Uncle Ananias says it is always shionable to be sensible.

The good thing about beginning at the bottom is that you always have something solid to go back to.

Except for a few who should be asked up, we have concluded that people are just as moral as we are, and that neighbors can do whatever censoring is necessary, efficient and economically.

Beauty treatments seem to do the least for those who need 'em most.

Business Week discusses the prospect of the "sliding wage scale" being adopted by some industries in this country. This scale has been used lately abroad, especially in England's oil and steel industries.

Under the system, workers get more when the prices of the products up, less when they go down. A minimum wage is usually stipulated which pay cannot fall.

A few businesses have tried the sliding scale here, with fair success. Number are talking about it now, though no definite plans for putting an effect are known.

Seems fair enough to us.

Archeologists have discovered evidence used by prehistoric Nebraska Indians. Maybe that's a tip on how the red man lost this country.

Emerson declared: There is a time every man's education when he awakes at the conviction that envy is a sin; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better or worse as his portion; that though wide universe is full of good, no plow of nourishing corn can come to it but through his toil bestowed on the plot of ground which is given him to till.

Today is, Of course, All Fools Day. We advise you to not kick cats, pick up pocket-books, and shove all, think twice before you believe what a friend tells you.

You can believe this one because it's true: A fisherman, a farmer, rode his horse into the Tiekfaw River. While the horse was drinking, Carrier reared his false teeth to wash them. He was washing the plate a fish took his hand and took the teeth. Carrier went home for his fishing gear and rifle and returned to the river. For some time he tried in vain to catch the fish on a hook. Then the fish came into view and Carrier fired. He killed the fish and cut it open. False teeth were found inside. The fish was a jack fish weighing about 10 pounds.

Former Resident To Marry In Abilene Ap. 2

An announcement has been received of the approaching marriage of Davis (Buster) Harris and Miss Juanita Nolan, both of Abilene.

The ceremony will take place in the University Baptist church of that city Saturday, April 2nd at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Mr. Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Harris, who formerly resided here several years ago, when the elder Harris was Superintendent of the Cotton Mill. The son attended Slaton high school and was well known.

Among the out-of-town attendants to be at the wedding will be Mrs. Vern Johnson, Sr., of this city.

Mr. Harris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Harris, who formerly resided here several years ago, when the elder Harris was Superintendent of the Cotton Mill. The son attended Slaton high school and was well known.

Members of the church are enthusiastic over securing a new pastor. The pastor is married and the couple have a young son. They will move here as soon as possible.

The church has been without a pastor since last summer when Rev. Jno. Van Dyke resigned to accept a position in Iowa. Later he was killed in an automobile accident.

R. L. Henry Funeral Sat. March 26th

Succumbs After Long Illness At His Home

A few hours after sending a telegram of congratulations to his son for a courageous battle in the semi-finals of the AAU boxing tournament at Dallas, R. L. Henry, 42, died at his home here at 3:30 p.m. Friday, March 25th.

The son, Lloyd Henry, representing the Lubbock district at the tourney, returned home Saturday night after losing in the semi-finals of the welterweight division.

Henry's death came after an illness of more than a year. He was a retired Santa Fe engineer, a member of the school board, and prominent citizen. Formerly a citizen of Snyder, he had made his home here 15 years.

He is survived by his widow, three sons, one daughter, four sisters, and one brother. The sons are: Lloyd, Jimmie, and Warren. The daughter, Mrs. E. L. Manire, lives at O'Donnell. The four sisters are: Mrs. L. W. Pitman of Seattle, Washington; Mrs. Tom Wolfe and Mrs. F. M. Magee of Penelope; and Mrs. J. A. Morris, 2311 14th street, Lubbock. The brother is Ernest Henry of Roby.

Funeral services for the deceased were held Saturday at 4 o'clock in the Methodist church with Rev. I. A. Smith of Quanah officiating.

Interment followed in Englewood cemetery with Foster Funeral Home in charge.

There were many out-of-town relatives and friends attending the services.

Pall bearers were: Judge Smith, Frank Drewry, Clarence Heaton, Chick Garland, Otis Gunter, and John Ecker.

TRIBUTE TO BOB HENRY

My heart was made sad when I learned that Bob Henry had slipped out on the silent sea that stretches from earth to eternity.

I have known Mr. Henry for several years and like many other friends of Slaton will miss him very much.

Day after day would pass and I would not see him, but I can remember the smile and hearty hand-clasp he was always ready to give. 'Tis true, joy, sorrow and failures visit all. But it is human nature to want to cling to life, it matters not whether the part we play is an important one, when God calls we must go. If we could hear his voice he would tell us to dry our tears and bind ourselves to other friends and joyfully perform all duties on earth till our time shall come. This friend we speak of today is gone, his last farewell is spoken. But may we not say goodnight and in some brighter clime bid Mr. Henry good morning.

Just beyond life's curtain If we could understand, We'd find our loved ones waiting In that far better land. And God in his great goodness Will lift the veil some day. And let us join the dear ones Who now are just away. —A Friend

A. G. HUNT

Mr. Hunt has lived in Lubbock county forty-seven years.

He made his first political campaign two years ago, when he asked for this same office. His formal announcement will appear in this paper later.

Mr. Hunt is at present connected with a Lubbock wholesale grocery company.

Sherrod Bros. & Carter Hdwe. Sale Today

Many Prizes Given At Removal Sale

Today marks the beginning of the giant removal sale of the Sherrod Bros. & Carter Furniture store on West Garza street. This is to reduce the stock to such proportions that can be moved to the new location, in the building formerly occupied by the Forrest Hardware on the west side of the square. It will be necessary to dispose of a large amount of furniture and the prices will be amazingly low.

The sale will last until April 16th, after which date Manager Wiley, assisted by James Cloninger, will greet patrons in the new location.

During the sale there will be a number of valuable prizes. With each dollar purchase there will be given a ticket for the drawing at the close of the sale when a glider, a rocking chair and a porch chair will be the first, second and third prizes respectively.

Each day free tickets will be given all who ask for them, and at 4 o'clock four nice prizes will be awarded the holder of the lucky numbers.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank each and every one who was so kind to us during the long illness and death of our "Loved One," and for the beautiful flowers that were sent.

Especially, do we thank those who made life easier and the days brighter for him during the past 2 years.

May each of you always find Friends as kind and true as our prayer "THE HENRY'S"

BOARD of CITY DEVELOPMENT and CHAMBER of COMMERCE NEWS

A. J. PAYNE, SECRETARY

We are going to have a 4th of July celebration this year, and all committees of the BCD Civic League as well as the Committee from the BCD and Chamber of Commerce met in the BCD office Thursday for organization and plans for the coming 4th of July celebration. We hope to give more information in next week's issue.

Next Wednesday is the day of our Band Boys and the FFA and 4-H Boys to go to Lubbock to be in the parade that day it being the last day of the South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show. Don't forget the banner in the parade.

We are still working and trying to find a building that will be acceptable to Mr. Noline who was here last week in the interest of placing a cheese factory here, and his last word to us before leaving was, that if we could find a building, to wire him and he would send a deposit to hold it till he came. This man means business, and we should try our dead level best to locate him here, for he is a first class business man, and means business, if any one has any ideas as to where a building can be had or one that we could trade for, please let us know, as we are very, very anxious to locate this cheese factory, more so than any thing else.

Next regular meeting of the Directors of the BCD and C. of C. will be Tuesday night April 12th at 7:45 this being the 2nd Tuesday in April, and regular meetings are on the 2nd and 4th Tuesdays in each month. So we have to skip a meeting this month to connect up and get right.

Slaton Rhythm Bands Winners

Approximately 500 Attend Lubbock Meet

Frenship had cinched the all-around grammar school interscholastic league championship in Lubbock county at conclusion of literary events Saturday, March 26, E. L. Farr, Shallowater superintendent and county director general, announced.

Second and third places in literary contests were won by Shallowater, with 38 points and Union, with 27 1/2 points. Neither had ranked in the first three winners of the athletic meet, however, Idalou having won first and Roosevelt second.

Approximately 376 students, including grammar and rural school literary and high school playground ball contestants, competed and teachers and patrons present increased attendance to at least 500.

Slaton winners in the meet were: Junior boys declamation; Charles Reese, second.

Spelling; Marie Hartnett and Bonnie Mercer, third.

Music memory; Slaton third.

Ready writers; Jimmie Jean Guinn, second.

Boys playground ball, high school; Slaton, first.

Rhythm Band, class A grammar school, Slaton West Ward, first; Slaton East Ward, second.

The high school athletic meet will be conducted Friday, April 1st at Texas Tech college and the literary meet Saturday, April 2nd at Junior High school, although several high school contests will be held at other times.

Plans for the county league debate tournament to be conducted at 8:00 o'clock Friday night at Junior High school were announced Saturday by Roy Boyd of Roosevelt, director of debate.

Slaton boy debaters to enter were Wayne Liles, Milton Kessel.

Slaton girl debaters are to be Lucille Savell, Opal Patterson.

Slaton will debate Frenship, and Idalou will debate Roosevelt and the winners will enter finals in the girls' division. Slaton will debate Idalou and the winner will debate Roosevelt in the boys' division.

Judges will be from the speech department of Texas Technological college.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Heaton are the parents of a boy, who arrived Wednesday morning, March 30th in Mercy Hospital.

J. W. Turnbow Attends Engineers Meet

Among the Tech Engineers to go to College Station Sunday was J. W. Turnbow of Slaton.

Eighteen mechanical engineering students and three faculty members left by chartered bus at 5 o'clock Sunday morning for College Station to attend the annual southwestern regional meeting of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers Monday and Tuesday.

The Tech group returned late Wednesday.

When Lubbock County was faced with the problem of promoting a project that would afford the most relief from the CWA to the more than 200 destitute families of this community, we chose the one of making a good highway across the canyon. To get a good straight alignment and a 4 per cent grade, we chose a new route between the two roads up the north side and shortened the distance for both roads by building 4,300 feet of new caliche road that is the best any where up in the cap rock country.

This work began in January 1934 and ended in July employing about 60 men about one-half of the time. The County's expense was about $3,500 for right of way, tools, repairs, 400 feet of corrugated pipe for culverts and part of team and truck hire. The PWA funds spent was more than $12,000. No route up the South hill could be found over which a road as good as the North one could be built at a cost within the reach of County

Slaton Profits By Federal Relief Agencies

Sec. Payne Gives Data About Improvements

Below we give a report written by A. J. Payne on the various projects finished and now being carried on in Slaton:

The City of Slaton, with a population of 3876 as given in the Census of 1930, has been able through cooperation with the various Federal Relief Agencies to avail itself with a number of improvements which are a pride to its citizenship and of untold permanent value. Without this Federal assistance none of the projects could have been carried out on account of the cost involved. Slaton has for several years had a complete water works and sewerage system, 51 blocks of paved streets, a modern four story fire-proof hospital costing $225,000, two Municipal buildings costing $40,000, natural gas service, electric light and power service, good street lighting system, a modern flashlight Telephone system, free mail City Delivery system, a Community Club House costing $20,000; this will be taken up further on as to the help from the WPA.

This is only a part of what Slaton had before asking for FERA or WPA help for certain things: to be done that could not be done without the help of the Government. Assessed valuation of City property in 1929 was $3,375,588 on a basis of about 65 per cent real value; but in 1930 the month of September we had one Bank failure, followed by another Bank failure in January 1931, valuations of property as listed above fell down to and including 1936 to around $1,875,000, so with the failures of both Banks, the reduction of all property in the City value, as well as the farm land adjacent to the City, gloomy days were upon Slaton, but the Spirit of the people would not down, so when the Government came along with the different set-ups, the proposition of Road work across the canyon was in order, this was done by the help of the FERA and was for the purpose of bringing more trade to Slaton from across the canyon.

At this time Slaton had but one highway No. 7 which runs in a north-westerly direction. It greatly needed a northeast, southwest cut-off highway from Highway No. 9 near Tahoka, to Highway No. 24 near Lorenzo, Texas. The County roads along this route across Yellow House Canyon 5 miles north-east of Slaton. This canyon is an abrupt break through the plains about 125 feet deep and about one mile wide, with sides too steep for roads except in a few places. Up to 1934 Slaton had been almost cut off from some of her best territory by lack of good roads across the canyon. The road up the south hill was narrow, crooked and steep, and at one point shaping like a hairpin not over 50 steps wide, with a steep hill hiding one side from the other. Around this narrow curve the grade was about 8 per cent. The road up the North hill divided into one going by Midway and one going by McClung. Both of these were very narrow, steep, crooked and hard to maintain.

When Lubbock County was faced with the problem of promoting a project that would afford the most relief from the CWA to the more than 200 destitute families of this community, we chose the one of making a good highway across the canyon. "Clean-Up Week" To Begin April 3rd

Mayor Hood, in proclaiming next week as Clean-Up Week stated that he was desirous to rid the entire town of all rubbish that was not intended for the city garbage men, who monthly hauls a certain part of the collected trash from the premises of all who have it gathered up for him at that time. It is not his duty to carry all sorts of accumulated waste but for this week, the city is willing to employ a trucker to gather all and sundry waste and trash if the people will cooperate and have it placed in a convenient place or disposal by him.

The schools, churches, clubs, newspaper, civic and patriotic organizations, boy scouts, and all of our citizenship are urged to take an active part in the observance of this Week. All of the organizations are urged to consult and advise with their city officials as to the best ways and means of conducting this campaign so that the greatest benefits may be derived by all our citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Campbell and family moved to Plainview this week. Therefore, it was decided to improve the old one. This was done by shaving off the hill projections and steep sides around which the road winds and by reducing steep grades, using dirt thus obtained to widen the road. In that way, the blinding hill in the "hair-pin point" was removed, the curve made twice as broad and the grade around it reduced from 8 per cent to 3 per cent. The grade of this road will be reduced to 6 per cent or less and will be caliche from bottom to top, a distance of almost a mile. The estimated cost of this project is about $2,000 to the County, and $5,000 to FERA and WPA. It furnished part time employment to 60 men for several weeks. This will now be one of the easiest and safest roads across the canyon and will make more accessible some of the sublimest scenery in the State, besides being worth many thousands of dollars every year to the traffic of this territory. Mr. W. P. Florence was superintendent of the project, who was Lubbock County Commissioner at that time.

The road from the City out to the Hospital, a distance of one-fourth mile, and from City to the Cemetery, a distance of one-half mile, and thru the Cemetery another one-fourth mile, these roads being hard-surfaced with caliche, and in which the City paid out $1,000 and the Government $4,000.

Gravel was hauled to the County Park with which to gravel the walks, a distance of three blocks, and to the Legion Hall, for this work, the County paid out $150 and the Government $500.

Project No. 4 was a Government project No. 3570, in which work on a drainage ditch of 18,260 feet and culverts, the WPA contribution was $14,866.21. Sponsor's contribution $2,880.30 total $17,746.51, and for this work 42 men were employed for six months period.

Project No. 5 was a Government project No. 4319 on a road from the country to the city, a distance of two miles and 900 feet. WPA contribution $5,798.30, sponsor's contribution, $2,459.55, a total of $8,257.85. 36 men were employed for a period of four months.

The WPA Sewing Room in the city of Slaton has adequately covered the field of needy employable women who are economic heads of families.

Since November, 1935 an average of twenty women have been employed on the project and have produced that many garments each day which have been used to clothe other needy people.

The City of Slaton has furnished a building, heat, lights, and water for this project. It has furnished ten Singer sewing machines, desks, chairs and two cutting tables. Findings for all garments have been bought by the City since the project opened.

We feel that the rehabilitation as well as the training these women have received during the duration of the project has been of great value to them in keeping them fit or private employment.

The funds expended by the City for the upkeep of the sewing room was approximately $2,700.00, and for labor paid out by the WPA was approximately $17,010. Total $19,710.

Tasty Baked Potatoes.—After baked potatoes are "done," gently crush the potato open and then return it to the oven to dry out for a few minutes.

Small Towels for Children.—Small size bath towels which are light in weight but firmly woven are easier for children to handle and are easier to launder.

Frying Fish Filets.—Try dipping fish filets in yellow corn meal, in milk and again in corn meal. Then fry them in deep fat until they are well browned.

Add Acid to Milk.—To help prevent curdling when acid and milk are combined, add the acid to the milk rather than the milk to the acid.

Sauce for Cold Meats.—An interesting sauce with cold meat, ham or pork calls for adding whipped cream and horseradish to tart, unsweetened apple sauce.

Sewing on Snaps.—When sewing snaps on a garment sew them by means of buttonhole stitches and they will not pull out the plain over and over stitches.

Fresh Orange Juice.—It is best to squeeze the orange juice before breakfast rather than the night before so that the air will have a chance to attack the vitamin in the juice and also change the flavor.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington.—For a government to rush into debt is a grand thing for all its citizens. For an individual to rush into debt is a terrible thing for all his dependents—though a good thing for his country.

Boiled down, that is the essence of the economic theory of a good many of President Roosevelt's advisers, if not of the President himself. It is shared by no less, for example, than Marriner Eccles, chairman of the board of governors of the federal reserve system.

This sounds like a sarcastic criticism, especially to many of the old-fashioned folks who were brought up, whether they followed the teachings or not, on a "willful waste brings woeful want," and a "save the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves" philosophy. Actually it is as simple a statement of the theory as the writer has heard.

With plentiful government spending, especially if the money is raised by borrowing instead of by taxation, employment is encouraged; buying is encouraged; prices tend to rise; everybody has a job; and everybody, except the budget balancing theorists, is happy.

Example is made of Great Britain, which has never paid off the debts incurred in the Napoleonic wars, much less any of her enormous borrowings since. At various stages during the last two hundred years economists have worried about this debt. Actually, it is contended, Britain is just as well off now as at any time during the process, and her present ills are not due to her debt.

Of course, during this two hundred-year period described—for it goes way back to Napoleon—something has happened, which the economists advocating the bigger debt and bigger government spending theory do not mention. There has been a gradual shrinkage of the value of the pound sterling. But then, on the other hand, Britain is often cited as the only important country in the world which has never had a real inflation. Not an inflation crisis, to be sure, but her currency has gradually depreciated. Which is another way of saying that the people who saved their money kept losing a considerable fraction of it.

Evil of Saving
But there is a simpler illustration of the "evil" of saving. Let us imagine that everybody in the United States was gainfully employed, and every one saved so much of his earnings that the interest on his savings would support him after 20 years.

In a very short period, 40 years at the outside, assuming no gambling element which would lead to losses, every family in the country would be able to live on its income. Theoretically, no one would have to work at all. Men and women could just spend their income on what they wanted, perhaps even save part of it.

Carrying this absurdity to extremes to make it clear, we would then be a nation of idlers, living on our incomes. But who would provide the food and clothing and automobiles and radios for our population?

To make the point still clearer, imagine a tariff wall around the United States so high that there would be no international trade. What would happen? Obviously demand being very high, and supply being very low, prices would soar. What would amount to a capital levy would thus be occasioned, and the accumulated savings would be wiped out. Everybody would go back to work again.

Now assume a little bit of this instead of a wholesale dose, and you have a depression. Reverse it, with everybody spending his head off, and you have a boom. In a nutshell, that is the theory, with the addition that if the individual doesn't spend, the government must.

Guffey Starts Something
Senator Joseph F. Guffey of Pennsylvania certainly started something when he named the issue on which he intended to support Thomas Kennedy and oppose Charles Alvin Jones in the Democratic gubernatorial primary in the Keystone state.

Guffey is supporting Kennedy for three reasons. One is that Kennedy has always regarded Guffey as his leader—has followed him in every important fight for many years. A second is that in supporting Kennedy, Guffey continues his alliance with John L. Lewis, who is Kennedy's real chief, for years in labor activities, now in politics as well. And a third is that Jones, who won the regular Democratic organization support, has always been a thorn in Guffey's side.

Guffey places it all on the count that Jones was against Roosevelt for the nomination in 1932. In short he was "Against Roosevelt Before Chicago," while Kennedy and Guffey were fighting loyally for Roosevelt. That is a mighty interesting charge. It hits a lot of people. It hits Jack Garner, who is now

Vice President, but was a candidate against Roosevelt with some very important delegates. It hits the entire Maryland Democracy, which was enthusiastic for Albert C. Ritchie. It hits the majority leaders in 1932 of the Democratic party in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. It reaches out into California and hits Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, who was for Garner. It hits more than three-quarters of the important Democratic leaders in Ohio, and plenty in Indiana.

Idea Is Not New

There is nothing new about the idea of discrimination against Democrats who do not belong to the "For Roosevelt Before Chicago" club. But up until now the only point has been in patronage. Guffey would magnify this discrimination to apply to running for elective office. It would bar from any important role in politics everyone who was not actively fighting for the nomination of Roosevelt in the period immediately preceding June, 1932.

This is a new sort of political doctrine. It runs counter to the oft-stated maxim of Will H. Hays that "assimilation, not elimination" is what a party needs.

And there is just enough truth in Guffey's new doctrine, regardless of his own sincerity in stating it, to cause trouble. For there is not a Democratic senator or governor or member of the legislature who does not suspect that in any contest between an old Roosevelt friend and an old Roosevelt opponent, the President would be inclined to support the friend. That is human. It has always been.

The importance of it now is that never before has the titular head of a party, occupying the White House, had so much power to affect results in state primaries and conventions of his party.

Putting the two Guffey doctrines together would look very much as though John L. Lewis' favorite senator was digging a pit for Roosevelt to fall into.

All Boards "Wooden"

General Goethals, of Panama canal fame, was wont to remark, toward the end of his life, that "all boards are long, narrow and wooden." This opinion grew out of his experience with the United States shipping board, which attempted to build ships during the World war emergency. It had nothing to do with his experience at the canal. In fact, it was the contrast between his helpless bickering in the shipping board, and the czarism he practiced, thanks to Theodore Roosevelt, at the canal job, that brought forth his derogatory comment on boards.

All of which applies to the present Tennessee Valley authority (better known by its initials, TVA,) controversy. The real trouble considering solely its administrative mess, is the fact that it is run by a three-man board.

Washington observers have been racking their brains during the last few weeks to discover a single case of any government board, set up with a business type of function, as distinguished from a judicial type of function, which has not been ruined by personal conflicts between the board members.

The TVA is the outstanding present illustration of failure. The United States shipping board, with its interminable quarreling between members on wooden ships versus steel, etc., is the one best remembered.

On the contrary the ICC is an outstanding case of a successful government board, but its function is almost entirely judicial.

But in Business

Why, it is asked, should corporations be run successfully by boards, but governmental agencies apparently always come to grief? The answer, observers here figure out, is that business corporations are actually almost always dominated by one man. The division in power among the board members is theoretical, not practical. In a politically appointed board one member is just as powerful, so far as the operation of the board is concerned, as another. In business it is almost never that way.

For instance, the president of a corporation is always a member of the board. In some instances he is the dominating figure. He runs the company. If he runs it successfully the board of directors is just a set of rubber stamps. They approve his policies. The test of his power is the success of the corporation.

But the division of the corporation into three or more parts, with one member of the board supreme in each pigeonhole, would be highly unlikely in a corporation designed for profit. In a corporation such natural divisions of work are made, but they are usually confided to vice presidents, or other executives.

Sometimes the president is really just an executive, all the planning and policy coming from the board, but in most of those cases the board is dominated by one man.

Lesson for April 10

FINDING OURSELVES IN SERVICE

LESSON TEXT—Mark 8:27-38.
GOLDEN TEXT—"What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?"—Mark 8:36.
PRIMARY TOPIC—What Peter Found Out.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter's Right Answer.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Making Life Count Through Service.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Finding the Richest Life Through Service.

"Finding ourselves" seems like a singular, almost self-contradictory expression, but it refers to a sound principle recognized by psychologists as well as spiritual leaders. As a matter of fact, modern psychology has begun to recognize and use spiritual laws and principles which alone bring about human happiness and efficiency.

A word of warning—let no one who studies this lesson fall into the serious error of thinking that some formal religious service will bring redemption and favor with God. We are saved by grace through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ—"not of works, lest any man should boast." It is then by the new birth that we are "created in Christ Jesus unto good works which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them" (Eph. 2:8-10).

It is the Christian who needs to "find himself in service." Only as he thus yields to Christ does he really find the life worth living. The words of Jesus in verse 35 are solemnly and gloriously true.

I. Clear Confession (vv. 27-30).

Even those who deny to our Christ the recognition of His deity, and the devotion of life which is His just due, must, if they are at all intelligent, admit that no man ever lived who has made such an impact on human history. Even in the days of his life on earth those who did not accept Him as Christ regarded Him as the resurrected form of one of the nation's greatest leaders. Now unbelieving men speak of Him as the great founder of Christianity, a mighty leader, a wonderful example, or an unequalled teacher.

It is not enough that we stand with the mass of humanity who may thus admire Him, but who do not count Him as Saviour and Lord. The question comes to us as it did to the disciples, "Whom say ye that I am?" "Thou art the Christ"—this alone suffices as the foundation for Christian testimony and conduct.

II. Corrected Error (vv. 31-33).

Although Jesus was not yet ready to have His Messiahship proclaimed to the public, He was prepared to teach His disciples concerning not only that important truth, but of His rejection and death. "He began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer . . . be rejected . . . killed and . . . rise again."

Note the divine "must." While it is true that wicked men showed their hostility toward our God and His Christ by hanging Him on Calvary's cross, yet it was to die for our sins that He came into the world. The cross has rightly come to represent God's love to the world rather than man's hostility to God.

Error now asserts itself, and strangely enough it is the very one who had the clearest grasp of the truth regarding the Messiahship of Christ and boldly expressed it who now objects to the revelation of the coming death and resurrection of Christ, and lends his voice to rebuke the Master for speaking of it.

Satan hates the cross and the open grave. Jesus won the victory over him there. He did not want to hear of it before it took place and used impulsive Peter for a mouthpiece to object. He doesn't want to hear about it now and uses many a skillful and gifted preacher to speak against it. "The offense of the cross" (Gal. 5:11) has never ceased.

III. Consecrated Life and Service (vv. 34-38).

"Let him deny himself" (v. 34). That command we have construed to mean that we should perform little acts of self-denial, foregoing some comfort or pleasure, possibly for a few weeks. It does not mean that at all—but does mean the renouncing of self and self-will, and a complete yielding to God's will. Likewise, to take up one's cross does not mean to bear some of life's little disagreeable experiences; it means again to die to self and to live for Christ.

Careful attention should be given to the solemn questions asked and statements made in verses 35-37. These are not the reasonings of a man—they fall from the lips of the Son of God. What, He asks, will you give in exchange for your soul?

Payment

How little we pay our life! Although we have our purses continually in our hand, the better part of service goes still unrewarded.

Discussion

The more discussion the better, if passion and personalities be eschewed.

Pain

Pain is in itself a sharp discipline and hard to bear.

Ask Me Another A General Quiz

- Which of our states has only three counties?
- What is the record made in the major baseball leagues for circling the bases?
- When was paper money first issued in this country?
- Why is the stage referred to as the legitimate base?
- Were any decisive battles fought on German soil during the World war?
- Is the new San Francisco-Oakland bridge high enough to permit all boats to pass under it?
- In the expression, "Poor as Job's turkey," is the Job of the Old Testament meant?
- Was Edward Everett Hale related to Nathan Hale, the patriot of the Revolution?
- How many parts of speech are there?
- What part of what state is farther north than any other in the Union?

The Answers

- The state of Delaware has only three counties. It has only one city (Wilmington) with a population of over 100,000.
- The recognized record for circling the bases is 13.4 seconds, made by Evar Swanson of the Cincinnati Reds, September 15, 1929.
- In 1690 by the Massachusetts Bay colony. It was gradually issued by other colonies until in general use by all.
- It is so called in the sense of its being normal, regular, conformable to a recognized standard type.
- No.
- The vertical clearance at the center of the bridge is 220 feet above mean high water, so boats can easily pass under it.
- As turkey is American by origin, it seems incorrect to associate this Job with the ancient Hebrew. Poor, of course, refers to a thin and weak fowl, not to the lack of money.
- He was his grandnephew. Edward Everett Hale's father, Nathan Hale, was a nephew of the Nathan Hale who was hanged by the British as an American spy.
- Eight: Nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions and interjections.
- Lake of the Woods county, Minnesota.

TIPS to Gardeners

Protecting Flowers

AN EARLY season flower pest is leaf beetle, a chewing insect whose presence is indicated by holes in the leaves. Found most often on Alyssum, zinnia, marigold and annual phlox. Remedy: Use stomach poisons in the form of sprays containing arsenicals or pyrethrum.

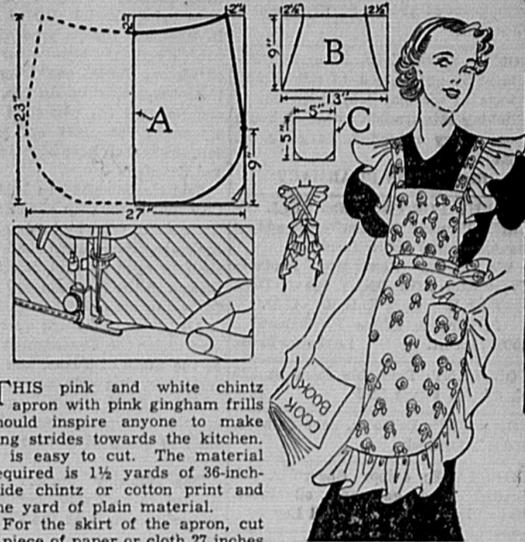

Snapsdragon, aster, petunia and verbena are the principal victims of the cutworm, a chewing insect which cuts off plants at the ground. It should be combated, says Gilbert Bentley, flower expert of the Ferry Seed Institute, by placing about a spoonful of poison bran bait around the base of each plant.

Aphids bother almost all the popular flowers except zinnia. They cause wilting, crumpling and discoloration of the leaves. Spray or dust with pyrethrum or nicotine sulphate.

Downy mildew shows up white all over a plant and discolors to black, killing leaves and rotting stems. Remedy: Dust regularly, but lightly, with flowers of sulphur.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

THIS pink and white chintz apron with pink gingham frills should inspire anyone to make long strides towards the kitchen. It is easy to cut. The material required is 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch-wide chintz or cotton print and one yard of plain material.

For the skirt of the apron, cut a piece of paper or cloth 27 inches wide and 23 inches deep. Fold this lengthwise through the center, as at A, then measure down from the top of the fold and in from the corners the distances indicated in the diagram and mark the dots. Using the dots as a guide, mark the outline of the apron skirt as you see it in the diagram. The dimensions for shaping the bib are given in the diagram at B. The pocket is a 5-inch square with lower corners rounded as shown here at C. The apron ties are cut 6 inches wide and 36 inches long. The strip for the belt should be cut 2 1/2 inches wide and a facing strip the same width should be cut for it. The shoulder straps are cut 4 inches wide and then creased lengthwise through the center.

The strips of the plain material for the ruffles are cut 6 inches wide. The ruffle material before it is gathered should be 2 1/2 times the length of the space it is to fill after gathering. Use the machine hemmer foot shown here at the lower left for hemming the ruffles and the machine ruffler for gathering them.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears' latest book—Gifts and Embroidery number—is now ready. Ninety embroidery stitches are illustrated; also table settings; crochet; embroidery designing; fabric repairing; novelty gifts and dress accessories. Forty-eight pages of step-by-step directions. Available to readers who will send name and address and enclose 25 cents (coin preferred). Just address Mrs. Spears, 210 So. Desplaines St., Chicago.

Our Government

THE governmental functions of the United States fall into the legislative, executive and judicial divisions.

The members of the President's cabinet are appointed by the President, with the consent of the senate.

There are 10 cabinet officers.

Each state has two senators.

The representation in the house is apportioned on the basis of population.

The membership of the house is elected every two years.

One-third of the senate is elected every two years.

LITHS YIELD TO POLES
One War Threat Removed . . . Mexico Seizes Foreign
Oil Concerns . . . Hull Says We Arm for Peace

Here in confidential conversation are Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana (left), chairman of the senate committee investigating lobbying, and Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington. The committee's inquiry at present is directed particularly to a campaign against the government reorganization bill and its activities aroused Publisher Frank Gannett to demand its abolition.

Victory for Poland

ONE immediate threat of European war seemed to be dissolved when Lithuania yielded to the demands of Poland for resumption of normal diplomatic and trade relations and virtually gave up its claim to Vilna, former capital of the country, which the Poles seized 18 years ago. General Smigly-Rydz, chief of the Polish army and "strong man" of Poland, had mobilized his troops on the Lithuanian border, and Polish warships were cruising off Memel. So there was nothing for the Liths to do except give in. Polish troops that had been concentrated in Vilna paraded in celebration of the bloodless victory, but in Warsaw the celebration was distorted into a "pogrom" in which riotous throngs attacked all the Jews they could find, killing several and wounding scores. Hundreds of Jewish-owned shops were smashed before the police could restore order.

The mobs were made up largely of National Democrats, opposed to the government, who protested that the settlement with Lithuania was too lenient. They demanded that Poland invade and annex Lithuania. Col. Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, declared that Poland would guarantee Lithuania's independence. The Liths, however, were extremely bitter over the concessions they had been forced to make to their more powerful neighbor.

The triumph of the "seclusionist viewpoint," he said, "would inescapably carry the whole world back to the conditions of medieval chaos, conditions toward which some parts of both the eastern and the western worlds are already moving."

Mexican Oil Seizures

PRESIDENT CARDENAS of Mexico announced the expropriation of oil properties belonging to American and British companies and valued at some $400,000,000. Wells, refineries and tankers were seized and workers took control of all company offices in the republic. The American and British employees and their families fled. For the present the oil industry in Mexico was paralyzed.

The companies concerned began legal action attacking the constitutionality of Cardenas' decree, and it was said would carry the case to the highest court. Both the United States and Great Britain were expected to challenge the seizures and similar action threatened in the case of mines as violation of treaty obligations.

The action of the Mexican government was not entirely unexpected for it was the culmination of a long and bitter controversy between the oil companies and Mexico's board of labor conciliation and arbitration over a $7,300,000 wage increase ordered by the board.

Armed Peace: No Alliances

AMERICA must pursue its quest for world peace, but must follow a policy of arming for protection of its rights against "international lawlessness."

So declared Secretary of State Cordell Hull in an exposition of America's foreign policy and a discussion of all aspects of the world situation. He spoke at the National Press club in Washington and his address was broadcast over the land and to other nations by radio.

In brief, he set forth a policy of peace, no alliances, collaboration with peaceful nations, military preparedness, and opposition to the "seclusionist" viewpoint.

"It is my considered judgment that, in the present state of world affairs, to do less than is now proposed would lay our country open to unpredictable hazards," he said, referring to the naval expansion program.

"The momentous question," he said, "is whether the doctrine of force shall become enthroned once more and bring in its wake, inexorably, international anarchy and a relapse into barbarism."

He did not refer to any nation by name, but his implication with regard to legal recognition of Austria's absorption by Germany and Japan's expansion in China was clear when he said:

"The catastrophic developments of recent years, the startling events of the past weeks, offer a tragic demonstration of how quickly the contagious scourge of treaty-breaking and armed violence spreads from one region to another."

He disclaimed "the slightest intention to entertain any such notion as the use of American armed forces for 'policing the world.'"

He specifically opposed the proposal the United States retire from the Far East.

In the Far East crisis, Hull said, the United States has "consistently collaborated with other peace-seeking nations."

The triumph of the "seclusionist viewpoint," he said, "would inescapably carry the whole world back to the conditions of medieval chaos, conditions toward which some parts of both the eastern and the western worlds are already moving."

House Passes Navy Bill

WITH only a few votes in opposition, the house passed the administration's billion dollar navy bill. The measure authorizes construction of the largest battle fleet in American history by adding 46 combat ships, 22 auxiliaries and 950 airplanes.

The War department announced that army and navy officers were about to study plans for an enlistment program that would put more than two million men under arms within four months of a declaration of war. For this the army would require 1,250,000 recruits and the navy 500,000.

The first 300,000, under existing plans, would be sought as volunteers in the first month, before selective draft machinery like that of 1917-18 was put into operation. Already prepared for quick submission to congress is a draft of a selective service law.

Morgan Defies F. D. R.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ordered Chairman Arthur E. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority to recant charges against his colleagues or face suspension or ouster, but Mr. Morgan challenged the President's powers to remove him and said flatly that he would not resign.

The chairman asserted: "I challenge this action by the President and deny his right to remove or suspend me. I stand on that. If I sum up my attitude I can say that I do not choose to run away."

He then took a train for Yellow Springs, Ohio, for a visit with friends.

Morgan told newspaper men he has obtained legal advice on his conflict with the President. At the same time it was learned Mr. Roosevelt uncovered a law under which, advisers assured him, he is empowered to oust the chairman.

Describes the Precious
MINERAL SALTS

That You Must Have in Order to Build Strong Bones, Sound Teeth, Healthy Nerves, Rich Red Blood

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS
6 East 30th Street, New York.

THE human body is often compared to a machine, but it is far more wonderful, far more complex, than the most intricate machine ever designed to run without stopping, day in and day out, for upwards of 70 years, is also a fully equipped chemical laboratory. For if a chemist should grind a man to bits and analyze the pieces, he would find at least 18 chemical elements, and possibly traces of several others.

In addition to oxygen, carbon, hydrogen and nitrogen, the body contains a wide variety of mineral materials, which are necessary to its proper functioning—and even to life itself. The list includes calcium, phosphorus, potassium, sulphur, sodium, chlorine, magnesium, iron, manganese, iodine and copper. All these substances must be furnished to the growing child—through food and drink—and generous amounts must also be supplied daily in the diet of adults, to replace the minerals that are constantly being used up.

Minerals Necessary to Life

It is vitally important that the home-maker should understand the function of these various salts and where they can be found. For if certain minerals are lacking in the body, the heart will stop beating. Without others, the bones cannot form properly. Still others are responsible for the rich red blood that makes the difference between a healthy person and a sickly one. Laboratory experiments have proved that if you leave out the smallest trace of the mineral known as manganese, you destroy the love of a mother for her child. And nutritionists—but unfortunately not mothers—are well aware that less than a thousandth of an ounce of iodine makes all the difference between a normal man and an imbecile.

Calcium—Captain of Minerals

Calcium deserves its ranking position as the captain of the minerals, because it builds the bones, or body framework. And the bony skeleton is to the human being what steel is to a building. Calcium is also the chief constituent of the teeth and upon healthy teeth rests the health of the digestive system and, in turn, the entire body. For food that is improperly masticated is imperfectly digested and fails to nourish properly.

About 99 per cent of the calcium in the body is found in the teeth and bones. If the body does not receive an adequate supply of this mineral in pre-natal life and during the growing years, the bones will be porous, distorted and easily broken, and the teeth will develop cavities and eventually may fall out.

In addition to being the principal material for making and maintaining the bones and teeth, calcium increases the strength and pulsations of the heart and helps the blood coagulate in case of injury, thus keeping you and your loved ones from bleeding to death. That is why an extra supply of calcium is fed to patients just before an operation.

Calcium Builds Will Power

There is a close relationship between calcium and sound, healthy nerves. And this precious substance likewise helps us to concentrate mentally—it strengthens our will power—and assists us in acquiring that "do or die" attitude toward life, which is essential in an age when we must all struggle or go under.

Yet despite its importance, it is estimated by that outstanding authority, Henry C. Sherman, Professor of Nutrition at Teachers College, Columbia University, that one-half of the American people—even those with plenty of money—are literally starving for calcium, because they do not know the food sources of this vitally important mineral.

Where to Obtain Calcium

The foremost sources of calcium are milk and cheese, which is milk in concentrated form. It is chiefly to provide adequate calcium that homemakers must follow the rule of a quart of milk daily for every child, and a pint for each adult.

Vegetables, such as spinach, lettuce, celery, asparagus, string beans, cabbage, carrots and cauliflower are also a good supplementary source of calcium. And some fruits, such as oranges, figs, strawberries and bananas likewise supply significant amounts.

A Splendid "Service" for Floors

Floors receive rougher treatment than any other part of the home—and it is floors that show up to poorest advantage when neglected—best advantage, when properly cared for! Up to now, attractive floors have required some little time and attention, but this is no longer necessary. For into the field of domestic preparations has come "self-polishing wax"—liquid-smooth, simple to apply, lovely to see. This remarkable preparation goes on easily, quickly, and dries in 20 minutes! Its results are 4-fold: The floors are protected—they are preserved—they stay freshly-clean longer—and they are beautified! A quality self-polishing wax protects and preserves, by forming a film over the surface—hard enough to withstand friction and grinding wear-and-tear. It induces floors to stay clean longer, because dirt and grease cannot become imbedded in the wood. It beautifies, because it is shimmering, transparent, and brings out the natural beauty of the wood. And what more could the home-maker ask for? There are, however, various qualities of self-polishing wax available. Only the best should be used, for both the appearance and condition of the floors. But the finest self-polishing wax is a joy to use—its lasting results a joy to see!

Indispensable Phosphorus

Like calcium, phosphorus is required by the body in relatively large amounts, and like calcium, it is especially important in the diet of children, because it is deposited in the bones, along with calcium, as calcium phosphate.

Phosphorus is indispensable for all the active tissues in the body and plays an important part in regulating the neutrality of the blood. It can be obtained from whole grain cereals, eggs, dried beans, cheese, lean meats, and root and leafy vegetables.

Iron—King Pin of Them All

But measured in terms of food essentials, iron is king pin of them all. It is the supreme element in nutrition because it is necessary for the formation of the hemoglobin or red pigment in the blood. And it is the hemoglobin which carries purifying oxygen to every cell in the body. Recently, it has been discovered that copper is required for the proper utilization of iron.

"Red blooded" is a term understood by everyone to denote health and strength, and it is iron that makes us red blooded. When your children grow pale and listless, lose their pep and lack appetite, it is likely that they are starving for iron. If you become short of breath and "pant" when going up hill, or upstairs, even though there is nothing wrong with your heart or lungs, the chances are that there is insufficient red pigment in the blood—not enough to take up an adequate supply of oxygen and carry it to the millions of cells throughout the body.

There is no excuse for cheating yourself or your children of a full measure of iron, for this mineral can easily be obtained from liver, egg yolk, whole grain cereals, molasses, dried fruits, dried peas and beans, nuts, lean meats and green vegetables.

Iodine—Molder of Men

Almost everyone has heard that iodine is the mineral which helps to prevent that disfiguring enlargement of the neck, known as simple goiter. But few people realize that it is the principal constituent of thyroxin, secretion of the thyroid gland, and that the thyroid functions normally only when sufficient iodine is available.

A wide variety of physiological disorders have been laid to iodine hunger. Obesity is frequently the result of thyroid disturbance. Specialists contend that stubborn skin diseases are associated with disorders of this gland. Many people are accused of laziness who are really suffering from thyroid deficiency. And competent authorities claim that the thyroid likewise influences mental make-up and emotional tendencies.

Iodine is found chiefly in sea-food and in fruits and vegetables grown near the sea. In inland regions, where soil and water are poor in iodine, health authorities frequently add it to the drinking water. And the use of iodized salt is also recommended. By these simple measures, thousands of growing children can be saved from the disastrous results of iodine deficiency.

In general, it can be said that if the minerals calcium, phosphorus, iron and iodine are supplied in adequate amounts, the other minerals will be automatically furnished.

But every homemaker should make

An Invaluable Aid To the Housewife

IN THIS issue you will find the fourth of the series of articles written by C. Houston Goudiss, famous food expert whose books, radio talks and lectures have made him known all over the country.

In this article Mr. Goudiss discusses the vitally important subject, "Mineral Salts." He shows the necessity of these materials in the diet, and their relation to the building of a strong heart, healthy nerves, rich red blood, strong bones and sound teeth. He also gives the food sources of these salts.

Read each one of these articles as they appear weekly in this newspaper. They will prove invaluable to the housewife in assisting her to keep the entire family mentally and physically fit.

COPYRIGHT WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE—WNU SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

Ruth Chiswick of L C ranch, obsessed by fear of danger to her outspoken and bull-headed father, Lee, from a band of lawless rustlers headed by Sperm Howard, decides to save him by eloping with young Lou Howard, Sperm's son, and comes to the town of Tail Holt to meet him. While in Yell Sanger's store, a crook-nosed stranger enters, stuns up the situation, and when a drunken cowboy, Jim Pender, rides in and starts shooting, protects Ruth, while Lou Howard hides. Disgusted with Lou's cowardice, Ruth calls off the elopement, and sends the stranger for her father at the gambling house across the street. There the stranger, calling himself Jeff Gray, meets Morgan Norris, a killer, Curly Connor, Kansas, Mile High, Sid Hunt, and other rustlers, and Sperm Howard. Lee Chiswick enters, with his foreman, Dan Brand, and tells Sperm Howard of his orders to shoot rustlers at sight. Jeff Gray returns to Ruth and coldly reassures her of her father's safety.

CHAPTER II—Continued

"I'm grateful to you for your advice, sir, and I'm sure Father will be," she said, the sting of a small whiplash singing in her voice. He disregarded her jeer. Apparently he was as oblivious of her annoyance as he was of the pristine glamor of her vital youth.

"Bull-headed was the word you used," he went on evenly. "It suits Lee Chiswick fine. When Pender busted into the Golden Nugget, yore father was reading the riot act to a dozen scalawags waiting for the signal to cut loose at him."

"Whose signal?" she asked, the blood driven from her face.

"Seemed to be Sperm Howard's say-so. Get me right. I'm playing my own hand, and I don't give a cuss whether you smile or snarl. I'll tell the old man his dear daughter is here, and you can feed him any story you've a mind to, at any time. If he goes back across the road and gets rubbed out, it is none of my business."

She had lorded it over boys with a high hand. That she could not break through his callousness irritated her. Surprisingly, she felt young and immature, was moved by an impulse to defend herself.

"I'm not ashamed of what I've done," she said, bridling.

"That's nice. Tell him you came to town to buy a paper of pins."

"You're impudent."

"Am I?"

He faced her anger with a long look of amused scorn, then turned away, insolently indifferent. The girl wanted to call him back, to lash out at him with pelting words that would sting, but she was aware that nothing she could say would penetrate his impassivity. His opinion of her had not been swayed by any personal pique.

Gray walked back into the gambling-hall.

Sanger had the floor. "Who did this, Curly?" he asked.

Curly pushed a hand through his black hair. "Couldn't tell you for sure, Yell. Half a dozen of us took a crack at him. He rode in asking for trouble and got it. Blazed away with his rifle and handed in his checks pronto. Maybe you better make yore verdict read, committed suicide while temporarily insane."

Norris volunteered information, slanting a sneer at Chiswick. "No objections anywhere, I reckon. We can be bullied just so far."

"No objections from me," Sanger agreed.

Pender came in on my horse Black Diamond, so if you want to make the killing more legal you can claim he was a horse-thief," Curly suggested humorously.

"Or self-defense," Sanger amended seriously.

"Who cares how legal it was?" Norris said. "No four-flusher can come in here and hurrah me."

Dan Brand recognized this as a personal challenge flung at his employer. "Only a crazy fool would try, Morg," he answered amiably.

"You don't need to be carrying a chip on yore shoulder, Morg," Howard said, with a warning glance. "If there is rustling going on, we all want to back up Lee."

"Did you say 'if' there was any rustling?" Chiswick inquired, harsh irony in his voice.

Howard laughed without mirth. "You're hard to please, Chiswick. I don't pick my words like a professor. If you're not on the prod, as Brand claims, you sure have a funny way of being pleasant."

"Did I say I was aiming to be pleasant?" The cattleman let his hard gaze shift from Norris to Howard. "Someone ran off a bunch of 50 of my cows last night. If you expect me to grin and say, 'Help yourselves, boys,' you can have another guess. I'm going to fight."

"When a bull gets to pawing the ground he most generally gets accommodated," Norris insisted, not shifting his narrowed gaze from the owner of the LC.

"Shut up, Morg," interposed Curly affably. "Can't expect a man to sit quiet while he is being stole blind. Tell you what, boys. Some of us will be heading into the hills soon. We'll keep our eyes skinned. Like as not some of us will spot this bunch of L C stuff."

"I wouldn't wonder if some of you did," Chiswick said bluntly. The cattleman turned to leave the saloon.

Gray stopped him with a gesture. "Just a moment, Mr. Chiswick."

"What you want?" the ranchman asked.

Gray lowered his voice. "There's a young lady over at Sanger's who says she is yore daughter. She would like to see you right off."

"My daughter? What's she doing here?"

"Better ask her."

The red-headed man had nothing more to say. He turned to the bar and ordered a schooner of beer. Chiswick and his foreman walked out of the place.

Out of the corner of his mouth Mile High said to his chief, "That's the guy I was telling you about."

Howard nodded. He observed that Curly was sauntering to the bar. So was Norris.

The big black-haired man gave an order to the bartender. "A Curly special."

Selecting a bottle, the man in the white apron pushed it across the top of the bar. Curly poured a drink and tossed it down his throat. "Hot enough to melt the tallow him to town because she was afraid he would get into trouble with the rustler group.

"I know, but—you're so bull-headed, Father."

"Nothing of the kind," he protested hotly. "You wouldn't expect me to let these dirty thieves drive off a bunch of 50 cows at one crack without a squawk, would you?"

She shuddered. "When all those guns roared—"

"They weren't shooting at me, honey." His mind harked back to the reproof she needed. "You had no business coming to town—not to Tail Holt. We stay away from this place. You know that."

"You didn't."

"Dad gum it, girl, I'm your father. You don't have to tell me what-all I can and can't do." He slammed his fist down into the palm of the other hand. "You act like you rule the roost. Well, you don't. Not by a jugful. Understand?"

"Yes," she said, with more humility than was customary, since her mind was still full of the crazy thing she had done.

Ruth was still thinking of her escapade with Lou Howard. She could not understand how it had ever gone so far. She knew now she did not love him, never had. That she had not seen through his shallow weakness earlier hurt her pride.

Later she knew she would flog herself with her own scorn. She was a lying little cheat for not telling her father the truth. But she dared not confess without preparing his mind first. It would be like Lee Chiswick to walk across to the Golden Nugget to have it out with Sperm Howard.

"We'll go over to Charley Wong's restaurant for supper," Lee Chiswick said. "Dan is waiting for us over there."

Back of the restaurant they found a bucket of water, a tin pan, a thin piece of dirty soap, and a roller-towel much the worse for use.

The cattleman called Wong. "This towel has half of Arizona on it, Charley. Bring a new one—and another piece of soap."

The Chinaman grinned. "Velly good," he said.

Inside the restaurant Dan Brand was waiting at a table in a corner. Across the aisle from him sat Gray. Ruth touched the cattleman on the arm by way of calling his attention. "This is Mr. Gray, Father. When that drunk man came shooting into Sanger's store he looked after me."

"Looked after you—how?" asked Chiswick.

"Pushed me back of some sacks of potatoes and stood in front of me."

Chiswick offered his hand. "Glad to meet you, Mr. Gray. I reckon my daughter has thanked you, but I'll do it again."

"Nothing worth mentioning what I did, but she thanked me proper," the crook-nosed man said dryly.

"Since you haven't eaten yet, won't you join us?" the cattleman invited.

Gray moved to the other table. "My foreman, Dan Brand," Chiswick introduced. "Dan, this is Mr. Gray."

The two men shook hands, estimating one another with their eyes. Chiswick motioned Gray to the vacant chair beside his daughter.

They fell at first into casual talk of cows, grass, markets.

"Looks like a country of small ranches," Gray said presently.

"Yes," Chiswick confirmed. "Plenty rough in these hills. Cut up by gulches and canyons where nesters have settled."

"Your ranch is lower down?"

"Yes. Runs up from the Sweet Spring valley into the hills."

"From what I heard at the Golden Nugget I gather the L C is a big outfit."

"My brand is on a lot of stock—or was," the cattleman said grimly.

and varied, including fresh meat, salt and smoked pork, potatoes and fresh vegetables, canned and dried fruit, eggs, beans, and a variety of pies and cakes.

In British Columbia many of the camps consist of cabins which can be moved on railway cars. They hold only four to six men each, and are furnished with single beds, blankets, sheets and pillows, and tables and chairs. Hot and cold water showers are often provided and the meals are a revelation to the visitor. The men pay for their board and lodging and so can have what they are prepared collectively to pay for. In the East the men are paid for the most part by the month, with board provided. As log transportation in British Columbia does not depend on the presence of snow, the camps operate throughout the year, usually about 200 days.

Believed Precious Stones Alive
Precious stones were believed by the ancients to be alive and possessors of souls.

"Still is," Brand amended.

"I reckon." Anger flamed in Chiswick's tanned face. "Won't be long unless we can stop this big steal that is going on. A few of those rustlers will have to be strung up as a warning."

"Better not talk," advised Brand in a low voice.

"Why shouldn't I talk?" Chiswick demanded. "This is a free country, and I've never yet seen the color of the scoundrel's hair that could keep me from saying my mind."

"You don't mean red particularly, do you, Father?" Ruth asked, slanting impudent eyes at Gray. "Or do you?"

The cattleman smiled, ruefully. "Figure of speech, Mr. Gray. No, I don't mean red." He turned to his daughter. "You little minx."

"None of my business, Mr. Chiswick," Gray said bluntly. "But what Mr. Brand says is good medicine. Why talk any more? You've said yore little piece. I'm an outsider, and never saw one of those gents at the Golden Nugget before. But there were some present who didn't take yore remarks kindly. I am of opinion that the chuckle-headed false alarm who rode in and got filled with lead did you a considerable service."

"His chunk sure went out sudden," Brand commented. "I wouldn't say you're not right, Mr. Gray. While Lee was on the prod I didn't feel anyways lead immune myself. They're not bad boys, in a way of speaking, but they are some quick on the trigger."

"No, they're not bad," Chiswick replied scornfully. "Practically all of them are thieves, and some are killers, and a few have robbed trains and stages. Maybe 40 per cent of them have shot down Mexican vaqueros who were defending their masters' herds. But what is a Mexican here and there? Remember the Alamo! Yes, sir. Just a bunch of nice cowboys who take no pleasure in killing unless someone gets in the way of what they want."

The summit of Mule mountain had been a crag of fire in the sunset when they had gone into the restaurant. As they came out, Ruth noticed that the croches between the peaks were lakes of imperial purple. Soon darkness would sift down from the hills.

"We're out of coffee and baking soda," Ruth told her father. "Better get some while we're here, don't you think?"

"Yes. Enough to last us till someone can get to Tough Nut. Anything else you need?"

"I'd like some nutmegs, and a box of matches."

Chiswick asked the foreman to get Ruth's cow-pony and tie it at the hitchrack with the other two. Gray walked with the father and daughter as far as Sanger's store.

"I'll be saying adios," he told them, and added, his ironic smile on Ruth: "Nice to have met up with you."

She said the pleasure was hers, said it very coolly, and turned into the store. The place was lit by two coal-oil lamps suspended from the ceiling. Near the rear something covered by a sheet lay on a cot. Ruth guessed that what was resting there so still had been roaring with drunken life less than an hour ago.

Two customers were in the store. One was a slim, graceful, fish-eyed man, neatly dressed, with a silk bandanna tied loosely round his brown throat. His companion called him Morg. The other she had met at a dance. He was a fine figure of a man, slender and broad-shouldered, with black, curly hair that had given him his nickname, Connor, she had heard him called, and she knew that Curly was his cognomen among the cowboys.

Chiswick offered his hand.

off'n a guy taking a long ride," he said amiably to the stranger.

"Sure is," agreed Gray.

"Expect you're spittin' cotton."

"I can stand a beer."

"In the cattle business?"

"More or less. At loose ends right now. Kinda lookin' around."

"My name is Connor," said Curly.

"This is Mr. Norris."

"Glad to meet you. I'm Jeff Gray. A stranger in these parts."

Norris rolled a cigarette. "Tough Nut is a good town," he said.

"Booming these days. Mines are doing fine. Plenty of money there."

"I'm not a miner," Gray told him, recognizing the invitation to move on, but disregarding it. "Fact is, I'm not much of a town man anyhow, except when I drift in to blow my savings. I've been in the cow business all my life."

"In Texas?" Norris asked with a casual manner.

"Here and there."

"Noticed when I was outside that you're riding a Brazos saddle. My choice, too, especially when I'm riding a long ways."

Gray remarked non-committally that a saddle made a lot of difference to a rider's comfort.

"Been dry in West Texas for quite a spell, I read," Curly volunteered.

"So the papers claim."

"Thought maybe you had come from down that way? Try one of my specials, Mr. Gray."

"May I have another beer instead, Mr. Connor?" Gray asked.

"I certainly swallowed a lot of dust today."

Norris strolled across to Howard.

"This sorreltop is on the dodge, looks to me," he said. "Mighty careful to give no information."

Lee Chiswick caught sight of his daughter standing in front of Sanger's store and strode across the street to her.

"What are you doing here?" he demanded.

Evading his question, she said, "I've been worried about you."

"What for?"

"When I heard the shooting, over in the Golden Nugget, I thought..." Her voice faltered. No need to tell him what she had thought. He knew.

The cattleman spoke more gently. "You knew I was there?"

"Yes. I saw you and Dan go in. I hadn't time to stop you."

"Stop me?" He frowned. "I'm not so feeble I need a girl to look after my doings."

Already Chiswick had jumped to the conclusion that she had followed

Logging Great Industry in Canadian Woods; Thousands of Workmen Employed

Logging in the woods in Canada provides employment for about 240,000 workers on a part-time basis, or for an average of about 84,000 men yearly.

Logging operations are generally conducted in unsettled or sparsely settled country at considerable distances from the ordinary routes of travel. In the typical logging camp in eastern Canada there are usually from 30 to 75 men. The buildings are of a temporary nature, built of logs or rough boards, and usually include a cookhouse, sleep camp, stable, storehouse, and blacksmith's shop. The built-in bunks filled with boughs or hay are being replaced by iron double-deck bunks with springs, mattresses and blankets. The houses are heated with large wood-burning stoves, and though the regulations call for provision for ventilation, the lumberjacks are not very fussy about this item. But they do want heat, and since fuel is cheap and abundant, they get it.

The food is generally excellent

Very Smart New Fashions

A HOUSE dress with long slender lines, a dress and apron for little girls, and a popular bolero frock for slim young figures! You will certainly want one of these, and more likely will want all three. With each pattern, you receive a complete and detailed sew chart specially planned to help beginners, so that the making will be easy, and save you money besides.

Popular Bolero Frock.
Make it up of silk crepe or a pretty print, and see how expensive, how flattering, it looks! The short bolero and wide shoulders make the slim lines of the frock even more graceful. Notice how cleverly the dress is shirred into the front panel at the waistline. This is one of the prettiest afternoon dresses you could choose for this spring.

Dress and Apron for Tots.
Your little girl will be so proud of having this heart-shaped apron to put on over her best dress when she plays house! And the puff-sleeved, square-necked dress is adorable. You can make the two of them in no time. For the dress, choose dimity or organdy for dress-up; gingham or percale for every day. Dimity or lawn for the apron.

House Dress for Large Figures.
This is such a becoming, comfortable, good-looking dress to work in, round the house. The lines are so straight and unhampering, and pleats in the short sleeves give plenty of room for stretching and reaching. It takes inches off the figure, too. Make it up in seersucker, gingham, linen or percale printed in small designs.

The Patterns.
1478 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 6 3/4 yards of 39-inch material. 1468 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 years. Size 4 requires 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch material for the dress, with 6 yards of narrow ribbon to trim and 1 yard wider ribbon for the belt. Size 4 requires 3/4 yard of 35-inch material for the apron, and 2 1/4 yards of ruffling.

1476 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 5 yards of 35-inch material without nap.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties. BUT, if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure.

Make a note NOW to get a bottle of world-famous Pinkham's Compound today WITH-OUT FAIL from your druggist—more than a million women have written in letters reporting benefit.

Why not try LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND?

Knowledge Is Your Own
It is one thing to remember, another to know. Remembering is merely safeguarding something entrusted to the memory; knowing means making everything your own.—Seneca.

Following Intellect

The hand that follows intellect can achieve.—Michelangelo.

Constipated?

What a difference good bowel habits can make! To keep food wastes soft and moving, many doctors recommend Nujol.

INSIST ON GENUINE NUJOL

Pattern 5601.

All eyes on this knitted two-piece! So summery, in white or pastels, it's done mainly in stockinette stitch, with a lace stitch defining its "sunburst" yoke. Use a round needle and there'll be nary a seam to sew or show. You'll love it in either nubby cotton yarn, a combination of wool and rayon, or in Shetland floss. And of course you'll want to wear it both with and without its matching skirt! In pattern 5601 you will find instructions for making the blouse and skirt in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of the blouse and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th Street, New York.
