Uncle Ananias says the only way to be rid of worry about the things we have not done is to do them.

Somebody is being paid for knowing what you don't know.

When an office visitor lights a pipe you know you're in for a long session.

Be considerate—you may need help yourself some day.

Everyone has two minds—a personal mind and a positional mind.

The positional mind is the mind he uses in the job at which he earns a living. The personal mind is the one he uses at home and in social life.

Sometimes the positional mind is keen, shrewd, alert, brilliant. The personal mind may be dull, inelastic, ineffective. That's why some men can run a big corporation successfully, but can't manage their wives and children.

It is also the reason why many people have to have two sets of friends—one for recreation and one for business. Only infrequently can the two be mixed, with satisfactory results.

At the shop all intelligences meet on a common problem, and each contributes something to the solution of the common problem. The smart proprietor is respectful of the intelligence of everyone who works for him, and the intelligence which he focuses on his job is drawn from the minds of all.

This kind of intelligence is not much use at a dinner party where small talk is the fashion.

Some minds are equally good in all situations, but are not very effective in any.

Roy Wenzlick, a noted analyst of trends in real estate values, is the author of a publication called "The Coming Boom in Real Estate—What to Do About It."

The chief reasons for the "inevitable" boom are the accelerated marriage rate, the dispersement of families that doubled up during the depression, the shortage of houses and building, rising rents, and the prospect of substantial speculative profits.

Eventually, of course, sometime in the 1940's, the thing will be carried to fantastic heights and people will buy merely for a quick turn, and then we'll have a sudden deflation, with the suckers owning something that may never in their lives be worth what they paid for it.

One of the characteristics of the boom may be a period in which prospective tenants will offer rewards of $15 and $25 for help in finding a six-room apartment. Such advertisements were common in 1920.

Youngster Is Asleep After Taking Tablets

One luminal tablet is an ordinary dose for taking an adult patient to sleep, but Fredrick, a three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mayer route 1, disposed of 45 sleeping pills after noon Wednesday and is still in a deep sleep.

The youngster was rushed to a Lubbock hospital for treatment. Stomach pumps were applied and the boy was given other treatment so that at midnight Wednesday his condition was not critical. Authorities at the hospital said his pulse was satisfactory.

From his farm home, young Fredrick was sent to the mail box shortly after noon and in the mail was a container with 100 1/2-grain luminal sedative tablets. Fredrick returned the quarter mile to his home with only 35 of the pills and soon after his arrival he lost consciousness. Whether he ate all of the 65 missing tablets or lost part of them was a matter of conjecture.

It was not known when the youngster would regain consciousness nor what other effect the tablets would have, but without medical aid, physicians agreed, that many pills would kill an adult.

Webb Is Elected Superintendent Of Slaton Schools

Successor To Principal Not Named

In a meeting of the board of trustees held on Monday, March 7, present principal Joe E. Webb was selected from numerous applicants to fill the vacancy left by Mr. David Lemon on his late resignation from the position of Superintendent of Slaton Schools.

Mr. Webb will take office next September with a B.A. degree from Texas Technological College and immediate prospects of a Master's degree from the same institution.

To date the successor in the office of High School Principal has not been named.

Taught in Dawson, Lamesa Webb was born in Hamlin, Jones county, and graduated from the high school there. He obtained his bachelor's degree at Texas Technological college where he now is completing work for his master's. He taught eight years in Dawson and Jones county before coming to Slaton as junior high school principal in 1935. He was promoted to senior high school principal in 1937.

His revision of the Junior High school curriculum and his handling of duties there occasioned warm praise from inspectors who visited the school at various times. He is a director of the board of city development and chamber of commerce, active in affairs of the Hi-Y council and is a member of the executive committee of the county interscholastic league.

B. of L. E. Banquet Honors G. W. Hilton

L. J. Cassel, Chicago, Speaker Of Evening

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers tendered a banquet to Brother George W. Hilton of Amarillo, Saturday night, March 5th in the clubhouse. This affair was in recognition of the distinguished service of Mr. Hilton during his 44 years of employment on the Santa Fe. He is now retiring from active engine service.

This was the largest assembly at any banquet this year and was a mute testimonial to the popularity of Mr. Hilton.

The banquet hall was effectively decorated with railroad signal lights and flags in red, green and white. Table centerpieces were miniature signal flags. At the rear of the hall was a huge engine, complete with head lamp and bearing the insignia of B. of L. E., Division 871.

The Band Mothers Club served the dinner, in engineer's costumes, dispensing rolls in shovels and cream in oil cans.

W. E. McAllister was master of ceremonies, introducing the following program: Song, "America"; invocation, Rev. W. F. Ferguson; readings, Bobby Smith, Wayland Ferguson, Lee Bickerstaff, Jimmie Jean Guinn and Mary Frances Landreth; two violin solos, "Indian Love Call" and "Dark Eyes," Joe Hadden; movie and address, L. J. Cassel of Chicago; impromptu talks by Mayor Hood; Dr. Payne; P. J. Dannenburg, master mechanic; and Supt. J. R. Skillen. Mrs. Allen Ferrell played piano selections through the evening.

Two Elections Are To Be Held Soon

School Trustees And City Commissioners To Be Elected In April

Citizens of Slaton are reminded of the fact that upon Tuesday, April 5th they will be called upon to vote for their new city commissioners in Wards 2 and 4, and on Saturday, April 2 for the school trustees.

No names have been filed as yet for the offices of the former but at the present Fred H. Schmidt, Dr. R. G. Loveless, and George Green are candidates for the office of school trustee. Those retiring are, Fred H. Schmidt and S. A. Peavy.

Candidates for school trustee have

Seniors Present John De Blois

The seniors, sponsors of the Hollywood Artist Course here, will present John De Blois, bass baritone, in concert Friday, March 11, 8:00 P. M.

This concert promises to be the best of the entire artist course. Mr. De Blois, a comparatively new concertist, has studied under the coaching of the famous vocal coach Horace Moore.

Mr. De Blois is a young man of many accomplishments. Following his graduation from Yale and post-graduate work at Oxford, Mr. De Blois devoted his time to finance, later becoming interested in agricultural experiments. He started a lemon grove on his ranch near Santa Barbara, California, as a hobby only, but it has materialized into a commercial success.

An enthusiast for polo, De Blois is recognized as one of the best amateur players in this country. He is also a licensed pilot and devotes much time to aviation.

Possessing an excellent voice and interpretative ability, he will go far in his chosen field, that of music.

'Artists And Models' Sensational Comedy

Jack Benny Supported By Galaxy Of Stars

When you've got a cast headed by Jack Benny, Ida Lupino, Gail Patrick and Richard Arlen, that should be sufficient guarantee of top-notch entertainment—but when Paramount has added hundreds of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood, two smashing orchestras—Louis Armstrong's Swing Orchestra and Andre Kostelanetz' Orchestra—the six greatest living artists—and a half-a-dozen of the most sensational headliners of stage, screen and radio—that means that "Artists and Models," which comes Tuesday and Wednesday to the Palace Theatre, must rate as the top girl-and-music film of the year!

"Artists and Models" is exactly as cock-eyed a melange of tunes, gags and girls as you would expect from a Jack Benny opus. Jack plays the part of the head of the screwiest advertising agency in the world, which is headed for the rocks because he devotes all his time to thinking, not about business, but about the forthcoming Artists and Models Ball, of which he is chairman. Jack's in a bad jam—he has sold Richard Arlen on the idea of personalizing Dick's silverware by creating a "Silver Girl" for all ads, and then finds that he's promised the job of posing for the "Silver Girl" to two gorgeous girls—Ida Lupino, whom Jack has promised to marry, and Gail Patrick, Dick's fiancée. At the same time, he's promised both girls that the one chosen will be elected Queen of the Artists and Models Ball.

Mr. Geo. Eklund and daughter, Mrs. J. W. Potts of Post, formerly of Slaton, left last Thursday for Akron, Ohio on a business trip. Mr. Eklund will return shortly and Mrs. Potts will continue to Sweden on a short business trip.

until ten days of the date of the election in which to file their names, making the deadline March 22nd.

For the city election they must be filed three days ahead, being April 2nd.

Mrs. Mary Wright Succumbs Monday

MOTHER OF MRS. G. G. THOMPSON BURIED TUESDAY

Mrs. Mary Wright, mother of Mrs. G. G. Thompson, 445 W. Panhandle street, died in a local hospital Monday morning at 7:30 o'clock.

The deceased was born in Kentucky April 23, 1874 and died March 7, 1938 at the age of sixty-four. For over thirty years she was a resident of Plainview before moving here about a year ago to make her home with her daughter. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Rev. Pat Horton, pastor of the Plainview Baptist church and a close friend of the late Mrs. Wright, officiated at the funeral services that were held in the Woods Funeral Chapel there, Tuesday, March 8 at three o'clock.

Mrs. Wright is survived by her daughters: Mrs. Thompson of Slaton; and Mrs. Ina King of Lubbock; her sons: Bill of Sudan; Paul of Lubbock; Don of Clovis; Wendell and Jesse of Oakland, California; and her brother, L. M. Frogge of Plainview, all who were present at the funeral. With the exception of the two sons in California, all of these were at her bedside when death came. Her mother, two brothers and two sisters of Kentucky also survive but were unable to attend the funeral services. Her husband preceded her in death twelve years ago.

Among the many Slaton friends who attended the services was Mrs. J. C. Edwards, a life long friend of Mrs. Wright.

Champion Boxers To Be Decided Next Fun Night Battle

Browning And Lewis Grudge Bout Slated

The largest crowd that has ever filled the city hall for Coach Hamilton's Fun Nite was present Tuesday night, March 8, when twenty-eight fighters slugged their way into the finals of the city tournament. The winners of this tournament will represent Slaton in the District A.A.U. meet at Lubbock March 18th. One weight division was settled that night in the 100 to 110 pound class, George Green, 110, belted H. L. Altman, 106, to win this title.

Next Tuesday night March 15 at the city hall at 8 will be the next Fun Nite. There will be just as good a card on the 15th as was had last Tuesday night. Several out of town boxers will be there, and it will be decided who will go to the district A.A.U. at Lubbock on the 18th of March.

Outside competition is still needed. The main attraction will be a grudge battle between Vascor Browning and Carl Lewis on the next card. Further matches are unavailable at this time, but we are promised 50 rounds of good boxing and entertainment for all.

Other winners Tuesday night were: Jack Dickson, Jack Summerford, James Sideman, Billy Bates, Joe Teague and Joe Wicker drew, Billy Lucado, Ray DeBusk, Jack Porterfield and Hugh Diamond drew, Harry Bell, Lloyd Henry, J. H. Gregory and Ray wrestled to a 7 minute draw, Leon Walkston and Lena Powers was a draw, and Herbert Lamb.

Palace Beauty Shop Is Redecorated

Mrs. Cardwell Issues Invitation To Public

The Palace Beauty Shop, located in the balcony of the Palace Barber Shop, and operated by Mrs. W. B. Cardwell, has recently been redecorated. The color scheme is pastel blue and cream, with all curtains of monk's cloth.

There are to be more improvements in the near future.

Mrs. Cardwell, with her assistant, Mrs. Woody Chandler, invites the public to inspect her refurbished beauty salon and hopes to announce other changes at a later date.

A. E. Whitehead is spending a month in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

First Baptist Church Revival

Rev. Ferguson and L. A. Stulce To Conduct

On March 20th, the First Baptist church will begin a series of Revival Services to continue through April 3. Mr. L. A. Stulce, of Ada, Oklahoma, will lead the singing. He is one of the great gospel singers of the South. For nine years he directed the choir at the First Baptist church of Abilene, and for seven years he held the same position in The First Baptist church of Monroe, La., and for the last two years he has been directing a great choir for the First Baptist church of Ada, Okla. Mr. Stulce is not a stranger to us, because he was with us here seven years ago. Mr. Stulce will be a great help to us, and we are earnestly praying for a great meeting. We cordially invite all who will help us in the singing to be in their places each service.

This meeting is calculated to do good for the city of Slaton, and the surrounding territory. We earnestly solicit the prayerful cooperation of all who love the Lord in helping to win the lost to Christ. The pastor, W. F. Ferguson, will do the preaching, and prayerfully invites all Christians to join in this earnest soul-winning effort. We are working and praying to the end that we may have a great old-fashioned revival of religion.

Remember the date, March 20th to April 3rd. Come! A cordial welcome awaits you.

Tiger Band To Play Friday

First Public Concert In New Uniforms

The Slaton High School Band of 70 members will present a free concert in the high school auditorium Friday, March 18 at 8 P.M. This will be the first appearance of the band in the new scarlet and black uniforms delivered this week. The new suits are of the highest quality wool-wool. The cap is West Point shako style with scarlet plume.

The Slaton band will have as guests Conductor J. Richard Walker, Director of the Berger H. S. band, and President of the Texas Bandmasters' Association, Northern Division. Also presented on the program will be Miss Margaret Weiss, drum major of the Berger band. This young lady is considered the outstanding girl drum major of the Panhandle. She will be featured in an acrobatic baton twirling act.

The program will consist mostly of popular and old time favorites and will contain numbers interesting to all types of music lovers.

Several Directors and their bandsmen will be here from other cities of the South Plains as special guests, according to Clyde Rowe, Slaton Band Director.

W.O.W. Dance To Be Staged Wednesday

Wednesday evening, March 16th the Slaton chapter of the Woodmen of the World will sponsor a dance at the American Legion Hall, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The hall will be decorated in the Woodmen colors and Dee Howell's six-piece orchestra will provide the music for dancing.

Message To Local Cotton Farmers

Florence Urges Aid Of Cotton Program

Editor Slatonite:
May I speak to my fellow cotton-farmers through your column? I hope urging is unnecessary but will do a little reminding of the importance of every farmer's voting favorably to the cotton program congress has put up to us. It may have imperfections as did the other law. But that law saved us from ruin and if we do not adopt this one our doom is sealed.

In fact, we would have been ruined by our last crop if we had not got our congressmen to plead pitifully and promise a reduction law that we would adopt before another crop to get the government loan that saved us.

But so many scarecrows have been waved about "regimentation", "personal liberty", "government employees on the backs of farmers," "The gospel of scarcity," etc., that some farmers may be indifferent enough to not vote. And it will require a two to one vote of all the total growers voting to put it over. The vote of all Texans may be needed.

Now these scarecrows are purely bunk. To adopt a program and have our government aid us to carry it out is exercising our democracy in using our government for our welfare. It will be exercising our liberty, collectively. All business is now practically regimented and farmers must regiment to compete. The fellow that spouts about his personal liberty to do differently from the way that his fellows have decided is the best way for all to do is not a democrat.

The "Gospel of Scarcity" scarecrow is refuted by the same fact that will refute all the others if we can remember. The awful Depression that even "Big Business" cried to be saved from if it cost 70 billion national debt, came on us while we were producing our greatest abundance, and while personal liberty, industrial liberty and other liberties abounded. But more people were suffering for necessities than ever before or since in our government.

We farmers were on our own backs helpless and would be now and will be again without the backing up of our government. And other groups of people cannot escape ruin when the farmers are ruined.

As to the "loss of foreign market" scarecrow, that loss began before the New Deal and will continue to increase as foreign people become more educated and determined, as we, to produce their own needs. We cannot compete with them, without degrading to their living standards.

Never again will enlightened people get along without government in business. The question to decide and guard is whether the government regulating our business shall be the people's government, i.e., a democracy; or whether it will be the government of industrial stock holding companies, i.e., a plutocracy, or whether it will be a dictatorship, i.e., an autocracy.

Let us hold to and back up our democracy. It helped us from Depression into prosperity more successfully than any government ever did for its people. The alleged "recession" brought on by waving those scarecrows is proving to be a false alarm.

R.M.R. Convention To Be Held In Vernon

Mrs. Lee Green, Secretary of the local Retail Merchants Association states that the next convention of this organization will be held in Vernon, Sunday, March 13th for the District No. 1.

Mr. Joe D. Burwell, who addressed the members of the Slaton R.M.A. at their recent banquet and proved a very popular speaker, will be on the program, discussing the Sales, Service and Education Division of the R. M.A.

Mrs. Green urges as many as possible to plan to attend and bring as many Credit Men as possible in an effort to make it a meeting equal to the Dallas meeting. The more present, the stronger the Credit Control in District No. 1.

Mesdames Lee Green, Cal Doherty, J. A. Klansner, Mora Culp and Dick Ragsdale and Mr. and Mrs. Tom P. Keene, attended the Mother-in-law celebration in Amarillo Wednesday.

TIPS to Gardeners

Locating Vegetables
 GARDENERS can grow a fairly good crop of vegetables in almost any kind of soil, as long as there is good sunlight and moisture.

To those, however, who have a choice of soil available, the following information will be of assistance in locating crops.

In heavy or clayey soils grow beans, beets, broccoli, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, corn, kale, peas, pumpkin, rhubarb, spinach, squash, Swiss chard and rutabaga.

In light or sandy soils: Asparagus, carrot, celery, collards, Chinese cabbage, cucumber, egg plant, endive, kohlrabi, lettuce, cantaloupe, watermelon, mustard, okra, onion, parsley, parsnip, radish, tomato, turnip, and most herbs.

In muck: Onions, celery, spinach, Chinese cabbage, raish, turnip, carrot, kale, lettuce, mustard, parsley, parsnip, rhubarb, spinach, Swiss chard, and herbs. Onions and celery are particularly good muck crops.

SORE THROAT WITH COLDS Given Fast Relief

Take 2 Bayer Tablets with a full glass of water.

Crush 3 Bayer Tablets in 1/2 glass of water—gargle twice every few hours.

The speed with which Bayer tablets act in relieving the distressing symptoms of colds and accompanying sore throat is utterly amazing... and the treatment is simple and pleasant. This is all you do. Crush and dissolve three genuine Bayer Aspirin tablets in one-third glass of water. Then gargle with this mixture twice, holding your head well back.

This medicinal gargle will act almost like a local anesthetic on the sore, irritated membrane of your throat. Pain eases promptly; rawness is relieved.

You will say it is remarkable. And the few cents it costs effects a big saving over expensive "throat gargles" and strong medicines. And when you buy, see that you get genuine BAYER ASPIRIN.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste
 Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fall to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.
 Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.
 There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nationwide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

How Often Should Your Furniture Be Polished?

Housewives differ on the question of "when to polish their furniture." Some have no set time for it—polishing when they think of it—or when, casting a glance about, they decide that the furniture can "stand it." Others, polish every cleaning day—which ordinarily occurs once a week. Others dedicate but one day a year to this important procedure. And still others, polish the furniture in their home regularly, once a month. This last group is the largest—but their schedule is not sufficiently frequent. Furniture can not be polished too often! True, the outward benefit of the best oil polish—the luster—will last through a single week—and more—but this same polish, with its light oil base, preserves and "feeds" the furniture, revives it, prolongs its life! So that every application is highly beneficial to woodwork and the various pieces of fine wood in the home. Our advice, therefore, for the sake of endurance, as well as appearance, of your furniture, is "polish up" with a good oil polish at least twice a month!

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL
By Carter Field

Washington.—Hearings on the proposed United Kingdom-United States reciprocal trade agreement are set to begin here March 14. Battle between business and the State department will grow hotter as the hearings go on. It will center around the old, old question of free trade or tariff restrictions.

This is the argument: "Is it better to protect farmers, manufacturers, and labor against competition of low-cost products from foreign countries, or let the low-priced goods in for the benefit of the public? Who is most important: producers or the public?"

Any economist can show that the American public pays annually many billions of dollars more for the goods it buys now than it would pay if prices were lowered by foreign goods brought in free of duty. But the same economist, if he were so minded, could show that free imports would soon drive agriculture, manufacturing and labor to bankruptcy. First would come general chaos, and next would come an American standard of living as low as the world average.

These opposing forces are vast and complicated. Every tariff student has a theory. But Secretary of State Cordell Hull happens to be for low tariffs, and he happens to have a reciprocal trade agreement act passed by congress, and the will of President Roosevelt to back him up. So his opinion is what counts right now. He has made 16 reciprocal agreements with other countries already, and he's going to make one with England.

This is the gist of the Hull policy: Nearly all war is caused by economic war. After the World war, the United States helped increase economic war by raising tariff walls around itself. It must now tear them down to promote trade and peace. This country and England together transact about one-fourth of all the world's business. An agreement between the two to increase that huge volume of business will have a marked effect on world trade and world peace. We cannot remain prosperous in a poverty-stricken world.

How the Plan Works

Here's how the "most-favored nation" plan works. The United States picks out the country that supplies the most of any given import. In the case of woolen goods, it's England. We cut our import duty on woolens in return for a cut by England on something we sell her, say lumber, wheat, or automobiles. Then the new lower tariffs apply to all other countries supplying less amounts of the same commodities or products. It makes business move fast, say the low-tariff men.

But American farmers and manufacturers and labor leaders howl with pain. While they struggle for volume and prices to keep going, the government opens the flood gate and foreign goods rush in to lower both. The government says we are opening up the foreign market in which you can sell more farm and factory products, with resulting benefits to labor. We'll have worldwide prosperity in place of precarious isolated prosperity. And we'll have peace instead of back-breaking taxes for armaments.

Reciprocal trade treaties are engineered by the State department, but the work of preparing statistics and holding hearings is done by the tariff commission and its reciprocity committee. The commission's shabby old building is humming. Bright young men from London lug bales of records from room to room. Woolen manufacturers arrive from New England to make sure their protests will be heard when hearings begin. Meanwhile off to England goes the astute Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy to make sure the foxy British don't trade us any wooden nickels.

Up to Broadcasters

Two obligations are now placed squarely on the shoulders of radio broadcasting, which has been anxiously waiting a definite statement of policy by the recently reorganized federal communications commission. The law was laid down by Frank R. McNinch, newly appointed chairman of the commission, in his address before the sixteenth annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters. Radio must steer clear of monopolistic practices, and it must provide good entertainment free of moral offense.

Mr. McNinch is an administration man, loaned to the communications commission by the federal power commission, where his attitude toward public utilities was well known. Radio men feared trouble when he came over to the communications commission. Many of them are therefore agreeably surprised to hear from him what sounded like stern but friendly advice. But if any of them are involved in even the beginnings of monopoly, they are tossing in their sleep tonight, because the chairman announced that he will soon begin an investigation of chain broadcasting. What that will reveal only the guilty parties, if any, can foretell. Meanwhile they have plenty of time and fair warning to clean house.

That domain composed of ether-space and the natural phenomenon of wave lengths is a public property and resource, as Mr. McNinch sees it. That property is loaned to private industry, first to render a service to the public, and second to earn a reasonable profit. The franchise is granted with the understanding that it will be revoked unless the company serves and behaves as the government thinks it should.

Radio on the Spot

Railroads and power were mentioned by Mr. McNinch as having gotten into trouble with the public by combining for their own interest instead of for the best public interest. He said, in effect, that the trusts had depended on political pull and the use of propaganda to get by. But it didn't work in the long run. The radio industry is more intimately related to the public than any of the older utilities, and its behavior will be more quickly noticed. Mr. McNinch said that a member of the industry told him, "Radio could not survive an Insull."

But while warning of monopoly, which would consist of certain types of chain broadcasting, of management contracts, and of pressure methods in dealing with local stations, the chairman at the same time condoned and even praised the national hookups that produce the fine programs. It is only through the commercial support of huge audiences that the world's best talent can be brought into millions of homes. Regarding advertising sales talks on the air, Mr. McNinch warned broadcasters that the public will revolt against too much talk or bad taste. Some legitimate products and services, he said, simply cannot be talked about on the air. These matters the industry must govern.

The Mae West broadcast was only an incident, but doubtless it did influence the big radio boss in his conclusions on radio ethics. He made it very clear that all creeds, religions, races, ideals and ages must be respected. This is in accord with the democratic rights of minorities. Radio men say that this constitutes a drastic limitation on what may be said and discussed over the air. But none of them argue it is unfair. In the field of music and the other arts of sound there is no limit.

Japanese Boycott

While the boycott on Japanese silk still makes news, latest figures from the Department of Commerce show that it has had very little effect. Actual imports of raw silk from Japan are only 2 per cent below normal. But the organized protest against invasion of China, chiefly evident in women's refusal to buy silk stockings, has brought about some serious consequences.

The State department, of course, is deeply concerned. This country buys about 56 per cent of Nippon's total raw silk production. Our silk bill, therefore is an important item in Japan's war chest. If the boycott should become fully effective, Japan would be no little provoked. That, plus a possible clash with Japanese salmon poachers off Alaska, plus another incident like the Panay sinking in the Orient, might cause real trouble. Conversely, too, another incident might put the boycott under way in earnest.

But there would be little the State department could do about it. Any protests from Japan would have to be answered with a shrug. For a boycott is simply a form of free speech and free press. Any action by the government to the contrary would be a departure from the democratic principle. The Mikado would get the same answer that Hitler got when he complained about Mayor LaGuardia's utterances.

American silk manufacturers are being seriously damaged by the boycott. Fear that another incident will intensify feeling so that women will really decide to do without silk has caused store managers to issue hold orders on stockings and other silk goods. Silk mills and raw silk importers are getting stuck with supplies on hand. It is estimated that $25,000,000 of American capital invested in silk and allied industry has been frozen.

Jobs in Jeopardy

The jobs of more than 200,000 people engaged in the throwing and weaving of silk and in the manufacture and distribution of silk products are jeopardized. When the boycott first started the public supposed that finished stockings and other silk goods came directly from Japan. People did not know that American labor and industry produced the goods from Japanese raw material. This misunderstanding had the instant and remarkable effect of uniting silk capital and labor in a common front to tell the country the facts. William Green himself, president of the American Federation of Labor, had a voice in the telling.

Of course the anti-boycott drive appeared, to many suspicious persons, to be in collusion with the Japanese. The textile industry is centered in New York city, and because Japan happens to have a Chamber of Commerce in that city, some critics were inspired to talk treason. But labor and employers succeeded in making their cause clear, and undoubtedly their efforts were mainly responsible for modifying the boycott.

WHAT TO EAT AND WHY

Food Provides the Key to Mental and Physical Power

You Can Be Strong, Beautiful, Wise, Rear Healthy Children Only If You Know How to Combine the Right Food Materials in the Diet

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

6 East 39th Street, New York.

C. Houston Goudiss, outstanding food authority, author, and radio lecturer, author of "What to Eat and Why." He knows food from soil to serving, from table to tissue. Watch for his articles each week.

SINCE the world began, food has been man's first consideration. For it he has fought and died. To find it he has traveled over great continents and braved unknown dangers. His quest for food has changed the map of the world and colored the history of nations. But in all of these historic struggles, he has been motivated solely by the desire to get enough food to satisfy hunger.

Today, actual hunger is rare. But hundreds of thousands of people starve in the midst of plenty because they do not realize the tremendous power of food for good or for evil.

They do not realize that as a man eats, so he is, and that his choice of food materials gives or takes away the power to live vigorously—to think clearly—to feel warmly—to be strong, healthy and wise.

It can be truly said that your food is your fate. It has the power to shape your body—to make it strong and beautiful, or weak and ugly. It has the power to influence your language, your gait, your tone of voice, in short—your life. With the right food, life becomes a glorious adventure, for it increases your leadership, intensifies your magnetic qualities, strengthens your morale, and increases your physical defenses and resistance. Without it, one drags through miserable days—never realizing even half of his potential mental and physical powers.

Food—the Fuel of Life.

The human body is a machine, far more complex than any machine devised by the mind of man. Food is the fuel which runs this amazing machine. Food is also the material used to repair worn-out parts, and to keep the intricate mechanism in good working order.

The body machine cannot be run efficiently without proper food fuel any more than a car could be run without gas, or a house could be heated without oil, coal or wood.

Food also has the power to speed up or slow down the workings of the mind. It likewise influences the state of our nerves, the warmth of our affections, the type of characters we possess.

Finally, the power to have strong, healthy children is based on proper food. And nutritional scientists have discovered that the wrong food can even take away from us the greatest blessing that Nature has bestowed—our earthly immortality. For it can deprive us of the ability to bear children who will carry on after we are gone.

Six Groups of Food Substances.

What food substances are necessary to build and maintain top health—to develop the greatest physical and mental power? There are six groups of food substances which must be included in the balanced diet which promises increased health, happiness and longevity:

1. PROTEINS which build and repair body tissues. These are found in such foods as milk, eggs, meats, fish, cheese and nuts.
2. FATS which yield heat and energy. The fats are represented by butter, cream, oils and the fat of meats.
3. CARBOHYDRATES—the starches and sugars. These also supply heat and energy, and are found chiefly in such foods as bread, potatoes, cereals and sweets.
4. MINERALS which build, repair, protect and regulate. Among the minerals which are absolutely necessary to health and vigor are calcium, phosphorus, iron, copper, iodine, sulphur, manganese, magnesium, sodium and potassium. These are found in varying amounts in milk, eggs, fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals and meats.
5. VITAMINS which are necessary for body regulation, and as a protection against dread deficiency diseases. Six have been discovered to date—A, B, C, D, E and G.

6. WATER which is a part of all body tissue and must be present in order to have the other food elements function properly.

The ideal dietary is one that includes a correct proportion of the different food elements required to supply bodily needs without any of them being supplied in excess, or in insufficient amounts.

Danger in Omitting One Essential

To illustrate how important it is that not one of the necessary food substances be omitted, let me tell you how an eminent bio-chemist proved in his experimental laboratory, in one of our leading universities, that the difference between stupidity and genius depended upon the presence or absence of one vitamin.

He placed a pregnant animal upon a diet adequate in every respect, except that it lacked one of the six vitamins. As soon as her young were born and weaned, they were fed a completely adequate diet.

Then the scientist tested the mentality of the young animals. He wanted to find out whether or not their mental power had been injured in any way by the fact that their mother—during pregnancy—had been deprived of one vital food element. So he put them in a runway. To get out of this—and reach a tasty morsel at the other end—they had to make their way through a series of passages. He had already made this same test on the same type of animals born of properly fed mothers. He knew that it never took them more than 25 trials to learn their way out of the maze. Most of them had gotten out after 15 to 18 attempts.

But what lack of skill was shown by the animals whose mother had been deprived of proper food! The stupidity of these pathetic little creatures was unbelievable. Some of them never learned to thread the maze and reach their goal, even after as many as 250 trials. They were being given—at the time—everything that was necessary to their diet. But they had entered life with minds totally unequipped to cope with the world—because their mother had not been properly fed before they were born.

This is a striking example of the power of food to make or mar existence. I could cite hundreds of other laboratory experiments, many of which have been confirmed by clinical experience.

Nor is this power of food to affect mental activity confined to prenatal life. Even if a child enters this world with a strong body and a clear mind—the wrong food during childhood has the power to wreck health.

Investigation after investigation, by leading specialists throughout the country, has proven that a surprising percentage of retarded children—those who cannot keep up with their school grades—do not really have inferior minds. They only seem stupid because the action of their minds is clogged and slowed down by sluggish, under-fed bodies. Their brains are like machines which cannot attempt the speed of which they are capable—because the proper fuel had not been provided.

Physical fitness is a far greater asset than material possessions. For in times of stress and trouble, those who can stand up under the physical strain win the battle. For those who collapse, all is lost.

The Homemaker's Responsibility.

Every wife and mother is therefore faced with the tremendous responsibility of keeping her family mentally and physically fit. Her husband must have the right kind of food in order to earn a living. Her own diet must be adequate and well-balanced if she is to have the energy, wisdom, and patience required of a mother at all hours of the day. Her baby will not grow into a healthy man or woman unless he or she has the right nourishment from the moment of birth. And school children can't keep up with their classes without the right food.

If you will follow this series of articles, and put into practice the principles of correct eating that I advocate, I can promise that you will increase both mental and physical efficiency, and as a result, achieve greater health and happiness for every member of your family.

Food Affects Your Body and Mind

Each morning when you awake, a new life is ahead of you. Whether that day and the days to follow will be better or worse than those that went before, depends largely upon what you eat. For nothing short of a miracle is performed at every meal.

Within a few hours the bread, meat, vegetables and liquids that you swallow are transformed into your personality. They begin to think, feel and act. They become YOU. What was food yesterday, today is carrying on the important business of the world, running banks, operating machines, poring over school books, or carrying on that most important of all works, the making and keeping of a home.

Each meal that you eat helps or hinders the efficiency and ease with which these various duties are performed. That is why it is true that as you eat, so you are. And that is why I say that three times a day, at your table, you SIT DOWN TO LIFE.

Like a family heirloom, a preference for Jewel Shortening is handed down from mother to daughter in thousands of families. Jewel actually creams faster and makes more tender baked foods than even the costliest shortenings. It's a special blend of fine vegetable fats and other bland cooking fats, ideal for all cooking. Ask for Jewel in the familiar red carton.

Are Women Better Shoppers than Men?

GRANTING a woman's reputation for wise buying, let's trace the methods by which she has earned it. Where does she find out about the advantages and details of electrical refrigeration? What tells her how to keep the whole household clean—rugs, floors, bathroom tiling—and have energy left for golf and parties? How does she learn about new and delicious entrees and desserts that surprise and delight her family? Where does she discover those subtleties of dress and make-up that a man appreciates but never understands?

Why, she reads the advertisements. She is a consistent, thoughtful reader of advertisements, because she has found that she can believe them—and profit thereby. Overlooking the advertisements would be depriving herself of data continuously useful in her job of Purchasing Agent to the Family. For that matter, watch a wise man buy a car or a suit or an insurance policy. Not a bad shopper himself! He reads the advertisements too!

A. J. PAYNE, SECRETARY

At the regular meeting of the Directors of the B.C.D. and C. of C. last Tuesday night, Fred H. Schmidt was elected President, Webber Williams, Vice-President, and T. Fagan Genn re-elected as Treasurer.

There were eleven out of the fifteen Directors present, and President Anderson went through with the business in 20 minutes as some of the Directors and Manager wanted to see the FUN night up stairs.

Report of the Highway Committee meeting at Plainview and Lubbock was given by President Anderson, as most favorable for the road from Tahoma through Slaton on to highway No. 24 and on to Plainview.

It was voted that the Slaton Oilers Basketball Team be financed to the amount of $30.00 to go to Dallas.

Treasurer Fagan Genn presented his financial report for the months of January and February which showed a balance on hand of $190.25.

Inventor and Actor

Robert Fraser, popular screen star, who comes to the Palace theatre at Saturday's prevue in "Gambling with Souls," the sensational film drama that has caused a furore wherever it has been shown, is an accomplished inventor besides being a versatile actor. Some years ago Fraser invented a new kind of dictaphone machine that took messages over the telephone when no one was at home. The invention proved highly successful and Fraser made a tidy fortune out of it.

SPY RING IS SMASHED

Two Men and a Girl Arrested for Selling American Army Secrets to a European Nation Not Yet Named

Here, photographed after their arrest in New York, are Johanna Hofmann of Dresden, Germany, and Guenther Gustav Rumrich, former United States army sergeant and a deserter, two of the three persons accused of complicity in an international spy plot, the aim of which was the sale of United States military secrets to a foreign government. The woman, a hairdresser on the German liner Europa, was messenger and paymaster for the ring.

Three Taken as Spies

GOVERNMENT agents and New York police broke up a ring of spies engaged in selling secrets of the American army and navy to a European nation described as a world power but otherwise not named. Three alleged members of the ring were under arrest and held in heavy bail. Two of them, a former sergeant in the United States army and a private in the army, were said to have confessed. The third was a German girl, hairdresser on the German liner Europa. The G-men were diligently searching for other members of the band.

Guenther Gustav Rumrich, the ex-sergeant, who is a deserter, said he was engaged in obtaining secrets and information concerning military operations of the United States army and was forwarding it through confidential channels to various addresses in Europe.

Erich Glaser, the private, had been stationed at Mitchel Field, New York, the largest army air base on the East coast and key to the air fortifications of the metropolitan area. He supplied certain air corps codes to Rumrich.

Johanna Hoffman, the woman arrested, admitted she was the "liaison officer and paymaster" between the ring and its employers. Secret code keys and considerable quantities of money were found on her person.

So far as investigators have been able to learn Rumrich sold the foreign power a gold brick. He never transmitted any information that could not be found in the army and navy journal, a publication obtainable by any one.

However, army officials considered the matter of considerable importance and armed guards were placed around military centers along the Atlantic seaboard. At Mitchel Field especial protection was given the hangar housing a bomber used for testing one of the air corps' most precious secrets, a bomb sight capable of aiming heavy air projectiles with great accuracy.

Reorganization Fight

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S bill for reorganization of the executive branch of the government came up in the senate, and immediately was confronted with a strong combination formed to force amendments that would greatly lessen the wide discretionary powers given the President by the measure. This was comprised of both Democrats and Republicans, being much the same line-up that defeated the Supreme court enlargement bill.

The coalition was headed by Republican Senators Borah of Idaho, Vandenberg of Michigan and McNary of Oregon and Democratic Senators Wheeler of Montana, O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Burke of Nebraska.

An amendment by Wheeler empowering congress to veto any of the President's reorganization proposals within sixty days gained wide support.

Opponents of the bill contend it smacks of dictatorship and would strip congress of its constitutional powers.

Senator Byrnes of South Carolina opened the debate in behalf of the bill.

More Power for Unions

ORGANIZED labor was winner in several decisions handed down by the Supreme court. The rights of employers and of nonunion employees were restricted. A majority of the court upheld the exercise of power which a dissenting opinion denounced as despotic and wholly at variance with the principles of constitutional liberty in this country.

In a Milwaukee case the court held that a demand by a labor union that an employer force his employees to join that union constituted a labor dispute under the Norris-La Guardia act. It reversed a decree issued by Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger and upheld by the Seventh Circuit Court of Appeals, which permanently enjoined a union from attempting to coerce an employer whose employees had refused to join that union.

In two cases the court upheld the right of the national labor relations board, without notice, or hearing, or an election, to require employers to withdraw recognition from an employees' association alleged to have been fostered by the employer.

In a fourth case the court refused to review a decision by the New York Court of Appeals, the state's highest tribunal, which upheld a contract requiring membership in a particular union as a condition of employment.

Soviet Chiefs Face Death

WITHIN a short time we may expect to read of the execution of 21 prominent citizens of Soviet Russia, latest victims of Dictator Stalin's blood purge. They were put on trial before a military tribunal, and there was little doubt as to their fate. Among the accusations against them were conspiring with foreign powers to dismember the Soviet Union, plotting to assassinate Lenin and Stalin, inspiring the assassination of Sergei Kiroff, and putting to death the writer Maxim Gorky and two others previously supposed to have died of natural causes.

Most prominent of the men put on trial were Former Premier Alexis I. Rykov, who succeeded Lenin and held office for nearly two years; and Nikolai Bukharin, chronicler of the red revolution and editor of the government newspaper Izvestia before March, 1937.

Austrian Nazis Checked

CHANCELLOR SCHUSCHNIGG evidently is determined not to let Hitler go too far in Austria. He is sternly suppressing all illegal Nazi activities, and is using the army in doing so. In the Nazi province of Styria thousands of peasants planned to march on Graz and Nazis intended to occupy the government buildings. So the chancellor sent motorized units from the Vienna garrison to guard all approaches to the city, and airplanes scouted about looking for the expected marching columns. This prompt action prevented the threatened uprising and not a shot was fired.

Senate to Probe Reds

SENATOR COPELAND of New York successfully put through his resolution for a special investigation of subversive activities of Communists in the merchant marine. It will be conducted by a committee named by Vice President Garner.

About the same time Harry Bridges, C. I. O. leader on the west coast, arrived in Washington to resist being deported as an undesirable alien. Bridges also demanded a hearing before the senate committees on commerce and labor which had under consideration the bill to extend to maritime labor relations the scope of the railway labor act and the authority of the national mediation board.

Lesson for March 13 FEEDING THE HUNGRY

LESSON TEXT—Mark 6:30-44. GOLDEN TEXT—Give ye them to eat. Mark 6:37. PRIMARY TOPIC—When Jesus Fed a Hungry Crowd. JUNIOR TOPIC—A Boy's Part in a Great Miracle. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Sharing What We Have. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Providing for the Needs of All.

"My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ Jesus" (Phil. 4:19). Such is the assurance of God's Word. Countless Christians have proved it to be true that they may trust God to supply every need—temporal or spiritual.

The lesson for today first presents the disciples as they had come back from their preaching expedition and presented to the Lord Jesus a report of their stewardship in ministering the bread of life to the spiritually needy. He invites them to a place apart from the busy walks of daily life for a time of communion and rest. The multitude would not be denied, however, and follow our Lord to the desert place. Having taught them, Jesus has opportunity to instruct His disciples in the important ministry of supplying for those in need the bread for their bodies.

I. The Ministry of the Bread of Life.

Reports of accomplishments in the field of Christian work (although sometimes an earnest accounting of stewardship of service and money) are all too often prepared for the purpose of impressing men and seeking their financial assistance. The real report is the one which disciples make to their Lord. It concerns two vital points.

1. "What they had done" (v. 30).

One of the temptations which face the preacher and teacher of Christian truth is to avoid unpleasant and difficult problems by simply proclaiming the truth and doing nothing about the outworking of that truth in daily living. It sounds very pious to say that we will present the Word and let it do its own work, but the Christian worker who evades his duty to deal at close grips with sin and disorder in the church and community has not discharged his responsibility to Christ.

2. "What they had taught" (v. 30).

The second temptation of the preacher is to follow the specious reasoning of the modernist who says that it does not matter what a man believes, it is what he does that counts. The foundation of Christian character is Christian doctrine, therefore the disciple of Christ must know what to teach, and give account to the Lord for his teaching. Teaching and doing the commandments of God go hand in hand.

II. The Ministry of Daily Bread.

Jesus found no rest, for the multitudes followed Him to the other side of the lake. Ere long the evening approaches, and the disciples begin to be concerned about how this great multitude is to be fed. They follow the inclinations of the flesh and decide to solve the problem by asking Jesus to

1. "Send them away" (v. 36).

The church has followed their example in dealing with the social problems of the people down through the years. The result is that being denied fellowship, comfort, and help by a church which was too busy building up a vast organization or a beautiful order of worship, the common people have responded to the appeal of political leaders who have provided a substitute for what the church should have given them.

Serious thoughts are these. It will not do for us to "send them away" from the church empty hearted and empty handed. Our Lord says—

2. "Give ye them to eat" (v. 37).

Reckoning hastily on what a small boy had brought for his lunch (trust an alert boy to be ready!), the disciples soon demonstrate that it is impossible to feed this great throng. Logic is such a devastating thing when it operates apart from faith in God. They were absolutely right in their reasoning and in their calculations, but they had forgotten the one factor that really counted. Jesus was there, and Jesus is God, and God is omnipotent.

3. "He commanded . . . and they did all eat" (vv. 39, 42).

When God speaks all the limitations of the finite disappear, and the needs of men are fully met—with "twelve baskets full of fragments" left over!

Let those who labor in difficult places with limited resources take heart—and trust God.

BEGINNING with this issue this paper is pleased to announce a new series of articles which we believe to be the most original and up to date food department in the country.

We wanted to offer a food department that was live—interesting—different. We wanted to get away from the usual "recipe column." We believe the women of this community are primarily interested in food in its relation to health, in its effect on growing children. Information of this sort has usually been too scientific to be understood by the average person, but in this series it is presented in clear, understandable language and applied so that it will fit the average household.

C. Houston Goudiss, famous author, lecturer, and radio personality, will conduct this department each week. Many housewives will want to make scrapbooks of these articles. Don't miss a single issue.

Pineapple Cream for Plain Cake.

MANY times the dessert question is a difficult one to decide upon, and there are other times when there is some pound cake, gingerbread, or plain butter cake left that needs to be made interesting to tempt the family. When these two situations meet, you will find that pineapple cream to serve over slices of any one of the kinds of cake will be just the trick to produce a lovely dessert.

Pineapple Cream.

8 oz. can crushed pineapple
1/2 pint pastry cream
1/4 cup marmalade, jam or jelly

Drain the juice from the pineapple and save it to use for something else, or just drink it. Whip the cream until stiff. Blend the cream with the drained pineapple and the marmalade, jam or jelly. By varying the kind of jam used the whole tone or flavor of the cream can be changed, and you will find any flavor blends well with the pineapple. Serve the pineapple cream over slices of the chosen cake.

During 20 minutes they listened spellbound while she talked. At first Margarida Fonseca seemed a volcano on the verge of eruption; while occasionally she protested with a snort of startling volume, to no statement did she deign to voice actual denial. But gradually—very gradually—the scowl began to clear from her brow, her clenched fists relaxed, a gleam of admiration dawned in her eyes and at last the smile Joyce had seen only once before transfigured her expression.

"Ah!" cried the ex-minister of war, and it sounded like a groan of understanding mixed with rage. "It is clear what happened—too clear! Licenciada Fonseca baited the hook, Onelia gladly swallowed it. By abandoning you to your fate in La Barranca without killing Dorado they created an unparalleled international situation which made me totter. One more push would send me over with a crash, and Onelia herself supplied the impulse by facilitating the theft of the howitzers and casting the blame on me. Ah, senorita, you did well by yourself to bring me here today. All hail!"

Without bothering to take his leave, he rushed from the room.

A shadow swept across Margarida's face, but promptly cleared. "Well, chica," she rumbled, "what wouldn't I give to have you for a partner!"

"No more than I'd give to have you for a friend," said Joyce from her heart. "Oh, Margarida, please be my friend."

"No," said Margarida, tossing her iron-gray mane of hair. "Impossible. I detest you gringos—all of you and all you stand for. Your insufferable pride in dynamics as the true and only end of man! Your price labels on everything pertaining to the soul! You jeer at our thieves' market; what about your juries, weighing gold against bushels of injured hearts? I could go on for an hour, but enough is enough. At the end we'd have to arrive at the truth. I love you, chica, my little one, and I've always wished I might have a tiger just your size for a pet. You're adorable."

Dirk's telephoning from the embassy now bore fruit. Pablo entered and whispered to him, withdrew and a minute later came back accompanied by a respectable though threadbare individual. The newcomer seemed nervous, at odds with his surroundings and the company in which he found himself. He had the look of a man whose world has been yanked from under him, leaving him floating in air out of reach of help from heaven or hell. He regarded the ambassador, Joyce and even Margarida Fonseca's arresting presence with lackluster eyes, then turned to Dirk.

"I'm the Reverend Ellerton Jones," he announced in the ghost of a voice. "I understand you sent for me, Mr. Van Suttart, but I'm not at all sure—not at all sure—"

"Sit down, sir," said Dirk, "and let's talk the thing over. This is more or less a family gathering. The ambassador isn't an ambassador this afternoon; he's acting as my father. As for Licenciada Margarida Fonseca, one of the high-lights of the Mexican bar, she's a very dear friend of the girl whom I wish to marry, Miss Joyce Sewell. Surely you'll help us out."

"That's the trouble," said the lost soul doubtfully. "I don't have to tell you, do I? My charge is gone. I have no rights, civil or otherwise—scarcely the right to live. I'm here on sufferance. That's what I meant. I'm not at all sure—"

"Are you in good standing with your church at home?" broke in the ambassador.

"Yes, oh, yes. I'm awaiting my recall; no—that's not quite true, I await the means with which to return."

"As long as you're a regularly ordained minister," said the ambassador, "that's all that the home states of these two young people require."

"Please, sir," said Dirk earnestly, "please, Mr. Jones, do let's be cheerful on this loveliest of all afternoons. You can make Joyce and myself very happy in about five minutes, if you will, and we'll try to do the same by you. Say I send you back home in style—drawing room, airplane, or if you like to drive I'll give you a car. What about it, sir? I don't want to rush you but there are two more clergymen waiting on your decision out in the patio."

Abruptly the lackluster eyes came to life; never dreaming how readily some men can lie Mr. Jones tugged a small worn book from his hip pocket and murmured, "Let us proceed with the ceremony."

A strange wedding if there ever was one. It started on a note of haste and levity, but so moving and powerful are the words hallowed by time and usage to Anglo-Saxon ears that a spirit of reverence swept into the room on wings unseen yet surely felt. What though the voice of the preacher was the voice of habit, precise in intonation, humdrum in intent; it could not lessen the surge of emotion which took possession of the hearts of his hearers, choked their throats and turned dry eyes luminous. To the sight of the men and the woman present and in the sight of God no longer were Joyce and Dirk arrayed in whipcord and saddle-stained moleskin, nor yet in silk or broadcloth. They were clothed in light, their faces bathed in a glory from within which presaged a devotion beyond any that lips alone can pledge.

The ambassador put his arm around Joyce, kissed her and stood looking down into her eyes. "My dear, I've never given away a sweeter bride to a more lovable boy." He turned his head to look at Dirk. "What now?" he asked. "When do you intend to return to your job?"

"That's up to Joyce, sir," said Dirk. "I've married her. I mean the whole of me has married her. I've just heard some words I've never heard before in my life—though I and you and everybody else know them by heart. I take them as they stand."

"He means it!" murmured the ambassador and returned his attention to Joyce. "What about it, my dear? I understand you have no use for embassies and all their works. What do you want Dirk to do—shake his job and become a drone?"

"A drone?" gasped Joyce, and caught her lip lest she laugh. She left his side, walked toward a window, and turned. "You're a great ambassador," she stated gravely. "I've known you only an hour and already you stir in me something I'll have to call love—one of the sweeter kinds of love—because there's no other word that comes near it. I can imagine that sort of power doing good no matter where a man walks. If Dirk, like you, is headed toward awaking the love of his fellow man—not of his nationals, his fellow man—what difference does it make where we live, what path he and I take together?"

"That's Up to Joyce, Sir," Said Dirk.

The ambassador stared at her, then turned very slowly to look at Dirk. "That's your release, Dirk, and I don't mind saying you've cut out a full-sized job for yourself whether you stay under me or go. Want more time to think it over?"

"Yes, sir." "How long?" Dirk looked at Joyce and she answered for him. "Long enough to settle with Dorado."

There was a disturbance in the hallway; General Sebastiano, fuming with impatience, opened the door for himself and hastened toward the ambassador. "Excellency," he cried, "I have accomplished much since I left here. I have been closeted with the president himself and return with a budget of news. For your relief let me say at once that our troubles are over."

"Which trouble?" asked the ambassador feelingly. "All, all," said the general. "Our countries can be at peace as never before and we may yet look upon the incident of La Barranca as a godsend."

"That would be good news with a vengeance," murmured the ambassador. "So it's the president himself who found the solution?"

"A perfect one and so simple it cuts the Gordian knot at a single stroke. What was the situation? A young girl, with the eyes of the world upon her, battling to hold her own property—international dynamite as you yourself admitted. Had my government followed your suggestion of sending a battalion to fetch her out we would have become ridiculous; but reverse the objective and you have a stroke of genius."

"I don't follow you," said the ambassador testily.

"Send a battalion to keep her in," continued the general with slow emphasis. "In short, the president suggests that the government support the Mexican-born senorita Joyce Sewell in the lawful possession of her property, subject only to such restrictions as the national law provides, by every means in the power of the republic. As a first step he has directed me to dispatch at once a sufficient force for the capture of General Dorado—bandit, bootlegger of illicit gold, and purloiner of a battery of howitzers."

"Directed you?" asked the ambassador with emphasis on the pronoun. "Why not General Onelia?"

"Ah, Onelia. The president ordered his instant arrest, simultaneously with my reappointment as minister of war. Incidentally, the traitor is no more."

"You mean Onelia's dead?" cried the ambassador.

"Through his own fault," asserted General Sebastiano sorrowfully, "and only in the last half-hour." Then he added in explanation, "Our regrettable national habit of ley de fuga—shot while attempting to escape from his guards."

Margarida advanced with hand extended. "Mr. Minister," she rumbled, "let me be the first to congratulate you on the resumption of the portfolio you know so well how to administer to your own honor and the honor of our country." She marched onward and turned in the door. "I trust both your excellencies will keep me in mind as a good lawyer though an honest woman."

Historians Given Unpublished Letters

Written by Explorer Meriwether Lewis

Hitherto unknown—or unconfirmed—sidelights on the life of Meriwether Lewis, co-explorer with William Clark of the Northwest, have been revealed with the bequest to the Missouri Historical society of unpublished letters written by the great explorer and scout, according to a St. Louis United Press correspondent in the Detroit Free Press.

Scholars have been working on the letters and documents, which were given to the society by the late Dr. Meriwether Lewis Anderson, a descendant of Lewis. Anderson died at Richmond, Va.

Included in the group are numerous letters written by the explorer to his mother. One, written in 1795, when he was twenty, was in a semi-apologetic tone for his seeming inability to stay home. He had enlisted with some Virginia troops at the time, and wrote:

"So violently opposed is my governing passion for rambling to the wishes of all my friends, that I am led intentionally to err and then have vanity enough to hope for forgiveness."

"I do not know how to account for this Quixotic disposition of mine in any other manner or its being inflicted by any other cause than that of having inherited it in right of the Meriwether family."

He asked his mother to forgive him on that basis; then promised to let her know of his whereabouts "by every opportunity."

Dirk went out with the clergyman; the ambassador withdrew, arm in arm with the minister of war, each aglow with plans for a rapprochement that would bring glory to both. Joyce, the small cause of weighty matters, was left alone. Standing at a high window she watched their excellencies depart but turned at the sound of a footstep. She and Dirk hung poised for a breathless moment with the room between them. Slowly they moved forward. The days they had spent together seemed to lengthen into years, reaching back into a common childhood and knitting the innermost fibers of their being. Their hands touched, clung, and as they looked deep in each other's eyes the same fear was born in them, the same silent cry: "This is I; if I lose you I'm lost, torn, maimed." Then his arms opened and she crushed herself against him.

"Oh, Dirk! Darling! Dirk!" "Don't worry," he whispered thickly. "I feel it too, Joyce. We won't lose each other, we can't. I love you—all of me loves all of you. Nothing ever can happen to one of us again."

She raised her face, blinding with its incandescence. Their kiss opened the floodgates of the heart and swept their veins with fire. Life with its inevitable pitfalls stretched far and wide before them, but one thing they knew: this was the topmost pinnacle of surrender. Never could they give again what now they gave, never step back out of that world of love to which all other loves are but an echo. (THE END)

EXCEPTIONALLY smart new things for yourself and your daughter, that you'll enjoy making right now, and wearing on into the summer. Yes, even if you've never done much sewing, you'll enjoy working from our simple, easy-to-follow patterns, each accompanied by a complete and detailed sew chart. Hundreds of beginners are saving money, and creating really individual clothes, by making their own this season.

The Charming Basque.

Here's a perfect design for slim, youthful figures. The snug basque top, above a full, rippling skirt, is dramatized by little puff sleeves. Think how delightful it will look, made up in a plain or printed material, either one, but choose something colorful, because it's such a gay, young little dress.

Little Girl's Dress, With Doll.

Yes, this pattern brings you directions for making the little girl's dress, the doll, and a dress for the doll just like her small mama's. Just think how all that newness will make your little daughter dance with joy. The child's dress is a darling, with its full skirt, pockets, puff sleeves and round collar. Make it up in printed percale or gingham. Old-fashioned rickrack braid would be pretty to trim it.

The Classic Shirtwaist.

This is distinctly a woman's version of the indispensable shirtwaist dress, gracious, slenderizing and dignified. The shoulders are beautifully smooth and the skirt has exactly the correctly tailored, straight effect. It's so easy to make, and looks so smart, that you'll want it now in sheer wool or light-weight flannel, and later in tub silk or linen.

The Patterns.

1471 is designed for sizes 12 to 20 (30 to 38 bust). Size 14 (32) requires 4½ yards of 39-inch material, with ¾ yard of contrast for collar. Belt not included.

A NEW SERIAL BY

William MacLeod Raine
STARTS IN OUR NEXT ISSUE!

Ruth Chiswick knew Jeff Gray was honest, from the moment he saved her life during the shooting escapade at Tail Holt. But . . . Jeff mingled with the notorious Sperm Howard's henchmen, he tried to kill her father and he was an ally of the cattle rustlers. Through it all Ruth knew that some day he would vindicate himself, though her doubts were often great. You'll be thrilled by the mysterious Jeff Gray, by beautiful Ruth Chiswick and their unusual romance amidst gunfire and desert dust. "To Ride the River With" starts in our next issue.
