

Heat Threatening Nation's Meat Supply

Severe Drouth, Clouds Prospect For Corn Yield

Government Estimates May Drop Further

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—Next year's meat supply hung in the balance today as the midwestern heat wave trimmed official forecasts of corn production and threatened to cause still further losses before harvest time.

Plagued at planting time by cool weather and floods, corn now has run into hot, dry weather which the agriculture department, in its regular monthly crop report, described as a "serious threat" to all crops in the midwest.

Corn is the key to livestock and meat production.

A short crop this year would affect next year's output of meats and other livestock products.

However, meat supplies for the last three or four months of this year and the early months of 1948, are expected to be large regardless of how this year's corn turns out.

The department forecast the crop as of August 1 at 2,659,959,000 bushels, a decline of about 111,000,000 bushels from its July 15 estimate. The later estimate did not take into account damage caused by the hot weather so far this month.

Officials have said that a corn crop of about 2,850,000,000 bushels would be needed to maintain production at this year's rate of 155 pounds per consumer. They added, however, that it is highly improbable that corn prospects would deteriorate enough to drop meat supplies to the pre-war average of 126 pounds.

Despite the gloomy corn outlook, the department painted a favorable picture of overall crop production prospects. Based on August 1 conditions, aggregate production would be two per cent above the 1942-46 average, and only two per cent below last year's record volume.

But continued unfavorable weather could reduce total production below the August 1 estimate, officials said.

CROCKETT'S RIFLE, 'BETSY' WILL BE RETURNED TO ALAMO

FORT WORTH, Aug. 12. (AP)—Davy Crockett's "Betsy," the only rifle recovered from the Alamo after Santa Anna's Army stormed it March 6, 1836, will be returned to the spot where it fell from its owner's lifeless hands.

The rifle will be returned to the Alamo in a formal ceremony Sept. 1. Mrs. Clyde C. Sierk of San Antonio, president of the Alamo Mission Chapter of the Daughters of the Texas Revolution, announced here today.

Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, himself the commanding general of an equally famed but futile stand of Americans on Bataan, will place the weapon in its last resting place.

Identification of the rifle as "Betsy" was made by two great-grandsons of Crockett. They said comparison of pictures of the rifle with that held by Crockett in pictures in their possession made identification certain "beyond reasonable doubt."

Daniel Sees Danger In Tideland Case

The system of separation of powers between the federal and state governments, and potentially the security of ownership of private property is at stake in the recent decision of the U. S. Supreme Court in the famous tidelands case, Price Daniel, Texas attorney general, declared here today.

Addressing the Rotary club, Daniel asserted that the decision giving the federal government title to minerals from marginal coast lands contravened a welter of previous decisions by the courts and was without regard to the basic principle of ownership of the land.

Its implication, he said, is the right of the federal government to confiscate without compensation.

All previous opinions had recognized the title of California to its submerged lands from low tide to three miles at sea, as had the principal of title to lands submerged by navigable waters in all states. Yet, according to Daniel, the U. S. has the right to take possession of oil produced from the submerged lands because it was responsible for national defense and might need the resource in conducting international affairs.

Although Texas retained its public lands, including submerged lands for three leagues (10 1/2 miles) at sea, the same concept could be applied to Texas, he believed.

Because it ignored the fundamental of property ownership, an unbridled extension of the theory could grant to the federal government the right of confiscation of resources beneath inland streams and lakes and ultimately any private property, he pointed out.

Texas has three and a half million acres of submerged lands at sea, regarded as potentially a rich oil area. Already $16 millions have been returned to the state public schools from this source "and it is just beginning," said Daniel.

"You have a stake in this if from a selfish angle only," he declared. "If the federal government can take that oil, the taxpayers of the state are going to have to make up the difference to replace the potentially great source of revenue for our public schools."

In addition Texas has four million inland submerged acres which also might be involved.

The decision, continued Daniel, was a serious step toward federal control of the oil industry.

It is not the fight of Texas alone, he said, but it is the responsibility of Texans to prevail upon their congressmen to support and work for legislation which will establish clearly the ownership of

Railroad Strike Called Illegal

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—A presidential emergency board held today that a short strike of employees of the Southern Pacific Co. (Pacific lines) could have been avoided "if both sides had acted in good faith."

The board, reporting to the President, said that the strike of six hours on July 21 took place in open violation of the railway labor act.

It said the work stoppage threatened the economic structure of seven western states "served by the Southern Pacific and the other carriers involved. North-Western Pacific Railroad Co., and the San Diego and Arizona Eastern Railway Co.

The employees are represented by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The board noted with apprehension that the agreement ending the strike indefinitely postpones "rather than cancels the strike call.

Drastic Controls Win Approval In Parliament

Full Resources Of Britain To Be Mustered

LONDON, Aug. 12. (AP)—The Labor government won the approval today of the House of Lords of a bill to muster British resources, including manpower and labor, for the national recovery program.

LONDON, Aug. 12. (AP)—The House of Commons voted authorization to the Labor government today to muster the full resources of Britain, including manpower and industry, for the national recovery program.

The bill, passed 178 to 63 after an entire night of debate, specifically gave the Attlee administration extensive powers to direct the management of labor and supplies so the whole resources of the community are available for use and are used in a manner best calculated to serve the interests of the community.

The opposition ballots came from conservative and liberal opponents who had attacked the legislation as a dictator bill. The vote, on the third and final reading, followed nearly 18 hours of debate. The labor party holds a majority of about two to one in the commons.

The act continued indefinitely and made applicable for the new purpose of coping with the national economic crisis the emergency powers given the government, then conservative, at the beginning of the war. The powers were renewed on a short-term basis in 1945 to cover the transitional period from war to peace.

The vote on the third and last reading of the bill was completed after the labor majority had fended off ceaseless opposition efforts to kill or amend the legislation on the ground that it would endanger the nation's hard-won liberties.

The debate finally resolved itself into a struggle against time, with the government fighting resolutely to win approval of the measure before 2:30 p. m. Continuation of the debate beyond that hour would automatically have cancelled the day's business and made it impossible to get the bill through the House of Lords in time to permit Parliament to take a summer recess beginning tomorrow.

Arab-Jewish Violence Grows

JERUSALEM, Aug. 12. (AP)—The toll in continuing Arab-Jewish violence in Palestine rose to six killed and fourteen wounded today. The latest casualty was a Jewish mute seriously wounded by a knife attack on the Jaffa-Tel Aviv city line. Police said the mute was unable to identify the attackers, but it was presumed they were Arabs.

Three Jews were killed last night in the second night of communal strife in the all Jewish city of Tel Aviv. A group of men identified by police as Arabs accosted and stabbed a Jewish man and woman near the Jaffa boundary, and a little later another man was beaten and stabbed to death by passersby. Police first believed this victim to be an Arab, but later identified him as a Jew.

Another Arab was reported injured in a tussle with a group of young Jews, also near the Jaffa city line. On the Jerusalem road, five miles from Jaffa, a band of robbers—the victims said they were Arabs—halted a bus carrying a number of Jews, forced all the men to lie down beside the road and took their watches and money.

A $9,900 road maintainer has been purchased by Howard county from the R. B. George Equipment company of Abilene, bringing to three the number of highway caterpillars purchased by the county commissioners' court since the end of World War II.

ANIMAL, ODDITY—Some veteran mule breeders at the Illinois State Fair expressed surprise when they saw this frisky 15-day-old henny (right), offspring of a jennet and a stallion. U. S. Will Protect Greece From Reds

THIS COULD GET COMPLICATED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (AP)—One Democratic senator called today for a Senate investigation of investigations as another said the decision by a Republican-controlled committee to break off the Howard Hughes inquiry gave the GOP a "political black eye."

Senator Murray (D-Mont) told a reporter he thinks the war investigating committee's two weeks' public hearings into Hughes' war-time plane contracts represented "just another example of efforts to smear every witness who takes the stand."

"They didn't have anything to go on and were just depending on sensationalism," the Montana Senator declared. "The same thing has been going on before a lot of other committees. The Senate ought to make an investigation of these so-called investigations."

CIO To Launch Repeal Drive On Labor Act

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12. (AP)—The CIO United Steel Workers Union, which earlier voted to ignore the labor board set up under the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, now has opened a national drive to elect an "acceptable Congress" to repeal the recent labor act.

Some 520 of the union's district officers and leaders met yesterday to map plans for a mass registration drive and a campaign to collect $1 voluntary contributions from the 875,000 members.

The Taft-Hartley Law specifically forbids use of union funds for political purposes.

However, Philip Murray, president of both the CIO and the steel workers, said "there is nothing in the Taft-Hartley Law which prevents voluntary contributions."

He added the money collected would be kept apart from union funds and "may or may not" be used to make direct contributions to candidates or parties.

Murray, in a news conference following the meeting, said the CIO hopes to enlist 1,000,000 members to carry on the "most intensive election campaign in history."

The CIO, the labor leader declared, "would welcome" a test of curbs on labor organizations' political activities under the Taft-Hartley Labor Law.

The constitutionality of the act on the political grounds, he explained, would be questioned under the premise of free speech and expression.

Woods Lashes Teacher Salary Discrepancies

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—State superintendent of public instruction L. A. Woods today named 20 Texas schools which do not have their teachers on the same salary schedule for the coming year.

"In other words, they are discriminating and not following the law," Woods told the state board of education in session here.

He was referring to the new law passed by the 50th legislature setting up minimum salary standards for Texas teachers.

"The thing that has been hardest to reconcile is the Negro question," Woods said. "Some schools sent in separate Negro and white salary schedules. Obviously, they couldn't do that. I turned them down right on the face of it."

Woods explained that all discrepancies did not exist over the Negro-white question but that discrepancies in one form or another did exist in the salary schedules of the schools of the following towns: Amarillo, Big Spring, Bryan, Eagle Pass, Elysian Fields, Gainesville, Goose Creek, Houston, Jacksonville, Lufkin, Marshall, McKinney, Mexia, Midland, Mt. Pleasant, Overton, Palestine, Pampa, Taft and Waskom.

Woods told the board that so far 13 schools have been unable to meet the minimum salary standards as prescribed by the newly-enacted law. The state standard now starts at a minimum basic salary of $2,000 annually.

Woods said the salary schedules for the 13 schools have been approved, however, since the schools have contributed to all the revenue they have for salaries and still can't meet the minimum standard. Such exceptions are allowed under the law.

Tropical Storm Is Expected Over Gulf

A tropical storm nearing hurricane intensity is expected to move into the Gulf of Mexico today and may threaten the Texas Coast, already drenched by showers that are general over Texas.

Heavy rains ended long drouths in many areas yesterday and early today, lowering record-breaking temperatures. In many areas the rains were accompanied by electrical displays and gusty winds.

The storm formed in the Caribbean Sea and will move across the northern Yucatan peninsula this afternoon, and is expected to enter the Gulf tonight, the weather bureau said. It is the second tropical disturbance to be reported this year.

Winds of 50 to 60 miles an hour are reported, and they are increasing in intensity. A hurricane is a storm with winds of 75 miles an hour or more.

The weather was blamed on two tragedies—a bus crash near Paris in which 11 persons were injured, and a heat death at Fort Worth. Rain-slick highways were blamed for the bus accident.

Lightning which struck during a rain storm last night started a fire which swept the cedar shop at Corsicana. Owner W. E. Sprull estimated damage at $6,500.

Heaviest rainfall reported today included Del Rio 2.23 inches, Bonham 2.10, Hondo 1.79, Glendale 1.76, Paris 1.63, Dallas 1.27, Lampasas 1.03, and about one half inch at Brady, Dublin, Llano, Corsicana, Greenville and Kaufman.

A few spots reported high temperatures yesterday, but they were scattered and rare. Kerrville was highest with 111. Coolest today was Muleshoe with 59.

Governor Addresses Oil Leaders

AUSTIN, Aug. 11. (AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester today reappointed Dr. J. Howard Clark of Houston and named Dr. N. J. Rogers of Beaumont to the state board of oilometry for six year terms to expire Aug. 11, 1953.

Jester Asks Action On Tideland Case

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 12. (AP)—Governor Beauford Jester of Texas today asked the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, representing 20 of the nation's major petroleum producing states, to vigorously oppose the recent supreme court decision in the California tidelands case.

I urge that we go on record, by duly adopted resolution, in opposition to the super-federal powers announced for the first time in the California case and in favor of congressional action to renounce such powers in favor of the states," Jester said.

Speaking on the second day of the compact commission's three day summer quarterly meeting, the Texas governor declared that the June 23 supreme court decision, giving the federal government right to resources of submerged land, was a potent weapon for proponents of the nationalization of the entire oil and gas industry as well as other industries x x x

After reviewing the suit, Jester declared: The new legal theories of state-federal relations x x x are something that will haunt every sovereign state in the future if it is not nullified by appropriate congressional action. The court pronounced an entirely new legal theory of a paramount federal right to take oil and natural resources, without regard to whether the federal government actually owns the soil.

Help Promised Within Limits Of U. N. Charter

Johnson Says Balkans Plan Aggression

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 12. (AP)—The American delegation said today that if the United Nations security council fails to solve the Balkan problem the United States is prepared to join with other countries to protect Greece "within the provisions of the charter."

Herschel V. Johnson, deputy U. S. delegate, gave this warning to Russia after charging before the council that communist groups supported by Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria hoped to set up a totalitarian regime in Greece.

"We do not consider that our obligations or the obligations of the United Nations x x x are ended merely because the Soviet Union sees fit to use her veto to block constructive proposals desired by nine out of eleven members of the security council," Johnson said.

It becomes all too clear that the veto is being used in defense of the aggression of Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria."

At another point, Johnson said: We are no longer under the necessity of attempting to appease further a threatening veto. Let us now record our honest opinions. Johnson spoke after Yugoslavia had accused the United States of deliberately misrepresenting conditions in the Balkans to justify the Truman Doctrine of Aid to Greece.

Johnson said support of the Greek communists by the three Soviet satellites was a peril to peace, but added that the threat can be checked if firmly faced by the United Nations.

Yugoslav representative Dr. Jozza Vilfan blamed much of the Balkan difficulties on the United States and on what he called a failure of the United Nations security council to examine the problem closely.

He told the security council that the 11-nation Balkan investigating commission had not favored creation of the subsidiary inquiry group now in Greece.

It was proposed by the United States delegation," he declared, "in order to justify the increase in the interference in Greece. The United States needed a subsidiary group in order to create the impression that the serious situation in Greece was the consequence of an alleged interference from the outside."

The delegates made no secret of their pessimism as they gathered for today's session. This was the situation they faced:

1. A seven-nation sub-committee was ready to report it had failed in week-end efforts to resolve the deadlock between Russia and the western powers.

2. Australia indicated she would press for action on her demands for a Balkan truce despite Russia's declaration that such a proposal was unacceptable to the Soviet Union.

3. Colombia also was prepared to push a proposal for creation of a seven-nation conciliation" commission, which Russia already had declared unacceptable.

The council was scheduled to meet again this afternoon to resume consideration of the Indonesian question.

Do You Suffer Distress Of Monthly FEMALE COMPLAINTS?

With Uncomfortable Fullness?

Are you troubled by monthly distress of female functional monthly disturbances? Does this make you suffer from pain, feel so nervous, restless, weak—at such times? Then so try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms.

In a recent medical test Pinkham's Compound proved remarkably helpful to women troubled this way. It's what doctors call a "uterine sedative." It has a grand soothing effect on one of women's most important organs.

Taken regularly—Pinkham's Compound relieves such distress. Also a great stomachic tonic.

Do You Fear Appendicitis?

Do you have fear of Appendicitis? This is a disease that may give you a great deal of distress and is accompanied with some danger, yet there is a great deal of fear connected with this disease and that is unfounded.

In this talk I am going to quote largely from Dr. Richard C. Cabot, an eminent medical authority and Chief of Staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital, where the disease called Appendicitis was discovered some thirty years ago by Dr. R. H. Fitz.

Now follows a series of quotations from "A Layman's Handbook of Medicine" by Dr. Cabot. Speaking of Appendicitis, he says, "We do not know the cause of Appendicitis, but there is good reason for suspecting that some cases, if not all, are due to a streptococcus (which is the name of a germ) — Appendicitis comes often in young people and is commoner in men than in women. — We have not any ideas how to prevent it today — The Appendix is halfway along an imaginary line drawn from the navel to the hip bone, called the right iliac fossa... The tenderness of Appendicitis — that is, pain on pressure usually over the Appendix itself, but nothing worse could happen to us, or to any one whom we influence, than to suppose that ALL pain in the right iliac fossa means Appendicitis. — There are a great many lay diagnoses of Appendicitis, yet it may be one of the most difficult diagnoses that a physician ever makes one that a layman should be very slow to make."

From the foregoing, it will be seen that it is very easy, even for physicians to be mistaken in their diagnosis and there are doubtless many operations made for Appendicitis that are entirely unnecessary. It will be seen also that the cause and prevention of this disease, from a medical standpoint, is very uncertain.

One hears much said also about chronic Appendicitis. Let one quote further from Dr. Cabot's book. Here is what he says: "Chronic Appendicitis is a disease the very existence of which some of us doubt; it is poorly understood if it does exist, and a person may well have it throughout life and never find it out. — Chronic Appendicitis does not have symptoms that I have described above and each doctor that we ask to describe the symptoms will give us a somewhat different description. Under those circumstances it is well to be cautious, I think, as to operation."

Chiropractors hold that the Appendix like other organs of the body, gets its life energy and ability to function through the nervous system. If nerve fibers that supply the Appendix are pinched somewhere along the spine, it is quite reasonable that an inflammation may set up on the Appendix just as it may do in other organs. Adjust the cause, restore normal life to the diseased part, and there is little reason why the Appendix should not be restored to health just as other organs get well under Chiropractic adjustments.

Chiropractic has been found to be very effective in getting many cases of Appendicitis well, both in acute and so-called chronic cases.

See a Chiropractor and learn more about this natural health science. Take Chiropractic adjustments and remove the cause of the "itis" the inflammation and you may keep your Appendix for a healthy Appendix causes harm to no one.

Ruhr Coal Talks Begin

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (P)—British and American negotiators began talks today on ways to increase German coal production and thus provide supplies badly needed by European countries.

As the discussions got underway diplomatic officials said the main aim would be to chart the specific steps needed to boost the lagging output of the Ruhr mines. Delegates from both sides of the Atlantic emphasize that the outcome of their talks will be critically important to the success of the Marshall Plan for European recovery.

Ruhr coal—the central theme of the delayed conference—now is going to seven fuel-short nations. Along with food, it represents the key to the war-torn continent's reconstruction.

Top-ranking American officials say they expect the major results of their meeting to be a detailed program spelling out progressive steps for increasing the output of the Ruhr mines.

PEORIA, Ill. (P)—Cats, too, apparently want to go places in the summer vacation season.

A kitten sneaked on a bus at Peoria, but when it became too kittenish, it was put off at Creve Coeur. Disappointed but determined, the feline hitchhiker bounded aboard the next bus, curled up cozily under a seat, and continued the trip to Peoria.

Senator Sees Better Laws Against Lobby

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (P)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) predicted today that tightened laws against lobbying will come from what he termed "collapse of the Hughes hearings."

O'Mahoney issued a statement entitled "unexpected benefits of the Brewster blowup" as other Democrats giped at the sudden breaking off of the investigation into Howard Hughes' wartime plane contracts.

Senator Brewster (R-Maine), chairman of the Senate war investigating committee, had retorted "That's a matter of opinion" to such gibes as one from Senator Robertson (DD-Va.) that republicans got "a political black eye" from the hearings.

O'Mahoney listed as probable "unexpected benefits."

1. Tightening up of the new law which requires lobbyists to register. He said a tightened law should place the origin of many bills introduced in Congress.

"Nobody has ever been able to find out who wrote the Pan American international monopoly bill," he added.

Brewster is co-author of a bill which would restrict U. S. overseas air line operations to one line, to be formed by all groups interested in overseas operations.

2. Re-examination of the need for special committees. The Hughes investigation was conducted by a special committee and the senator said Congress will examine "huge staffs" employed at great expense.

3. An examination of the background and qualification of all congressional committee staffs.

4. O'Mahoney said the "international aviation monopoly bill" has been killed by the record in the Hughes hearing. He added that Congress will use a microscope upon "efforts of the utility lobby to kill public power, so apparent during the last session."

Liberia is about the size of Ohio or Pennsylvania.

Navy Recruiters Here This Week

Murder Prober Is Threatened

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 12. (P)—An attorney chosen to aid the Garland county grand jury in an investigation of the fatal shooting of Prosecutor Sidney McMath's father said last night he had received "numerous" threats of political harm.

State Senator Ernest Maner, who was named by Circuit Judge Claude M. Brown to assist the jury in the investigation, also reported to police that he had been struck by a man at a downtown parking lot last night.

After Maner reported the attack, a man identified as Henry P. Coston, 24, of Hot Springs and Benton, Ark., surrendered at police headquarters and was docketed for "threatening and assault."

The grand jury is scheduled to convene tomorrow to probe the death last Thursday night of Hal P. McMath, 37. Prosecutor McMath said his father was shot by his 26-year-old wife Anne, in self defense and while she was "hysterical with fright."

CIO Calls For Price Controls

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. (P)—The CIO full employment committee today called for a special session of Congress to restore price controls and said there would be another round of wage demands if living costs continue to rise.

Emil Rieve, administrative chairman of the CIO committee, said prices should be rolled back to near levels existing before the OPA was abolished.

Rieve told a news conference that "the difficulty is that every time industry increases wages, it increases prices more."

"We are not going to stand idly by," Rieve said.

Australia To Reconsider Trade Talks

CANBERRA, Aug. 12. (AP)—The Australian government regards the American offer to cut its 34-cent-a-pound wool tariff by 25 per cent as providing a starting point from which the commonwealth will reopen negotiations over the whole field of international trade.

A government spokesman said today that when the American wool bill was introduced Australia said, in effect, that because an effective reduction in the American duty was considered fundamental, general negotiations could not go on.

The door was closed, but the American offer is now interpreted by the Australian cabinet as "reopening the door."

Australia at this stage must reexamine the whole field, the spokesman said, covering possible concessions by both sides affecting other commodities and empire preference.

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—The Texas Bar will tackle the job of improving the state's criminal court procedure, H. Grady Chandler, president of the state Bar of Texas, today told the Austin Kiwanis club at a luncheon meeting.

Rebels Threaten Asuncion

Paraguayan President Said Moving His Capital To Pilar

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 12. (AP)—Argentine sources said today that Paraguay's President Higinio Morinigo had pulled out of Asuncion yesterday afternoon for Pilar, near the Argentine border 130 miles south of the rebel-threatened capital. The Paraguayan embassy here could not confirm the report, but Argentine informants who have been in frequent contact with the Morinigo government said they had word of the president's departure directly from Asuncion.

An earlier Associated Press dispatch from Asuncion said Morinigo still was in the capital yesterday morning, when he made a tour of the city's defenses. Other informed sources here said air force and ground personnel had revolted in Asuncion during the day and had seized both the city's airports. These informants said, however, that all planes previously had been moved.

Morinigo's departure would be a strong indication that the five months old civil war is rapidly heading for another climax, but dispatches from Paraguay and rival communiques did little to clarify the exact military situation.

Refugees reaching Argentina from Paraguay said the military situation had not changed since Sunday, but there was no agreement as to what that situation actually was.

Some informed sources here said most of the rebels were at least 25 miles from Asuncion's outskirts, and the Paraguayan embassy here denied that the coast was surrounded by the insurgents.

Agency Lives With New Plane

Behind Scenes Of CAA Safety Work

WASHINGTON—The Civil Aeronautics Administration (CAA) is responsible for assuring that new airplanes will be safe to fly.

How does the CAA know that a new type of airliner deserves a certificate of air worthiness?

Simply by living with it almost from the day it is born until it goes off to fly schedules. Even then the CAA maintains a continuous check to see that it is properly serviced and that it performs on the job as well as it did in final tests.

Here's how the CAA goes about it:

When a manufacturer hits upon a design he believes can be sold to the airlines, he applies to the CAA for a type certificate.

The government's experts begin checking the idea right then, even though it is just a proposal on paper and will not be carrying passengers, mail or cargo for three or four years.

MANY TESTS MADE

The CAA people watch the design developed in detail. Structure specialists and engine and propeller men study the plans. Materials and assembly specialists watch the plane put together to see that the kind and quality of materials used and the method of assembly are what the designers intended.

As units of the plane are completed, they undergo individual tests to determine whether they meet specifications. Before the plane flies it has been approved structurally—it has a good physique, but how about its nervous system? Will it respond in the air?

That is when the going gets really tough for an airline hopeful.

Since V-J Day the CAA has made many changes in airworthiness requirements. These have been concerned largely with a plane's ability to fly if one engine fails, with its protection from fire, its ability to stand rough weather, improvement in the windshield to protect the pilots in collisions with birds and many significant technical items.

PERFORMANCE CHECKED

But the toughest of all appears to be the accelerated service test requirement, which became effective May 15. That means that after the plane is generally approved it must go through a rigorous 150-hour flying demonstration under airline operating conditions—but with the varied experiences of a year's service crowded into a week or ten days.

The flying is the equivalent of 40,000 to 50,000 miles.

The Martin 2-0-2, first transport plane to face the new regulations, is now undergoing its accelerated service test. Eight or 10 CAA specialists and about a dozen company experts are on the flight. The CAA people have been designated by a Type Certification Board established early in the project. This board makes the rules for the accelerated test to fit the particular plane. The test is designed to learn all that needs to be known about that one type.

The 2-0-2 is visiting 50 cities on a seven-day run. Each day a comprehensive inspection is made of all key parts to detect wear or malfunction.

An armload of data is collected relating to engines, propellers, fuselage, wings, controls, fuel system, oil system, hydraulic system, landing gear, electrical system, instruments, anti-icing system, oxygen supply and fire detection and control system.

MANY REPORTS

Still another batch of reports is made after each takeoff and landing. These record the weather, the gross weight of the plane, the center of gravity, takeoff conditions, power settings, use of cabin heaters, operation of anti-icers (these must be turned on during every third flight), use of propeller feathering system, radio, electric gadgets and ventilating system.

During the flights, reports must be made on single engine perform-

Britain Moves To A Great Crisis

In her efforts at recovery, Great Britain has been rewarded by one economic crisis after another, and now a peak is at hand.

Many labor under the impression that it is because Great Britain has failed to help her self adequately. The facts do not support any notion that production has been low. On the contrary, total civilian production in May stood at 102 (with 1939 equalling 100). Gas generated stands at 127, electricity at 162, steel production at 98, merchant shipping at 238 (against 1938) auto output 103, truck output 171. Coal production is at 82 and coal consumption at 94. Thus, it may be assumed that Britain is producing more than it did before the war.

Were, then, is the trouble? For one thing, England is economically exhausted. Great areas of factories were bombed out, and many other plants were badly depreciated in the life-and-death war struggle. Abroad, vast investments which normally were the means of furnishing many of Britain's needs, including a generous portion of its food, were liquidated in the victory effort. In so many words, Great Britain gave all she had in the struggle.

In 1946 Britain asked the U. S. for five billion dollars over a period of five years. Three-fourths of this amount was granted, or $3,750,000,000. But rising prices in the U. S. reduced the purchasing power of this by 40 per cent. In terms of 1947 purchasing power, the loan amounts to two and a half billion, or less than Britain estimated was needed in terms of 1946 purchasing power. So, sometime this year it is quite likely that the five-year loan will be exhausted. With it goes virtually all the dollar credits needed to purchase heavy machinery from the U. S., so vitally needed for increasing production.

The Atlee government is proposing new measures, although Laborites contend they are not drastic enough, that they lack reality in implementing the slogan of "equality of sacrifice." One evidence of Prime Minister Atlee's bid for popular support is the decision (by a four-vote margin) to defer nationalization of the steel industry and to seek to maintain current food rations.

Conservative opposition has not been helpful in meeting the crisis, for Winston Churchill has fallen below his standard of counsel in merely lambasting.

It is vital to the world, at least to a world inclined to democratic processes, that Britain hack its way out of this crisis. To further reduce imports and achieve the goal of 25 per cent of production for export is a monumental task. It is enough to challenge the concern of this nation.

Aid Needed In Fight On Cancer

In order to meet its $12 goal for the 1946-47 fiscal year, the American Cancer Society must raise $385,251 during August.

The money is to be spent for research in scientific centers, for fellowships for outstanding young medical minds, and for all the weapons that humanity and science can turn against "the cruelist killer of them all."

Cancer kills one in eight persons. That means it claims one life from every two families... yours or your neighbors. The tragic part is that half of those stricken cannot be saved until new weapons are discovered. Equally as tragic is the fact that 25 per cent could be saved by early diagnosis and treatment.

Those who want to have a part in waging this humanitarian fight are as near to the opportunity as a pen. Just write out your check or money order and send it to the American Cancer Society, 47 Kent Street, New York 4, New York.

Animals Help, Hinder Texans

The dog is man's best friend, but sometimes he can have too many friends. Like the dog belonging to C. D. Garrett of Dallas.

A burglar crawled through a window, was confronted by the animal, petted it made friends, let it outside through the front door, and then took a shotgun, four shirts and a dress valued at $50.00.

There's no more skimmed milk for Blackie, the six-month-old kitten belonging to Truvy James of Houston.

"From now on" said Mr. James, "nothing but top-grade cream."

Blackie and two-year-old Ben-sie Laura James were playing in the yard. An 18-inch Copperhead snake attacked the child, and bit her three times on the ankle.

The kitten rushed the snake, slapped it away from the child, and badgered it into a far corner of the yard where Mrs. James killed it with a stick.

The child was rushed to a hospital.

Tyler, meanwhile, had its annual battle with Starlings.

The Starlings move in by the thousands, take over the turrettrees. First Chief Henry Gin said it took them 13 nights last year to rid the trees of the persistent starlings, and 11 nights the year before. Further, it takes firemen to rout the stubborn birds. They use over 50,000 gallons of water a night.

In Dallas, police were stumped by a request from an angry woman. She demanded that they send out a squad to silence the croaking of some frogs nearby.

If ten of the eleven hens belonging to Miss Lynne Trout of Lufkin were taking the day off, it was because they figured the eleventh member had done enough egg laying for the whole flock.

The egg measured seven inches around the middle, eight and a half inches lengthwise.

British Crisis Effects Europe

The sensational nature of England's economic crisis, involving as it does the great experiment in socialism, naturally centers world attention on her, but we shouldn't allow ourselves to be misled into regarding this as solely a British disaster.

Most certainly it is one of the momentous international developments of the post-war period. Upon Britain's degree of success in dealing with this emergency must depend largely whether the western Democracies are able to hold their own against the westward sweep of an aggressive, empire building communism.

England's bad luck is a stroke of rare good fortune for the Red and its world revolution.

An already terribly weakened France would find it difficult, if not impossible, to keep her feet under such circumstances. Prime Minister Atlee declared yesterday Britain is "certain of victory" and the consensus of observers seems to be that this forecast is warranted. However, none can say at this juncture how long the unfortunate country must struggle along the tortuous trail of harsh depression before it finally comes out upon the broad highway to recovery.

Atlee himself minced no words over the seriousness of the position.

"We have to face now," he said, "before we have recovered from the effects of the war, and before our long-term plans have taken effect, the necessity of relying entirely on our own resources. This is a situation as serious as any that has faced us in our long history. We must, therefore, act vigorously and drastically." The Prime Minister called on the country for a national effort comparable to that which was developed during the war.

That is a realistic approach to a tough problem, but there are certain imponderables to be dealt with. One of them is the strength of Atlee's leadership, which is being questioned by some of his own followers, especially the extreme left-wingers. It's quite possible that the economic crisis may be complicated by a political imbroglio.

The next few months are going to be crucial in the battle of England (and other hard hit countries of western Europe) for economic recovery. That means this period is also going to be crucial in the struggle of the western nations to keep from being enmeshed in the Red net.

McCary Enters Oscar Race Again

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Academy Awards are a year-around consideration here, and now comes word that Leo McCary, always a strong contender, will be in the race again.

The Irish film maker was out of the running last year after three healthy entries of the two previous years: "Going My Way" and "Bells of St. Mary's." Even though he won't finish the Gary Cooper-Ann Sheridan opus "Good Sam" until November, he plans to have it in the theaters before the Jan. 1 deadline. Leo edits his pictures as he shoots. "I could use another Oscar," he laughed "to complete my book-ends."

Otto Preminger is working on three pictures at once. He is filming "Daisy Kenyon" in the daytime, scoring "Forever Amber" at night and also working on the script of "The Dark Wood." The latter is the Christine Weston novel about a war widow and will star Jennifer Jones and Tyrone Power.

Bob Hope did only two shows during his South American vacation which is a record for him. He played two U. S. banquets in Buenos Aires on July 4. During one he encountered a Yankee heckler. Hope squelched him with "And I thought I got shots for everything."

Laurie Melchior will play himself for the first time in "Luxury Liner." He has shelled 25 pounds "by being good." There must be an easier way. Warners is reportedly so happy with "Treasure Of The Sierra Madre" that the studio rule against films being over two hours long may be lifted. Casey Robinson says his wife, Tounavola, will make the life of Pavlova in England "if she ever stops touring." She returned from a season in Paris and will tour the U. S.

Virginia Bruce is doing her first film role in two years in "The Night Has 1,000 Eyes" but she tells her movie plans end there. She'll join her husband in Turkey. George Murphy and Walter Pidgeon go to San Francisco Aug. 14 for the teamsters convention. I presume that they'll drive up.

NEW YORK (AP)—Is the work- were paying only with paper ing man better off in a period of high prices, such as now?

My father, who was a small business man and part-time philosopher, thought so.

"A man's got to have something in his pockets that jingles," he would say.

During his lifetime Dad had a series of grocery stores. He always set up in business in working class neighborhoods.

"A working man will pay his grocery bill because he has to eat to keep on working," he explained. "But groceries aren't so important to well-to-do people. They pay liquor bills or buy a new automobile before they think of settling for their food."

The last time I helped out in Dad's store was fifteen years ago. I had just finished college, but it took more than a sheepskin to land a job in the summer of 1932.

Mother didn't like the idea of sonny boy going back behind a grocery counter with all that expensive education, but Dad said: "Maybe he can learn something there the professors didn't teach him."

So he put me to work passing out sale handbills around the neighborhood. Dad had a theory you should advertise twice as much when business slumped. In the afternoon I came back to the store and helped wait on customers during the last shopping rush.

In those depression days we always sold a lot of hamburger. In good times the working man buys lots of round steak and pork chops for his family, no matter what the price. But in 1932 they were buying hamburger and cheap stew meat, and in Dad's store at least many

Navy Orders Probe At Annapolis

WASHINGTON—The Navy at long last has ordered an investigation of the Green Bowlers, powerful secret fraternity inside Annapolis whose members are charged with boosting each other to top Navy commands. However, this probe so far has been secret and no one knows how it will come out. Meanwhile, this column also has been delving into the mysterious Green Bowlers, and here are some of the results.

The name derives from the Green Bowl on the mantelpiece of the organization's first club-room on the second floor of Carvel Hall, Annapolis. Roland Munroe Brainard, class of 1906, is reported to have been one of the first members, though the Green Bowlers did not really get active until 1909.

Today, with 28 admirals and one Marine Corps General, the Green Bowlers are a long way from the little band of drinking companions formed 40 years ago. Many of them are placed in key spots where they influence promotions and can dominate the Navy.

The Green Bowlers operate through a secret but simple system. Every year, Green Bowlers on duty as faculty members of the naval academy pick new Green Bowlers from politically minded or outstanding midshipmen. Among the Green Bowlers stationed at the academy has been crew coach C. S. "Buck" Walsh, 28.

Green Bowlers who have been in key spots to influence promotions include Rear Adm. O. B. Hardison, who served two tours of duty in the officers detail section of the bureau of aeronautics, also as aide to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Artemus Gates, Adm. E. P. Forrestal, while E. B. Taylor has been aide to Secretary Forrestal. These posts, close to the civilian secretaries of the Navy, are considered most influential.

Another Green Bowler in a key spot is Adm. W. M. Fechteler, chief of personnel, who has almost life-or-death say over transfers and promotions. In addition, four-star Adm. De Wit Clinton Ramsey is vice chief of naval operations, one of the most powerful posts in the Navy.

Green Bowlers claim that theirs is just a schoolboy organization with no influence over the destinies of the Navy. At one time they bought Green Bowl pins and watch chains at Bailey, Banks and Biddle, Philadelphia; hat bands and neckties at Jacob Reed and Sons, Philadelphia. Now, as the organization is reported more powerful, it has become more secret.

Only sign of identification is a ring on the index of which is carved a Green Bowl. Whether the Green Bowlers are merely a schoolboy organization, as claimed, or a powerful secret force inside the Navy, it's important that their membership be known. This column, therefore, is publishing the names of higher ranking Green Bowlers, as contained in a list found at the naval academy: Admiral De Wit C. Ramsey; Vice Admirals John L. Hall, Lynde D. McCormick, William M. Fechteler; Rear Admirals Ernest L. Gunther, Monroe Kelly, Paul F. Lee, Leslie C. Stevens, Ernest H. Von Heimburg, Emmet P. Forrestal, John Perry, Morton L. Deyo, Richard E. Byrd, Jr., Aaron S. Merrill, Edward C. Ewen, Leo H. Thebaud, John H. Brown, Jr., William K. Harrill, Robert W. Hayler, Osborn B. Hardison, William K. Phillips, Charles W. Styler; Commodores George F. F. Reimicke, Tully Shelley.

THE MERRY-GO-ROUND

The President now has a pair of $84 garters. Window-shopping along Connecticut Ave., he inspected the jewelry store of Grape & Co., spied a pair of black garters with gold buckles. Price: $84. . . later he sent back, bought the garters, had the buckles moogrammed. . . Gen. Terry Allen, who was sent home from North Africa at one point during the war, has just been denied a radio station in El Paso, Texas. Reason: The Federal Communications Commission ruled that since he owned only 11 per cent of the stock, the proposed station would actually be owned by financiers outside El Paso. FCC rules are that radio stations must be locally owned. Alf Landon, ex-governor of Kansas, came a cropper in trying to get a radio station at Inglewood, Colo., largely for the same reason. After he applied for a license, more than 100 affidavits poured into the FCC saying Landon's station was unneeded in Inglewood. Landon withdrew, later got a station in Leavenworth, Kansas, on his own stamping ground.

JUNKETS TO ALASKA

It's amazing how many congressmen suddenly find they have urgent business in Alaska this summer—with travel paid for by the sweltering taxpayer back home. Even Congressman

Evans Howell, Illinois Republican, now appointed to the U. S. Court of Claims and who won't pass on airfield sites any more, now finds he is needed in Alaska to inspect new airfield sites.

Here are the different congressional groups that have found urgent business in Alaska, though this summer they are careful to pay personally the expenses of their wives and families:

Junket No. 1—Senate public lands committee; Senator Hugh Butler of Nebraska, chairman, will take along his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler; also Senators Walter Epton of Montana and Arthur Watkins of Utah, plus their wives, all Republicans. One McFarland of Arizona will be accompanied by his wife and daughter, Jewell; together with committee Clerk Hugh Brown and Mrs. Brown. To avoid criticism Senator Epton proposed that senators pay the tax on their own steamship tickets, ordinarily unnecessary when on official business.

No. 2—Senate Small Business committee, headed by Capehart of Indiana, will include Cain of Washington, Republican, with Ellender of Louisiana and Murray of Montana, Democrats. All except Murray will take their wives.

Junket No. 3—House Interstate Commerce Committee; this group also planned to fly overseas to inspect Pan American Airways' plan for "one company" overseas operation. But the Civil Aeronautics Board refused them free travel. Now the following will inspect proposed Alaskan air bases: Chairman Wolverton of New Jersey; Leonard Hall, N. Y.; Henderson Carson, Ohio; Wilson Gillette and Hugh Scott, Penn., Evan Howell, Ill. (Now a judge), all Republicans; plus Democrats Beckworth, Texas, Harris, Ark., Rogers, Fla.

SENSITIVE CONGRESSMEN

Junket No. 4—House public lands committee—this group all is trying to hit the coal-oil of Alaska without folks knowing it. However, Fred Crawford's committee plans to leave by army plane about Aug. 24. Those indicating a desire to go include: Dawson of Utah, Engle of California, Le Fevre of New York, all Republicans; Peden of Oklahoma, Democrat.

So far, few congressmen have been willing to pay much attention to Alaskan problems—except during the summer. (Copyright, 1947, The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Steel, Wheat Puzzle Economists

By Sigrid Arne (For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—For a few minutes pretend you are a government economist and try to see how wise you could be.

Here are two problems bothuring the economists today. What would you do about them?

Steel is the center of one. Steel is the life-blood of reconstruction. It is needed for railroads, rolling stock, docks, buildings, trucks, farm machinery—all of the things the world needs to make and distribute goods. And steel is extremely short.

The U. S. Maritime commission reports that 122 ships were building in European docks on March 31. It will take 494,300 tons of steel to complete them.

But at the same time, the United States has laid up 1,000 wartime cargo vessels which it is ready to sell at 50 per cent of the cost, less depreciation.

The Maritime commission has worked up a table showing that for every ship being built in Europe today we have an almost comparable vessel gathering barnacles in some watery backyard.

Here's the question: Is it wise for the United States to go on selling steel for ships that are little more than duplicates of what already exists?

The government actually is preparing to do some directing of the manner in which American Steel is used. On October 1 exporting licenses will be granted to steel exporters only after the government has approved both the nation to which it is going and the use to which it will be put.

But the government experts haven't said whether they will tackle this shipping snarl.

Problem No. 2: Reports from Europe say that only Russia will have a good grain crop this year. Most of the other countries will have even less than last year.

This means that again millions of Europeans will have to depend for their daily bread—and bread is a large portion of their diet—on wheat bought in the United States. Perhaps they will be able to buy some in Russia, but that is uncertain.

For the wheat they buy here they will have to have American dollars to pay. But dollars are also scarce in Europe.

The longer they spend their dollars on food the longer they will need help from somewhere—and that somewhere looks like the United States.

What should we do about it? We are prepared to spend $332,000,000 on foreign relief this next 12 months. No one knows whether that will keep hunger

Mind Able To Control Roll Of Dice, Scientist Decides

DURHAM, N. C. (U.P.) - A young gambler who found his dice too obedient started Dr. J. B. Rhine of Duke University on a study which the scientist thinks confirms the idea of mind over matter.

Stripped of scientific language, charts, tables and equations, the tall, gray-haired researcher's theory boils down to this: Some people seem to be able to get an edge on the law of averages by sheer effort of will.

Without touching them, they can control dice—and possibly other inanimate objects. Dr. Rhine has the records and figures which he thinks back up his case.

Dr. Rhine is head of Duke's department of parapsychology, exploring the extraordinary and unexplainable powers of the human mind. He has experimented for years in extra-sensory perception, sometimes called telepathy.

Board Weighs Evidence In Hirshberg Case

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. — In a closed session, a Navy court martial board today weighed the evidence presented during the three week trial of Harold E. Hirshberg, 29-year-old chief signalman, accused of mistreating fellow Americans while he was a section leader in Japanese prison camps in the Philippines. The final arguments of the defense and prosecution, in which contrasting descriptions of the defendant were given, were completed late yesterday. The board of five Navy captains, a commander and a Marine Lieutenant Colonel heard 16 prosecution witnesses and nine for the defense. Lieut. Comdr. Fred H. Frey, the trial judge advocate, described the accused petty officer as a "swaggering little Casar" who mistreated the men under him, informed on them to Jap guards and instigated beatings they received at the hands of their captors, all to bolster his own safety or comfort. Lieut. Comdr. John J. O'Neill, the defense counsel, pictured the accused as a victim of warped and abnormal conditions in a war prison where men's emotions and judgment became entorted. Hirshberg, who enlisted in the Navy when he was 17, has been assigned recently to Brooklyn, where he has a wife and infant son.

Hunt operates gathering stations in the Whelan Field in Texas and the Lucky Field in Louisiana. He buys gas at the well head, and sells it to Texas Eastern.

VFW Opposed To Amendment

Outright opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment which would reallocate five cents of the seven-cent constitutional levy for Confederate pensions for collegiate building programs has been announced by the state department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. W. H. McDonald, Lubbock, district No. 7 commander, charged that the yields from this proposed tax would not begin to meet the needs of various schools. Besides an inadequate yield to individual schools, he said that interest on bonds floated against the tax revenue would add materially to the cost. The state department previously had taken the position at the state convention in Abilene in June that since there is a $3 million surplus in the Confederate pension fund, the levy would not be made if the amendment passes. Hence, the department concluded it was indeed and in fact an additional tax which would stick for 30 years. In addition, State Commander Roger Q. Evans, Denison, anticipated that the levy might be needed subsequently to aid veterans of the Spanish-American, World War I and II. The amendment is up for consideration, and with the support of most state colleges, on Aug. 23. A street in Monrovia, capital of Liberia, is called "Broadway."
