OLD SETTLERS' REUNION WILL BE BIG AFFAIR

Slaton Stores to Close Friday Afternoon; To Have Fine Program.

The first annual Old Settlers' Reunion, which will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the Igo Ranch, five miles north of Slaton, will be one of the biggest entertainment events that this part of the South Plains has ever seen...

Slaton business firms will close Friday afternoon to allow the business people to attend the reunion, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. Lee Green, secretary of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Arrangements have been made by the Chamber of Commerce here to have speakers for the morning and afternoon programs, and bands will play for these programs, too, it is announced.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Technological College, is scheduled to speak at 1:30 o'clock on Friday afternoon, the day when Slaton business firms will close.

At 10:30 o'clock Friday morning, the old fiddlers' contest will be held.

Rodeo contests and plenty of entertainment of all kinds has been promised for the entire three days by H. A. Johnson, manager of the reunion plans.

Thousands of visitors from all parts of West Texas are expected, Johnson said. He stated that the reunion had been well advertised over Texas, and especially West Texas.

There will be no admission charges to enter the ranch grounds where the reunion will be held, Johnson has announced. Plenty of shade, water, and other conveniences are offered for campers and picnickers, according to Johnson.

Norfleet Horses May Enter Races

Bob Norfleet, of the Norfleet Bros. Ranch near Hale Center, was in Slaton Sunday endeavoring to make arrangements to enter the Norfleet Bros. race horses in the races during the Old Settlers' Reunion which is to be Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week at the Johnston Ranch, six miles northwest of Slaton.

A great treat is in store if arrangements are successfully completed for these horses to enter the races.

Box Supper at Club House is Postponed

On account of the Old Settlers' Reunion this week, which would interfere with the success of the event, the Cradle Roll Department of the First Baptist church Sunday school has postponed the box supper which was to have been held at the Slaton Club House on Friday night of this week.

HENRY JARMAN AND FAMILY LEAVE ON VACATION TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wilhite have returned to their home here after an extended trip to various points in Texas during the past month.

Series of Meetings To be Conducted By Presbyterian

COL. GUY GREEN.

On Wednesday, July 24, at the First Presbyterian Church, there will be a series of services, which are to be led by Col. Guy Green, of Kansas City, Mo., and which will continue until August 4th.

Mr. Green is not an ordained, but a lay preacher, who has been engaged in religious work for several years in the southwest, and has been very successful in his work because of his strong personality.

Col. Green's message will appeal to the men of the city because of his sympathy and understanding of their problems.

Mr. and Mrs. Sone Go to Stanton to Make Home There

C. L. Sone, superintendent of the Slaton public schools for the past seven years, left early Saturday with Mrs. Sone on their way to Stanton, where they will make their home.

L. T. Green, of Levelland, was recently elected superintendent of the Slaton school system to succeed Mr. Sone.

PRESIDENT HOOVER'S FIRST MEETING WITH NEW FARM BOARD

David Lawrence, Washington Editor and Publisher, via radio, reports the first meeting of President Hoover with the newly appointed Farm Board.

The President's address was very short, his final statement was to the effect, "In selecting this board I have sought for suggestions from the many scores of farmers' co-operative and other organizations and yours were the names most universally commended; you are thus in a sense the representatives of organized agriculture itself."

Picnic Planned For American Legion Post, Aug. 2

Last Friday evening some seventeen members of the local post of the American Legion met in regular monthly meeting at the club house.

Following vote of the post to provide a display case to house the trophies, recently received by the post, Post Commander Dan L. Les appointed L. A. Wilson chairman of a committee to see that a suitable case or rack is made.

Not a dissenting voice was heard when a suggestion was made that the local post have a picnic or other form of entertainment, place to be announced later, on Friday night, August 2.

Lemonade was served during the meeting through the kindness of the jovial Post Finance Officer, Henry Jarman.

The regular meeting night of the post is on the second Friday night, and every ex-service man in this section should make an effort to join this organization as it is the one organization that is continuously working for them.

Hurt in Fall At Sanitarium

Claude Edwards was painfully injured last Thursday evening while plastering a wall at the new sanitarium building under construction in west Slaton.

Edwards was high on a ladder which broke and slung him to the floor.

He was rushed to the Lubbock Sanitarium where it was found he had received a fractured arm and minor bruises.

At the last report he had returned to Slaton and was rapidly recovering.

CHIEF OF POLICE ABEL ARRESTS GARZA COUNTY BOYS

Three boys from Post were arrested by Chief of Police T. J. Abel, complaints being filed against them for the theft of a wheel and casing from W. W. Dial's car while parked at Slaton.

They were taken to Lubbock Thursday, where County Attorney Wilson interrogated them, and they plead guilty, Judge Bean assessed a fine of $1 and costs, and 10 days in jail.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Miles, of Luling, and their guest, Madame Stair, of Los Angeles, who is Mrs. Miles' private voice instructor, are visiting in the home of their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Stuart.

Stores to Close Friday Afternoon For Celebration

The merchants of Slaton have agreed to close their stores Friday afternoon, in order that everyone may have an opportunity to attend the Old Settlers' Reunion, which will be in session Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, July 18-19-20, at the Johnston Ranch, six miles northwest of Slaton.

"We, the merchants undersigned agree to close July 19th, 1929, Friday, at noon, for the balance of the day."

"This closing is in honor of the Old Settlers' Reunion on the Igo Ranch."

Mesdames J. K. Klasner and Hattie Huges were hostesses at a lovely luncheon Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Klasner, honoring Mesdames C. O. Jordan of Los Angeles, William Adams and L. Oden of Pecos, who are visiting relatives and friends here.

Visitors Honored With Luncheon

Those enjoying the occasion were Mesdames S. S. Forrest, Lillian Butler, W. R. Lovett, A. G. Taggart, Z. B. Dally, L. V. Lienhart and L. A. Porter of Marceline, Mo., also little Misses Marguerite and Charlotte Jordan and the honorees.

Mrs. R. J. Murray Reported Better

Mrs. R. J. Murray, who has been seriously ill at her home in Lubbock for the past week, is reported to be somewhat improved this morning (Tuesday).

Her mother, Mrs. W. H. Proctor, and sister, Mrs. W. E. Olive, have returned to their homes here.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS VOTED ON TODAY

Supplies have been distributed to the various voting precincts in Lubbock county. The constitutional amendments to be voted upon by the State of Texas, cover an increase of salary for the governor, from $4,000.00 to $10,000.00, and the increase of membership of the supreme court from 3 to 9.

Increase in Mileage Nearly Double; Larger Number of Employees Here is Seen as Probability.

Vocal Quartet, Debate Feature Rotary Luncheon

A vocal quartet and a debate were the main features of the program of the Slaton Rotary Club's luncheon last Friday at the Slaton Club House.

Two vocal quartet numbers were given by Allan J. Payne, Walter E. Olive, Claude F. Anderson and Tom J. Abel.

The subject of the debate was, "Is the Government's Present Policy of Wholesale Deportations of Mexicans Wise?" Walter B. Hestand and P. G. Stokes were scheduled to discuss the question, but in the absence of both speakers, T. E. (Rod) Roderick and Roy A. Baldwin made extemporaneous speeches.

Jerry Clements, president of the Lubbock club, was a visitor at the meeting and made a short talk. Other Lubbock visitors were: R. F. Bayless, A. W. May and Joe Nislar. Slaton visitors were Dr. M. C. Overton, Jr., Harvey Austin, city secretary, and L. T. Green, recently elected superintendent of the Slaton public school system. E. A. Tusha, of Amarillo, was a visitor.

The program for next Friday will begin with a fiddler's solo by Will P. Florence. T. E. (Rod) Roderick will speak on "Facts About the American Constitution." A recitation, "The Ship of State," will be given by Ben G. Holloway.

An effort will be made to get all members of the Slaton Rotary Club to attend the final program of Boy Scouts at the Post Camp next Friday afternoon. However, the regular luncheon meeting will be held at noon as usual, it was decided.

M. E. Revival Closed Sun. Nite; Church is Stronger

The Methodist Revival closed Sunday night after a series of sermons delivered by the Rev. L. A. Webb for the past two weeks.

The church as a whole was completely consecrated and strengthened in the work of the Lord, in building His kingdom on earth. Also several professed Christianity and united with the church of their choice.

The Rev. Webb delivered some wonderful messages from the Word of God during the entire two weeks.

At the Sunday morning service a crowded house listened to a beautiful, heart-stirring sermon on Heaven, taken from St. John 14:1-2-3.

Then at the closing service, Sunday evening, the Rev. Webb brought to his hearers a real message from Christ's Sermon on the Mount. A "Thou shalt love thy neighbor" sermon.

During the revival, some three hundred women attended the cottage prayer meetings. In one section the ladies voted to continue their meetings weekly with a Bible study in connection.

MRS. DEAN DIES.

Mrs. C. E. Dean, who lived six miles north of Slaton on the J. H. Brewer farm, died Friday morning in the Lubbock Sanitarium.

She has made her home for the past four years in this community with her husband and two daughters, having moved here from Paducah.

The remains were sent to Lorenzo for burial.

She is survived by her husband and three daughters. All were present for the funeral.

Announcement was made Monday from Topeka, Kans., that the Santa Fe Railway company is taking over the Orient lines, recently purchased by that company. J. R. Hitchcock, general manager of the Santa Fe, made the announcement.

The Orient line from Altus, Okla., to Alpine, Texas, a distance of between 400 and 500 miles, becomes a part of the Slaton Division of the Santa Fe, the announcement said. A. J. Cleary, former superintendent of the Orient, becomes assistant superintendent of the Slaton Division, with headquarters at San Angelo. J. A. Gillies, superintendent of the Slaton Division with headquarters at Slaton, remains in charge of the division and maintains headquarters here as before.

The Slaton Division, until the new changes were announced, contained a railway mileage of 564 miles, of which 323 miles of main line and 241 miles of branch lines were maintained. With the addition of the nearly 500 miles of new line to the Slaton Division, the mileage of the division will be nearly doubled, it is pointed out.

The changes are viewed here as indicating that an increase in the number of Santa Fe employees here will be necessary to care for office and shop needs. This, it is believed, will be one of the biggest boosts for Slaton that the city has seen for some time.

Former Slaton Boy Has Good Position

Alton Preston, who formerly made his home near Slaton, and who was a star football player on the Slaton High team for several years, has accepted a position with the Walker-Smith Grocer Co., at Pecos.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Preston, who for many years lived in the Union community, but at the present time live at Meadow.

Young Preston has many friends in Slaton who are wishing him a great success.

Rayburns Return From Encampment

Rev. and Mrs. James Rayburn and sons, John and Robert, returned Saturday from Buffalo Gap, where they attended the Annual Presbyterian Encampment, which was in session at that place last week.

They were accompanied by Mrs. W. Donald and daughter, Norma.

All report an enjoyable and instructive meeting.

Mrs. Riggs Hostess To S. S. Class

The Althea class of the Baptist Sunday school met Friday afternoon with Mrs. H. S. Riggs from 3 until 6 in a business and social meeting.

This meeting closed the attendance contest between the "Roses" and the "Daisies". As the Daisies were the losers, it was decided that they would entertain the Roses with a picnic at an early date.

At the close of the meeting, delightful refreshments were served to the following: Mesdames J. H. Jennings, Henry Jarman, R. W. Scott, Geo. Green, Wiley Martin, Geo. Payne, W. P. Abbott, B. F. Carpenter, E. R. Burns, C. C. Young, C. V. Young, H. K. Ellison, L. H. Gregory, L. D. Peables, O. T. Lovelady, H. S. Riggs and Guy Brown.—Class Reporter.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Drewry and daughters, Joan and Lee Beth, have returned from a visit with relatives at Dallas, Whitewright and Bella.

Mrs. G. H. Brown and little daughter, of Snyder, arrived in Slaton Sunday to spend the week with Brown, who is connected with advertising department of T. ite.

WHY BE PESSIMISTIC.

Jump into your gas wagon, personally make a survey of the surrounding territory adjacent to Slaton, and drive beyond, see the wonderful fields of growing crops, the outlook for a bumper crop is in evidence, no wonder the farmers are feeling more optimistic as this scene of verdure greets the eye.

Nature is achieving wonderful results, and when the Fall comes with the harvest in full swing, the farmer will be repaid many times for his labor. Then why grudge, and be pessimistic, when the future holds so much of good, ninety per cent of the things we dwell on never happen. No calamity is upon us, but in the future all holds well for a prosperous season.

DRYING UP THE SPRINGS THAT FERTILIZE LOCAL BUSINESS.

Short sighted to the extreme are many of the great corporations, which require that money collected throughout the country, instead of being left on deposit in local banks to furnish a basis of credit for local business, be rushed to New York, sometimes by wire and at other times by air mail or fast express, in order that it may be utilized in supporting the stock operations of Wall Street speculators. The heads of the corporations responsible for this action do not seem to comprehend that through this system they are destroying the prosperity of the very communities on which their own prosperity depends.

Even chain stores in a city as large as Baltimore are being required to send their money promptly to New York. In some of the smaller places throughout the county, the banks in which local money has been deposited are required to wire the money to New York office of these chain stores. A banker recently told the editor of the Manufacturers Record that one of the big insurance companies of New York last year spent $25,000.00 for the purpose of having money, collected at its various branch offices throughout the country, wired to New York.

Are the people responsible for this condition so short-sighted, so narrow-visioned and so thoughtless of general prosperity upon which their prosperity must inevitably depend in the end, they cannot see that in this way they are drying up the springs which should irrigate and fertilize the prosperity of the local communities in which this money is paid to the insurance agencies, to the chain stores and to other interests? This condition is as bad as to expect a cow to furnish an abundant supply of milk even when all food has been taken from her, leaving her no sustenance from which to create milk.

The situation is so lamentable and of such extreme importance to the country that, unless some plan is found to overcome this difficulty, an entirely new banking system may have to be devised by which money will remain dispersed throughout the country and not be concentrated in the vast centers of wealth. This enormous business of the insurance companies, of the chain stores and all kindred organizations, absorbing a very large proportion of the entire money of the country, may in the end prove disastrous to national prosperity unless the men at the head of these organizations are wise enough to alter their policy of drawing money away from the country into the great maw of Wall Street's absorbing power for the temporary gain of lending on call at exorbitant rates of interest. If the Federal Reserve Board cannot meet this situation, then some new financial system must be devised to save the country from this dynamic power for evil.—From the Manufacturers Record, Baltimore.

SMALL TOWN EXPERIENCE.

He may not know how to conduct himself around the lobby of a big hotel. He may not appear at ease at some social function. He may not know when to tip and when not to tip, how to hold his little finger at an afternoon tea, or all about the latest "ism" discussed by some so-called cultural society.

But don't imagine for a moment that he, your boy, is handicapped in the race for success because he is country bred. He has learned much that the city bred boy will never know, and the knowledge he has acquired seems to have an enormous long term value in the business world. A big New York banker recently attributed his success to the fact that he was country bred and had acquired his early banking experience in a small town bank. Almost all prominent city lawyers first put their shingles up on Main Street of some small town. Many prominent journalists first saw type lice in country print shops.

No, this is not a mere matter of chance, not due to the fact alone that the country bred boy has learned to work in youth, not that he has fewer distractions from his work and studies.

It is due primarily to the superior value of early experience in a small institution. The country boy who goes into the local bank learns all the angles of banking. The city boy who goes into a big bank learns one or two things well—he may always make a good subordinate but never an able executive because his experience is too limited.

The country boy opens up a small law office. Soon he is handling everything from justice court collection work to important cases before the circuit court. The city boy goes into a big law firm. He specializes on certain work for his firm, but he lacks general experience. The all around experience in a country newspaper office is likewise of enormous value to the budding journalist.

There may be a few things that the country bred boy may not know when he goes out into the world to accumulate his fortune. But there are many other things that he has learned that are of much greater value in the mart for able men.

Dignity.

What is dignity? Affected dignity, with which we are dealing, is a cloak or mantle worn to hide defects.

What are the defects, generally? Lack of qualities that the wearer presumes well balanced people possess.

Do these mantles hide the defects? No. They only serve to emphasize them, so that sensible people know to look for them.

Is anyone ever impressed by dignified manners? Only the simple who would act dignified themselves but don't know how, or cannot get their facial expressions to behave.

Is there anything so disgusting as to see rich people rear back on their dignity?

Yes, to see would-be-rich people pretend to have the dignity to rear back on.

That, I believe, is about the general attitude toward affected dignity.

People who are really great, do not need to impress you with their greatness, greatness takes care of itself, besides they are not of a nature to want to impress you; and that is one of the reasons why they do not need to. They have a tender feeling for humanity, and want everyone to feel at ease in their presence.

But the dignified party does not care how many are awed and embarrassed by their mighty presence. The greater the number the greater the glory.

I have heard people exclaim, after seeing some famous person, "Why, they were as common as old shoe." Not realizing that one of the principle characteristics of famous people is their simplicity of manners.

It is the nature of greatness to shield, rather than harm or hurt the feelings of weaker beings. I could act belligerent toward Gene Tunney or Jack Dempsey, with greater safety than I could toward another little runt like myself. The runt would want to bash in my head, but Tunney or Dempsey would only feel sympathy.

A WATCHMAN.

METHOD OF ELIMINATING PREJUDICE.

As long as there are men on this earth, there will be prejudice, but the degree of prejudice may be reduced. The only way that this can be accomplished is by conversion of the world to the scientific attitude.

This is the doctrine, we may call it, that is preached from beginning to end in all the science courses taught in universities and colleges. When it is referred to, there is meant a looking into every situation that comes up before us for observation without having previously decided what our financial decision is to be.

When one thoroughly adopts this attitude then, and then only, will prejudice from that person's mind disappear. The best example that can be given of a lack of the scientific attitude is that of the juror who has decided the guilt or innocence of the defendant even before the evidence is presented by either side of the case. Without the scientific attitude, a man cannot serve on a jury and render a true decision of the case.

He must be able to lay everything aside except that which pertains to the case and to make his decision in accordance with that which is presented before him. So it is with us in our daily life. We should not be impervious to points brought up in opposition to our theories, but should consider them and if they are better, then we should adopt them.—Daily Lariat.

FARMING IS A SCIENCE.

Once upon a time we found it easy to discuss farm problems with the farmers of our territory. Times have changed, however. Today the farmer's talk deals in balanced rations, proteins, vitamins, various formulas of commercial fertilizers, soil analysis and a thousand and one other matters sounding highly technical and scientific.

The average farmer of today probably knows as much about the science of agriculture as did the typical college professor of a few years back. And with this theory and science, we also find him in possession of a practical knowledge that keeps him face to face with realities.

Farming has ceased to be an occupation for strong backs and weak minds. It has become a technical, scientific pursuit, and the man who fails to realize this is the perfect rube regardless of where he may make his home.

COOPERATION NOW AIDS 2,000,000

Two million farmers are organized into 12,000 associations in the United States for the purpose of marketing their products or buying their supplies, or doing both, on a cooperative basis, according to the United States Department of Agriculture. Last year they sold collectively farm products to the value of nearly $2,000,000,000 and they purchased farm supplies to the value of nearly a half-million dollars.

These cooperatively minded farmers are scattered throughout the 48 states. They are particularly numerous in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, New York, and in the states along the Pacific coast.

Nearly one-third of the farmers engaged in buying or selling together are members of farmers' elevator associations, and about one-fifth belong to cooperative creameries, cheese factories, or milk-marketing associations. Nearly 150,000 are interested in the cooperative ginning or marketing of cotton. About 50,000 farmers are selling poultry products cooperatively, and about 25,000 are acting collectively in marketing their annual wool clips.

Nearly one half of the farmers participating in cooperative activity are members of more than one organization.

Lease Extended To Aug. 3

We are more than glad to announce to our many friends and customers that we have been granted an extension of time on our building until Saturday night, August 3. This has been made possible through the failure of the new firm which is to occupy the building to get their new stock of goods here before the early part of next month. Following the ready response on your part we are determined to give you the advantage of the additional time by offering you still greater values. Saturday night, Aug. 3, will positively be the last opportunity to buy merchandise at the prices we are offering. All goods on hand at the close of this sale will be boxed and moved out to make way for the new firm. We advise you to read the following prices and to buy what you will need the balance of this year. Visit our store often. Bring your friends with you. You are always welcome.

When we have nothing else in life for which to be glad, we can be glad that the necessity of work was not taken from us by an excess of wealth, nor the ability to work by disease and helplessness.

Within us lurks the love of indolence and an irresponsible life that has landed many in the mire of utter worthlessness; and only those who must be inactive can realize fully the blessedness of any sort of work—even that which we impatiently scorn as drudgery.

From Denver, Colo.

J. C. Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harris, who live near Slaton, is among the Slaton boys who are attending the summer training camp at Ft. Logan and writes the following description of his trip for The Slatonite:

"Since leaving Slaton, my home town, I've seen many places and sights of interest about which I've studied and read during the good old school days spent in Slaton.

"There are many marvelous pictures which greet the eye wherever one may linger among the mountains of the great centennial state, but no trip to Colorado is complete unless one has stood on the summit of Pike's Peak and beheld the glory of this beautiful snow-capped mountain. The scenery is beyond words to describe.

"Among other places I've visited and one that lingers in my mind is Buffalo Bill's grave on Lookout Mountain. Here John Simmons and I had our pictures made with the flag floating above our heads.

"Having been reared on the plains of the Panhandle of Texas and never knowing anything about the mountains or timbered sections of our country, I will have to admit that I've looked in amazement as I've beheld the wonderful scenery and lofty hills of Colorado.

"I cannot find words to describe all the different sights I have seen so will just say, you Slaton people, come up and visit Denver.

"The environment is altogether different from that of Texas and for that reason I shall be glad to return to the good old Lone Star State when the summer is ended. I am hoping to enter Simmons University in September.

"To my Slaton friends,
J. C. HARRIS."

TIME EXTENDED FOR ADJUSTED COMPENSATION

"The American Legion has learned that several World War Veterans in this state have neglected applying for their Adjusted Compensation Certificates. These veterans will incur serious financial loss if they do not apply before the closing date of January 2, 1930. Should the veteran, who has failed to apply, die, his dependents will suffer substantial loss in the amount of the Adjusted Certificate should they make application."

This statement calling upon veterans to apply for their adjusted compensation certificates before it is too late was made today by Dan Liles, Post Commander of the American Legion here.

"In one of the greatest legislative endeavors in its history, The American Legion obtained enactment of the Adjusted Compensation act benefiting all veterans of the World War. The law became effective May 19th, 1924, which allowed ample time for all veterans to take advantage of the offer. This Legion measure provided for adjustment in pay for veterans of the World War of $1 for each day of home service and $1.25 for each day of overseas service between the dates of April 5, 1917, and July 1, 1919. No credit was allowed for sixty days of service or less and if the sum was less than $50 it was paid to the veteran immediately in cash. The Adjusted Compensation Certificates resemble very much an endowment insurance policy and are payable at the end of twenty years after issuance. They have a cash loan value after the second year that increases annually. Regional offices of the United States Veterans Bureau loan on the certificates to the veterans.

"The Legion learned that many veterans had failed to take advantage of this Federal bonus when the closing day for filing under the original act arrived. For the benefit of the tardy ones, the Legion obtained an amendment to the World War Adjusted Compensation Act effective December 31, 1927, which extended the time in which veterans might apply to January 2, 1930. The closing date for application is again approaching and it seems improbable that the time limit will be extended beyond January 2, 1930."

"Some very sad cases of veterans who, through carelessness, failed to apply for adjusted compensation have been called to the Legion. To obtain the maximum benefit under this adjusted compensation act, a veteran must make application himself. If deferred until after his death, dependents of the veteran, upon making application, do not receive nearly as much as though the veteran had applied.

"Adjusted service compensation has nothing to do with Government life insurance or compensation for disability, and the same veteran may receive all of them.

"Adjusted compensation certificates have been issued to 3,403,044 veterans to the value of $3,453,124,107. Veterans entitled to $50 or less under the act were paid in cash $4,386,406.70. A sum of $32,492,423,102 was paid to dependents of veterans who had died. Of the veterans applying 61,561 have died and their beneficiaries received a total of $62,575,198. Loans have been obtained by veterans on their certificates to a total of 935,015, in the amount of $91,282,273.26. These benefits have been derived by all veterans making application as part of the relief program of the American Legion.

"Application blanks, assistance in filling them out, and full information regarding the Adjusted Compensation Act may be obtained from the nearest Legion post or from the Regional Office, United States Veterans Bureau, nearest the home of the veteran."

WHIPPET FOUR BEATS CLASSY FIELD IN AUKLAND RACES

Since the introduction of the original Whippet four-cylinder model three years ago, it has established an outstanding reputation for its speed, stamina and roadability. Even in its initial year it was subjected to numerous tests in stock car races and hill climbs in every section of the country and because of its remarkable performance, quickly became the center of attraction among the cars in the lower priced field.

Not alone did it prove its ability to cope with cars even far beyond its price class in this country but it continues to maintain the reputation it has held for three years in the foreign countries.

The latest accomplishment of a Whippet four was in three races against twelve other cars of both American and European make in a race program at Auckland, N. Z. Entered in three of the events, the Whippet Four captured two firsts and one second, even though pitted against six cylinder cars, several of which had been specially equipped for increased speed. The car that won the race in which the Whippet finished second was an American built car of six cylinders selling in the $1500 price class.

The races were run over a mile and a half track, the major event, which was won by the Whippet Four, being a distance of 10 laps or 15 miles.

In the two races which the Whippet crossed the finish line ahead of the pack, it obtained the lead at the very start of the race because of its fast pick-up and getaway and never gave way to any of the other entries. Because of its low center of gravity the Whippet was able to round the curves with safety at full speed whereas the other cars were forced to slow down.

The Whippet that showed the way home to its classy field of competitors in these races was a strictly stock model except for a change in carburetor and an exhaust manifold and the construction of a small racing body. Otherwise the car was the same as the thousands that already are in the hands of the driving public.

A Subtler Gallantry.

Which of these "Zeppers," Will Win?

We've started a Zeppelin Race here—each of the "pilots" has been assigned to a pony blimp.

Depends on their sales of Goodyear tires and tubes how far they travel each day. The winners will take some nice prizes.

In addition we're all members of a crew which is manning a big "Zeppelin" in a race between Goodyear dealers throughout the United States. We hope to bring our ship in first and capture some of the prizes and honors Goodyear offers.

Your help will be appreciated. With better service and better values we'll strive our best to repay you. Drop in and get the particulars.

A HOT TIME IN LITTLE AFRICA

The peacefulness of the Sabbath was broken by the report that there was a race riot in Little Africa, at about 12:30, a call reached the City Hall where Chief of Police Abel was on duty. Making a hurried exit the Chief started for the scene of carnage, noticing the Doctor who alleviates Payne, he was pressed into service. Upon their arrival at the place of action, the law and medical profession, were supplemented by the black cross. While the report in part was true, as to a race riot, it was found to be between two members of the dusky race.

Fortunately, this was not a case of one messing around with the other's sweetie, but all caused from laughter.

John Allen, who runs a cafe, barber shop and rooming house, took exceptions to the mirth created by the falling from the second story of his building, of a personage from old Mexico, with his shirt tail flapping in the summer breeze. One (Dick) Morris Branford produced the laughter. Allen wanted to know, why you all are laughing at one of my customers. Dick said, "I see got a right to laugh all I want to, and you all can't stop me." This brought on trouble. Allen took the law into his own hands and produced his trusty shotgun, and Dick got a pistol, and they proceeded to display their marksmanship. Dick fired five times and failed to hit the mark. Allen gave his shot with telling effect, by hitting the mark, that being the left shoulder of Dick. The Medical Profession was kept busy extracting 410 No. 6 shot and giving first and second aid to the injured.

Sheriff Wade Hardy and his lieutenant O. B. Conley appeared and gathering up the fragments, took Allen into custody and gave him a joy ride to the county bastille at Lubbock. Doctor Payne reported none killed, with one casualty.

Chief Abel, not being satisfied, having a pretty acute nose for smelling out things, decided that the mirth and laughter was brought about by something that exhilarates, after a thorough search on the premises of one C. C. Jackson, 1,000 bottles of good old home brew were discovered. Jackson also runs a barber shop and cafe. The Law destroyed the brew and took into custody three black birds and one black woman. Sheriff Hardy again visited Slaton, taking his charges to the county seat. This ended the race riot in little Africa.

Paducah has broken ground for a new hotel. Charles Pruden of Bowie will build a three story fireproof hotel on some lots on the northeast corner of the public square. The hotel is expected to be ready for occupancy early in the fall.

A DAY WITH THE C. M. T. C. AT CAMP BULLIS

(Editor's Note: This is an article prepared by a visitor to Camp Bullis, some twenty miles from San Antonio, where 1,300 C. M. T. C. students, under the supervision of the Officers of the 360th Infantry, are encamped for four days target practice on the Government range. These students at the expense of the Government, journey to Fort Sam Houston, Texas, for thirty days training.)

The paramount thought in the minds of some 1,300 C. M. T. C. students this morning was: "Is it raining again?" These bright-faced lads upon folding back their tent flaps were greeted with a world so drear that it darkened the hearts of even those far older. They had gone to bed at taps, about 9:30 o'clock, and were up when the bugler blew his first call at 6.

Dippers were heard clinking against the sides of buckets as wash pans were being filled. No modern conveniences spoil this country life! These boys were just being served with conditions such as they might encounter in a national emergency; and somehow, in spite of changed conditions from those found at home, these cadets had time for laughing before breakfast.

The boys are all ready with mess kits, cups, and other utensils long before mess call is sounded. Lines of this nature move all too slowly for those who have been late in rising and dressing. The agony of waiting, however, was soon over when the mess sergeant called "Come and get it."

Then it is back to the tents to make up bunks, sweep off the floor and get a short rest preparatory to beginning the day's work. There is always a bit of policing work to do in and around the camp. Old Sol decided to help out after all and promised a perfect afternoon for range practice. Officers were busy ironing out the wrinkles which had been observed on the day previous at the pit and on the firing line.

Long lines of denim-clad figures, the working uniform of the army, form the pit detail as the afternoon brings target practice. After what seems endless waiting to these eager youths, the order comes, "Detail, attention! Forward, march!" A few steps and then comes "Double time, march! Route step, march!" A student calls, "Hey, he didn't say fly." The command, "Quick time, march!" is given, and then, even with rifles, shelter halves, and other impedimenta on their backs, the students start their yo-yos going.

Once in the pits it's all business. Targets are inspected, marking discs and stickers are issued. Officers are stationed at regular intervals to give instruction in the proper procedure.

In the meantime, the others who have been left behind at camp move out to the firing point, which is several hundred yards closer to camp. Coaches give out ammunition, scorers prepare their cards, sights are blackened to improve visibility, targets show up one by one. When everything is ready in the pits and the coaches signal ready on the firing line, the range officer gives "Fire at will"—and the war is on.

In a moment there is a crack—sing-g-g-g. Another and another follow in rapid succession, and somehow you find yourself counting as each shot is fired. In a few minutes the sound becomes natural, and you begin to watch the discs appear as the targets go up. Down the line your eyes go—a white indicating a bull's-eye, or five points scored, seems to be quite prevalent. Next in importance is the red disc, a four; a black cross on a white background, the three; and a black disc, the two. A red flag waved in front of the target signifies a complete miss. It seems surprising, when one considers that many of those boys have never fired the army rifle before, that there are so few of the latter.

As men begin to come back from the firing line, scores are passed along. Some are low, some are high, still others are higher. You find your mood changing with the repeated scores—sympathetic, cheerful, and finally, marveling at these capable youngsters. You are so absorbed that seven o'clock comes before you know it, and you find yourself marching back to camp with the boys.

You hear the boys shout comments to each other as they march back to the camp! "Jack sure did some shooting—fifty out of a possible fifty!" "Poor Jim only shot a twenty-three." "I just got a forty-five, feller—but I'll do better the next time."

Despite the fact that you know your business is in need of you, you feel as though perhaps you ought to come back to see Bill betted his forty-five, Jim learn to shoot, and to help Jack make the Camp Perry team. The fourteen high men in the Camp Perry tryout were, in the order given, W. S. Galloway, Lubbock; M. Flourney, Jasper; C. P. Erwin, Seymour; J. D. Harrison, Ft. Worth; M. K. Nugent, Chireno; J. H. Cross, Lubbock; Hugh Russell, Lubbock; J. E. Clark, Lubbock; L. Chapman, Lubbock; M. E. Staats, New Braunfels; R. H. Mimms, Ft. Worth; J. West, Jr., Harlingen; O. A. Koenig, Denton; and K. Flourney, Chireno. Five of the fourteen men listed are from Lubbock and teammates on the Texas Tech rifle team.

BABY BEEF SHOW AND SALE AT STATE FAIR

DALLAS, Texas, July 16.—Creating a new market for the West Texas rancher, and encouraging the feeding of beef cattle on black land farms of Texas, the State Fair will hold its first "Feeder Show" and auction sale during the 1929 Exposition, it has been announced by Fred P. Holland, director in charge.

More than 1,000 prize calves from West Texas ranches will be shown at the State Fair and sold to black land farmers and others to be fed for market.

The "Feeder Show" will not only open a new market for feeder stock in Texas, but is expected to encourage the growing of grain and feedstuffs on impoverished cotton lands of the state.
