Victory Friday Gives Tigers 5 Win, 5 Loss Record for Season

Climaxing the season's play, Slaton High School's Tigers made the most of long runs Friday night to win their season's closing game 32-21 from the Abernathy Antelopes.

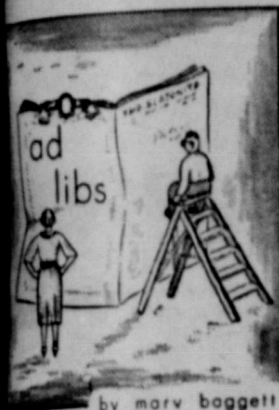

Pat Adamek and Rodney Fulcher put most of the 396 yards in the "gain" column for the Tigers.

Adamek got the Tigers off to a good start when he went 69 yards on the Tigers' first play from scrimmage, and scored.

The Antelopes lost possession of the ball five of the nine times they fumbled during the game. Three of the fumbles were deep in Tiger territory.

For the Tigers it was their fifth victory this year, giving them a record equal to that of 1954.

Letters for the year's play will be announced next week. Coach Leonard Ehrler said this week. Plans for the annual football banquet are being formulated.

It's a good bet that no little town had more fun on Halloween night than did Boyd. The story goes that he had a nylon stocking over his head, lay down on the porch and to the house and waited for the Halloweeners. As they approached, he groaned and moaned, and called "Help!" in an appropriate tone. Needless to say, the little spoons were in haste. It's a wonder Boyd didn't laugh himself death that night.

It's really too bad that more people don't have Boyd Meek's capacity for humor. It takes a really wonderful man to forsake satellites, A-Bombs, and the following dollar long enough to let the kids for awhile in a simple fun.

Barry has a new perfume and it is on sale at Slaton Pharmacy. The name of it is "Sweet Winds" and the salesmen tell you to wear it "and it's a storm."

There is going to be a hummer sale at Webb's, ending Friday and ending Monday the 18th. Buy a dress at regular price and you get a hummer of equal value for 1 cent. (I wonder where the word "hum-dinger" comes from?)

Another sale in town is at the Furniture Store. Always buy in his ad copy, Mr. Johnson says "prices are out of this world. We circled the best, and beep-beeped in every way for values." That's not all, turn to his ad and read it yourself. You'll get a chuckle and a value, too, if you take advantage of the offers.

An unknown man here in Slaton performed an act of kindness, and won a little girl's gratitude when he stopped his car and scared off a dog which was barking about and frightening the child. Perhaps she was in danger of being bitten, but the terror she felt was real.

Advertisements from the Territorial Enterprise: "If your business isn't worth advertising—advertise it for sale."

Editor Fred Speers of the Slaton Time-Advocate writes: "I was amused by the story of the children of a Vista who have added a new column to their newspaper with the name of Sputnik. The columns were headed 'Local,' 'National,' and 'World.' You know it. Now they've added 'Sputnik.'"

Reminds me of a little boy who stopped in front of a Doughnut store in Slaton. Spying the big sign in the window, she said with some disapproval: "That's all you hear any more is Sputnik, Sputnik, Sputnik."

Congratulations, Frank Chapman, for winning the TV Lamp Contest. Pharmacy: Frank won a lucky number 590. There is a lucky number in Slaton every week, also. The Hoffman Hardware Store, Bain's Auto, and Bourn's are happy to present you with the numbers posted in various stores and if the numbers match, then the merchandise is happy to present you with the prize offered that week.

Dear Santa ...

Letters to Santa from children in and around Slaton will be published and forwarded to Santa at his North Pole Toy Factory.

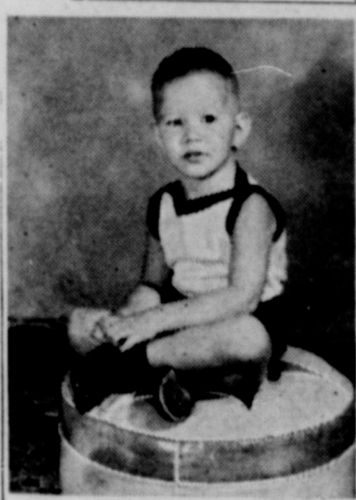

Dear Santa Claus, I have been a good little girl. Paul Ray has been fairly good for a little boy.

I would like for you to bring piano and a stool, and a bicycle. The reason I want a bicycle is because I'm giving Paul Ray my big tricycle. Paul Ray wants a football and a helmet and anything else that you have for little boys.

We will have our Christmas tree lit up so you can see your way in.

Love, Tyna Jan Martin Southland, Texas

P.S. We are sending you our pictures since we are always asleep and you never get to see us.

Paul Ray Martin ... wants football ...

Appeal Hearing Set on Local Radio Station

Hearings on an appeal of the awarding of a grant for a radio station in Slaton to the Star of the Plains Broadcasting Company have been set for December 9 in Washington, D. C. Appeal of the grant has been made by Plainview Radio, Plainview, Texas.

The grant was made by Hugh B. Hutchinson, hearing examiner, to the Star of the Plains Broadcasting Company to construct a standard clear channel radio station in Slaton. Hutchinson, in awarding the grant, stated: "It is clear that the public interest, convenience, and necessity would be served by a grant to Star of the Plains Broadcasting Company."

What's Made In Slaton Makes Slaton

(Fourth in a Series of Editorials)

"What's made in Slaton makes Slaton" includes many things: the hundreds of different jobs, the small factories, the businesses, various clubs and other things. The most important for the future of all is our spirit or attitude in regard to the city in which we live.

The slogan of our next door neighbor, "Cities do not just happen, they are built" expresses what we have in mind. This spirit of cooperation and interest in each other's welfare starts with the people in Slaton, with the business men as leaders.

Here, as in all towns large and small, this spirit is invariably reflected in and toward that town's newspaper. This is because in the promotion of practically all things for the good of the community the newspaper is called upon to help. They invariably do help to the best of their ability. The Slatonite is no exception.

Whether the spirit of community interest is good, bad or medium, let's let each individual be their own judge. We call attention to this because Slaton cannot have too much community spirit for everyone's own good. The future of our town depends upon it.

Certainly there is no place in Slaton for detrimental rumors against one another. Let's bend every effort to be "FOR" ... for each other personally, for other businesses, and for Slaton all the way.

National, State Officers Visit Local Jaycees Wednesday Morning

Slaton Jaycees were host to national and state officers of their organization Wednesday of this week, when Wayne A. Bowles, national vice president, Pete Snelson, state president, and Wright Carlisle, state vice president were here.

Local members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce met with the visitors at Bruce's Cafe.

Bowles is in charge of leadership training in the national organization. He is formerly a resident of Ralls, and presently lives in Santa Fe, New Mexico. He was elected to his one-year term of office at the national Jaycee convention in Milwaukee this past summer.

'Goodwill' Campaign Enables Slatonite to Better Serve

—by Pearl Williams, Circulation Manager

The home-town newspaper is familiar to every American old enough to read. But how well do these readers understand its problems and purposes—its importance in their lives, and the life of the community, state and nation?

A home-town newspaper, such as The Slatonite, is so many things. It is similar to, and yet unlike many other businesses, professions and institutions in this community. Its services are so varied that it is part of all the others.

Mirror of the Community

It might be called a mirror of the community, a library of local information, a market place, a partnership in which the owners, advertisers, readers and the whole community have a common interest.

It is not a food store, for it cannot feed the people of the community, but its advertising columns do nurture the food store.

Although it cannot render banking service, it is a well known fact that the newspaper is the bank's protector against the damage which misinformation or misguided interference might cause.

It does not practice medicine, but it does play a vital part in preventing disease and the spread of epidemics.

It lays no claim to being a lawyer or court of law, but it stands ready to prevent or correct injustice.

Disseminate Information

Neither the publisher, editor nor members of the newspaper's staff claim a superior status in the community. They admit only the newspaper tries to do its job. And when information regarding the community is desired the place most often visited is the office of the local newspaper.

Workers in the Slatonite "Goodwill" Subscription Campaign are making every endeavor to convert promises into votes during this period, and many folks are extending their subscriptions in order to help a favorite candidate.

The Slatonite can better serve and better mirror this community if it has the support of an ever-growing family of subscribers. Your newspaper is important—stand behind it as a friend.

Candidates, remember every one of your friends and acquaintances will help you. Believe in yourself and this self-confidence will effect your friends. Get all the fun possible out of the campaign while you are piling up votes toward the coveted prizes. The greatest opportunity of a lifetime is before you.

Are you going to take advantage of it, or are you going to let the other fellow take what rightfully could be yours? Remember—"The game isn't over 'till the whistle blows."

Just four days remain in the second period, and then votes take another drop. All too soon the campaign will be over and the grand prizes awarded. Will your favorite be a winner? Have you given your subscription while the votes count the most?

There are many people who are waiting for a certain candidate to call. You can save them time by informing them through the campaign office. Phone VA 8-4841 and leave the message.

Anyone can win

"The developments this week provide full proof of how standings can change in just a matter of a few days," the campaign managers said. "Anyone could be the winner of the $800 prize." In addition to the $800, there are other cash prizes: 2nd prize, $400; 3rd prize, $200; 4th, $100; and 5th, $50.

Also there are no losers in this campaign, the managers remind the public. Those who do not win one of the prizes offered will be awarded 20 per cent of the amount of subscriptions they sold during the campaign.

Charles Marriott presently is serving as scoutmaster, and will be succeeded by L. B. Hagerman about the first of the year.

APATHY IS A LUXURY

Concerning foreign policy and foreign affairs, the apathy and indifference of millions of Americans has been pronounced, shocking and frightening. The fate of America, of our children and of freedom hangs in the balance. But efforts to illuminate and explain the crucial problems of foreign affairs and the cold war often evoke the stock reply, "Too much Afghanitanism."

Democracy, freedom, the legacy and patrimony of America and of our children can be lost in many ways. One is mass indifference. If the problems of city, state, nation and the world bore millions, then God help America.

We must all learn more, or we may perish. There has been too much indifference; there is still too much indifference. And if a people sinks into comfortable apathy, it will deserve its fate. We simply cannot afford to remain apathetic. The history and pressures of our time, and the Kremlin clique around Khrushchev—enemies of America—require us to be alert. Apathy is a luxury, and it can become a destructive one.

BUDGET PRESSURE

The furor caused by Russia's Sputniks and the consequent agonizing reappraisal of our own missiles program will almost certainly result in a big push to spend a lot more money and regain our position of leadership in this field. The arguments in favor of such a crash program are good ones. This country dares not fall behind the Soviet Union in the race to develop the new weapons.

It is likely, then, that defense expenditures—already $38 billion—will be increased. It does not follow that the entire federal budget must be increased. That may happen, but before it is allowed to happen there should be a throughgoing effort to cut back spending on less essential items instead of merely piling new defense costs on top of the present budget.

The trouble with cutting back on less essential government expenditures is that someone's ox is gored no matter what item of the budget is up for consideration. Getting Congress to agree on what items shall be cut is an extremely difficult task.

But the effort must be made. The budget director's hope that next year's budget can be reduced to $70 billion may be unrealistic. With a crash missiles program indicated, the administration will very likely be able to do no better than hold the line. The important thing is that greater military costs should not be allowed to push the budget to a new high unless every reasonable effort has first been made to cut other expenses. Few things could more surely weaken the nation's posture of defense than an inflationary budget.

THAT VILLAIN, SPEED

A group of experts seems to have concluded that speed may not be as big a factor in highway accidents as had been generally thought. A committee of the National Safety Council reported after a year's study that it found no "conclusive relationship between higher horsepower and the rising traffic toll."

Such a study, made by authorities in the field and based on the best data available commands respect. It should by no means be interpreted, however, as a blank check for unlimited speed.

It is significant that the very committee which concluded that rising horsepower does not play a major part in the rising traffic toll nevertheless recommended a maximum speed limit of 60 miles an hour "on most highways." In a sense, this recommendation appears to contradict the committee's basic finding that greater horsepower cannot in itself be blamed for an increase in highway accidents. The real villain is abuse of this horsepower by drivers who are careless or who have poor judgment. To some extent, increased horsepower helps to prevent accidents by cutting the distance required for passing other vehicles. But when cruising speed becomes excessive, the danger is heightened.

This comes about in two ways. In the first place, human beings can react only so fast; the greater the speed, the less time there is for proper action in emergencies. In the second place, the danger of serious damage, injury and death goes up with the rate of speed. It is the personal responsibility of each driver to consider these things, and to apply them to his own driving.

"Blue is back!" some men's clothing ads are announcing. If the ad writers will look in the closet of the average American male, they'll find that blue has been here all the time.

Having been elected head of the Teamsters, Jimmy Hoffa now has prospects of learning what is meant by uneasy lies the head that wears the crown."

HERALD OF HOPE

"...THOU SHALT GO BEFORE THE FACE OF THE LORD TO PREPARE HIS WAYS, TO GIVE KNOWLEDGE OF SALVATION UNTO HIS PEOPLE BY THE REMISSION OF THEIR SINS" — LUKE 1:76,77

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

John 9:25. "He answered and said, 'Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not. One thing I know, that, whereas I was blind, now I see...'"

This bold statement was made on the occasion when the Jews, who did not believe in Jesus as the Messiah, were questioning him about his eyes being opened from lifelong blindness.

They went so far as to tell him that the man who opened his eyes was a sinner who did not even know God. But their words took no effect on his healing, for he was already healed.

Many today will try to make people believe that they can have no personal contact with the Godhead, even after they are in possession of a personal acquaintance with God the Father and Jesus Christ the Son.

I personally like his sure answer when he declared: "I know this one thing... Yesterday I was groping in the blackness of darkness, but today I clearly see where I am going."

"Yesterday I was bound by the traditions of the Elders, but today I am made free in the knowledge of sins forgiven."

Yesterday I had to do as I did because I was bound by a principle. Today as I do because old things have passed away and behold, all things have become new.

Yesterday I was told that I could not know where I stood in God's sight. Today I can declare 'I know.'

May God's shining hand bring us out of the darkness of the traditions of men and shine to us the true light of the knowledge of sins forgiven.

This man's parents were afraid to tell the rulers of the synagogue what had happened to their son. But he was not ashamed to tell them how the blindness had left him. He said, "A man named Jesus made clay and anointed my eyes and said, 'Go to the pool of Siloam and wash' and I went and washed and I received sight."

The lesson is plain to him that will read with open heart. The man received his sight because he obeyed the word of the Lord. We will receive what we want from God when we do what He tells us to do, namely, meet the conditions he has laid down in the Word of God.

It was not the clay made of spittle, nor the waters of Siloam, but because he obeyed all that Jesus told him to do. Faith in God's word gave him sight as it will give us insight into the will of God, and so we

How to Keep a Free Press FREE

SELDOM does Freedom of the Press disappear in one annihilating blow.

In countries where the Press has been chained, there was first a period when it failed to realize and resist the beginnings of its end — the first encroachments on its freedom. There were powerful interests which wanted certain facts "kept out of the newspapers." There was pressure here and pressure there to have the truth withheld.

Before the Press of any nation succumbs to tyranny, there always has been a period of failure to speak out.

Here in America there is only the limitation of national security — the necessity to protect and preserve confidential military and scientific information — which can be accepted by a Press that is determined to stay free.

America's newspapers have made, and will continue to make, a conscientious effort to protect that security — at the same time keeping the people informed as fully as possible on all matters concerning their welfare. So long as American newspapers pursue that policy fearlessly, our Press, our people and our country shall remain free of tyranny.

Final Tech Game In Lubbock Set Saturday, 2 p.m.

Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons conclude the Red Raiders' home football schedule with a game starting at 2 p.m. Saturday. After Saturday afternoon's contest, the Red Raiders will have one contest remaining with the University of Arkansas at Little Rock on November 23. Hardin-Simmons still must meet Oklahoma State and New Mexico A&M. Tech's hopes of avenging last year's 41-14 victory by the Cowboys are slim. The Red Raiders have won only one game while losing seven. Hardin Simmons, 4-3 for the season, has a decision over Texas Western, the team that defeated Tech earlier in the year, as well as one over Tulsa, 3-0 victor in Tech's Homecoming last week. Hardin-Simmons downed Arizona 26-20 last Saturday. Tech out-gained Tulsa but had one long scoring drive nullified by a penalty and a potential touchdown wiped out by a fumble on the Tulsa 11.

Mrs. Jim Hamilton has been spending some time in San Angelo with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Nutt, who have been ill. Mrs. Hamilton reports they are improving.

Prairie Dog

The black-tailed prairie dog was once common to the western half of Texas. An estimated 400 million of these sun-loving rodents once lived in one Panhandle colony.

Governmental and private controls have reduced the prairie dogs numbers. Today only a few small scattered "dog" towns may be found in the state.

One of their deadliest enemies, the pictured black-footed ferret, is now quite rare. Among their present natural enemies are the badger, coyote, golden eagle, and rough-legged hawk.

Burrows of the prairie dogs, which may be more than eight feet deep, end in a lateral nesting chamber. The crater-like mounds at the burrow entrance protects these practical builders from flash floods. It is believed they have but one litter of 3-4 young a year.

THE WEEKLY WITNESS

by BRYAN ROSS

Westview Baptist Church

830 S. 15th St.

REV. BRYAN ROSS

Who is to determine the membership of a local church? The different churches hold to different beliefs on this. Some churches have a committee or council to decide. In some instances the pastor decides what names to write on the roll. Some add all names submitted irrespective of doctrinal beliefs. We, as Baptists, believe in the sovereignty of a local church. Therefore, we feel that the members of a local church have the right to determine who will be a part of that particular fellowship. Since someone must decide who is to be on a church roll, we feel that the church should do it.

The church has the same authority to withdraw fellowship from a member, as is brought out in I Corinthians 5:1-13. A church will not be any purer than the means used to purge it of sin. Next to marriage, the church is the greatest institution on the face of the earth.

cert, sight-reading, and marching. A special award plaque may be presented to any band which achieves a Division I rating in both concert and sight-reading, but does not receive a Division I rating in marching.

Three judges, Leonard Haug, University of Oklahoma; James Jacobson, TCU; and J. R. McIntyre, Odessa, will rate the bands in one of the five divisions. A composite grade will be taken from the three ratings.

Ratings will be based upon precision, alignment, carriage, playing, and general effect.

Persons wanting to see the contest may purchase tickets at booths under the west stands of the stadium. Admission will be 25c for students and 50c for adults.

In the wettest year in Texas weather history (1900), rainfall averaged 42.17 inches.

Soil Program Adopted By SCS Supervisors

A Great Plains conservation program, "Practice List and Maximum Cost-Share Rate Schedule" for Lubbock County was prepared and adopted Friday afternoon by agricultural representatives meeting in Lubbock.

Present at the joint meeting were representatives of the Lubbock County Soil Conservation District, Lubbock County Agricultural Extension Service representative, and ASC Administrative Officers.

At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the Lubbock County Soil Conservation District, Max Dodson, representative of the Lubbock Nurseries' association met with the group to assist in drawing up plans for the district's 1958 Tree Break Assistance Program.

Dodson stated that his group would make 25,000 Arizona pines trees available through the program, which is the largest number ever supplied. At least half the requests for trees were denied last year, because of limited number of trees available through local nurseries.

Delivery dates for the trees will be announced later. Applications will be received through the Soil Conservation District office about the first of year.

A veteran of 17 years Army service, Colonel Rucker arrived in Europe last August. He holds the Silver Star, the Purple Heart and the Combat Infantryman Badge. A member of Kappa Sigma fraternity and of Scabbard and Blade Society, the colonel received his bachelor's degree from the University of Arkansas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rucker, live in Slaton. (U. S. Army Photo).

HE SAYS IT'LL FLY—Jim West sits in a partially completed flying contraption in his back yard at Hapeville, Ga. Called the "Paraplane," the machine will look like a flying saucer and will be lifted by a six-foot propeller at the top and a pair of helium-filled wings. These will cover the frame like a parachute. West expects it to fly straight up and then go in any direction at 35-40 miles an hour. He says he will commute to work in it.

It was the bobby-soxer's turn in the busy photo booth. As she entered the booth, she turned to the line behind her. "Don't worry, I won't be long," she said. "I just want to hang up on my boy friend."

It always seems the less you have to do the harder it is to find the time to do it.

Women who insist on wearing the pants frequently find some other woman is wearing a mink.

The father for some years had been telling what good shot he was. Finally his son was grown and the father had tutored him painstakingly so the boy would be as good a shot as the father. On their first duck hunt trip the boy and the father waited patiently in the blind for the ducks to appear. At last a lone duck flew overhead. "Watch me carefully," said the father. He took aim and fired. The duck flew on out of sight. As the boy watched the duck the father said, "Son, you're looking at a miracle... there filed dead duck."

And you'll think it a miracle the way your car will respond to the regular, careful attention given it by our attendants. Drive in and let us serve your car.

Little Experience' Grows Into Quite an Experience' With FFA Student Experimental Farming started out to give them a little experience in farming, but it was over with I had quite an experience myself, was expressed by W. L. Roche, part time farmer and member of the Santa Fe chapter.

Earlier this year conductor Truett Babb, local vocational agriculture teacher, would like to hire two boys to work his 65-acre farm south of the hospital. The undertaking was to be quite an experience in-their parents signed minor's releases, releasing Roche from responsibility if the boys should have an accident.

Roche has a Ford tractor with two-row equipment. He uses a sprinkler irrigation system to water the whole farm, out of a small four-inch well. His land slopes somewhat to an old lake bed which covers about 28 acres.

The boys started working on January 2 and are beginning to harvest their own crops. Roche has stated that he doesn't think any more could happen in a year, although things are still happening.

This has been one of the most difficult years for farmers in many years, although the drought has been partly stopped. Roche at one time or another has had over 35 acres of cotton, feed and soil bank under water. He currently has about 10 acres of his lake bed water.

"The boys' work has been satisfactory at times and unsatisfactory at other times," Roche said. "They have learned that farming is work and not all play." Indeed they have.

"The boys' work has been of their time on the farm this summer. Their jobs have ranged from helping Roche repair his roof to cleaning out a water distribution tank.

They have also torn up everything from a tractor transmission to a small hose on the water outlet to the house. Roche said he considers himself lucky to be alive at times. "But," he admits, "the boys have done a fairly good job."

The boys themselves don't

Conducting Teams Work For Upcoming Contests

The Junior and senior chapter conducting teams of the Slaton Vocational Agriculture classes have begun work for the contests which will be coming up November 23 at Lorenzo. Last year the junior team won third in area and the senior team sixth in state, and other leadership contests.

Chapter conducting contests are held annually. Their goal is to provide the farm youth of America with leadership training. It also gives boys lessons in competitive training.

Teams will be accompanied by Truett Babb, advisor of the local chapter.

have many regrets over the summer's work. They expect to make between $250 and $400 each, depending on how the weather is from here on. To date they have each made one bale of cotton.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Melton and children, Billy and Freddy, of Midland, spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Adkins.

Purebred Hogs Needed For FFA Projects

Members of the Slaton Vocational Agriculture class, in an effort to complete their project programs, are looking for purebred hogs.

Any farmer who has purebred Chester Whites, Duroc-Jerseys, Poland Chinas or others, is urged to contact Truett Babb at the high school, or call Giles Smith at VA 8-3143.

Average Staple Length This Year Is One Inch

Despite adverse weather conditions on the High Plains this fall, statistics on cotton classing data from the U. S. Department of Agriculture's classing office show the average staple length this year is one inch.

Average micronaire is 4.3 and the average Pressley strength is 75,000 pounds per square inch.

This is the first time statistics on micronaire and Pressley data have been available, George W. Pfeiffenberger, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., announced.

Pfeiffenberger said arrangements were made with the USDA to determine and publish the micronaire and Pressley data in addition to grade and staple statistics.

As of November 2, cumulative figures from 220,000 bales classed and Lubbock and Lamesa classing offices show that in grade 64.1 per cent of the cotton is white and 35.9 is light spotted and spotted. W. E. Franklin, head of the Lubbock office, said that the vast majority of the 35.9 per cent cotton classed as spotted is actually light spotted cotton. Published USD Areports shows this area to have only 0.4 per cent full spotted cotton.

In staple 71.8 per cent is one inch or longer and only 1.6 per cent is shorter than 15/16.

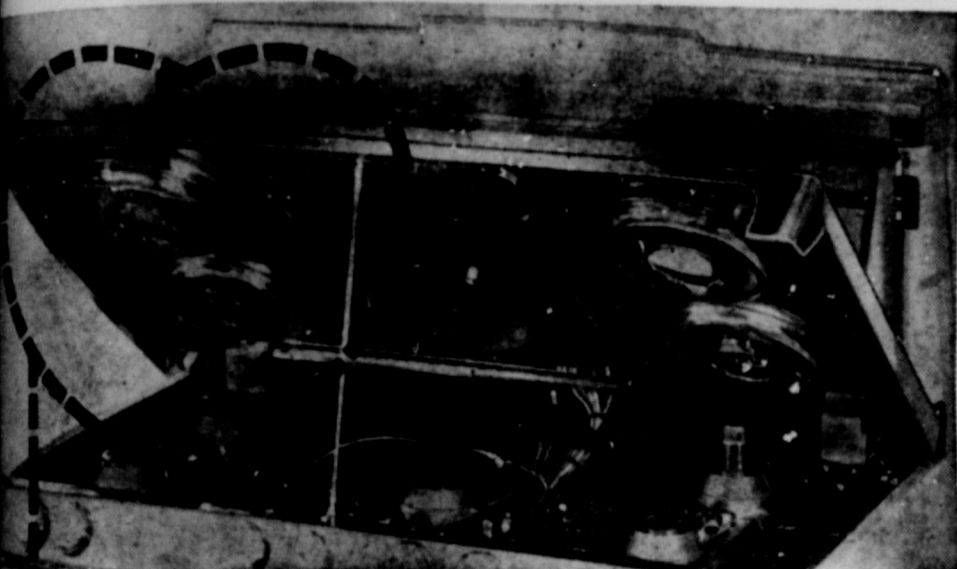

In the micronaire test the majority of bales tested fall in the 3.5 to 4.9 category. The largest single per centage, 41.09, is in the 4.0 to 4.4 range. Less than five per cent falls below 3.0 and more than eight per cent is above 5.0. A total of 8,055 tests were made for micronaire data.

In Pressley tests three-fourths of the bales tested fall in the range from 70,000 to 85,000. Less than four per cent fall below 65,000 while about 20 per cent is 80,000 or above. A total of 1,961 tests were made for Pressley data.

Pfeiffenberger explained that much significant data about

High Plains cotton can now be obtained from the data on grade, staple, micronaire, and Pressley. "This information will enable prospective buyers of High Plains cotton to tell the character of our cotton without making preliminary tests of their own, and it may provide the way for additional sales," Pfeiffenberger said.

To The Public

Now is the time to take out that NEW subscription, or to renew through one of the candidates. And don't hold back that promise for it will count less votes each week, and VOTES WIN. Unlike contests, the votes in the Slatonite good will campaign DECREASE as it progresses. The Second period closes November 19th. You can aid your candidate by acting today.

The Third period is November 19th up to and including November 25th. 300,000 for each $30.00 club.

Don't Be An 'If'er!

Don't be an "IF'er!" "If I had just worked a little harder," "If I had written only one more subscription." Invariably the candidates who turn out to be "IF" workers are those who could have very easily spent that little "extra" time in subscription getting, candidates who looked at a very serious proposition as somewhat of a joke.

This is a business with leading candidates. It behooves every worker to likewise make it their occupation, their business, and do by it, as they would expect to do by any other job or position.

Do the best you can and at the close of the drive you will not have the feeling that you could have spent those few extra minutes each day in the work, and in that way make yourself winner of the first prize, or any of the other attractive awards. You will have the feeling that it was that "extra" effort that made you the prize winner, or a least that you did your honest best.

To The Candidates

In just a little while the votes hit rock bottom. Make these precious few days count. Get in touch with those who have promised you and make every hour count. Be able to say "I HAVE DONE MY BEST." Remember—"All things come to the other fellow if you sit around and wait." Don't be a waiter, but be a go-getter. All the world loves a winner, and you can be a winner if you TRY.

This Week in AUSTIN

Senator Preston Smith

Discussion of lobby registration problems during this special session prompted one Senator to make some actual tests to determine just what the average Texan knows about a "lobbyist."

"What do you think a lobbyist is?" he asked the first few people he saw in his home town.

Their answer invariably painted a picture of a sinister figure, complete with black cloak and villain's mustache, busily engaged in trying to "buy" lawmakers' votes with steak dinners and Stetson hats.

Lobbying, according to all the comments he got from his hometown friends, seemed a particularly unwholesome practice.

This is certainly not the true picture of lobbying. If it were, the problem facing the Legislature at this time would be easily solved by just passing a bill outlawing all lobbyists.

The practice of lobbying is as much a part of democracy as the free elections. We here in the Capitol are only the representatives of our respective areas. We are here to do the wishes of the people we represent. The methods they use to let us know how the homelocks felt about certain measures follow the exact definitions of lobbying. Anytime a Senator or a Representative gets a letter from the folks back home the communication is as healthy and as American as it can be, and yet it is considered a part of the lobbying process.

Therein lies the difficulty in composing a lobby registration bill. We certainly don't want to discourage hearing the wishes of the citizens we represent, but neither can we afford to allow some of the lobby processes to lower morals, to corrupt, or to lead to bribery and dishonesty on the part of government officials. Somewhere between the two extremes of wholesome lobbying and downright bribery there is a happy medium that would be desirable. However, neither house has yet such a happy medium down on paper.

TV TIPS

BY HUGO

DON'T BE A "CONSENSUS TAKER" . . . A number of people, then they're ready to buy a television set, try to make a collection of as many opinions from well-meaning friends as possible. This consensus taking is very human among shoppers, but its weakness lies in the fact nearly every TV owner is prejudiced toward the particular set he has already bought. This makes the situation all the more confusing.

When you want to choose the right set for your particular needs, come in and see them all in operation. Compare them critically for picture, sound and cabinetry . . . and price. Get the BEST advice . . . not the most.

Mr. and Mrs. O. D. McClintock
... wed for fifty years ...

Lobban-Morgan Vows Exchanged

Miss Janyee Lobban of Post and Bryan Morgan of San Angelo, formerly of Slaton, were married recently in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Lobban Sr. Vows were exchanged before an archway decorated with silver wedding bells and flanked by graceful palm trees. Bro. Phillip R. Morgan, of Phoenix, Arizona, the groom's brother, officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was wearing a sheath dress of white lace over ivory taffeta. A pink satin bow accented the back of the dress which was draped in graceful folds beneath the bow. To complete her wedding ensemble, she chose a pink satin and feathered picture hat. Her bouquet was of sweetheart roses and gardenias.

Mrs. V. A. Lobban Jr. of Midland attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor. She was attired in a turquoise wool sheath dress and a small brown velvet hat. She carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Lawrence Morgan of Lubbock attended his brother as best man. V. A. Lobban Jr. of Midland and David Morgan of San Angelo served as ushers.

Reception

At the reception which followed, the serving table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioluses and mums with pink rosebuds. Miss Faye Downs and Mrs. Bob Law, both from Lubbock and former roommates of the bride, served the wedding cake and punch.

now used with a softer hand. Lightweight wools, often blended with man-made fibers, are widely shown in day dresses.

Favorites, too, but along the more novel line are tweed-printed cottons, and printed corduroys... often in tweedy and paisley patterns.

After the magic hour of five, milady will don glowing satins and shimmering panne velvets. Whisper-weight woollens gain prestige in the luxury class this season. Exquisite dinner suits, theater costumes and even bridal gowns are fashioned from this fabric. Used mostly for the after-five dress and elegant blouses, chiffon adapts well to the new silhouette.

Yarn-dyed silks are gaining in importance for prestige creations. The soft-handing texture of this fabric is perfect for the "gentled" styles. New on the scene is silk grenadine, an imported textured jacquard.

The bloused jacket, belted suit and easy-waisted fitted jacket silhouette are the major part of the suit story for fall.

The new longer suit jacket is even newer when softly crushed at the waist with an important belt.

HIGHLIGHTS AND SIDELIGHTS FROM YOUR STATE CAPITOL

AUSTIN, Tex. — Days of old seem to have dawned over Texas lawmakers. They ended their first called session this week and launched into number two. It's the first time in more than a decade that a governor has convened a legislature in two rapid-fire special sessions.

Main topic for the second session is a bill to authorize closing of public schools threatened by occupation by federal troops.

Gov. Price Daniel issued the second call when it became apparent that this issue couldn't be squeezed into the final days of the first session.

House and Senate had difficulty coming to agreement on details of the first session's five-point program: water planning, lobby control, crime study, practice before state agencies and money for an Insurance Department building.

DELAY SPOTLIGHTED — Senate Investigating Committee is continuing its drive to establish whether the Insurance Commission dilly-dallied with reports of irregularities in a Dallas firm.

Former Insurance Department Examiner Wayne Tinkler told the committee that he began an examination of Preferred Life last March. He ran into difficulties, and asked for help from the department's legal counsel. He didn't get it, said Tinkler, and finally turned in a report in June.

His audit indicated that Preferred's president owed the company some $194,000 due to stock manipulations. Tinkler reported. "But no action was taken in the Department until September, when a brief conference was held."

BOND PROGRAM LAUNCHED — At least one phase of Texas water conservation program now has the official go-ahead.

By approving a constitutional amendment, voters cleared the way for issuance of $200,000,000 in bonds to finance local water projects.

Other two will provide increased retirement benefits for state employees and higher old age pensions. WHO FOOTS THE BILL? Texans depend on state taxes, mainly on oil and gas, for nearly one out of every state tax dollar.

Tax Analyst John P. Princeton said this relation of natural resource taxes to increasing over the years in addressing a meeting of the Texas Research League in Austin, gave what may be a view of the searching at Texas' tax structure undertaken by the Legislature.

Some Sly statistics: State income taxes increased from $122 million in 1940 to $625,000,000 in 1956. Severance taxes jumped 16 per cent to 30 per cent of the total in that period, state and local taxes per capita compared to national average of $158. EMBARRASSMENT OF TEXAS — Combination of late rains and early fall rains caught many Texas farmers in a squeeze.

There wasn't enough rain to raise a crop and it out of the fields. Agents in North Texas reported that farmers there lost millions from ruined crops.

Some ranchers, according to the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture, have "a very unusual situation—more grass than stock to feed." This time last year same ranchers were selling stock at a sacrifice because had no feed.

Small grain and winter game prospects are extremely good, says USDA, though weather is needed for additional planting.

COTTON ACREAGE TUESDAY — For the third straight year, Texas and West Texas farmers are at odds over allotments.

State and county allotments are to be announced by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture before Dec. 14 when farmers will vote on whether they want a market quota program for 1958.

West Texas farmers contend that their area has been unduly favored in the allotment of the state's cotton acreage to the older growing counties of east-central Texas. One group of West Texans went to federal court last year to try to get allotments changed.

Opposing them is the Cotton Belt Association which has announced it will fight effort to wrest acreage from the area.

SPEED LAW QUESTION — Governor Daniel has been questioned to ask the Legislature to re-write the automobile limit law.

A recent opinion from the Court of Criminal Appeals voided the law "Vague and indefinite and therefore invalid." It involved a conviction for driving 90 miles an hour.

If this law is shaky for tests, the Harris County district attorney told the governor's office, a new and stronger law should be written immediately.

ENGINEERS URGE WATER PLAN — Texas Society of Professional Engineers had advice to those urging a massive, long-range water program.

Importance of water to the future justifies an annual expenditure of $100,000,000 in opinion of TSPE's special study committee.

TSPE's report recommends (1) adoption of the governor's proposed legislation, (2) 50 per cent increase for the Water Board members, (3) planning on lowest level possible to proper development of an all program, (4) sale of storage acquired by the state federal reservoirs to any of federal political sub-division quickly as possible.

SCHOOL WORK OKAYED — Improvements have been authorized by the State Board of Hospitals and Special Schools for the nine schools and hospitals at Abilene and Austin state hospitals at San Antonio, Kerrville and Harlingen, Austin State School Farm and the Confederate Hospital for Men. Costs will total $500,000.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bert Mrs. R. W. Cudd and Miss Nan Watson were in Dallas Sunday. The Berkleys, Miss Watson attended the Hairstyling Show and Mrs. C visited with friends.

WRAPPED FOR WINTER—Wrapped in shimmering polyethylene, this old house in Lafayette, Ind., is the result of one cold winter night when the temperature fell to 10 degrees below zero. The goldfish bowl in the living room froze over, despite the fact that the oil burner was on. Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station suggested wrapping the poorly insulated building in polyethylene film. Agricultural engineers are still testing the temperatures inside and out, but the residents of the house have been able to turn down the oil burner at night, even in coldest weather.

WRAPPED FOR WINTER—Wrapped in shimmering polyethylene, this old house in Lafayette, Ind., is the result of one cold winter night when the temperature fell to 10 degrees below zero. The goldfish bowl in the living room froze over, despite the fact that the oil burner was on. Purdue University Agricultural Experiment Station suggested wrapping the poorly insulated building in polyethylene film. Agricultural engineers are still testing the temperatures inside and out, but the residents of the house have been able to turn down the oil burner at night, even in coldest weather.

DIFFERENT KIND OF MONEY BELT—Two workmen at Britain's Royal Mint in London examine new gold sovereigns moving past on a belt that automatically turns the coins over. Although the sovereign is no longer used for currency, the mint turns them out occasionally as an exercise in craftsmanship. The coin was first issued during the reign of Henry VII in the 15th century and derives its name from the custom of placing a representation of the current ruler on its face.

Farm Landlords Can Claim Social Security

Farm landlords over the age of 65 have started filing claims for their social security benefits, according to John G. Hutton, manager of the Lubbock Social Security District Office. Hutton said that he expected the number of such claims to reach a peak early in 1958, after farmers have filed their 1957 tax returns.

The 1954 law which covered self-employed farmers beginning with 1955, did not provide coverage for any landlord receiving rental income from his farm land, according to Hutton. This meant that many landlords whose sole business was farming and who actually took part in the farming operations were denied the protection of the Social Security Act.

To remedy this, Congress in 1956 changed the law so that a landlord who, by arrangement with the tenant or share-farmer, takes part in producing a crop and whose activities significantly affect the amount of the crop, will have his income from that activity included in his social security account.

This means that the landlord over the age of 65 has been helping his tenant in the production of a crop by the work, contributing machinery or money or managing some of the operations during 1956 and 1957, he is now qualified for a social security benefit.

Both farmers and landlords who plan to file claims for social security early in 1958 are advised to contact the social security representative when he comes to Slaton during November, December and make known their intentions in advance. This will make it possible to get the claims to some extent.

A representative of the Social Security Office will be at the Red Cross Room, at 9 a.m. November 15.
