'Farm to Pharmacy' depicts ambition for Slaton woman

Corena Warren is known to Slaton and the surrounding area simply as Warren, Pharmacist and manager of the Slaton Pharmacy. Her life's story runs with purpose and inspiration to those who know her.

Born Corena Mining, her parents were Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Mining. They farmed near Sulphur Springs, and in 1914 she married a farm boy, T. A. Warren.

The young couple farmed until 1925, and that year they enjoyed the benefits of a bumper crop. The same year opportunity knocked. They were offered a chance to buy the drug store in Duke, Oklahoma.

Mrs. Warren laughs now as she recalls the decision to buy that drug store. The "greenhorns" took a chance. Shortly after, Corena made another momentous decision. With two boys in high school, and Ray, the youngest in kindergarten, she decided to resume her studies and get her high school diploma. It took her another four years of summer work at Danforth School of Pharmacy in Fort Worth, Texas, before she could qualify as a registered pharmacist.

Selling the drug store in Duke in 1938, the Warrens moved to Olustee, Okla. They left Olustee in 1942 and lived in Richland, California, for the next twelve years. They returned to Lubbock in 1954 and in 1955 they moved to the farm that had been her father's homestead.

The farm is located 1 mile north of Gordon. A Latin-American family farms the land for the Warrens, an arrangement made at the time Mrs. Warren assumed the duties as pharmacist and manager of the Slaton Pharmacy in 1957.

"Some day, I'm going to have a new home built on that land," she says wistfully, but until that time she will continue to fill the need of a registered pharmacist.

Mother of three boys, Mrs. Warren has seen two of them follow in her footsteps. Preston, nicknamed "Snooks," owns a drug store in Denver, Colorado. Ray owns a drug store in Oakland, California, and Orval, nicknamed "Babe," is employed in Klamath Falls, Oregon.

IN RECOGNITION of National Pharmacy Week, Mrs. Corena Warren pauses for a moment in the everyday routine of filling prescriptions at the Slaton Pharmacy. Mrs. Warren is one of the four women in Lubbock County known to be actively engaged in the Pharmacy business. A second one, Mrs. Francis Repasz of Lubbock, began work at the Slaton Pharmacy on October 7.

Gary Simpson is two-years old and lives in Post. Last week he was really upset when his mother set a mouse-trap and he saw the victim. "You've killed Mickey Mouse," the child cried, "And now I can't see him on Television anymore."

I read one time (in a somewhat short-lived publication) that "same-nameitis" was sure death for a column. Could be that I like to live dangerously, as bear with me while I rave on about the same old names you read here last week.

One that has been mentioned in this column several times is that of the Rev. C. M. Fields, new pastor of the Westview Baptist Church. He has such a quality of "differentness." When he preaches he seems to become a transmission mechanism for a mighty flow of truth and power that comes from beyond him and through him into the hearts of his listeners.

In looking over the exchanges this week, I read a headline that declared a home to be "... Elegant, Charming, Liveable and Interesting." I thought it was a wee-bit overdone, and asked Richard about it. It is never good to use such adjectives in a story or head, he said. Then gave this example to explain the point: "I avoid the word delicious when speaking of refreshments in a story ... maybe that I would call delicious, would make someone else real sick!"

I see what he means. But I'll say this, when writing a story or outlines it is hard, at least for me, not to go all out in expressing my liking for a person, or a place, or an article. It is hard to hide a distaste for anything too. So it came to me that even the one feels that he is relatively free of prejudices, they are there just the same.

Take for instance the story of Mrs. Warren, written for National Pharmacy Week. It was not easy to keep from saying that she is a wonderful person, filled with warmth, "charming, Elegant, Loveable and Interesting." So I feel the enthusiasms that the writer of the headline felt. For his subject.

You know, via the Slatonite ads, that Mary Banks is in charge of Hill's Lady Fair Beauty Salon. What you may not know is that Mary is interested in conducting a Teen Age Beauty Clinic, designed to teach the teen-agers to care for their hair and for their hair-dos. Mary tells me that with the right care, a style should last a week or more. There are all kinds of possibilities for such a clinic, and while her plans are not yet crystalized, I think they might be soon. Especially if some of you girls expressed interest in such a plan. Call her up, the number in VA8-3678.

Lasater-Hoffman is the dealer for the "Shox-Stok," trade name for an electric fence controller. I don't have any cattle to keep from straying, but I've been mulling over the possibilities of using it to keep the boys at home.

We have some very nice pictures this week of the 1959 Pontiacs, (they are on display at Kendrick Pontiac) and they reminded me of the time I heard Ed Haddock muttering through his teeth that you "... shouldn't keep up to date these days if you bought a new car every two weeks!"

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Cannon and Mr. and Mrs. Melton Hancock spent the week end at Tres Rios, Taos, and Santa Fe, New Mexico.

OUR EYES, EARS, CONSCIENCE

National Newspaper Week is a concentrated effort to explain the functions of a newspaper. To inform, to interpret, to entertain—this is the role of the American press. Its foundation is the First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of the press.

The American people possess many other freedoms, as set out in our constitution, and a priceless one springing from them is the right to know and to be informed. Here the newspaper performs its greatest service. It is the eyes, ears and conscience of a community. It jealously guards the many rights of people while giving them the facts and information necessary to be good citizens. For only when we know the truth can we support what is good or condemn what it bad.

Wars have been fought to gain and preserve our independence. So, too, is battle waged by the newspapers of our country to defend and guard the freedoms and rights of a free people. This is a never-ending fight, quiet at times, at other times loud—but always on behalf of the American people.

A newspaper informs its readers of what is going on in the world and in our community. It deals with such diverse events as the fall of a foreign government or an accident at a country crossroads. It could be that the accident is of more importance to the average reader, but what is happening around the world affects us all. A good editor realizes this and balances the significant with the interesting.

A newspaper is a service organization whose prime responsibility is always to the reader. It performs a service when corruption in government is exposed. It performs just as important a job when the reader is informed of an outstanding accomplishment of a public official. It gives its subscribers an opportunity to voice their thoughts in its letter columns and provides accurate information upon which to form opinions.

Public opinion is reflected in the people's choice of elected leaders. To keep this country strong and free our leaders must be honest and wise. Therefore, sound thinking and a good foundation knowledge are vital necessities to good government.

American newspapers are a strong link in the chain of defense of our way of life. The pages of a newspaper reflect the history of our times, the good along with the bad; and what thoughtful persons could fail to choose our way of life after comparing news from behind the Iron Curtain with that of the free world?

Newspapers are a vital part of the American economy, purchasing many millions of dollars of materials each year and offering, through advertising, opportunities for businessmen to increase their revenue and for buyers to use their money to the best advantage.

The free world has been shrinking. Evidence of real trouble comes in a nation when despotism finds an implacable foe in a free press, and muzzles it. We free Americans must be on guard constantly against any encroachment on the people's right to be informed correctly. For that is the real meaning of freedom of the press. (by Buford Boone, Tuscaloosa (Ala.) News, winner of 1957 Pulitzer Award for editorial writing.)

A political writer observes that governorships are traditionally the best springboards to the presidency. The trouble is, lightweights occasionally spring the farthest.

Records show that a college education costs twice as much as 20 years ago. But with modern advantages, graduates may be able to double its value.

Recession paradox: Buying what we can't afford now might possibly help us to afford it later.

Don't look for trouble. It will have no difficulty finding you.

The gap between prices farmers get for their produce and their operational costs is said to be narrowing. Eventually they may have nothing to worry about by weather and taxes.

John Wayne, the movie man, will reportedly get $666,666.67 for 14 weeks of acting in a new picture. Is the 67 cents for aspirin, or was that thrown in so he'd have something left after taxes?

Christ Gives what We Need, not what We Want.

John 6:33: "For the bread of God is that which comes down from Heaven and gives life to the world."

"For want of bread the people riot." Here is a statement that can be written over the pages of history and, in a sense, could describe the actions of men for the past ages and today. The best example of this would be the French Revolution.

Today Communism seeks to take over the hungry nations of the world providing them with food and other necessities. For people riot, and attempt in this way to get bread for their bodies, thinking that will make them happy. If this is true, America should be the happiest nation in the world. But this is not true. It is not true because man needs more than physical bread to make him happy—he needs the bread of life. This is not what man seeks with his best efforts or what he wants with all his heart, but it is what he needs.

That is what Jesus is talking about here. Because Jesus had given these five thousand meat and bread (verses 1-14) these people were willing to make Jesus their leader. But Jesus did not come to furnish man with food for his stomach. He came to give Himself for man. He came to give Himself for the sins of mankind.

It was the opposite that these people wanted. They wanted Him to furnish food miraculously. They also wanted Him to heal them when they were sick. They selfishly wanted Jesus to be their leader alone, so that they would never have to fear a thing. We, today, try to limit Jesus only to things we want. But Jesus is not to be limited. He has a greater job. He furnishes the need of all mankind.

He died upon a cross to furnish this need—the forgiveness of sins. For without this, man would linger senselessly upon this earth. Around him would be turmoil; within him would be guilt; and before him would be uncertainty and damnation. But Jesus died for man that he might be spared of an uncertain existence. Jesus has furnished the need for us as human beings. In addition to providing for the cure of our sins, He provides strength for the weak, comfort to the sad, and rest to the weary. Have you found this cure for your needs? Go to Him. He will help you with your needs.

Prayer: We give Thee thanks for all that Thou has given us, O Lord. Ever guide us to seek Thee for our needs. Thou alone has the answer. Thou art ever near, be Thou our help in every time of need. Amen.

TELEPHONE TALK
by J. C. Oakley, Manager

PARTY-LINE SERVICE

Party-line service is good telephone service when the line is shared equally and thoughtfully. Think of the other families on your line as telephone neighbors. They probably use their service just as you do—making calls to help the household run smoothly, and calls to keep in touch with relatives and friends. By considering the telephone habits and needs of others on your party line just as you'd like them to consider yours, you can help set up a partnership that will give each user his fair share of service. The ABC of satisfactory service for all party liners is simply this: Always Be Considerate.

LUXURIOUS—BUT NOT A LUXURY
Got a telephone for your bedroom, yet? Nothing tops a bedroom telephone for real luxury living. When I'm home using ours, I like to stretch out on the bed with the phone cradled between my shoulder and my ear. I can relax and really talk that way. There are plenty of good, practical reasons for having a bedroom phone, too. Privacy, for example. And women often say how reassuring it is to have a phone at their bedside when they're alone in the house at night. It's much nicer to be able to "reach" to answer instead of having to dash to another room. Here in Slaton, a bedroom extension costs only $1.00 a month plus installation. And for a one-time charge of only $10, you can have your choice of any of the nine beautiful color telephones. They're especially smart for bedrooms.

EASY WAY TO KEEP IN TOUCH
I guess at one time or another, we all remember—out of a clear sky—someone we haven't thought of in a long time. "Whatever happened to George?" we say. Or to Ruth, or the Browns, or the Martin family. Usually it's someone we really mean to keep in touch with—like the couple who used to live next door, or old friends in faraway places. But with so much on our minds and so much to do, the months fly by and we never get around to it. The quick, easy way to make up for lost time is, of course, to use your telephone. A long distance phone call is the personal, thoughtful way of keeping in touch with those you care about. Try a call tonight, and you'll see what I mean.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Adventures in ADVERTISING

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER
(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

OUR EYES, EARS, CONSCIENCE

National Newspaper Week is a concentrated effort to explain the functions of a newspaper. To inform, to interpret, to entertain—this is the role of the American press. Its foundation is the First Amendment's guarantee of freedom of the press.

The American people possess many other freedoms, as set out in our constitution, and a priceless one springing from them is the right to know and to be informed. Here the newspaper performs its greatest service. It is the eyes, ears and conscience of a community. It jealously guards the many rights of people while giving them the facts and information necessary to be good citizens. For only when we know the truth can we support what is good or condemn what it bad.

Wars have been fought to gain and preserve our independence. So, too, is battle waged by the newspapers of our country to defend and guard the freedoms and rights of a free people. This is a never-ending fight, quiet at times, at other times loud—but always on behalf of the American people.

A newspaper informs its readers of what is going on in the world and in our community. It deals with such diverse events as the fall of a foreign government or an accident at a country crossroads. It could be that the accident is of more importance to the average reader, but what is happening around the world affects us all. A good editor realizes this and balances the significant with the interesting.

A newspaper is a service organization whose prime responsibility is always to the reader. It performs a service when corruption in government is exposed. It performs just as important a job when the reader is informed of an outstanding accomplishment of a public official. It gives its subscribers an opportunity to voice their thoughts in its letter columns and provides accurate information upon which to form opinions.

Public opinion is reflected in the people's choice of elected leaders. To keep this country strong and free our leaders must be honest and wise. Therefore, sound thinking and a good foundation knowledge are vital necessities to good government.

American newspapers are a strong link in the chain of defense of our way of life. The pages of a newspaper reflect the history of our times, the good along with the bad; and what thoughtful persons could fail to choose our way of life after comparing news from behind the Iron Curtain with that of the free world?

Newspapers are a vital part of the American economy, purchasing many millions of dollars of materials each year and offering, through advertising, opportunities for businessmen to increase their revenue and for buyers to use their money to the best advantage.

The free world has been shrinking. Evidence of real trouble comes in a nation when despotism finds an implacable foe in a free press, and muzzles it. We free Americans must be on guard constantly against any encroachment on the people's right to be informed correctly. For that is the real meaning of freedom of the press. (by Buford Boone, Tuscaloosa (Ala.) News, winner of 1957 Pulitzer Award for editorial writing.)

A political writer observes that governorships are traditionally the best springboards to the presidency. The trouble is, lightweights occasionally spring the farthest.

Records show that a college education costs twice as much as 20 years ago. But with modern advantages, graduates may be able to double its value.

Recession paradox: Buying what we can't afford now might possibly help us to afford it later.

Don't look for trouble. It will have no difficulty finding you.

The gap between prices farmers get for their produce and their operational costs is said to be narrowing. Eventually they may have nothing to worry about by weather and taxes.

John Wayne, the movie man, will reportedly get $666,666.67 for 14 weeks of acting in a new picture. Is the 67 cents for aspirin, or was that thrown in so he'd have something left after taxes?

Christ Gives what we Need, not what we Want.

John 6:33: "For the bread of God is that which comes down from Heaven and gives life to the world."

"For want of bread the people riot." Here is a statement that can be written over the pages of history and, in a sense, could describe the actions of men for the past ages and today. The best example of this would be the French Revolution.

Today Communism seeks to take over the hungry nations of the world providing them with food and other necessities. For people riot, and attempt in this way to get bread for their bodies, thinking that will make them happy. If this is true, America should be the happiest nation in the world. But this is not true. It is not true because man needs more than physical bread to make him happy—he needs the bread of life. This is not what man seeks with his best efforts or what he wants with all his heart, but it is what he needs.

That is what Jesus is talking about here. Because Jesus had given these five thousand meat and bread (verses 1-14) these people were willing to make Jesus their leader. But Jesus did not come to furnish man with food for his stomach. He came to give Himself for man. He came to give Himself for the sins of mankind.

It was the opposite that these people wanted. They wanted Him to furnish food miraculously. They also wanted Him to heal them when they were sick. They selfishly wanted Jesus to be their leader alone, so that they would never have to fear a thing. We, today, try to limit Jesus only to things we want. But Jesus is not to be limited. He has a greater job. He furnishes the need of all mankind.

He died upon a cross to furnish this need—the forgiveness of sins. For without this, man would linger senselessly upon this earth. Around him would be turmoil; within him would be guilt; and before him would be uncertainty and damnation. But Jesus died for man that he might be spared of an uncertain existence. Jesus has furnished the need for us as human beings. In addition to providing for the cure of our sins, He provides strength for the weak, comfort to the sad, and rest to the weary. Have you found this cure for your needs? Go to Him; He will help you with your needs.

Prayer: We give Thee thanks for all that Thou has given us, O Lord. Ever guide us to seek Thee for our needs. Thou alone has the answer. Thou art ever near, be Thou our help in every time of need. Amen.

TELEPHONE TALK

PARTY-LINE SERVICE

Party-line service is good telephone service when the line is shared equally and thoughtfully.

Think of the other families on your line as telephone neighbors. They probably use their service just as you do—making calls to help the household run smoothly, and calls to keep in touch with relatives and friends.

By considering the telephone habits and needs of others on your party line just as you'd like them to consider yours, you can help set up a partnership that will give each user his fair share of service.

The ABC of satisfactory service for all party liners is simply this: Always Be Considerate.

LUXURIOUS—BUT NOT A LUXURY

Got a telephone for your bedroom, yet? Nothing tops a bedroom telephone for real luxury living. When I'm home using ours, I like to stretch out on the bed with the phone cradled between my shoulder and my ear. I can relax and really talk that way.

There are plenty of good, practical reasons for having a bedroom phone, too. Privacy, for example. And women often say how reassuring it is to have a phone at their bedside when they're alone in the house at night. It's much nicer to be able to "reach" to answer instead of having to dash to another room.

Here in Slaton, a bedroom extension costs only $1.00 a month plus installation. And for a one-time charge of only $10, you can have your choice of any of the nine beautiful color telephones. They're especially smart for bedrooms.

EASY WAY TO KEEP IN TOUCH

I guess at one time or another, we all remember—out of a clear sky—someone we haven't thought of in a long time. "Whatever happened to George?" we say. Or to Ruth, or the Browns, or the Martin family. Usually it's someone we really mean to keep in touch with—like the couple who used to live next door, or old friends in faraway places. But with so much on our minds and so much to do, the months fly by and we never get around to it.

The quick, easy way to make up for lost time is, of course, to use your telephone.

A long distance phone call is the personal, thoughtful way of keeping in touch with those you care about. Try a call tonight, and you'll see what I mean.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER

(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

Antelopes blank Tigers 32-0 here Friday

—by Deen Jackson
Scoring in the opening minutes of the game, the Abernathy Antelopes moved to a 32-0 victory over the Slaton Tigers Friday night in Tiger Stadium. Behind the passing of John Brown and the running of Danny Miller they moved the ball without any trouble. Pat Adamek and Wayne Banks stood out in a losing effort for the Tigers.

Slaton received the initial kickoff, moved the ball to the 4 yard line. Two line plays went to the 10 yard line, then on third down a quick-kick was short and Abernathy took over in the Tiger 28.

ON THE FIRST play Aubrey Smith for the Antelopes moved the ball to the 15 yard line; and a 15 yard penalty moved the ball back to the 30 yard line. Two tries at the line made a yard, a pass was dropped, and on 4th down Adamek intercepted a pass on the 15.

The Tigers' Gail Smith fumbled on their first play, and Abernathy recovered the ball on the 15. A pass made 11 yards for an Antelope first down on the 6, and on the next play Aubrey Smith went over left tackle for the TD. A pass attempt for the point after was not good.

SLATON MOVED the ball back to the 37 yard line on the kickoff, followed by two plays

TWO MORE PLAYS picked up another first down on the 40 yard line in Abernathy territory. Sanders threw a pass which was intercepted and the Antelopes carried it back to their 32 yard marker.

Five plays by the Antelopes moved the ball to the Tiger 47, where Danny Miller crashed over center for 47 yards and the six points. Try for extra points was unsuccessful.

The Tigers took the ball on their own 17 following the kickoff and made two yards.

Howard Limmer quick-kicked 50 yards to the Antelope 32, where the Antelopes moved the ball to the 44 in four plays. Seven yards were lost in a reverse play, and a pass fell incomplete on fourth down.

IT TOOK THE Tigers five plays to move the ball to the 15 yard line, where a penalty moved the ball back to the 20, where it remained when the first half ended.

To start off the second half Abernathy took the kickoff, ran three plays and punted. Safety man James Cole fumbled the ball on the Tiger 37, and Abernathy recovered the fumble.

ABERNATHY MADE two first downs, which took the ball to the 14 yard line, where a personal foul against Slaton moved the ball on the one yard line. The Antelopes' Miller took the ball over into the end zone. Again, the attempted extra point was not gained.

Slaton took the ball on their own 22, made eight yards in three tries at the line, and Adamek punted the ball to the Antelope 41.

THREE PLAYS netted the Antelopes 13 yards and a first down on the Tiger 46. On the first play of this series Brown hit Miller with a pass and he carried the remaining yards for the touchdown. The point attempt was not good, and the score stood at 24-0.

Slaton took the ball on their own 28, and in six plays had moved the ball to their own 47, where Adamek punted to the Antelope 24.

MILLER MADE one yard over right guard, when on the next play Brown went back to pass, was rushed, and threw wild. Adamek intercepted for the Tigers and moved the ball back to the Abernathy 45.

Smith gained three yards over right tackle, Adamek fumbled for a three yard loss, and Gary Ward, who had come in for Sanders at the quarterback slot, fumbled with Abernathy recovering on the Tiger 49.

SEVEN PLAYS later, with the aid of a personal foul, Abernathy scored from the seven, with Smith carrying that distance for the score.

The Tigers received the kickoff, and in seven plays had moved the ball to their own 39. Adamek punted at this point, and the Antelopes took the ball on their own 32.

Miller gained two yards over guard; Brown passed to Atbury, who caught the ball on the Tiger 30 and outraced a Tiger defender to the goal line. The play covered 62 yards.

The point attempt was good, bringing the score to 32-0. The game ended a few plays later with the Tigers on the Antelope 37 yard line.

Her veil of silk illusion outlined with French lace fell from a tiara of seed pearls and white sequins. She carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses atop a white Bible.

Barbara Gray from Olton was her cousin's maid of honor. She was dressed in a pale pink satin brocade sheath dress with an overskirt of pale pink illusion.

Her tiara was of white seed pearls and crystalline and her flowers were white carnations.

Steve and Tommy Donaldson of Andrews, nephews of the bride, lighted the candles and Bob Donaldson from Olton and Don Donaldson from Andrews, brothers of the bride, were ushers. Fred Stigualde, uncle of the bride-groom, was best man.

Changes in way of living reflected in changes of agriculture economy

—by J. P. Brown, Vocational Agriculture Teacher, Slaton High School

(Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles in which Mr. Brown will discuss the importance of agriculture in our educational system and in our society.)

Thirty years ago a most remarkable model "A" automobile was made in Detroit. It captivated the American people. This automobile was a tough, long-legged car possessing many of the virtues and a few of the vices of the model "T" it replaced. The simple mechanism of the model "A" made it possible for any shade tree mechanic to repair it with only a knuckle-busting wrench, a pair of pliers, and an adequate supply of baling wire. The simplicity and economy of operation caused it to be sold by the millions. But, impossible as it seems, within a period of 12 years the model "A" became obsolete. Times, roads, and economic conditions changed. The vehicle belonged to yesterday—the good old days.

THE ANTIQUATION of this automobile did not deny the American people a means of transportation. Such antiquation merely resulted in changed cars. The importance of the automobile as a means of transportation was not decreased.

Changes such as have occurred in the automobile industry have been and are occurring in the field of education—especially in the field of agriculture education. High school vocational agriculture programs are in the midst of a changing situation. To meet these new demands and to keep abreast of the times, it becomes necessary to reorganize and change the agriculture education programs.

It is true that change and progress sweep away many good and cherished things. We may deplore the change from an agrarian economy to an industrial economy, such as we are now experiencing, but we cannot stop it.

Let us take a look at some of the agricultural changes that are occurring in Texas and the United States that are effecting our agricultural industry and our high school vocational agricultural programs.

1. POPULATION CHANGES. Our rural population is declining. Only 13 per cent of the nation's population are needed to produce the food and fiber needed by the remaining 87 per cent of the population. It has been predicted that in the very near future only five per cent of the population will be required to produce the food and fiber needed by the remaining population.

2. INDUSTRIAL CHANGES. The nations of the world are highly industrialized and are becoming more so. Industry will continue to attract large numbers of rural youth and adults. Of the nation's five million farmers, over one million have incomes of less than $1,000 per year. Texas has 1.8 million farmers and many thousands of these have annual incomes of less than $1,000. These people cannot and will not stay on farms. Politically, we have abandoned the idea of helping them remain "down on the farm." Educationally we can assist them to make the transition from rural to urban living.

3. CHANGES IN farm sizes. The number of large size farms and small size farms in the United States is increasing. Because of various economical reasons it has become necessary for full time farmers to increase the size of their farms in order to have an economical farming unit. Too, because of the increasing number of part-time farmers, the number of small size farms have increased. The number of small size farms will no doubt increase as we become more highly industrialized. Many people employed in industry maintain a small part-time farming operation in order to supplement their income and to maintain a rural-urban type of living.

4. PRODUCTION CHANGES. Automation is just around the corner for agriculture. Mechanization has enabled agriculture to crowd 200 years of progress into the last 10 years. Such progress has resulted in an increased amount of leisure time for rural people. We have not yet learned to use this leisure time wisely. For example, we have literally hundreds of thousands of teen-agers on farms and in cities with nothing to gainfully occupy their time.

5. CHANGES IN behaviour of youth. As a result of many Socio-economic changes, we have a distressed and confused generation of youth. J. Edgar Hoover states that, "Teen-age crime is the most pressing problem in America today." According to E. V. Walton, head of the Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M, juvenile delinquency increased 36 per cent in 1956 in the United States. Rural or small town juvenile delinquency increased 58 per cent during the same period. Rural youth may not be as "mean" as their city cousins, but the frequency of rural delinquency is almost twice that of city delinquency. Such an increase in delinquency among rural youth is probably due to their mobility—i.e., the ease with which they can get from one place to another. Too, they read and are influenced by news papers, television, and radio. If an epidemic of vandalism occurs in Chicago on Saturday, it can, because of modern communication media, become common talk in Texas or Georgia by Monday.

This quick look around the corner of tomorrow calls for a bold new look at our educational program in vocational agriculture and an examination of the ways in which the program has kept pace with the agricultural changes that have occurred. We should also look at the program and examine the means by which the program proposes to cope with conditions that are expected to arise in the future. (Next week Mr. Brown will discuss "Vocational Agriculture and Scientific Farming.")

Don't be a statistic!

According to highway safety authorities, most serious automobile accidents happen at night. Poor visibility is an important cause.

Now that the days are getting shorter, it's a good idea to make sure that your car's headlights are properly focused and bright enough, and that your taillights and turn indicators are functioning properly. Your Phillips 66 Dealer will be glad to help you keep the lighting equipment on your car in top condition. Also, he has the fuses and sealed-beam units to fit your car.

If you possibly can, try to arrange your tips so that night-driving is kept to a minimum. When driving is unavoidable, take it easy, and the first time your eyelids get heavy, pull over to the side and get some rest. The life you save may be your own!

Homeowning Can Be Hazardous Too!

The racing car driver knows the hazards of his profession because his life depends on it.

But too often the homeowner may not be fully aware of the hazards he faces—an overloaded circuit, a careless match, or a spark from a neighbor's burning trash, could leave his home in ruins.

A tornado or explosion could wipe out his home and property.

Put your mind at ease today. Call an expert who knows ALL the hazards of homeowning. Call your local Capital Stock agent for a thorough analysis of your property insurance needs.
