HOTEL STOCK COMPANY PROJECT GETS GREEN LIGHT AT WEDNESDAY MEETING

CONTRACT IS APPROVED FOR MANAGEMENT OF LOCAL POOL

Expect Definite Building Decision On Forrest Site

Mrs. Moulton "Ty" Cobb of Westlaco, owner of the Forrest Hotel property, was expected to arrive here the latter part of this week to make definite rebuilding plans for the location, it was announced this week by Don Britt, manager of Forrest Lumber Co. here.

About two weeks ago, Mrs. Cobb announced tentative plans to replace the hotel with a modern one-story brick office building, probably to be sub-divided into three separate stores.

Razing of the hotel structure, under direction of Forrest Lumber Co., was virtually complete at mid-week except for the clearing away of debris.

Britt explained that the hotel was built prior to the time of extensive use of reinforced concrete, and that the lack of concrete reinforcing speeded the razing job considerably.

Junior Class Wins 'Western Day' Float Prize Friday

"Western Day" at Slaton High School last Friday invaded downtown Slaton with a parade made up of floats and cars entered by the various classes and organizations of the school.

Winning first prize was the junior class entry of a cabaret float. Second prize went to the Student Council's entry of a float showing council members and "how they work." The third prize went to the freshman class entry of a covered wagon. A wrecked car won fourth place for the sophomore class.

Following the parade, students and faculty went through a "chow line" at the school grounds, and were fed an old fashioned western feed during the noon hour.

Afternoon classes at the school were shortened so all students could attend a special assembly program.

Winners of the contests other than the float contest were as follows: Charlie Woodfin, best dressed boy; Jerry Short, best dressed girl; Leon Pinkert, heaviest bearded boy; Willard Hedges, best dressed male faculty member; Mrs. D. J. Neill, best dressed woman faculty member. The FHA won the prize for the best decorated car.

CONTRACT IS APPROVED FOR MANAGEMENT OF LOCAL POOL

Members of the Chamber of Commerce Swimming Pool committee have expressed the hope that Slaton's new municipal swimming pool may be opened Memorial day week end. The contract calls for completion of the bath house by June 1, which is preceded by two non-work days, a holiday and a Sunday.

J. S. Edwards, Jr., reports that construction of the bath house is progressing rapidly, but that weather permitting six working days a week until the end of May will be necessary for completion. It may be necessary to make some concession on the contract completion date due to a delay in tile shipment.

Paddock Engineering Co. is due back Saturday to start the finishing touches on the pool and put it in operation. Life-saving equipment has been ordered and is due.

A contract with Truett Fulcher for management of the pool was approved by the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Tuesday night. Howard Hoffman, who, with Robert Hall Davis, interviewed Fulcher and made preliminary arrangements for drawing up the contract, says we are very fortunate in getting a man of Fulcher's qualifications to manage the pool.

Mr. Fulcher, who was twice heavyweight golden gloves state champion, has had some 15 to 20 years experience in recreation. He has managed YMCA pools and holds a Red Cross swimming instructors certificate. It is anticipated that swimming classes will be held Monday through Friday mornings in two week courses, new classes starting every week. With the exception of pool entrance fee, the swimming instruction is expected to be free of charge to non-swimmers age 6 years and up.

Admission charges at the pool here will correspond to those charged at Lubbock municipal pools: adults, 50c; teen ages, 13 to 19 inclusive, 35c; children through 12, 15c.

Anthony Co. Begins Redecoration Work

Redecoration work got underway Monday at C. R. Anthony Co., which suffered smoke damage in the April 22 Forrest Hotel fire.

The north and back walls above the wainscoting are being painted blue-green. South and east walls, the back ceiling, the stock room, and the business office are being painted yellow.

The floors have been cleaned and waxed and sheetrock has been put on the back part of the ceiling.

The work should be completed this Friday, according to Hobart Trimpa, manager. An entirely new stock of merchandise is being received and put on display.

SET SPECIAL SERVICE

The last of three special services will be held at 8 o'clock this Friday night at the Assembly of God Church, Eighth and Powers, it was announced this week by Rev. Clarence Glaze, pastor. In charge of the special services, which began Wednesday night and continue through tonight, are Rev. Jimmie Pullon of Dallas and Rev. Clinton Spillman of Plainview. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Kitten, Rusty and Audrey, and Mrs. Frances Reuss spent last week end in San Antonio visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Arvel Kitten and sons, Steven and Bruce.

Red Wilson entertained at the Sudan Junior-Benior Banquet at Plainview last week.

Tompkins' Tigers Thump Tired Exes In Tune-Up For Fall Grid Campaign

Slaton High School's varsity gridgers wound up a four-week spring football training period here Friday night with an explosive 37-0 conquest of the Tiger Exes before a sparse but appreciative audience in Tiger Stadium.

The Homer Tompkins-coached varsity, which displayed a good balance between passing and running, shoved across a pair of first half touchdowns and then added four more in the last half to roll over the game but out-of-condition Ex aggregation.

Quarterback Jerry Reynolds sparked the Tiger attack, running for three scores on gallops of 53, 11 and 41 yards, and passing for two more of the Tiger tallies. Other big factors in the Bengal offensive thrusts were Halfback Joe Sparkman, End Harold Trout, and the aggressiveness of the Tiger forward wall.

The Exes—with Duane Sooter, Bill Butler and R. A. Thompson handling the ball-toting chores—controlled the ball throughout most of the first quarter and had the edge in the statistics column.

Then things changed. One minute deep in the second period, the varsity took over on downs on their own 47-yard line, and on their first play from scrimmage Reynolds scooted around right end moved 53 yards to score behind a good wave of downfield blocking. Trout's placement attempt was blocked.

Late in the second period, the varsity capped off an extended downfield drive with a 27-yard Sparkman - to - Trout touchdown pass. Reynolds was hit down shy of the goaline in his attempt for the point after, and the Tigers had a 12-0 halftime lead.

Travis Gentry returned Thompson's kickoff to the varsity 30 to open the third period of play, and on the first play from scrimmage, Reynolds flipped a pass to Trout, who gathered it in at the Ex 40-yard-line, stiffarmed a determined

In Saturday's other contest, the Lions romped to an 18-6 triumph over the still winless Bobcats. The game was a nip-and-tuck affair through the first five innings, but the Lions tallied seven runs in the final two innings to turn the game into a rout.

Randy Sanders and John Owens tallied four times each to lead the winners to victory. Pete Harris scored twice for the losing cause. Sanders did the hurling for the Lions, with Jerry Harlan handling the backstopping chores. T. L. Blisard and Butch Hollingsworth performed the pitch-catch duties for the losers.

Up-to-date league standings include Bears 5-0, Tigers 4-1, Wolves 3-4, Lions 2-4, and Bobcats 0-5.

This Saturday's schedule pits the Bears against the Tigers at 9 a. m. in a game that will have an important bearing on league standings, and the Lions against the Wolves at 10:30 a. m. Both games will be played at West Ward School.

THIS FLOAT, one of several which defies accurate description, was among the attention-getters in last Friday's colorful Western Day parade staged by Slaton High School. Among the hoppers and gals you may be able to spot are Nelda Lemon, Natrell Limmer, Betty Willis, Jorita Schuette, Walter Ledford, Gordon Stinnett, R. A. Thompson, Jimmy Hogue, Roy Wells, Chester Fondy and Bobby Teffertiller. Driving the tractor is Roy Jones. (Staff Photo)

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

BY VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association
AUSTIN, Tex.—The Legislature worked this week on compromise plans to give public school teachers more pay.

Those who wanted more money for teachers seemed ready to accept something less than the $600 per year they had originally demanded.

The House lagged behind in committee action on new tax bills to provide the money for teachers. It would take about $33 million per year to give the school people an additional $600 annually.

At the same time, the administration kept up its pressure against new taxation.

The governor asked the legislature to wait and see what would become of a natural gas tax, passed during the last session and being tested in the courts.

Meanwhile the State supreme court declared the tax valid. But the issue was not finally settled. The gas companies could appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Representative Douglas E. Bergman of Dallas suggested that teacher pay be hiked $306 per year, starting next September, if the state wins its fight for the natural gas tax.

Representative D. H. Buchanan of Longview wanted to pass a new tax on natural gas, to bring in $15 million per year for teachers. This tax would become invalid if the present tax is found to be constitutional.

And Representative Lamar Zivley of Temple recommended financing a $360 per year raise for teachers with a tax on natural gas.

There was strength behind movements to adjourn the session—without any new tax. That would mean no pay increase for teachers.

Although both houses have voted $600 per year pay raises for schoolmarm, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert has said that the money is not in sight to pay the cost.

That means no more money for teachers, unless a tax bill is passed.

Even so, the Senate has signified that it is ready to quit and go home.

And in the House, at week's end, it seemed likely that the since die adjournment would come during the week of May 25.

The session passed its 120th day Tuesday, and the pay of legislators automatically dropped from $10 per day to $5 per day.

The House passed on second reading a bill to change the Gilmer-Aikin minimum foundation fund by revising the economic index annually, instead of every four years.

Under the bill, no district's dues can be changed more than 10 per cent in any one year.

The House approved and sent to the Senate a bill that would increase the automobile travel expense of state employees from six to seven cents a mile. The House also voted to outlaw cross-filing by political candidates—that is, running as candidate of more than one party.

The House passed a bill requiring cities to hold, when petitioned, an election on reducing the work week of police and firemen.

As amended the election would be held at the next city election, general or special. Originally, the bill called for the election to be held within 90 days after submission of the petition, which would have to carry the names of 25 per cent of those who voted in the last preceding election.

Other measures also became lost causes, unless the Legislature should hang on for a long session. The Senate passed, 17 to 13, a proposed constitutional amendment that would boost the salaries of legislators from $10 to $25 per day.

But the vote was insufficient to give the resolution, already passed by the House, final approval. Senator George Parkhouse of Dallas lacked two votes to bring up the Ford bill—one that would prohibit payment of unemployment benefits to union members off the job in one plant of a corporation because of a strike in another plant of the same corporation.

This one is called the Ford bill because the Ford plant at Dallas closed because of a strike at another Ford plant.

A so-called loan shark bill took a rugged punch in the House, but refused to lie down and be counted out.

The bill, by Representative Reagan R. Huffman of Marshall, would authorize courts to assess jail sentences against any lender whose charges exceed 36 per cent.

Huffman asked the House to order a report on the bill from the judiciary committee.

The motion failed. Thereupon, Representative Ben Atwell of Dallas, head of a subcommittee studying the bill, set about to revise it.

The subcommittee's report promised a report to the full committee next Tuesday.

Atwell said his proposal would require all lenders to be licensed by the State Banking Commission, but would not limit charges.

Troubles Mount For Local Family; Son Hurt, Relative Lost In Tornado

And To Top It Off Mumps Invade Home

Cpl. Richard Johnson, son of Mrs. Ray Odom, is improving at William Beaumont Army Hospital, El Paso, where he has been receiving treatment after suffering serious injury when a tree fell on him while he helped fight a forest fire near Cloudford, N. M.

Cpl. Johnson was visited last week end by his wife, his mother, and his sister, Mrs. H. L. King of Lubbock. They report that his right leg, which was broken below the knee, is healing, but there is no feeling below the break and the foot is paralyzed. His fractured hip is mending very slowly. The little and ring finger of his left hand are paralyzed. He is still suffering a lot of pain, but is in better spirits.

The Odom family can vouch for the truth of that old saying, "When it rains, it pours." Their troubles have mounted since Richard's injury. Wayne Odom has the mumps and Richard's wife, who is expecting a baby any day, has been exposed. Mrs. Odom's brother-in-law, Tom Hearst, is an employee of the R. T. Dennis store in Waco, and is among the 30 employees missing and unaccounted for since the basement of the store, where the missing were believed trapped, has been found empty.

Some members of Hearst's family are already in Waco and the Odams and R.E. Shewmacks of Dalhart, who are now in Slaton in the home of their daughter and family, the Charles Watts', will go when definite word is received. Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. Odom, and Mrs. Shewmack are sisters. Mrs. Hearst, who has been ill for some time is suffering from shock.

"Will you show me something for my diamond anniversary?" requested a distinguished-looking elderly gentleman standing near me in the jewelry store. After examining several diamonds he selected a man's ring.

"Aren't you going to buy something for your wife, too?" asked the clerk.

"I have no wife—I'm a bachelor."

"But you said 'diamond anniversary'."

The gentleman smiled. "The girl I was engaged to jilted me to marry another man. She drove him to suicide. She married another and bankrupted him. I'm celebrating the diamond anniversary of the day she didn't marry me."

DO YOU REMEMBER?

ONE YEAR AGO IN SLATON

Taken from May 16, 1952

Rumbling strife and discord may break into open revolt here next week. Here's why: Yesterday was the day townsmen were slated to begin sprouting a stubble to publicize Slaton's annual Frontier Day celebration, scheduled June 14. Many already have bushied forth with an amusing variety of bristle-work. At mid-week, however, the Slatonite learned from a reliable source that an anti-beard faction is forming, purportedly led by Travis Reynolds, and numbering more than 50 followers. If there's to be dunking, there's some question now as to who may be dunked.

More than half a hundred men have already donned old-fashioned derby hats here as part of a movement to arouse enthusiasm for Slaton's Frontier Day celebration scheduled for Saturday, June 14.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt was among the honored mothers at the A. and M. College Mother's Day observance. As honored mother of Battery E, Field Artillery, of which her son, John, is Cadet Captain, she pinned buttonnairs on each boy. Only one white flower was pinned.

A surprise birthday and Mother's Day dinner was held Sunday for Mrs. A. C. Eaves. All of her children and grandchildren were there.

City Secretary Ward will get some relief from water customers griping about water pressure, cotton farmers will be too busy planting cotton for the next week or two to talk politics and listen to war news and Victory Gardens will be smiling for some time to come, over the timely rain that fell over the last week end. According to G. H. Orr's measurements 2 23/32 inches fell.

Briggs Robertson, manager of the Slaton Ration Office, announcing that applications for canning sugar can now be made at the ration office. Ten pounds will be issued each person for canning purposes.

At the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce last Tuesday night a report was given from William R. Sewell on an investigation he had made on the possibility of getting Slaton designated as a Defense Center so that new home construction could be made here. Mr. Sewell reported that even if Slaton could be so designated that new homes could not be constructed, however, he did report that repairs on property that had loans against it could be made, and additional money borrowed so that such repairs could be made to make the interiors more modern. However, no money could be secured to remodel exteriors.

Farmers are advised to stick to cotton and to plant full quotas for the most dependable crop in 1943-1944.

Activities Of The Slaton Tiger Band

DOROTHY GRAVELL
The Slaton Tiger Band really worked on April 22. The reason? A clinic headed by Mr. Earl Ray from Lubbock was being held at the band hall.

Mr. Ray is employed by Adair Music Co. He has directed several successful bands. The Slaton Tigers deeply appreciate what Mr. Ray did to help us.

The schedule was as follows:
9:00-10:00—full band rehearsal
10:00-12:15—woodwind section on rehearsal
1:00-2:00—brass section rehearsal
2:30-4:00—full band rehearsal

The clinic was held for the purpose of working on our concert numbers.

The Slaton Tiger Band went to contest at Plainview May 2. They came back home with pleasing results. They won a III in concert, a III in sightreading, and a II in marching. The band was short of a I by 2.3 points.

The Slaton band entered 15 solos. The results were as follows:
Class I:
Carolyn Fondy—III, clarinet
John Richey—II, clarinet
G. W. Wylie—II, Saxophone
Class II:
Bill Pohl—II, saxophone
James Haze—II, baritone
Medwin Gattis—II, baritone
Felix Wylie—III, trombone
Marion Foster—I, bass clarinet
Class III:
Joan Pember—III, clarinet
Russell Cummings—I, clarinet
Callie White—II, clarinet
Mary Ann Klattenhoff—II clarinet
Roy Wilson—I, clarinet
Billy Earl Caldwell—I, cornet
Jackie Shephard—I, cornet

The band played their concert music at 3:00 o'clock. The band was inspected at 8:00 o'clock at the Plainview football field. They were the first band to be inspected and the ninth to march. The show was one that had been used during football season. It consisted of the required movements and a boogie routine.—The Tiger's Gage.

Week's Question . . .

How Well Do You Remember Your 1st Meeting With Your Wife Or Husband?

Is it a sneaky trick, asking a married couple the question without letting either know the other was asked? It wasn't possible to contact both man and wife in all cases, but when possible it was done. How well do you remember? Do you think you and your partner would remember the same first meeting, if asked separately?

The question was "Do you recall the occasion of your first meeting with your wife or husband? Where did you go on your first date?"

Mrs. Wayne Lamb. "I don't really know. I've known him for a long time, but I can't remember when I first met him. I used to go with his brother. The night we had our first date I was visiting the sisters of a guy I was going with. He wasn't there; I was having supper with his family. Wayne sent his mother out there to see if I'd go to the show at Lubbock with him. He was just out of the Navy. He had called the home where I stayed, and found out where I was, but he wouldn't call there. He sent his mother."

Wayne Lamb. "No, I sure don't. I remember our first date. We went to Lubbock. No, I didn't have a bit of trouble getting the date. She used to go with my younger brother. That's how I remembered her."

Mrs. Albert Kuss. "Let's see. It was when he and his cousin came to Slaton to see their cousin, Nita, who worked at the hospital. My brother dated Nita and they went along. He asked them to spend the night at our house. I don't remember where we went on our first date. We went together with the crowd so much."

Albert Kuss. "At a barn dance in a hay loft or at Buffalo Lakes, I can't remember which. I believe we went dancing on our first date, but I couldn't tell you where."

O. N. Alcorn. "Oh, no. Twenty-five or thirty years is a long time. We didn't go anywhere on our first date. I just went up to the house."

Mrs. O. N. Alcorn. "It was a

Week's Question . . .

How Well Do You Remember Your 1st Meeting With Your Wife Or Husband?

Is it a sneaky trick, asking a married couple the question without letting either know the other was asked? It wasn't possible to contact both man and wife in all cases, but when possible it was done. How well do you remember? Do you think you and your partner would remember the same first meeting, if asked separately?

The question was "Do you recall the occasion of your first meeting with your wife or husband? Where did you go on your first date?"

Mrs. Wayne Lamb. "I don't really know. I've known him for a long time, but I can't remember when I first met him. I used to go with his brother. The night we had our first date I was visiting the sisters of a guy I was going with. He wasn't there; I was having supper with his family. Wayne sent his mother out there to see if I'd go to the show at Lubbock with him. He was just out of the Navy. He had called the home where I stayed, and found out where I was, but he wouldn't call there. He sent his mother."

Wayne Lamb. "No, I sure don't. I remember our first date. We went to Lubbock. No, I didn't have a bit of trouble getting the date. She used to go with my younger brother. That's how I remembered her."

Mrs. Albert Kuss. "Let's see. It was when he and his cousin came to Slaton to see their cousin, Nita, who worked at the hospital. My brother dated Nita and they went along. He asked them to spend the night at our house. I don't remember where we went on our first date. We went together with the crowd so much."

Albert Kuss. "At a barn dance in a hay loft or at Buffalo Lakes, I can't remember which. I believe we went dancing on our first date, but I couldn't tell you where."

Wonderful Eating Any Time

It's hard to beat pineapple gingerbread for a quick and easy dessert.

Gingerbread is a perfect dessert or coffeetime refreshment any time. You can use your own favorite recipe for gingerbread or make one the easy way with quick and fool-proof packaged mixes and have it ready to serve in an hour.

You'll find that crushed pineapple adds a wonderful new flavor to an old favorite like gingerbread. A flat can of crushed pineapple holds about one cup, and the pineapple syrup replaces the rest of water called for on a package of gingerbread extra tempting.

Here are some ideas to make gingerbread extra tempting:

Serve it with whipped cream cheese; or sprinkle with a topping of confectioners' sugar. Or while gingerbread is warm, cut in squares and pour over vanilla sauce made from a packaged pudding.

Another idea is to bake in 12 greased muffin pans. Cool, and cut out a cone-shaped center with a sharp knife. Fill centers with orange sauce.

PINEAPPLE GINGERBREAD

1/2 cup water
1 package gingerbread or gingerscake mix
1 cup crushed undrained pineapple

Beat 1/2 cup water into gingerbread mix as directed on package. Add pineapple instead of remaining water called for. Pour batter into a well-greased, 9-inch square pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 40 minutes. Serve warm, topped with a spoonful of softened cream cheese.

To bake muffins, fill pans 1/2 full and bake in moderate (350°) oven 15 minutes or until done.

Maxita Fish - Coleen Kitten Enter Farm Bureau Beauty Queen Contest

Maxita Fish, Slaton High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fish, Slaton, and Coleen Kitten, Cooper High School, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kitten, Slaton, Rt. 1, are among the 13 Lubbock County girls who have qualified that they will be contestants in the Lubbock County Farm Bureau Beauty Queen Contest which will be held May 21 at the Community Club House on Slide Road.

The winner of the county contest will enter the district contest, and the winner there will enter the state contest at the Farm Bureau convention in Mineral Wells in November.

To be eligible, a girl must be the daughter or sister of a Farm Bureau member, single, and between 16 and 22 as of Sept. 1, 1953.

Entries for the Lubbock County contest will be accepted until May 15.

This is the third year that the Texas Farm Bureau has sponsored a beauty queen contest, though some county organizations have held contests for several years.

Texas Farm Bureau Federation will allow $500 expenses for this year's state queen and her matron escort to attend the American Farm Bureau Federation annual convention in Chicago in December. The state organization will also award watches to the district winners.

Purpose of the contest is to give recognition to the beauty, charm and vivaciousness of farm and ranch girls, and also to give rural youth an opportunity to become better acquainted with the principles and philosophies of the Farm Bureau.

Girls will be judged on three main points—appearance, poise and personality.

Judges for the county contest will be Marjorie Neely, Dean of Women of Texas Tech; Mrs. W. H. Tinney, president of Lubbock Women's Club; Preston Smith; O. L. Byrd, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; and John Key of the Lubbock National Bank.

Slaton Women Give Their Favorite Tested Recipes

Mrs. Edwin Haddock's favorite recipe is one she got from a friend in Lubbock before she was married and has been using ever since. She likes this recipe for rolls because it's easy and foolproof, and a favorite with her family and her friends.

ROLLS

Mix 2 fleshman's yeast cakes in 1/2 cup warm water
3-4 cup butter added to
1 cup boiling water
1 cup sweet milk
3-4 cup sugar
2 eggs beaten slightly

Mix together and add yeast mixture last. To that add 1 lbs. salt with a little flour. Then sift 7 or 8 cups flour (depending on size of eggs, etc.) into liquid mixture and stir with spoon. Turn into a greased, large size mixing bowl and let rise till double in size. Punch down, cover, and place in refrigerator. Should be chilled 1 to 2 hours. Makes best Parker House rolls. Take out amount you need, make up and allow to rise two hours at room temperature. The rolls may be made up and placed in the refrigerator and then taken out and let rise two hours before meal time.

Mrs. Haddock never substitutes margarine for butter in this recipe, because she has found that butter makes it better. This recipe is easy because it can be prepared in advance, and if desired, can even be made up in advance.

Mrs. Haddock has lived in Slaton 18 1/2 years. Her husband is a merchant, co-owner of Berkeley and Haddock Grocery. They have two children, Mike, 15, and Ann 10.

Mrs. Haddock is a member of the First Baptist Church, where she teaches a Sunday School class of 13-year-old girls. She is a leader of Girl Scout Troop 2, and was a charter member of the Daughters of the Pioneer Study Club.

Keeping house is one of her special interests. She enjoys bridge and enjoys people. She has gotten a bang out of working with girls in her scout and church work.

Texas Farm - Ranch Safety Committee Holds Spring Meet

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee took time out at its regular spring meeting in Waco on April 28 to check on last year's achievements and raise their sights for a still more effective program in the future.

The Chairman, J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, called on the chairman of each standing committee for a report. These are S. C. Scruggs, publicity; Dr. F. C. Bolton, youth training; John G. McHaney, statistics; C. T. Johnson, awards and Marvin Carter, finance. Mrs. B. M. Harris, chairman of the women's activities committee was unable to attend.

All officers of the state committee were reelected and in addition to those previously named include E. C. Martin, state agricultural leader for the Texas Extension Service, secretary; Ed Wickhorst, Stanolind Oil and Gas Company of Tulsa, vice president and W. L. Ulich, agricultural engineer for the Extension Service was elected assistant secretary. The last two named officers were added to handle special assignments for the committee.

Much time was spent on discussing ways and means of obtaining more information on farm and ranch accidents. The statistics committee was asked to explore the possibilities of getting accident surveys made in the different farming type areas of the state and to ask other agencies and groups to assist with the work. "Too little is known," said Chairman Hammond, "about farm accidents." "We need to know what was done wrong. How did the accident happen and what can be done in an educational program to make every person conscious of the accident hazards they live with."

Ulich reported that plans have been perfected for a statewide program under which 4-H teams will demonstrate the different phases of farm and home safety. Elimination contests are being held on a district basis and the state winning team will be selected along with other state 4-H winners when the state contests are held at Texas A&M. College on June 25.

The state winning 4-H Safety Demonstration team has already been invited to attend and participate in the 1953 National Safety Congress to be held in October at Chicago, Ill. C. T. Johnson, southwest area director for the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, asked the committee for permission to defray the expenses of the team to the Chicago meeting. His offer was accepted. In making the offer, Johnson said, "We are happy to have a part in such a worthwhile project for we are staunch believers in what youth can do and the influence they can have on putting across programs for bettering rural America. We feel that these demonstration teams can have a great influence on making people safety conscious and that the training the participants will receive as a part of their 4-H work will make them better citizens."

J. O. Musick, executive secretary of the Texas Safety Council, briefly described for the committee members the status of safety measures before the present session of the Texas legislature. The meeting was adjourned after a luncheon session.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Green and Lloyd from Snyder spent Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Green. Their children, Mike and Carol Joan, who had spent the week with the George Greens, returned home with their parents.

RAFB Open House Tomorrow Offers Close-Up Study Of Military Power

Residents of Slaton and other South Plains cities will have their best opportunity of the year to see displays and demonstrations representing the military power of the Armed Forces when Reese Air Force Base holds "open house" on Armed Forces Day, Saturday, May 16.

Using the slogan "Power for Peace," this year's Armed Forces Day will be distinguished as a time for tribute to the teamwork of the nation's armed forces, the unity of the American people and to the power and principles for which they stand in the world-wide struggle for peace.

Although the observance is being staged at Reese Air Force Base, it is by no means a strictly Air Force show. Reese happens to be the largest military installation in this vicinity and holding the observance here is more practical for participation of the various services concerned.

All branches of the service will be represented affording visitors of the South Plains an opportunity to get an overall view of the combined might of our armed services and witness the close cooperation between branches of the service so necessary under combat conditions. On May 16 the main gate at Reese will open for visitors at 9 a.m. Although the day's events will not officially get underway until 12:30 p.m., opening the gates early will eliminate long lines of automobiles waiting for entrance.

Following a luncheon at the Officer's Club in honor of Brig. Gen. L. G. Saunders (Ret.), the keynote speaker for the occasion, the day's events will get underway with the graduation of Class 53-C-2 when 31 student officers receive their pilot's wings on the flight line. After a short address by General Saunders, the new pilots will receive their wings—including 2nd Lt. Maurice M. Saunders, son of the general.

One of the graduates, 2nd Lt. Stephen W. Kovach, Jr., named as the outstanding aviation cadet in the entire Air Training Command, will be presented an award by Mrs. Frank G. Trau on behalf of the National Society, Daughters of the American Colonists. Mrs. Trau is chairman of the national awards committee for the organization.

This is the second time in recent weeks that Reese has been honored by having the outstanding cadet award. Mrs. Trau bestowed the honor on March 16 to 2nd Lt. Robert M. Knodel.

Lubbock military organizations which will participate in Armed Forces Day activities include the U. S. Army Reserves, U. S. Naval and Marine Corps Reserves, Army ROTC, Air Force ROTC, 132nd Field Artillery of the Texas National Guard and the Voluntary Air Reserve Training unit.

Two refreshment stands will be provided on the flight line with officers' and NCO's wives in attendance. Soft drinks, hot dogs, coffee and ice cream will be among the items sold for the visitors' refreshment.

After graduation exercises, personnel of the 3500th Pilot Training Wing at Reese will pass in review and formations of T-28's and B-25's will fly over the field in air demonstrations.

Other events on the schedule are demonstrations by the Fort Sill, Okla., artillery battalion coordinated with a four-plane air strike; more flyovers by T-33's and F-86's; parachute drop; H-19 helicopter demonstration; radar demonstrations by the Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron from Clovis AFB, N. M.; Fisher Ground Controlled Approach (G. C.A.) demonstration utilizing C-47 aircraft; and fire suppression dem-

In the wind: the possibility that Dr. Glen Payne, who left Slaton only two weeks ago for an extended tour of medical duty with the U. S. Navy, may get to come back to Slaton within a couple of months to return to private practice. The possibility, reported by a reliable source, hinges upon the passage of some sort of "prior military service" legislation which has been proposed, and with which we are not familiar.

This week's nomination for one of Slaton's most pleasant people: Rona Schramm, at Payne's Dry Goods.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

The campaign to repeal U. S. tariff laws to permit a flood of cheap foreign imports takes on more and more an Alice in Wonderland aspect.

Proponents of tariff repeals keep repeating that U. S. tariff laws are the only obstacle in the way of a world-wide prosperity through world-wide free trade.

C. W. Harder

And while they have not set the words to music, the Englishman and his Canadian cousin will also be chanting sotto voce "Let's keep up our splendid trade between us, as long as Yankee taxpayers foot the bill."

Anyone wishing to see the silliness behind the drive to build world prosperity by scuttling U. S. tariff, needs only to look at records of Mutual Security Agency which succeeded Marshall Plan as the open-hearted giver of U. S. tax dollars to Europe.

Here is just one example that happened in the space of 33 days. English industry needs metals and oil. Her dominion, Canada, and possession Trinidad produces these items. Seemingly, it is a simple matter for the members of one family to sit down and work out an agreement to trade.

But that desire to buy and sell was not solved in this classic manner.

Instead, MSA allocated $32,-

© National Federation of Independent Business

140,000 to buy non-ferrous metals such as lead, zinc, and aluminum in Canada, and oil in Trinidad, to be shipped to England.

Undoubtedly, in time these figures will appear in published reports as an example of growing trade between England and her dominions and possessions. But one point will be neglected.

That point will be this trade was only made possible by U. S. paying the bill.

Similar arrangements are completed practically every day.

And almost every day England cries the world cannot exist without free trade, and that free trade cannot exist with U. S. tariff laws protecting the American market.

England has yet to demonstrate that it can work out any free trade arrangements within her own family.

Yet, despite the published facts, a veil of secrecy appears over them in Washington. Congress must take some action on tariff matters by June 30, yet no one in Congress has arisen to point out the fallacy of free trade as illustrated by the trade relations in the British Empire.

There is some thought that fear accounts for failure to bring out these facts.

It is known that England traded with Red China, even after Korea started. Some feel there is a possibility timidity exists about even starting an exploration of the subject, for fear it will start a chain reaction leading to disclosures that American taxpayers paid for raw materials from British dominions which England fabricated into materials used by the Reds in Korea to kill American troops, thus presenting U. S. public with the major shock of the century.

The Wilson High School Future Farmers dairy judging team placed fourth in the 35th annual Put-Down Farmers judging contest at Texas A and M College last week. Team members are Bill Spears, Delbert Sanders and Dan Cook. The team is coached by Darrell Simms, Ag teacher in the Wilson High School.

Pvt. Billy Layne arrived home Wednesday night from San Marcus Air Force Base for a fifteen day leave. He has just completed the A and E mechanics school. He doesn't know yet where he'll be stationed. This is his first leave since he went into the service last December. He is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Layne.

Insecticide Effects On Soil

How often and for how long can some of the new chemical insecticides be applied to the land without damaging crop yields?

The answer to this serious question is being sought by both Texas and federal plant pathologists. Their eventual conclusions may bring about a rearrangement of crop spraying procedures.

After five years of working with a wide range and amounts of insecticides, including some excessive dosages, some chemicals have been found to remain surprising toxic in the soil. The effects of others were relatively mild. An unusually heavy dosage of a popular brand was applied on a test plot of one acre in 1945. To date, the insecticide has lost very little of its toxic effect. We also know now that smaller amounts applied to crops as needed to control insects accumulate in the soil over the years.

The crops found most sensitive to this build-up in the soil are truck garden produce. Growth of some of these crops was reduced as repeated heavy dosages accumulated in the soil, or as increasingly large amounts were applied.

These research findings indicate that heavy, continuous use on the same land of the more stable insecticides may not be a good practice. The farmer should be especially careful to avoid careless, excessive, or improper use of chemicals.

DDT, the first and most widely used of the post-war insecticides, was studied more extensively than others. It was found that an application of about 30 pounds per acre per year could build up soil accumulations in 5 years that would damage the more sensitive plants.

Limited trials showed technical BHC to be less stable and lasting than DDT, but because of its high toxicity to plants in the soil, it is capable of forming damaging accumulations if used too frequently at a heavy rate. Toxaphene and parathion, however, were found to be so unstable in the soil that they are not expected to accumulate to a harmful degree if recommended practices are followed.

Until further tests are completed, farmers are strongly urged to strictly follow instructions set forth by manufacturers of insecticides. Any chemical can be a boon or curse to agriculture, depending upon how it is used.

TIGER - EX GAME

Duane Sooter from his path and galloped unmolested the remainder of the way to the goal. Reynolds, attempting to run over the point, was hit down behind the line by Thompson.

About 10 minutes deep in the third canto, the varsity notched its fourth tally when Reynolds cut through a gaping hole in the right side of his forward line and danced 11 yards through a vainly pursuing Ex secondary to score. Reynolds' placement attempt was blocked.

The Exes, an obviously plumb tired aggregation by this time, failed to move after the kickoff, and the varsity took over at mid-field. Sparkman, subbing for Reynolds in the quarterback slot of the Tiger spread formation, ran for 9 yards, passed incomplete, then on third down handed off to Reynolds on a reverse that covered 41 yards for the fifth Bengal score. Reynolds' flipped to Trout for the point after.

The Tigers ran the count to 37-0 on the final play of the game when Sparkman gathered in a short pass from Reynolds at the Ex 45-yard-line and cruised the remaining distance behind good blocking. Sparkman's pass to Darrell Wiley for the point was incomplete.

Wiley, who held down the right halfback slot on offense, played left end on defense and time and again brushed aside would-be blockers to break up the end sweeps employed so frequently by the Exes.

The varsity picked up a net 178 yards on the ground and completed four of ten aerial attempts for 162 yards, giving them a respectable net offense of 340 yards.

The Exes got 118 yards on the ground, managed eight first downs, failed to complete any of their six attempted passes, and saw two of them intercepted, one by Travis Gentry in the opening minutes of the game, the other by Sparkman midway in the third quarter.

The Exes, who had only one substitute, offered considerably stouter resistance than the final score indicates, but were handicapped by bad breaks, the inability to get any kind of an extended drive going, and poor physical conditioning. In the waning moments of the contest, they found it necessary to pull J. W. Clifton out of the forward wall to carry the ball, apparently because none of the others had sufficient energy left. And the redhead did a good job of it, too.

The lopsided conquest represents a tribute to Coaches Homer Tompkins and Willard Hedges, who have done an excellent job of familiarizing the Tigers with the hard-to-learn TCU spread, an offensive pattern entirely unlike the split-T formation from which the Bengals deployed last year.

The 1953 Tigers carved out their victory in a hustling, aggressive fashion not always apparent in Maytime football skirmishes. They act very much like they have their sights set on some enemy scalp this fall.

Political And Economic Environment
Of Farm Families Should Be Studied

Farm and ranch women have a duty to study the questions involved in the political and economic environment that surrounds them and their families, according to E. P. Callahan, economist for the Agricultural Extension Service at Washington, D. C.

Speaking to the annual spring meeting of District 4 Texaco Home Demonstration Association, Mr. Callahan encouraged the leaders to study conditions surrounding their homes, and economic situation involving production, its cost and income, and the political problems which are matters of local, county, state and federal government. "Women need to form opinions, and express themselves to help decide issues by voting, in organizations, and in conversations with friends and neighbors," he said.

Mr. Callahan was presented to the 300 representatives of home demonstration clubs from the 19 county area by Mrs. Carl Herfurth, Garland, vice president for the Association. The meeting was held at Texas State College for Women and included special music by choruses from Johnson and Navarro counties, reports from each county chairman, an address by Mrs. B. M. Harris, Hale County, president of the Association, and a slide lecture by Jennie Camp, Dallas county. During the summary of the meeting, Lida Cooper, district agent at Denton, presented Yvonne Allen, 4-H club member from that county who will attend National 4-H Club Camp at Washington in June.

Discussing further the political and economic problems of farm families, Mr. Callahan said group effort could help keep net farm incomes high. For instance, producing high quality eggs to get quality prices can best be done when several families pool their efforts. "The family income depends on how well the family uses its resources—primarily, land and labor—to produce what consumers want and to produce it efficiently. In these times of change, it takes constant planning by a family to keep the farm business profitable."

Whether to hire the same number of workers for the farm or substitute equipment or livestock for some of the labor and how much? Should young people consider farming as a business when it may turn out to be an expensive investment? Should they work on a farm for wages, rent a farm, or go into partnership with parents, buy on credit, or go into some non-farm occupation? Parents of boys and girls, and young men and women need to help their children to study opportunities to prepare themselves for the occupation they choose, rather than drift into those for which they are not prepared.

When discussing a new publication on making wills, Mr. Callahan said, "Many families would be surprised to learn what happens to their property if they die without leaving valid wills. Furthermore, many would not want their property distributed the way the law provides. The law also provides that by means of sales, gifts, will, or other legal action they can arrange for the property to pass on to their widows or husbands and children almost any way they desire. Here is a matter of vital concern to women. They need to study and work with their husbands and older children to decide what needs to be done and help get it done."

He encouraged women to be interested in the terms of peace which the government works out and terms on which we are willing to reduce expenditures for national defense. "Looking back to 1945 - 46, if parents had been more concerned with terms of settlement of the war, and not thinking almost entirely how soon they could get their sons back home and ways to reduce the costs of war, it might have helped today's serious situation. Did others interpret this as cowardly? Would the international situation now be more to our liking?"

Mr. Callahan was in Texas to work with C. H. Bates and Mrs. Eula Newman, Extension specialists on farm and home planning.

Why America is swinging to Ford

MORE AND MORE PEOPLE ARE FINDING THAT FORD IS WORTH MORE WHEN THEY BUY . . . WORTH MORE WHEN THEY SELL . . . AND HERE'S WHY:

People all over the country are finding in Ford the beauty and engineering they expected to find only in the more expensive cars. They're finding beauty that "belongs" in any surroundings . . .

comfort that was formerly associated only with hard-to-park length. And a study of the used car market shows that Ford keeps its value better than any other car.

Ford's roomy interiors are handsomely styled in a wide variety of colors, all tastefully matched to exterior colors. And Ford's soft, foam rubber cushions over non-sag springs give you day-long driving comfort.

Center-fill fueling is another "Worth More" feature that's not found in the low-price field. It saves fill-up time and trouble . . . ends hose marks on fenders. The short fill pipe makes room for an extra suitcase in the trunk. Here's another reason Ford is the New Standard of the American Road.

Ford has a new, smoother ride. New, softer spring and shock absorber action plus new-design rubber compression bumpers reduce front-end road shock (the kind you feel most) up to 80%. Ford's wide front tread, low center of gravity and diagonally mounted rear shock absorbers help keep you level on curves.

Suspended clutch and brake pedals work easier and give more room. They turn the entire floor space into foot space. And they act as "no entrance" signs to drafts and dirt—make it easier to keep your Ford clean.

Ford Steering is easy on you! Makes handling a treat on highway or street. Wide front tread permits sharp turns for easier parking in small spaces. And Ford Full-Circle Visibility gives you clear vision in all directions.

Fifty Years Forward on the American Road

Ford Economy Beats Them All!

A Ford Mileage Maker '66', with Overdrive, won the grand Sweepstakes Award in the 1953 Mobilgas Economy Run. For the first time in history, a low-priced car not only won in its class, but took top honors—the coveted Sweepstakes Award—for beating the entire field regardless of class, size or weight. Here's additional proof that Ford is America's greatest economy car.

Weekends: Both Good and Bad

Most of us think of weekends as a time for rest and pleasure. We can relax with the kids, or shoot a game of golf. It's a time for watching television, loafing through the newspaper, going to church, a visit with old friends.

But it is also a time of climactic violence on our roads. More than 15,000 persons were killed and nearly 750,000 hurt in week-end accidents last year, according to figures compiled by a leading insurance company. Forty per cent of the deaths and 36 per cent of the injuries were recorded on Saturdays and Sundays in 1952.

The most dangerous day of the week was Saturday, partly because more cars are in use Saturday than on any week day. Something else sets this day apart from the others. Saturday night for too many is a time when drinking and driving get together. No one knows exactly how many traffic accidents are caused by drinking drivers, but everyone knows it is a major problem. Everyone needs to know that even one drink before a drive is too many.

Such Talk, Mr. Benson!

Ezra Taft Benson is something new in the line of agriculture secretaries. Some might even consider him refreshing.

Since taking over his job as head of the huge, sprawling Department of Agriculture, Benson has attempted a sharp break with the past. He has harshly criticized price supports, politically a sacred cow. Talking more like a business man than a politician, he has advised massive doses of free enterprise as medicine for the farm industry of the U. S.

How Benson's formula is going over with the farmer remains to be seen. But some of the things he has been saying sound pretty wholesome.

Talking recently to a convention of the American Dairy Association, Benson painted a picture of the 37 million pounds of butter, 7 million pounds of cheese, 56 million pounds of dried milk held by the federal government in its price support program.

What has been the actual effect of the support program, aside from the temporary result of bolstering prices? Benson's answer is that the long-range effect has been to damage the dairy industry. Because of "abnormally high prices," the dairy industry has been pricing itself out of the market, declared the secretary.

Substitutes, such as margarine and various other spreads, have cut deeply into the butter market, Benson said. The average American now uses 130 pounds of milk products less than in 1939. "It has become too easy to merely spend taxpayer's money to bolster markets," Benson said.

What's the answer? The secretary urged dairymen to improve techniques, cut costs, lower prices and seek new outlets for their product. "No industry thrives on a shrinking volume of business," he observed. "There is no overall surplus of dairy products. Actually, there exists a great shortage of milk to meet our full needs. What we have is a lack of adjustment to the markets—so that not all of the butter, cheese and dried milk is being consumed. If the adjustments are made, the surplus problem will be gone."

Benson also pointed to cotton and wool as two more farm industries that have allowed themselves to become fat and complacent on government rigged prices. Synthetic fibers, like nylon and rayon, now account for the equivalent of 3,300,000 bales of cotton per year. Suits, rugs and other goods now use an increasing portion of fiber to fill for high priced wool. Perhaps if these price-supported industries had been battling to hold or expand their markets they would not have fallen such easy prey to competition.

It is strange indeed to hear such talk from a secretary of agriculture. Who would ever think a man in that job would go around preaching free enterprise!—Carlsbad (N.M., Current-Argus.

Inconsistency at Austin

The House of Representatives at Austin seems more than a little inconsistent in its votes on two aspects of the proposed revision of the Texas election code. First the House voted to do away with the cross-filing system, used for the first and only time last summer, which permits one party to give its own nomination to candidates of another party. Then it declined to the necessity for holding a party primary in 1954.

The inconsistency lies in the fact that it was largely, if not entirely, as a result of the cross-filing system that the Republicans spoiled sufficient votes in the race for governor to make it mandatory under present law for them to conduct a primary. If the one is to be done away with, then why not the other?

It is clear that the primary requirement will impose a considerable financial burden upon the Republicans, perhaps an insuperable one. Primaries in Texas are financed by assessment of the candidates participating in them. It is scarcely thinkable that the Republicans will be able to nominate candidates for a sufficient number of offices in each county to make the assessment plan feasible as a means of paying the primary expense. Thus the Republican Party in Texas may find it financially impossible to do what the law requires it to do.

The Legislature has it within its power to mitigate this dilemma, even though the method would not solve it completely. This could be done by providing for the primaries of the two parties to be held jointly. This would cut down the manpower requirements substantially, since the officials conducting the voting of both parties would be the same. A voter going to the polls would be handed a ballot on which the candidates of both parties would be printed in parallel columns, just as in the case in general elections. The voter then could choose the party for whose candidates he wishes to vote and could mark the ballot accordingly.

An equitable arrangement for prorating the costs of such a primary would be beneficial to both parties, and the Republicans perhaps could find means for financing their part. Certainly they would be more likely to be able to do so than to pay the cost of a separate, full-scale primary of their own.

It should go without saying that the law should not impose upon any person or political party an obligation it can not reasonably be expected to meet.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Undue Pessimism

Dr. Homer W. Smith, physiologist of New York's University College of Medicine, doesn't think much of mankind's ability to endure the strains of modern life.

"We are growing up," he said on a visit to Los Angeles, "as twisted, artificial creatures that break down in a crisis."

He puts the blame on the "greater complexities and ever increasing inhibitors" of the past 2000 years.

This is an old and familiar foreboding, uttered periodically by medical men.

When railroads first came in, it was predicted that men would disintegrate if carried along at 60 miles per hour.

When the automobile became common, some rose to say that the human race would lose the use of their legs, and finally their legs too.

Now men fly at speeds faster than sound, live longer, stay healthier—and are less subject to breakdowns and neuroses than taboo-plagued savages, as any anthropologist will testify.

We suggest, with a layman's deference, that scientists start emphasizing man's tremendous potential of strength, endurance and sanity instead of man's propensity for pitying or nursing himself.

That old wind-bag Nietzsche, with his talk about the superman, was closer to the truth than the timorous pessimists who don't realize how tough and sane man can be—if he wants to.—Los Angeles Examiner.

Creed of the Soil Conservationist

I believe God created the earth by His divine processes for the benefit of man, not one man, nor one generation, but mankind for all time.

I believe the Almighty gave man an inheritance of the earth, not to be hoarded as a miser guards his treasure, but to be used with wisdom and in the fullest for the perpetual benefit of all men.

I believe all of mankind, regardless of race or creed are entitled to a fair and equitable share of the earth's bounty commensurate with their own efforts. But in so believing, I hold the irrevocable conviction that man himself owes earth a debt of respect and fealty.

I believe that whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap; that he who manages his fields, pastures, woodlands, and streams with respect and wisdom shall reap the bountiful harvest and so shall his descendants while he who uses them selfishly, thinking only of his own immediate gain, shall bring to grief his land, himself, and his children's children.

Holding these beliefs to be true I dedicate myself to the task of helping my fellow men realize their own personal responsibility in conserving the earth for the generations which follow them. To this end I shall devote my best knowledge in guiding the efforts of those who till the soil so that the land which nurtures us shall be fruitful without end.

For truly, the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, but the responsibility for its stewardship is vested in man.

Baseball as Baseball . . .

If major tracks and major leagues can be taken as reliable indexes, horse racing is supplanting baseball as the king of spectator sports. Attendance at 77 major tracks in 1952 surpassed attendance at major league baseball parks by two to one. And the trend promises to continue.

Is this good? If not, why is it bad? Both "big time" horse racing and professional baseball are, of course, spectator sports. And there is a well-supported thesis that paying to watch others perform instead of actively participating operates with some positive harm and considerable negative lack on the human personality.

On such grounds, baseball—even in the big leagues—has a little the better of it as a character builder. The spectator at Wrigley Field or the Yankee Stadium may not be, or ever have been, a first-class baseball player. But it is certain he is not, nor ever has been, a race horse.

Seriously the alarm in this bit of news points to something other than spectator versus participation sports. Why do people crowd baseball parks? Primarily to enjoy the game, or to bet on it? Why do the millions flock to the race tracks? To bet on the horses or just to see them run? If to bet, how many can afford to lose—not the few dollars lost on one race or one afternoon, but the dollars lost in the fever to "make a killing" or to recoup, sometimes in desperation, mounting gambling debts?

What is the answer? Pari mutual windows at the baseball parks to boost baseball attendance? We trust not. One of the great intangible assets of baseball as the "national pastime" has been its remarkable general freedom from the atmosphere and influence of professional gambling.

But to let baseball decline is not the answer either. That would leave the field even more open to "sports" whose appeal is almost wholly to the hopes of something-for-nothing instead of to the enjoyment of contests of skill.

The evils of commercialized gambling had best be fought as such, and baseball supported and promoted by baseball—as pure as possible if not simple.—The Christian Science Monitor.

SOMETHING TO SQUAWK ABOUT

Federal Demands Excessive

Taxes—Federal, state, and local—are now taking about 29 cents out of every dollar of our national income. Some experts on economic history say that's more than any nation can afford to collect, because no economy can endure it for an extended period.

Yet our state and local governments need more money. Roads and streets need repairs. Schools are overcrowded. Funds to remedy this situation are lacking because the Federal government takes 78 cents of every tax dollar.

The state and local governments had no such problem in 1913, when the Federal government took only 33 cents of each tax dollar, leaving 67 cents for state and local use. The only solution for the problem now lies in bringing government back home, where the taxpayers can watch expenditures and keep them down.

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

This year—for the 12th straight production year—truck users are buying more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. That couldn't be true unless Chevrolet trucks offered more of what you want.

Already, 1953's official sales figures tell a remarkable story of clear-cut and decisive preference for Chevrolet trucks. But, this is not surprising, for truck users everywhere are discovering how far ahead of all others Chevrolet trucks really are.

They are discovering things like the tremendous new power in advanced Loadmaster engines in heavy-duty models . . . the remarkable gasoline economy . . . the extra ruggedness and strength of heavier, more rigid frame construction. And, in addition to all these advantages, the Chevrolet line lists for less than any other trucks of comparable size and capacity. So, before you buy any truck, stop in and see us.

Manager Advises Veterans On Procedure For Obtaining GI Loans

Those who plan to seek GI loans from private lenders for farms or businesses should contact the Veterans Administration in advance for offices of eligibility. Robert S. Manager of VA Region-1, Lubbock, announced to-will reduce delays in processing the loan applications later, when the veteran is awaiting completion of the loan or is pressed for time.

Most World War II veterans have until July 25, 1957, in which to apply for GI loans under the original GI Bill, but veterans with service since June 27, 1950, the beginning of the Korean conflict, have until 10 years from end of the current emergency in which to apply.

Governor Dan Thornton, an outstanding Texas 4-H club member during the late 1920's, has made a contribution to the Texas 4-H Care and Share Program. Share and Care funds will be used in connection with the National 4-H Club Center in Washington, D. C.

It is now time, in most areas of the state, to commence the control program for the pecan nut casebearer.

Total population of the earth is estimated to be 2,400,000,000, or 42.9 persons per square mile.

any prior GI loans, and whether the veteran still owns real estate purchased with any such loans.

Thus, by applying to the VA Regional Office at Lubbock in advance, veterans and lenders may save considerable time in processing the loan application.

Loan Guaranty personnel at the regional office can quickly determine what will be required in order to pass on a veteran's eligibility, Sisson said. This will do away with needless correspondence and expedite issuing certificates.

Members of Congress are divided on the issue but the majority appears to favor continued federal participation in highway development.

The debate is being conducted before a House Public Works subcommittee of which Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio) is chairman.

Then in the depression year of 1932 a federal tax of one cent per gallon was levied on gasoline to raise additional revenue. It later was increased to one and one-half cents and subsequently to the present two cents.

The revenue from that tax has come to be associated in many Congressional minds with the federal aid for highways program.

Others contend that there should be no connection between a federal gasoline tax and Congressional highway aid appropriations. They point out that Congress was appropriating for highway aid long before the federal gasoline tax was levied.

There are those in Congress, including McGregor, who feel the entire revenue from the federal gasoline tax should be devoted to highway aid.

Still others in Congress feel that highway aid should receive total revenues—amounting to about $2 billion this year—from federal excise taxes on not only gasoline but also on motor vehicles, parts and accessories, tires, tubes and lubricating oil. Bills to that effect have been introduced by Rep. John C. Kluczynski (D-Ill.) and Senators Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) and Harley M. Kilgore (D-W. V.).

The main reason that the big city mayors do not agree with the government on highway development is that they feel the large cities do not get a fair share of state gasoline tax revenues. Traffic on city streets is responsible for half of all gasoline tax revenues but the cities do not get half of the revenues to finance their street repairs.

The other side of that argument is that the highways approaching and connecting the cities also must be repaired and improved.

City executives of Chicago, Cincinnati, Boston and other large cities are urging that the total revenues of the federal gasoline tax be devoted to highway aid, and a larger share of the aid earmarked for cities.

Under the present federal program, cities get one-fourth of the $500 million annual authorization, with the rest going for primary highways and farm-to-market roads.

YOU and YOUR CONGRESS

WASHINGTON — The roads you drive on are the subject of an argument in Congress that promises to grow hotter by the week.

The main question involved is whether the states should have a bigger role and the federal government a smaller one in the planning and financing of highways.

That is a basic issue in the whole matter of federal-state relations.

The state governors want a bigger highway role for the states.

But the mayors of many large cities do not agree with them and want the federal government to continue with its present function in this field undiminished.

Members of Congress are divided on the issue but the majority appears to favor continued federal participation in highway development.

The debate is being conducted before a House Public Works subcommittee of which Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio) is chairman.

The subcommittee is studying the general subject of the federal government's participation in highway development instead of concentrating its hearings on specific legislation.

This is the background of the debate:

About the time the automobile was getting started toward its present popularity, the Federal-Aid Road Act of 1916 initiated federal aid for highways. Since then, that aid has been financed from direct Congressional appropriations with no tie, direct or indirect, to any particular revenue source.

Then in the depression year of 1932 a federal tax of one cent per gallon was levied on gasoline to raise additional revenue. It later was increased to one and one-half cents and subsequently to the present two cents.

The revenue from that tax has come to be associated in many Congressional minds with the federal aid for highways program.

Others contend that there should be no connection between a federal gasoline tax and Congressional highway aid appropriations. They point out that Congress was appropriating for highway aid long before the federal gasoline tax was levied.

There are those in Congress, including McGregor, who feel the entire revenue from the federal gasoline tax should be devoted to highway aid.

Still others in Congress feel that highway aid should receive total revenues—amounting to about $2 billion this year—from federal excise taxes on not only gasoline but also on motor vehicles, parts and accessories, tires, tubes and lubricating oil. Bills to that effect have been introduced by Rep. John C. Kluczynski (D-Ill.) and Senators Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.) and Harley M. Kilgore (D-W. V.).

S.H.S. Welcomes New Teacher

Has everyone noticed the new teacher who has come to Slaton High School? If you haven't I shall tell you about him. His name is Mr. Bert Goodyear and he was born in Haskell, Texas. He came to Slaton to teach the eighth grade. Mr. Goodyear came to Slaton from Lubbock where he taught for a short while at Carroll-Thompson Jr. High.

Before he began his teaching career he was a student at Texas Tech College where he was editor of the Texas Tech Annual, La-Ventana.

Mr. Goodyear has brown hair, blue eyes, and is twenty-one years old. When asked what his favorite food was, he promptly replied "coffee". Also when asked what school grades he would rather teach, he said, "I would rather teach eighth and ninth grade students than any other grades." He also said that his favorite subjects were History and English.

Mr. Goodyear, we the students of Slaton High School are happy, as well as proud to claim you as one of our teachers.—The Tiger's Cage.

GROWN AND REFINED in U.S.A.

Viet Minh Communist forces threaten parts of southeast Asia as seen in the above map. The Red drive across the French Indo-Chinese Kingdom of Laos makes possible connections with Red forces in Malaya, Burma and Thailand. Hanging in the balance is not only the future of France's colonial status in Indo-China but possibly the fate of non-Communist countries in southeastern Asia.

Meet A Newsboy

Slatonite newsboy, Boyd Duckett, is 10 years old and in the fourth grade. He weighs about 65 pounds, and thinks that he is about 4 ft. 3 ins. tall. He is a good looking boy with brown hair and brown eyes. He has a long paper route on 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th Streets.

Boyd's parents are Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Duckett, 820 So. 16th St. He says his mother is a real good cook and he thinks she would have a good recipe for the paper. His favorite food is fried potatoes.

Spelling is his favorite subject in school; any Saturday is his favorite day; summer is his favorite season of the year. Boyd likes summer because he doesn't have to go to school, and he likes to go to the park and swing and swim.

Football is his favorite sport. He's going to play when he gets in High School. He doesn't like baseball; he doesn't like to play the game and he doesn't like to watch it. He'd rather play Tarsan in the trees. That's one of his favorite games. He also likes to collect pictures of snakes, insects, and wildlife.

If Boyd could do anything in the world he wanted, he would buy a car—a red Buick.

His ambition is to be a policeman when he grows up.

One of the scariest things that ever happened to him was getting burned with grease at his home. His mother had just cooked a steak. Boyd climbed to the cabinet to get plates to set the table and spilled the hot grease on himself. He still has scars from the burns he suffered.

Boyd hopes to find his bicycle this summer. It has been lost for about a month and he really misses it. It is a boy's bike with blue tires and seat and red handlebars and grips. It has his initials on the tire and seat. His phone number is 585, and he would like to get a call from anyone who has seen his bike.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Perdue and family of Lubbock visited Mrs. Perdue's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Ball, Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bennie F. Meador, of Lubbock, also visited Mr. and Mrs. Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dunn and family of Lubbock spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Alcorn. Mr. Dunn is Mrs. Alcorn's son.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Johnson had as visitors over last week end their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Hutchens of Carlsbad, N. M. Mrs. Hutchens is the former Miss Virginia Johnson.

"MIGHTY MO" MOWS 'EM DOWN—A booming blast from the United States Navy's battleship Missouri thunders across the water to wreak ruin on Communist installations near Wonsan harbor. Study Shows Sharks Hit Hard In Texas

Austin—Of all the money owed to loan sharks in the United States, nearly one-half is owed by the citizens of Texas, according to a study made by the Bureau of Business Research of Western Reserve University.

Edward B. Winn of Dallas, first vice president of the Junior Bar of Texas, citing this finding asks, "Why do Texans pay almost as much to loan sharks as the people of the other 47 states combined?" Because 33 states have solved the small loan problem thru legislation that is fair alike to borrower and lender—with the result that the usurers, driven out of these other states, concentrate in the remaining states, of which Texas is the chief.

"And that is why our State is known as the 'loan sharks' paradise."

The Junior Bar of Texas is urging adoption of a constitutional amendment and a statute, prepared by a special committee of the State Bar of Texas, placing a ceiling on all charges, whether called interest or anything else, that a borrower has to pay. This small loan legislation also would place the loan companies under the supervision of the State Banking Department.

Mrs. H. H. Tompkins of Cisco visited last week end with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tompkins and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Butler had as week end visitors, their sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Butler and Glenda Sue of Cactus, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Butler, Jr., Dvalve and Sharon, also of Cactus.

What Makes One Job Better Than Another?

What if the tables were turned... and college graduates stopped filling out job applications, and instead, submitted questionnaires for companies to fill out? It might be they would ask:

"Why should I work for your company?... Is your bank balance healthy?... Are you expanding fast?... Will I get responsibility in a hurry?... Can I pick the type of work I like?... Are you fun to work with?... Do you have smart men I can learn from?... Free schooling to train me further?... Research and know-how?... Money for the finest equipment?... Will you recognize and utilize my talents?"

Isn't it a sign of a pretty good job when young men with talent can have a clear road ahead, can learn from people they respect and admire, and can work on projects of national importance?

From where we sit, we've been watching this happen. Teams of people at General Electric—in their twenties most often—are solving problems of jet plane engines, new chemicals, home appliances, guided missiles... everything from atomic power to air conditioning. And they're working in responsible jobs, with experts of recognized authority.

Maybe it's because we're growing fast that young men move into new and bigger jobs. Or because we've been lucky enough to hire the type of men who grab responsibility and work hard to achieve success. Whatever single factor or combination it is, young men and success do go together at General Electric.

You can put your confidence in...

Howdy Folks; A Slaton barber says it's been some time since he overhauled a G.I. haircut.

The Army really takes a load off some of the boy's minds when they reduce some of the beautiful mar- cels to G.I. haircuts.

It's a case of hair today and gone tomorrow.

A barber we know guaran- tees satisfaction with your G.I. haircut or your money back. He doesn't say any- thing about getting your hair back.

The guy who gets the barber's goat is the bald headed man. All he has to do is walk in, straighten his tie and walk out.

If we cared to make a pun out of that subject, we might say that with a bald head there is no parting and dying there.

Also, we'd like to say that if you'll let us sell you a tank of that good MOBILGAS it will be a profitable transaction.

At a regular meeting of the Hockley County board of Under- ground Water Conservation Dis- trict No. 1 at Levelland on April 24, among other business the fol- lowing order was passed: "that after May 15, 1953 the minimum spacing from existing irrigation wells will be 400 yards and the minimum distance from property line will be 17 yards."

The board issued 6 permits for irrigation wells at this meeting and 8 permits the week before.

Altogether the board has issued permits for more than 200 wells since it started operating about the first of February.

Whew! And a couple of sneezes thrown in!

Skies were clear in the Hamlin territory Thursday morning for the first time in about 60 hours fol- lowing one of the worst sieges of wind and sand storms the area has seen for several years. But it will be several days before the homes and business houses will be clear of the portion of sand that rolled into the area on the heels of blustery winds.

Considerable damage has been registered by the "duster" on the small crops that were up. Maize and other small crops that were coming up in many portions of the county were whipped and buffeted around and in many cases the young plants were snapped off by the cutting sands. Wheat and oats suffered some damage, al- though most of these grains were past sand damage—but they still can be benefitted by some good rains.

—The Hamlin Herald

Practically every farmer in this area is just waiting patiently for the weather to shape up just right. And presto, every planter in the country will be in the fields shoot- ing cotton seed into the ground.

There is a good season in the ground, produced by irrigation, beds have been knifed to kill small weeds and keep the ground mulch and preserve moisture, and every- thing is ready to go at the proper time.

Revenue bonds in the amount of $20,000 are being issued today under authority of the City of Ralls. Proceeds from the sale of these bonds, issued in denominations of $500, will be used to finance con- struction of a swimming pool for the city.

The bonds will draw interest at the rate of 4 per cent, and shall be tax exempt. The bonds mature on or before a period of 10 years from date of issuance.

Snowed in for the first eight days after their arrival in Kodiak, Alaska, Ruidoso's three flying bear hunters all bagged their trophies when they did get out to hunt. Dewey Gann bagged the first, Ralph Brown the second and R. H. Hedgecoke the third, after drawing lots to hunt in that order. All three said they were greatly impressed by the size of the bruins and the amount of shots it took to "bring 'em down." Each of the men bagged bears measuring ten foot or more in length.

—The Ruidoso News

The sport of racing hounds on the trail of various "varmints" of this Texas range country is being revived by Hubert Morrow, linotype operator for The Big Bend Sentinel.

Mr. Morrow moved his family to Marfa last fall in the hope that he could find the sort of hunting he wanted in this area, and re- cently brought two of his pack of five hounds from Arkansas, where he had been keeping them.

Running the hounds was a big sport in this area for many years, with bear as one of the principal sources of game, but of late years there has been less of the sport, the few remaining hounds being used only occasionally to try to run down a panther which might have wandered into the area.

The fat's in the fire! At least anyone following city firemen to a blaze or standing within 100 feet of where a fire is being ex- tinguished will have to answer for it in corporation court. That is the unanimous decision of the Seminole City Council as they rang-

Farm Bureau representatives from 10 counties met in Lubbock April 25 to discuss the area cotton classing situation. Charges of little or no action by FB representatives in the government were hurled.

Plans for sending two South Plains representatives of the Farm Bureau to Washington to discuss cotton classing, split grades and other problems concerning the cot- ton industry in this area were made.

CHICK CHATS

Presented By Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories

VACCINATE NOW, PREVENT DISEASE

Vaccination is still the surest means of disease prevention. Therefore, for those diseases which can be prevented this way, vaccination is recommended generally.

Newcastle disease is one of the foremost poultry diseases which is preventable by vaccination. Since Newcastle in its virulent form is very destructive, all poultry-raisers who have knowledge that this disease has occurred in their area should vaccinate.

Early Vaccination

It is possible to vaccinate against Newcastle disease at one day of age. Chicks which have no parental, or inherited, immunity can be vaccinated by the intranasal method. This is done with an extremely mild virus which, however, gives excellent immunity.

Preferably, chicks should be vaccinated by the intranasal method at 5 to 10 days of age since im- munity response is better then than earlier. However, with the mild strain of virus, it is possible to vaccinate at any time.

Vaccination, properly done, provides a high degree of immunity. It is advisable to revaccinate pul- lets shortly before they begin lay- ing.

Wing-Web Vaccine

Another type of vaccine which is used against Newcastle disease is the so-called wing-web. This vaccine, from a different strain of virus is recommended for use on birds between 4 and 16 weeks of age.

Fowl-pox vaccine is also applied by the wing-web method. Although younger birds may be vaccinated, fowl-pox vaccination is customarily deferred till the birds are 6 to 12 weeks old.

Vaccination against fowl laryn- gotracheitis is recommended in ar- eas where this disease is common. This vaccination, which is done by the vent method, is customarily between 6 and 12 weeks.

Since it is always better to pre- vent disease, the poultry-raiser will find vaccination is a valuable aid in a successful poultry pro- gram.

Television isn't old enough in this area for this to happen yet, but it is something parents can think over and watch for. According to one of the world's leading orthodontists, Television malocclusion may soon inflict its damage on the younger generation.

Do your youngsters cradle their jaws in their hands while watching TV? If they do then they are exerting pressure that tends to push the eyeteeth out of position, and in turn the whole dental arch may become irregular.

Something's got to be done about that Lubbock weather station. All day Wednesday they had us running around tying down every loose item on the place in anticipation of an 80-mph wind they insisted on predicting all day—right on up to 4 p.m.

Farmers spent the morning batten down the hatches, then lost the rest of the day sitting around waiting for the big wind. These wasted man-hours need to be charged to somebody, and my candidate is the weather man. The bill from Lorenzo should run about $15,000.

Strickly Speaking—

Last week we had something to say about the possibility of "boners" in getting out a newspaper. The only puzzler is, that more, not less mistakes are made in printing. There are thousands of chances to make 'em, either by transposition, or a letter failing to fall out of the linotype magazine, when that letter key is touched.

Two of the most glaring that this paper ever made, was 'way back many years ago. We had something about "lads and lasses," when the "l" in lasses failed to fall. Then there was the one in a Magnolia ad once about the "flying red horse," when the "s" in horse failed to take a tumble.

WINONA PIKE MAKES TOUR

Miss Winona Pike spent last week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Pike and brother, Barton. She has just completed the Spring tour, with the S.B.I. orchestra, which took them to several western states, including stops in Salt Lake City, Utah and Denver, Colorado. Their tour was made in the bus belonging to the orchestra and was for a two weeks period. Winona returned to school in Waxahachie where she will remain until the present school term expires.

ATTEND DALLAS OPERA

Mrs. Howard Cook of Wilson, Mrs. G. L. Nelson, and Mrs. John Sims of Slaton, attended three of the Metropolitan Operas on tour in Dallas last week end. They saw Don Giovanni, Rigoletto, and Der Rosencavalier. Mrs. Sims especially liked Rigoletto, in which the twenty-three year old Roberta Peters played the part of Gilda, Robert Merrill playing opposite her. She didn't think the part of a boy that Rise Stephens played in Der Rosencavalier did her justice.

Farm Reorganization

A plan to reorganize the Department of Agriculture was sent to Congress by the President on March 25. Under the law, this plan will take effect automatically after 60 days unless disapproved by either House of Congress.

Senator Dick Russell of Georgia, one of the best friends the farmer has in Congress, has introduced a resolution of disapproval. If this resolution is passed by the Senate, the proposed reorganization plan will be dead.

Committee hearings on both the reorganization plan and Senator Russell's resolution of disapproval have been set for May 12.

Farm Prices

Letters from Texas indicate that many farmers are becoming increasingly concerned about the Administration's attitude toward rural electrification, soil conservation programs, and other matters affecting agriculture.

It seems to me that too many of the new men brought into the Government have big business backgrounds—and two few possess knowledge of the problems facing the farmers. We have plenty of suggestions about how to raise farmers' interest rates—and too few about how to lower the costs. Prices of things the farmer buys keep going up—and prices of the things he sells keep going down.

If the farmers get in a bad pinch, all of us will be very seriously affected. Helping to keep agriculture prosperous is a rightful concern of the Government.

Upstream Flood Prevention

The idea of a Federal program for upstream flood prevention seems to be catching on. Early in this session, Congressman Bob Poage introduced in the House and I introduced in the Senate companion bills to authorize a broad program of soil and water conservation in upstream areas.

Last week a spokesman for the Agriculture Department told the House Agriculture Committee there is "need to give greater emphasis to conservation and productive use of water high up on the watershed lands." Congressman Clifford R. Hope, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, favors such a program.

Tidelands

By the time you read this, the Senate should have passed the tidelands bill, under the agreement that a vote would be taken Tuesday, May 5. It is good to know that Texas has won this long fight.

During the lengthy speech by Senator Morse, an opponent of the legislation, I found out how it feels to spend the night in the Senate Chamber with only two other Senators on the floor and half a dozen spectators in the gallery.

News Briefs

Texans who hold Star Route contracts with the Postoffice had better start thinking about other jobs. Star Route setup is being thoroughly shuffled around—to "improve service," of course.

People of Zapata County will lose 33,000 acres of land less for Falcon Lake than they had feared. I joined Senator Price Daniel, Congressman Lloyd Bentsen and Robert Lee Bobbit, former Texas Attorney General, in urging this action on State Department officials.

Attended a small dinner Saturday night at the White House, given by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower. Their daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Eisenhower, and Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, Mrs. J. S. Doud, were present. Anybody would be proud to have Mrs. Doud for his mother, and the young Mrs. Eisenhower would make anyone an ideal sister.

Fritz Lanham, former Congressman, from Fort Worth, spoke at our Texas State Society meeting. Best San Jacinto Day speech I ever heard . . . President Eisenhower, who spoke later, said he received great inspiration from it. The President poked me by saying he didn't see how I could listen to any more speeches, after hearing Senator Morse's all-night address in the Senate.

Miss Kate Adele Hill of the Texas Extension Service brought 23 exchange students from 14 South American countries by my office for a visit.

Look for Congress to approve the sale of the synthetic rubber plants in Texas. Outgoing RFC Administrator Harry A. McDonald has recommended against selling at this time the Government's tin smelter plant at Texas City.

The Institute, scheduled May 11-14 under joint sponsorship of Texas and Retail Association of Texas, expected total attendance of 80 store owners and managers. The program was to be devoted to intensive study of modern methods dealing with management and customer service problems.

Each owner and manager attending the Institute was to take courses in advertising and promotion; display; finance and control; public relations; employee training; credits, etc.
