FOR $600 MILLION SAVING

British Treasury Orders Economy

LONDON, Aug. 25 (AP)—The British treasury has asked all government departments to cut down spending. It hopes to save at least $600 million—or five per cent of the nation's budget—in the next year. A government source, reporting this today, said the treasury action was prompted by Britain's financial crisis. The treasury controls government spending. Disclosure of the move follows widespread American criticism of the labor government's home spending. The informant stressed that it was not a result of any United States Government suggestions. Another informant, close to the labor government, said Britain may have to limit her social services and drop the tax-supported medical program if monetary talks in Washington next month and in failure. Britain's social services, together with food subsidies, cost one quarter of the country's whole annual budget for $12 billion. Britons now can call on doctors without paying fees under the 18-month-old national health service, though each pays up to six shillings, eight pence weekly ($1.33) to help support it. If the Washington parley fails, the informant said, British leaders may have to consider having each person pay a shilling (20 cents) for each visit. He explained that the calls on the service have far exceeded advance estimates and she cannot go on spending so much on the service out of general taxation.

IN DEMO SQUABBLE

Skelton Says People Will Decide Case

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Byron Skelton, whose bid to be Texas National Democratic committee member was rejected, said the problem "will eventually be solved by the people themselves where all authority finally rests." Supporters of the Temple man had protested Wright Morrow's holding the committee post. They claimed Morrow had not given sufficient support to the Truman-Barkley ticket last year. The National Democratic Committee yesterday upheld Morrow's claim to the job. In so doing, it reversed the decision of the Texas state party convention last September and the state executive committee's action a month later. The credentials committee, in its recommendation to the full Democratic National Committee, said a majority of its members "feels that the evidence did not sustain the charges (against Morrow)." In a statement after the decision, Skelton said: "We came to Washington for the purpose of seeing that the mandate of the Democratic Party in Texas was carried out. We presented evidence showing the national committee showing the overwhelming action on the national committee question of the Democratic State Convention of Texas and by our state democratic executive committee and the county and precinct chairman's association in removing Mr. Morrow as national committee-

NOTICE: DELINQUENT TAXES
A number of people, not owning any real estate, do have assessed to them taxes on personal property. Quite a bit of back taxes are owing the City and School on personal property, and should be paid before any suit is filed for collection. Many of the letters sent out, heretofore, were not given proper attention, and suit had necessarily to be entered. We hope that suit will not be necessary to collect the taxes on personal property, and we will use every effort to reach each tax payer to notify as to delinquent taxes, but proper addresses are not always available. So, please, if in doubt, on your own initiative, look into the matter as to whether you have paid off your taxes on your personal property, check for your tax receipts. Any assistance given the School Board and the City in trying to clean up all past due taxes, and start anew with a clean slate will be appreciated by them. Thanks for the wonderful response so far given. In nearly every instance, delinquent taxpayers have been courteous and willing to do their part, and have paid promptly. We appreciate this attitude of assistance and cooperation with us and the School and City.

Acheson, Bevin May Discuss Anti-Soviet Bloc For Asia

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP STAFF

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. — Secretary of State Acheson and British Foreign Minister Bevin are expected to discuss possible development of an anti-Communist bloc of nations in the Southeast Asia area when they meet here next month.

Formation of such a bloc, to develop that area along western democratic lines, has been suggested by various leaders, including President Quirino of the Philippines.

It evidently is one of the things on which the American Government will have to make a decision in arriving at a new policy toward the Far East as a result of the Communist successes in China.

To date the United States officially has refrained from giving any open encouragement to the plans of Quirino and others for such an organization. On the other hand during Quirino's official visit here, officials displayed a more friendly attitude toward his ideas than they had shown previously.

Responsible informants said there is no doubt that Acheson and Bevin will review the whole Far Eastern situation and seek to lay the ground work for further British-American co-operation in that area of the world. A similar review is expected between American officials and Prime Minister Nehru of India when Nehru comes here later in the fall.

Acheson is seeking the maximum co-ordination of American policies with other friendly nations in the Far Eastern situation. He also hopes to develop those policies domestically in a "completely bipartisan" manner.

He made that point clear at a news conference yesterday in which he rejected charges by Rep. Judd (R-Minn.) that the State Department's recent white paper on China was a "dishonest document." Judd had so labeled it because, he said, it did not contain some documents bearing on past relations with China which he believed would have shown up American policy there in a different light.

In his statement Acheson took the position either that the State Department had been unable to discover the documents Judd listed or that their publication would not have added any substantially new information to that which actually was given in the white paper. After discussing the Judd charge, Acheson indicated that he would like to shake off henceforth the controversy over past policies in China and concentrate on the problem of building new policies for the whole Far East.

"I wish to repeat," he said, "that the department is deeply concerned in the task of developing lines of action which will meet the situation in China and in the Far East. We are working at that task with a full sense of its seriousness and urgency and in the hope that a completely bi-partisan approach will facilitate the evolution of our national policy. . . . We do not share the defeatist attitude which some critics seek so to force upon us."

Schools Must Oust Pupils In Secret Organizations

AUSTIN, Aug. 25. (AP) — Expulsion or suspension of pupils found taking part in secret societies, sororities or fraternities in public schools is mandatory for school authorities, the attorney general held yesterday.

The ruling, requested by State Supt. L. A. Woods applies only to the high school and lower levels, not junior or senior colleges or universities.

The law passed by the 51st Legislature banning secret or social groups does not affect welfare agencies such as Boy Scouts, H. Y. Girl Reserves, DeMolay, Rainbow Girls, Pan-American clubs, Scholarship societies, and other similar groups sponsored by the state or national educational authorities.

Shivers Asked To Intercede In Labor Fuss

DALLAS, Aug. 25. (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers was asked to intercede in a labor dispute that threatens a strike of 417 employees.

Fred Schmidt, international representative of the union, telegraphed the governor that the company has refused to make "any standard concessions to its employees."

neral leaves, holidays and other items and that "the company feels there is no reason for any threat of strike."

Only the distribution organization in Dallas would be affected in the event of a strike, Wright said. He also declared service would not be "affected in any way," even if the employees did strike.

Defense Calls For Mistrial In Commie Case

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. (AP) — Government lawyers fought today to save the Communist conspiracy case from ending in a mistrial—sought by the defense on grounds that a juror is prejudiced.

Federal Judge Harold R. Medina, adjourned the trial yesterday so he could study the defense's charges, called for argument today on the mistrial motion.

U. S. Atty. John F. X. McGohey announced he would oppose the motion "in all respects."

Defense lawyers for the 11 Communist leaders on trial charged anti-Red bias on the part of Juror Russell Janney, theatrical producer and author of the novel "The Miracle of the Bells."

If the mistrial motion is denied, the lawyers asked that Janney be disqualified as a juror and that a judicial inquiry be conducted to determine whether he has influenced other jurors.

If he should be disqualified, one of the three alternate jurors would take his place.

Counsel for the Communist leaders, charged with conspiracy to advocate violent overthrow of the government, contended the 65-year-old Janney is biased and "cannot be expected to return a fair verdict."

The defense lawyers said withdrawal of Janney from the jury would not satisfy them.

The defense demand was based largely on an affidavit filed by Miss Carol E. Nathanson, who said she is a friend of Janney and a singer-actress.

The affidavit included purported conversations that Miss Nathanson, known professionally as Carol Nason, had with Janney concerning the trial.

Arlys Atkins And Alfred B. Scott Are United In Marriage Wednesday

Wedding vows were solemnized for Arlys Atkins and Alfred B. Scott of Los Angeles, Calif. in the First Baptist church, Wednesday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Atkins, 1901 Main Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor, served as officiant at the informal, double ring service. The couple exchanged vows before an altar arrangement of large maroon daisies and fernery. Grecian columns topped with white maroon daisies and magnolia foliage flanked the altar scene and lighted cathedral tapers illumined the nuptial bower. Few markers were used with satin bows, maroon daisies and plumose fernery.

Mrs. Harmonson Mobley, organist, played a medley of love songs prior to the ceremony and the traditional wedding selections during the service. Susan Houser, soloist, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Mobley.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a street-length dress of white crepe. The tucked bodice formed a fitted, basque waist which fell into a softly gathered skirt. She wore silver accessories to match the silver trim on her dress. The bride carried a purple throated orchid showered with vanda orchids tied with silver streamers atop a white prayer book. She wore vanda orchids in her hair.

She carried out the wedding tradition. For something old, she wore pearls belonging to her mother; something new was her wedding ensemble; something borrowed was the prayer book from Mrs. Jessie Lee Townsend and something blue was her garter. She wore a penny in her shoe for luck.

Doris Jean Morehead served as maid of honor. Miss Morehead wore a honey-colored satin dress, with brown accessories. She carried a bouquet of rose asters tied with matching ribbons.

Jackie Bramwell was bridesmaid. She wore a dress of aqua taffeta, with black accessories and purple aster corsage.

Abby Atkins, brother of the bride, was best man. Other attendants were Phil Grosier and Ronald Johnson.

Muriel Floyd and Joanne Atkins served as candlelighters. Miss Floyd chose a dress of fuchsia taffeta and Miss Atkins was attired in dark rose taffeta. Both wore wristlet corsages of yellow roses and yellow roses in their hair.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Atkins wore a sheer black crepe dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of white gardenias.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. Those in the receiving line included the bride and bridegroom, the bride's mother, Mrs. Atkins, and members of the bridal party.

Table decorations were of maroon daisies and white gladioli interspersed with plumose fernery. The tables were lace-laid. One featured the crystal punch service and the other held the tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. J. W. Atkins, aunt of the bride, cut the cake. Mrs. Dick Lane and Mrs. Wilson Tunnell of Fort Worth, also aunt of the bride, attended the punch service. Mrs. Noel Huff presided at the guest register.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Tunnell of Fort Worth and Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Combs of Canyon.

The bride is a graduate of the Big Spring schools and of Baylor university. She is now employed with a radio station in Hamilton. The bridegroom is a graduate of Los Angeles City college and is also associated with the radio station in Hamilton.

For travelling, Mrs. Scott chose a taupe tulle suit with dark brown accessories and an orchid corsage.

Following a short wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., the couple will be at home in Hamilton.

Mrs. Alfred B. Scott, nee Arlys Atkins, was named honoree at a bridal shower in the home of Muriel Floyd, 704 Goliad.

Co-hostesses to the affair were Jackie Bramwell, Betty Smith, Norma Jones and Doris Morehead. Linen gifts were presented in large laundry bags.

The refreshment table was centered with an arrangement of white roses surrounded by two large gold rings. Miniature rings coupled together with white satin bands comprised the party favors.

Those present were Mrs. Delores Hull, Carolyn Smith, Mrs. Paul Kasch, Joanne Atkins, Barbara Olson, Marjorie Moore, Mary Nell Walker, Bobbie Green, Mrs. Quintia Floyd, Mrs. T. B. Atkins, the honoree, Mrs. Scott and the hostesses, Miss Floyd, Miss Bramwell, Miss Smith, Miss Jones and Miss Morehead.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS By Mildred Young

Wonder who ever thought of the mud pie idea? Walking to work this morning, we noticed a group of youngsters playing at this baking game. We had to step over several as we walked down the sidewalk. It may be pointless entertainment, but probably not any more so than that adult game of slinging mud.

People forget each other mighty easily. Was talking to someone yesterday concerning the fact that time and space will cool the warmest friendship. Sometimes, it is not even time and space, but just a change in interests or meeting a few new people. If you know someone you haven't seen in a year or so and have every confidence that you could pick up a conversation with them as though you hadn't been separated, you know something rare in the friendship world.

Had a working associate in another city, who constantly felt that those he was working with and for were against him. Another friend suggested that he was such an artist at tearing down morale that he really should be elected vice-president of the Gloom Club. He has a cynical outlook on all jobs and most people.

There are lots of people just like him and more of us take his attitude some of the time. But even if the world isn't as smooth running as it might be, most of us get a pretty fair deal out of life. We, at least, get back about what we put into it.

We have always been convinced that there are plenty of things to make us cynical. But, after considering some other things, we've never been able to be too cynical without feeling a little bit guilty.

Colson-Gray Vows Are Read In Oklahoma City

Word has been received here of the wedding of Margaret Ann Colson and Guy H. Gray, Jr. in the Northwest Baptist church in Oklahoma City Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Colson, and Gray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Gray, both of Oklahoma City.

Dr. Paul Roberts, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of three large baskets of white gladioli and three seven-branched candelabra.

Proceeding the ceremony, Charles Sloan, organist, presented a program of nuptial music and accompanied Bill Headley, vocalist, who sang "Through the Years" and "Because." He sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the close of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin dress, fashioned with a yoke of marquisette and outlined with a bias fold of the satin and Chantilly lace. The long sleeves extended over the wrists and were edged in lace. The full skirt, worn over hoops, extended into a cathedral train and was pulled up on the side revealing small ruffles of the lace.

Her imported fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a poke bonnet of the satin and she carried a colonial bouquet centered with an orchid-throated white orchid and surrounded with tuberoses and gardenias. The bouquet was tied with white satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Frances Hepp served as maid of honor. She wore a dress of off-the-shoulder effect. The flared skirt was gathered softly in the back forming a bustle effect. She wore a poke bonnet of satin and carried a colonial bouquet of daisies with Nile green satin streamers.

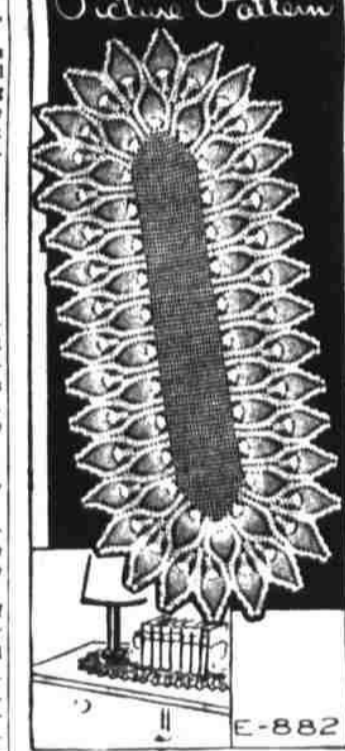

Frances Silvey and Patsy Brenton, Pawhuska, were bridesmaids. Their dresses were of Nile green satin fashioned like the maid of honor's. They carried colonial bouquets of daisies with Victorian

Cannon, Jones Show Well In Longhorn Scrimmage

Defense, Aerial Attack Are Weak

Big Spring High School Football Coach Carl Coleman must have seen things that made him run hot and cold by turns when his Steers clashed with the scrappy Coahoma Bulldogs in a scrimmage that lasted until well after dark at Steer stadium last night.

The Longhorns battered the Bulldogs, 40-13, in a session that lasted two hours 30 minutes.

Aggressive Carol Cannon's line running and ability to reverse his field was little short of sensational.

Amos Jones showed a new-found ability to hit the line and pick his holes. Howard Washburn, Floyd Martin and other backs showed flashes of promise from time to time. All that was on the credit side.

However, the blocking was pitiful most of the way. The line leaked like a sieve some of the time. And the passing was on the negative side.

Play was spirited on the part of both teams. Coach Ed Robertson of the Coahoma club has promise of quite a team at that Class B school. For one time, he probably did a wise thing in moving gigantic Jackie Wolf from center to the backfield.

Wolf used sheer power to make a shambles of the Steer line on all too many occasions.

Little Bobby Cathey and Ed Dickson are other Bulldogs who showed to advantage.

The Bulldogs held a one-point advantage early in the tussle, thanks to some powerful lunges on the part of Wolf, who set up the first score for the visitors.

However, break away runs by Cannon swung the tide as the evening wore on. Cannon twice went half the distance of the field for TD's, and very pretty runs they were, too.

Jones had one hand in a cast but that disadvantage seemed to be a minor one.

Bobby Gross showed promise as a point-kicker for the Longhorns. He booted four right through the uprights.

Dick Laswell, Red Cunningham and Lee Artens all came up with some fair tackles during the struggle.

To the Longhorns' credit, they haven't spent too much time on defense to date. They'll get around to that shortly.

Despite the fact that the scrimmage was unbalanced, the action attracted an unusual number of onlookers.

Another scrimmage with Peos is in the making for Friday.

American Miss May Try Channel Swim Within Four Days

DOVER, Eng., Aug. 25. (AP)—Shirley May France may attempt her English Channel swim in about four days, her manager, Ted Warner, said today.

"It's pretty safe to say it won't be before Monday," Warner said.

The 17-year-old high school junior from Somerset, Mass., crossed to Calais in the hope of making a start last week. Weather conditions in the channel continued doubtful, however, and her advisors finally decided she had passed the peak of training.

Since then she has been resting at her hotel here and touring places of interest in the south of England.

Yesterday morning she and her father, J. Walter France, boarded a boat escorting 18-year old Philip Mickman, a British schoolboy and cheered him home in his successful 23 hour and 48 minutes crossing from Cap Gris Nez.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

When R. L. (Lefty) Shelton, the Forsan veteran, threw his whammy on the Big Spring Broncs this year, it was no new experience for the resident nine. The jinx, we mean.

In the three seasons they've been in the Longhorn league, the Hosses have had their share of nemesis. In 1947, the Cayuses had trouble hitting Oastle Kolwe, the Midland flinger. Chet Zara of Sweetwater and Steve Kolesar, the Ballinger swiftie, were other boys the Broncs found tough to bang around that year but Kowle was poison, seemed able to beat the locals every time he tossed his glove onto the field.

Last year, the Hosses had their problems with Merle Coleman, the slim jinx for Odessa. Gerald Fahr of Vernon proved quite a headache for Pat Stacey and company on occasions, too.

On the other hand, the Steeds have consistently thrashed some very good hurriers during that time.

LeRoy Jones of Sweetwater experienced such wretched luck against them back in '47, he refused to work against them toward season's end. Yet he won 19 games for a fourth place ball club.

Last year, Claud Horton, also with Sweetwater, proved a very rugged opponent for all who faced him. However, the Cayuses belted him around as if they owned him, at times.

To their credit, they have evidently found a remedy for the Shelton jinx. They simply send Bert Garcia to the hill every time the wronghand works. Bert has beaten Shelton twice within the past two weeks.

FAN WRITES HE'S ALL FOR PENNANT FUND
A fan who'd like to show his thanks for a job well done writes, this department that he wants to help launch a pennant fund for the Big Spring Broncs with a $5 donation. He adds he's only a salaried and the cost of living comes rather high but he feels he can cut a corner here and there to ante up the fund.

Are there others who feel the Broncs would perform even better than they do now, if given such an incentive?

Odessa's Oilers have given up on three pitchers and will go along in the final days of the pennant fight with what they have.

Drawing the pink slip were Ray Newburn, Bill Gilliam and Everett Veach. Veach won one and lost one against Big Spring. Gilliam was with Midland and Ballinger before shuffling on to Odessa.

Add the name of Florencio Quesada to the ex-Longhorn league players now active in the Valley circuit.

The one-time Vernon performer, an infielder, is leading off for Del Rio.

The home crowds at the Amarillo Gold Sox's baseball games the past two weeks have ranged from 1,815 to 2,843. There are few who will argue that the city isn't the best baseball town for its size in the Southwest.

The Texas A&M football team will make two trips by air, two by train and two by bus this fall.

GRIDIRON BIBLE REACHES NEWSSTANDS AGAIN
The Illustrated Football Annual, yearly one of the best sellers in Texas, has hit the newsstands again.

The article on the Southwest Conference, written by Curtis Blahop, once of Our Town, and Wilbur Evans, gives the SMU Mustangs a rousing sendoff but warns the Rice Owls may be the toughest team in the league.

Ballinger Sweeps Series From Steeds By Slugging Out 12 To 8 Triumph

BALLINGER, Aug. 25. Any led to 15½ games over second doubt that the Ballinger Cats are the hottest baseball club in the Longhorn league was probably erased here Wednesday night, at least as far as the Big Spring Broncs were concerned.

The Felines battered the league leaders, 12-8, to sweep their three game series. Such a crushing reversal was a new experience for the Big Springers.

An ex-Bronc, Jerry Rodriguez, received credit for the victory after relieving Bobby Rodriguez in the first frame.

Dyer, Shotton Feud As Race Nears Finish

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Staff

The spirited stretch battle between Brooklyn and St. Louis may develop into a personal feud between the rival managers of the pennant-hungry clubs.

Thus far, Eddie Dyer, boss of the Redbirds, has kept his peace. At least he hasn't openly belittled the Brooks. But not old Burt Shotton, the 64-year-old firebrand, sometimes referred to as "Battling Barney," is simply spilling for a fight.

Nearly back to his normal cocky self following a couple of smashing victories over the Cardinals, the silver-haired plot of the Brooks disdainfully referred to the Redbirds as "just a so-so ball club."

"They're not much," Shotton dismissed the Cards today. "And here's why. We've never felt worse played worse nor looked worse than we have during the past week. And yet those guys could build up only one game lead on us. In my book that makes the Cards not so hot."

"They've had all the breaks and still couldn't open up a big lead. Soon breaks may begin to fall our way, as I know they will. I think we're finally straightened out. We're sure to take them now."

Informed of Shotton's remarks, Dyer had this to say:

"Lucky, eh? Yeah, we're lucky to have old pros like Musial, Slaughter, Marion and Schoendienst on our side. Let's see, now. How have we fared against those dangerous Dodgers? I think we've beaten them 11 out of 19. Yeah, Pard, I guess we are lucky at that."

Shotton's Dodgers never looked better than they did yesterday, at that. They were smooth, aggressive and positively spectacular in their 6-0 triumph over the Redbirds.

Don Newcombe overpowered the Cards, giving them only six scattered hits and allowing only one man to reach third.

Everybody in the starting Dodgers lineup connected safely. Carl Furillo, Roy Campanella and Gil Hodges hit homers.

In winning the rubber match of the three-game series, the Dodgers moved only one game off the league leading Cards. They began the series two games behind.

The American League race tightened too, when the pace-setting New York Yankees, playing without their ace, Joe DiMaggio, took a terrific 13-2 lacing from the Tigers in Detroit. Thus, the idle Boston Red Sox moved up to within two games of the Yanks.

That's the closest they've been to the top since the first week of the season.

Vic Wertz led the Tiger attack with a pair of home runs, although 13 walks issued by three Yankee pitchers did a lot of damage. One of Wertz' blows came with the bases full. Art Houtteman breezed to his 11th victory with a 10-hitter.

Johnny Mize, purchased from the Giants last Monday, played his first game for the Yankees, getting a single in four times at bat. The second straight night, the third place Cleveland Indians failed to take advantage of a Yankee defeat when they bowed to Washington's seventh place Senators, 3-2.

The Philadelphia Athletics retained their fourth place hold by conquering the Chicago White Sox 5-0. Dick Fowler pitched his fourth shutout and 12th victory of the year for the Mackmen.

Boston of the National League eked out a 6-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Lefty Warren Spahn staggered to his 16th victory.

Wes Westrum, rookie catcher, slammed two home runs to lead the New York Giants to a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Sheldongue sent all the way to register his 10th victory.

St. Louis in the American, and Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the National, were idle.

Texans, Sooners Wind Up Drills
WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 25. (AP)—Texas and Oklahoma high school football players wind up practice today for tomorrow night's Owl Bowl Game.

Yesterday the Texas All-Stars ran through passing and running plays.

Oklahoma Coaches Dean Wild of Watauga and Paul Young of Mustangs said their offense was coming along slower than the defense.

Truett Owen of Fort Worth and Joe Golding of Wichita Falls are coaching the Texans.

A crowd of more than 9,000 is expected for the game.

Tribe Opens Two-Game Set Against Steeds Tonight

Garcia Slated To Face Blair

Big Spring and Midland tangle here tonight in the first of a two-game series that could go a long way toward deciding the finish of both teams in Longhorn league play. Starting time is 8-15 p. m.

Big Spring, reeling from the effects of a series loss to Ballinger, needs a win to help nail down first place in the standings. A victory would eliminate the Indians from first place contention. The Tribe is now dormie to the Steeds, being 19 games off the pace with only 19 to play.

It is no sure thing the Indians will finish in the first division, but a series sweep here would better their chances. At the present time, the Redmen are in third place, 2½ games ahead of San Angelo and 5½ lengths ahead of the torrid Ballinger club.

Bert Garcia, ace righthander who boasts a 12-3 won-lost record, will probably toe the rubber for Big Spring tonight. Ralph Blair, 15-14, may be Harold Webb's choice to toil for Midland.

Webb, incidentally, will pay his first visit to Big Spring in some time. He's been out of action from time to time with a bad ticker but is determined to finish the season.

The Cayuses will remain here through Sunday. They play San Angelo a two-game series, starting Saturday.

Longhorn Gate Shows Upswing

A 1949 attendance mark of half a million, including the Shaughnessy playoffs, was forecast for the Longhorn baseball league today by Hal Sayles, league president.

The eight clubs in the Class D loop had drawn over 80,000 more fans at the latest tabulation than they had attracted at the same stage of the season in 1948.

San Angelo was far in front in club attendance, with 70,636 for 53 home games, a new league record for one club.

All clubs in the league are ahead of last year's figures, except Big Spring and Vernon, the first and second place clubs. The Broncs are approximately 2,000 behind their 1948 rate.

The figures released from the league office showed 47,610 for the Broncs in their first 55 games. The last home series with San Angelo's Colts was not included in the tabulation. The Broncs drew 2,292 fans in that set, making a total of 49,902 for 58 home games.

Attendance for the league announced by Sayles showed 356,722 paid admissions, or 82,704 more than at the same date last year. He predicted a total of 460,000 at season's end and at least 40,000 more for the playoffs.

Second place among the clubs is held by Odessa, with 50,915 in 54 games, while the Broncs are third.

Other figures show Vernon with 43,263 in 59 games; Midland 43,260 in 50 games; Roswell 38,301 in 49 games; Ballinger 34,905 in 54 games; and Sweetwater, 27,830 in 53 games.

The Broncs have 11 home playing dates remaining on their schedule, with 12 games including a double header on Sept. 5 with Sweetwater.

Witte Crashes 41st Home Run

By HORACE BOREN Associated Press Staff

Dallas great home run hitter, Jerry Witte, has smashed his 40th and 41st home runs of the year to bring him within eight circuit clouts of the pace set 25 years ago when Fort Worth's Clarence Kraft set the all-time Texas League record of 55.

Witte hit two homers last night as Dallas dropped an 11-6 decision in 13 innings to the fifth-place Shreveport Sports. Witte has 14 homers to go in 19 remaining games to tie Kraft's record.

Bill Sarni's two-run triple sparked a three-run rally that gave Shreveport the victory over the Eagles.

Fort Worth's Walter Flala's two-run triple in the fifth gave the league-leaders a 4-3 win over the last-place Beaumont Exporters.

Seventh-place Houston downed second-place Tulsa 5-3. The loss was Tulsa's third straight.

Third-place Oklahoma City won two extra inning games from San Antonio. Mill Nielsen's grand slam homer in the ninth gave the Indians the opener 6-3, after two extra innings. Grant Dunlap's single in the eleventh frame, scoring Nielsen, won the nightcap 3-2.

Robinson Wants Shot At 160-Pound Crown

NEW YORK, Aug. 25. (AP)—"I want a shot at the middleweight title. I think I've earned it."

Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson made the statement last night. It was probably the greatest understatement made in sports all year. For his performance he certainly deserves the chance whether he'll get it is something else again.

He cut down socking Steve Belloise in seven rounds at Yankee Stadium last night before some 28,812 fans.

Iron-chinned Jake LaMotta and Marcel Cerdan, the former 160-pound boss who meet in a return clash for the crown here Sept. 28, were among the bumper throng which saw last night's massacre.

Robinson hit Belloise with every shot in the book. He won every round but the fifth when he was bothered for just two minutes by a desperate do-or-die attack from the balding, 30-year-old ex-sailor.

Sugar Ray flattened Steve near the end of the seventh with as perfect a left hook to the chin as you'll see in the ring or movies.

Referee Eddie Joseph's count was at five when the bell clanged. Belloise's handlers hauled him to his corner. But Steve was out cold. Seconds later, Belloise's manager, Eddie Walker, signalled to Joseph that it was all over. Under New York rules it goes into the book as a seven round kayo.

Robinson weighed 153½ and Belloise 158.

LaMotta and Cerdan have said that the victor of their September bout would meet last night's winner. Nothing is in writing.

In becoming the third fighter to ever knock out Belloise, who has had 102 fights, Robinson eliminated the No. 1 contender behind Cerdan.

LaMotta holds a decision over Ray but Robinson beat Jake four other times.

Issue Of Race Segregation May Snarl Up Housing Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—The about $4 billion of mortgage insurance and aid to help persons with modest incomes build homes. The House yesterday, by a 77 to 57 vote, tentatively wrote a civil rights amendment into the bill, making it unlawful to segregate white and colored persons in housing aided by the legislation. The amendment was offered by Rep. Marcantonio, American Labor Party member from New York.

Fearing that such an amendment would drive off southern votes and kill the whole bill, Democratic leaders immediately postponed until today any further action, and began working on a compromise.

Rep. Mahoney (D-Ohio) voiced fear that unless the Marcantonio amendment is eliminated "this might kill the bill." And if the bill dies, he told newsmen, home construction throughout the nation will be severely crippled.

Banking Committee Democrats hurriedly sought to put a substitute bill. There were reports that this compromise might seek to eliminate the civil rights amendment and any authority for the government to make direct loans for the construction of homes.

The bill now embodies about $3,750,000,000 in additional authority for the government to insure mortgages made by private lenders for the construction of homes. This insurance protects private lenders against any large losses on money they lend for housing, and thereby stimulates home construction.

Before it got into the civil rights snarl the House wrote in an amendment authorizing $300 million in direct housing loans to veterans. This provision previously had been dropped from the bill by the banking committee at the insistence of the rules committee.

The banking committee also eliminated from the original bill $1 billion in direct government loans for housing co-ops. Housing Administrator Raymond M. Foley had told the committee that such direct government loans did not fit into administrative policy. He emphasized the use of loan insurance programs already set up for veterans.

Highway Aid For Texas Is Assured

AUSTIN, Aug. 25. (AP)—Federal aid for Texas 1950 primary highway construction has been assured and first contracts will be let in early October.

That was the announcement by State Highway Engineer DeWitt C. Greer yesterday during the course of the highway commission's road project hearings here.

Greer said he had received assurance by telephone from Washington that federal funds of $27,500,000 would be available.

The state will match these funds dollar for dollar, enabling a $55 million primary road building program for next year. Contract lettings postponed in August have been scheduled for October.

Nine delegations from 10 counties were scheduled to present their requests for road projects as the commission wound up its two-day session today.

During yesterday's hearings, some counties were straining at the leash in a desire to get more farm-to-market roads than they could expect under the new all-state-financed program from a $1,250,000 allocation.

Several counties presented plans for a 75-25 construction program, the county paying 75 per cent and the state one-fourth the cost.

Santone Strikers Will Be Replaced By Company

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 25. (AP)—The San Antonio Transit Co. warned striking drivers and mechanics they would be replaced if they did not "report your readiness" to go back to work by not later than 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The transit company made its announcement in full-page advertisements in newspapers yesterday. E. A. Gauthier, transit company personnel manager, said more than 100 non-union men had applied for jobs.

Increased bus fares were discussed, then abandoned at a city council meeting yesterday as the bus strike went into its 24th day. Union drivers and mechanics struck in support of a wage hike demand.

Record Parade At Colorado's Rodeo

COLORADO CITY, Aug. 25 — A record parade and turnout greeted opening of the annual Colorado City Frontier Round-Up here Wednesday.

After thousands had lined the streets for a parade estimated up to four miles in length, upwards of 5,000 were on hand for the first show. Grandstand tickets were taken off the market before show time.

Doyle Riley, Ballinger, turned in the low time on open calf roping with 17.2, followed by Clay Mann Smith, Colorado City, with 18.1, and Vic Montgomery, Ozona, with 20 seconds.

Tom Neff led the Mitchell county ropers with 17 seconds, trailed by Tuffler Swan, Homer Hart and J. W. Boatright, all of Colorado City.

Lawrence Carey, Mineral Wells topped the steer wrestlers with 8.3 seconds, followed by Paul Lanny and L. G. Gibbs, Belton. In the bareback bronc contests, best rides were turned in by Bill Proctor, Belton, Lawrence Carey, Mineral Wells, and Hal Watson, Belton. Cotton Proctor, Belton, led the saddle bronc busters, with Jack Wilkerson, San Angelo, second.

Only one of 11 steer riders, Ira Akers, San Antonio, stayed aboard in the Brahmas bull contest, so salty was the event.

Three more contestants were to compete today in the first go-round of the cutting horse contest. Leaders were Wilson Connel, Snyder, riding "Red"; Robert Corbett, Breckenridge, riding "Housekeeper"; and Jess Everts, Snyder, aboard "Trusk."

Amy McGilvray, Mertron, paced the cowgirl sponsors in the barrel race with 11.1 seconds, followed by Betty Jean Barron, San Angelo, 11.8, and Josephine Willis, San Angelo, 11.9.

Records reflected 150 contestants and 22 cowgirl sponsors in the rodeo. An intensely interested spectator, Helen Simmons, Washbach, Holland, viewed the show from the press box. It was the first time she had seen a rodeo. Although she rides 20 miles on a bicycle to attend American GI drives in her native land, she wouldn't attempt to get on a horse. She was visiting Mrs. Carolyn Turner, Colorado City, after having come to the states to visit Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reece, Albany, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman D. Richards, Abilene. Miss Simmons had taken care of the graves of her sons.

Rodeo float prizes of $50, $25 and $10 were posted by the Jaycees here Wednesday.

Chiang Appeals For Resistance To Communists

By SPENCER MOOSA
AP STAFF

CANTON, Aug. 25 (AP)—Chiang Kai-Shek appealed to Nationalist China today for a finish fight against the "aggression" of the "Communist International." The Reds answered with a new push on uneasy Canton.

The Chinese Reds have "unmasked themselves as international agents," the Nationalist generalissimo declared. He saw their power wanting as a "strong arrow reaching the end of its flight."

But he also seemed to see the end of Canton as his government's refuge capital. For he said "today Chungking will again become the center for the fight against aggression."

The new Communist drive was unleashed by famed one-eyed Gen. Liu Xiang in the southwest corner of Kiangsi Province. It threatened three towns near the Kwangtung Province border—all within an arc 140 miles northeast of Canton.

It was believed the Reds were trying to take Chiennan, Lungnan and Tingnan as springboards for an enveloping movement aimed at the Canton-Hankow railway at Kungong, 125 miles north of Canton.

IT'S ALL HIS, FOR A YEAR

WARHAM, Mass., Aug. 25 (AP)—An odd looking package in the center of a highway attracted the attention of David Lumiansky, New Bedford insurance broker and prize fight matchmaker.

He stopped his car and picked it up. It contained $25,000 in bills.

Lumiansky reported to Police Chief Chester Churchill that he found the money.

If no one claims it in a year, it's all Lumiansky's, the chief said.

Cigarettes, Beer Taken By Burglars

Burglars took two cartons of cigarettes and a case of beer from Al's cafe, 1012 W. 3rd street, last night, police reported. Entry to the building was made through a back window.

Police said thieves also made off with articles from a trailer parked on a vacant lot near the Read hotel after cutting a tarpaulin covering the vehicle. Officers were searching for the owner of the trailer to ascertain what was taken.

Mrs. J. C. Burkes, 815 W. 8th street, reported today that thieves had taken four wheels and tires, a pistol, quilt, and two pairs of roller skates from a trailer house there Sunday. The lock was broken on the trailer door.

E. O. Thompson To Be Honored

AMARILLO, Aug. 25 (AP)—Oil men from all over the Southwest will honor Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson at a stag party barbecue here tonight.

The party is sponsored by a group of Amarillo citizens and will be attended by Thompson's friends in Texas and other states of the Southwest. Thousands are expected, including Texas Gov. Allan Shivers.

A tribute to Thompson, prepared by R. B. Anderson of Vernon, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., will be read by Andrew M. Howley of Albany, general counsel for the association. Illness will prevent Anderson from attending.

Thompson, former mayor of Amarillo, was first named to the state's oil and gas regulatory agency, the Railroad Commission, in 1932 during the East Texas oil boom.

He was a pioneer in the formation of the Interstate Oil Compact for promoting conservation in the oil producing states.

He is a lieutenant general in the Texas National Guard.

Cotton Outlook Continues Good

Howard county cotton crops apparently are holding up well as the harvest season approaches. County Agent Durward Lawler reported this morning.

Some crops seem to be suffering during the past few days, although bollworms still are troublesome in the Vincent and Lomax areas. Some farmers in those communities have distributed poison a second time.

Cotton crops are described as good in the Knot area. Cotton fleas caused some damage to early cotton there, but most fields still have enough fruit to indicate a heavy yield. The fleas have not been a source of worry there as far as late cotton is concerned, and bollworm infestations have declined.

Man Hospitalized After Injury

Diego Olague, about 20, was brought from Stanton to Big Spring hospital this morning for treatment of a stomach injury.

Olague, a section worker for T&P, told hospital attendants that he was injured while working this morning. Unconfirmed reports were that a piece of metal, or some other object, struck Olague in the stomach, piercing the flesh.

He was brought to the hospital in an Eberley ambulance.

Released On Bond

Bert Brown, accused of participating in a fight at an east side night spot last weekend, has been released on $500 bond by the county.

At liberty under bond of a like figure is Leonardo (et) Gonzalez, charged with displaying a pistol in a rude manner.

Man Slays Wife During Nightmare

GRAND MARAIS, Minn., Aug. 25. (AP)—The bodies of a vacationing Nebraskan who apparently hacked and strangled his wife to death during a nightmare and then took his own life with poison were being returned to Omaha today.

J. Henry Ellason, Cook County attorney, identified the victims as Lloyd N. Osborne, 58, an Omaha real estate man, and his 47-year-old wife, Helen.

Their bodies were found yesterday in the cabin of a resort 35 miles north of here along the Gunflint Trail, where the Osbornes had been vacationing with other members of the family since Friday.

In a note found near his body, Ellason said Osborne wrote: "I must have had a nightmare. I didn't realize what I had done to Helen. This is the easy way out." The note ended in a scrawl as the as yet unidentified poison potion took effect.

Ellason gave this version of the double killing.

The Osbornes couple discussed the case of Jake Bird, State of Washington axe slayer recently executed after being Tuesday night. Later, Osborne got up, took a hatchet from the cabin woodbox and hit his wife in the head several times. Then he knotted his pajama bottoms about her neck.

A neighbor reported hearing a woman scream just once shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday morning but went back to sleep when there was no further noise.

David Osborne, 19, a son, discovered the bodies when made seeking to do up the cabin reported the door wouldn't open.

David forced entry to find the pajama-clad body of his stepmother. His father fully clothed, lay on the bed. While writing the note, Osborne made out several checks to pay bills and others for his son.

Other members of the party living in another cabin, were, in addition to David: A Mr. and Mrs. Weaver, parents of the wife of an older son of Osborne's; Mrs. Osborne's sister, Mrs. Dorothy McKay and the latter's young daughter. All are Omaha residents.

Interim Support Loans Announced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—Interim price support loans on the corn crop will be first available to growers in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, the Agriculture Department announced yesterday.

This is the first time support loans have been made in advance of the determination of final support prices, on Oct. 1.

Interim rates, based on 90 per cent parity minus 4 cents bushel deducted as a "safety margin" will vary by counties from $1.30 to $1.42 a bushel in Texas and Oklahoma.

Police Locate Purse Owned By Missing Woman

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 25. (AP)—Police early today found a purse belonging to Mrs. Mimi Boomhower, the first break in the baffling disappearance of the 48-year-old wealthy widow.

Capt. Emmett Jones said the purse was found in a telephone booth in a Beverly Hills Supermarket. It contained no money or jewelry but did hold her cards, keys, compact and other items.

Printed on the side of the white purse was this:

"Police dept. — We found this at beach Thursday night." Jones assigned 20 detectives to trace how the purse got from the unnamed beach to the store.

The widow, who lived alone in a $50,000 Bel-Air home, disappeared Thursday without a trace.

Police feared she had met with foul play. She frequently wore jewels worth a small fortune, and a neighbor said she was so "absolutely fearless" she would not be frightened to take precautions against robbery.

Her husband, Frank Boomhower, died six years ago. He amassed a fortune after inventing an enamelled floor covering. The Boomhowers made several big-game hunts in Africa and one room in their home was crammed with more trophies than a museum.

Some of her experiences with wild animals were recorded on film, including the charge of a bull elephant which she killed without budging from her position.

Police checked with friends and relatives but failed to find a single clue to her whereabouts. Her brother-in-law, Eric C. Herman, Hewlett, Long Island, N. J., said "she's missing and we don't have any idea what happened."

JOKES AT PARTY

The Veep Enjoying His New Romance

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—Vice President Barkley kept alive today the romantic speculation linking his name with a pretty St. Louis widow.

And he took obvious delight in being introduced as "The Squire of Padurah and the New Spirit of St. Louis."

It all happened before several hundred Democrats last night in the Hotel Mayflower ballroom when the genial "Veep" spoke at a dinner of the national committee.

The widow, 37-year-old Mrs. Carleton Hadley, wasn't present. Her name was not even mentioned. But she was very much in everybody's mind when retiring National Chairman J. Howard McGrath introduced the 71-year-old Barkley.

"The 'Veep' threw back his head and laughed as heartily as anyone in the room at McGrath's reference to St. Louis.

"This," Barkley responded when quiet had been restored, "is the hour I long have sought and mourned because I found it not."

He told the crowd he had "called up Missouri on the long-distance telephone and she asked me to give you her personal regards."

He went on to say that "there has always been an inseparable connection between Kentucky and Missouri" and "it looks like it's going to continue." He added:

"That's what I hope."

He said he feels very close to Missouri and he hopes the time will never come "when I feel far removed from it."

He turned then to what he said

Convict Admits Killing Woman And Daughter

WILMINGTON, N. C., Aug. 25. — A Florida convict admitted to North Carolina authorities yesterday that he stabbed a mother and drowned her four-year-old daughter eight years ago.

District Solicitor Clifton L. Moore said the statement by the convict, now serving time in the Florida State Prison, apparently solved the disappearance on May 10, 1941, of Mrs. Lella Bryan, 26, and her daughter Mary Rachel, 22.

Moore said the convict, 22-year-old Daniel Webster, said in a notarized confession that he committed the double crime and then buried the bodies of the mother and daughter near Carolina Beach.

The woman and her daughter disappeared without leaving a trace, Moore said, nor was any trace ever found of the motor car in which they traveled to the beach boardwalk on the night of their disappearance.

Webster was quoted as saying "I wanted to get the crime off my mind," when he was confronted by North Carolina authorities.

Webster, alias Robert Anderson, earlier had written a Florida prison official that he had information regarding the case. He was sentenced in St. Augustine last May to a six-year term for forgery, the solicitor said.

Old Union Lads Win Their Rights For Full Parade

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 25. — The Grand Army of the Republic has won a preliminary skirmish in its final campaign.

It will march triumphantly three-fourths of the way around Monument Circle next Wednesday — in order that station WFBM-TV may televise its parade.

The last survivors of the boys in blue are to hold their 83rd and final encampment here next week. The old soldiers—five centenarians are expected to ride in the parade — wanted to have their parade televised.

Custom limits parades to one quarter of Monument Circle. The Indianapolis Board of Safety stood firm — only one quarter for the GAR.

The Grand Army was ready to retreat when a powerful task force — Mayor Al Feeney — outflanked the board.

"The GAR can march around Monument Circle 10 times if it wants to," the mayor said.

The board announced its position and surrendered unconditionally.

The parade will be three quarters, and television.

Lehman After Senate Seat

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25. — Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman definitely will run for the U. S. Senate this fall, a high Democratic source said today.

The informant, who declined to be quoted by name, indicated Lehman would accept the Democratic and Liberal Party nominations for election to the seat resigned by Democrat Robert F. Wagner.

Wagner, veteran New Deal Democrat, quit June 28 because of poor health. His term would have expired Jan. 3, 1951.

John Foster Dulles, veteran GOP foreign affairs authority, now holds the seat by interim appointment from Gov. Dewey. He will serve until Dec. 1.

Dulles has reiterated that he does not plan to run for election.

Mexico Tourist Jam Broken

LAREDO, Aug. 25. — The stream of tourists flowing across the Rio Grande River into Mexico has picked up again.

Liberalization of rules regarding polio certificates yesterday broke a logjam of tourists cars at this border point.

Under the new regulation, residents of New York City and Texas need only swear they have not been exposed to polio.

Previously they had been required to produce Doctor's statements of freedom from contact with polio. This had sharply reduced tourist traffic and backed up many tourists' cars at this side of the boundary river.

Residents of other states—and of New York State outside New York City—need present no evidence whatever of freedom from polio.

DOG MAY HAVE PICKED UP SCENT

Search For Three-Year-Old Renewed Along Creek Bank

MCGREGOR, Minn., Aug. 25. — A whining dog helping in the hunt for missing 3-year-old Larry Coleman led searchers today to a brush-lined creek in the swamp wilderness where he disappeared five days ago.

Spurred by the hope that the dog had picked up the scent of the boy, Sheriff Hjalmar Huliv, Aikin County, ordered the search concentrated there.

Deputy Sheriff Paul Knutson, owner of the Labrador retriever, said the dog picked up the trail near where the boy disappeared last Saturday and followed it to the creek.

Knutson said when his dog reached the water, he started to whine.

Heavy brush along the banks had precluded other than a casual search earlier, Huliv said.

One hundred National Guardsmen remained on duty today under the direction of Lt. Col. William Johnson. They will aid the search along the creek with a hope of finding some clue to the fate of the boy.

The Coleman family offered a $500 reward to anyone finding the boy dead or alive.

Larry disappeared Saturday afternoon while hunting pine cones on the farm of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Coleman, about 30 miles north of here. The boy's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Coleman of New Brighton.

19 Are Injured In Interurban Crash

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 25. — Fifteen passengers and four crewmen of two interurban coaches were injured last night when one speeding car hurtled into the rear of another and split it wide open.

Of the 19 hospitalized, Motor-man Leroy Equitz, handling the second train, was in the most critical condition. He suffered compound fractures of both legs and internal injuries.

The crash occurred in a deep railway cut when Motorman Ralph Janus of the lead car stopped and backed up to pick up a passenger. Equitz's car, running three minutes behind the other, slammed into it. Supt. George Lederer of the Kenosha Motor Coach Lines, operators of the transit system, said the second car might have been traveling at a speed of 65 miles an hour.

The rear train, carrying 20 passengers, was split down the middle about two-thirds of its length as it rammed partly underneath the other.

Only seven passengers were in the first coach. None was injured seriously.

The trucks of both cars remained on the rails of the electrified line which runs between Milwaukee and Waukesha, some 20 miles west. The rear end of the first car was hoisted some 10 feet into the air as the forward part of the other coach slammed underneath it.

Grand Jury To Hear Story Of Abduction

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25. — A grand jury is scheduled today to hear Mrs. Fenby S. Webster's story of being abducted and held prisoner for 53 hours.

The 50-year-old woman is executive secretary of Wayside Waifs, an organization devoted to caring for stray animals.

Mrs. Webster told police she was abducted Sunday night by two men and two women while answering a call to pick up an injured dog.

She said her abductors never talked to her after taking her to a house or explained why she was being held. She was not harmed.

Mrs. Webster said she was released yesterday shortly after one of her captors told the others: "We've got to scam. The boss said to take her back."

Police began a search after finding her truck abandoned with this note on the windshield: "Lay off indep."

She had been seeking to change conditions at the dog pound in nearby Independence, Mo. She charged the facilities there were inadequate.

Animals Getting In The Day's News

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Aug. 25. — All's quiet in Calhoun County, except for the animals. They're making the news.

A bear hunt got under way after two housewives reported hearing bearish snarls in the brush.

A cocker spaniel ran amok and killed 71 chickens.

A team of horses won a weight-pulling contest at a county fair in Marshall by pulling 2,900 pounds 15 feet.

A frisky cow kicked up her heels and uncovered a wallet containing $94 her owner, Warren Wilbur, had given up for lost 16 months ago.

GIRLS' REFORMATORY HEADS ACCUSED OF ABUSING INMATES

BENTON, Ark., Aug. 25. — Charges of beating inmates and keeping them on bread and water up to 15 days have been brought against the superintendent and former head matron of a girls' reformatory near here.

The Saline County Grand Jury yesterday indicted the pair on charges of assault and battery with whips and a yardstick and of inflicting cruel and unusual punishment.

Named in the joint indictments were Mrs. Fanny Goodman, superintendent of the Arkansas Girls Training School, and Mrs. Carrie Toland of Little Rock, former head matron.

Inmates were reportedly whipped while nude and placed in solitary confinement at the school.

Circuit Judge Roy Danuser set bond at $100 on each of the 17 counts for each woman. They were to post bond today.

Judge Danuser ordered an investigation at the school after a drunken brawl by two teen-age inmates who drank alcohol fished from the infirmary.

The two inmates — Ruth Ann Watts, 18, of Crawfordville, Tenn., and Thelma Juanita Mullins, 19, of Little Rock — are among those named in whipping charges.

Minutes later the engine of his Corsair plane conked out and he crashed into the ocean as he had anticipated. A fishing boat picked him up wet but unhurt.

'White Elephants' Now Are Rural Apartments

DOBBS FERRY, N. Y.—Here's something unique in real estate development which solves a lot of people's problems. It provides country living with apartment conveniences for medium income families who long to see fresh-air-roses bloom in their children's cheeks. And it does it by using one of the big old estates whose like can be found near almost any city and whose upkeep cost made them white elephants. It is Beacon Hill Manor, a development of 12 apartment houses, built on a 40-acre estate, 30 minutes commuting time from New York. Estates have been used before to make country homesteads for city folks. But most previous developments cut the land into small plots and built houses. Beacon Hill Manor's unique quality lies in its use of apartments which relieve their tenants of home owners' chores, and in its use of the old residence for their relaxation and fun. Creators of the project are Mme. Elmore Daring, French-born American citizen, and her son, Maurice Daring. The Darings' new development has apartments for 100 families. It includes 11 buildings of Colonial design with modern apartments varying from three room simplexes to five room duplexes (two stories) and a remodelled residential house which has some one-room apartments. Rents range from $165 to $175 a month. Features include fireplaces, use of a basement laundry, tree-shaded lawns, a big outdoor swimming pool and bath houses, a picturesque duck pond, formal gardens and acres of woodland.

The big English Tudor house, still holding many of the Louis XIV antiques and tapestries with which it was furnished, is being converted into a real-estate office. She is past 70 now, but she works with the vision of a dreamer and the drive of a dynamo to handle planning and financing. Her son, a Princeton alumnus, is a practical builder. Together they have created some of New York's most interesting real estate developments.

ALL COMFORTS OF HOME ARE FOUND IN WOMAN'S MAUSOLEUM

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—In Greenwood Cemetery here is attracting considerable attention nowadays.

The last resting place of Mrs. Beulah Acklin, it is open to the public. It's furnished like a living room. There are two chrome pipe chairs, ash trays, a wire recorder outfit, electric lights, religious mottoes, and a register in which more than 1800 visitors have written their names.

Fluorescent red and yellow lights are hung in the corners. Mrs. Acklin's first name is outlined in blue neon script letters six inches high in back of the casket. Roy Acklin, 54, formerly a mail carrier, built the monument. He visits it almost daily, working among the flowers or sitting reading. About the recorder he says: "So many people come here I have to explain over and over again. So I made a record of my words. When a bunch of people come in I turn on the recorder and save my voice."

Of the electric lights he says candles are often used on caskets; PRINTING T. E. JORDAN & CO. NO PRICE ESTIMATE GIVEN BY TELEPHONE

he just substituted neons. "Why they often put names of people on tombstones a foot high. The letters on that neon sign aren't that big." "There is nothing wrong with the smoking stands, either. When she was alive she was impatient with women who made their husbands go smoke in the den or someplace. So I don't mind people smoking near her body. That's just what she would have wanted them to do if she were alive."

SOIL CONSERVATION

Pea Crop Rotation A Help To Cotton

Cotton following blackeye peas is better than cotton after cotton. Frank Loveless, supervisor of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District in Zone 111, has reported. Cotton on land that had blackeye peas on it last year grew off better, is a dark green color, and is larger than cotton following cotton. One can tell to a row where the peas were, Loveless said. He planted the peas last year on his farm northeast of Coahoma and turned the vines back to the soil to build up his land. The peas were inoculated with the proper culture of nitrogen fixing bacteria, and improved the soil by adding nitrogen and organic matter.

Construction started last week on terraces on the R. V. Middleton ranch south of Vealmoor. Middleton is terracing 35 acres of new ground to save his soil and water. The terraces will also protect his feed lots, barns and farmstead from outside water. Middleton had the help of the Soil Conservation Service in laying out his terrace system.

Byron McCracken put in some sod land this year on his farm a mile east of Fairview. McCracken said cotton on his new ground grew off better and is larger than cotton on land that has been farmed for several years. The new ground soaked up water better because the soil had a lot of organic matter, he said. McCracken, who completed a soil conservation plan on his farm last week, will build up his soil with crop residues and soil improving crops.

W. H. Puckett, district cooperator in the Richland soil conservation group, left 50 acres of wheat stubble on his farm this year. Puckett plowed his stubble land with a one-way and left the residue on or near the top of the soil. Puckett said with a crop rotation including soil building crops and with crop residue management to improve the soil, crop yields will be increased and soil and water saved.

Cotton following soil improving cover crops had less insects this year than cotton after cotton. Floyd Jones reported last week. Jones is cooperating with the district in a coordinated soil conservation program on his farm four miles southeast of Ackery. Jones said he noticed that on land that had been planted to cover crops for several years, cotton had less

War Gives German Wife Puzzling Problem To Solve

HAMBURG, Germany, (AP)—Two German officers met in a Russian prison camp. They soon discovered that they lived in the same German town, in the same street, at the same number—and had the same wife. This was how it came about, according to the Hamburg newspaper "Abendblatt". A German major, returning to the front from home leave in 1942, told his wife to marry again if he were killed. Soon she was officially told of his death in action. Eighteen months later she married another officer. In due course he was captured. But husband number one had not been killed. He was picked up on the battlefield by the Russians. Finally through the painfully slow communications from Russian prison camps the wife learned of her difficult position. She asked the two men to wait until they are back from Russia. Then, she says, she will decide which one to keep as her husband.

Crimson Crystal Aiding In War Against Yellow Death

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Case of the crimson crystal, science's aerial thriller.

Events have written this title to the story of Vitamin B12, which science has just made available to you in pure form. It's probably the most powerful vitamin known.

Mystery? The case of the crimson crystal is filled with it.

It opened with a series of deaths 100 years ago. Doctors puzzled over patients who turned ironish yellow and died a slow death.

Sherlock Holmes is put to shame by the painstaking care, the shrewd thinking and the teamwork that medical detectives all over the world gave this puzzle for the next 75 years.

The yellow death turned out to be pernicious anemia, a disease of the bone marrow, the body's blood-making apparatus. (Other anemias, called "secondary," are caused by illness, injury, malnutrition, and other conditions that reduce the blood supply.)

For three-quarters of a century the doctors sought a way to overcome this disease that virtually doomed a patient to death.

The first clue to the crimson crystal came to light 22 years ago. American physicians discovered that lowly raw liver was almost a sure remedy for pernicious anemia.

But why liver?

The men in white rolled up their sleeves. This was a "what-does-it" rather than a "who-did-it" thriller.

Liver apparently contained some basic nutritional or medicinal element. The puzzle's solution not only would identify this element that pernicious anemia patients needed, it also might disclose fundamental new information about nutrition and the human body. And it did.

For 22 years the scientific detection teams ground liver, powdered it, broke it down into hundreds of elements.

Out of all this came the discovery that the B vitamin is a "complex" of many parts. Many of the parts were isolated during the 22 years. A whole new phase of human nutrition was opened. But none of the things found was the one needed by pernicious anemia patients.

Then, last year, a team of scientists at Merck and Co., Inc., came up with the crimson crystal—a substance only one millionth of a part of a human hair 1-300 inch long brings noticeable results in some pernicious anemia patients.

But the crimson crystal is more than a medical tool. It has been found necessary for growth in many animals.

The whole mystery isn't solved yet. Just this month a young scientist at the University of Maryland uncovered signs that another nutritional element—not even closely related to B12—may be identified out of B12 work.

B12 has saved many pernicious anemia patients in the few weeks it has been available in quantities. Unlike some new "wonder drugs," it was possible to produce it in large quantities almost immediately.

There are some other diseases, like tropical sprue, similar in some ways to leukemia, which B12 also seems to relieve. It is even being tried as an aid to wean chronic alcoholics from hard liquor.

It has solved baffling nutrition problems which scientists have wrestled with for years. It is related to the mysterious "Factor X" in milk and to the "animal protein factor" that puzzled poultry scientists.

B12, or crude concentrate of it, already is being added to chicken feeds. Dr. H. R. Bird, poultry nutritionist at the government's experimental farm at Beltsville, Md., roughly calculates it may add millions of pounds of poultry to our annual production, at no added cost to producers.

When B12 is used in feed, about seven per cent more hens' eggs hatch. This alone would add around 20 million more broilers to U. S. flocks each year. This means about 60 million more pounds of meat.

One commercial feed company claims that B12 added to regular chicken feeds produces a 12 per cent increase in the rate of growth—with 11 per cent less feed.

And in a Michigan State College test, pigs fed B12 concentrates gained 17 pounds more in seven weeks than pigs on a similar diet without the concentrates.

Dr. H. J. Prehuda, New York nutritionist, says:

"The industrial production and availability of products rich in Vitamin B12 and other components of the 'animal protein factor' will mean as much to the feeder of farm animals as hybrid corn to the corn grower."

Fast growing hybrid corns have added several billion dollars to the value of corn crops since the war.

Dr. M. A. Petty of Lederle Laboratories Division, American Cyanamid Co., Pearl River, N. Y. adds that B12 and related factors may have remarkable influence on crops.

These factors are produced by microorganisms.

"We are a long way from knowing what are the best microorganisms for humus formation," Dr. Petty says, "but I would not be surprised to find the vitamin-producing organisms near the top of the list."

"Did you ever notice the characteristic odor of freshly plowed earth, especially turf? This characteristic odor is not present in poor clay or sandy soil.

"This 'earthy smell' is also the characteristic odor of the actinomycetes, the vitamin producers."

The implication of this is that if these microorganisms can be increased in the soil, fertility might be increased.

In addition to all these medical and agricultural promises, B12 may conceal a great fundamental secret.

Some scientists believe it may be connected intimately with the formation and nutrition of the living cell. Within this cell is sealed the mystery of life itself.

Will B12 help solve the mystery of the creation of life?

So far the men in white speak super-cautiously about this. But they are working on it.

New Cinderellas Berlin's Gift To U. S. Film Fans

BERLIN, Aug. 25. (AP)—Hollywood has discovered a new Cinderella in the ruble of Berlin.

The movie magic that transforms an unknown into a star is touching Cornelia Burch, 24, blonde, blue-eyed and blonde.

Last year she got her first bit in a local German film that nobody abroad has ever seen.

Now she is the leading lady in a (20th Century-Fox) feature which will have worldwide screening.

Yet Cornelia didn't go nearer Hollywood than Potsdamer Platz. Producer William Pheiberg and Director-Writer George Seaton came right to her bomb-scarred doorstep.

They cast her after she laughed and cried in front of a test camera on a dilapidated sound stage near Tempelhof Airport.

They tried her without make-up.

her hair wind-tossed, her clothes limited to an average fraulein's slinky wardrobe.

"No phony glamor," they said. "You're playing a war-impooverished German girl in this bustling city. So you'll have to look like one."

Pheiberg and Seaton are still debating a final title for the film. But whatever the name, it's about battered Berlin, and the Americans who outlasted the Soviet blockade.

Montgomery Clift and Paul Douglas are the only professional American actors in the cast. They are supported by more than 40 veterans of the airlift, given time off by Lt. Gen. John K. Cannon.

The script thumbs its nose at old celluloid rules. The hero is no pilot, just a sergeant flight engineer. Clift meets Cornelia, but they part forever before the fade-out.

Cornelia is out to demonstrate that a Cinderella can have a level head. Her contract—seven years at a rising scale of from $250 to $2,000 a week—depends on whether she makes good in her part.

Her real name is Gertrud Borchers; she was born in Hanover, and she has never traveled outside her native land. Her father was an Army officer in the first world war and taught history and modern languages until his death in 1935. She speaks faultless English with a transplanted Oxford accent.

Cornelia studied medicine at Goettingen University to satisfy her mother's wishes, but finally gave it up to take a theoretical course in Berlin. Acting has always been her ambition.

She says she's only been very frightened twice in her life. Once was when American tanks approached the German military hospital where she was nursing in April, 1945. Nazi propagandists had warned that the Yankee barbarians committed indescribable atrocities. But the tank crews handed out some candy and cigarettes instead.

Her second fright was when she was selected for the present role.

"The thought that so much of my future was at stake was a great strain at first," she recalls.

"But Mr. Seaton and Mr. Pheiberg have been very kind and understanding. My only real difficulty up to now seems to be liquidating my British accent. Mr. Seaton's wife, Lillian Loughton has been coaching me in American diction day and night."

Lower California Semitropical Area Is Link With Past
LOS ANGELES, (AP)—On Cape San Lucas, the southernmost extremity of Lower California, exists one of the last strongholds of the flora and fauna which perhaps characterized Southern California several millenniums ago. Slowly retreating from aridity and other factors, this semitropical area contains plant and animal life that furnish important link with the past.

Two U.C.L.A. zoologists, Charles Lowe, Jr., and Kenneth Norris, are on an expedition to gather plant and animal specimens in the area. The expedition is being sponsored jointly by the University and the Palm Springs Desert Museum.

The zoologists report that distribution of the animals alone may tell a rather complete story about the climatic changes that have taken place in southern California over a period of many years. The fact that the same species exist in isolated areas in various latitudes along the coast indicates that the arid regions in between have only recently (geologically speaking) been formed.

Fanciest Figures On Display At Beach Are Not Feminine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 25. —The fancy figures of this year's Miss America pageant are far from feminine.

Fifty-four shapely lassies will compete for the beauty title. Their body lines will figure in the judging. But, the fancy figures belong to the cash register.

Miss Lenora Slaughter, pageant director, says these are the money figures:

$100,000 to stage the boardwalk parade that opens pageant week, Sept. 6.

$100,000 in scholarships for competitors.

$50,000 to stage the four-night contest in Convention Hall.

$40,000 for transportation and maintenance expenses of contestants.

In addition, Miss Slaughter points out the 1948 Miss America, Bebe Shopp of Hopkins, Minn., has earned $30,000 since winning the title. That's the biggest "take" any Miss America has had in the 25 years of the pageant. She collected the money for personal appearances throughout the year.

From another figure angle, this year's Miss America will be selected from an entry list of about 10,000 girls. Miss Slaughter said that number entered local and state contests to select competitors for the pageant. Every state except Delaware will be represented in the pageant. In addition, there will be misses from New York City, Chicago, Philadelphia, Washington, D. C., Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Canada.

Since the end of the war, the pageant has broadened its beauty requirements. A pretty face atop a graceful figure used to be enough to win. Nowadays, a girl must have talent, personality and poise. She is judged on all of them.

A change has been made for the opening event—the $100,000 parade. Instead of motor-driven mardi gras floats, all will be pulled by appropriately costumed men. For instance, a float depicting an Egyptian scene will be drawn by men dressed in clothes of the Cleopatra era.

There will be 26 floats and 12 bands in the line of march. The contestants will ride in rolling chairs spaced throughout the parade.

The contest opened the evening of Sept. 7 on the huge stage of Convention Hall. In three nights of preliminaries, the girls will appear in bathing suits, evening gowns and in demonstrations of their talent. They will breakfast with the judges. They will be chaperoned by local women throughout the week. They will be guarded as closely as nuns in a convent.

Fifteen girls will be selected for the finals on Saturday night. From them Miss America will be chosen. The big prize for Miss America is a $5,000 scholarship. The 14 runners-up share an additional $20,000 in scholarships. Many of the girls already will have won scholarships, totalling $75,000, in the local and state contests.

For a final fling at figures, Miss Slaughter says some 25,000 persons are expected to watch the closing night performance.

New Capital Of Tiny Montenegro Looks Like U. S. Frontier Town

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
STAFF WRITER

TITOGRAD, Yugoslavia, Aug. 25. —As the old legends have it, God's chariot girdled the globe as he created mountains from a sack full of rocks. When he reached Montenegro, the sack split. The contents spilled upon this little land a rocky blessing—and a barren course for centuries.

Mountain - girdled Montenegro found a freedom unparalleled in the Balkans behind its steep crags until World War II came. Then the bomb bays of big planes airdropped and spilled forth destruction to end the security of a legend.

Here in the heart of Montenegro, the people are building a future under difficult conditions from the rocks and ruins and rubble of their past. It's a tough task, and its success may not be measured completely for more than a generation.

Titograd—formerly a sleepy, isolated country town called Podgorica, literally "under the mountain"—was almost destroyed during the war, first by allied bombs upon German and Italian targets and later by violent fighting between Marshal Tito's partisans and the rival Cehetniks.

It began rebuilding with the war's end. Its future then was uncertain. So were its peoples who came trekking back from mountain hideouts and partisan strongholds.

Life had been simple. The women did most of the work, tilling an unwilling soil, tending the livestock. The men were largely mountaineers. Little more than two centuries ago, a man was hardly regarded a man unless he had the head of an enemy mounted upon his spear outside the lodge.

Right now, Titograd looks like a typical frontier town of the time when the western part of the United States was expanding. There are no cowboys. But their role is filled by militiamen. Yugoslavia is hard by the border of Albania. And no love is lost between the two countries.

By the year's end, the Yugoslav republic of Montenegro hopes to shift its capital from Cetinje to Titograd; away from the tradition steeped atmosphere of old monasteries to a setting strictly modern.

It seems possible. In perhaps Yugoslavia's most concentrated building project, scores of apartment buildings have been built, modern government buildings are nearing completion. Park bushes which crumpled under the feet of occupation troops are being replaced.

There's no estimate on the total cost of the project. Much of the work has been done by Tito's "voluntary" work brigade.

Montenegro's importance as a cornerstone of Yugoslavia's independence remains. Perhaps, that's one reason why work is being hurried here to make it as solid as its mountains.

Commission Test Slated For Well Owned By Ford

SNYDER, Aug. 25. (AP)—A Railroad Commission test is in the offing for the oil well near here owned by Henry Ford II and others.

Operators reported yesterday that tubing has been set and connection work has been completed at the storage tanks and separator.

T. M. Pettigrew, spokesman for some of the owners, said "we are well satisfied with the progress of the well. But it does require time to condition a well with the high gravity crude we have for a Railroad Commission test."

Knowland Seeks To Add Arms Aid For Chinese

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) is driving hopefully to put arms aid for non-Communist China into President Truman's $1,450,000,000 military assistance bill.

The West Coast lawmaker has been plugging for this goal for weeks; observers said that now it is at least in sight.

"In a bill supposed to meet a problem of a global charity fund, it is not realistic to provide one per cent of the total for the entire Pacific area, which has a population of more than a billion," Knowland told a reporter.

He, 11 other Republican senators and one Democrat have introduced an amendment to provide $175 million arms aid to China. The administration's bill provides nothing for this purpose.

Knowland said he is not wedded to the exact terms of the amendment and that he is willing to reduce its amount to $150 million.

He declared he will insist that the bill mention China by name, rather than the Far East in general, and that it make arms available to the Chinese on the same terms as to other countries.

FLUNKS ON RADIO QUIZ

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25. (AP)—A radio station manager told the Federal Communications Commission yesterday that anyone of average intelligence could answer questions on his quiz program.

The FCC tried him on a few. The manager failed to answer even one.

The commission was holding a hearing on the legality of the program, which is heard on a local station.

Budget For New Year Shows HCJC Is Moving Soundly

What has all the earmarks of an excellent field of interest and activity for the older group of Boy Scouts is the proposed Emergency Service Corps for Big Spring. Organizational meeting for this unit is scheduled for this evening.

Open to scouts and former Scouts from the age of 15 and up, the Corps is designed to work hand in hand with the disaster preparedness committee of the American Red Cross. It does not supersede that group, for adult direction is recognized as essential in time of disaster, when major policies must be made quickly. It does not supersede any other Scouting activities, but is an adjunct to them.

It simply is a new training area for older boys who likely have pretty well finished the prescribed courses in Scouting, and who are ready to take on a little more responsibility in acting in time of a major disaster.

Under the Red Cross committee, this Corps would serve on errand and communication work, identification duties, guard duties and even KP work—in short, would serve wherever needed.

To become competent to meet such demands on short notice, members of the Corps will be required to take an intensive training course, and a discussion of this course will be given tonight. Even before getting into the Corps, the Scouts must show proficiency in public and private health matters, know the rudiments of life saving, and be able to pass a rigid physical examination.

All of this is going to be excellent training for the older Scout group, and it is going to be fine for the community, which will have a backlog of prepared, alert and trained young men who can serve it in time of need.

Emergency Service Corps Is Fine For Boys And Community

Not the least among the public duties that most of us choose to ignore is that of attending public hearings on budgets for various governmental units. Usually, the taxpayer ignores the schedule that sets up the cost, and squawks only when he gets the bill to cover those costs.

The budget hearing season is coming around, and first of these occurs tonight, when the fiscal affairs for the Howard County Junior College will be aired.

The college budget provides for actual expenditures of close to $150,000, up about $25,000 from the previous year. Anticipated revenues include $64,000 from current taxes, at the 35-cent rate; $15,000 from state funds; $52,150 from tuition fees, and $11,000 from miscellaneous sources.

Prospects are that the college will finish the fiscal year with $167,000 in its building fund, and when all GI tuition payments are in, this may go to $180,000 or better. This is not to discuss the various items of this particular budget, but it is timely to comment on how soundly our local college has been maintained. There were many who doubted HCJC had the strength to exist, once the post-war flurry subsided. Now there is strong evidence to show that it can continue existence, and continue to grow.

Plans continue, steadily if slowly, toward the future construction of a permanent college plant. This would serve further to strengthen the HCJC appeal to Big Spring students and those in the immediate area.

The college development will continue to cost money, and the people should be aware of this. Nonetheless, fine progress has been made without making any sort of drain on community and county, and the college board and its executives are to be commended for that fact. Perhaps they should adopt the attitude that the public is pleased, or else there would be a crowd at the budget hearing.

'United States' For Europe Has Support Of French Head

OVER IN STRASBOURG, FRANCE, seat of the new Council of Europe, idealists continue to urge that the 13 constituent nations join in forming a United States in which the members would sacrifice much of their sovereignty to the general welfare.

At long last this Utopian idea of the past century shows signs of at least partial fruition. Like many other great developments, the current activity has its genesis in dangers—economic, political, and military—which can only be met by concerted action.

The latest exponent of this extreme proposal, former French Premier Paul Reynaud, ranks internationally as a major prophet. More often than most, during the Hitlerian menace, he foresaw the future. Now he calls for western unity to meet impending crises.

SPEAKING TUESDAY ON THE GRAVE European economic situation before the consultative assembly of the council, Reynaud advocated a real European legislature, directly elected by the people of the member nations. He declared that only in this way could the assembly acquire authority to merge European economies into the single continental market, with one currency, which he maintains is demanded if Europe is to survive between America and Russia.

"Between these two giants," he said, "there is a place for a unified Europe, but not for a mosaic of independent states."

"The road we are following," he asserted in another place, "is a dead-end street."

It comes to an end in 1952. (The Marshall Plan is scheduled to terminate then). He was, of course, speaking as a financial expert who among other things served as French finance minister during the critical days of 1938-39. He put the proposition bluntly, saying that such a step would eventually mean a sacrifice of national sovereignty, but nevertheless must be taken.

UPON THIS QUESTION OF SOVEREIGNTY very largely turns the whole problem. No nation wants to surrender it.

REYNAUD FORESAW THE NAZI AGGRESSION and urged preparedness, but his was a voice crying in the wilderness. It was about that time, while he was finance minister, that I had a long talk with him in Paris. We covered a lot of ground, and at one point I asked him what he thought of America's tendency to confine its activities to the Western Hemisphere. He replied:

"There was a time when England thought she was an island."

I waited for more, and when it didn't come I inquired if that was his complete answer. He grinned and said:

"That's my answer."

Reynaud is widely traveled and has visited the United States many times.

"I like America," he told me. "I like the American atmosphere of optimism."

He might have added that he was one of a minority who insisted that the French debt to America from World War I must be paid.

Airborne Film Premiere Helps Meet Hot Weather Problem

NEW YORK—Escaping the current heat wave on Broadway seemed impossible until the U. S. Navy took the situation in hand. So on a day when thermometers were busting out all over, Commander R. C. Knowles of the Navy Hurricane Hunter Patrol took a group of writers and broadcasters so high above Manhattan that heating units had to be turned on to keep from freezing.

The occasion was an airborne film premiere of Twentieth Century-Fox film which is more or less a case history of the Naval Hurricane Service.

For this airborne premiere, Commander Knowles brought up from Patuxent, Md., one of the Navy's two (two is all there are at the moment) 168-passenger Lockheed Constellations. The Navy calls them "Aerodynamic Leviathans," which will save both time and money by transporting quickly large groups of armed forces, and by carrying cargo and spare parts to the Navy Fleet. As an example, more jeeps can be carried in a Constellation than in a freight car. The Constellation's fuselage is 156 feet long and the wing span is 185 feet. It contains enough structural material to build sixteen and one-half F-80 Shooting Stars.

The film we saw is "Slattery's Hurricane," an exciting, ramblunctious picture with Richard Widmark trying to make up his mind between Veronica Lake and Lind Darnell. Flying at 5,000 feet and watching the picture, our opinion was that Mr. Widmark has been given an unanswerable question as to whether he should choose Veronica or Linda. Mr. Widmark took the easy (easy? did I say?) way out and went back to the hurricane patrol.

The Navy's hurricane patrol, Commander Knowles told me, searches the suspicious areas below Miami in order to pounce upon the eye, or dead center, of a hurricane and thereby warn the cities where the hurricanes are going to hit hardest.

The Navy Hurricane Patrol is a benefit that came out of the late war. Today it provides protection for civilians and cities which might be whipped by hurricanes. But it was established during the war to protect the large number of planes we had stationed in the hurricane belt prior to their allocation overseas for war-time services.

Leftists In Labor Organizations May Pull Out, Establish Own Deal

By ROBERT S. ALLEN For DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — An extraordinary backstage scramble is taking place within the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

While the anti-Communist Phil Murray leadership is preparing to boot out the leftist unions at the CIO's Cleveland convention, the latter are racing to beat this move to the punch with a walk out of their own.

"The lefties" have called a meeting in New York on Aug. 30. Inside word is they will stage a bolt and proclaim the establishment of a national labor organization of their own. Informed sources say this is the new Communist Party line.

Call for this powwow was issued by the following: United Electrical Workers; Food, Tobacco and Agricultural Workers; United Public Workers; United Furniture Workers; United Packinghouse Workers; United Fur Workers.

Significantly not in this list is the International Longshoremen's Union, headed by Harry Bridges. Although the leading CIO leftist, Bridges can not take his union out of the CIO. An attempt would split it wide open. He is already under powerful attack within the organization.

However, it is reliably reported that Bridges had a leading hand in the decision that convened the leftist meeting. If he doesn't show up personally, he is certain to play a decisive role behind-the-scenes. He is the No. 1 choice to head their new leftist labor organization.

Meanwhile, Murray and his anti-Communist leaders are setting the stage for a clean break with the "Lefties" at the Cleveland convention. Regardless of what the latter do at their Aug. 30 meeting, the CIO chiefs intend to purge their rolls in Cleveland.

RHAPSODY

Arkansas and Alabama aren't sure they haven't grounds to be sniffed at Rep. Frank Boykin, the rotund Alabamian, became an excited lyrical when he met Arcturion's gorgeous entry to the "Miss America" contest. Rep. Brooks Hays, (D-Ark.) introduced the young lady to Boykin at lunch.

"Honey," he rhapsodized, "you couldn't be from Arkansas. You are so beautiful you must have come from heaven."

For months, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas, R. N. J., awaiting trial on kickback charges, was a patient at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital. With the exception of a $1-a-day charge for meals, Thomas's two major operations and other extensive medical care were free. Taxpayers footed the bill.

Recently he was released from the hospital. It is the custom for civilian patients, upon leaving, to give their attendants a bank note as a token of appreciation for their care. Thomas observed this tradition—after a fashion.

To his attendants and nurses he presented autographed admission cards to the visitors' gallery of the House.

NOTE—With both chambers of Congress under extensive renovation, visitors, galleries are shut down and will remain so until next year.

BLUE PUNK

The Federal Trade Commission is in a sad state. With one exception, its six members are either ill, scared stiff over prospects of being reappointed, or their appointment is stymied in the Senate. The exception is Commissioner William Aves, 80 years old, who still has five years to serve. Of the other five members, acting Chairman Lowell Mason is treading softly because of uncertainty over whether he will be renominated next month. Commissioner Ewin Davis has been ill in a hospital for weeks. Commissioner Garland Ferguson, whose term expired last year, doesn't know where he stands; and the latest appointee, John Carson, liberal Republican, is still awaiting confirmation by the Senate.

COAL SLOWDOWN

John L. Lewis's two-month-old coal slowdown has had no effect on industry so far. Stockpile reserves have gradually diminished but all consumption demands have been met. Only group so far hard-hit is small mine operators, particularly in West Virginia. They have been unable to operate profitably on a 30-day basis and a number of them have been forced to shut down. This has thrown hundreds of miners out of work, through no fault of their own or the operators.

While Lewis's slowdown has caused no general adverse effect as yet, difficulties are anticipated when cold weather sets in. Such steel plants as have been digging into their coal reserves are becoming uneasy. Similarly, retail dealers are warning customers to order now.

SHORTS

In early American days, a favorite gift to Presidents was wigs.

John Quincy Adams received more than 50 wigs while in the White House. Since 1939, the U. S. has expended more than $72 billion in foreign loans and aid that is nearly three times the national debt in 1932.

Senate Democratic Floor Leader Scott Lucas, Ill., is certain his Republican opponent next year will be former Rep. Everett Dirksen. The latter is already making frequent speeches.

At the recent Grand Rapids Iowa, convention of the Reserve Officers' Association, Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan vigorously opposed a Navy man being elected national commander.

Warehouses At Corpus Christi Embargo Cotton

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 25 (U.S.)—Corpus Christi's two compresses have embargoed cotton.

J. K. Cain, president of the Aransas compress which has embargoed both freight and truck shipments, said the embargo may be lifted Monday.

But Fred Crook of the Port Commission, which has embargoed only rail shipments, said it was impossible to say when the bar on rail shipments would be lifted.

Warehouses here are loaded to capacity and presses are working on a 24-hour schedule.

Good Business Item: Colman Working Again

HOLLYWOOD.—The movie business is picking up. Here's how you can tell—Ronald Colman is working again.

The distinguished actor admits he is sort of a barometer of the film industry. He has spent most of his long career as a freelancer.

"When business becomes poor, it naturally slows down the freelance field," he told me. "Studios seek ways to save money and don't buy as many new stories, preferring to use the scripts of the shelf. This means fewer good pictures to choose from."

"Also the studios try to save money by using their own contract players and avoiding freelancers."

In such times as these, Colman relaxes and takes life easy.

"I can find plenty to do," he said. "I'd rather not work in films for a year or two than do something I don't like. If I undertake something I know is inferior, I can have no enthusiasm for the work. This shows on the screen, and can kill one's popularity."

Colman has been through many Hollywood depressions, but opined that this last one was probably the worst. "It had more far-reaching effects, because of the loss of the foreign market," he remarked.

The actor waited two years before following up his Academy award for "A Double Life" in 1947. He is making his return in a funny comedy, "Champagne For Caesar," in which he plays a savant who knows all the answers on an air quiz show.

Stairs In An Airplane Just Part Of Snazzy Surroundings

By ED CREA (Subbing for Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (U.S.)—RUN ALONG, KIDNEY. Don't wait for grandpa. I've just been trotting up and down stairs at a height of 15,000 feet, and my head is still in the clouds.

Trotting up and down—? That's right, in an airplane. Stairs in an airplane.

Maybe that leaves you several degrees under the boiling point, but you're younger. You're at peace with the 20th Century. To me it's frightening.

I discovered these stairs while cruising over Connecticut at a lazy 350 miles an hour in one of the new Boeing Strato-Cruisers, with my ears caressed by the purring of four engines and a waggish publicity man named Wally Reynolds.

IT HAS BEEN A PLEASANT, UNEXPECTED jaunt — just Wally and me and 73 other deadheads.

"Hartford," said Wally, pointing down. I looked. The buildings of the insurance capital were scarcely larger than the fine print in an insurance policy.

While waiting breathlessly for Bridgeport I took stock of my surroundings. Very snazzy. Comfortable lean-back seats. Grey-beige gardine ceiling.

On the armrest was a miniature control panel: individual reading light. Retractable ashtray. Thingumajig calling "occupied." Button labeled "Call stewardess." I pressed the button. In a puff of smoke, Wally appeared.

"Let's go downstairs," he said. "Downstairs?"

"SURE. THIS JOB IS A DOUBLE-DECKER. You get tired of riding up here, go downstairs and maybe get into a gin-rummy game. Come on."

I followed him, feeling light-headed. And it wasn't because of the altitude.

Sure enough, there were stairs. Like in a house. We went down slowly. I don't know why, but it gave me an Arabian Nights feeling. As though the living room rug at home should suddenly float out the window.

"See you later, Wally," I said, and went back upstairs. I stood at the top for a while, scratching my neck. Then I went below again, counting the stairs. There were 11.

"Imagine," I said, trying to keep it casual. "Stairs in an airplane. Gives you a feeling of spaciousness. Makes you—"

"Easy, pal," Wally said. "Why don't you go forward and talk with the automatic pilot?"

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

'Poltergeist' Phenomena Still Enshrouded In Deep Mystery

Of all the unsolved mysteries which have intrigued mankind down the ages, none has attracted more attention than those weird disturbances which some attribute to "poltergeists."

Quite recently, the interest of the public was aroused by a strange case in Washington. A 14-year-old boy was said to be "possessed" because in his presence uncanny noises were heard, furniture was observed to creep about the room, and his bed rocked violently.

Apparently under the impression that the youth was creating these disturbances deliberately to mystify his family and friends, a visiting minister devised a test. He placed the boy in a chair and watched him closely. Although he made not the slightest motion, his chair moved backward steadily until it touched the wall, when it tipped slowly forward. It was obvious that, whatever the cause of the phenomena, the youth himself was perfectly innocent.

However, for good measure, the minister next placed the boy on a blanket in the middle of the room. Again, he lay absolutely still while the blanket carried him across the floor and under the bed in the most approved Arabian Nights fashion. It was exactly the kind of performance one would have expected from the famous flying carpet if it temporarily had been grounded.

The alarmed parents called in a number of other clergymen, both Catholic and Protestant, to see what could be done for their son. It was decided to try exorcism rituals, and eventually the "demon" appeared to have been cast out, for the phenomena ceased altogether.

Richard C. Darnell, president of the Society for Parapsychology, in commenting upon the case, said the odd events described could not be explained from a physical or physiological standpoint. He admitted that they seemed to fit into the "poltergeist" classification.

"Poltergeists" (racketing spirits) have been blamed in many similar cases, running back hundreds of years. Cotton Mather and other writers of Colonial days have left us circumstantial accounts of stone-throwing, moving of furniture and breakage of rockery—sometimes to such an extent that the victims literally were driven from their homes. Occurrences such as these played a large part in bringing on the Salem witchcraft horror.

A modern case in France has unusually interesting aspects. A vintner in a small city engaged a teen-aged boy as an assistant, and shortly afterward bottles and glasses began to fly about his establishment as though endowed with a life of their own. Gendarmes were called, and then the city officials, but none could make anything of the phenomenon. For weeks the breakage continued intermittently, and the vintner found himself faced with utter ruin. At this juncture, someone observed that the disturbances never took place except when the boy helper was in the shop. Although the vintner, as well as the police, willingly absolved him of any blame, he was fired promptly and no more trouble of the sort was experienced.

The theory has been advanced that this boy, perhaps unknown to himself, was so highly psychic that he provided exactly the right conditions for the "poltergeists" to wreak havoc in the vintner's shop. That is, he served as a kind of unconscious medium through whom they could work as they worked through the Washington boy. Such a theory obviously presupposes more than orthodox science is willing to grant, but no other seems possible in the present state of our knowledge.—R. G. MACREADY.

Special Treatment For Farmers Designed To Balance Economy

WASHINGTON, (U.S.)—EXCEPT FOR the experts, probably by this time no one knows the difference between the various farm plans kicking around in Congress.

The Gore Plan, The Aiken Plan, The Anderson and Brannan Plans. What do they mean? They differ only in details but all are aimed at one thing:

Giving farmers some assurance they'll have a steady income, even if the government has to step in and help them get it.

This may seem like special treatment for farmers, and it is, but the purpose behind all the plans is to try to keep the complex American economy on a balanced plane.

For example, when farmers have money, they can buy what factory workers turn out. This keeps factory workers employed and when they have money they can buy what farmers raise.

THE PRESENT PLANS ARE ALL OUTGROWTHS of a plan that was put into operation back in depression days when farmers were having a hard time.

Money was scarce then and when farmers over-produced and their products flooded the market, the price they could get for their crops went down. So did farmers' income.

Yet, farmers needed buying power to buy what factories made. If they had money, factories could hire men to make what the farmers needed. This would spread employment.

Congress decided that if crops somehow could be controlled, and production kept down to stay within demand, farmers might get better prices. And, if they didn't, the government would help.

So in 1933 Congress passed the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Triple "A" program. It worked this way: The government set quotas by announcing how much of each crop should be raised.

FARMERS WHO AGREED TO CUT down their production and stay within the quotas got guarantees of help from the government, if they needed it.

If the farmer couldn't get in the open market what the government decided was a fair price, the government would take over the farmer's crop, either by buying it up from him or giving him a loan.

The government did it this way, by guaranteeing a farmer that, no matter what happened, he'd get for his crop between 52 and 75 per cent parity. That needs explaining.

In 1933 the government wanted the farmers' purchasing power to be fairly close to what it was in some prosperous period. It picked the period 1909-14 as a comparable, or base, period.

This meant that in 1933 the government wanted them to get for their crops enough money to enable them to buy the same amount of factory goods and other things that they were able to buy with their crop money in the period 1909-14.

The arguments in Congress now are over plans to raise or lower the guarantees or change them around, but all of them provide for guarantees.

In other words, ever since 1933 the government has put a floor under farm prices and it still intends to do that.

There's Fun In Planning Desserts;
They Flatter The Taste Of Diners

Whether it is more fun to prepare a brand-new dessert, or more fun to taste it is a matter of opinion. In either case, dramatic variations on the familiar dessert theme have power to stimulate the imagination of prospective hostesses, and flatter the taste of diners.
Fruit au gratin is a dessert simple enough to be served frequently for work-a-day luncheons or suppers, yet is sophisticated enough to appear as the fitting conclusion to a formal dinner. Canned or fresh fruits may be used in this dessert. Pears, peach halves, or pineapple slices respond equally well in the preparation of this dessert. To make the fruit halves are rolled in crisp cereal crumbs, placed in a shallow baking dish (cut side up) and dotted with butter. Bake until the crumbs are nicely browned and serve warm with a spicy Lemon Sauce. The recipe for the sauce follows:
Lemon Sauce
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup fruit juice
2 tablespoons butter
1 1/4 tablespoons lemon juice
Nutmeg
Salt
Mix sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add fruit juice grad-

A Good Breakfast—A Good Scholar;
So Make Plans For Good Breakfasts

Breakfast is important for everyone, but is of special significance for school children, to help provide all the material needed for good growth and alertness for their morning school work. Surveys among school children have shown that only about a third of them have adequate breakfasts—the rest have poor breakfasts or no breakfast at all. Surveys of adults show an equally grim picture. Mothers should take heed, for unless good breakfasts are provided at home, the children will not get them at all. Parents too need a good breakfast, and the easiest way to teach children good food habits is to have them follow the good example set by their parents.
FRUIT OR FRUIT JUICE
Orange, grapefruit, tomato or other juices; bananas, fresh fruit in season, canned fruits.
CEREAL
Whole grain or restored cereal: crisp ready-to-eat or to-be-cooked MILK
Poured over cereal and served as a beverage, plain or in cocoa made with milk.
BREAD
Enriched white, whole wheat or rye, toasted or fresh; rolls or other breakfast breads; spread with butter or margarine.
Some parents go to work before the children go to school. The modern variety packages of ready-to-eat cereals are a boon in these cases, because even young children can be taught to open a package of cereal and pour on their own milk. Whole oranges, bananas or canned fruit juices are also simple for the children to serve themselves. Here are some basic breakfast menus:
