Everybody love a mystery? Then look for Huser Hatchery ad and see if you can solve it. It's worth a year's subscription to the Slatonite to the first person that calls VA 8-4201 with the correct answer to the mystery.

I have a word to say in defense of Signature Pages. Contrary to what some people believe, that is not just a sly scheme for the newspaper to rake in profits. It costs any newspaper just as much to set up that page as it does any other page in the paper. It is the high hope of a newspaper to profit ten cents per inch of their advertising. That hope is not always realized. But let's suppose that it is. All right, then the profit for that page is justified $16.00 per page.

When a public issue comes along that is of general interest, the Bond issue this week, the information needs to reach the people. All right, who should buy the space to tell the people about a bond issue? Should the paper spend $80 to do it? How about the bank? They are public minded people. Should they spend a large amount to say what needs to be said? Shouldn't everyone who has an interest spend a little, they do on signature pages? Bear in mind, that when a signature page is sold, the profits of the paper naturally fall, because to sell 20 signatures, some fifty-five to forty different people must be contacted. That's time. It also takes quite a long time to see the people that you are asking for charity, when you talk to the people who insist it's little better than nothing.

I insist that signature pages have a justified place in a newspaper. Just ask yourself the purpose of the page, and it's easy to determine whether or not it is an issue in which you're just as much responsible in seeing that it reaches the attention of the readers, as is your neighbor.

I went out last Friday to take pictures of some picknickers at the park. They were Close City School children in the company of several adults. I met Barney Jones, who was with them. I'm sending Barney a copy of the Slatonite, and I want him to consider this a special invitation to bring his family and like Slaton his shopping headquarters. Stop by the Slatonite, Barney, and let's talk about what you like, or dislike, about Slaton and Slaton merchants. I know you enjoyed the picnic, come back often.

Other Foster, I hate to tell you this, but Leonard's Tiger's got up enough growl and lost their last game to the boys. But I have good news for you, too. Waymon writes he enjoys Midway fairly well now, and is keeping him in good physical condition. Right you'd like to know.

You have probably read, as we have, that our thoughts have a wonderful lot to do with the way we feel. It is told of a housekeeper that was always talking about it she received this advice from her employer who was on a month's vacation: "to yourself every morning. I am really feeling very good this morning." She was to repeat the phrase over and over to herself until she believed it. When the employer returned she found the housekeeper feeling very good, indeed, enthusiastic and happy. She remarked that her attention had worked. "Well, I'll remember your exact words so I used my own." What they? Over and over the man had told himself: "Oh, I'm Well."

FIFTY YEAR AWARD—W. H. McKirahan, left, is shown as he received his 50-year service award for a half-century in Masonry. The award was presented by

F. C. Odorizzi, district deputy grand master, in ceremonies held Thursday night. It was the second such award to be presented by the local Masonic Lodge.

50-Year Masonic Pin Awarded Member of Slaton Lodge Thursday

A former Slaton resident was honored Thursday when he received his 50-year service award in the Masonic Lodge. The presentation was made to W. H. McKirahan, Amarillo, on the anniversary of his fifty years in Masonry.

F. C. Odorizzi, district deputy grand master of the 33rd Masonic District presented the emblem. About 40 Masons were present for the ceremony. McKirahan has been a member of Slaton Lodge 1094, A.F. & A.M., for about 40 years, according to W. P. Brown, lodge secretary. He was made a mason in Amarillo, and has held membership in the LaJunta, Colorado, and the Slaton lodges.

A former Santa Fe employee, he also was in business in Slaton. He moved to Amarillo in 1927.

Slaton Merchants Will Observe Memorial Day

Slaton stores will be closed Friday in observance of Memorial Day, according to Mrs. Vivian Jones, secretary of the Retail Merchants.

This is one of the four days the city has agreed to observe during the year. The others are fourth of July, Thanksgiving and Christmas.

Negotiations Underway for Activation Of Shelby Addition Development West of Town

Slaton City Commissioners made a revision in the proposal made to C. A. Porter relative to development of the Shelby Addition in Slaton at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

About a dozen businessmen attended the meeting to express their feelings toward the development of the addition.

Action was taken Tuesday afternoon to change the proposal made to Porter concerning the furnishing of sewer and water lines to the development. Negotiations between the Slaton City Commission and C. A. Porter relative to the development of a proposed Shelby Addition west of town have been underway for several weeks, in an effort to reach an agreement for activating plans.

Seven proposals were made to the commission by Porter concerning the addition. Included were approval of the plat of the addition, enlargement of the corporate limits of Slaton to include the land involved in the addition as well as adjoining plots of land; passage of zoning ordinances; bringing of water and sewer facilities to the edge of the addition; fifty per cent of cost of water and sewer facilities to be reimbursed over a five year period; furnishing a fire hydrant adjacent to the development; and levying of a token tax on vacant lots.

The developer also agreed to pave the streets and furnish utilities to the houses, all constructed to city specifications. No definite action has been made to insure that the development will become a reality. The only action taken thus far is the making of proposals between the developer and the commission.

In answering the proposals made by Porter, the commission agreed to approval of a certified plat, as well as to enlargement of the corporate limits and passage of appropriate zoning ordinances.

Porter was advised that the levying of a token tax would be in contradiction to the laws of the state, and thus could not be accomplished.

In the first answer to the proposals, the commission proposed that the developer tie on to existing sewer lines at Dickens and 18th streets, and to the water lines in front of Slaton High School, run the lines to the addition, with city reimbursing 50 per cent of the cost over a five year period, excluding the first year of the development.

Action to change the proposal was effected as follows: The city will run the water and sewer lines from their present terminal points to the addition, to points where connections can be made through both alleyways in the proposed layout.

Involved was an additional expense of about $5,000.

Commissioners had contacted cities of comparable size throughout the state, as well as the Texas League of Municipalities to determine what actions were being taken in similar situations throughout the state.

A spokesman for the group attending the commission meeting, R. H. Todd Jr., representing the board of directors of Slaton Savings and Loan Association, said that indications were that the people wanted to undertake a project of this type, and that all citizens, must "search the bottom of the barrel" to encourage this type of activity in our town.

In discussing the development of the project, H. T. Swanner, mayor pro tem, said that the merits of the project had not been questioned by the commission, but that the main problem was that of having enough money to carry out the city's part.

A discussion of the reasons behind the deficit on the city's funds is cited elsewhere in this week's Slatonite.

Rains Measure 3.9 Inches Tuesday

Mystery Farm Feature Begins In Slatonite

Readers of the Slatonite will have a chance to test their knowledge of farms in this area with the publication of a "mystery farm" feature beginning this week.

Sponsored by Huser Hatchery, one picture will be published each week, along with an invitation for readers to "guess whose farm." The pictures were taken by the Zekan-Robbins Company of Harlan, Ohio, specialists in this kind of low-altitude farm photography. The pictures have been snapped in different parts of the area, so that every farmer has an equal chance of having his farm picture published.

Nobody knows whose farm was photographed except the Slatonite. Anyone in the area is eligible to win the contest each week and those recognizing the "mystery farm" should notify the newspaper immediately after 1 p.m. Friday, by calling VA 8-4201.

Each week the picture of the "mystery farm" will appear in the Huser Hatchery advertisement in the Slatonite. Hereafter, the farm that is identified will be run the next week, identifying the person who first gave the correct answer. Pertinent details as to the owner and history of the farm will also be given.

The operator of the "mystery farm" will receive a beautiful mounted enlargement of the original photo if he will call at Huser Hatchery. The photo is given to the farm operator free of charge with the compliments of Huser Hatchery and The Slatonite.

The person who first correctly guesses the identity of the farm, will receive a year's subscription to the Slatonite. In publishing the series of farm photos, this newspaper is recognizing farming as big business in land, machinery, livestock, that it is today. The pictures are a tribute to agriculture in this community.

Heavy rains and some hail according to an official rain gauge in the Slaton area measured guage maintained by the Santa Fe 3.9 inches from noon Tuesday until about 9 a.m. Wednesday. Some 2.9 inches fell Tuesday afternoon, with an additional 1.0 inches falling during the night and until 9 a.m. Wednesday.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company reported about 100 telephones temporarily out of order as a result of the rain storms. Local workmen said that the majority of the trouble had been cleared up by Tuesday night. Some lines were reported to be noisy, but were in operation.

Some transformers on Southwestern Public Service Co. lines were out, and a street light was hit by lightning during the storm Tuesday afternoon. The light was next to the Green Hut cafe. Early Wednesday a system-wide break caused a power failure here for a short time.

A MEMORIAL DAY PRAYER

Almighty God and Father, Thou Who watchest over the destinies of men and nations, we reverently seek Thy divine guidance and blessing. In hours when godless men would glorify the things of earth, in days when pygmy souls would create artificial barriers among Thy children, in a period when the very future of mankind hangs in delicate balance—we of The American Legion lift up our eyes to the mountains and to Thee. Help us, O Father, to be so strong in our devotion to Thee that no man or combination of men can possibly weaken our dedication. Stir our hearts with patriotic love that, in our determination to keep America strong, we might preserve for future generations the freedoms and the institutions we cherish. Inspire us to keep our beloved country the land of the free and the home of the brave, and to preserve that freedom and bravery from any qualifications of race or creed. As once Thy sons and daughters found brotherhood in the crucible of war, so may they extend that brotherhood to all men in these days of tenuous peace. For only thus may they be worthy of Thy continued providence and love. This we ask in the name of all humanity. Amen.

Spend a Dime . . . to save a dollar ?

Who Wouldn't?

Why shouldn't we then, as taxpayers, spend $30,000 to save a MILLION DOLLARS worth of paved streets inside our city?

Another seige from "Ole Man Winter" might easily render our streets beyond practical repair and push our street renewal costs to 10 times the $30,000 now required.

This Bond Issue is a MUST!

Seldom has winter weather brought such havoc on our city paving. EXISTING streets are pock marked with chug holes and cracks which are not only inconvenient but hazardous to your daily driving.

Funds put into your city treasury by this bond issue will be used exclusively INSIDE your PRESENT city limits for the repair of EXISTING paving!

A message from Teague's Drug, "Your Pharmacist"

THE PRACTICE OF PHARMACY IS A PROFESSION ALL NEW GRADUATES SHOULD SERIOUSLY CONSIDER.

There are many ways to earn a living, but few that are so interesting and helpful to the public welfare.

AFTER HIGH SCHOOL YOU MUST GO TO A COLLEGE OF PHARMACY FOR AT LEAST FOUR YERS

You will study Chemistry, Biology, Physiology, Physics, Mathematics, Anatomy, Latin, Public Health, Bacteriology, Clinical Microscopy and Pharmacology. You will learn all about the properties and dosage of herbs, chemicals and medicines. You will be taught how to compound prescriptions carefully, accurately and skillfully.

AFTER YOU GRADUATE YOU MUST TAKE A STATE EXAMINATION TO PROVE YOUR KNOWLEDGE.

Then you will become a Licensed Registered Pharmacist. All this preparatory training is necessary because, when you compound prescriptions and dispense medicines, people entrust their health and even their life to your professional care.

YOU WILL BE AN IMPORTANT MEMBER OF THE HEALTH TEAM.

Each night you will have the satisfying feeling of knowing that you are helping people live a healthier life.

WE LIKE PHARMACY AND WILL BE GLAD TO TELL YOU MORE ABOUT IT.

49th Methodist Conference Now In Annual Session

The 49th annual session of the Northwest Texas Conference of Methodist Churches is in progress at First Methodist Church, Lubbock this week.

The conference opened Tuesday morning and will conclude with the reading of appointments for the pastors on Friday morning.

Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Sharp, the pastor and his wife from First Methodist Church, and P. L. Vardy, delegate from the church are attending the conference. W. C. Williams is alternate delegate.

GOOD FOOD, GOOD FRIENDS, a lovely park and plenty of May Sunshine. All the ingredients for a swell picnic were present when these school children and adults from Close City celebrated the close of school. It is not unusual to find people traveling even further to enjoy the facilities of beautiful Slaton Park. In addition to the picnic tables, barbecue grills, and playground equipment, the swimming pool, located across the street from the park, is an added attraction on a hot day.

Bond Election For Street Improvements Will Not Raise Taxes, Commissioner Says

Howard Swanner, city commissioner and banker, asked the people of Slaton to vote for the $30,000 bond issue called for June 3. He went on to emphasize the fact that "the bond issue will not increase taxes."

Swanner went on to discuss the movement of city limits. "We are trying to extend the city limits and we have had some opposition. I am in favor of extending them."

"When two schools are outside our city limits, then certainly it is time to move the limits out for our own protection," he continued.

He called attention to the fact that property adjacent to the present city limits was receiving city services but paying no taxes for those services.

The commission is also working the new addition west of town, contrary to various rumors which have been circulated over town, Swanner stated.

"Again, the city just does not have the money to extend the water and sewer lines to this addition." He continued that about $5,000 is needed to extend the lines, and the commission has offered to take in the development by refunding 50 per cent of costs of the water and sewer lines over a five-year period. He went on to explain that it was very much to the city's interest to get the addition completed because of the value of future revenue to the city.

Four visitors attended the meeting. They included Otis Hood, George Brassel, and Bert Straus, all of Lubbock, and Bentley Page Jr. of Slaton.

farm crop because of the early freeze, and the big reduction in fines from the police department, largely caused by the short stay of migratory labor last fall.

Swanner went on to discuss the movement of city limits. "We are trying to extend the city limits and we have had some opposition. I am in favor of extending them."

"When two schools are outside our city limits, then certainly it is time to move the limits out for our own protection," he continued.

He called attention to the fact that property adjacent to the present city limits was receiving city services but paying no taxes for those services.

The commission is also working the new addition west of town, contrary to various rumors which have been circulated over town, Swanner stated.

"Again, the city just does not have the money to extend the water and sewer lines to this addition." He continued that about $5,000 is needed to extend the lines, and the commission has offered to take in the development by refunding 50 per cent of costs of the water and sewer lines over a five-year period. He went on to explain that it was very much to the city's interest to get the addition completed because of the value of future revenue to the city.

Four visitors attended the meeting. They included Otis Hood, George Brassel, and Bert Straus, all of Lubbock, and Bentley Page Jr. of Slaton.

Come in and be "Whisked"

Does the interior of your car sometimes look like a sand-trap combined with a rat's nest—with just a little touch of children's playground? Most cars get that way at one time or another . . . especially where there are kids and pets. If so, come in and be "whisked."

The nursery school is part of the summer workshop for homemaking students.

Called NEAR — National Emergency Alarm Repeater — it is envisioned for use in 96 per cent of U.S. homes served by electricity. Thus, most of the population could be warned at once by the pressing of a single button. The device, still being developed, reportedly could be mass produced to sell for five dollars for each device.

Slatonite's Kin 105 Years Old

Editors note: Mrs. Washburn is the only living aunt of Mrs. J. I. Drewry of this city. The Drewrys last saw her about three years ago and at that time her mind was as alert as people many years her junior.

Two years ago Mrs. DAVE Washburn of Pink Hill community east of Sherman, took a special interest in a tiny Jersey heifer born on her farm. She named it Molly.

A week ago, Mrs. Washburn churned into butter the cow's first milk and was studying a name for Molly's calf.

These things are not unusual. It is Mrs. Washburn who is unusual. On April 12 she celebrated with ice cream and cold soda pop her 105th birthday.

"Oh, my goodness," she chided good-naturedly, "everytime I lay down to get some rest somebody comes to take my picture."

In Grandma's Rocker
But she rolled easily from her bed and ran a comb through her long gray hair several times. Straightening her house dress, she seated herself comfortably in a rocking chair known as "grandma's rocker."

"Are you through?" she asked after a while. Then her son, Claude, turned the chair to face the brick fireplace—a fireplace which has given Grandma Washburn warmth and comfort since August 1876.

There was not much of a celebration this year, her son said, since she had been "kindly poorly" all winter. But a White-wright doctor who examined her not long ago was surprised to find her health so good—her blood pressure the same as his (he is about 40) and no damage to her heart.

Operation at 96
Mrs. Washburn, at 96, fell and broke her hip. The doctor suggested surgery, noting that it was risky, but adding that she would be bedfast without it. She decided on the operation herself and managed well. At 97 she was walking again. Now, however, she requires a little help.

She lives in the same 470-acre farm her late husband brought her to as a bride in 1876. She has made a few trips—short ones—but has spent most of her time at home, caring for the young ones and watching the livestock. She has outlived three of her six children.

Although her mother died during the Civil War at the age of 29, Mrs. Washburn's family boasts unusual longevity.

Her sight, limited to one eye for 69 years, is failing now and her hearing is not good. But Mrs. Washburn is spry for her 105 years.

She rests a lot now, spending much time before the old brick fireplace. Her singular interests are ice cream, soda pop and Molly's new calf.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Perry and Mrs. Francis Perry visited in Big Spring Sunday afternoon in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Jordan Grooms and Telie.

Mrs. Earl B. Tumlinson is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Carr, and family in Van Court, Texas.

Two Local Car Dealers Join In Effort To Prevent Hub Cap Theft

A statewide drive to halt the theft of automobile hub caps has been inaugurated by the authorized new car dealers of Texas.

Public service awards from the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, the state organization of factory authorized new car dealers, have been given dealers participating in the program for agreeing to inscribe the serial number of new automobiles on each of its hub caps.

This public service effort, done by the dealer without cost to the new car purchaser, will help assure the buyer that his hub caps will not be stolen and should save motorists thousands of dollars a year by drastically reducing the number of automobile accessory thefts, officials of the new car dealers association believe.

Dealers who have joined in this statewide campaign include Slaton Motor Company and Williams Buick, both local car dealers.

This plan to remove a primary temptation to steal is advocated by police authorities as a real help to the automobile owner and to police in eliminating automobile accessory theft.

Records show that 95 per cent of hub cap stealing is attributable to youths. When they are successful in this theft, they sometimes move up to more serious theft.

The simple device of engraving an automobile's serial number on each hub cap makes them easily identifiable as belonging to a particular car and leaves no question that they were stolen if they turn up anywhere other than on the proper automobile.

TADA President Sam H. White, Houston, who presented this plan to the TADA directors, pointed that the loss in one metropolitan area from hub cap theft is estimated to be $15,000 a month. He observed that automobile insurance rates are bound to climb unless the theft loss is brought to a halt.

"I bought my first ELECTRIC RANGE in 1928—out of a mail order catalogue!"

says Mrs. E. B. McMahan
BOISE CITY, OKLAHOMA

★ Mrs. McMahan insisted on clean cooking 30 years ago when electric ranges were something of a novelty. Her first electric range was only 27 inches wide. "But," says Mrs. McMahan, "It was clean — and that's what I wanted most."

Today Mrs. McMahan has a modern double-oven electric range with automatic control on both ovens. She has push-buttons, too, and bakes pies, 5 at a time, to put in her electric home freezer. This grand lady, who has kept pace with the advances in electric cooking, says of her electric range, "Nothing goes wrong and the porcelain finish is so easy to keep clean." In addition to her range, Mrs. McMahan has every modern convenience in her kitchen and laundry — all completely electric.

PUBLIC SERVICE

WE FAVOR THE BONDS

With a chance to get our streets in good condition without increasing city taxes, Slaton residents would be wise to give passage to the bond issue coming up next week in which commissioners seek to issue $30,000 in street improvement bonds.

Our streets now can certainly stand some repair work. For several years no major repairs have been undertaken, and the time has come for that to be done. Without it, city officials estimate that the streets will be beyond repair within about a year.

Cost certainly needs to be taken into consideration. Estimates on cost per block to repair and seal-coat existing paving within the city limits average about $210 per block. Paving cost per block, not including curb and gutter, run about $2,000.

With operating revenues considerably below normal because of wet weather and a short stay last fall of the migratory labor, commissioners this year were forced to turn to a bond issue for the street work instead of paying for it from the operating funds.

We lend our whole-hearted support to this project, and urge its passage as a sound and necessary act for the business-like upkeep of our city.

OH, JIMM-Y-Y-Y!

Critics of the American scene are often glum about an extreme tendency to conform. They need not despair; individualism is far from dead. This may be readily confirmed by keeping an ear to the wind around supper time. The variety of noise then emitted in hopes of luring the youngsters back home in a triumph of nonconformity.

The child-callers do fit into categories—the Name Yellers, the Whistlers, the Yoo-hoosers, the Bell Ringers, and so on. There are numerous sub-categories. Name yelling, for instance, range from dulcet utterance scarcely heard in the next yard to a stentorian outburst that alarms men of clear conscience a full block away. The decibels expended vary in relation to such factors as daddy's mood, the lateness of the hour, and the number of time a name has been yelled.

In blocks thickly inhabited by children, effective yoo-hooing demands great ingenuity. An unembroidered yoo-hoo won't fetch anyone, because every child can claim he thought it was intended for another. Consequently, the yoo-hoosers' summons may variously remind one of a bassoon, a callopo, or Tarzan caught in an elephant pit. Some whistlers content themselves with phoebe calls. Others send forth a sound that can transfix a small boy at 100 yards.

And so it goes. The fact is, creating a sound that Junior can distinguish from all others is no simple matter.

THE SHORTS SNIPERS

In the unending fashion world war, the battle of the chemise has lately seized most of the headline space. This is understandable, for great matters are at issue when the statesmen of style decree that the form divine—and variants thereof—must be draped, altered, concealed, overwhelmed in elegant tents and sacks.

The alarms from this battle front need not entirely distract attention, however, from the sniping and guerilla warfare still going on in the dwindling battle of the shorts—male shorts. This contest of giants has been under way for years.

Many a good man with knobby knees has gone down to defeat under a hail of snickers. Many fled to the haven of long pants. But hardy souls continue the fight. Shorts may yet be accepted in offices as well as at backyard dandelion digs.

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

Christ as Lord. He called himself "The light of the world," and then added, "He who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life." There can be nothing more important for us than to have this kind of light. This light is offered freely to everyone who is willing to say, "Lord, let our eyes be opened."

Do you want strength for the week? Do you want to know how to walk in the light as he is in the light? The Lord is asking you, today, "What do you want me to do for you?" If you want this, pray that your spiritual eyes might be opened, and the Lord, who opened the eyes of the blind men, will open your eyes, too.

Rev. C. N. Wylie,
Pastor First Presbyterian Church

Recently, in the midst of a storm in which there was heavy thunder and vivid lightning, the electric lights suddenly went out, and we were left in total darkness. What a dreary world this would be without light. If the sun did not shine by day and there was no light, life would soon cease to exist. There would be no vegetation, no crops, no flowers. Just darkness.

What if no one had discovered how to produce artificial light. The evenings would be shorn of much of their pleasure, and the work that can be done after the sun has set.

As we sat in the darkness, during the storm, the words of Jesus flashed in my mind, "I am the light of the world," and I thought how terrible it would be if all the light of the Gospel of Jesus Christ were to be suddenly blacked out, and the world were left in darkness as to the Fatherhood of God and his love for the world. How dark it would be if the light of the revelation of the Father through faith in his Son, Jesus, were to be blacked out.

God's love for us is so constant that we usually just take it for granted without giving it any thought, or consideration of our response or our responsibility.

In the Gospel of Matthew chapter 20, we have this story. As Jesus left the City of Jericho one day, he met two blind beggars. Have you ever closed your eyes tightly and kept them closed for several minutes and considered what a handicap it would be if you were totally blind, so that you could see no light? Well, that was the condition of those blind men. Jesus stopped and asked them a question, "What do you want me to do for you?" he said. Without hesitation they answered, "Lord, let our eyes be opened."

They could have asked for no greater blessing, for if their sight were restored they could see the glorious light of day, the faces of loved ones; and they would be able to see how to work and not have to depend upon begging for their living. True to the character of Jesus, he granted their request and they received their sight.

Much as we cherish our sight of the things which surround us, there is also the insight into spiritual things, which is of

The tornado last Friday dealt the Slaton area extensive damage. Tahoka was hit first, after which the wrath of the storm moved to about 10 miles south of Slaton. It went to within about two miles of Southland and then came to within four miles of Slaton. It was described as the worst disaster in the history of the Slaton area. Many people witnessed the storm before taking shelter in cellars. Reports from some of the people say it took the funnell from two to five minutes to pass over one place.

Slaton residents have an opportunity Tuesday, June 4, to vote for water and sewer improvement bonds. Described by a doctor as "extremely necessary for the continued health and growth of our town," the bond issue has been proposed to make additions to the present sanitary sewer system in order to relieve the overloading which presently exists.

Mayor Wootton reported that the water well that was put down on the City owned property southwest of town did not prove as satisfactory as it was hoped it would and that another well is being bored with the hope of getting a well as good or better than the first one that was drilled last summer on the tract which is now supplying the city with a part of its water.

The dollar ones are said to write better than the original $15.00 ones, but none of them live up to the claims that they will write for a year, that is unless the user writes only two or three times a year.

Slaton is the only town in this section of the state that has had nothing in the way of citywide promotion since the war. Many towns much smaller than Slaton have promoted rodeos, Dollar Days, Santa Claus at Christmas time and other things that have brought amusement and entertainment to their midst but Slaton to date has had nothing of the kind. Admitting that promotions of this kind usually come out in the red, they do keep people in the surrounding communities conscious of the town. Slaton has shown much progress but it has all been by individuals and not by co-operation of the people of the town.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex. — at least one segment of Texas economy — highway construction — is booming. One reason: The Texas Highway Department isn't letting grass grow under its feet in getting federal emergency projects under way.

Low bids tabulated at the Department's May letting totaled $19,187,933. State Highway engineer DeWitt C. Greer, in opening the May letting, said that about $25,000,000 in road projects would be up for bids next month.

This figure, if reached, would set a new record.

A big chunk of this upsurge comes from Texas' $36,000,000 share of the Federal Emergency Fund, authorized by Congress this year to get extra money into the economy fast and provide needed roads. All of this work must be put under contract by December.

Texas Highway officials hope to beat the deadline by several months. Greer announced that $8,000,000 of the May lettings represented the first of the extra federal projects. He noted with quite pride "the speed with which the projects were made ready." Bids were taken just four weeks after the federal bill was signed. Department officials expect all the $36,000,000 to be under contract by the end of the summer — bringing record or near-record lettings for the next few months.

A short time back monthly highway lettings of $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 were about average. Time was, too, when the emphasis was mainly on the need for fine, new roads to accommodate the growing stream of fine, new cars. Today, there's also emphasis on the number of people who'll be put to work, the money they'll spend on groceries, cars, clothes.

HIGH TENSION — With millions involved, the highway lettings are scenes of high tension. Sunburned, sport shirted contractors, plus materials men and insurers flock to the Department's hearing room where the sealed bids are opened and read, item by item.

an electronic computer to add up the item bids and determine the low bidder. Results are announced later in the day. But contractors or their representatives take down the bids on the spot and make rapid calculations.

The Slaton, Tex., Slatonite Thursday, May 29, 1958

It isn't hard to spot the man who's just realized he missed a million-dollar job by bidding a few hundred dollars high. Typical muttered comments: "He can't do it for the money!"

BUMPY ROAD—Though the mammoth highway building program is moving forward, at top speed, there are problems along the road.

Chief bone of contention, now in the courts, is whether cost of relocating utilities to make way for new construction should be borne by the cities and utility companies or the state.

A law passed by the last Legislature authorized the state, with 90 per cent federal aid, to pay for utility relocation on the federal projects.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has ruled that part of the law invalid in "donating public moneys to corporations and individuals . . . for private and individual purposes." Wilson filed a test case in an Austin district court.

City officials, through the Texas League of Municipalities, take the opposite view. They contend that in other states cities get this money for utility moving and that Texans, through federal taxes, contribute to the cost. Besides, they add, it'll cost the cities some $20,000,000.

HOSPITAL OFFICIALS — The Texas Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools has a flock of new names topping its roster of officials.

W. W. Heath of Austin was named chairman of the Board. He succeeds Dr. Raleigh Ross, also of Austin. Howard Tellepsen of Houston is the new vice chairman.

Raymond W. Vowell was appointed director of the hospital system. This post has been vacant nearly a year.

It was announced, also, that Dr. C. J. Ruilmann, now commissioner of mental health for Tennessee, will become director of Texas mental hospitals in June.

Heath, appointed to the Board by Gov. Price Daniel last fall, is prominent in business circles as an attorney, banker and rancher. He also is a former county judge, secretary of state and assistant attorney general.

SHORT SNORTS
A slight downward trend in joblessness was noted in the Texas Employment Commission's latest report. Number of persons receiving unemployment compensation checks dropped from 90,949 to 90,913.

A former TEC attorney, Lee G. Williams, has filed suit in an Austin district court for reinstatement to the job from which he was fired last month. Williams contends that his position in Texas Merit System corresponds to federal civil service status and he cannot be fired for the reasons given. A majority of the 3-man Commission said they had "no confidence" in Williams.

Twenty-two bus companies operating in Texas have asked the Railroad Commission for permission to hike intrastate (within the state only) fares by 10 per cent. They're being squeezed by increased operating costs, say the companies.

Fred Erisman of Longview has been named chairman of the new Texas Council on Administration.

John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" is said to be read more widely than any book in the English language except the Bible.

Mac Stewart of Galveston, former assistant attorney general, was elected new president of the liberal-dominated Young Democrats Club at its Austin meeting. Young Democrats officially criticized recent legislative action designed to illegally circumvent the U.S. Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court.

Whatever they think of candidates, some half-million Texas citizens won't be able to do much about it at election time next summer. State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert reported that paid poll taxes and exemptions dropped from 2,410,188 in 1956 to 2,055,318 this year.

State Department of Health is urging the establishment of more information centers over Texas. Four Texas cities — Austin, Galveston, Houston and Ft. Worth — now have such centers able to give immediate and sometimes life saving information on what antidote to use for what poison.

Mrs. Robert Maeker

Slatonite Born In Austria Celebrates 84th Birthday

Mrs. Robert Maeker was honored recently on her 84th birthday with a dinner at St. Joseph's Hall. All of her children except two, Hugo Maeker of Southgate, Calif., and Mrs. Julia Marrs of Hamburg, New York, were present.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Stinton Behlen, Landis Franke, Albert Kuss and Eugene Hopkins.

Mrs. Maeker was born in Austria in 1874 and came to the United States with a distant relative when she was eight years old. Her father had died when she was very young and her mother let her come to America to be a baby sitter. The ship landed at Galveston where she was to have been met by the family in whose home she was to live but they were not there to meet her nor had they made any provisions for her. Another family agreed to take her and she went with them to their home in Flatonia, Texas.

Here she was put to work in the fields until some of the neighbors saw that she was too little to do that kind of work and was ill treated. They took her into their home and she became their housekeeper. The only schooling she ever had was the short time she attended school while in Austria. She met and married Robert Maeker at Flatonia when she was 16 years of age. That same year her mother came over from Vienna. They were the parents of nine children.

Mrs. Maeker's greatest love has been her cooking for her large family. Her specialties were homemade light bread and coffee cakes, known as Kolo-chakes. She does not make much bread now because of the big job of kneading the dough, but she continued to make her Kolo-chakes both prune and poppy seed, which she had prepared for her birthday dinner.

She is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church and is an active member of the Catholic Daughters of America, due to failing health.

The Maekers came to the plains in 1912, settling at Posey where Mr. Maeker was engaged in farming. They returned to south Texas and stayed for two years and then came back to their home here where they remained until the time of Mr. Maeker's death in 1932, after which Mrs. Maeker moved to Slaton.

Her children present for the celebration were Mrs. Annie Schnell, Mrs. Olga Vivial, Mrs. Martha Behlen, Frank Maeker and Ed Maeker of Slaton; Rudy Maeker of Wilson and Leon Maeker of Shiner.

She has 17 grandchildren and 33 great grandchildren.

Johnson-Veretto Pledge Troth In Church Rites

Miss Carylon LaNell Johnson daughter of Mrs. Rose Johnson became the bride of Bobby Frank Veretto in a double-ring ceremony read at St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Lubbock Wednesday with the Rev. Fr. George Sallaway officiating.

Two large baskets of salmon pink and white gladioluses formed the archway and the altar vases held gladioluses.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Louis Schultz. She wore a gown of Chantilly-type lace over ivory taffeta. The bodice featured long petal point sleeves and a Sabrina neckline framed with scalloped lace dotted with iridescent sequin sand seed pearls. Lace appliques were scattered over the taffeta skirt and a double ruffle of embroidered lace outlined the bottom edge which extended into a long train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a lace crown embroidered in sequins and pearls.

She carried gardenias and carnations with satin streamers over a white prayer book and a pearl rosary.

Mrs. Royce Bednarz was matron of honor and Miss Gwen Veretto, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Johnny Mosser, his cousin, were bridesmaids. They wore shrimp chiffon over net and taffeta, the waltz-length frocks complemented by headpieces of organza and net. Each carried a long-stemmed white carnation.

Royce Bednarz was best man and Andy Loke, uncle of the bride, and Johnny Mosser served as ushers. Freddie Blake and Don Veretto, brother of the bridegroom, were groomsmen.

A reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schnell, 3401 33rd St. in Lubbock. The bride's table was covered with a hand-drawn lace and cutwork cloth over pink and was centered with a bridal bouquet and the attendants' carnations.

Assisting with hospitalities were Messdames Arthur Saage, Earnest Jones, John Geron, Cam Gordon, Bill Straecner, Miss Martha Jones and Miss Evaline Gutmer.

For her wedding trip the bride was wearing a black and white striped sailor chemise with white accessories.

After the bride-groom completes his tour of service, the couple will be at home on Rt. 4, Lubbock.

From this stemmed a magnificent skirt made of tulle, fully shirred, with alternating panels of scalloped lace and nylon tulle with wide band of lace outlining the bottom.

Denial of Radio Application Told; Applicants Plan Appeal Action

The Federal Communications Commission last week granted application of Plainview Radio for a new radio station at Plainview on 1050 kilocycles, one kilowatt, daytime.

The action involved denial of a competing application of Star of the Plains Broadcasting Company for a new 1050 kilocycle station at Slaton.

The grant reversed the recommendations of a hearing examiner who proposed approval of the Slaton application.

One of the Slaton application partners, Bill Harrell, said that an appeal would be filed with the Court of Civil Appeals in Washington on the commission's decision.

"Slaton was denied its first radio station because," according to the commission's ruling, "Slaton is not of significant size to warrant a radio station while denying a second station to Plainview. And Slaton," the commission said, "is sufficiently close to Lubbock to be considered a part of metropolitan Lubbock and thus provided with adequate service."

Harrell cited Floydada, Tulia, and Post as cities in this area smaller than Slaton that have radio service, and mentioned Muleshoe as a city about the size of Slaton with two radio stations.

"We believe we have a strong appealable point there," he said.

"I don't believe the commission has ever fully realized that Slaton is a separate community with interests completely divorced from Lubbock, he continued.
