For The Objectors

Objectors to the issuance of $65,000 in bonds by the Big Spring school district, a proposition which is before the voters tomorrow, have presented generally three lines of thought.

The first two arguments, we believe, are not altogether pertinent to the issue at hand. If authorities have been derelict in their duties, steps can be taken to bring them into line.

If blame should be placed for the hazardous condition of the east wing of the high school building, certainly that blame does not properly belong on the present school administration.

Objection to the gymnasium-auditorium plan overlooks the important place that physical education is playing in our student-training life today.

The same bond issue proposes erection of a new ward school building which will permit proper classification of pupils and relieve crowding all around.

There is the additional dissent against a larger tax bill. But everybody understands that an improvement program must be paid for, and if the improvement program is believed needed, he is usually willing to accept his share of the cost.

Man About Manhattan

NEW YORK — We got back from our vacation this morning and our boss greeted us with, "All right, Cinderella, it's twelve o'clock—get back to work."

Only a few days ago we were standing on a street corner in Longview, Washington, a great lumbering center which is 3,000 miles from Times Square.

But that wasn't all. Surrounded by a retinue of mayors and civic officials Farley hurried off to dedicate a new Post Office. It was now about 25 minutes to eight.

An hour later the lights of Spokane blinked below us and then we were out over a vast darkness which is the wild mountainous ranges of the west.

Then, to the east, two tiny lights blinked, and a west-bound plane, a sister ship of the one we were on, came purring out of the void.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

AMERICAN POLICY IN THE FAR EAST

In declining the invitation to attend the Brussels conference the Japanese government implied that it would welcome peace negotiations assisted by those western nations which have a direct and substantial interest in the Far East.

It would, of course, be easy enough to say that Japan is ready to negotiate a peace because she has obtained the control of the five northern provinces.

The sentiments uttered by the president and by the league in effect implied that the western nations meant to oppose the Japanese invasion of China.

But as soon as the speeches had been delivered, the resolutions voted, and the Brussels conference called, Washington and London made it plain to the Japanese, and to all the world except possibly the Chinese themselves, that they had no intention whatever of backing up these declarations by the use of force.

Thus there has developed a fundamental contradiction between the words uttered in Chicago, Washington and Geneva and the real intentions of the governments in whose name the sentiments have been expressed.

What Japan has said in declining to go to Brussels is in effect that we must choose between a policy based on the principles of the league and a policy based on the traditional idea of neutrality.

But we have not yet made up our minds to talk and in minor ways to act in a neutral, uncommitted, uncommitted, uncommitted manner.

Much could be said, much more than has been said, in favor of collective resistance on league principles to the Japanese invasion.

For comedy, that was—and Kate's willing. Her voice changed about three years ago, after an illness just when she was starting in films. She thought she was sunk, or at least relegated to non-speaking parts.

Hollywood

Sights and Sounds By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood is not the place for an actor who's practically grown up in the movies.

Albertson is 28. He's been in pictures nearly ten years. He learned about acting the hard way.

Frankie is a hard-luck story. He can't get jobs any day in the week, and he can get contracts.

Frankie's from Fergus Falls, Minn., but he's been around Hollywood since he was in short pants.

Frankie's from Fergus Falls, Minn., but he's been around Hollywood since he was in short pants. He worked around the studios before he ever faced a camera.

"After all," she says, "I didn't get to speak a line until after my voice changed, and it's probably a blessing in disguise."

Chapter 28 "LEAN ON ME..." In spite of herself, Nina drew a sharp, shuddering breath between her teeth; but Hester just sat, as still as death.

Rian so splendid, but for that rigid slide—those blind eyes. And Hester helping him.

Hester—yanking at her dress! Tearing it! Hester, who was so careful and precise...

Hester Comes To Life Nina had the strangest sensation, as though she were sitting on top of a volcano...

The old hunt ball, Hester's torn dress... the band... There was nothing of portent about their actual words, and yet Nina felt the thunder in the air.

She only said: "Tell me, Rian, are you here for long, my dear?" But now Nina knew the whole story.

Hester was the girl. And now, she was lovely, not a beautiful cold statue, but a lovely woman. Warm... human.

Rian's words "came back" "It would have been so easy to send for her... and she would have been so sure to come!"

Don't let me see you from the festivities, please... I was just about to push along myself, anyway. His voice sounded dreadfully faint all of a sudden.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Nov. 1 (AP)—Henry Armstrong may never defend the featherweight title he won from Patsy Herron the other night. Henry has a lot more trouble making the weight than most of you suspect. He'll "trade" on the championship in a few over-the-weight bouts, then abdicate (as Barney Ross did) and go after the lightweight. This department had a tough day picking football winners Saturday. Score was, 10 won, 7 lost, 3 tied. Teams which "done us wrong" in a big way were Auburn, Detroit, Minnesota, Illinois and North Carolina. But we're still taking bows for being one of the two or threeguys who picked Georgia Tech to beat Vandy.

Those who have been accusing Minnesota of world-wide recruiting may be interested to know that eight of the regular starters are natives of St. Paul and Minneapolis and that the other three come from Minnesota towns within a 100-mile radius of Minneapolis. Coaches needing a real kicker might look over Bruno Konopka of Manual Training high school at Denver. All he did was boot one 132 yards. Standing two yards behind his goal line, he kicked one 77 yards on the fly. The ball hit the other side's 24 yard line, took a tremendous hop and bounced over the goal line, rolled through the end zone and finally was halted by a flag pole 30 yards behind the goal line. The kid is a nifty first sacker and has been offered contracts by Detroit and Cleveland. (Tip: Southern California is his favorite college. No changes in Rose Bowl choices over the weekend. They're still Alabama and California.

VETERAN ATTORNEY IS DEATH VICTIM

WILLS POINT, Tex., Nov. 1 (AP)—Funeral services were to be held here today for William Buck Wynne, 81, dean of the East Texas bar, who died in a Dallas hospital last night.

The veteran attorney, a native of Rusk county, began the practice of his profession here in 1886, and had included in his practice appearances before all local courts, the district court of appeals, state supreme court and United States supreme court.
