Sorry If You Missed The Slatonite Last Week; We're Printing More Now

Our apologies please! If you have been picking up your copy of The Slatonite on the news stands and could not get one last week, you have no one to blame but us.

Drug stores, grocery stores and even The Slatonite, itself, were sold out of papers by the week end.

We are truly sorry if you missed your paper because someone else beat you to it and have taken steps this week to see that more papers are delivered to your favorite "pick up" spot to meet the increased demand.

Thank you so much for your patience.

Jaycees To Sponsor Christmas Home Decoration Contest Here

The Slaton Jaycees will sponsor again this year the annual Christmas Home Decoration Contest.

The club has announced plans to give a plaque to the owner of the house in Slaton judged best decorated in the spirit of the season, according to Don Kendrick, chairman of the decoration committee.

The committee will select three judges, their identities to be secret to the general public, who will drive around at night shortly before Christmas and determine who has used the most original and becoming decoration ideas for their home.

In their meeting Tuesday night, the Jaycees honored Otis Rogers as "Outstanding Jaycee of the Month" for his work on several projects Rogers was presented a certificate signed by Ted Swanner, president, and Pete Williams, vice president, for his efforts on the club's behalf during October. Rogers has put in a great deal of time on the Jaycees' clothing drive, the "Outstanding Teenager of the Month," project and has headed up the "Outstanding Young Farmer" committee.

Rogers' certificate read, "Jaycee of the Month certificate presented to Otis A. Rogers Jr in recognition of outstanding ability, service and accomplishment rendered during the month of October, by the Slaton Junior Chamber of Commerce."

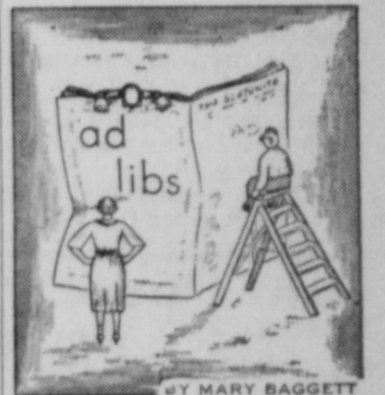

In other activity, it was reported at Tuesday's meeting that an "Outstanding Teenager" from Slaton is expected to be named for the month of October by next week.

Upcoming Jaycee projects also were discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Meeks and family visited with Mrs. Meeks' parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Wheatley of Post recently. They celebrated Mr. Wheatley's birthday.

OTIS A. ROGERS

By special request from bossman, Woody Rosser I include in Ad Libs this definition of the word, "Salty." I have not the faintest idea what he's talking about, but here it is. According to Webster the word means "agreeably provocative; as salty humor. Endowed with sufficient qualifications."

Here is a poem by Edward V. Wood that I especially like:

FORGET THE PAST
Forget the past! for it but holds
The refuse of our living—
Face now the tasks, with courage bold,
The days ahead are giving,
The best of men all make mistakes.
As you're guilty of committing—
And you may have still rougher breaks—
But that's no cause for quitting.
The sad mistakes of yesterday,
The fruits of faulty sowing,
Are dead! — Are reaped! — so banish fears;
Forget! — And keep on growing!

There must be more than a few frustrated females around town about this time. (Banquet coming up, along with about a dozen other activities) and about that time the Palace Beauty Shop closes for some redecorating of the shop. Naturally the job took longer than expected, but Velma Reynolds said that she hoped to be open by Wednesday noon. I expect they'll be a busy crew, getting their customers ready for the festivities.

Courage is not any more necessary on the battlefield than in the hourly choice between right and wrong.

Mrs. Perry is back in Slaton, after a visit in East Texas. I've been meaning to pass along to you a remark I heard her make to a customer one day. They were talking about furniture, and Ellen remarked that her furniture "was not old enough to be antique, but was too old to be modern."

I know some more people with that problem—myself included.

Isabell Foster received a telephone call from her son in service at midnight last week. Waymon is stationed at Midway, but was in Hawaii, with a boxing team when he called. He had an injured hand, and could not box, but he had gone along as a second to one of the Navy boys. I just thought I'd pass that along in case anyone wondered why she walked about a foot off the floor, and for you, Mother Foster, in case Isabell hasn't written lately.

I was talking to Mrs. Leland Scott the other day, and told her that at first I didn't recognize her son, Randy, in the Junior Class play, because of the moustache. "Think nothing of it," she said, "It must have been ten minutes before I recognized him myself!" Incidentally, I am glad Randy is a Junior, so that we will have him on the football team again next year!

Public Relations Event Sponsored By Teachers

The Slaton Classroom Teachers Association sponsored a public relations banquet here Monday night.

Featured speaker for the affair was Mrs. Oneita King of Lockhart, president of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

Mrs. King spoke on what the TCTA means to teachers and brought the local level of what the local organization means to Slaton teachers.

Guests to the banquet included Vernon Odum of Lubbock, membership chairman of TCTA's district 4; Nelda Jobe, president of the Lubbock CTA; members of the school board; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Vardy, superintendent of schools; Mr. and Mrs. Don Crow, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kunkel, president of Rotary; and others.

Also, each teacher invited one or more guests to the banquet. If it is held next year, and indications are that it will be, a different group of Slaton individuals will be invited in an effort to acquaint all the community with the teachers.

In addition to the address, the program included solos by Miss Ola Ray Schneider, a Junior High teacher; and a parody was given entitled, "Six Full Hours In The School Room," by Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Odell and Miss Ferrell. Some 97 persons attended the affair.

Distributive Education Notes

by Raymond Smoot, co-ordinator

The University of Texas is offering to our community, through Distributive Education, a course in credit training.

This course is a part of General Sales and Management Development. The course stresses sound, practical ideas concerning proper handling of credit, such as (1) opening accounts, (2) reducing credit risks, (3) controlling accounts safely, (4) increasing credit volume, and (5) how to accomplish collection of accounts.

Of course, there will be all sorts of practical illustrations on each subject, or sub-topic. Mr. Carpenter will be the teacher, the time will be sometime this spring, the place will be in the high school, and the students will be anyone interested enough to pay $2 for the four nights of instruction (just 50 cents per evening).

This is a fine opportunity for our community and your co-ordinator would like to know if the businessmen in Slaton would like for us to invite the lecturer to come. Your co-ordinator will be seeing you soon relative to this matter. If you are looking for profits, certainly here is where you can invest a little time and less money and expect multiple dividends.

One of the fundamental elements of sound and progressive business is competition. I know of no better way to bring forward that the best there is in products, sales-ability and the attendant services so essential to survival.

It is commonly known that the socialistic statism of many who are flouting under the guise of good Americanism is determination to feather their own nest as rapidly as possible, regardless of the cost (to others). Certainly they are not planning to pay for anything for themselves. Recently, there was a survey made among high school students by the Opinion Research Corporation of Princeton, N. J., and among other things it was revealed that 82 per cent of the students in the survey did not believe there was any competition anywhere in the business world. Where they got this opinion is a subject entirely too large to begin discussing here. Of course, it isn't a secret that such statements as "Did you know that United Steel monopolizes the steel industry?" are made. Now, the fact is, United Steel sold only 29.7 per cent of all the steel consumed in the US last year.

Another matter that has all sorts of implications is the "cry against individualism." Those who have any knowledge or any concern about the past, present and future of our country should be careful not to give attentive ears to this sort of talk. These little groups of socialistic weevils don't want competition, but we think the elements of risk and reward are basic in our economy and there is no substitute. There is no such thing as society without individuals to compose that society. Society exists for the benefit of individuals and when he loses sight of the worth and value of individuals, we will hear of a major pep-rally being held by all those who are willing they won't have to fight for. There is no guarantee that democracy will live on forever, certainly not.

It will live, progress and bless only in proportion to our support of, belief in and unselfish service to it. Any society that is as conscious as we are that ours is one of the people, for the people and by the people, will never be willing to be supported by the government but rather, we are willing to support our government so long as it remains democratic in nature and function.

To admire that which is right, to detest that which is wrong and pray for sense enough to know the difference is nothing less than a golden opportunity lying in the reason of all.

There are five things that attract buyers and it would be an advantage to some sellers to note these facts: first is the price, then the quality, the ser-

Dorcas Class Has Meeting With Mrs. Berry

The Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. Dudley Berry recently. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Berry.

Roll call was answered by each member quoting a bible verse. Devotional on Thanksgiving was given by Mrs. R. L. Smith. It was taken from 1st John, 11th chapter, 39 and 40 verses. Mrs. Clyde Shaw asked questions of the members on 1st John.

During their business session, they voted to give Bibles to Latin Americans from the class. Mrs. Shaw gave the closing prayer. Refreshments were served to the following members: Mesdames L. T. Rodgers, H. E. Woods, Clyde Shaw, R. L. Smith, T. A. Johnson, C. R. Bain, S. T. Brunson, Ray Wilson, Ernest Carroll, Boyd Meeks, Dudley Berry and Sam Wilson. Visitors were Mrs. L. O. Lemon and Eula Ferril.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Williams entertained the Eight-Four Club Wednesday, Nov. 19. Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Baker of Idalou and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Jenkins were out-of-town guests.

Local Post Office Starting Annual Mail Early For Christmas Campaign

Postmaster T. E. McClanahan said today, "Christmas may seem quite a way off, but nevertheless, we're starting our annual 'Mail Early For Christmas' campaign immediately, because there's every indication that the 1958 Christmas season will set an all time mailing record."

The Postmaster said further that right now is the time to plan your Christmas card and gift mailings. The first thing to do is to check your Christmas card list very carefully—make sure that each address particularly on mail to larger cities includes full name, street and number, city, zone and state.

He went on to say that by a little advance planning, a lot of headaches can be avoided when the Christmas rush is on. The Postmaster suggests that you stock up now on heavy wrapping paper, sturdy corrugated cartons, strong cord, and paper adhesive tape, for use in securely packing and wrapping your Christmas gifts. Remember, also, that you can include your Christmas card or letter inside your gift package if you'll just add the appropriate First Class mail stamps to the package itself.

Be sure to use only First Class four cent, or seven cent Air Mail postage on your Christmas cards. All cards sent by First Class mail may include a personal handwritten message, whereas a signature only is authorized on cards that are mailed at the three cent, Third Class rate.

The Postmaster says it's especially important to include your return address on every Christmas card envelope. Besides being socially correct, this is a big help to both you and your friends in keeping your mailing lists up-to-date.

Through the fine cooperation of the public during recent years, Postmaster McClanahan reports that great progress has been made in getting the Christmas mails through on time. He is making many advance preparations to handle the 1958 Christmas mail rush, with extra mail clerks, carriers, and expanded facilities all around.

Speaking further about his plans, the Postmaster said, "With over 170,000,000 people in the U.S.A. today, that means more Christmas mail than ever before, and that's why the Post Office needs your help in planning your Christmas mailings well in advance."

Christmas cards and gifts for most distant points should be mailed first, preferably well before December 10th, and those for nearby points should be mailed by December 15th, or at least a week before Christmas.

Local Youth Top 4-H'er in County

A Slaton youth, Roy Strube, was named Lubbock County's top 4-H Club boy of 1958 at the annual county-wide 4-H achievement banquet at the Plains Co-operative Oil Mill in Lubbock

Saturday night. Strube, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Strube, and Barbara Meador of Roosevelt were the Gold Star award winners. The Gold Star award is the high-

About 60 youths received awards for outstanding 4-H work in different fields.

The banquet was dedicated to the late Miss Jeanne Samson, who died last October after serving 18 years as secretary of the county Extension Service office in Lubbock, which has charge of 4-H work.

Strube has been in 4-H Club work for four years, during which time he has built a well-balanced project program that includes five acres of cotton, five acres of grain sorghum, a quality swine herd of 22 registered duross and Poland Chinas and a flock of 25 turkeys.

The youth has grossed approximately $2,000 off his 4-H projects. He won the county 4-H dryland cotton production contest last year with an average yield of 406 pounds of lint per acre and took first in the dryland grain sorghum contest with an average of 1,966 pounds.

Other Slaton winners included Jim Cox, agricultural program; Melvin Walter, agricultural program; James Mangum, entomology; James Walter, field crops; Wayne Mangum, garden; Ronald Mangum, poultry; Mike Schaffner and Bobby Rush, swine.

This year, 1958, is the 50th anniversary of 4-H work.

Vash Young and the 52 PHONE CALLS

In his book, "The Go Giver", Vash Young tells of making a telephone call to one prospect for 52 consecutive weeks before he got results.

Vash Young is one of the all time great insurance salesmen. He used tact, diplomacy, intelligent presentation and persistency. In this particular instance he telephoned a prospect for an appointment. The prospect put him off until the next week. And then he put him off another week and another and another until the telephone calls got to be sort of a game.

Vash Young kept right on calling every week without ever getting an appointment. On the 52nd call he was startled when the prospect told him of another man who wanted to buy a substantial amount of insurance. Vash Young followed the lead and took an order for the largest policy he had ever sold.

If Vash Young had given up after the second or third call he would never have sold the big order. And so it is with newspaper advertising. It takes more than one or two "calls" to the potential customers to get the best results. It is the consistent, persistent advertiser who eventually gets the "big order."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—Texas state colleges and universities should concentrate on doing the best job possible of one thing—higher education.

To do this, some other things—like student medical services, intramural athletics and certain extension services—will have to be cut loose from tax support. This is the gist of a report to be presented to the next Legislature by the Commission on Higher Education. Reached after prolonged study and discussion, the Commission's recommendations, if adopted, would be a significant and far-reaching step toward directing state spending on higher education institutions toward "pure academic pursuits."

Commission will ask the Legislature for the largest appropriation in history, about $67,000,000 annually, for the state's 18 tax-supported colleges and universities. This would be $10,000,000 a year more than is presently provided. Extra money would be used to provide more teachers, better faculty salaries, improved library and research facilities.

On the other hand, the Commission turned thumbs down on extra-curricular activities at the conducting of a number of state expense. Things which the Commission recommends NOT include in the higher education budget: (1) intramural athletics, (2) free or low-cost medical services for students, (3) the 17-year-old Cotton Research Council and the Rodent and Predatory Animal Control Service, (4) a bureau of business research at Texas Tech, (5) Texas A&M's Texas Transportation Institute and (6) operation of museums as a part of five schools.

LEGISLATIVE HORIZON — Beginning of the 56th Legislature is a little more than seven weeks away. Each week brings forward more touchy problems the lawmakers will have to months. Earlier this month the Hale-Aiken study committee decided to recommend 9 1/2 months of schooling.

A spokesman for the Texas State Teachers Association said he thought teachers were generally favorable to a longer year. More will be known after TSTA has its annual convention in Fort Worth over the Thanksgiving holidays.

Among groups that already have expressed opposition are the operators of summer camps and resorts. A longer school year would mean less time for them to be in operation.

Other questions sure to be raised are the extra costs coming at a time of financial strain and the possible ineffectiveness of study during hot weather weeks.

But probably the sharpest division of thought will be between parents (for) and children (against).

CREDIT RATES UPHELD — State Insurance Department's drastically reduced credit insurance rates are back in effect again.

Last spring the Department issued an order which, in effect, cut in half the legal rate that could be charged for credit insurance. Cosmo Ins. Co., Amarillo, and others sued in an Austin district court and obtained a court order preventing the Department from enforcing the new rule.

But the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals reversed this. It held that Cosmo was entitled to a court hearing as to whether the new rates were just and reasonable. Meanwhile, they're in effect.

ICT SUIT Re-FILED—A suit charging scores of well-known persons and financial institutions with a share of the blame for ICT's ill-fated history has been re-filed in an Austin district court.

It was originally filed last June when V. F. Taylor was receiver for the case. Then there was a complicated shake-up and turnover in the liquidator-receiver's office, bringing in an almost all-new team.

Now the suit has been filed again with the name of the new receiver, C. H. Langdeau, substituted on the papers.

This probably is the granddaddy of all damage suits. It asks $15,000,000 damages. Defendants include such renowned names as Lloyds of London and Republic National Bank of Dallas.

FARM IRRIGATION—Texas Farm Bureau delegates voted to ask the Legislature to make it a little easier for them to get a permit to use small ponds on their property for irrigation. At present, farmers may dam up to 200 acre feet and use it for household and domestic purposes. To use it for irrigation, they must get a special permit, reportedly difficult and expensive. Irrigation from farm ponds brought a hot contest between city and rural forces during the water legislation debate in the first special session, fall, 1957.

TRAFFIC SAFETY LAWS — Texas Safety Association, plus other groups, are pushing for legislation aimed at reducing road fatalities. Points in the program: (1) allowing for the results of "drunkmeter" (chemical tests for alcohol) tests to be introduced in court as evidence in driving - while - intoxicated cases, (2) stronger traffic law enforcement, (3) provision for enough highway patrolmen to do the job, (4) changing speed laws to meet standards of new roads, (5) improved traffic courts, (6) a uniform drivers license law and (7) universal driver education.

MEDICAL PAYMENTS — People approved a constitutional amendment to allow for medical aid payments to persons who receive state welfare checks. Next Legislature will have to pass a new law to put this into effect. Question is, how big should payments be? Other states average $6 a month for adults, $3 for children. Such a scale in Texas would cost an estimated $8,000,000 a year.

ADVERTISING — Voters also approved an amendment allowing for state-supported advertising of Texas' advantages. But margin of approval was narrow, foreshadowing some wrangling over how big a thing the program should be.

MORE SCHOOL DAYS—Less fishing and more studying time may be in the offing for Texas school students.

State Board of Education voted to recommend to the Legislature that the present 9-month school year be extended to 10

Vocational Agriculture Prepares For Related Farming Occupations

By J. P. Brown,
Teacher, Vocational Agriculture
Slaton High School

Training received in vocational agriculture by high school students and by adults helps to prepare them for occupations in farming and in agricultural industries.

Few people realize that 40 percent of the 60 million people employed in the United States are employed in agricultural occupations. Of this 40 percent, 13 percent are required to produce the necessary farm commodities, 10 percent are engaged in supplying machinery, fertilizer, and other materials to farmers, and 17 percent are engaged in processing and distributing agricultural products.

In recent years, the number of workers required in farming has decreased but the number required in supplying materials to farmers and in processing and distributing farm commodities has increased. Therefore, the total number of people engaged in the field of agriculture has remained approximately constant.

High school programs of vocational agriculture, then, are concerned with not only providing training for those engaged in or preparing to become engaged in farming but they are concerned also with providing pre-employment training for those going into related farming occupations. These related occupations are as important to our total agricultural economy as the occupation of farming.

A student properly trained in vocational agriculture will make a better agricultural scientist, businessman, processor, chemical salesman, or supplier of agricultural fuels than he would had he not had the basic agricultural training.

The high school vocational agricultural curriculum at Slaton High School has been altered to provide the needed emphasis on these related occupations. For example, the student's supervised farming program is stressed in order to provide the proper background of farming experiences. Too, the scientific aspect of plant and animal production is emphasized so students acquire an understanding of applied science. These, and other experiences, provide the needed training for one regardless of whether he goes into farming or into related occupations.

Next week Brown will discuss "Vocational Agriculture Provides Success Experiences for Students."

Closing the season on a victorious note with a 30-26 win over the Post Antelopes, Slaton's Fighting Tigers ended the campaign with a record of four wins and six losses.

The running of halfback Pat Adamek and fullback Howard Limmer played an important part in the victory. Adamek scored three touchdowns and Limmer made costant gains through the Post line. He also scored once. The Slaton forward will also displayed a fighting spirit.

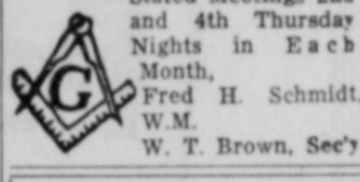

Slaton kicked off to open the game with Post returning to the 12 yard line. Jerry Windham carried around right end for 17 yards and a first down on the 29. Derwood Mayberry, Antelope fullback, picked up two yards over left tackle and then on the

STRENGTH FOR THE WEEK

"I HAVE GLORIFIED THEE ON EARTH. I HAVE FINISHED THE WORK WHICH THOU GAVEST ME TO DO."

JOHN 17:4

We find our Master, as He prays, stating the task given unto Him and a declaration of finishing it. God has called each of us to a task while here upon earth and it is our duty to finish that work.

Ours may be the most humble of work or we may be led into the farthest fields, but God is faithful who has called us and will supply the needs that we have to do that work. God knows what we can use better than we do, therefore we should say as the Apostle did: "... for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content."

We should realize, as Jesus did, the shortness of time we have to work. It is day now, but soon it may be too late to work. We cannot tell what lies in the future; any number of things may happen to impair our ability to work of Jesus. We MUST be at work now! If we have talents that can be used to the glory of God and fail we must notice what Christ said: "For unto whomsoever much is given, of him much shall be required." Your ability may not be great but use what you have. If you are strong in the Lord it is your obligation to bear the infirmities of the weak. It may not be the most pleasant thing, but it will be the fulfilling of the call of God.

As Jesus said: "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me." We need to whet our spiritual appetites to the point that we desire to know nothing but what God would have us know and do. What is your food? What is your desire?

Christ, hanging upon the Cross, said: "It is finished." Paul, at the close of life said: "I have kept the faith." In the parable of the ten virgins we find: "They that were ready entered in." What will you be able to say at the close of life? What will you hear as you stand before God to give an account of this life? Be prepared! Be at work for God!

They Try To Please . . .

We hope you read with a great deal of interest the story in last week's Slatonite concerning the Christmas plans of the local Chamber of Commerce.

There is more to that story than just the facts concerning the late hours to be maintained at local stores, free movies, etc.

Here is a genteel effort by our local merchants to combat a common enemy . . . the unfaithful shopper.

Many Slatonites make the trek to our county big brother, Lubbock, to do no small amount of shopping. Probably many thousands of dollars are poured into Lubbock each year by Slaton shoppers.

Why? We have nothing whatsoever against any merchant in Lubbock. We wish them profitable business, year in and year out. We believe the majority of them have very fine merchandise to offer. We don't think the prices are too high. We realize there are many fine people who run stores in Lubbock.

However, we know Slaton merchants can match them on each of those counts and exceed them on many. Why go out of town to buy something you can get in Slaton just as reasonably priced, of just as high quality and much more conveniently?

Slaton merchants spend plenty of money each year bringing their customers the finest of all kinds of merchandise, they make efforts to give you fast, economical, adequate service.

Why then, go to a neighboring town to buy anything? It must be that some think the purchase of items in a larger town gives the impression of being more expensive (which it may be) and therefore a "nicer" buy.

The only thing "nice" about it is that you give, we hope, Slaton service stations some of your money buying enough gas to get there. Otherwise it means that you don't feel Slaton merchants handle good enough merchandise to suit you and you must travel out of town to get the right quality . . . a vain feeling indeed. Especially when it just isn't so.

The point is this: Apparently, some of our people are going out of town to buy some of their needs. Our merchants can't understand this, they feel they stock just as good merchandise, are just as right on the price, are much more conveniently located and try just as hard to please as anyone, any place.

We agree. They are making this special Christmas effort, then, to try to prove to those who might buy elsewhere that they want their business more than out-of-towners and are willing to do what they can to keep shoppers at home, where, by the way, money spent, regardless of amount, helps keep our local economy strong . . . something we all want.

We intend to do all our Christmas shopping here, do you? If not, why not? Care to reply?

The Sounding Board

(Editor's Note: A few comments from other newspapers for your consideration. Hope you like 'em.)

The first item this week is another from The Young'un's column, "drifting sands," in the Andrews County News.

Middle age is when you still have the old spark but it takes more puffing.

Time changes everything—especially people.

We received a publicity blurb from the Naylor company, publishing house in San Antonio, about a new book.

The book is a one volume collection of short stories concerning the Southwest and is illustrated by the writer-painter author and is titled "Southwest Wind."

The author? Max Evans! The press release has this to say about Evans . . . "Max Evans is a man of many talents. In his writing he has confined himself to short stories, which have appeared in many American publications. Mr. Evans illustrated the book himself. As an artist, his painting grace the walls of homes in all parts of this country and particularly in the Southwest, where he was born and raised."

Old timers here will remember Max as something besides a painter and author . . . as a matter of fact, he was one of the most devilish teen-agers ever to prance down the corridors of Andrews high school.

Few of his pranks have been topped . . . and while readers of his book may remember him as an author we'll always remember him as the boy who placed a ladder against the side of the old Wallace Theater building one cold, wintery night. And while the people inside the theater were transfixed by the showing of "Trail of the Lonesome Pine," Max proceeded to place two gallon cans over all the stovepipes leading up from the pot-bellied stoves below. He had as his assistant, Toots Snider, who is now serving Uncle Sam as an FBI agent.

Needless to say, the theater belched people as the smoke filled the theater . . . people were in such a hurry to leave the theater, that only Evans and Snider were calm enough to step to the window and ask for refunds on their non-existent tickets.

From the column, "Local Business," in the Colorado City Record, written by Ben Peeler: A retailer who wishes to get maximum return from his advertising should consider quality as well as quantity of circulation.

It is worth a great deal more to reach a community leader or a high-income family than an illiterate on relief.

The high-income family buys more products at prices which bring a good profit to the merchants. Also, certain community leaders may greatly influence the buying patterns of others. Advertising in a community is most effective when it reaches those people with the most money to spend, and those who have the most influence over others.

In this respect, the position of the community newspaper can not be challenged. Community leaders can not afford to miss the local paper. In every community, circulation of the local newspaper is almost complete among people of influence and high income.

In fact, studies by social scientists have shown that the higher a person's educational and income level is, the more likely he is to prefer the newspaper to other media.

For instance, the manager of a men's dress shop in a college town, a regular newspaper advertiser, decided to experiment with another medium. "The new medium did bring some new faces to my store; but they could not pay cash and I could not afford to give them credit. From our standpoint, they were not potential customers," the manager said.

Thus, the claim that, "Everybody who is anybody reads the local paper," has an important meaning to advertisers. It means the paper is reaching an important core where community action is created.

From the column, "Snooter Knows," by James E. Kelly in the Slaton Reporter:

Here's the antics a firecracker performed after leaving the hands of a 9-year-old London boy. He flipped a penny fire cracker in a street lamp. The bang ignited an underground gas leak. A four foot hole was blasted in the sidewalk. Houses were rocker and drain covers were blown high in the air. Some 200 children were marched to safety from school.

The boy ran home and climbed in bed.

The writer has no horror of being broke. It's no disgrace but very disconcerting, to be classed in that category. Since the State of Texas is broke and owes $140,000, our discomfort has been greatly tempered. And too, there is a mark of distinction we should be proud of. We and the State of Texas are sailing along in the same boat. The only difference between us is we have managed our financial affairs in a manner we are not in debt $140,000.

We might add this we read in a newspaper the other day: A true friend is one who thinks you're a good egg even when you're busted.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Perkins have been away for the past month at their ranch near Tishomingo, Okla.

High Plains Cotton Quality Report Shows Crop One Of Best In Years

LUBBOCK — The third Texas High Plains Cotton Quality Report for the 1958 cotton crop continues to show this year's crop in one of the best quality cotton crops as well as one of the best yielding crops in many years, George W. The average staple length was 31.6 thirty-seconds, with 51.9% being one inch and longer. Only 2.9% fell below 15/16 inch. Micronaire average was 4.3 with 95.7% above the tenderable micronaire limit of 3.5. The majority of the crop, or 71.2% fell between 4.0 and 5.0. Presley fiber strength averaged 76,000 pounds per square inch, with 51% between 75,000 and 90,000 pounds.

The Cotton Quality Report with correlations between grade, staple, micronaire and Presley is being mailed every two weeks to textile mill officials and cotton buyers throughout the nation. It is published to give buyers and mill officials up to date information on the kinds and type of cotton produced in the Texas High Plains area.

DISCIPLES OF CHRIST CHRISTIAN CHURCHES

How Free Are You?

One of a series of reports about the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ), the largest religious body to originate in America.

MOST Americans think they are free because of the Constitution and the Supreme Court. We are free politically—but is that enough?

There is another kind of slavery that comes with civilization. It is bondage to selfishness, to pride, to material possessions. They seem attractive, but they can bind us to a life of mediocrity and frustration.

The Christian Churches, with their traditional love of freedom, know that the one true emancipation from material desire comes in following Jesus Christ as the Lord of Life. A familiar saying describes it—"I am a free man in Jesus Christ."

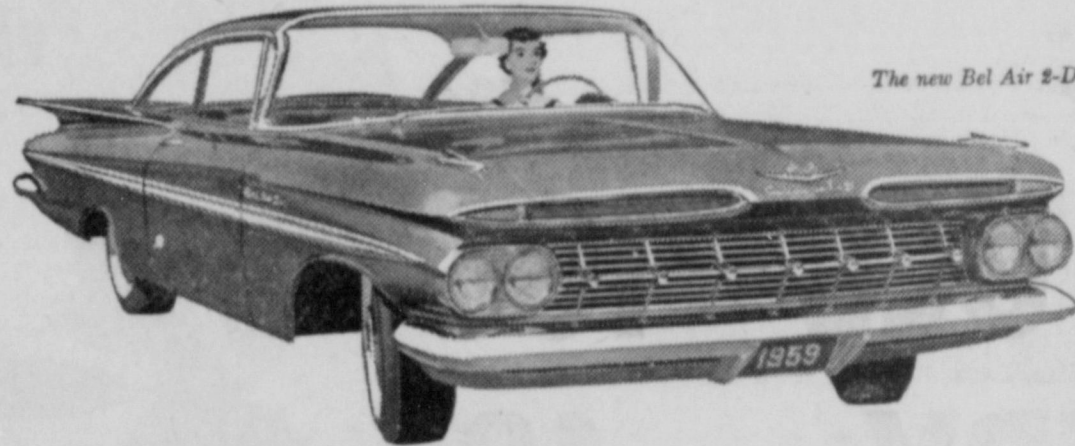

We show that same freedom in our churches, which are democratically governed. We urge every member to study the Bible and interpret it for himself. We do not always agree on minor points, but we stand together on the major ones.

Freedom is a Christian heritage. Working together, free Christians can help bring the Kingdom of God to earth.

The door to every Christian Church is open to you.
