MRS. DOBSON TO SAIL JULY 23RD

Another group of Gold Star mothers expect to leave New York, Wednesday, July 23, and aboard the steamer will be Mrs. Joe Dobson, of this city, who will visit the grave of her son, Private Elmer E. Dobson, buried in Oise-Ainse American cemetery at Seranges-et-Nestles, Aisne, France.

Mrs. Dobson will leave Slaton today (Friday) for New York. She will rest forty-eight hours before sailing.

Private Dobson enlisted in 1917 and was trained at Camp Travis, San Antonio. He was sent from this camp in a replacement unit and was a member of Company A, 39th Infantry, 4th Division at the time of his death which occurred between August 8 and 15, 1918, in Belleau Woods.

Dobson was born in Brooksville, Alabama, and was twenty-two years of age at the time of his death. He was unmarried.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dobson, and a brother, Bryant W. Dobson, of Slaton; a sister, Mrs. J. L. Burton, of Ambrose; and two brothers, Garnet, of New York City; and Robert, of San Antonio.

Mrs. Dobson expects to return to New York on August 23 and has made arrangements with the government to allow her to visit her son in New York for two weeks before returning to Slaton.

Rotarians Have Report On Meet Held In Abilene

A report on the District Assembly of presidents' and secretaries' of Rotary clubs of the 41st district, held last week in Abilene, was given to the Slaton Rotary club by Lloyd A. Wilson, club president, at its luncheon meeting last Friday.

Visitors at the meeting were: Don Mitchell, C. E. Hunt and J. A. Stimson, of the Lubbock club.

At the club's meeting this Friday, three speakers will be on the program. They are: J. T. Pinkston, Marvin C. Overton, Jr., and Floyd C. Rector. Each of these will talk on specific phases of the aims and objects of Rotary, it is announced by L. T. Green, chairman of the program committee for this quarter.

AUTO-VICTIM INCREASE LARGE IN MANY CITIES

Deaths from automobile accidents in 78 large cities rose to 12 per cent in the year ended June 14, as compared with the preceding year, according to a statement by the Department of Commerce. The report read in part: "The Department of Commerce announces that during the four weeks ending June 14, 1930, 78 large cities in the United States reported 647 deaths from automobile accidents. This number compares with 603 deaths during the four weeks ended June 15, 1929. Most of these deaths were the result of accidents which occurred within the city limits. . . .

"For the 52-week period, ending on June 14, 1930, and June 15, 1929, the totals for the 78 cities were, respectively, 8,744 and 7,800, which indicate a recent rate of 26.6 per 100,000 population as against an earlier rate of 23.7 or an increase of 12 per cent in the rate in a single year.

Virginia Evans is spending a few days in Plainview this week visiting her sister and other relatives.

Slaton has been selected as the permanent home of a regional poultry show for the Texas Panhandle-Plains section, including 54 counties, and the first show will be held late this year. This was definitely determined at a luncheon held Thursday at the Slaton clubhouse when representatives from various towns, cities and counties of the Panhandle-Plains area were guests of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, called here to consider the proposed formation of the regional poultry show. The attendance was about 50, about 35 of whom were from out-of-town.

The regional show includes the same territory embraced by the Panhandle-Plains Dairy show, which is held annually at Plainview, and will be conducted on lines similar to those governing the conduct of the Plainview show, so far as practicable.

Beginning with the extreme northern Panhandle, the show's territory includes all counties in that Panhandle section and coming south to Andrews county as the southwestern limit, extending eastward to and including Nolan county, and thence north again in a straight line to the northern limits of the state.

The 54 counties are: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Gray, Carson, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Seury, Fisher, Andrews, Martin, Nolan, Howard and Mitchell.

Entries for the show will be limited to these counties. It is expected that the regional show will rapidly become the outstanding poultry event in West Texas, just as the Plainview Dairy show has grown into the feature dairy attraction in this section of the state.

At Thursday's luncheon, local Chamber of Commerce officials were in charge of the informal program. T. E. Roderick in a few words extended a welcome to the guests, after which L. A. Wilson, secretary, acted as chairman of the meeting. A round-table discussion followed, with many speakers expressing their endorsement of the plan as proposed by the Slaton Chamber of Commerce and pledging their hearty cooperation in helping build up the regional show.

Sentiment of the gathering was unanimously in favor of organizing the show at Thursday's meeting. The shows temporary officers were named as follows:

The following temporary officers were elected: L. A. Wilson, chairman; Wm. A. Wilson, Lamesa, secretary; and D. F. Eaton, Lubbock, chairman of the committee on constitution and by-laws.

14 towns of the Panhandle-Plains section were represented at the luncheon and the following were in attendance: D. F. Eaton, A. B. Davis, Al Hill and G. C. Wren, Lubbock; J. H. Barron, Wm. A. Wilson, W. W. Evans, D. H. Davis, Lamesa; J. W. Hale, T. L. Kimmel, Littlefield; Miss Treva Miller, R. O. Owens and J. O. Roberts, Rotan; C. J. Van Zandt, George Samson, Knox Parr, H. J. Dietrich, Post; J. E. Shelton, R. B. Davis, John S. Powell, Brownfield, P. C. Bennett, Robert Ricks, Raymond Adkisson, Amarillo; W. T. Magee, Jas. R. Martin, Levelland; T. E. Verner, Meadow; Russell Myrick, Shallowater; R. E. Shaver, Tahoka; E. L. Tanner, J. M. Hahn, Spur; A. V. Bullock, E. E. Young, Ralls; and the following from Slaton: J. A. Elliott, T. E. Roderick, Carl W. George, Dr. W. E. Payne, Horace Hawkins, B. E. Payne, H. S. Riggs, E. L. Hicks, Dr. W. L. Huckabay, Pierce Youngblood and L. A. Wilson.

This and several other detailed plans must be worked out by the officers.

Bishop Boaz Visits Slaton Methodists

Bishop H. A. Boaz, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, visited Slaton Tuesday, in the interest of his church and making a pastoral call and holding a conference with ministers from this section.

At 11 o'clock the morning session got under way, with the church overflowing, with members of the church here, visiting ministers and others of the various churches in Slaton attending. The church auditorium was filled with a highly appreciative audience, who gave close attention to the Bishop's address. He has a very pleasing address, just the kind of an address that will appeal to the average man and woman. His theme was taken from St. Matthew, 6th chapter and 33rd verse, covering Christ's sermon on the Mount, where His exhortations was to care little for worldly things, and to seek the kingdom of God. As this particular passage states, "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you."

The Bishop still believes in the personal equation, that man must place himself in a position to enter, where he is welcomed, but after entering, to hold fast to that which is good and that which caused him to enter. Too many after entering forget those things.

It is far better that a man build for himself a spiritual kingdom, a place of future abode, than that he should become possessed with great wealth, power in the affairs of state or renown for great research.

He mightily stressed, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of Heaven, and His righteousness." Therefore take no thought, saying, What shall we eat? or, What shall we drink? or, Where-withal shall we be clothed? for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need for all these things. We would gather from his address that the true Christian is one who pays his debts, who has a cheery word for his neighbor, a lifting hand for the fallen, a kind remembrance in his devotions, to help, aid and assist those that are worried in mind, body and soul.

With a closing appeal to all that they rededicate themselves to work in His kingdom, if this were done by every man and woman in Slaton, there would be an era of good will and well doing that would sweep the earth. It was a pleasure to have heard this gentleman in his charge to his flock. We wish him much success while working in the Master's vineyard. With no emotional appeal to his hearers but just plain concise statements he must have won his listeners by his earnestness and faith in "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness."

Afternoon Session Meeting with the preachers and the laymen from this section in a conference the afternoon was given to discussion of the various problems that confront the preachers. Bishop Boaz, with many helpful suggestions outlined things that might be of a material help in solving these questions. It has been reported that a very instructive and inspiring meeting was held.

Those who attended the meetings here were: C. A. Bickley, presiding Elder of the Lubbock district, who presided at the morning session. Two from out of the district, D. B. Doak, Plainview district, and M. M. Beavers, presiding Elder of Plainview district. Pastors of the Lubbock district were: J. A. Wheeler, Abernathy; R. S. Watkins, Amherst; G. E. Turrentine, Brownfield; T. M. Johnston, Crosbyton; W. B. Gilliam, Draw; R. B. Freeman, Littlefield; J. B. Thompson, Lorenzo; H. L. Munger, First Church, Lubbock; G. B. McCollum, Asbury church, Lubbock; L. A. Webb, Lamesa; Frank Story, Morton; D. D. Dennison, Meadow; C. M. Curry, Plains; Ed A. Tharp, Post; W. R. McCarter, Ralls; Aubrey Ashley, Robertson; Preston Florence, Seagraves and Seminole; Elmer Crabtree, Southland; R. T. Breedlove, Taboka; and E. L. Naugle, Wilson.

Slaton To Send Lawn Judges To Lamesa Tuesday

The Slaton Chamber of Commerce will furnish judges to go to Lamesa next Tuesday to judge the lawns that have been entered in Lamesa's first annual lawn contest, it is announced. In return, Lamesa, will furnish judges for Slaton's fourth annual lawn contest, which is scheduled to end on August 1.

Names of the judges who will go to Lamesa have not yet been made public.

The Lamesa Chamber of Commerce called upon the Slaton chamber for this assistance, pledging to furnish judges for the local contest if Slaton would send judges there for their contest. During the year, Lamesa has been given much information by the Slaton Chamber as to methods adopted in conducting the local contest, and the Lamesa Chamber is following a plan very similar to the Slaton plan, they have said.

C. of C. Heads Attend District Cotton Meeting

W. H. Smith, president, and Lloyd A. Wilson, secretary of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, attended the meeting of farmers, business men and chamber of commerce officials held Tuesday afternoon in Lubbock to discuss plans for definite organization of this district to market cotton thru the Texas Cotton Co-Operative association, under supervision of the Federal Farm Board.

The Slaton men attended mainly to get information, they said. They reported that the meeting was enthusiastic, and that much progress is being made in preparation for handling this year's crop of cotton thru the co-op organization.

A campaign for members in the 48 counties of the district was begun Tuesday and will continue for about 30 days, it was announced. R. J. Murray, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and formerly a resident of this city, was named chairman of the drive.

C. W. Young and family spent the week-end in Canadian visiting Mr. Young's sister, Mrs. H. C. Young, who is quite ill.

Were Astonished at the Modern Equipment Installed Here

They come from Kansas, from New Mexico, these Santa Fe officials, and some of them never get away from the depot, shops and the good eats, but it was the privilege of the publisher of the Slatonite to have broken bread with two of them, and as their work is all in the interest of humanity, and of mercy, we told them that Slaton had a Mercy, and they asked what the nature of it was. Our answer, Beautiful Mercy hospital, and being so proud of this institution we invited them to be our guests and made a call. So Mr. F. W. Biddinger, trustee of the Santa Fe Railway hospital association, and Mr. A. R. Tillman, safety supervisor, who goes up and down the system preaching safety all the time, fell for the idea. We arrived at Mercy hospital and introduced the gentlemen to Sister Cecelia, who was in charge, and stated our wish that we might be conducted over the place. She very graciously consented and conducted us through the entire hospital. It was indeed a pleasure to view what Slaton possesses. These fine gentlemen were deeply interested in the equipment. After inspecting the record room, office of supervisors, utility room, linen room and diet kitchen, medical cases and the room for patients, we were escorted to where the equipment used exclusively for surgical cases are located. We visited the rooms and examined the instrument cabinets, recessed X-Ray, view boxes, Scanlan-Balfour and Nesbitt combination tables, Scalytic light, water ejector suction pump, with recessed blanket and saline warming cabinet. The sterilizing room contains a high pressure dressing sterilizer, recessed type, steam heated, one water still, one instrument sterilizer, steam and gas heated, one gas hot plate.

We visited the laboratory which contains a microscope colorimeter, centrifugal, clinical incubator, Frigidaire, with many other modern appliances. A visit to the X-Ray room disclosed all the modern Vector apparatus, including Fluoroscope and Stereoscope. In connection with the X-Ray department is the Cystoscopic room, equipped with a Braasch-Bumpus Urological, Cystoscopic and Radiographic table. After a visit to the nursery and examination of the electric incubator for premature babies, with the blending of colors in walls and draperies, and the signal equipment we again arrived at the entrance.

These gentlemen were loud in their praise of the Mercy hospital and Mr. Biddinger made the statement that "it was one of the finest he had ever visited, and its equipment far superior" and Mr. Tillman agreed with him that Slaton should be proud that an institution of this character should have been built in our city and that it should have the support of the entire community.

Naturally, this covers the citizens of Slaton and communities and the doctors as well. We heartily agree with these gentlemen, as this is all in the nature of their work and they know full well whereof they speak. When your friends visit Slaton, take them out to see Beautiful Mercy hospital, a very kind and courteous welcome awaits you by those in charge.

Townsend To Head the Morgan School

J. N. Townsend, who for several years has been superintendent of the New Hope school, eight miles west of Slaton, has been elected to head the Morgan school, eight miles south of here, for the coming year, and has accepted the place, he said here last Saturday.

During his work with the New Hope school, Mr. Townsend won the distinction of taking first prize five years in succession for his community at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair at Lubbock. He was in charge of the New Hope exhibit each year, and did not miss first place a single time during the five years.

The Way of Life

THE BIG PARADE

All this happened in one day! A twenty-three-year-old boy came into our office to apply for a job. When asked about his present occupation he said he was a parachute jumper.

"I like the work all right," he added "but parachute jumping isn't steady."

I met a mother whose son is about to graduate from college. What do you think he wants to be? A bond salesman? A movie star?

He wants to an archeologist. A man named Volk died in New York City. He claimed the distinction of having torn down more big buildings than any other man who ever lived. But he died without realizing his ambition. He wanted to live to tear down the Woolworth building.

Think of it. Six million people walking daily through the streets, each with his separate home and desire. Who would ever imagine that one of them was constantly saying to himself: "Oh, if I could only tear down the Woolworth building. That would crown my career."

A man with a noisy wife and seven grown children disappeared from his home in Brooklyn, and was discovered some months later in Hartford. Questioned as to why he left his family, he replied that he had done his duty as a father and believed himself entitled to a little peace in his old age. He had taken a job as night watchman in a deaf and dumb asylum.

Why do I take up valuable white space to set down these apparently unimportant and unrelated incidents? Because, my friends, one of the biggest and least expensive of all pleasures is reading the newspaper and marveling at the eternal freshness and variety of the human race.

Let those who are bilious rail at the "standardization of modern life." It is true that many of the things we eat and use are standardized, and living is much simplified in consequence.

But have no fear that color and interest will disappear out of the world. Every babe has in him some little spark that makes him different from every other.

Life will be always amusing to those who have sense enough to enjoy it. Practice the good and inexpensive habits of being eternally entertained by your fellow human beings. Forget about yourself for a little while every day, and enjoy the big parade.

Lubbock Housewife Says She Feels One Hundred Per Cent Better Since Taking Orgatone

"This Orgatone acts like it was made especially to fit my case," said Mrs. C. A. Walters, of 1410 Texas avenue, Lubbock, Texas.

"The fact is I haven't seen a well day for the past two years," she continued "and almost as soon as I started taking Orgatone it seemed to go right to the seat of my trouble and anyone could see that I was getting better. My stomach gave me lots of trouble and every thing I would eat would sour and cause bloating spells. I didn't have any appetite and I was weak, nervous and run-down."

"I saw Orgatone so highly advertised that I decided to try it and it has certainly been the right medicine for me. I eat everything I want and it does not bother me at all. I'm not bothered with constipation any more and feel one hundred per cent better than I did before taking Orgatone. Orgatone has saved me from a lot of suffering that no other medicine has been able to do. I am glad to recommend Orgatone."

Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Slaton at the Teague Drug Store.

Texaco Offers Motorists Superior Premium Fuel

Texaco New and Better Gasoline, of the same high quality which has distinguished this product, is being blended at The Texas company refineries with Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound, a product of the Ethyl Gasoline corporation. The combination results in a motor fuel which is second to none in the market today. Texaco New and Better Gasoline without the Ethyl compound will still be manufactured, making two grades of Texaco gasoline available to the motoring public.

About eighteen years ago, officials of the General Motors Research corporation began a series of experiments to determine the cause of engine "knocking," a phenomenon which had become more and more troublesome with the development of speedier and more powerful automobile engines. As the compression ratio of the internal combustion engine was increased, or as carbon deposition increased, this "knocking" became worse.

For many years the fault was thought to lie in some mechanical feature of the engine itself and it was not until experiments were well under way that it was found that in the case of higher compression what had been known as "engine knock" is in reality a fuel "knock." That is, as the compression ratio of the engine increases, the normal type of combustion within the cylinder suddenly changes, as is evident from the sharp, metallic "ping" can be heard. When this detonating type of fuel combustion occurs, there is a considerable increase in the amount of heat energy lost to the water jacket by radiation. Therefore, there is less heat left to do the mechanical work of the engine.

It was shown in the laboratory that the knocking could be controlled by adding iodine to the gasoline, but the use of this substance was seen to be commercially impracticable due to the cost and the relatively large quantity required to eliminate the knocking. The experiments continued and after testing more than 33,000 chemical substances, the chemist developed Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound a mixture of tetraethyl lead, ethylene bromide, halowax oil (known chemically as monochloronaphthalene) and red aniline dye.

Of the above substances, the only important ingredient, from the "anti-knock" standpoint is tetraethyl lead. This compound is twice as heavy as gasoline in any proportions and vaporizes easily and completely.

If tetraethyl lead alone were used, it would deposit lead oxide on the spark plugs electrodes and valve stems. Accordingly there is added the ethylene bromide, a colorless bromide compound which prevents the formation of lead oxide.

The halowax oil in the compound acts as a lubricant, keeping the exhaust valve stems from becoming dry. This prevents the sticking and burning of valves.

The dye is added in minute quantities simply to identify Ethyl Gasoline and to prevent its being used for any purposes other than for motor fuel. Its presence does not have anything to do with the performance of Ethyl gasoline. Ethyl gasoline should not be used for cleaning, illumination or for heating portable stoves.

Ethyl fluid, so-called, is added to gasoline in varying amounts, the maximum not exceeding a teaspoonful to every gallon of gasoline. In no case is there more than one part of tetraethyl lead to 1300 parts of gasoline.

By the addition of Ethyl Brand of Anti-Knock Compound, the outstanding advantages of Texaco New and Better Gasoline (Texaco "400") will be retained and in addition the fuel will have anti-knock properties of the highest nature.

One important characteristic of Texaco is its dryness. In other words it forms in the carburetor an active gas-air mixture which responds instantly to the spark and does not leave liquid drops of raw gasoline in the cylinder after the spark has ignited the mixture. The addition of Ethyl fluid to this high grade gasoline results in a distinctly new product, "dry" Ethyl gasoline.

Other advantages which, it should be remembered, are inherent in Texaco New and Better, may be listed briefly as follows:

1. Quick starting, due to the low boiling point and the high percentage of volatile fractions in Texaco Gasoline which ignite readily in a cold engine.
2. Fast acceleration because, being dry gasoline Texaco feeds evenly to the cylinders and prevents choking.
3. Greater mileage, since Texaco dry gasoline makes possible a leaner mixture.
4. Better lubrication because Texaco gasoline burns completely and leaves no heavy ends to dilute the oil. Furthermore, Texaco dry Ethyl gasoline provides additional economy by eliminating detonation losses.

Texaco customers will be able to identify stations selling Texaco Ethyl by means of the new sidewalk sign displays the Texaco Red Star with the Green T, linked with the yellow and black Ethyl trademark. The two are super imposed on a circular, red background. The pump is aluminum-painted and is surmounted by a globe bearing the words "Texaco Ethyl" and the "Texaco Red Star with the Green T." The pump also bears the name "Texaco" and the Ethyl trademark.

Nurse Tells How CARDUI Helped Her

Mrs. W. A. Cox, a well-known professional nurse, of Burnside, Ky., writes: "I was in very bad health, and only weighed 110 pounds. I read in the papers about Cardui, and thought I would give it a try-out. After I had taken one bottle, I could see that I was improving. After I had taken it a month or two, I began to gain, and I weigh at present 168, and have weighed that for some time. I am now 55 years old, and can do as much work as the average middle-aged woman can."

"I would advise any woman, who is weakly and in a run-down condition, to try Cardui, but not to expect one bottle to make her well. I take two or three bottles a year, now, and I feel fine."

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

tered, the park Hamilton gave the driver another order.

"There's a quiet little corner up at the northern end, where we can talk," he explained to Eve. "I've gone there several times lately to think things out."

When they reached the quiet corner he paid and dismissed the chauffeur, while Eve glanced around without interest. She had, indeed, a look that alarmed him—something of the look of an exhausted swimmer, ready to go down.

He led her to a bench and sat down beside her.

"I expected something like this, Eve," he began casually. It was the third time he had used the name, but neither of them was conscious of this. "I don't know why I expected it," he went on, "but I did. Perhaps I had what's called a 'hunch'. Perhaps I merely reasoned that your large friend's next move would be to get professional help and track you. Anyway, I was sure something was coming and I got ready for it. That's why I told you there would be no more of it. There won't be, if you will trust me and do what I suggest."

She replied only with a gesture, but it was a gesture expressing such despair that it made his throat ache. She merely raised her right hand, which lay in her lap, and dropped it again as if the effort had been too much for her; but there was eloquence in the simple action. It implied that she had come to the end of things. He had to wait a moment before he could go on.

"I'll put my plan before you," he said at last, "and I want you to hear it all before you speak. You can't continue like this. You see that yourself, clearly enough. The time has come when you must give some one else the right to protect you. So I want you to go through a marriage ceremony with me, Eve and I want you to do it right now."

"Of course it will be only a matter of form," he hurried on. "That goes without saying. But it will give me the legal right to stand between you and the world. You can drop your troubles on my shoulders and forget them; and if any large stranger comes looking for you, he'll find me ready to tell him where he gets off. By meeting him, too, I may find out who you are and all about you; and eventually, as soon as you're willing to, we'll get into touch with your family, or with your friends if you have no family."

She seemed stunned, and he was not surprised. But she asked a question that made his eyes kindle. She was actually considering his suggestion: "Would such a marriage be legal? We don't even know my name."

"Probably it wouldn't be legal in your present condition. But it doesn't matter whether it's legal or not, since it's merely a bluff for present use. The persistent gentleman who is dogging you won't know it isn't legal, any more than he knows of the other complication. I will make him, or any one else who is interested in you deal with me as your husband, until you meet some one in whom you have more faith. When you are yourself again, and all this trouble is past, I shall ask you to really marry me, and if you consent we'll have another ceremony. If you don't, we can have this little bond nullified very easily, as a simple matter of expediency in the unusual conditions existing when it was made. And all my life, even if I never see you again," he ended simply, "I shall be happy because I was able to be of use to you."

He stopped now, so definitely that she knew he was waiting for an answer; but she merely repeated that tragic little gesture of her ungloved hand. He took the hand and held it. "I know all about you," she murmured.

"Of course you do. I saw to it that you knew all about me, for I was sure something like this would come up." He thought he was following the workings of her mind, but her next remark surprised him.

"You don't know anything at all about me. Why!" she broke out, "I may be a criminal . . . an adventurer! I may be anything! It will be taking advantage of my one friend. It may put you into a position that is simply horrible."

"See here," he said, "I won't have a moment of peace till I've safeguarded you. Let's stop talking and go and be married."

To his incredulous delight she rose as if the matter were settled.

"But I've warned you," she reminded him as they walked to the nearest roadway.

"And I think," she added, "I shall despise myself for letting you do this." They followed the roadway, walking several minutes before they found an empty cab to take them to the marriage license bureau. There, after the perfunctory details were over, Eric asked Eve:

"Which shall it be the justice or the clergyman? As it's only an affair of form, I suppose it doesn't matter, though I think the clergyman would be better for our purpose."

"I think so too," she agreed almost inaudibly. After that she did not speak until they reached the East Side of the license bureau.

The clergyman filled in the marriage certificate and offered it to Eve, who took it and held it vaguely, as if she did not know what to do with it.

"Put in your handbag," Hamilton said, and she followed the suggestion as mechanically as she had followed all the others.

As they descended the steps leading to the street, Hamilton put the soft pedal on himself, with a firm foot. This was the big hour of his life. But it was not the big hour in the life of the silent girl beside him, who still looked like one in a dream. He steadied his racing pulses, stopped a taxicab, and spoke his first words since the ceremony.

"It's a case of 'home, James,' isn't it? I mean," he added as he saw her inquiring look, "we'd better go right back to the Garland and meet what's there, hadn't we?"

Her silence seemed an acquiescence to the plan and he gave the cabman the direction. They entered the hotel lobby and a large man who had been seated in a lounging chair near the entrance, quietly smoking a cigar that looked as if it had been made especially for him, rose and came to meet them with an air of assurance.

Eve stopped, but Hamilton, with a murmured "One moment, please," swept her past the large man and into the elevator a few feet farther on.

"Go upstairs, dear," he quietly told her. He put her suitcase in the elevator, gave the starting signal to the operator, and, as the car began its ascent, turned back to the caller, whose look of assurance had given way to one of stunned surprise.

"My wife is very tired," Eric courteously explained. "She has been shopping all day, so I'm sure you will excuse her. Perhaps you will come in here," he went on, leading the way to the writing room, "and let me act for her in any matter that interests you."

"My name is Henderson," the stranger briefly announced; "Samuel Henderson; and I'm from Chicago."

RELIABILITY ECONOMY GOOD PERFORMANCE

THE NEW FORD TUDOR SEDAN

YOU are buying proved performance when you buy a Ford. You know it has been built for many thousands of miles of satisfactory, economical service.

Letters from users in every part of the world show the value of the sound design of the car, good materials and accuracy in manufacturing. You sense a feeling of sincere pride in the oft-repeated phrase—"Let me tell you what my new Ford did."

Further tribute to the sturdiness, reliability and general all-round performance of the new Ford is shown in the repeated and growing purchases by government bureaus, by police departments, and by large industrial companies which keep careful day-by-day cost records. In most cases, the new Ford has been chosen only after exhaustive tests covering speed and power, safety, comfort, ease of control, oil and gas consumption, low yearly depreciation, and low cost of up-keep.

They have found, as you will find, that the Ford embodies every feature you want or need in a motor car at an unusually low price.

THE COUNTRY DOCTOR

One of the finest figures in rural life is that of the country doctor. Every town in the United States has or has had a medical practitioner who has endeared himself to the whole countryside by a life of unselfish devotion to the health and welfare of the community.

The old-fashioned type of country doctor is passing. Like the saddlebags in which he used to carry his medicines and instruments, or the two-wheeled gig which, half a century ago, was still the traditional vehicle for the rural physician, the type is vanishing before the march of progress.

The country doctor of today covers a larger territory, because the automobile and good roads make it possible for him to do so. His contacts being broader, are less intimate. He has had better training than the old type whom he superseded, but it is a question whether the average country doctor of today has any more "horse sense" than the best of the old breed had. He may perform an operation more skilfully or diagnose an illness more accurately, but he is seldom the recipient of the confidences of the whole region, the man to whom people in any kind of trouble used to turn to instinctively for advice or comfort.

Young medical graduates today tend to go to the cities to practice. For one thing, they do not have to know so much; if they find themselves in difficulties there are specialists at hand whom they can call in or consult. The country doctor must know how to meet any emergency which may arise, and meet it single-handed. Then, too, to the young physician, the city looks like a more profitable place in which to practice his profession.

Rural and small town doctors are doing pretty well, however, according to a survey of the profession recently made in the rural regions of northeastern New York. The average annual earnings of several hundred such physicians were found to be about $6,000. That is a pretty good income for a small town, and considering how much less it costs to live well in a small town than in a city, it probably is true that the best type of modern rural physician is doing about as well as the general run of his city cousins.

The great disadvantage of rural practice is that the doctor has to be on the job 24 hours a day. In the city he can limit his office hours and refer those who demand emergency service to the hospitals. But the spirit which actuated the old-fashioned physician, the spirit of self-sacrificing service, still survives in many regions, and there are plenty of young men today willing to give their lives to that sort of service.

MOTERING PESTS

Everybody who has done any considerable amount of travel by automobile has run into the two commonest pests which annoy the motorist.

One is the "hitch-hiker," using the term broadly to cover any stranger who tries to halt your car and asks for a "lift." The other is the beggar who tries to sell you something worthless when your car is held up in line waiting the clearance of traffic in the other direction where the road is under repair.

Several states have recently legislated against both of these pests. New York imposes a penalty or fine and imprisonment on anybody asking a passing motorist for a ride. Massachusetts imposes a $50 fine for offering goods for sale to stalled motorists.

There have been enough cases in many states, of hold-up men getting a "lift" and then robbing and in some instances killing the generous motorists who obliged them, to justify legislation on that subject. There are enough risks incident to motoring without that one. The other type, the fellow who—frequently posing as ex-service men seeking funds for the relief of disabled veterans—try to sell cheap leadpencils or "souvenir" booklets when their victims cannot get away from them, and frequently become profane and abusive when the motorist refuses to come across, are just a plain vomitigated nuisance, and should be subject to the vagrancy laws without the necessity of special legislation.

We are too soft in dealing with minor crimes and misdemeanors, in most parts of the United States. We are too inclined to be sympathetic with the man who makes a pretense of trying to earn money, even though we know that it is only pretense. Every once in a while the police in the big cities discover that some corner beggar has accumulated a fortune and is better able to ride in his own car and live in luxury than most of those who drop their pennies and nickels into his hat.

So long as human nature is what it is, however, we suppose there will be a fair quota of people trying—and often succeeding—to get money without working for it.

WHY BE PESSIMISTIC?

Yes sir! We ask that question and we are not going to ask that you take something for your liver, but anyway that little microbe gets into your brain cells and you go to howling, everything gone to the bad. No such thing. The world moves and we move with it. We are supposed to be in our right mind, providing we get rid of that little bug called "pessimism." It has no place in any human organism. Never was intended to have a place of high estate and it should not have. No person, man or woman should harbor that kind of a bug. But rather breathe the true spirit of optimism. Say, that is a wonderful word to swing on. Catch onto it. If one has the right spirit of philosophy in this life they can see that the sky is just a little bluer in Slaton, that conditions are more favorable than some other place. If you do not think this, take a trip. We venture the assertion that you will come home and rejoice that you are not only living, but reside in Slaton. That little bug "pessimism" is a dud. Why go around with crepe all over your countenance and your lip so long that there is danger of stepping on it when you walk. Go and buy shoulder braces and get a prop for your chin. Walk erect before God and man. Meet your neighbor with a real hearty good morning and above all smile, smile, smile and do not forget to say howdy.

While that infernal little bug is working on you, just make up your mind that the thing you are brooding over is simply not going to happen. That the azure sky of the Plains is not in the least indigo, neither are we yellow as a people. All we need is to perk up just a little and simply get into the frame of mind that there is no "worse" to come. Now stop your growling and snarling, and seeing things at night. Get clothed in the right mind your Creator gave you. We will wager the hole in the doughnut to a bent pin that if you will only smile it be contagious. Try it on your family. Hit the street and give your neighbor a shot. Your every day companion and associates. If some one should think you are off in the cocoon just keep on smiling. The Slatonite will defend you if you but smile.

Now folks! Just snap out of this. We have the best water ever, to drink and bathe in. Let the gloom and depressing spirit go down the sewer and take a hitch of yourself, resolving to act reasonable and as God would have you. Kinda get the smiling habit. It is a mighty good tonic. We will warrant that it will not run down the heel, tear or rip if properly applied. What say, fellows, let us start right in and smile and give a hearty greeting to our fellow man. There is lots of room for entrants in Slaton. We have vowed to speak to every man, woman and child we meet. If some fellow states you are getting too fresh and I'll knock your block off, we will continue to smile and maybe grin. Hey! Fellows, Let's Smile.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPER THEN AND NOW

No one who was familiar with the weekly newspapers of twenty-five years ago can fail of astonishment in examining today the contemporary weekly press. A quarter century or more has served to recast the majority of weekly papers, both in appearance and content. Formerly a political year was a season of high tide for the weekly editor. His community was political, his associates political, he was political, and he made his paper political.

Partisanship sometimes took on a fervor which heated every page. Usually there was an opposition organ across the street, if it was a county seat town. And the editors grew vitriolic as the days warmed into midsummer and the campaign waxed into lullidity. Politics then was drama, history, emotion, and it was not uncommon for revival meetings to be postponed until politics could be put aside, until after the ballots were counted—or miscounted.

The contrast reflected by the present condition is worthy of comment, perhaps of encomium. The weekly press is not excited over the various candidates and contentions of this voting year. More space is given to world comment, agricultural experiments and development, highway problems, local improvement, social life. Politics and matters of State and local administration are not ignored, of course. But the attention given them is characterized more by sincerity and discernment than by passion or hyperbole.

In short, the Texas weekly press of 1930 is broader minded, more tolerant, but not less vigilant, than that of three decades ago. Probably the fact that the publishers have larger investments, more durable equities, at stake contributes greatly to the difference.

Gold Star Mothers Guests At Reception

Slaton's Gold Star mothers, Mrs. Joe Dobson and Mrs. O. P. Reed, were guests of honor at a reception Wednesday afternoon given by Mrs. C. E. Foster and Mrs. Art K. Green, at the home of Mrs. Foster. This reception was for members of the local Auxiliary Unit of the American Legion who gathered to pay tribute to Mrs. Dobson who leaves Slaton Friday for a trip to the grave of her son who was killed in the World War and is buried in France. The members regret that Mrs. Reed will not be eligible for this voyage as her son is buried in Arlington cemetery, near Washington.

Each guest brought with them a kodak picture of themselves which was placed in a Memory book, prepared especially for the occasion, together with a verse written by each individual, which will be carried by Mrs. Dobson on her pilgrimage. Mrs. Dobson was also presented with a sun-shine box at the close of the affair. The guests were served sandwiches, cheese wafers and iced tea in the dining room of Mrs. Foster and at a later hour they were served wafers and coffee in the dining room of Mrs. Art K. Green. The coffee was served from a silver service which was brought to this country from Denmark.

Those present to bid farewell and a pleasant journey to Mrs. Dobson were: Mesdames Curtis E. Brown, Pierce Youngblood, Fate Williams, G. H. Brown, Fred Tudor, Lloyd A. Wilson, Alvin O. White, L. D. Peeble, Carter Shaw, J. N. Landreth, Arthur Dennis, O. P. Reed, Laura Rhodes, A. J. Payne, Lee Green and the hostesses Mrs. C. E. Foster and Mrs. Art K. Green.

Mrs. G. R. Evans and sons, Lawrence and Harry, expect to leave Saturday for Cisco and Sherman where they will visit relatives for several days.

famous pilots. He started his training on the sixteenth of last July, under the able tutelage of Captain Royle at the Alameda Airport, across the bay from San Francisco. After 8 hours of dual instruction, he made his first solo flight on the 5th of August, this being the first time a Jesuit ever flew an airplane alone. He won his Private License on the 28th of August, and then continued his instruction with the Curais Company, receiving his instructions in acrobatics at the hands of Roy Hunt. The first training he received was in an OX-5 Robin, Challenger Robin, and Fledgling. On finishing his instructions, he received his Limited Commercial License, having been examined by Dillard Hamilton, Inspector of the Department of Commerce. Since going to New York, last January, Brother Feltes has inspected and flown a large number of different types and makes of planes. He has flown the Bellanca Pacemaker with Capt. George Haldeman, Wesley Smith, Jack Ayres, and Howard Young; the Ireland Amphibion with Captain George Pickenpack and Elmer Meyers; the Stinson-Detrbitter with Eddie Stinson; the New Crescent with Clarence Chamberlin; the Junkers with Fred Melchior; the Ryan Brougham with "Red" Harrigan; and the "Spokane Sun God" Buhl with J. M. Johnson. He also flew the Diesel Powered Stinson with Walter Lees, chief test pilot of the Packard company.

After studying the different makes and types of planes, Brother Feltes decided the Bellanca Pacemaker, powered by a Packard Diesel Motor, fuelled with the New Texaco Aerodiesel Fuel and lubricated with Texaco Airplane Oil, was the best suited for the work he will be called upon to do in the frozen north. The fact that Texaco Aerodiesel Fuel has a sub-zero pour test and can be handled by unskilled labor without the slightest danger of explosion greatly influenced this choice. Pilots George King and Alger Graham, noted Alaskan pilots gave him valuable information on flying in the extreme weather conditions to be met in the North. He also received valuable technical information on the different makes and types of planes and motors from the late Captain L. M. Wootson, inventor of the Packard Diesel, and from Commander R. D. Weverbacker of the Naval Aircraft factory at Philadelphia. On the west-bound trip, Brother Feltes will receive further instruction on flying and care of the motor under Arctic conditions from the Packard company, during his stop in Detroit. Officials state that this is the first transcontinental flight of a plane powered by a Diesel Motor in which the new Texaco Aerodiesel Fuel has been used. He has had 14 years experience in mechanics and has studied the Diesel motor before it was adapted to use as an aviation engine. The first leg of the transcontinental flight will take the Flying Missionary over the little village of Auriesville, on the Mohawk river, where he will drop a wreath on the spot, where, in the middle of the seventeenth century, three Jesuit missionaries were cruelly tormented and put to death by their Indian captors. These martyrs were canonized by Pope Pius XI in St. Peter's Vatican City, on the 29th of June; the first American Saints.

Cade and Allred Spoke To Voters Here Wednesday

James O. Cade, of Amarillo, candidate for congress from the 18th district, opposing Marvin Jones, also of Amarillo, who has held the office for several terms, addressed a fair-sized crowd of Slaton citizens Wednesday morning at the corner of N. Ninth and West Garza streets. He was followed by Ben P. Allred, of Wichita Falls, who spoke in behalf of his brother's candidacy for the Texas attorney generalship. James A. (Jimmy) Allred, also of Wichita Falls, is the brother of the speaker.

Mr. Cade, in his address, declared himself in favor of more rigid enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment, went on record as being opposed to the Federal Farm relief plan, because, as he styled it, it is "mere bunk," and advocated the creation of a place in the president's cabinet for public education to be represented. He said Mr. Jones' record as the congressional representative of this district does not show that he has "done but very little" for the people of this section, and declared he thought Congressman Jones had "held the office long enough."

Mr. Cade is a nephew of L. T. Green, superintendent of Slaton public schools. He is a good speaker, and made a good impression here.

In speaking of his brother's candidacy for the attorney generalship, Mr. Allred said he did not wish to attack the character of any of the opponents

Besides "Jimmy" Allred, the other candidates for the place of attorney general of Texas this year are: R. Lee Bobbitt, of Laredo, now serving as an appointee of Governor Moody, succeeding Claude Pollard, resigned; Cecil Storey, of Vernon; and Ernest Becker, of Dallas.

The speaker here Wednesday, defending his brother's record of experience in Texas law circles, said Mr. Storey of Vernon has been claiming that Allred is too inexperienced to serve as attorney general. The speaker referred to his brother's record of service in Wichita Falls, saying he was well experienced, and also reminding the voters that he lacked only 4,000 votes of being elected four years ago when he was opposed in the race by Claude Pollard, of Houston, who since then has resigned to enter the employ of railroads as a general attorney.

Mr. Allred referred to the present attorney general, Mr. Bobbitt, as a "Moody candidate" and charged that he is alinged with "special interests" making it impossible for him to serve Texas as he should in the office he wishes to hold. He said his brother, "Jimmy," if elected, would not be affiliated "with that political ring at Austin."

against the allotment of scholarships, 13,000 students joined by dockworkers have created such a rum-pus that United States marines were called in to establish martial law. Scholarship is apparently a serious matter in Haiti.

The curriculum has been "jazzed up," so to speak, in the last few years. Especially in the junior high school do we find it playing fantastic tricks. We peeped over the shoulder of a lad of eleven the other evening who was supposed to be preparing a schblastic assignment. Scrawled in a boyish hand across the sheet, we read:

"They Satisfy"
"Not a Cough in a Carload"
"I'd Walk a Mile for a Camel"
"It's Toasted."
"It's my written work in advertising," he said proudly. "The teacher told us to bring up four advertising slogans."

Teachers who are training their pupils in the Picture Memory Contest may use this anecdote to lighten up the seriousness of the instruction, if they see fit.

An art teacher in Chicago was presenting the "Song of the Lark" to her charges for the first time. She wanted to get genuine reactions from her pupils, and hence explained nothing. She simply exhibited the picture, asked the pupils to study it, and then write a few lines of poetry about it. A typical young Chicago-an of the class familiar, doubtless, with Chicago "rackets," bombings, sawed-off shotguns, machine guns, etc., turned in the following poem:

"Here comes the robber girl
With her head in a whirl.
She will take your life
With her great big knife.
Run, man, run,
And get your gun."

WORK AND NOT SYMPATHY is what the deaf, dumb and blind need to make them happy, according to Helen Keller, who has brought so much cheer and comfort to those so afflicted. "Konjola Worked Wonders In My Stubborn Case"

Fort Worth Man Relieved of Severe Attack of Rheumatism, Eagerly Praises New Medicine

MR. JOE CONNELLY

"For over a year I suffered, with muscular rheumatism," said Mr. Joe B. Connelly, 504 Belknap street, Fort Worth. "My entire body was a mass of aches and pains. Finally I was forced to give up my work and was confined to bed. The pains were so severe that I had to be moved very carefully and was helpless and bedridden for three months. My nerves were completely gone and I felt at times that I could not bear my suffering another day.

"I sent away for my first treatment of Konjola and was amazed at the results. Within three weeks I was able to get up and around without assistance. Gradually the pain and soreness left me and I began to feel my old self again. My nerves settled, constipation was completely banished and I do not remember when I have felt as well as I do now. Konjola certainly worked wonders in my case."

Though Konjola works quickly, and many sufferers are greatly benefited in a week, a complete treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended for thorough results.

Konjola is sold in Slaton, Texas, at the Red Cross Pharmacy, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

FIREMEN'S PICNIC MONDAY NIGHT WAS GALA AFFAIR

The annual Firemen's picnic was enjoyed Monday evening on the City Hall lawn when the firemen were hosts to their families and the city officials and their families, and also friends of the firemen.

The old games such as drop the handkerchief were indulged in during the evening and were greatly enjoyed, bringing back memories of younger days to quite a number who participated.

Tables were erected and lights strung on the lawn making everything complete for the affair and for the delicious dinner which was served, consisting of fried chicken and everything to go with it, even to ice cream and soda pop.

Approximately fifty persons attended and enjoyed the evening to the fullest. E. V. Woolever, chief of the fire department, acted as toastmaster for the occasion.

The man with a sense of resentment and antagonism, refuses childishly to let certain cars pass him, runs miles to show another car that he can pass it, and cuts off the driver who passes him, when he has the opportunity.

Even those who are normally of fairly even disposition sometimes break under the strain of driving in traffic and heat combined. A clear mind, patience, and unselfishness will go a long way towards ameliorating conditions.

AMOS H. HOWARD, CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY CLERK OF LUBBOCK COUNTY

In making the race for re-election to the office of County Clerk, of Lubbock county, I do so upon my record. This office is a very important one for the reason that all records to every piece of property in Lubbock county, all mortgages of every description, probate proceedings, Commissioners' court proceedings, suits of the County Court, and numerous other proceedings are kept in the County Clerk's office. It takes one from 2 to 3 years to familiarize himself with this office so that he may give to the people the kind of service that I think they deserve. One can never become too well qualified for this position. Every mistake that is made in this office, whether it be just a letter or figure costs some property owner to clear up same. Some may be corrected by correction instruments and some cause law suits. For that reason too much care cannot be exercised in keeping the records straight. I have never been ONE DAY BEHIND since I have been your county clerk. I believe that when an officer is elected he should give to the people the best and the most courteous service possible at all times, and if you will check my record from the day I took office I believe you will bear me out in this statement. I had about eight years of experience in this kind of work before I was elected as your county clerk.

During the year 1929 I installed in the County Clerk's office a complete index system. Said index system is a complete index of every instrument affecting title to real estate since this county was organized in 1881 up to the present time such as deeds, deeds of trust, releases, transfers, etc., giving the grantors and grantees names, and the description of property. With the new and complete index system now in operation any person holding title to real estate in Lubbock county, can in ONE MINUTES TIME determine the condition of his property. I invite the citizenship of Lubbock county to call at the office and make a personal inspection of the index system now in daily use.

I solicit your vote and influence on the 26th of July, upon the basis of QUALIFICATION.

Respectfully,
AMOS H. HOWARD.

"Looney" Sayings

By LOONEY, "Himself"

Good news agin, folks! The "Big Boss" has decided to let us have some of those good Paramount pictures. We have one Friday and Saturday of this week. William Powell in "The Benson Murder Case." He again plays as the famous "Philo" Vance detective and is another mystery murder case.

We also have a line of other good ones the rest of the week. Take Sunday, Monday and Tuesday we have a good one, from Cloumba. "Ladies of Leisure" with some of the same stars that were in "Party Girl" and it's a much better story than the "Party Girl." Lots of new songs and real dancing. This is one of the latest pictures on the screen today.

Not forgetting Wednesday and Thursday, of next week, we have Victor MacLaglen in "On the Level" and it is a far different picture to what this star has ever tried and he is a cinch anywhere.

Among our list of pictures coming are the best we have ever had. Take for instance, "So This Is London" with Will Rogers. "The Golden Calf" with El Brindell, that funny Swede and the two biggest of all, "Paramount on Parade" and the new "Fox Movietone Follies of 1930." Those are only a few of the big ones coming to the Palace, at Slaton and yet some of you go to see shows in Lubbock when you can see better shows cheaper at home. Slaton has better talkie than you can find in any other show house on the Plains. Try to find one better. Thanks!

ROBERTSON HOME SCENE OF LOVELY BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. A. L. Robertson and Mrs. Briggs Robertson entertained Friday afternoon with a bridge party at the lovely country home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Robertson, east of Slaton.

The house was beautifully arrayed with shasta daisies in profusion, which added to the color of the occasion and blended with the color scheme of green and white which was prevalent.

High score went to Mrs. W. B. Hestand, with high cut to Mrs. John T. Lokey and low cut to Mrs. R. B. Bechtel.

A delicious two-course luncheon was served to: Mesdames S. A. Peavy, R. D. Hickman, P. A. Minor, J. A. Klansner, Kirby J. Brown, J. A. Gillies, L. V. Lienhard, J. H. Brewer, H. W. Ragsdale, Floyd Rector, C. L. Pack, R. C. Ayers, John T. Lokey, S. W. Ball, of Amarillo; Joe Rogers, Harvey Austin, Claude Porter, Fred England, Charlie Taylor, Carl George, J. M. Wolfskill, R. A. Baldwin, W. B. Hestand, A. J. Cleary, J. A. McGinnis, R. B. Bechtel, H. W. Wall and J. A. Hightower.

J. H. Williams, of Lubbock, spent Sunday evening here with his sister, Mrs. C. E. Warder, who is very much improved in health after being in bed for the past five months with arthritis.

Miss Eva Catehart spent Sunday in Lubbock with her aunt, Mrs. C. H. Williams.

ON TAP

Turn the faucet and you get water. Turn the switch and you have light or power for any one of a thousand uses. That is service.

What makes it possible? Not only machinery, or pipes, or generators, or wires or poles, or switches. Organizations that function as units provide the American people with these facilities. Providing water is a complicated process. Having light and power always on tap is not a simple matter either.

It has taken years to build up these companies. Hundreds of thousands of men and women have devoted their most productive years to developing the public utilities.

Millions of dollars in scientific research, more millions for practical experiments, billions for construction and more billions for maintenance, have all contributed. Your labor is more productive and your home more comfortable as a result.

Tidings from the Far Away North

"Uncle" George just does not forget his friends, and we have the tidings from the North, Detroit, Mich. It was a bully good letter, just the kind the old scout would naturally write. "Uncle" George states that when he makes another trip it will be in December or January, as it has been fiery furnace and it was so hot that he felt he might pass out. His son, Dick, and wife met him at the union depot and it has been six years since they met.

At the Dearborn station in Chicago quite a crowd met "Uncle" George and naturally he felt highly honored, with bands playing, airplanes flying overhead, all the whistles in Chicago blowing and it was some reception, and of course Uncle George thought he was some body, but he finally fell for the fact that no one acting as a reception committee was there to escort him, only a Red Cap. This fellow toted his grips. George asked what it was all about, and the Red Cap told him that "Dick" Byrd an aerial conqueror of the South Pole was in the village, so George decided that the show was not for him.

He further states that he had to take off his hat and look heavenward to see the flying ships, something less than 500, and while gazing upward for some time and on putting on his hat he found quite a number of dimes.

Well, the old panhandler did well from all accounts. Probably got a stiff neck as most of the rubes do when they go to see the sights.

We hope his hay fever is better. He had not crossed the river at last reports but advised that if Tom Abel and Sam Selmore were there they would have a job for the remainder of their lives, that is in Detroit, for it is all wet. Henry has reduced the force for a couple of weeks, but it is O.K. with George as his Ford is good for five more years.

The heat was so severe when crossing Missouri and Illinois that the farmers were harvesting at night. Just too hot for man or beast in the day time.

He states that it makes a fellow appreciate old Slaton and the Plains with the cool nights and if you are not satisfied with the Plains make a trip north and you will want to get back, pronto.

All his Slaton friends are remembered and if he does not pass out with the heat, he expects to pass into Slaton about the 25th. All right! George, come home, Santa Fe All the Way.
