

SLATON PAVING ISSUE CARRIES MORE THAN 3 TO 1

CHAMBER COMMERCE HAS ANNUAL BANQUET

City Votes $100,000 Paving Program;
Seventeen Blocks in Business Section,
Includes Texas Ave. to Santa Fe Depot

Large Crowd Enjoy Feast Prepared
By Parent-Teachers Assn; Directors
Elected; Progressive Note Sounded

On last Monday evening from eight to ten thirty o'clock the Slaton Chamber of Commerce held its annual banquet and election of officers at the High School building. About eighty people were in attendance. The banquet was served under the direction of the High School P. T. A., the girls from the classes in Domestic Art attending the tables.

The banquet hall was decorated in the High School colors, purple and white, and the tables bore loads of beautiful flowers, and an arrangement of candlesticks holding lighted candles was found on each table. The scene was an inviting one, and happy was the crowd gathered about the festive board.

The invocation was said by Rev. B. W. Dodson. With W. H. Smith, President of Chamber of Commerce and Agent of the P. & S. F. Ry., presiding as toastmaster, the program was opened with the serving of the menu consisting of roast turkey, cranberry sauce, creamed potatoes, celery, turkey dressing, ice cream, cake, hot rolls, and coffee. There was no question in the mind of anyone present as to whether that large group of people thoroughly enjoyed their feast served before them by the ladies of the P. T. A. assisted by those fine girls.

At the conclusion of the meal, Miss Frances Hoffman rendered a delightful vocal number, and she was lustily encored. Miss Jeannette Ramsey accompanied her at the piano.

Attorney Rosco Wilson of Lubbock, counsel for the Santa Fe Ry., spoke for a few minutes on the Relation of the Transportation Industry to Community Progress. He said: "Transportation is closely linked with community progress. Development in the Plains region has resulted largely from the advantages offered by the railroad pioneer of all this great West—the Santa Fe. We should appreciate the blessing of having good railroad facilities, for were it not so, all our efforts would be in vain relative to developing industry. This shows us how dependent we are upon transportation and upon those who furnish us with the facilities of transportation."

Howard Hoffman appeared in a very splendid violin solo number. He was heartily encored for a second number. Miss Frances Guffin accompanied him at the piano.

Mrs. P. V. Burns was not present to give a vocal selection as the program had been arranged.

In the absence of Judge I. R. Kelson of the Texas Utilities Company, because of illness, Attorney R. A. Baldwin of Slaton was called on as a "pinch hitter." Among many other good things, he said: "Public Utilities corporations are fair, just, and thoroughly human. They are not a bunch of grafters as many people think them to be. They are servants of the people, and are benefactors of their fellows. The service they render is, in practically all cases, superior to that possible on the part of individual enterprises, and most always they give service at much lower rates. The men at the head of our public utilities organizations are high class citizens and men of outstanding ability. They deserve the co-operation, assistance, and liberal support of the people they serve."

At this point Miss Margaret Whitehead delighted the entire audience with two fine readings. The appreciation of her hearers was evidenced by their applause calling her back for a third rendition.

B. J. Murray of Lubbock and formerly of Slaton, who was slated to speak, sent word that he regretted his inability to attend the meeting. He had, however, spoken on the "Relation of the Chamber of Commerce to Community Progress." President W. H. Smith called upon Rev. Jno. P. Hardesty, pastor of the Baptist Church, to speak on the subject that had been assigned to Mr. Murray. Rev. Hardesty responded, and said in part: "The Chamber of Commerce is a strong factor in the development of any community. The organization should be under the leadership of progressive, public-spirited citizens who will work for the common good at the sacrifice of their own personal interests if necessary. The Chamber of Commerce should be appreciated by all the people, and should have the support of every individual."

At the conclusion of this address, the election of new officers for the coming year was taken up. This involved the selection of six members of the Board of Directors, there being five hold-overs on the board of eleven members. The hold-overs are: Messrs. W. H. Smith, W. B. Hestand, J. T. Overby, S. E. Staggs, and W. H. McKirahan. The new ones elected Monday night are: J. S. Teague, (re-elected), H. G. Stokes, (re-elected), F. H. Latham, Alex DeLong, J. W. Hood, and J. A. Elliott.

The new officers were elected by secret ballot, only members of the C. of C. voting. Lists of eligibles were distributed showing to voting members the names of those from whom to make their choices. In counting the ballots, a committee of three was appointed to make tabulations, the committee being: Messrs. Jack Callaway, S. E. Staggs, and R. W. Collier, Jr.

While the ballots were being counted by the committee, inspirational talks were heard from Rev. B. W. Dodson, outgoing pastor of the Methodist Church, Sec'y Claude Miller of the C. of C., and Mrs. B. H. Erwin.

At the close of the program, the entire audience stood and sang "America."

It may be truthfully said that the meeting Monday night was the most successful and the most encouraging one ever staged by the local Chamber of Commerce. Optimism was the keynote of the meeting. Plans of the body were never more worthy than now, and the work being done by the organization was never equalled before. The Board of Directors of the past year have been alert and forward-looking. The selection of Mr. Miller as secretary of the body has meant new life, new zeal, and new objectives that are worthy in every respect. In bringing about these conditions, Secretary Miller has had wise and helpful counsel from the Directors. The outgoing members deserve much commendation for their untiring labors; and for the new members it should be said that they are wise choices of the organization, and are in every way worthy of the tremendous responsibility thus imposed upon them. They are all progressive men and loyal citizens. The Chamber of Commerce will thrive and grow in influence and in accomplishment under their careful direction, as they work side by side with the hold-over members of the board and with the people of Slaton and Slaton territory.

Out-of-town guests at the banquet included Messrs. Henderson and Neal Douglas of Lubbock, besides the visiting speakers on the program.

APPOINTED DEPUTY SHERIFF

Why Spend Money Outside of Slaton?

(An Editorial)
One week from Saturday the Chamber of Commerce Home Industry Week will start in Slaton. To some people, this event will mean nothing; to others it is an important step in the progress of humanity. Civilization is said to be the ability of mankind to live in close proximity to his neighbor, in peace. We have all heard it affirmed from time to time that no man could live unto himself, alone. Since the beginning of this movement for home trade, traveling agents, and other individuals of questionable judgment, have accused Slaton of attempting to pull the China stunt of shutting out the outside world.

Obviously this is a weak and ineffectual stand. Slaton is not advocating shutting out the outside world, nor never will advocate such a thing. When money can be spent in Slaton, money that will tend toward the upbuilding of our city, then we should spend it here. Of course, there is a certain part of the money that is in Slaton which must go to the outside world; but on the other hand there is money in Slaton which is going to the outside world that should be spent in Slaton. It is this Slaton money that is daily going to the outside world which rightfully belongs in Slaton that Home Industry Week is calculated to keep here.

Do you do your banking business outside of Slaton? You, a citizen of Slaton, would be ashamed to give a check on an out of town bank; you should be just as much ashamed to spend money in some other town that belongs in Slaton, as to keep a bank account elsewhere.

Home Industry Week is Nov. 28th to Dec. 5th.

Slaton Tigers Play At Memphis Friday

According to Coach Gus Miller, all is in readiness for the Slaton-Memphis tilt when the Slaton High football team goes to Memphis to play the bi-district championship game on Friday, November 20. The men have been training earnestly and carefully, and the team is by far in the best shape it has been in since the season started. From advance dope which the Slaton boys have been able to get, it looks like the game with Memphis will be the hardest of the season.

The Slaton team will leave here Thursday the 19th, and will go to Memphis via cars. From present indications quite a number of Slaton people intend to attend the game. Memphis is only about one hundred and fifty miles from Slaton, or about a five or six hour drive. Slaton citizens who would see the game can leave here at 9 a. m. on Friday, and if they have no bad luck will be able to arrive in time to see the game.

It is hoped by the school authorities and by the football boys that all of the Slaton folks who can will attend the game. Nothing is so disheartening to a team as to be on foreign soil when the opposition is rooting like a house on fire. A yell now and then from friends on the sideline has gone a long way to win many a ball game.

The Slaton High School football team has made for itself an enviable record this year, in piling up a score of 188 points to their opponents 27. Let's do our part to keep Slaton leading by turning out in goodly numbers for the coming game. Slaton is about to get into the race for the State Championship in football; think what that means.

C. of C. President Issues Statement

The mission of the Chamber of Commerce is to be of service to the people of the community in which it exists. With this in mind, the Slaton Chamber of Commerce has taken a step toward the regulation of solicitors who are apt to come to our town from time to time.

Many advertising projects, sales schemes, and charity seekers are representative of worth while causes. For those who have something that is good, the Chamber of Commerce wants to help rather than hinder, but for the great crowd of fakers who invade our city quite frequently our people have no time to waste listening to their proposition.

At the meeting of the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, held November 18th, the newly elected directors decided to take a step toward the suppression of fake salesmen and solicitors. In brief the plan follows: That membership cards which are being printed for the Chamber of Commerce should bear these words "SOLICITORS must have the endorsement of the Chamber of Commerce." One of these membership cards is to be furnished each member of the Chamber of Commerce. When a solicitor calls on a local merchant who has no time to listen carefully to something that is likely to turn out to be a grafting scheme, the merchant can simply point to his card and let it go at that. On the other hand the merchant is in no way bound to any sort of an agreement by the display of this card. If he wishes to listen to every proposition that comes along, and buy from everyone that is his own affair. The action taken by our directors was simply to furnish an outlet through which a business man might escape if he did not wish to be bored.

Naturally, when a solicitor has been sighted to this notation on a printed card by two or three business men he is going to seek the Chamber of Commerce endorsement. When he calls at the office and states that he has a proposition to present he will be asked to wait a few minutes while a committee of a few business men meet and listen to what he has to say. If this committee decides he has something that is worth while, he will be given a letter saying that apparently he is all right. Then when he shows this letter to other business men they may either listen or not as they see fit. At any rate, they will feel a little more secure in investing money with a total stranger after he has been passed on by a group of men who have listened carefully and thoughtfully to his sales talk. But always when a solicitor comes to the Chamber of Commerce he will be given the opportunity to have his project passed on by a committee. Never will any one man; the Secretary, President, nor any one else, pass on something and issue an official endorsement of it.

This plan has been in effect in cities such as Detroit, Mich., and other cities over the nation for a number of years. Many of the smaller towns and cities are now adopting it. Solicitors are learning that they must face an examination board in every town before they will be received very graciously by any business man, and this knowledge in itself has gone a long way toward the suppression of fakers.

Of course, this examination and endorsement does not apply to dry goods, hardware, shoe salesmen, etc., that are handling a staple line of goods. It is intended to apply on to these questionable characters who are willing to sell a twenty dollar gold piece at the special reduced price of nineteen dollars and seventy-five cents.

This service is not for Chamber of Commerce only. It is intended for any business man or citizen of Slaton who is approached by someone who is of doubtful reliability. Any man can say "You will have to have a letter from the Chamber of Commerce before

Slaton will pave. Slaton is progressive. Her citizens proved it unmistakably last Tuesday when they voted bonds in the sum of $100,000.00 for the purpose of paving seventeen blocks of streets in the business district, including streets leading all around the square, one block away from the square on all intersecting streets, and all the way from the square to the Santa Fe station along Texas Avenue.

The election was quiet and unmarked by any spirit of factionalism, there being a total of a few more than three hundred votes cast, and a large majority being piled up in favor of the issue. The vote on the law relating to street improvements as provided for under state statutes carried by a vote of 241 to 76. The vote for the paving bond issue was 242 to 74. In each case, the majority was more than three to one in favor of the proposition.

It is interesting to note that, as had been explained, if the laws relating to street improvements had failed, the whole issue would have failed because the adoption of those benefits was prerequisite to the adoption of the bond issue. And, the vote on the street improvement laws was almost identical with the vote on the bonds, there being only one vote difference.

The work of paving will be begun as soon as the bonds have been disposed of and the contract for the paving awarded.

The Slatonite is proud of the fact that Slaton citizens saw fit to adopt the bond issue by such an overwhelming majority. And, also, we are proud of the fact that we have had a part in this great forward movement that will mean so much in advancing Slaton to the front ranks as a live, growing city. For years, this paper has stood for progressiveness in town building. For years, we have thrown the weight of our influence on the side of every issue calculated to bring betterment to the town and community. For a number of years, the Slatonite has advocated paving for Slaton.

We would not boast, by any means, that we are wholly responsible for the bond issue having been adopted by such a large majority, but we are glad that we have had a part in this great movement for town improvement.

We congratulate the entire citizenship for their action at the polls last Tuesday.

METHODIST CONFERENCE RAPS

Newspaper headlines during the past week were pretty well made up of references to the raps taken by the Methodist Conference at Canyon on evolution, modernism, and the state administration.

The Northwest Conference criticized the schools that might be teaching evolution, and expressed the desire that money be withheld from such schools. They want orthodoxy in the schools and orthodoxy on the part of their preachers. They were not friendly toward modernism, and made no effort to conceal the fact. They rapped it soundly.

The Conference was of the opinion that the present state administration was being conducted in such a manner as to encourage lawlessness, and especially the violation of the prohibition amendment.

Whatever one's personal views on these matters, it may be credited to those Methodist preachers and laymen assembled at Canyon last week that they were not afraid to express their convictions. They did not fail to speak against the evils they believed to exist.

Very likely there will be considerable criticism of the action taken by the Canyon Conference. Some will say they had no business attacking the teaching of evolution. Others will foam because they condemned modernism. Still others will rave because they criticized the present state administration and called it by name. Well and good. Let them rave and let them criticize. As for us, we say that a Methodist Conference or any other religious assembly has a perfect right to speak its mind on these subjects, and nobody has a right to attempt to muzzle them in the act of saying what they think.

The Methodists "rapped", and they rapped hard.

GUARD THE GIRLS

It is reported that recently two boys were arrested in Slaton on a charge of attempting to induce two young girls to go riding with them, accosting them on the street after dark and extending the invitation. The father of one of the girls was responsible for their apprehension a few minutes later.

It was said that the young men were intoxicated, and that the girls were very much frightened as a result of the experience.

We are aware that such occurrences are common all over the country. And, what's more, it continues because in many cases the boys are rewarded by the girls accepting their invitations to get in their cars. Were it not for this fact, giving the boys a chance to believe they may meet with success in their effort to have the girls join their party, there would be no such instances. But, they do not always succeed in influencing the girls, as for example, the incident in question.

It should be true that none of the girls would accept such invitations. And, it should be true that parents be more careful about permitting their youthful daughters to venture forth on the streets at night unescorted. Better guard the girls, and the girls better guard themselves. When both parents and the girls are on guard, the practice of boys and young men who pull stunts of this kind will cease.

An example of "wasteful and ridiculous excess" is to undertake to point out the truth to one who refuses to see; to expound facts to him who refuses to hear; and to teach him who refuses to learn.

THE DICTIONARY HABIT

The Progressive Farmer recounts that when asked what their favorite volumes were, Billy Sunday, Harold Lloyd, Harry Houdini, William Beebe, and Eleanor Gates all voted for the dictionary. They stated it to be one of their ten favorite books.

Many of us will recall how we learned years ago that some of our greatest statesmen learned the foundations of their equipment for life's success by carrying the dictionary in the pocket and learning a new word every time a turn was made at the end of the row while plowing in the field.

It is a fact that the dictionary habit is a good one. Scores and hundreds of people use words incorrectly every day that they think are rightly used, but since they are not exactly clear in their understanding of them, they butcher their language and express themselves very poorly.

What people need is the exact meaning of the words they use. The best place to find out is in the dictionary. It is not safe to THINK you know, but it is best to KNOW you know. The dictionary will put you right when you are wrong. Consult it often.

"POLITICAL GESTURES"

Back in the good old days of James Stephen Hogg, Governor of Texas, and back in the good old days of Texas when Charles M. Culberson was Governor, of Texas (and in connection with them we can spell Governor was a capital "G"), whenever they entered upon a big crusade for the people of their state, their enemies used an old, but with many an effective, weapon, and branded the efforts of these men "political gestures."

Be it said to their credit that the calumny, abuse, ridicule, criticism, threats, and charges that they were engaged in "political gestures," left them undaunted in the cause of right, and the pusillanimous projectiles and poisoned bullets of their enemies fell from their armor like drops of rain from a duck's back.

There is no difference in the quality of the crusades of Hogg and Culberson in behalf of truth, honor, justice and honesty and the present crusade of Dan Moody, attorney general of Texas, to present truth, defend honor, promote justice and accomplish honesty in Texas, in the latter's efforts to cancel the road maintenance contracts made by the State Highway Commission with various road contractors operating in the state.

Moody's efforts, too, are today branded as "political gestures." Just as Caesar has his Brutus, so does Dan Moody have his governor!

ABOUT TEXAS

Texas has 11,267 farms of over 1,000 acres each.

Texas uses more natural gas for fuel in producing power than is used in any other state.

Texas leads all the states in numbers of beef cattle, mules, sheep and goats.

Three-fourths of the total electric generating capacity in Texas is interconnected.

Crude petroleum to the value of a billion and a half dollars has been produced and marketed in Texas.

Texas plants extract 186,571,000 gallons of gasoline from natural gas each year. The gas is better fuel afterwards.

THE COST OF LIVING

There are a few fundamental facts regarding everyday affairs which should be more generally understood. Since 1913 the cost of living has gone up 65 per cent. This means that you are paying 65 per cent more for your clothes, rent, groceries, meat and such monthly bills, than you were 12 years ago.

Contrast this with achievement of electric light and power industry during the same years. Figures taken from Bureau of Labor Statistics, United States Department of Labor, show that the cost of electricity has actually gone down since 1913.

Few other commodities or services, except insurance, can show such a record. The cost of government during this same period has in many instances doubled and trebled. One trembles to think what would have happened to electric light and power industry and insurance business if they had been owned by the government and the cost for these indispensable services had been increased in proportion to cost of government.

SEEK TREATMENT TOO LATE

"The records of human cancer clearly show that the ignorant and uninformed seek treatment in the last stages of this disease," further stated Dr. Bloodgood, "and that during this period of waiting in fully half of the cases, cancer cells have broken away from the original local growth, and have been carried by the blood or lymph stream through the body, making a cure almost impossible if not entirely so."

"But when people receive correct information and seek immediate examination, and cancer is found to be present in its earliest stages, the probability of a permanent cure is more than 70 per cent. There is also an additional reason for acting in time. The local condition may not yet be cancer, and if this is true, cancer can be prevented by prompt treatment."

Some of the warnings of Nature as to cancer or what may develop into cancer, and which should be given immediate medical attention, as given by Dr. Bloodgood are:

Any soreness in the mouth or white patch caused by uneven teeth or other irritating substances; any mole or wart that becomes sore; any new skin defect like a scaly area; a lump in the breast of a woman over 20; and any sudden kind of indigestion or discomfort within the abdomen.

IMPRISONING JURIES

In Texas, and other states, whenever twelve men are empaneled to hear a criminal case of the grade of felony, the members of the jury are not permitted to separate, but must be at all times kept together, and in charge of an officer.

This practice is deemed necessary in order to preserve justice.

It assumes, of course, that the twelve men are less impelled by honor and honesty than is the one man who officially guards them.

It assumes that there is a certain element of imbecility in that portion of the court machinery commonly known as the jury.

In civil actions, and criminal cases I as than felony, the jury is permitted to go home to sleep, and otherwise to enjoy a measure of liberty—like free men in a free, enlightened country. We are very much afraid that, in a felony case, if the members of the jury are treated like upright citizens, they will, in the brief time they are separated while doing jury service, become corrupted. Yet, in other respects we are not nearly so particular about guarding personal rights in our court procedure. For example, if a man is litigating property rights, he is given two appeals from the judgment of the trial court—one to the court of civil appeals and another to the Supreme Court. And if that same man were on trial for his life, and was sentenced to death, he would have, under our law, but one appeal.

Consistency!

To our way of thinking, it is an insult to a jury to imprison and guard them while they are performing that particular phase of public service known as jury service. Why not also imprison the judge and the attorneys trying the case? Might not the judge be bribed, or the prosecuting attorney, or the defense attorney, while running at large during the trial of a case where it is a matter of life or death, or a long prison term? And would not a corrupted judge or prosecuting attorney or defense lawyer have the means equally with the jury to thwart public justice?

Would it do any harm to place the jurors on their honor—and oaths? Imprisoning the jury is a relic of barbarism. Jurors are entitled to be treated with public confidence. "Trust men and they will be true to you; treat them greatly and they will show themselves great." This might also be found to work if acted on by society.

It is little wonder that good men abhor jury service. If a judge was obliged to submit to imprisonment and to being guarded during the trial of a felony case, being a judge would, too, become an unsought and an unwelcome duty.

But men's judicial systems, like their religious systems, always bring up the rear in humanity's onward march toward enlightenment and progress—they are never found in the vanguard!

THE GOVERNOR'S POSITION

Dan Moody, attorney general of Texas, is now engaged in filing lawsuits to cancel road maintenance contracts made by the State Highway Department with various road companies, alleging among other things that the prices contracted to be paid by the Highway Commission out of the people's money for such work are excessive, unreasonable and unconscionable.

In the petitions the attorney general is presenting to the court in these cases, facts, under oath, are set out, which, if at all true, present a situation that evidences the grossest inefficiency, incompetency and unconcern for the public welfare that could be imagined. To the people of Texas the facts presented will seem to evidence gross dishonesty. Wastefulness and criminal extravagance are pictured in subdued tones in the petitions for cancellation of these contracts. They seem to evidence a minimizing of the facts, which, when brought to light in court, will present even a more appalling situation of graft than the petitions themselves exhibit.

The Chairman of the Highway Commission has written a letter to Ma Ferguson, nominal governor of Texas, wherein he attempts to make reply to the suits of the attorney general. That he has utterly failed to answer the allegations of the attorney general, or even feebly to explain them, we leave it for the intelligence of Texas to judge.

In reply to that letter, the governor's office has expressed the fullest confidence in the course taken by the Highway Commission, and in the reply opportunity was found to condemn the course taken by the attorney general. The governor ordered the Highway Commission to make answer to the suits, to defend the contracts and to challenge the authority of the attorney general even to file the suits.

If one may judge from the great unanimity of opinion, as expressed in the press of Texas, it seems that the governor is definitely aligned against the suits and on the side of the Highway Commission, while the people of Texas are definitely aligned on the side of

Sometimes we refer to certain Snyder men as optimists when the fact is they are merely too lazy to kick.—Scurry Co. Times.

We are surprised two ways. One, that there are any such men in Snyder. Two, that Editor Martin would make such a frank, clarifying explanation. He ought to be optimistic enough to feel sure that all his optimistic Snyderians are so because nature inclined them that way, not because they are "too lazy to kick." Of course, it might be that nature made them lazy, or could it be the "Under-Cap" climate?

'All is generally the nicest time of the year, but this year indications are that the politicians are going to start in where the mosquitoes left off.—Lamb Co. Leader.

What would a newspaper do were it not for the ever-available subjects of "politics" and "politicians" to write about? Always, when you can think of nothing else, there's politics to discuss, and politicians to "raze." However, the Leader confined itself to a very short paragraph on the subject in this case, and the one quoted is a pretty good "squibb," too. It might be added to the Leader's comment that 'all is interrupted every other year in the same manner. The candidates don't let us rest very long—just long enough for them to get back at us in plenty of time before the next election.

Speaking of newspapers always having politics and politicians for available subjects, makes us think of the fact that some newspapers, judging by their contents, think they are the political barometers of the country—that they are authorities on every conceivable subject in which political manipulations are involved. It is all right for an editor to strive to reflect in his writings his honest convictions and the general sentiment of the people truth or falsity of the issues as the courts can. It is not the executive duty to determine them, but it is the executive duty to demand, foster and compel the investigation, to the end that the truth may be made known and the interests of the people of Texas protected, for, after all, the person holding executive position should be the governor of all the people and not merely the governor of the Highway Commission and of those with whom that Commission has made arrangements to spend the people's money. Doubts should be resolved in favor of the people and in behalf of the investigation now under way.

Just at this juncture, when the governor is undertaking to block the efforts of the attorney general to accomplish public justice and conserve official and political morality in the Lone Star State, we recall with hope and assurance, the statement of the Hon. Lee Satterwhite, Speaker of the House of Representatives, that if the suits of the attorney general do not accomplish what is expected, the investigation will be made by the Legislature, and we shall not be surprised if, in January, 1926, the Legislature of Texas is in session busily engaged in impeachment proceedings.

The conscience of Texas is being aroused, and the people of Texas have retained unto themselves a power and authority that, in emergencies, can be exercised in a manner that will make the power and authority delegated to the executive look like an old maids' pink tea brigade.

Dan, we, the people of Texas, are with you, and more power to your strong right arm!

We give satisfaction PLUS in your job printing. Slatonite.

Te governor cannot determine the ple on some of these subjects, but where's the need for his being always and forever trying to be the Official Political Interpreter for the whole people? We've seen some like that.

A man should not always be judged by what he gives, but by the way in which he gives. The modest gift of the modest man, who gives purely for the sake of giving is much more commendable than the larger and much heralded gift of the proud man who gives only for the publicity it will bring him.—McKinney Democrat-Gazette.

In other words, the spirit of the giver when he makes the gift determines the value of the gift itself. Not the value in terms of dollars and cents, but the REAL value of it. The Great Teacher taught us this when he so highly commended the widow who gave her mite—all she had. That widow gave in the spirit of self-sacrifice. She had no plans for the morrow, for she gave ALL, and nothing was left. Therefore, she gave in faith, believing she would be provided for. Too many people are quick to praise the person who makes a large gift just because it is large. The giver might have given ten times as much and yet have done less in proportion than the person who gave the least in actual dollars and cents.

Palace To Show
"Ancient Highway"

A special attraction extraordinary will appear at the Palace Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, November 25th and 26th. The story "The Ancient Highway" was written by James Oliver Curwood, and its a Paramount picture.

A brief synopsis follows:
After adventuring all over the world, Clifton Brant returns to his native town along the St. Lawrence River, Canada, to beat up Ivan Hurd, a millionaire paper manufacturer who ruined Cliff's father and caused his death. Unknown to Cliff, the fight has been witnessed by a beautiful girl, Antoinette St. Ives. Later she telephones him that Hurd is on his way with the police to have him arrested. Cliff takes to "the ancient highway," which leads through romantic rural districts with magnificent scenery. On the way he meets a young man fighting three others and, to make things more even, jumps in without asking questions and helps the youth win. The latter is Gaspard St. Ives, brother to Antoinette. He takes Cliff to his home, where Cliff meets Antoinette and falls in love with her.
Brant tells Antoinette of his love, and his ardor frightens her and she repulses him, though she is really in love with him.

Cliff learns that Hurd has been making unwelcome love to the girl. Antoinette derives her income from the Laurentian Paper Company, a competitor of Hurd's, and the latter has been trying by every fair and foul means to run the Laurentian Company to the wall to get Antoinette for himself. Brant resolves to frustrate him and goes into the Lumber Company, getting a job with the Laurentian outfit.

Matters reach their climax in the spring drive of logs. If the Laurentian people can get their logs to the St. Lawrence, they are saved. Hurd has a hill dynamited so that it slides into the swift stream carrying the Laurentian logs and causes a block. Cliff rushes down the stream ahead of the millions of onrushing logs trying frantically to get to the hill before the dynamite, but is too late. Though all hands work hard to free the jam, it seems impossible, until Brant determines to dynamite it at a crucial point. He has fired the charge, with the help of Bolden, his assistant, and is running back over the logs to shore when he looks around and sees that Bolden has slipped and is caught in the logs near the dynamite. Cliff rushes back and rescues Bolden just as the dynamite explodes. Antoinette runs out over the logs to him. He is unconscious and bleeding. She takes him into her arms and to her house. There, while he is barely conscious, she pours out her love for him and has a priest marry them. Cliff recovers to happiness.

ROBERT CAIN TRIES HANGING

There is something tempting about a hangman's noose. Robert Cain, who plays the villain with Tom Mix in "The Everlasting Whisper," which opens Nov. 27th at the Palace Theatre saw a similar contrivance suspended from a set during the making of the picture.

"Look," the actor called to Alice Calhoun, the leading lady, "a nice place to hang yourself." Then, as if to illustrate, he put his head in the noose. Just then a "grip" decided to pull the rope. Much gurgling and scrambling on the part of Mr. Cain followed, until fellow actors came to his rescue and released him.

"That's as near as I care to come to hanging," was Cain's observation.

NEW CURWOOD STORY

"The Ancient Highway," the latest and greatest novel by James Oliver Curwood, comes to the screen at the Palace Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 25th and 26th, as an Irvia Willat production for Paramount featuring Jack Holt, Billie Dove and Montagu Love.

The story is one of the logging country around Quebec and is said to contain the last word in screen thrills. Lloyd Whitlock, Stanley Taylor, Marjorie Bonner and William A. Carroll have prominent roles in the strong supporting cast.

Personal Letter From Dr. Truett Interesting

Miss Lois Hanna, who lives in Dallas and who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hanna of this city, recently received a personal letter from her church pastor, Dr. Geo. W. Truett, which reviews his work with the Dallas church and expresses his feeling toward his people. This letter was sent by Dr. Truett to the entire membership of the First Baptist Church, Dallas. It is interesting because of the esteem and regard in which Dr. Truett is held by people of all denominations all over Texas as well as the entire South. We quote his letter:

Miss Lois Hanna,
Dallas, Texas.
My Dear Friend:
From the mountains of South Carolina—my native land—I send you my most cordial greetings, with every best wish of my heart.

For ten days, I have been preaching to thousands of people, daily, and God has given His gracious blessing. During these days, I have been privileged to greet again many of my kinsmen according to the flesh, and, vast numbers of my childhood and boyhood friends. These experiences have greatly refreshed and blessed me.

For the next few days, I am hoping for absolute quiet and rest in a log house in the mountains, after which I am to return to Dallas, to begin there on Sunday, September 13, my 29th year as Pastor of the First Baptist Church. As I think of it, both Memory and Hope move my heart very deeply, today and in fancy, I can see again the cherished faces of many of our church family who have passed on to the Yonderland, and can hear again the echoes of their joyful and inspiring voices. What a glorious heritage they have left us, and what an inspiration their lives are to us to "carry on" for Christ and His cause, in the worthiest and most faithful way!

How fast the years are flying away! It seems unthinkable that I am beginning my 29th year in Dallas. It matters not that the years are rapidly hurrying away, if only we are faithful to Christ. He leaves us in the earthly life for a little while, for purposes glorious and of eternal significance, both for ourselves and for His cause. The earthly mission of each one of us may be stated in these words of Jesus: "My meat is to do the will of Him that sent me, and to finish His work!" The tragedy of tragedies would be for one to pass through the earthly life without having as life's dominant motive, the doing of the will of Christ.

As we turn our eyes to the days ahead, let us do so, highly resolved that our future shall be far better than our past has been, in our faithfulness to Christ. Let us very earnestly see to it that those vital habits and duties which make for our largest usefulness as Christians shall be constantly magnified by us. Let us faithfully see to it that our noble church plant shall be a thing of ever-increasing good to the people and of glory to Christ. Happily, this plant vastly enlarges the capacity of our church for service. Without delay and with all our hearts, let us all and each make the best of these enlarged opportunities. In every wise way let us magnify the large Sunday School Clinic soon to be held in our new Sunday School Building. In like manner we are to magnify every service and influence of the church, remembering that enlarged opportunities always mean enlarged responsibilities. In these incomparably spacious and challenging days, let us give ourselves with a new dedication, today and henceforth, to our Lord and His church.

When I think of the gracious and never-ceasing goodness of the church to me and mine, my words are utterly inadequate to express my gratitude. Every thought of such goodness intensifies my longing to be more useful. Wherever the Pastor goes and whatever his duties, he counts it his sacred joy to pray unceasingly for his people. Above all else that you can do for him, be oegs for your unceasing and most fervent prayers.

As I send you these lines through our faithful Church Secretary, my heart's prayerful wish for you is that

Chevrolet is Choice Of An Old Timer

The drama of American transportation has been enacted within the 90-year life span of Captain Joel Muley Hoback, one of the few surviving links between the romantic day of the covered wagon and the modern automobile.

Captain Hoback who formerly drove a covered wagon now is an enthusiastic motorist.

In 1845 when only 10 years old he drove four yoke of oxen as they plodded slowly westward with a creaking prairie schooner in which he and his parents migrated 150 miles to Winnemac, Indiana, then a frontier town.

In crossing the Wabash river the eight oxen became frightened; got beyond control of the child driver and lunged away through shoulder-deep water. They nearly upset the wagon but finally returned to the east bank of the river at the battle ground near Lafayette, Indiana, where Harrison a few years before had defeated a large band of hostile Indians.

Today, 80 years later, Captain Hoback, erect, alert and with the clear eye of the frontiersman, is enjoying transportation of a far different type. After hesitating for 10 years "to tackle the new-fangled gasoline rigs," he has purchased a Chevrolet touring car.

"Goes like a scart rabbit," said Captain Hoback. "Easy to drive too. I thought a body had to be pretty good with machinery to handle a car. Mebbe that was true way back when I first started to hanker after a car—when I was only 80 years old—but it shorely isn't true now. I missed a lot of fun by waiting so long."

Captain Hoback drives frequently in the vicinity of Britton, Oklahoma, where he now resides. He has built a garage for the car. The Captain rents out the large farm which he homesteaded after pointing the land rush from Oklahoma City in 1889.

"I had been prosperous and successful in Indiana and later Arkansas," he explained. "I owned two saw mills and a planing mill, but lost them during the Cleveland administration. I went to Fort Smith, Arkansas. Learning of the proclamation opening land in Oklahoma, I walked from Ft. Smith to Oklahoma City. My dog, Old Pal, went with me. I was broke, but that didn't matter to Old Pal. It took us nearly 10 days. We lived off the country Antelope and deer were as thick as crows in a cornfield."

"During the excitement of the land rush I lost my Old Pal. A man offered me a ride in a wagon. Old Pal was standing nearby when the whistle blew as a signal that the rush was on. Guns were fired, everybody shouted and lashed their horses. The long race over the prairie was very thrilling. I staked out one of the most valuable farms in the state but I lost Old Pal."

"That was long ago and of course he's dead now," the old man added wistfully. "But I would give the whole farm to have him back with me now."

After living 16 years on the farm, Captain Hoback moved in 1905 to Dixon, Oklahoma, where he was postmaster, railroad agent, marshal and mayor. He came to Britton in 1909. He has been married twice. His second wife died in 1923. During the Civil War he answered Lincoln's first call and served five years as a captain of Company H, 57th Indiana Volunteers. He was reported dead at the battle of Shiloh. The captain still has the sword which he carried through the war.

On the occasion of his nintieth birthday recently, Captain Hoback entertained his friend M. E. Trapp, governor of Oklahoma, and 100 other guests including many pioneers and members of Grant Post No. 1, G. A. R., of which he is the only surviving charter member. In the near future Captain Hoback will test his newly-acquired skill as a motorist on a tour to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Matilda Hale, at Heber Springs, Arkansas.

Cotton Burs Worth $10 Ton, Says Expert

Tyler, Texas, Nov. 10.—Dabney White of this city is sending the following to Texas ginners:

A million dollars worth of cotton burs are now being destroyed in the Staked Plains and the Panhandle country. It is costing many ginners many dollars extra to destroy these burs.

I have had the Government to test the value of these burs for you and they find that they are worth considerably over $10 per ton for feed or for fertilizer, almost twice as much as cottonseed hulls. To get this value from them they should be ground. I find that you can grind these burs into meal for about $1 per ton. The grinding machinery will cost you about $150. You can use a tractor or connect to your power plant. Your customers can well afford to pay you $2 or $3 per ton for grinding these burs. They make a splendid feed mixed with cottonseed meal and ground maize heads. This machine will also grind maize heads. Get rid of these burs without burning them on your yard. We lost a $20,000 gin by fire from a bur-pile fire recently. Your insurance company will cancel your policy if they catch you burning burs in piles on your gin premises. No trouble to answer questions.—Dallas News.

The above is perhaps worthy of consideration on the part of ginners and farmers all over the country.

AMERICA'S SUGAR SAFEGUARD

The United States spends $2,000,000 a day for sugar, at the present low price. All its own sugar resources supply only one-half this quantity.

Great Britain, for centuries the patron saint of raw material producers, is getting out to grow her own sugar. By 1930, it is planned that 50 sugar factories will be in operation in Great Britain. The friendship of Cuba and the United States alone made it possible to live in sugarless Great Britain during the World War. It does not wish to again be in such a position. Just now, sugar-growing would help relieve the unemployment situation in Great Britain, where 1,200,000 people are jobless and drawing public dole.

Our own country never made a bet-

Did You Ever Stop to Think

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

THAT some cities seem to need to get their collective affairs into the hands of some men who are competent and capable of handling them.

THAT it is a foolish community that will allow any factional differences to permanently disintegrate its citizenship.

THAT foolishness should be stopped.

THAT every citizen should remember his duty to his home city and realize that no matter what their opinions are, there is no use of carrying on hostilities forever.

THAT they should get together, get down to business and BUILD THE HOME CITY.

THAT the men who think they can't do a thing are usually right.

THAT the men who make up their minds to do things usually can do it.

THAT the hardest work some men do is figuring how to keep from working.

Men who can do things should realize that co-operation means teamwork—get together!

JACKIE COOGAN'S NEW FILM, "THE RAG MAN," HIS BEST YET

Jackie Coogan's fourth contribution to Metro-Goldwyn productions will be presented Nov. 26th and 27th at the Pastime Theatre when "The Rag Man" will have local premier before a large and enthusiastic audience. "The Rag Man" is the best Jackie Coogan offering that Metro-Goldwyn has thus far distributed, and this is said with no disparagement of the other presentations, "A Boy of Flanders," "Long Live the King" and "Little Robinson Crusoe." But "The Rag Man" is the best, or at least makes the most immediate hit because of the abundance of comedy episodes. These are touched up with a sufficiency of thrills and tears to give the story by Willard Mack authentic value. The audience will laugh all the way through this charming story. They will follow Jackie's adventures from the time the orphanage burned down till Jackie, as little Tim Kelly, became the senior member of the firm of "Kelly and Ginsberg," the largest dealers in high class junk in New York.

What the Pastors Said Last Sunday

"The enemies of Christianity and of God's people are well organized. Yet, they cannot avail against the forces of righteousness because God is with the right. Heavenly defenders afford protection against the evil. Christian people have made mistakes in allowing the enemy to capitalize modern inventions and discoveries for the propagation of the devil's principles. Lots of Christians are skeptical about accepting new things. This has meant delay in taking advantage of the new and using it for the glory of Christ and His cause. We need to be aggressive soldiers for Christ, ready to attempt great things for Him with the faith that He will see us through."—Jno. P. Hardesty, Pastor Baptist Church.

"My God, My God, Why hast Thou Forsaken Me? Forgive them for they know not what they do. This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise. These are Christ's words as he hung upon the cross. With Calvary before us, let us behold 'the Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world.' What the brazen serpent was to the sin-cursed nation of Israel, so he is to the sin-sick soul. Let His cries from Calvary ring in our ears. He suffered, not only for our sins, but for the sins of the whole world. This is the load under which he staggered. It was that load of sin heaped upon Christ that broke His heart. His great sacrifice means our redemption if we will only believe on Him."—L. Farris Powell, Pastor First Christian Church.

C. of C. Directors
Elect New Officers

New officers for the coming year were elected by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting held November 18th. W. H. Smith was re-elected as president; W. H. McKirahan, was re-elected vice-president and Claude Miller was re-elected secretary. Every member of the newly elected board of Directors was present.

The directors were very well pleased with the action taken by the people of Slaton in voting the paving bonds by a three to one majority. Paving was the first plank in the Chamber of Commerce program. Since nearly two months ago when the Program of Work was compiled by members of the Chamber of Commerce paving was named by those present as the thing of most importance; now that all of the people have expressed themselves as heartily in favor of the paving; it would seem that the Program of Work is a very good standard of public opinion. The Directors will work with renewed vigor on the various other planks of this program in the building of greater things for Slaton.

The directors of a Chamber of Commerce are only the advisory body, made up of a group of men who give unselfishly of their time for the betterment of their town; they cannot accomplish the entire work of the Chamber of Commerce. The officers are only a very small group of men who try to attend to the various details in conjunction with the execution of the work in hand. It is the citizens of the town, the members of the Chamber of Commerce, who in reality must either make their civic organization a success or a failure. For instance, the directors favored paving; the officers worked to get the election called; but it was the general citizenship who finally made possible paved streets by voting for the bonds.

Slaton and Snyder Pastors Exchange

At the Northwest Texas Methodist Conference held in Canyon last week, Rev. B. W. Dodson, who has been pastor of the Methodist Church here for the last three years, was transferred to the Snyder, pastorate. Rev. A. B. Davidson, pastor at Snyder for the past year, was assigned to Slaton, there being simply an exchange in the places to be held by these two men for the next year.

Rev. Dodson has been in Slaton during a period of rapid growth in the town and community, and he has been alert and aggressive in leading his people to keep pace in a religious way with other developments in the city. In the three years, the church received 420 members. During the past year, there were 110 additions.

Brother Dodson has done a good work in Slaton. He leaves behind him many footprints showing the many things he has had a part in doing. He is a good speaker, a good preacher, and is popular among all who chance to meet him. He has scores of friends here who regret to see him leave, and who appreciate the work he has done for his people in the three years of his stay here. He will be missed in Slaton, but cordial good wishes go with him to his new home.

Rev. A. B. Davidson, who comes to Slaton from Snyder, will receive a hearty welcome, and The Slatonite hopes he will like the town and the work he will have here. He comes highly recommended as a preacher and a citizen, and Slaton will be proud to number him among her splendid group of pastors.

Rev. Davidson is expected to move here Friday of this week. Brother Dodson, according to plans, was to move to Snyder on Thursday of this week. We hope he likes Snyder, and that Snyder likes him, and they should.

At the Canyon Conference last week Mrs. Davidson was signally honored by being elected as second alternate lay delegate to the Quadrennial General Conference of the M. E. Church which will probably be held in Nashville, Tenn., in May of 1926.

GOOD SOCIAL MEETING

On Nov. 10th, the Philathea Class had their regular social and business meeting at the home of Mrs. E. M. Lott, who was assisted by Mrs. D. W. Liles in entertaining the class on that occasion.

About twenty members were present. The meeting opened promptly at 3 o'clock. The president read the Scripture lesson. Plans were discussed relative to entertaining our husbands with a Thanksgiving dinner. Different committees were appointed to make the necessary arrangements. This program will be held on Tuesday evening, Nov. 24th.

After attending to all other business matters, we took up the study of our lesson "What Baptists Believe." Mrs. Hardesty led the study in an interesting way.

Tom Mix at Palace
Nov. 27th and 28th

As a horseman Tom Mix whose latest picture, "The Everlasting Whisper" opens Nov. 27th at the Palace Theatre is superb; as an efficiency man he is supreme. None better than the popular William Fox western star understands the value of organization and it is wonderfully reflected in his own motion picture company.

With Tom, organization means co-operation and co-operation spells a possible perfection. Mix is for men; to a man they are for Mix.

"Among men working together there is always a lot of lost motion—like loose belting and cogs in an engine," says the picture star. "This can be tightened up if one understands the mechanics of the machine. I have tried to make my company a machine,—but a thinking machine. To a great degree, I have succeeded.

"A man is rarely discharged on the Mix set. My ranch foreman Pat Christian, has been with me seventeen years. I have cowboys who worked with me, 'ridiu herd' twenty years ago. In fact, all of the Mix cowhands are old ranch pals of mine. Even our cook, a French Canadian, named Pete Castigne, worked for me on the old Circle-Dot ranch years ago in Arizona. I promote my men under strict seniority rules."

YOUTH SAVES GIRL FROM DISHONOR

How a mysterious western youth, springing, as it were, from nowhere, outwitted a land-grabbing ranch owner, saving a girl from a fate worse than death and freeing her brother from the strain of murder, is the main theme of Al Hoxie's current Anchor western thriller, "Riding Romance," which comes to the Pastime Theatre Saturday, Nov. 21st. While "Riding Romance" was produced with the principal view of exciting incidents and death-defying thrills, the producers did not lose sight of story itself, which is a screen adaption of a William Lester short story; painstakingly worked out into a logical and dramatic narrative of heroism and lawlessness.

Ten years ago, his increased knowledge of things gave rise to the desire for rich chocolate cake.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. K. Wood, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County of general circulation, which has been regularly and continuously published in said County for at least one year prior to the date of the first publication of this Citation, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the second Monday in January, A. D. 1926, the same being the eleventh day of January, A. D. 1926, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1925, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2329, wherein J. T. Overby is plaintiff and J. K. Wood is defendant, and said petition alleging that on or about October 5, 1925, plaintiff and defendant contracted for sale by plaintiff and purchase by defendant of the East one-half of Lot No. 5 and all of Lot No. 6 in Block No. 178 in the West Park Addition to Slaton, Lubbock County, Texas, as shown by the official recorded plat of said addition, for a consideration of $900.00, the defendant to execute his note to plaintiff in said sum payable to the order of plaintiff at Slaton, Texas, on or before November 1, 1925, with 10% per annum interest thereon from date until paid, and the plaintiff to execute warranty deed conveying said property to defendant, reciting such cash consideration of $900.00, and said deed and note were to be held and retained by plaintiff until said note and accrued interest thereon was fully paid, when he was to deliver said deed to defendant.

That thereafter, and without paying said note, defendant obtained and retained possession of said deed, without the consent of plaintiff, said deed never having been delivered by plaintiff to defendant. That defendant is insolvent and said note held by plaintiff is worthless and uncollectable, and plaintiff has received no consideration for said deed conveying said property. Plaintiff fears defendant will convey said property to an innocent purchaser and that deeds thereto may be recorded, and he will lose said property and the value thereof.

Plaintiff prays on trial of this cause for cancellation of said deed, and the annulling of the same, together with the cancellation and annulling of the deed thereof if same has been or shall be recorded, and that title to said property be divested out of the defendant, and title and possession hereunto be vested in plaintiff; for cancellation of said note (the same being entered in court for cancellation); or all costs of this suit; and for general and special relief, in law and equity.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, on this the 5th day of November, A. D. 1925.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS,

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon J. K. Wood by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, of general circulation, which has been regularly and continuously published in said County for at least one year prior to the date of the first publication of this Citation, to appear at the next regular term of District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the second Monday in January, A. D. 1926, the same being the 11th day of January, A. D. 1926, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1925, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 2328, wherein The Slaton State Bank of Slaton, Texas, a banking corporation under the laws of the State of Texas is Plaintiff, and J. K. Wood and W. P. Wood are Defendants, and said petition alleging that the defendants transact various sorts of business as a copartnership under the name of Wood & Wood, That about January 1, 1925 the defendants, for a valuable consideration, delivered to plaintiff their promissory note for $10,000.00, and on July 15, 1925, for a valuable consideration executed and delivered to plaintiff another promissory note in renewal and extension of the former note, the new note being for $10,000.00, dated July 15, 1925, due sixty days after its date with interest thereon from date until paid at the rate of ten percent per annum, payable at The Slaton State Bank in Slaton, Lubbock County, Texas, and providing for the payment of ten percent additional on the amount of principal and interest owing thereon if placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, or if suit be instituted thereon, or if collected through the probate court, said note being signed "Wood & Wood, by W. P. Wood."

That at the time of making said note and at the time of the making of the renewal note, as aforesaid, the defendant J. K. Wood was the active vice president of plaintiff bank, and the defendants of plaintiff bank, and the statement of their assets, showing their net worth to be the sum of $249,300.00, which plaintiff relied on in advancing credit, and were deceived thereby in that as plaintiff believes and alleges, defendants were virtually insolvent, which fact was then known to them but not known or disclosed to plaintiff or its officers or directors, and the making and filing of such erroneous property statement was a fraud on plaintiff, and operated to its damage and loss, both defendants being insolvent.

Said note bears a credit of $5,000.00 of October 1, 1925, leaving balance owing on the principal the sum of $5,000.00 and accrued interest and attorney's fees past due and unpaid thereon, and said note has been placed in the hands of attorney for collection, by reason of which defendants are liable for the attorney's fees according to the terms of said note.

Plaintiff gives notice that it will, on institution of this suit, sue out writ of attachment and cause attachment lien to be fixed on the following real estate, to-wit: Lot No. 1 in Block 84 in the West Park Addition to Slaton, Lubbock County, Texas, in order to foreclose its attachment lien and sell said property and apply proceeds thereof to its said debt.

Plaintiff prays for judgment against the defendants, jointly and severally for its debt; that it be decreed to have a valid attachment lien on said real estate, and for foreclosure of same and sale of said property according to law, for costs, execution, general and special relief, in law and equity, etc.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said Court, at office in Lubbock, Texas, on this the 5th day of November, A. D. 1925.

Posey Farmer has Fine Showing This Year

It is generally agreed that the recent freeze has cut short the cotton crop of this section, but in cases like the one we have to record here the farmer is still in good condition.

Mr. C. C. Thornton, farmer of the Posey community, has a showing in crop production this year that any farmer might have by diversifying and thus not depending on the sole crop of cotton.

To begin with let it be said that Mr. Thornton has a cotton acreage of seventy acres. Before the freeze, he expected a production of half a bale to the acre, but now says he will get twenty bales, more than half of which he has already picked. Of course, a drop of 40% in cotton production below that anticipated is sufficient to give discouragement, but Mr. Thornton is not discouraged. Why? Plenty of reasons. Look at this.

From a twenty-two acre crop of maize, Mr. Thornton got fifty-five tons of grain—an average of two and one-half tons per acre, allowing for shrinkage. From a ten-acre crop of kaffir, he harvested fifteen tons of feed. This gives a total of seventy tons of feedstuffs from thirty-two acres. Of this amount, twenty tons will be reserved for use on the farm, and there will be fifty tons for sale, market price being above $30 per ton at this time.

In harvesting the grain, Mr. Thornton did not cut the stalk and remove it from the land, but merely headed it, leaving the stalk to go back to the land for fertilization. This is a fine policy for land protection, and as has been the case this year, it is just as profitable in the immediate present because bundle stuff had no opportunity to cure into good condition after it was cut.

Besides these evidences of good farm management on the part of this Posey farmer, there are other things worthy of mention. Cows, chickens and hogs are in evidence on the Thornton farm. By having these, much of the food problem is solved, and there is hardly ever a time through the year that these people do not have something to sell in these lines. Then, they raise all kinds of vegetables. Beans, tomatoes, peas, watermelons, cabbage, lettuce, turnips, beets, onions, potatoes, etc. Always have lots of these fine eatables in season, and store away what they can for winter use.

Talk about farming of this kind not being profitable? And, talk about farmers that observe these rules being in hard shape? It just isn't so. A farmer that does things in such fashion can't be put out of business. If one thing fails, he has a dozen others to rely on. That's real farming. It's the kind that pays, and the only kind that pays one year with another.

This instance of diversification is a good example for the farmers of the whole South Plains country to follow. With plenty of feed for home use, and lots of it to sell in addition to the cotton production, and with much of the family food necessities produced right at home, there is no excuse for worry on the part of the farmer. The trouble with some is that when cotton fails to produce a full crop they are ruined for that year. And, it takes a long time to catch up when a year's disadvantage of this kind is felt.

The Thornton farm production of feed is sufficient to pay for the land producing it in one year's crop, and then have a surplus left.

Let it be observed that when all our farming population take to diversifying—having a plentiful variety of crops—there will never be a time when the farmer is "down." Diversification spells farm success. And, diversification is just as practicable on the Plains as it is in any section of the state of Texas. Let's have more of it.

GUARDING A NATION'S LIBERTY

Not since the Civil War has press comment been so strong, so aggressive and so unmistakably in favor of maintaining intact the basic principles of our government, as it is now. Editors of the nation are giving timely warning to the people and to politicians of the danger involved in allowing boards, commissions, legislation and government to override the rights of the individual as guaranteed in our constitution.

At no time in the past has it been as hard for the political demagogue, unscrupulous captain of industry or labor agitator to "put something over" on the American people. Never before was our country as ready to listen to the advice of a real statesman, industrial leader, or honest labor representative as it is today.

This is a healthy situation, and the people can thank the American press for a fair discussion of the basic problems involved in our industrial and political system, free from the damaging influence of partisan politics.

People know where to look for the advertised goods they want to buy—in the Slatonite columns.

West Texas News Summary.

Littlefield—This town claims to have more memberships in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce per capita than any town in West Texas. B. F. Bennett who was here this week secured sixty two memberships here and was told to call again if that was not enough. Littlefield is awake to the benefits derived from loyal support of the organization and is unanimously behind the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Colorado—R. Q. Lee, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will speak here on the evening of November 30. He is to make a campaign along the T-P reaching as far as El Paso. His complete itinerary for the trip is: Hermleigh 4:30 p. m. Nov. 19; Roscoe noon Nov. 20; Loraine 3 p. m. Nov. 20; Colorado 8 p. m. Nov. 20; Big Spring noon Nov. 21; Stanton 8 p. m. Nov. 21; Big Spring Sunday Nov. 22 he will speak at the First Baptist Church; Lamesa noon Nov. 23; Midland 8 p. m. Nov. 23; Barstow 10 a. m. Nov. 24; Pecos noon Nov. 24; El Paso Nov. 25. Mr. Lee may stop at Balmorhea Nov. 26 on his return trip.

Coleman—The Heart of Texas district convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held here Dec. 18 and preparations are already under way to make this the greatest district convention ever held. This district includes a number of counties in central west Texas and some unusual features will be staged during the convention.

Robert Lee—A big irrigation meeting was held here Nov. 13. Eminent men in irrigation were here and high officials of the Orient Railroad were present to encourage the project. A. Lincoln Fellowes head of the United States Reclamation Bureau made the principal talk. West Texas Chamber of Commerce was represented by E. H. Whitehead publicity manager of the organization. The project here is located on the Colorado River and is potentially one of the greatest projects in the country. It will be entirely located in Coke County.

Abilene—Armistice Day was celebrated in appropriate manner all over West Texas. Many towns staged parades. Prominent figures of the state and nation spoke at various points over West Texas. Many cities enjoyed football games and athletic contests. The Religious side of the holiday was not overlooked. Appropriate ceremonies being held in churches over the entire section. Practically every city of consequence in the section observed the holiday.

Midland—The ordinary "pie" melon which grows wild throughout West Texas is the best medium known with which to poison rabbits. Experiments here have demonstrated this fact. Farmers of the Midland Country are being urged to haul in and preserve these melons for use in fighting the pests. The melons ordinarily considered valueless are meeting with ready sale for this purpose.

Floydada—A direct highway from Post through Floydada to Clarendon connecting the Glacier to Gulf with the Colorado to Gulf is now assured. Crosby County has let the contract for the road down to cap rock leading to Post. This road will be a great asset to Floydada as well as a convenience to tourists.

Sagerton—The Southwest precinct of Haskell County voted bonds in the sum of $100,000 for hard surfacing the highway through this corner of the County.

Clovis, N. M.—This city was able to greatly reduce city taxes by the sale of the water and light plant which has been municipally owned to a private corporation. City taxation has been reduced from $64,050 to $33,499 as a result of the sale.

THE IMPORTANCE OF RADIO

A fourth national conference on radio, to begin in Washington on Nov. 9, has been called by Secretary Hoover; to consider, among other questions, the increasingly difficult problem of providing satisfactory service for thousands of listeners through proper distribution of time and space among multiplying broadcasting stations.

Attending conference, will be representatives of broadcasting stations, the press, radio manufacturers, organizations of radio listeners, amateur wireless telegraphers, commercial land stations, government radio engineers, farm organizations, Shipping Board and Vessel Owners' Association and National Electric Light Association.

THE "AD" KILLER

The man who stops his little "ad" is but a blooming fool, bedad! Because his advertisements tell the public what he has to sell, and if his "ad" is not on deck, the people pass him up, by heck! For none of them will hesitate to trade with people up to date. To stop your "ad," we would remark, is just like winking in the dark—you may know what you mean, but gee! nobody else can ever see! So do not for a moment think that when you cut out printer's ink you're saving money on the side; 'tis only business-suicide!—Exchange.

Baird—Callahan County now has a county farm demonstration agent. Farmers and townspeople of the entire county joined in petitioning the commissioners' court of the county to appropriate the necessary funds to secure the work and the court allowed the petition. Callahan County is making great strides agriculturally.
