Slaton Man, Two Others Found Dead In Lubbock Last Week

A Slaton man, Cullen A. Brown, 43, and two others were found dead in a two-room house in Lubbock about 9:45 a.m. Wednesday of last week.
The other two men involved were Benito Gomez Chavera, 40, of Lubbock and Arturo Rubio, 46, also of Lubbock.
Justice of the Peace F. R. Land ruled the deaths of all three were caused by "drinking wood alcohol and exposure."
The temperature early last Wednesday fell to 13 degrees. When the three victims were discovered Wednesday morning by John Rubio, who lives at a house in front of the one where they were found, there was no heat in the structure, he said.
Land said one man was lying on a bed another was sitting on the bed, slumped against the wall and the third was lying on a pallet on the floor.

A number of bottles found in the house were found to have contained a type of wood alcohol and other intoxicants, according to investigating officers.
The officers said there was no fire in the room, window panes were broken, and there was little covering for the bed.
Funeral services for Mr. Brown were conducted at 10 a.m. last Friday in the Williams Funeral Home chapel here. The Rev. B. F. Love, pastor of the Assembly of God Church, officiated. Burial was in Englewood Cemetery.

Survivors include his mother, a son, two daughters, two sisters and two brothers.

We're Still The 'Biggest'

Texans Need Not Worry That Alaska Now In US

(Editor's Note: Boyce House, who has authored more books about Texas (14) and made more speeches (almost 1,000) about Texas than any other man, and who is such an authority on the state he's called "Mr. Texas," has studied the admission of replacing Texas as the biggest state. Nothing to worry about, he says, and explains why in an article for Associated Press, excerpts from which we present for your enjoyment.)

By Boyce House

(Excerpts from an article written for Associated Press) "What are you Texans going to do about Alaska?"

This is the question that citizens of the Lone Star State have heard many times from their friends over the nation in the last few months.

The answer is, "Nothing—it won't be necessary." Texas long ago became synonymous with size, and, once an idea finds lodgement in the human mind, it is next to impossible to uproot it.

If you wear a Panama, chances are that it didn't come from Panama but Ecuador; St. Patrick was not an Irishman; chili is not a Mexican food, as any Mexican will tell you with considerable fire; the grass in Kentucky isn't really blue and the composer of "My Old Kentucky Home" was not a Kentuckian. But try to convince the public of these things!

Similarly—Texas has come to be synonymous with "bigness." When someone asked Dr. Werner von Braun if there was a likelihood that two man-made satellites could collide, he replied that such a happening was highly improbable, adding, "You must remember that space is large; it is even larger than Texas."

I have made a personal investigation since statehood was conferred on Alaska and have found that Texas is just as huge as it ever was; it's still 801 miles in a straight line north and south 773 miles east and west; and it still has 254 counties, one of which lacks only two square miles of being twice as large as Rhode Island and Delaware combined, with the District of Columbia thrown in.

But Texas is more, much more, than so many thousands of square miles. Texas has cowboys, mavericks, longhorns, mirages, horned frogs that live 31 years sealed up in courthouse cornerstones without air, food or water; and Texas Rangers, as all TV viewers and moviegoers throughout the world know. Texas produces more oil, cotton and sulphur than any other state; also more sheep, though there is nothing sheepish about Texas; and more salt, which is taken by visitors, a few grains at a time, with our tall tales.

Texans won their own independence in 1836, became a republic and sent ambassadors to foreign countries, including the United States; then in 1846 entered the Union of their own free will. Yes, they did, later on, try to leave the Union, but, after four years in which to reflect, reconsidered. Even so, the last battle of the Civil War was fought in Texas, weeks after Appomattox and, of course, the Texans won it.

The majority leader of the United States Senate is from Texas, The Speaker of the House of Representatives is from Texas and the President of the United States is from Texas. The San Jacinto monument is taller than the Washington monument and the Texas capitol is higher than the national capitol.

And it is my understanding that the inventor of the Eskimo pie was from Texas.

Among the 49 states, Texas is what the forward pass is to football and what the slide trombone is to the band. Texas is tradition, history, courage, energy, vision, friendliness, achievement, hospitality and humor that is good-humored.

So, whatever the statistical tables show, Texas will always be "the Champ."

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Polk, their daughter and David Hutcheson spent the holidays with their son, W. T. Polk, in Gallup, N.M.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Perkins visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Perkins in San Antonio over the week end.

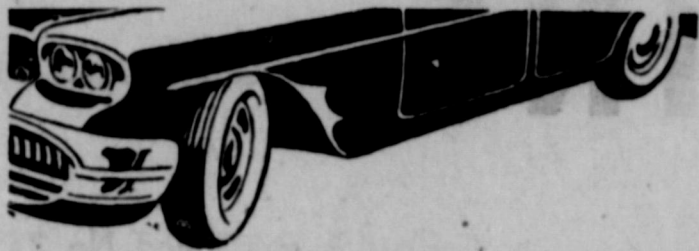

Mrs. A. A. Webb, Jack and Jane, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Lott in Post this past week end.

R. H. Todd Sr. returned home last Thursday from West Texas Hospital, Lubbock, where he spent 35 days.

BUYS HIS WIFE GAS APPLIANCES!

Brahms and Brahms . . . an unlikely combination? Not to the man who recognizes the "best of its kind," be it allegrios or apices. That's why he insisted on a new GAS Gas Dryer for his wife. He sees the advantages of heat (turn it on and it's on), and no heat hang-over (as off, heat's gone!). He observed how gas heat blows moisture away instead of baking it out. Clothes come out fluffier, more wrinkle-free and dry faster! They last longer, too. Yes, in every way—economy included—GAS gives you more. And where the finest, truly appreciated . . . GAS belongs!

Please, Natural Gas Company
