Cotton harvesting in the Bailey County area is at full swing this week, with all the gins in the county ginning. Clear, warm weather has given farmers the opportunity to get their 1972 cotton harvest out of the fields. The cotton estimate for 1972 was 50,000 bales in Bailey County. According to reports, the county is nearing the 50,000 mark now and harvesting is still in progress. There is a good chance that Bailey County may go over that mark.

Samples from 57,000 bales were tested and classed at the South Plains U.S.D.A. cotton classing offices at Lubbock, Lamesa, Brownfield and Levelland during the week ending Friday, January 26th. This brought the total classed for the season to 1,375,000 bales.

Estimates indicate that 75 to 80 percent of this season's crop is now out of the fields.

Grades of cotton at Lubbock were lower than the previous week. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted (42) was the predominant grade, making up 18 percent of all cotton classed. Strict Low Middling (41) made up 13 percent, Strict Low Middling Spotted (43) 13 percent and Strict Low Middling Tinged (44) 12 percent. Average staple length was also lower than the previous week. Staples were predominantly 30 to 33. Thirty-two percent had a staple length of 30, 21 percent stapled 31, 20 percent was 32 and 12 percent was 33.

Micronaire readings were considerably lower. Only 12 percent of all cotton classed at Lubbock had micronaire readings in the premium range of 3.5 through 4.9, 10 percent "miked" 3.3 through 3.4, 30 percent was 3.0 through 3.2, 35 percent 2.7 through 2.9 and 13 percent was

Library News

By Anne Camp

Children of the Muleshoe Area have a special treat in store for them at the Library. The Library has just received a Singer Filmstrip projector with sound; and 35 filmstrips in a variety of subjects, ranging from fairy tales to travel films. All the children's films are in beautiful color, and the sound is just wonderful. Several children can gather around and enjoy an instant storyhour. This is a great addition to the library; one most small libraries do not yet have. This equipment is being placed in the library as a memorial to Mrs. Cecil (Jackie) Tate, long-time kindergarten teacher of Muleshoe, given by friends and students or former students. The filmstrips and cassettes will be available on loan for any teacher or program director to use. Records show that 46,274 books were circulated from the library in the year 1972! This is the largest circulation the library has ever had. In addition to this there were 930 records checked out. In 1972, 1,617 new books were placed on the shelves. Statistics do not show how many people use the books in the library reference; or the telephone reference service; or the copier-or read magazines; or sit and study; but these too are used and enjoyed. New books that have just arrived include: "GreenDarkness" by Anya Seton; "Rule Britannia by Daphne duMaurier; "Like the Lion's Tooth by Marjorie Kellogg; "Speak to me of Love"; by Dorothy Eden; and 25 new children's books-one set of 6 that helos small children with speech difficulties.

All Wrong
"Pardon me, sir," interrupted the lovely lady, "but you're wearing your marriage ring on the wrong finger."
"I know," groaned the forward young man. "I married the wrong woman."

ON HEALTH-CARE
The General Accounting Office reports Americans could save billions on their health-care bills if the nation's health system were revamped. In the last 11 years, the GAO said health care costs have nearly tripled to $75 billion in 1971. Reduction of hospital stays, with their attendant spiraling costs, was named as a prime area for cost reductions.

Vegetable Conference Slated February 10

LUBBOCK---Vegetable genetics, potato breeding and herbicide residue effects on vegetable are among the popular topics to be presented at the annual West Texas Vegetable Conference here February 10.

The one day meeting, kicking off at 8:30 a.m. at the South Plains Electric Cooperative, will feature some of the top vegetable experts in the nation, according to Dr. Roland Roberts area vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Lubbock.

The conference is expected to draw a record crowd of West Texas vegetable growers, seedsmen, chemical suppliers, machinery suppliers and representatives of several agricultural related organizations and institutions, including Texas Agricultural Extension Service Texas Tech University, and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

"We will have two top potato experts," Roberts points out, "Dr. Oscar Lorenz is a vegetable scientist at the University of California (Davis), specializing in vegetable nutritional requirements. He has studied soil fertility requirements of potatoes and will address his remarks to that subject.

"Dr. Robert Johansen, a vegetable geneticist and breeder at North Dakota State University in Fargo, developed the Norgold russet potato which is widely used on the Plains and the leading russet type potato in the western United States.

Other speakers, Robert says, will describe research progress and results of experiments and demonstrations in vegetables in West Texas.

Efficient production of high quality vegetables will be the target of presentations, with special emphasis given to the breeding and growing of potatoes, says Roberts. The West Texas Vegetable Council is sponsor of the event.

A beef barbecue luncheon will be catered for the occasion.

Texas Will Miss Lyndon Johnson

AUSTIN, Tex.—This city lost a part of its "personality" last week. Most Austin Citizens acted sophisticated about the fact that President Lyndon Baines Johnson was seen frequently at public events...but his personality gave the entire area a certain glamor that will be lost with his passing.

He made frequent appearances recently - the Cotton Bowl, Civil Rights forum, Governor Briscoe's inauguration, and an economic seminar at San Marcos.

Yes, Austin and Texas will miss LBJ.

He did not try to dominate the show when he appeared publicly, did not make "news" by voicing opinions on everything, but his influence was felt in many important ways.

During last year's political campaigns in Texas, he was on the phone raising money, offering advice --- supporting those who had been loyal to him during his political career.

The Texas Democratic party will miss LBJ.

Although it will not be listed in his biography, Lyndon Baines Johnson was a journalist.

He wrote a book. He helped write and produce several television news specials. Most of all, he "made" news during his entire lifetime.

His daughter, Mrs. Luci Nugent, likes to point out that her father was "surrounded by journalists."

"My father had to live with journalists all of his life," she said recently. "My mother was a journalism graduate of the University of Texas. My sister wrote for major magazines, and I've enjoyed doing some writing."

Men who influenced him on many major decisions were journalists... Bill Moyers, Tom Johnson, George Christian, and many more. He confided in many Texas newspaper editors, Art Kowert, Bob Jackson, Bill Hobby and others.

Texas Journalists will miss LBJ.

He refused to let his illness slow him down.

His last public appearance was a tree planting ceremony near his home with Lady Bird. He had spent an active Christmas holiday with his wife, daughters, their husbands and children.

He attended the funeral of 14 young people who had been killed in the bus-truck accident and the funeral of President Harry S. Truman less than a month ago.

His family will miss LBJ. President Johnson's political career will continue to be an inspiration to young people interested in government and politics.

He came from a family of public servants, but hundreds of college students in this state look at his career and contemplate the "path to the presidency."

He was first a young school teacher, then youth administrator, aide to a Congressman, Congressman, Senator, Vice-President then President of the most powerful nation in the world.

Yes, Lyndon Baines Johnson made history interesting for Texas.

Texas will miss LBJ.

ABORTION LAW STRUCK DOWN--The U.S. Supreme Court voted 7-2 to strike down the state's abortion statute. Holding that medical abortion in the first six months of pregnancy should be a private matter between a woman and her physician, the high court ended a controversy begun in 1970 when "Jane Roe" a pregnant, unmarried woman from Dallas took the abortion argument to the federal courts.

Ironically Miss Roe, as she was named to protect her identity, won her case, but had the baby.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe asked Texas Atty. Gen. John Hill for an evaluation of the ruling and for alternatives open to Texas in light of the high court decision. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, however, said that "the best solution is one in which the state is neutral on the subject...I believe the medical profession of Texas will respond to the decision and will treat abortion as a medical matter in a responsible way."

ENGINEERS OFFER LEGISLATORS PROFESSIONAL ADVICE--Legislators last week were offered the expertise of a group of engineers on "broadly defined areas of environmental protection" and other areas of public concern.

The Texas Society of Professional Engineers told Texas House and Senate members that 700 members of that association were available for "factual presentations" before committee hearings on air pollution, water pollution, liquid and solid wastes, insecticides and pesticides, health, safety and many other categories.

TOO MANY SCHOOLS--Texas may be expanding educational facilities to the extent that the quality of education may be diluted, while the taxpayer keeps digging deeper in his pocket-book to pay the bills.

Opinion was expressed here by Wales Madden, an Amarillo attorney, who is a member of the Coordination Board, Texas College and University System. Madden told CB members "educators know that increased funding is dependent upon growing enrollments. With institutions planning independently and on an ad hoc basis for enrolling the same students, and with there being fewer students to spread among the colleges, we may endanger the critical mass of students, faculty, facilities, equipment and libraries established at such high cost and hard effort in our existing institutions."

Madden placed part of the blame on local pressure on state legislators, who feel duty bound to try to create by statute a junior or senior college or technical training facility in their communities. Madden urged CB members to moderate the present expansion trend "until we determine fully what the needs are and where we are going."

APPOINTMENTS--The Texas Senate approved appointment of Mark W. White, a Houston lawyer, as Governor Briscoe's nominee to serve as Secretary of State. White's term of office runs concurrently with that of the Governor.

Briscoe also named Judge

Max Rogers of Huntsville to be presiding judge of the 2nd Administrative Judicial District of Texas and Curtiss Brown of Houston to be Associate Justice of the 14th Court of Civil Appeals. Brown will fill the unexpired term of Judge John M. Barron of Houston, who resigned.

The new governor also appointed Mack Wallace of Athens as his administrative assistant to handle legal matters in the chief executive's office. Wallace had been serving as district attorney for Anderson, Henderson and Houston counties.

NEW CLASS OF CHILD CARE WORKERS--Texas, under federal funding, will be the first state to start a training program for a new category of professional child care workers--the Child Development Associate (CDA).

The CDA program, a brainchild of the Office of Child Development in federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will be administered at the state level by the Office of Early Childhood Development, Texas Department of Community Affairs.

Four contracts have been awarded to Texas colleges and universities to organize the training programs based on proven competency in working with children rather than academic course work.

Schools holding the first four contracts are: 1. Tarrant County Junior College of Fort Worth; 2. Stephen F. Austin State University of Nacogdoches, Texas Christian University of Fort Worth and Texas Women's University of Denton; 3. Texas Southern University of Houston and 4. Texas A&I University of Kingsville and Pan American College of Edinburg.

UTILITY REGULATION HELP OFFERED CITIES--The Texas Municipal League has set up a special advisory council to assist cities across the state with increasingly complex responsibilities of utility regulation.

TML President Jamie Clements announced establishment of the Texas Utility Advisory Council to help prepare municipalities for response to utility rate increases and related utility matters which affect local consumers.

Clements, Mayor of Temple, appointed Dan Matkin, Mayor of Irving, to serve as council chairman. The council will function under auspices of the Texas Municipal League and rely on the support of the TML's 734 member cities. Public utility rate experts from major Texas cities will lend technical support.

duction on automobile liability, collision and medical payments insurance. Legislation has been introduced in the 63rd Legislature to make President Lyndon Johnson's birthday, August 27, a state holiday.

True! A move is under way to abolish the exclamation point. People aren't surprised at anything any more. -Sentinel, Onawa, Ia.

TEXAS-SIZE SUPERPORT--This aerial view of the new Dallas/Fort Worth Airport shows construction progress on the giant superport scheduled for opening in early fall, 1973. Conveniently located 17 miles from both Dallas and Fort Worth, the new airport is designed with the passenger in mind. Drive to gate boarding, close-in parking and simplified terminal procedures are only a few of the ultra modern features designed into the unique facility.

Texas Receives Federal Fish, Wildlife Money

AUSTIN—Hunters and fishermen in Texas will receive more federal money than any other state in the Union for fish and wildlife restoration work.

In 1973, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will receive $605,000 in aid for sport fish restoration. Alaska and California receive the same amount.

Texas will also receive the lion's share of wildlife money. Some $1,976,620 is slated to flow into the coffers.

Alaska and California follow close behind. Fish restoration funds come from the 10 percent excise tax on certain articles of fishing tackle. Distribution is made by the federal government to the states according to a formula based on the number of fishing license holders and the geographical size of the state. A similar formula exists for distribution of wildlife funds. Wildlife restoration funds are derived from the 11 percent excise tax on firearms and ammunition and the 10 percent tax on pistols and revolvers. The Parks and Wildlife Department uses the federal money for most wildlife research, activities such as stocking walleye and striped bass in Texas reservoirs, white-winged dove studies and wildlife disease programs. In addition to excise tax-derived funds, Texas is also one of seven states that annually receives the maximum apportionment of $228,000 in the Federal Aid to Commercial Fisheries Research and Development Act. These funds, appropriated by Congress from general revenue sources, are used in research hunter safety and development and management of Texas $70 million commercial fishing industry.

Federal money comprises 75 percent of the tab for such work and the state is required to put up the remaining 25 percent.

Beef Carcass Data Service Available

Beef cattle producers in the State of Texas now have an opportunity to participate in a new service that will enable them to obtain important value determining characteristics of the carcasses their cattle produce, announces County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley. The program is called the Beef Carcass Data Service and is a joint effort of the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. According to Tanksley, the service involves the use of specially designed ear tags which the producer applies to those cattle on which he wants to obtain car-cas information. When ear-tagged cattle are slaughtered, a meat inspector will remove the tag and attach it to the carcass. Then the USDA meat grader assigned to the slaughter plant will evaluate and record the quality and yield grade factors. This information will be sent to the Agricultural Marketing Service's Carcass Data Center in Washington, D.C. Once the data is processed and returned to the producer or ear tag owner, he will be billed $1.50 per head. Ear tags for the new service, at $.50 each plus $.75 for the tool to attach the tag, may be ordered from Dr. Frank Orts, Extension meats specialist at Texas A&M University. His address is Room 322, Animal Industries Bldg., College Station, Texas 77843.

Cold Spell Kills Fish On Coast

AUSTIN--The fish kill on the upper Texas Coast which caused tons of fish to float to the surface affected mostly mature sand trout and mullet, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists. The kill is believed to be the result of last week's prolonged cold spell. Mature fish were mostly affected because they are more susceptible to stress conditions than are the more vigorous, smaller fish.

Biologists say the biggest kill was in southwest Galveston Bay north of Texas City Dike. Two to three tons of fish were harvested by citizens in the area. Other spotty to heavy kills occurred in Galveston, West and Karankawa Bays. Although most of the fish killed were sand trout and mullet, there were also some speckled trout, sheepshead and saltwater drum killed. According to biologists, most of the species affected inhabit shallow water and are therefore vulnerable to the cold weather which, in combination with an oxygen deficiency from crowding in deep holes, can be fatal to the fish.

Tanksley points out that the Beef Carcass Data Service will provide producers with the following information: conformation grade, maturity, degree of marbling, quality grade, fat thickness, ribeye area, yield grade, hot carcass weight, and percent of kidney, pelvic and heart fat. The new service can make a substantial contribution toward improving the genetic potential of breeding stock and improving feeding programs and management practices, believes Tanksley. The detailed carcass data obtained through this program can provide important guidelines in the production of high quality, meat-type cattle--those that combine thick muscling and a minimum of excess fat.

Food Prices Reflect Producers Risks

"American agriculture is a sensitive business. The prices of food often reflect the risks producers have had to take to get it to your table," according to Dean H.O. Kunkel, College of Agriculture at Texas A&M University.

"In 1973 we can control a few more of these risks than say 100 years ago, but economic risk is still the reward of many," Kunkel said. "Whether crop or livestock, the producer for a period of many months must continue to invest heavily without knowing whether he'll even get his money back, let alone make a profit.

Disease, insects or bad weather can wipe him out.

"A good example is this year's unusually severe winter. Prices of beef and some other agricultural products will likely increase due to the prolonged bad weather."

Kunkel says that this severe weather caused a sharp rise in the cost of feed and resulted in poor livestock gains. This will likely cause higher retail beef prices in the spring and summer.

However, a good crop year in 1973 is forecast due to excellent moisture conditions. This may lead to a bumper harvest next summer and an easing of pressure on feed supplies.

A series of events caused the severe feed shortage, says Kunkel. Unusually cold weather with rain or snow covered Texas and several other states. And it started nearly a month earlier than usual. This caused ranchers to feed heavily to protect herds from loss. Cold cloudy weather also reduced the growth of winter pastures, so important to cattle in many parts of the state. Then the extended bitter weather caused an estimated 150,000 cattle deaths in our state. Many of these were cows and calves. This will affect supply of stockers and feeders.

The early winter also played havoc with harvest of the 1972 crop. It is estimated that about one-third of the cotton on the High Plains is still in the fields. And cottonseed meal is heavily used as stock feed. The icy grip of winter also worsened the feed situation in other ways. Many oil mills and processing plants could not operate at maximum due to the fuel shortage brought on by an early winter.

Together with this sharp change due to the weather, the U.S. livestock industry was using feed in record volume through the fall and early winter. Kunkel said. It is estimated that a 5 percent increase in feed usage occurred because of increased cattle numbers. Cattle on feed were up substantially, 9 percent for the nation and 18 percent for the southwestern states. This caused greater feed disappearance than normal and depleted feed grain and protein supplement reserves. Texas used over one-half million tons more grain in fattening cattle than in the previous year.

Severe weather restricted the growth of winter wheat, and many calves have been lost on the Plains in recent storms. Calves that were normally grazed on wheat until mid-March were shipped to the feedlots before Christmas, further intensifying the critical feed shortage.

Transportation of feed grains and protein supplements from elevators and oil mills become a problem, further aggravated by the weather conditions.

Even the recent grain deal with Russia had its effect. This increased the price of wheat so that it was no longer profitable to use in fattening rations. Further, it had a buoyant effect on the entire grain market as speculators entered the picture. Stocks of wheat and other feed grains were reduced by nearly 31 million metric tons during 1972 because of exports.

"The entire feed situation points up an interesting aspect of modern agriculture, not often appreciated by the public," Kunkel said. "American agriculture is greatly affected by a series of what appear to be small changes, and especially by severe alterations in the weather. When a combination of factors bears down on modern agriculture, the normal flow of feed and livestock products is radically altered. Fortunately, our agricultural industry has tremendous ability to recoup its losses, given a decent break in the weather and some stability in prices and feed supplies."

"The American public has become accustomed to relatively low cost food. The percentage of disposable dollars we spend for food is the lowest of any country in the world. Bear in mind, too, that the average shipping cart only has 72 cents worth of food for each dollar at checkout. The remainder is hardware, paper goods, soap, insect spray and other non-food items. Today, less than one dollar out of every six earned by the average worker is all that is required to buy the safest, most wholesome, nourishing food products man has ever known, thanks to our vast multi-billion dollar food industry," the dean concluded.

CONGRESSMAN

Bob Price

18th Congressional District

Congressman Bob Price today announced his appointment to three of the ten subcommittees of the House Committee on Agriculture. As he did in the previous session of Congress, Price will continue to serve on the Subcommittee on Livestock and Grains which has jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to livestock and feed grains and the Subcommittee on Cotton which deals exclusively with the cotton program. The Texas Congressman has also been assigned to the Subcommittee on Department Operations of which he will be the ranking minority member. "I am looking forward to serving on the Subcommittee on Department Operations," Price stated, "for it is the function of this important subcommittee to provide a check to insure that those farm programs initiated in the Congress are carried out correctly."

The Texas Congressman also testified today at hearings held by the Committee on Agriculture on the Rural Environmental Assistance Program. Price spoke out in support of legislation he introduced last week which would require the Secretary of Agriculture to carry out the provisions of the existing law providing for the authorization and funding of REAP. Calling for swift committee action on his legislation, Price stated that through all of his previous work on the Agriculture Committee and Committee on Science and Astronautics, it had become more and more clear to him that the conservation of our natural resources is more important than any other domestic or national goal. "The continuing achievements of humanity depend entirely upon whether or not we are able to retain our soil, water and air for these are the items without which man cannot survive. I am hopeful the Committee on Agriculture will favorably report legislation to reinstate REAP which has long proven to be an effective Federal cost-sharing program which has enabled our farmers to do more to clean up and preserve our environment than any other federally sponsored program," Price concluded.
