How "Hard Times" Start

Across the editorial desk from some unremembered source came a little bit of French allegory.

A portrait painter sat in his favorite cafe sipping his wine. His first small bottle finished he was about to order more when his eye fell on a headline in the Figaro "Hard Times Are Coming" so instead of ordering his usual second bottle he called for his check.

"Is there anything wrong with the wine?" asked the landlord.

"The wine is good, but I did not order a second bottle because hard times are coming and we must economize," explained the artist.

"Hard times," said the landlord "Then my wife must not order the silk dress we planned, but must take one of cotton."

"Hard times" repeated the dressmaker when the order was cancelled "This is no time to expand. I must not make the improvements I had planned in the place."

"Hard times, eh?" said the builder when the dressmaker canceled the building plans. "Then I cannot have my wife's portrait painted."

So he wrote to the artist and canceled his order.

After receiving the letter the artist went again to his favorite cafe and ordered a small bottle of wine to soothe him. On a nearby chair was the paper in which he had read of hard times two days before. He picked it up to read more closely and found it was two years old!—From the Kiwanis Magazine.

Salt and Cancer

Some learned doctor has discovered that salt is the cause of cancer. He says we eat salt as a matter of habit and that it is a very bad habit. Some day somebody will compile a book on "Our Deadly Habits," and we may expect that when it is finished, we'll find that just about everything we do in the way of play, work and amusement will be found to be deadly, and then we'll abolish them all, and hope that we'll not suffer the same fate that the horse did when he finally learned to eat sawdust. He had a hard time learning, and then died as soon as he had learned.—Southwestern Machinery

 State Health Officer

A state's vitality comes first. Is it not as important to know if you are in good health as to be assured of a profit in business? Protect the baby from indiscriminate kissing. Infantile paralysis is catching. It may occur at any age of life. Eternal vigilance is the price we pay for freedom from disease. The community that is indifferent to its health problems pays the toll in both a high sickness and mortality rate. We now have many grave problems pressing us; but none is of more importance than that of safe-guarding the public health. It is important to take good care of the teeth. If they are allowed to decay the food cannot be masticated, indigestion results, and the body is not properly nourished. A house may be rid of fleas, or at least their number may be greatly diminished, by sprinkling naphthalene on the floors and leaving the rooms closed for a few hours. Water will destroy the araps, but has little effect upon the adult fleas. Kerosene will kill them. Bad air in the home poisons the system and makes a bad temper for those who are compelled to breathe it. Dust, dirt, dampness, and darkness are the friends of tuberculosis; sunshine, fresh air, soap and water are its enemies. Improper living, bad habits, and loss of sleep make you a favorable subject for infection.

Headache is a symptom of some portion of the body. It is an axiom of the "The State is all of us," we take the corollary, good to the greatest function of the State, is the welfare of the people, and striving to regulate the machinery of the law their alone spiritual, directing of the men to the things of earth; but equally important things pertaining to the and the physical well being men to lead healthful, and thereby transmit to their children's strength and virility of womanhood."

Critical

Wichita Falls lady, who intrigues interest with her first line for him a person of strong conviction writes in to examine him on the part of Senator Capper's proposition. "What is your opinion of people who claim to be good Democrats, but think Senator Capper of Kansas is a traitor to Joe Bailey, the greatest man in the United States?" asks the lady. "They have read the Weekly four years, and any one who reads it is strictly for the good of the great mass of workers," she quotes. "I have talked with these 'Democrats' and they told them that may the Lord preserve them, as they are past help," our keen-minded correspondent concludes. Dear lady, State is not a regular student of Senator Capper's literary output, but enough from the pen and the office of the eminent Kansan to know that Hon. Capper is the best of the agricultural press. This that he seldom prints a line or a sentence publicly that hasn't a latent. Such men thrive in our country, mostly because we are an unscrupulous and not very discriminating people. Senator Capper's efforts directed toward the business of his constituency and client, "something is wrong." There is something wrong but never has Capper or Editor Capper named trades upon sporadic occurrences, indiscretions and exaggerations and rhetorical flourishes, contemptuous of fundamental and obviously conceived in a cynical or insincere thinking. He has visited himself two years ago in the Southern cotton plantations, endeavoring to reduce the cotton yield. He has distinguished himself a number of times in other professions. It requires no great ability to write, to weave threads of fiction, to cheap fabrics, and wave the web from an eminence. The wide depression that followed the sudden reversal of economic conditions, gave every demagogue on earth scope for his talents. Here in America the enormous export market and the unprecedented domestic demand put prices of all commodities to unheard-of levels. But when the war ended suddenly and millions of men were released from high-paid employment; when, a year later, foreign demand for our crops and goods fell away, our people in every State and every community met with a sudden reverse of fortune. It was inevitable. Men of vision foresaw it. But it nevertheless gave the whirling dervishes of politics their grandest opportunity to tell the people that "something is wrong," and that only they, the speakers, each with a different line of hokum, were capable of righting it. This is what State Press thinks of Senator Capper as editor and statesman.—State Press in Dallas News.

Toyah-Bell Will Go 4,000 Feet

The Toyah Bell No. 2 passed into new hands during the past week under a contract which assures the hole being pushed down to 4,000 feet or better. The new managers, Blayton Ramsey and Frank Johnson, have been interested in the Pecos Natural Oil Company which has been in charge of operations for several months past, and now for an interest in the completed well have agreed to push the hole from its present depth of 3500 feet to 4000 feet or better. A new 4500 feet cable has been ordered. The drill this week has been working in a brown formation which carries considerable oil.

C. H. Willoughby, who has been in charge of operations on the Toyah Bell No. 2, is to give his attention to another drilling proposition which he is arranging in a site selected by him in Loving county. L. M. White, treasurer and trustee for the Toyah Bell Oil Company, the original driller of the well, was here for the conference and participated in the negotiations for the contract. The new managers to be backed by Willets, California interests.

The Toyah Bell is the deepest hole in the Pecos territory, and has had a large number of very favorable showings, and the drill has penetrated several formations in which experienced oil men have reported that production would undoubtedly be found if nitroglycerine was placed in the well. However, acting on the advice of the U. S. geological survey, the management has determined to push the hole down to 4000 feet in the belief that the oil bearing Pennsylvania formation would be found at that depth, and that a natural flow would be discovered.—Pecos Enterprise.

Brightening Outlook for Cotton
The Wall Street Journal asks itself if "cotton will come back," and after exploring that question, comes to the conclusion that it will. It finds, in fact, that it is already on the way. The price trend during the last month is one evidence of it. A better it finds in the figures of domestic consumption. Last December it was only 294,851 bales. Month by month since then it has been increasing until, in June, it has grown to 461,666 bales. The figures for July are apt to bring the total up to but little less than twice what it was seven months ago.

What it is that has chiefly caused this increase of domestic consumption is manifest. It is not attributable to the general state of business and industry. The fact is, business and industrial conditions as a whole are not so good now as they were last December, when the domestic consumption fell to the low figure of 294,851 bales. It is due to the depletion of stocks and wardrobes to the degree that makes increased buying unavoidable. When the country began to economize, it probably practiced that newly-acquired virtue more at the expense of cotton than of any other commodity. Cotton is one of the necessities of life, and yet the one whose use we can most easily make shift to reduce under the spur of need.

But, largely because of that fact, the demand for cotton is increasing at a time when the demand for most other staple commodities continues to decrease. Economy at the expense of cotton has been practiced to the limit of possibility by most of those who practiced it at all. They have begun to buy perforce, and it is largely that kind of buying that accounts for the increase of mill consumption. Of course another considerable cause is the improving political state of Europe. Particularly hurtful in its effect on cotton has been the long strike of the British coal miners, aggravated later by a stubborn strike of the Lancashire cotton workers. Happily both those industrial disturbances have ended, and the effect of their ending has begun to manifest itself in the statistics of exports.

Cotton was first to be made to march down from the mountain top to which it, in common with all other commodities, climbed during those frenzied days when dollars were too plentiful to be deemed worth the keeping. First, too, it has been to cross the valley of deflation. It has been a painful and tragic retreat. But the end of it seems at hand.—Dallas News.

Winner of Scholastic Merit

Austin, Texas.—Names of students who attained the scholastic honor roll in the academic departments of the University of Texas during the spring term have recently been announced by H. Y. Benedict, dean of the academic department. In compiling this list account was taken both of the quantity and quality of work accomplished by the student as indicated by the reports of the instructors. Emphasis was placed on quality in computing the score of each student by counting an A as 12, a B as 9, a C as 6, and a D as 3. The best one per cent of the upperclassmen made scores of 65 or above, while the best one per cent of freshmen made scores of 63 or more. The remaining groups made scores lower than these, but above 45 in the case of freshmen and 48 in the case of upperclassmen.

Among the four thousand students of the University 331 merited this distinction, and of this number only 34 are listed in the best one per cent. Florrie Cox of Big Spring was included in the list of students among the best seven per cent scholastic merit.

D. 1921, the same being the 5th day of September A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 28th day of July A. D. 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 848, wherein W. H. Ward is Plaintiff, and Lizzie Ward is Defendant, and said petition alleging that the said W. H. Ward is a resident citizen of the State of Texas, and has been for twelve months next preceding the filing of this petition, and has been a bona-fide resident citizen of Howard County, and State of Texas, for six months next preceding the filing of this petition, and that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Texas. That Plaintiff and Defendant, Lizzie Ward, then a single woman by the name of Lizzie Stephens, were married in El Paso, Texas, on the 24th day of December, A. D. 1914; that they continued to live together as husband and wife until the first day of April A. D. 1920, when, on account of the cruel and unwomanly conduct of the defendant toward Plaintiff, Plaintiff was forced to leave Defendant.
 That after the first nine months of Plaintiff's and Defendant's married life, the defendant without the least provocation would curse and abuse Plaintiff, calling him vile names, and at all times claimed that she did not only hate Plaintiff and despise his very presence but that she hated all men, and wished that Plaintiff was dead.
 That during the year 1918, Plaintiff moved from El Paso, Texas, to Deming, New Mexico, and sent money to defendant to come to Deming, and

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
 To the Sheriff or any Constable of Howard County—Greeting:
 You are hereby commanded to summon Paul Jones, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the Thirty-second Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said Thirty-second Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Howard County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Big Springs, on the first Monday in September A. D. 1921, the same being the 5th day of September A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 28th day of July A. D. 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 847, wherein Gladis May Jones is Plaintiff, and Paul Jones is Defendant, and said petition alleging that Plaintiff is a bona fide resident citizen of Howard County, Texas, and has been a bona fide resident citizen of the State of Texas, for more than one year next preceding the filing of this petition, and has been a bona fide resident citizen of the County of Howard and State of Texas, for more than six months next preceding the filing of this petition.
 That Plaintiff a single woman by the name of Gladis May McMurry, was married to defendant at Hillsboro, Texas, on the 13th day of May A. D. 1919, and that they lived together as husband and wife until on or about the 31st day of July A. D. 1919, when by the cruel and harsh treatment of the defendant toward Plaintiff she was forced to leave the defendant and has not lived with him since.
 That prior to such marriage defendant, through his promise of marriage, had debauched and seduced Plaintiff and at the time of such marriage defendant was under arrest for such conviction and for the purpose of avoiding conviction and punishment therefor consented to marry Plaintiff and the ceremony was performed in the Court Room at Hillsboro, Hill County, Texas. About one week after such marriage defendant requested Plaintiff to leave him, saying that he did not love her and cared nothing for her.

 That defendant caused Plaintiff to Cleburne, Texas, and live with kinfolks of defendant, that he refused to pay Plaintiff's support, and she was humiliated and was told that she did not want, which facts were defendant.
 But while Plaintiff was defendant as his wife, she was the constant associate of tutes and that the Plaintiff reformed by the Sister of defendant the defendant intended to have boy become intimate with the so that he could get a divorce.
 That such conduct on defendant part toward Plaintiff was for the purpose of forcing defendant to Plaintiff and which did have effect, and such conduct rendered further living together impossible.
 That such marriage relation exist.
 Wherefore, premises Plaintiff prays that citation of the defendant, commanding to appear and answer herein and the final hearing that she have dissolving such marriage relation such other and further relief or in equity as she may show entitled to receive.

United Charity Association
 Never in the history of this association so pronounced as present.
 Not a day passes but some charity are made—some times ex-soldier, or a workman whose cure work—sometimes it is a man is stranded here with his wife and children destitute. These are cases where help is needed immediately and is no organization prepared to all these emergency cases.
 Many of our people are give a meal or loan money fellow who has a good hard time and these are becoming so occurrences. The Chamber of merce of late is being made majority of cases.
 Something must be done in emergency as help must be to many of these unfortunate all who are able will contribute the problem can be met.
 We suggest that the Clubs, Lodges, the business city and county officials and sanship in general give this consideration it deserves and to help solve the situation.
 not a person in Big Spring knowingly permit a person to ery—yet ninety per cent of are not in a position to many deaths; people who meet these emergency cases and fund be handled by a committee polated by the Mayor or Council.

Presbyterian Church Notes
 That was a splendid outing the Whatsoever Circle of the Woman's Auxiliary gave Monday evening for the members of the Auxiliary, and a few of our men who were permitted to go along to assist with the work of getting supper. The barbecued chicken was certainly fine. Mrs. Dr. Ellington is Chairman of the Whatsoevers, and she was ably assisted by Mesdames J.
 W. Thurman and C. W. Cunningham, with the other members of the circle contributing to the success of the barbecune. We learned that it is a mistake to think and accuse Methodist preachers of being fonder of chicken than anybody else.
 That was a splendid Union Service we had in the Presbyterian church last Sunday evening. We understand that a number stayed away because of the smallness of our church building, thinking there would be no room; but if that was your excuse last Sunday evening, it should not be next Sunday evening, for the Union service will be held in the Methodist church, and it will hold a large congregation. A special musical program is being prepared for next Sunday evening.
 Don't forget our Sunday school at 9:45 next Sunday morning and the regular preaching service at eleven o'clock. We want to arrange for a Sunday school picnic at an early date, and so we want our folks to rally to the Sunday school, and be ready to assist us in the plans.
 A hearty and cordial welcome to all our services.
 J. W. Harrison, Pastor.

If You Like Him Let Him Know It. If with pleasure you are viewing any work a man is doing,

If you like him or you love him, tell him now;

Don't withhold your approbation till the parson makes oration.

And he lies with snowy lilies o'er his brow.

For no matter how you shout it, he won't really care about it;

He won't know how many teardrops you have shed.

If you think some praise is due him, now's the time to slip it to him,

For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead.

More than fame and more than money is the comment kind and sunny,

And the hearty, warm approval of a friend;

For it gives to life a savor, and makes you stronger, braver,

And it gives you heart and spirit to the end.

If he earns your praise, bestow it, if you like him, let him know it;

Let the words of true encouragement be said;

Do not wait till life is over and he's underneath the clover,

For he cannot read his tombstone when he's dead—Selected.

Need of a Nutrition Worker

What a Nutrition Worker will mean to the people of Big Spring and Howard County depends upon the use we make of the instruction we receive and in requiring and assisting our children to take advantage of the opportunity offered them by placing a nutrition worker in the school.

Therefore, no one can say, positively what it would mean to Big Spring and Howard County. I can only tell you what I understand a nutrition worker would do for us, from discussing the subject with Miss Huff.

For a thing to be of benefit to us, it must be something we need. Do we need a Nutrition Worker? Yes. When we stop to consider that the Human Family is supposed to be the most important of God's Creatures it seems a pity that, with all our intelligence, we first took up the study of how to improve our livestock because it meant dollars and cents, to us; and left the study of our most precious possession, the little child, to the last.

We now have Experiment Farms located in different parts of the country, maintained at a great expense to our Government where any one may go and receive expert advice on any subject pertaining to their crops or livestock. We have a Department of Agriculture and we have had such a department since 1862, with the Secretary as a member of the President's cabinet since 1889. But we are just now trying to get a department to look after our physical well being. While it will deal particularly with the welfare of the mothers and babies, still we will all benefit by it.

Of course we have health officers and rules and regulations to prevent the spreading of disease and in an epidemic, we are given assistance. We can send and get pamphlets of all kinds pertaining to health. Most cities have free clinics and, in some places nutrition workers or community nurses are maintained in connection with the school or at the expense of the community or some club or organization. But still we are behind our livestock.

A friend of mine was telling me of a talk she heard one of the nurses sent out by the Texas Public Health Association make; and among other remarks, she said Texas had taken more trouble to improve her livestock than she had her people. In reply I said One can readily account for that as there was not as much room to improve the people as there was the livestock as we have always had fine people in Texas.

There was a time when everyone thought the only kind of cattle you could raise here was long horn cattle but a few enterprising ranchmen demonstrated the fact that you could raise any kind here if you only gave them the right kind of care.

A nutrition worker would be to us in regard to our children what the Experiment farm is in regard to our livestock. A nutrition worker would come here and would take the children of Big Spring and Howard County and with some assistance she would thoroughly examine each child by weighing and testing them not merely to see if they had certain defects, but to see if they had any defects, to see if they were undernourished or overweight and locate the cause. She would form them into classes according to age and defects, and teach them how to take proper care of themselves, what to eat and what not to eat to bring themselves up to the proper standard and stay there. The classes are conducted in such a way that the child becomes interested in his own welfare and will live the way he has been taught how. He would be taught that certain indiscretions in regard to his diet, rest or amusement would prevent him from being perfectly healthy.

Talks would be given for the children, talks for the parents and if she thought it necessary, she would ask for a consultation with the mother.

All school children in the county would be examined and all those over or under school age could go to her for advice. We all know that nutrition is the process of assimilating food and the act of nourishing the body.

A long time ago we learned to feed animals according to what we wanted them to do. The draft horse and race horse are fed quite differently in regard to kind and quantity of food. We would not turn a Jersey cow loose in an alfalfa patch because alfalfa is a butter producer. No, we would be afraid we would lose our cow but still in our ignorance, we sometimes give our child to eat what we have on hand or what he wants regardless of the effect it might have on his future well being.

While some foods would be the proper foods for some people, they would not be best for others.

Noted authorities on the subject tell us that between 70 and 80 per cent of the ills of humanity are caused by improper eating; by what we eat, the amount we eat, when we eat and how we eat.

We are also told that very often the nutrition worker will find more undernourished children amongst the well-to-do than amongst the poorer classes as it is generally supposed; and, in a number of schools, the senior classes showed the highest percentage of malnutrition.

Very often the poor child's food is plain but substantial while that of the child of the wealthy man is fancy but lacking in nutriment as the coarser foods are more nourishing.

Some people think one is born healthy or weakly which is true to a certain extent, but the healthy must live right to stay healthy and those born with a predisposition to certain diseases by taking proper care of themselves can improve their general health and in the majority of cases can entirely overcome their weaknesses.

We know sickness is caused by a violation of the laws of nature by someone; sometimes it is ourselves, sometimes it is our parents or forefathers, perhaps it is the people of the community in which we live and very often it is because that some one did not know any better.

Sometimes we send our children to school, they contract some disease and we lose them. We performed our duty in the first place by sending them to school and failed in our duty in the second place by not properly safeguarding their health; or should not their health have been first?

Now a nutrition worker is not a nurse and does not nurse; she is not a physician and does not prescribe; but she is a teacher and will teach us how to live in such a way that under normal conditions we will not need a nurse or physician.

Now this is what a nutrition worker could mean as I understand it, but I will say in closing my remarks that what she will mean to the community depends upon what she will mean to the individual, and that depends on how thoroughly we carry out the instruction we receive.

Heat Fever

Several cases of heat prostration have been reported to the State Board of Health for this month, but so far no fatalities have been recorded. Some of these cases were due to direct exposure to the rays of the sun, and some to high temperature not in the direct rays of the sun.

"Sunstroke occurs in two forms," said Dr. Carrick, "Heat stroke or heat fever, in which the temperature of the body is very high, and heat prostration or heat exhaustion, in which the surface of the body is cool and body temperature sometimes considerably below normal. The difference is important because of the different treatment required. In heat stroke the temperature of the body should be reduced as rapidly as possible. Place the patient in a cold-water bath, add ice, rub the body with the blocks of ice, apply ice water with ice cap to his head, and keep up the treatment until the temperature is reduced to 100 degrees F.

"In heat prostration, with cold skin, weak and rapid pulse, stimulants and friction are required," continued Dr. Carrick. "Rub the surface of the body and the extremities, place hot-water bottles to the feet, give hot stimulating drink, (coffee or tea) and cover the body with blankets. If the head is hot, apply cold water to the forehead."

Adkins of the Bureau of Economic Geology of the University have recently been making a survey of these lands. Although they have made no statement as to the results of their investigations, it was learned from another source that in some respects their forthcoming report will be favorable as to the existence of oil in paying quantities, at least upon some portions of the lands.

Old Time Religion

Kind Editor:-

Expressly thru your press, I would like to express myself (briefly).

Denver and thereabout is being swept off her foundation as never known in her history, by one Reverend Mrs. McPherson.

The clergymen had a premonition something was going to happen and took to the tall timbers and bushes; yet one or two became a Nicodemus, came out by night and was convinced that the woman was truly of God and sent by him.

Mrs. McPherson is a modern John the Baptist in the wilderness, admonishing the people to repent, turn from their sins and come and be healed in body, mind and soul.

The public wanted to know where the ministers were. Personally, I must confess I am in the same boat with the ministers, but they are responsible. They told me that the gifts of healing and the Holy Ghost passed with Christ and the Apostles.

The great mass of humanity attend these revival meetings and the halt, maimed and blind are healed. People pass before her to be healed by scores and in turn receive the touch from her hand. People are coming here from distant cities to receive help from this wonderful God-sent woman.

Possibly there has been no such demonstration of spirituality and power since Christ and the Apostles, as being shown by this remarkable woman.

My fellow Christians, if you want to see your picture, it can be found in the history of the children of Israel's flight from Egypt to Canaan.

Most ministers come out with their scrolls, parchments and cold intellectualty to feed a people. They are a good, well-meaning people but book-ridden. Too much time is spent in State and National conventions. Churches are loaded to death with a lot of old luggage and societies of every description. It is everything but good, old-fashioned songs (and those by the congregation), prayer and bible study. It is rings, societies, organizations, wheels within wheels, a suggestion, a resolution and a committee. They try to inspire young people by pinning banners and badges on them.

The greatest trouble today, with Christians, collectively and individually is cowardice and timidity. The great need of the church today is naked bibles, bible study, prayer and a seeking of power from on high, known as the Holy Ghost.

My friend, Billy Goat Sunday, was alright in a way and his day, yet I believe Mrs. McPherson has brought us something better. Mrs. McPherson has Thomas Edison's hours and even greater powers of endurance than my friend, Sunday. Billy and the Denver ministers are fundamentally right but technically wrong. Reverend Dean Peck was her local manager and importer.

My confession,
J. A. S.

In a game of baseball between the Big Spring Elks and the Emergency Squad, at the ball park Sunday afternoon, the Elks won by a score of 8 to 5. Battle did the twirling for the Elks while Stripling was in for the extra gang. Anderson put one over the fence for a homer, while Bedford made a circuit of the bases on a safety. Some fast playing was in order part of the time—with double plays, and three up and three down transpiring quite frequently. The crowd seemed to enjoy the game immensely, and remained on to witness a second spasm of the same game. The main object of the "set-to" was to give the Elks team practice for the games that were to have been played with Herneleigh, Monday and Tuesday.

The Republicans have finally seen fit to announce that there will be no reduction in Federal taxes this year. Of course they made all kind of promises during the presidential campaign but most folks knew that was bunkum. We wonder what the majority of the 7,000,000 majority who voted for Harding, expecting a change, think of the proposition up to the present.

It seems that you can't have too many signs along a highway to keep tourists from losing their way. Signs should be made so conspicuous that a tourist could not possibly overlook them. Getting in and out of town should be made easy. It pays to be cordial to tourists for they can knock or boost your town, far and wide.

Dr. T. M. Collins made a trip to Coahoma Tuesday morning and reports finding the road quite muddy east of town, especially in the Midway section but returning by way of the North Colorado road he found it dusty all the way.

HEALTH NOTES

By DR. M. M. CARRICK State Health Officer

Dark, dirty and poorly ventilated rooms are consumption factories. Shun them.

Contagion is mainly spread by contact of the infected person with a well person. Sometimes just plain durned carelessness is responsible for the contact.

Juggle with your health and jeopardize your life.

Publicity and education are now universally conceded to be of prime importance in promotion every phase of public health work.

Improper illumination is a frequent cause of eye strain, accidents and ill health.

Your worst enemy—Spreader of Disease and Death—the Common Fly. Swat him.

An enlightened community will not permit teacher and child to remain in an unhealthful environment and have the process labelled "Education."

Under no circumstances should the tuberculosis mother be permitted to nurse the child. This is necessary for the health of the mother as well as for the protection of the infant.

All children from homes in which there is or has been tuberculosis should be carefully and repeatedly examined by a competent physician for the early detection of the disease.

Vaccination is less annoying than a pock-marked face and less expensive than a third-class funeral.

If you tire easily and are "all played out", don't dope yourself with so-called "tonics" and stimulants. See your doctor and insist upon having a thorough examination. Weariness is usually the first sign of tuberculosis.

The prevailing popularity of motion pictures and their value in health education have prompted the State Health officer, to provide several high-class reels on health subjects. They are furnished to health officers, societies, and schools without charge on application. On account of the strong demand, however, it is advisable to make requests well in advance if the pictures are wanted for any particular date.

Dr. Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee
Physician for Troubles Re-

Liver.

Nashville, Tenn.—The afflic-tion of Thadford's Black-Draught, the herb, liver medicine, is recommended by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a physician of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I believe I could get along without it for sour stomach, headache, indigestion, and all troubles that are the result of torpid liver.

It is known and used it for years, and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it is supposed to do. I can't say enough for it.

Other men and women throughout the country have found Black-draught just as Mr. Parsons describes it in regulating the liver to normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

What is perhaps the most significant incident in the history of Mexico since Maximilian's troops were defeated fifty years ago, is contained in the announcement that from Sept. 12 to Oct. 12 of this year an International Commercial exposition will be held at Mexico City to which various nations are invited to contribute exhibits.

••• To Mexico, this forthcoming exposition will be what the centennial exposition at Philadelphia in 1876 was to the United States of that day, the first thing of its magnitude ever held in the country. The United States should see to it that no effort is spared to co-operate with Mexico in making this exposition a thrilling success.

America's nearest neighbor is the land not of tomorrow, but of today. Time for American interest to be manifested in Mexico is now and to be manifested unselfishly and generously. Great industrial and commercial interests of the United States should be represented at this exposition in Mexico City. No plans should be omitted to make American exhibits there at once interesting and impressive. Opening in mid-September and continuing till mid-October, the exposition should attract the highest and best of American travelers in quest of a place and a people that are equally charming. Mexico City is, at any season of the year, delightfully quiet. From the Rio Grande to the Isthmus of Tehuantepec there is scarcely a stretch of fifty miles of country that is not invested with distinct charm for the beauty-loving American. Industrially, commercially or agriculturally, Mexico is to the average American who looks southward with discerning eyes little less than an El Dorado, a place where dreams come true and the joy of living is at once keen and sustained. To those who may be privileged to visit this forthcoming exposition at Mexico City there is in store a succession of revelations that will promptly dissipate prejudice and tend to knit with ties of social and commercial concord the people of Mexico and those of the United States.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Enforcing the Law

Marshall Messenger: Sid Hatfield's explanation that he "does not pose as a gunman" was entirely unnecessary. Hatfield is city marshal of a mining town in West Virginia, where a strike is going on. The operators sent thirteen detectives to the town, and they were carrying pistols. Hatfield said it was against the city ordinances to carry pistols, and asked the Mayor for warrants to arrest the thirteen detectives. He got the warrants, and undertook to serve them.
After the smoke cleared away, it was found that seven of the thirteen detectives were dead. It was unnecessary for Hatfield to say he did not "pose." Certainly he was in action, with no time to pose.

Sid wasn't one of those fellows who are all the time saying that you can't enforce the law without public opinion to back you up. Sid figured that what an officer of the law needs to enforce the law is backbone and he estimated that his spinal column was stiff enough to stand the strain. It was a straight shooting officer with a straight backbone can create a little public opinion.
If necessary, when the law is plain and the violation of it is arrogant. Most of these officers who are complaining about inability to get the "co-operation" of the public are really held up by their fear of the consequences of doing a little "operating" on their own hook.
Any man who enforces the law with a weather eye out for his re-election is likely to be a poor enforcer of the law. It is the man who does what he knows is his duty, let the bootleggers fall where they may, who gets the dirty work cleaned out. Public opinion does make the law, but public opinion has nothing to do with a man's oath to enforce the law as he finds it on the statute book. If a public official proves false to that oath he is foresworn, though he have all the public opinion in the country to endorse him. When public opinion interferes with a man's oath to the point where he can't live up to it, it is time for him to resign and move out of the country. Come to Texas.—State Press in Dallas News.

Conditions Abroad

In all the European countries, Russia alone excepted, conditions are said to be steadily improving. Industry continues to be hampered by the dis-corded state of public finances, but this heavy handicap is being gradually overcome. The National Bank of Commerce of New York publishes a review of conditions according to information obtained from its correspondence abroad and says:

German competition in the international market is favored by the position of the mark, but on the other hand, continued inflation of the Germany currency after inflation has practically ceased in other countries, is serving to maintain German production costs, including labor, while they are declining elsewhere. While the Russian situation imposes a heavy handicap on European recovery, it is to be remembered that Russia has been practically cut off from Europe for seven years, and business has become accustomed to do without Russia.

In the European situation there are also indications of a steady of political conditions and of a better attitude of the respective nations toward each other, which are of especial significance. A restoration of political stability must in large measure precede Europe's economic rehabilitations.
Tangible evidence of this improvement are the attempt at a solution of the difficulties between Great Britain and Ireland, the passing of the Silesian crisis, and the discussions under way between France and Germany, with a view to payments of reparations in kind. Encouragement is also found in plans for a conference looking toward limitation of armaments.

Conditions in India and China are clearly, even if only slightly, better, despite the position of silver and uncertain political factors in both countries. Improvement in Japan is clearly indicated by improvement in the bank position. The less developed countries those chiefly dependent on an export market for raw materials, are at this time in the least satisfactory condition.
Reviewing the world situation as a whole, however, for the first time since the armistice, there is a sound basis for a hopeful view.

Optimism is a great leaven. It goes hand in hand with faith and contentment and generosity. It is a valuable medicine for many of the ills of life.
It drives away the blues. Who ever heard of a grouchy ill-tempered person having optimism or faith, or contentment, or any degree of generosity?
And so, as optimism radiates the cheerful feelings of life it makes those who possess it more welcome wherever they go.

Optimism might be carried to excess, but so long as it is accompanied by faith and work, with emphasis on both, it is not likely to be inappropriate at any time. Optimism is better than worry, for the latter is certain to affect the morale adversely while the former adds to both the courage and endurance.

Be optimistic and "carry on". The man was never defeated until he threw up his hands and quit. The true optimist does not admit defeat. He may stumble once in a while and have a few falls, but little things like that merely add to his zest of life and he takes a new tack and goes on his way more determined than ever.

An optimist may make enemies. Evil and the ways of darkness never did like an optimist. He has too many good qualities to have much in common with them. They have a substitute for optimism that they call a "jolly good fellow," who has optimism when bought up with artificial stimulants, be they liquid or otherwise, but who has not the stamina of the true optimist.

The world at large and especially the good, people in it like an optimist and will honor him much more readily and with a greater enthusiasm than they will the pessimist who shows a lack of faith, both in himself and in others. Be an optimist.—Fort Worth Record.

People's Review. The placing of crude oil on the free list of the new tariff bill is only another evidence that the big-interest dollar is it with the lawmakers, with production from the earth considered a negligible proposition.
The Republican axiom, "God bless the rich—the poor can rustle" is on top—and companies like the Standard can browbeat American producers to the ruin of an industry which pays to government more than any other of its production results—pays more than half its gross returns.

What-So-Evers Entertain Other Circles.

The Whatsoever Circle of the Presbyterian church entertained the other Circles last Monday evening in a most delightful manner.

Autos were provided and the crowd taken out to an enticing spot where one of the well trained husbands was found already on hand, attired in a suit of overalls and with a good fire going.

Soon thereafter the savory odor of baked chicken pervaded the air. The ladies rested, played games, and did stunts while several of the efficient husbands continued to prepare a feast. All did full justice to the delicious barbecued chicken and other “good eats” and at the close three rousing cheers were given for the Whatsoevers and their well trained husbands.

Methodist Notes

Interest in real service is being manifested by our Sunday school classes. Mrs. Hardy's class have re-papered and painted their room in the absence of their teacher. Not content to do something for themselves, they very generously gave the Beginner's Dept. several feet of space and a window. Mr. J. R. Hughes very kindly volunteered his services, and single handed, moved the partition between the rooms, built a book case for the Beginner's literature and made three tables for use when they do hand work. It seems to us we just have the finest spirited men and women one could find anywhere. Our teachers have not been generally stricken with heat, that many of them have been forced to rest for the summer. The classes are all doing pretty well. Miss Annie Ward has such a well-behaved group of boys—20 or more, from 11 to 13—that is a pleasure to observe them. A week or so ago she took them on a picnic and swimming party which the class states was the best time they ever had. Picnics seem to be the order of the day. Different classes are availing themselves of every opportunity for a good time.

Sustained interest in the daily life of their students is the secret of the successful teachers.

Although it was rather muddy last Monday, a small group of Auxiliary women had a delightful time at the home of Mrs. Eason.

Monday is business session and we meet at the church at 4. Let all the members who can, plan to attend. We rather hope to have an interesting account of their journey to Yellowstone by Mrs. Hardy, who will be present.

Our own preacher will be back for morning service Sunday. We welcome all visiting ministers and enjoy their messages very much indeed—but we love our own the best, and we are not at all too modest to admit it. No one else suits us so well. Let every Methodist come Sunday morning to give him a welcome handshake. Come to Sunday school first, and be sure of a reserved seat.

Baptist Notes

Rev. S. W. Kendrick is helping Rev. Leach in a few days meeting at Salem Baptist church. Much interest is being manifested and several conversions have been reported.

Rev. W. A. Bowen, former pastor of the First Baptist church at Big Spring, Tex., and Mr. Kendrick had requested Bro. Bowen to preach Sunday evening in the church at 8:15 p. m. All are urged to attend. The pastor, Rev. Kendrick will preach at the 11 a. m. hour.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Another Reduction in Ford Cars

“Another reduction has been made in the list price of all types of Ford cars and the Ford Truck to take effect immediately. The list price, f. o. b. Detroit, are now as follows:

TOURING CAR.....	$415.00
RUNABOUT.....	370.00
COUPE.....	695.00
SEDAN.....	760.00
CHASSIS.....	345.00
TRUCK-CHASSIS.....	495.00
TRACTOR.....	625.00

“The big reductions last fall were made in anticipation of low material costs which we are getting the benefit of, and this fact together with increased manufacturing efficiency and the unprecedented demand for Ford cars, particularly during the past three months permitting maximum production, have made another price reduction possible immediately.

“Ford business for April and May 1921 was greater by 56,633 cars than for the same two months in 1920; in fact, the demand has been even greater than the supply, so that our output has been limited not by unfilled orders but by manufacturing facilities.

“During May we produced 101,424 Ford cars and trucks for sale in the United States alone—the biggest month in the history of our company—and our factories and assembly plants are now working on a 4000 car daily schedule for June.

“The Fordson tractor is still being sold at less than the cost to produce on account of the recent big price reductions, and it is impossible, therefore, to make any further cut in the price of the tractor. Can you afford to go without a car any longer when Fords are selling at these new low prices? There is no reason now why you should delay purchasing a Ford car, Ford truck, or Fordson tractor.

We will gladly advise you concerning the delivery of a Fordson tractor or the particular type of car in which you are interested. Just phone us or drop us a card.
