
2. Highways and Roads—which will have matters with reference to the States Road System referred to us, provided they do not carry an appropriation in connection with them.

3. Education—which committee will consider bills affecting our Public School System and State Institutions of Higher Learning. This is also provided that no appropriations are connected with the measures offered.
4. Insurance—which has to do with the insurance laws of our State.
I have prepared and expect to introduce my first bill giving to the Veterans of the present Korean conflict the same privilege of attending State supported Institutions of Higher Learning without the payment of fees and tuition where the funds for the payment of the same is not furnished by the Federal Government. This privilege has long since been granted to veterans of World Wars I and II. We are all sympathetic to the men who are in Asia defending us, as well as those who may be called upon to do so. We know that standing in a fox hole on a bleak and snow covered hill is a hard task, even if we did not have an enemy to be watching for at the same time. May God keep them and bring them home is our earnest prayer.
In regard to this outside boastfulness, there has been considerable humor prevalent here connected with the statement of Mr. Walling, Representative from Wichita County, regarding the bottle that is alleged to be buried in the sand several miles east of the southeast corner of New Mexico, and the placing of the south line of New Mexico farther into Texas. The Governor of New Mexico, according to press reports, has offered to make Mr. Walling Secretary of State of New Mexico, if the bottle can be found, and it is reported that Governor Shivers has said he will raise the offer. We have heard that the Governor of New Mexico first claimed Texas territory to the Neches River, and thereafter offered to settle for the Panhandle and the South Plains. Whether or not the bottle is ever found, Mr. Walling did find a strip of state land in Loving County and the State Land Office has admitted that he is correct in this regard.

Miss Nancy Teague from Slaton, who is one of my secretaries, and I ask the privilege of writing additional letters as the session progresses. I am
Yours very truly,
GEO. S. BERRY

AUSTIN—Austin's big show—the 53rd Legislature—is now well under way.
The legislators got down to real business this week. Last week the members convened for only one day.
They heard the message of Gov. Allan Shivers. And in the House, Speaker Reuben Senterfitt appointed committees.
Then the House and Senate adjourned until this week.
Even so, progress was ahead of schedule. Usually, House committees cannot be appointed for some time after the election of a speaker.
But, Senterfitt's election was assured in advance. Thus he was able to have his appointments ready on the opening day.
Texas can increase its spending for necessary services without large boosting of taxes.
That was a cheerful note in the governor's address to the members.
More money is coming in from existing revenue sources, so that the governor's recommended $172,529,000 for general revenue appropriations is within the officially estimated state income for the next two years.
The budget is about $6 million higher than the present level of state spending.
Additional money for roads, Gov. Shivers believes, should come from another penny-a-gallon tax on gasoline. Otherwise, if the Legislature wants to spend more money, it should increase the natural gas transmission lines "if it can be done in a legal way," the chief executive said.
He recommended salary increases for state workers and teachers, and the construction of $6,725,000 tubercular hospital plant and buildings at the Texas School for the Deaf.
Freed from the legislative halls after adjournment, the newcomers among the solons were invited to attend an orientation seminar conducted by the University School of Law.
Twenty-five speakers, including public officials, university professors, lawmakers, and others told the freshman legislators something about their jobs.
But it was old stuff to Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe. He is in his 23rd year in the legislature and has served longer than any other lawmaker in Texas history.
The runner-up is C. E. Nicholson of Port Neches, who has served 22 years in the House.
A legislator, like anybody else, has to look out for himself. Thus it was that both houses finally passed Senate Bill No. 1, which appropriates $750,000 for mileage and per diem pay of members and employees and expenses of the session.
Harmony was also a goal of the legislators, and a plea for this objective was voiced by Representative Bill Daniel of Liberty, brother of Senator Price Daniel.
On the opening day, Rep. Daniel, asked to make Speaker Senterfitt's election unanimous "so that there may be a mark of harmony, unity, and accord. We should give our support to Mr. Senterfitt. So much must be done."
Rep. Daniel had at one time considered opposing Senterfitt for the speaker's job, but later withdrew.
There was a sad note in the whole procedure for four-year-old Sonnie Senterfitt, who saw his father sworn in as speaker. Ronnie complained that there wasn't any ice cream.
Among the dozens of bills before the legislature is one to outlaw the "Dallas Special," a long-bladed knife frequently employed in cutting and stabbing affairs.
State Health Officer Dr. George Cox, in commenting on the widespread attack of influenza which has hit some 400,000 Texans the past week, says it is "a mild form, but a mixed infection—much more difficult to treat."
Texas' top state officials are more than irked over President Truman's latest move. They are plain mad!
Truman's last-minute act of his administration in turning the tidelands over to the navy was proclaimed by Gov. Shivers as sour grapes and an attempt to get back at Texas for choosing Texas-born Ike as President, over Truman's candidate, Adlai Stevenson.

Up in Boston, a social worker on a visit to the slums found a small boy crying bitterly and stopped to console him and inquire what the trouble was.
"My mother and father are dead," said the boy sobbing, "and I'm all alone in the world."
"What a shame!" said the district visitor. "And have you no other relatives?"
"Just my brother, and he's at Harvard."
"Really? What is he studying?"
"Nothing," said the boy, weeping harder. "They're studying him."

es termed the action an outrage and Attorney General John Ben Shepperd declared the state might file an injunction.
The President's act did not increase his popularity around the statehouse.
President-Elect Eisenhower has said not once but often that he favored returning the tidelands to Texas and that he would sign such a bill if passed by congress.
Truman has twice vetoed such legislation.

National High School Photographic Awards
Offers Many Opportunities to Win

Grand Prize Winner in the 1952 National High School Photographic Awards was this excellent action picture taken by Alvin McMillin of Junction City, Kansas.

Local high school students who like to take pictures may well be among major winners in the 1953 National High School Photographic Awards, the National Scholastic Press Association has just announced.

The nationwide picture-taking competition, which opened January 1, will continue through April 15. Every high school student in the 9th through 12th grades, inclusive, is eligible to enter and win prizes. Prizes range from Awards of $10 each to four Grand Prizes of $500 each. A total of 196 cash prizes will be given.

Local students can enter their snapshots in four classes of entry, NSPA officials indicated. This means that pictures of babies and children, young people and adults, scenes, and pictures of pets or wild animals may be entered.

Local high school picture takers need no entry blanks to submit pictures in this $4,000 contest. Nor need they have developed and printed their own pictures to be eligible for prizes. They must, however, have taken the pictures themselves without professional help.

Pictures made since the close of last year's competition on May 1, 1952, are eligible for entry. Pictures may be enlarged-if desired, but no print larger than 7 x 7 inches is permissible. Any make of camera or film may be used, but the contest is open to only snapshots made from original black-and-white negatives. Snapshots entered in this contest must not be entered in any other contest or competition.

Entrants must be able to obtain permission for the use of their picture from any recognizable person who appears in their snapshot if the picture wins a prize, but such permission should not be sent in with the print for the contest.

Local students who wish to enter the competition may do so by writing their name, street address, city and state, school name and address, grade in school, class of entry, and picture title on the back of all prints. Entries should be sent to the following address, where full details may also be obtained: NSPA National High School Photographic Awards, 18 Journalism Building, University of Minnesota, Minneapolis 14, Minnesota.

Pictures will be judged on photographic quality, general interest, and appeal. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in the event of ties.

A YEAR OF DECISION
FOR AGRICULTURE

Although the New Year is only three weeks old, it has already given some indication of its prospects for agriculture. There may be some big changes.

At the close of the 1952 crop year, we counted up some of the greatest crop profit losses since 1940. Two factors were involved—prices dropped to a lower point than at any time in the past four years, and we suffered a drought which equaled, if not surpassed, the disastrous year of 1917.

Many agricultural areas of Texas are still in the drought's death grip. No one can say that the dry spell has been broken for farmers in the Fort Stockton, Pecos and Big Spring regions. But as bad as 1952 was, this crop year of 1953 can be the most decisive that farmers and ranchers have ever faced.

Business, industrial and professional people have the brightest prospects in 1953. But during the last few months, the farmer has watched commodity prices slide downward with no immediate relief in sight. He sees small surpluses of several commodities and notes that production goals have been lowered on two or three of the major Texas crops, noticeably cotton. Livestock prices dropped one-third in a year's time and the outlook is still fairly dim.

Naturally, we do not anticipate a collapse for agriculture in Texas or anywhere else. It merely calls for bolder efforts toward a better profit margin. Everything the farmer and rancher buys this year may cost a little more than previously—including the labor he must hire. The only answer is for higher production on a given unit—either a larger yield on an acre of land or a little extra meat on each head of livestock.

This year of "change" is nothing new for agriculture is never a static proposition. It is constantly undergoing transition—and when big changes occur, opportunities spark up. Last year's vegetable crop, for example, brought $65,281,000, or twice what it did the previous season. There was a big opportunity for a farmer who was located in an area favorable for vegetable growing.

We cannot afford to resist agricultural changes. Rather, the best idea is to keep an eye out for new or different crops which will return bigger profits or higher yields. Advancement in agricultural methods and practices help assure us of a strong and healthy economy for the farm and ranch people of Texas.

Pretty "Foxy" Terrier

Talking about dogs the other night—and Sandy Johnson tipped everything off with a tall story about his fox terrier, "Boseum."

According to Sandy, "Comes bird season and that dog won't stir if I take down my rifle. Same if it's deer season and I go for my shotgun—he won't move, but he's scratching at the door if I so much as look at my rifle!"

One day, Sandy decided to fool him. He took down both his shotgun and his rifle—and swish, Boseum was on his way! So Sandy put the guns back and took out his fishing rod. He went outside and there was Boseum—digging like crazy for worms!

From where I sit, a dog that can outguess humans is as rare as a human that can outguess other humans. For instance, I like a glass of beer with lunch but I wouldn't think of pouring you one without first asking. Everybody has preferences—and it's finding out what they are and respecting them that keeps freedom from "going to the dogs."

SMART FOLKS—THOSE BUICK ENGINEERS!
 They've made the 1953 BUICKS 87 ways better

OUR hat's off to the men who made the 1953 Buicks what they are—the greatest Buicks in fifty great years. They came up with a new kind of V8 for the SUPER and the ROADMASTER — a brilliant V8 Engine with a long list of engineering "firsts." They redesigned the F-263 Fireball 8 for record horsepower and compression in the spirited Buick SPECIAL.

They kept every inch of room in the roomiest six-passenger Sedan in America — and still shortened its turning radius considerably. They did new wonders with the wonderful Million Dollar Ride. They stepped up visibility, comfort, handling ease, control.

And man! — what they did with getaway!

They dreamed up, designed and developed a new Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive* that whisks you away quick as a wink — and just as smooth, almost as silent. In fact, no other car in the world gets away with all the combined quickness, quiet and smoothness of a Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Buick.

Wouldn't you like to see for yourself just how great these Golden Anniversary Buicks really are? Drop in soon—we'll be happy to do the honors.

grow in an age characterized by conflict and confusion.

"We are confused," Haley said, "because we have lost faith in our ideal, and hence have lost faith in ourselves. That ideal is the spirit of liberty and the action of Americans which once burned as a prairie fire through this nation."

"Insofar as we have departed from respect of individual liberty, we have helped create the confusion our nation faces today," stressed the lean rancher-historian-educator.

The way out, he said, "is to quit looking to the other person to do jobs that we should be doing."

Haley flailed away at the oft-expressed idea, "There's nothing you and I can do about it." Rather, he pointed out, "You and I are the only ones who CAN do anything about it."

He fired several fiery verbal shots at the policies of federal government, averred that "our nation has gone bankrupt in the field of diplomacy," and intimated strongly that too much power has been laddled out to government that rightfully should be discharged through private initiative and responsibility.

Our best course, Haley said, "is for us to be forgetful of special interests and to remember that the greatest goal is liberty for ourselves and our children."

The cowman-educator, who operates a ranch at Spearman, also assailed the Canadian River Dam project, implying that it would serve Amarillo and other Panhandle cities to a larger extent than it would help the South Plains, and blasted away at the project compact, while he said gives the Secretary of Interior a "blanket contract to control policies under which the dam would be operated."

Haley also contended that several of the cities in the Canadian River Dam compact are situated in areas of ample water supply. He mentioned Plainview specifically.

of a number of reasons for his resignation being requested."

Hewlett said the man had been employed only on a temporary basis, and did not have a permanent teaching assignment in the Wilson public school system.

The superintendent pointed out that all but one of Wilson's ministers attended the carnival, and congratulated all of us on having staged a successful affair."

Hewlett said another assertion made in the same column—that a similar refusal to cooperate on the part of two other faculty members might also cost them their jobs and that they had hired lawyers to fight the decision—"would be a real surprise to me because I have heard nothing about it."

He pointed out that two other members of the Wilson faculty are also ministers, but said they participated in the carnival without objection.

Hewlett also explained that these two faculty members, as well as four members of the Wilson school board who endorsed the carnival, are members of the same church as the resigned teacher.

Background for the column was provided by the wife of the resigned teacher.

son, 9 points; Darrell Wiley, 9; Tommy Shearer, 7; Felix Wylie, 6; Jerry Reynolds, 1, and Harold Trout, 1.

The Antelopes, unbeaten this year, humbled the Tigers by 20 points in an early season clash at Abernathy.

The Tigers go against the Crosbyton Chiefs here this Friday night at 8 o'clock. That will be another revenge effort for Coach Homer Tompkins' fast-improving cagers, who dropped a nip-and-tuck clash to the Chiefs about a month ago at Crosbyton.

Here next Tuesday night, the Bengals begin playing "for keeps." That's the occasion of their first conference game of the year. The Spur Bulldogs will provide the opposition.

Monday's loss to Abernathy snapped a five-game Bengal winning streak.

In a preliminary game, the Abernathy girls eked out a 22-17 win over the Slaton girls in a tilt that saw the lead change hands several times during the last half.

LIONS HEAR MAXEY

Members of the Slaton Lions Club, at their Tuesday luncheon meeting heard a talk by J. J. Maxey on the Canadian River Dam hearing held Monday, Jan. 12, before the State Board of Water Engineers at Austin. Maxey, city secretary here, and City Commissioner J. E. Eckert attended the session. The Lions also heard a brief talk by Dudley Berry stressing the importance of Public Schools Week, scheduled for observation March 1-7 throughout Texas.

Rural Telephone Co-Op Lines Are Near Completion

Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., hopes to have its first lines in operation within the next sixty days, W. D. Harmon, Manager, stated this week.

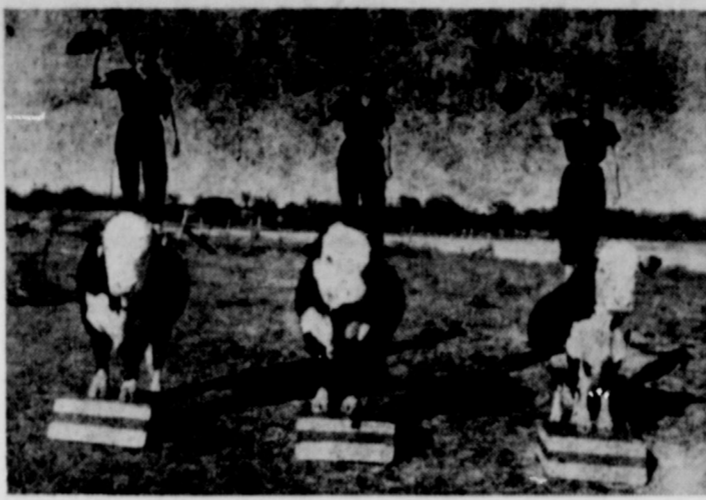

Southland Exchange area will serve Southland, Pleasant Valley, Hackberry, Morgan, and Gorden, with extended area service going into Slaton but connecting also with other exchanges of the Co-operative and is now being operated by Poka-Lambro over the old system. The new exchange building is in Southland.

Actual operation of the first section of the extensive system is now in prospect for an early date.

The Lapps use the reindeer for virtually everything. The cows, however, are not much as milk producers. According to the current Reader's Digest, a cow reindeer gives about half a teacup of milk at one milking. But the reindeer's milk has about four times the butterfat of average cow's milk. A few drops will turn coffee white.

SHORT GRASS

by gpt

News sometimes gets around slowly. It was only this week I learned that Max Arrants has applied for his Texas citizenship papers. It's reported, however, that he did so immediately following Texas University's 16-0 whitewash of the University of Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, a game in which the Longhorns held Max's beloved Volunteers to a minus 14 yards on the ground.

It was interesting to note that year-end deposits in the Lorenzo bank totaled $5,540,637.40. That was better than the $4,921,814.80 on deposit here. It also topped year-end deposits at Abernathy, Lockney, Olton, Post, Ralls, Seminole, Spur and a good many other towns that are considerably larger than Lorenzo.

Must be a reason for it.

Paragraph from a book ("The Tree Within," by I. V. Morris) I've been reading:

Cozy and delightful as this life of theirs might be, it was fundamentally a play life, thought Jacques. Only someone as immature or innocent as Lucette could still find full satisfaction in it, because to do so it was essential not to identify oneself with humanity, suffering and striving outside one's window. (And yet, it occurred to him, how many tens of millions of men and women there were whose attitude was no more adult than hers!) Nowadays one was reminded too many times each day that one was but one unit in a whole, that one could not remain unaffected by what happened in Shanghai or in the slums of Liverpool. To listen to a news report, then blithely return to one's irresponsible life, required the frame of mind of children who, while playing at war, state gaily that half their number have been killed, then skip off for a game of hopscotch in the sunshine.

Mr. Morris, it would seem, has hit the nail on the head. It's convenient and customary for most of us to turn our heads and tune our ears in another direction when such assertions are made. It's necessary, for example, that we have sewage service out in the west part of town—why worry because there is none in the flats? For most of us, life is something of a game in which there are winners, and losers, as in roulette.

This week's nomination for one of Slaton's most pleasant people: Seventh grader Jackie Shepard, the Slatonite's star newspaper salesman.

It's my opinion that there should be some accounting made of local conditions and number of physicians per capita before doctors are indiscriminately yanked out of the town where they are practicing to answer a call to military service.

Paging Noah Webster: To expedite: to confound confusion with commotion.

A clarification: to fill in the background with so much detail that the foreground must go underground.

Only once since 1946 have we had more than 20 inches of annual rainfall. That was in 1949, when a whopping 29.36 inches was recorded. Something tells me that a wet cycle is on the way. This year will see more than 20 inches of moisture fall in Lubbock County.

All takers please line up single file at Window No. 2.

Do You Know: The attractive young matron whose recent diagnosis makes her eligible for membership in that unique and elite group, the Slaton Ulcer and Amphojel Association? The salesman who left town not long ago to assume residence in Morton but is returning to Slaton?

The merchant on the south side of the square who knows his Bible as thoroughly as any minister?

The Texas Avenue man who is a bit disgruntled because he says he had to pay $5 for the same traffic violation that cost a becoming young woman only $1?

The Slaton pastor who seems to look and feel a lot better than he did three or four months ago?

I am, I think, in accord with the official recommendation of the Slaton Citizens Traffic Commission that no left turn be allowed for traffic southbound out of post office lane. Quite obviously, it would be somewhat inconvenient, but it doubtless would be much safer. Mel Tudor, who probably knows as much about traffic patterns and intersection dangers as any driver in Slaton, says it would be a good idea, and has personally endorsed the proposal.

I am not in sympathy with the Traffic Commission's recommendation that there be no parking from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on EITHER SIDE of West Lubbock between Thirteenth and Fourteenth (in front of West Ward School). Lubbock is a big, roomy street and as long as parking is being prohibited on its south side, I think that is sufficient.

I do think the official recommendations of our Citizens Traffic Commission deserve serious study by the city commission. Little heed has been paid them thus far, commission members report. The SCTC is nothing more nor less than a group of interested citizens who are devoting their time to studying and publicizing ways and means to make Slaton a safer place in which to live.

Such an effort deserves a thorough hearing.

Despite Social Security, one out of five persons among those 65 or older is on relief today, says the current Reader's Digest. These elderly relievers number about 2,700,000—almost twice as many as at the depths of the depression.

Civilians working at the U. S. Army's new Air Base in Greenland draw wages that appear "fantastically generous," states a December Reader's Digest article. Fifteen hundred dollars a month is not unusual; even janitors draw $226 a week. But most of the jobs last only five months (the rest of the year is too cold) and during this time the work schedule is ten hours a day, seven days a week.

411 Sheepskins from Texas

"Where do General Electric's engineers come from?" a visitor asked us. "I suppose they all got trained at MIT, or Cornell, or Michigan."

His question set us pondering, so we started plowing through the file cabinet for an answer. And, of course, it turned out as you'd imagine—NO. General Electric engineers don't always come from eastern technical schools. They won their slide rules from colleges in every state.

Maybe you'd like to hear how many of our bright engineers got their engineering education in your home state.

Here's part of the list...

328 came from colleges in Kansas . . . 207 from Oklahoma . . . 125 Nebraska . . . 103 Montana . . . 97 South Dakota . . . 87 North Dakota . . . 47 Arkansas . . . 41 Wyoming . . . 411 came from Texas colleges . . . well, the list includes every state.

One out of every twenty employees at General Electric is an engineer or scientist. You know that a big part of our work is improving products and working out new ideas.

Right now young men from your home state are working on big and important engineering jobs at General Electric. You should be mighty proud of them because—take our word—they're doing a swell job.

You can put your confidence in—

 "Insofar as we have departed from respect of individual liberty, we have helped create the confusion our nation faces today," stressed the lean rancher-historian-educator.
 The way out, he said, "is to quit looking to the other person to do jobs that we should be doing."

Haley flailed away at the oft-expressed idea, "There's nothing you and I can do about it." Rather, he pointed out, "You and I are the only ones who CAN do anything about it."
 He fired several fiery verbal shots at the policies of federal government, averred that "our nation has gone bankrupt in the field of diplomacy," and intimated strongly that too much power has been laded out to government that rightfully should be discharged through private initiative and responsibility.

Our best course, Haley said, "is for us to be forgetful of special interests and to remember that the greatest goal is liberty for ourselves and our children."
 The cowmaneducator, who operates a ranch at Spearman, also assailed the Canadian River Dam project, implying that it would serve Amarillo and other Panhandle cities to a larger extent than it would help the South Plains, and blasted away at the project compact, while he said gives the Secretary of Interior a "blanket contract to control policies under which the dam would be operated."
 Haley also contended that several of the cities in the Canadian River Dam compact are situated in areas of ample water supply. He mentioned Plainview specifically.

of a number of reasons for his resignation being requested."

Hewlett said the man had been employed only on a temporary basis, and did not have a permanent teaching assignment in the Wilson public school system.

The superintendent pointed out that "all but one of Wilson's ministers attended the carnival, and congratulated all of us on having staged a successful affair."

Hewlett said another assertion made in the same column—that a similar refusal to cooperate on the part of two other faculty members might also cost them their jobs and that they had hired lawyers to fight the decision—"would be a real surprise to me because I have heard nothing about it."

He pointed out that two other members of the Wilson faculty are also ministers, but said they participated in the carnival without objection.

Hewlett also explained that these two faculty members, as well as four members of the Wilson school board who endorsed the carnival, are members of the same church as the resigned teacher.

Background for the column was provided by the wife of the resigned teacher.

BENGALS LOSE TO—

son, 9 points; Darrell Wiley, 9; Tommy Shearer, 7; Felix Wylie, 6; Jerry Reynolds, 1, and Harold Trout, 1.

The Antelopes, unbeaten this year, humbled the Tigers by 20 points in an early season clash at Abernathy.

The Tigers go against the Crosbyton Chiefs here this Friday night at 8 o'clock. That will be another revenge effort for Coach Homer Tompkins' just-improving cagers, who dropped a nip-and-tuck clash to the Chiefs about a month ago at Crosbyton.

Here next Tuesday night, the Bengals begin playing "for keeps." That's the occasion of their first conference game of the year. The Spur Bulldogs will provide the opposition.

Monday's loss to Abernathy snapped a five-game Bengal winning streak.

In a preliminary game, the Abernathy girls eked out a 22-17 win over the Slaton girls in a tilt that saw the lead change hands several times during the last half.

LIONS HEAR MAXEY

Members of the Slaton Lions Club, at their Tuesday luncheon meeting heard a talk by J. J. Maxey on the Canadian River Dam hearing held Monday, Jan. 12, before the State Board of Water Engineers at Austin. Maxey, city secretary here, and City Commissioner J. E. Eckert attended the session. The Lions also heard a brief talk by Dudley Berry stressing the importance of Public Schools Week, scheduled for observation March 1-7 throughout Texas.

Rural Telephone Co-Op Lines Are Near Completion

Poka-Lambro Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc., hopes to have its first lines in operation within the next sixty days. W. D. Harmon, Manager, stated this week.

Southland Exchange area will serve Southland, Pleasant Valley, Hackberry, Morgan, and Gorden, with extended area service going into Slaton but connecting also with other exchanges of the Cooperative and is now being operated by Poka-Lambro over the old system. The new exchange building is in Southland.

Actual operation of the first section of the extensive system is now in prospect for an early date.

The Lapps use the reindeer for virtually everything. The cows, however, are not much as milk producers. According to the current Reader's Digest, a cow reindeer gives about half a teacup of milk at one milking. But the reindeer's milk has about four times the butterfat of average cow's milk. A few drops will turn coffee white.

Radio will never be wholly satisfactory to the listener until he can turn off unpopular programs with a click that will be heard in the studio.—Irving Hoffman, quoted in Coronet.

Reno, Nevada is farther west than Los Angeles, California.

The three Head sisters and the Herefords they have trained—two bulls and a cow—will be featured in the world's greatest indoor rodeo at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, Jan. 30 through Feb. 8. The three girls—including twins who are still in high school—live at Campbell in Hunt County. The Herefords do just about everything that a trained horse can do.

● SHORT GRASS

by gpt

News sometimes gets around slowly. It was only this week I learned that Max Arrants has applied for his Texas citizenship papers. It's reported, however, that he did so immediately following Texas University's 16-0 whitewash of the University of Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, a game in which the Longhorns held Max's beloved Volunteers to a minus 14 yards on the ground.

It was interesting to note that year-end deposits in the Lorenzo bank totaled $5,540,637.40. That was better than the $4,921,814.80 on deposit here. It also topped year-end deposits at Abernathy, Lockney, Olton, Post, Ralls, Seminole, Spur and a good many other towns that are considerably larger than Lorenzo.

Must be a reason for it.

Paragraph from a book ("The Tree Within," by I. V. Morris) I've been reading:

Cozy and delightful as this life of theirs might be, it was fundamentally a play life, thought Jacques. Only someone as immature or innocent as Lucette could still find full satisfaction in it, because to do so it was essential not to identify oneself with humanity, suffering and striving outside one's window. (And yet, it occurred to him, how many tens of millions of men and women there were whose attitude was no more adult than hers!) Nowadays one was reminded too many times each day that one was but one unit in a whole, that one could not remain unaffected by what happened in Shanghai or in the slums of Liverpool. To listen to a news report, then blithely return to one's irresponsible life, required the frame of mind of children who, while playing at war, state gaily that half their number have been killed, then skip off for a game of hopscotch in the sunshine.

Mr. Morris, it would seem, has hit the nail on the head. It's convenient and customary for most of us to turn our heads and tune our ears in another direction when such assertions are made. It's necessary, for example, that we have sewage service out in the west part of town—why worry because there is none in the flats? For most of us, life is something of a game in which there are winners, and losers, as in roulette.

This week's nomination for one of Slaton's most pleasant people: Seventh grader Jackie Shepard, the Slatonite's star newspaper salesman.

It's my opinion that there should be some accounting made of local conditions and number of physicians per capita before doctors are indiscriminately yanked out of the town where they are practicing to answer a call to military service.

Paging Noah Webster: To expedite: to confound confusion with commotion.

A clarification: to fill in the background with so much detail that the foreground must go underground.

Only once since 1946 have we had more than 20 inches of annual rainfall. That was in 1949, when a whopping 29.36 inches was recorded. Something tells me that a wet cycle is on the way. This year will see more than 20 inches of moisture fall in Lubbock County.

All takers please line up single file at Window No. 2.

Do You Know: The attractive young matron whose recent diagnosis makes her eligible for membership in that unique and elite group, the Slaton Ulcer and Amphojel Association? The salesman who left town not long ago to assume residence in Morton but is returning to Slaton?

The merchant on the south side of the square who knows his Bible as thoroughly as any minister?

The Texas Avenue man who is a bit disgruntled because he says he had to pay $5 for the same traffic violation that cost a becoming young woman only $1?

The Slaton pastor who seems to look and feel a lot better than he did three or four months ago?

I am, I think, in accord with the official recommendation of the Slaton Citizens Traffic Commission that no left turn be allowed for traffic southbound out of post office lane. Quite obviously, it would be somewhat inconvenient, but it doubtless would be much safer. Mel Tudor, who probably knows as much about traffic patterns and intersection dangers as any driver in Slaton, says it would be a good idea, and has personally endorsed the proposal.

I am not in sympathy with the Traffic Commission's recommendation that there be no parking from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on EITHER SIDE of West Lubbock between Thirteenth and Fourteenth (in front of West Ward School). Lubbock is a big, roomy street and as long as parking is being prohibited on its south side, I think that is sufficient.

I do think the official recommendations of our Citizens Traffic Commission deserve serious study by the city commission. Little heed has been paid them thus far, commission members report. The SCTC is nothing more nor less than a group of interested citizens who are devoting their time to studying and publicizing ways and means to make Slaton a safer place in which to live.

Such an effort deserves a thorough hearing.

Despite Social Security, one out of five persons among those 65 or older is on relief today, says the current Reader's Digest. These elderly relievers number about 2,700,000—almost twice as many as at the depths of the depression.

Civilians working at the U. S. Army's new Air Base in Greenland draw wages that appear "fantastically generous," states a December Reader's Digest article. Fifteen hundred dollars a month is not unusual, even janitors draw $226 a week. But most of the jobs last only five months (the rest of the year is too cold) and during this time the work schedule is ten hours a day, seven days a week.

The story, "Mutiny on the Bounty" is based on actual fact.

The new Revised Standard Version of the Bible is the result of the efforts of 32 scholars who worked 14 years, reports the current Reader's Digest, to make sure the new Book would be more accurate and easier to read than any previous version of the Bible.

Cultivation to the mind is as necessary as food to the body.—Cicero

In Egypt, where only one of every six persons can write, the new Premier Mohammed Naguib gets 1000 letters a day, says the December Reader's Digest.

411 Sheepskins from Texas

"Where do General Electric's engineers come from?" a visitor asked us. "I suppose they all got trained at MIT, or Cornell, or Michigan."

His question set us pondering, so we started plowing through the file cabinet for an answer. And, of course, it turned out as you'd imagine—NO. General Electric engineers don't always come from eastern technical schools. They won their slide rules from colleges in every state. Maybe you'd like to hear how many of our bright engineers got their engineering education in your home state. Here's part of the list...

328 came from colleges in Kansas . . . 207 from Oklahoma . . . 125 Nebraska . . . 103 Montana . . . 97 South Dakota . . . 87 North Dakota . . . 47 Arkansas . . . 41 Wyoming . . . 411 came from Texas colleges . . . well, the list includes every state.

One out of every twenty employees at General Electric is an engineer or scientist. You know that a big part of our work is improving products and working out new ideas.

Right now young men from your home state are working on big and important engineering jobs at General Electric. You should be mighty proud of them because—take our word—they're doing a swell job.

You can put your confidence in—

LUBBOCK—Texas Tech's Red Raiders are "vacationing"—from basketball competition, that is. Due to dead week and final examinations, the Raiders do not play again until Jan. 31, when they meet the West Texas State Buffaloes in Canyon. Polk Robinson's cagers have the best all-season record in the Border Conference with a 7-6 mark, but in Border Conference play the Raiders are in a second place tie with West Texas State. Because of a loss apiece to Hardin-Simmons, the Buffs and Raiders boast 2-1 marks. Hardin-Simmons and Arizona currently are tied for the lead with 410 records.

J. P. Hewlett, superintendent of the Wilson Schools reported that work will start on enlarging the present quarters of the Wilson Schools and construction of a new building to house the agricultural and vocational departments of the school, and to provide much needed additional class rooms.

$100,000.00 was recently voted by the district for this purpose and architects are now busy working on plans for the improvements. As soon as they are ready bids will be called on constructing the buildings. The superintendent hopes and expects the work to be completed by the time the 1953 fall term opens.

The Wilson High School was evaluated recently for membership in the Southern Association of High Schools and Colleges and has been recommended for membership in the association by the district and state committees.

Freedom is failing in other parts of the world. Don't let it happen here because you failed to pay $1.75 a year to assure your right to vote, one of the most valued privileges and one of the most important responsibilities of citizenship.

Let's do away with the idea toward government that "There's nothing you and I can do about it." You and I are the only ones who CAN do anything about it, and OUR BALLOT is our best tool for forging the type of government desired by the majority.

There's an important city election slated in April. Several far-reaching state amendments are scheduled for decision by the voters. PRETTY PARADER—Organizers of Ike's Inaugural Parade scheduled a beautiful slatonite-stirring Hilda-Gay Mayberry, 7-year-old Louisville, Ky., girl, leader of a Bluegrass State band, to give zest to the procession. Seen above, Miss Mayberry is a freshman at Louisville University and was recently awarded the title: Miss Major-cette of America.

People are always asking school what is happening in school. I will try to tell you as much as I can about the new fads, this, and the other. Some of the fads in school at this time are: boy hats and boots, and army hats and boots. The cowboy hats and boots are usually worn on the football boys and the football players. Some of the girls are wearing really pretty toppers to school around. One in particular is white swing back with a small ar and has buttons on each side down to the waist. If you look and you will see Sue Hodge wearing this one. Another is worn by Callie White. It is yellow and yellow plaid which can be worn or belted at the waist. One also see Ann Grabber wearing a pretty ice green topper, with small cuffs and open down front.

think everyone has enjoyed assembly programs that we had this year, especially when Mrs. High presents them. We also had movies, chorals, and the presentation of the A.A. and F.F.A. sweethearts. Everyone can relax now that the term tests are over. Donna Pearson, Jeanette Burrell, Ronald Fry, Mary Lou Kitten, Judy Mas, and Jerry Lemon are just a few that were exempt in all of their subjects.

The third year homemaking girls have been doing craftwork. They are copper work, coaster and place mats, and fixing different shapes candles. They have also prepared several dinners and served teachers. From what they say the girls are very good cooks.

Donna Pearson was given a luncheon by Joan Pember in her room Saturday afternoon. Those present were Nancy Coffee, Sally per, Judy Thomas, Nancy Clifford, Betty Sue Layne, Sue Corbett, Edith Ann Hollaman, Barbara McCoy, and Ova Sue Wilson. During the luncheon they enjoyed looking at some snapshots that were taken a few years ago—of some of the girls there.

Slaton High has received some letters from students since the first of school. Some of them are: Rusty Lich, Barbara Coleman, Gloria San, Burdine Becker, Joyce Key, Ronald Smith, and many others from the surrounding towns. Lots of the kids have been writing to get tardy excuses to get out of their classes; could it be that they've been taking too much time to go to someone else's class?

Some of the kids seen in Lubbock lately are: David Collins, Cooper Tumlinson, Bert Lively, Jerry Coleman, Jerry Reynolds, Donna Pearson, Betty Sue Layne, an Morgan, Sue Hodge, Barbara McGinley, and Charles Poer. Well that's about all for this week, but, I'll be back next week with something new to chat about.

by
A. M. J.

The trend is definitely to a seller's market in the slightly used drug and remedy line according to my investigation in the market since the first of the year. I took up this investigation along with several other lines of merchandise and find that the change from a Democratic administration to a Republican has had a depressing effect on cotton, beef, second hand shoes and bottles of medicine.

Last week I offered to close out, to the highest bidder, a large and varied assortment of pills, elixers, powders, salves and vaporizers that some mighty fine doctors, in a wide assortment of places, had us buy to treat ingrowing toe nails, flatulence, butterfly stomach, floating spots, corrugated skin, tricky knees and sneezing. Not a bid have I received, but letters have arrived from folks in far off places, one signed by a Miss Petulee in Pittsburg, Pa., offering a good assortment of things that are recommended for ice on the knee and lumbago, another from a man who lives near Wilson, who has some powerful pills that will stop itching, nausea and sand blindness, and from Mrs. E. W. Stokes, here in Slaton I have an offer to sell one of the biggest assortments that could be found in exchange for a good used step ladder or a pair of rubbers or even an umbrella.

Mrs. Stokes says that perhaps it might rain someday and she might have some use for an umbrella or some rubbers, although she doubts that she could operate an umbrella right off without some help and instructions on how the things operate.

I am still looking for some customers on our three shelf supply of remedies. Some of them I am sure will cure what ails you.

After reading several articles on diet and the danger of getting fat I have invested in a bottle of powder called Cosalt and another bottle of sacharin.

The cosalt is supposed to be used in the place of salt and according to the article I read, is supposed to keep one's blood pressure from blowing the building up. The sachrin pills take the place of sugar and I felt might keep my belt line from going past the last notch in my belt.

To say the best for cosalt and sacharin they are poor substitutes for salt and sugar.

The first time I tried the substitute for salt I put it on a piece of T-bone steak that I had saved up for two weeks to buy. I watched carefully to see that my wife did not scorch it and I held the plate very carefully under it when she took it out of the pan in fear that she might left forty or fifty cents worth of gravy drip on the floor, but when I tried to chew the first bite I felt sure that at last my wife had decided that she had about all she could stand of having a help mate of such poor quality and was going to finish me off with an expensive piece of T-bone bathed in strychnine.

In a very despondent frame of mind I finished my meal expecting to topple over at any moment, but I figured that a little more cosalt might make the steak taste better. That's when I discovered that it was cosalt and not strychnine that made me suspicious of my wife's intentions.

As for the sacharin, it tastes as much like sugar as it does like salt and it is impossible to get the right amount in a cup of coffee to make the coffee drinkable. If you put two tablets in the coffee it is a sweetish bitter taste that makes the coffee taste like the medicine I used to take for influenza. I put one tablet in it, the coffee tastes like some of the water that the dog took a bath in. So far I have gained six pounds trying to use the sacharin and my blood pressure is squirting steam out my ears since the cosalt came onto the dining room table. On days when I feel heroic, I make efforts to try again. Its very discouraging.

Being of a very conscientious turn of mind, I have felt since Christmas, that we should try out a cribbage board that I got for a Christmas present. My wife said that she had a faint recollection of having played cribbage at some very dry party she had attended in the past and having been forced to play the game way back in the dim past myself, with an old uncle of mine, I undertook to entice into a game. She reluctantly took her six cards and dared me to untangle the rules that are printed on a slip of paper that came with the cribbage set. For the 1st thirty minutes she patiently put up with my ideas of what the instructions said to do when she decided that no game could be so complicated, and she took over the unraveling of the instructions.

Family relations were considerably strained for a couple of days after that. When a visitor came in and picked up the cribbage board, that had been knocked into the corner, and asked what it was. My wife informed him that it was something a Chinese idiot had sent me for Christmas.

According to reports Irvin Greenberg and Claude Cravens did some fast foot work, and Irvin captured a colored boy who broke the plate glass window at Irvin's Jewelry last Friday night, just as the two friends drove up to the store after having attended the C. of C. banquet.

The colored boy was standing in front of the broken window with his hands full of watches and other items of jewelry that had been on display. He took off with the two Slaton men in hot pursuit. The race led behind the buildings through an alley. Enroute the jeweler fell into a pit where drained crank case oil had been stored for burning, over fences and across gardens, vacant lots and here and there. At last the lawyer, who is not built for track work, gave up and decided to let the watches and other stuff go to the colored boy, but the man who owned the jewelry was more interested and kept going until, with the help of the police, who had entered the chase, overtook the thief.

Claude said that while he lay on the grass in front of the taxi stand he wondered what he would have done if he had been fast enough to catch the colored boy. He would likely have been like the man who climbed a tree and grabbed a wild cat by the tail. His companion on the ground asked if he wanted him to help him hold him. "No," said the man in the tree, "I want you to help me turn him loose."
