Showing in Magnolia Test and Investments in the Field California Co. Look Good

According to Resume Drilling
California Co. has received a communication from J. S. Meriwether, representative of the Cooperative Lease and Investment Company, in which he is leaving Sterling City, Texas, for the purpose of raising the necessary funds to complete the McCauley well in the Douthit ranch.
Meriwether stated that he expects to return about January 1st and that he is hoped to be able to resume operations on the well.

Chicago-Texas Co. Now Drilling

S. O. Ward of Chicago, president of the Chicago-Texas Oil and Gas Company, is now on the job at the 14th well, 2 miles southwest of Big Spring and things are being done in a businesslike way. The well is being cleaned out and setting of casing and half inch casing at 350 feet has been resumed and the drilling tower.

of twelve and one half inch casing is now on the job and they expect to keep an ample supply for any and all emergencies. Mr. McCann are the experienced and dependable men and it is assured that the well will be made just as rapidly as possible.

The Enders-Cushing Test

Drilling has been proceeding away in the Enders well No. 1, twenty miles west of this city. Some oil is being shown and gas showings continue in abundance. On account of the hardness of the formation oil men believe it is necessary to give the well a little extra help in a producer. How- ever, H. H. Enders, president of the Enders-Cushing Drilling Association, expects to drill on down to 4500 feet necessary to bring the well in. The present depth is 4410 feet.

Drilling in the George McEntire well is still suspended, but as soon as circumstances will permit, the Enders-Cushing intends to complete this interesting prospect.
The crew at the Durham well, one and one half miles southwest of town has had steam up every day this week, adjusting the machinery and cleaning out the hole.

McDowell No. 4

It has been unable to get a report on McDowell well No. 4 of the General Petroleum Company this morning. We expect to be able to report that the well has been recovered, since additional fishing tools had been used and the work has been resumed. The well has been caught several times with fishing tools which had been used and it was necessary to use Moran for additional tools.

It is very much interested in the location of a big oil well with McDowell well No. 1, just a distance away, being a considerable small producer the past year there is every reason to believe that the location of a big oil well in this vicinity and McDowell No. 4 is considered to have a good chance of being successful. The sands which are supplying the well No. 1.

Developments in This Section

It is said to have sold the half of Section 27 to the California Co. Price $40,000. The California Co. making locations on Section 29 and 30 and these are to be made immediately.
The well has had 4 showings. The well is 100 feet top of the Morrison formation.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

At a Meeting Tuesday Plans Were Made for 6th Roll Call Also for Charity Funds

Members of the Howard County Chapter of the American Red Cross met at the Chamber of Commerce at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of electing directors and planning for the Sixth Annual Red Cross Roll Call.
The following were elected as directors of the Howard County chapter: Mrs. C. S. Holmes, Mrs. B. F. Wills, Miss Nell Hatch, Miss Gertrude McIntyre, Rev. F. B. Eteson, Rev. Ben Hardy, Rev. E. N. Strother, S. H. Morrison, W. W. Rix, J. F. Hair, W. Carroll Barnett, W. G. Hayden, J. F. Hair was unanimously elected county chairman and W. Carroll Barnett was named to be in charge of the Roll Call Campaign.

In view of the fact that the United States owes a moral duty to the Armenian people, who fought for and with the Allies, who suffered untold agonies in that struggle, and who were promised a national existence and the protection of civilization. The Turks have slaughtered about 1,000,000 Armenians, have rendered homeless 1,000,000 more, and in an effort to have our government take a hand to stop this slaughter of the Armenians the following resolution was adopted:
Resolved that we as individuals advise the executive heads of our government that they will have our full support in any action they find necessary to effectuate the freedom of Armenia and the liberation of the Greeks from the rule of the Turks.
Every citizen of Howard County is further urged, as individuals, to personally write letters to President Harding, Secretary Hughes, Senators Sheppard and Culberson and Congressman Hudspeth stating your views and assuring them of our support.
A motion prevailed that $200 be forwarded to the National Red Cross for Near East relief work.

Oil News

J. L. Murray, field manager at the Sterling Petroleum Company came in Wednesday to arrange for the resumption of drilling in the Brennand well. Mr. Murray says that a car load of fuel oil is on the railroad tracks, and that a car of casing is expected to arrive any day, and as soon as these can be gotten on the ground, drilling will be resumed in the Brennand well. He says that Mr. Redmond, chief driller who has been on a fishing job at Brownwood is expected in any day. When asked how much deeper the Brennand well will be drilled, Mr. Murray said "We know that it will be drilled 300 feet deeper anyway, how much more I cannot say." The present depth of the Brennand well is 3004 feet.

The drill is going at the Cushing well around the 4300 foot level. The material alternates between lime and shale at about 10 foot intervals. Pockets of inflammable gas are frequently encountered. Increasing showings of oil continue to keep the operators in an expectant mood.
The drill is nearing the 900 foot level in the Sparkman well and everything is going smoothly.
Drilling in the George McEntire well is still suspended, but as soon as circumstances will permit, the Enders-Cushing intends to complete this interesting prospect.

The crew at the Durham well, one and one half miles southwest of town has had steam up every day this week, adjusting the machinery and cleaning out the hole.
There are eight producing wells in the Iatan-Westbrook field. Production runs from 71 to 200 barrels daily in each of these wells. Lack of water is hindering drilling in this field.—Sterling City News-Record.

Improving Streets in Business Section

Main street between Second and Third street is all spruced up with a new overcoat—a six inch crown of gravel having been placed on this street from curb to curb. The street was all graded and the work of placing the gravel started last Friday and by Saturday night the task was completed. The work was made possible by cooperative action of property owners and city officials, and was supervised by highway engineers. To F. F. Gary is due the credit for having this street work carried out as he was the prime mover for the improvement and was instrumental in interesting other property owners in the proposition.
This section of Main street looked so much better after the improvement work was completed that the progressive property owners on two additional blocks on Main street, between First and Second, and between Third and Fourth streets raised funds to have Main street improved. In addition to Main street being put in fine condition similar improvement will also be made on intersecting streets in the business section.

Armistice Day Observance

No program had been arranged for Armistice Day in Big Spring and as all the business houses remained closed throughout the day it reminded one of Sunday almost.
An entertainment at the Lyric and a red hot football game between the Big Spring High School and the Roscoe team afforded folks somewhere to spend a pleasant hour or two during the afternoon.

A Drive For Local Charity

While we expect to do our part for the millions of sufferers across the seas who are in no way to blame for their misfortune; our own needy people are not going to be forgotten, as a drive for funds to aid those in need here in our own county is going to be held at the same time and by the same solicitors who are making the Red Cross Roll Call Campaign. Give your dollar for a year's membership in the National Red Cross knowing that one half of the amount will be expended in a way to benefit humanity, the remaining fifty cents is retained by the local chapter for such activities as work for ex-service men and other lines approved by the National Red Cross.
In addition to this donation make an additional donation just as liberal as possible in order to aid those in our own county who really need assistance. In deciding as to the donation you will make remember that the amount is to take care of all charity cases throughout the coming year and make your donation as liberal as possible. Make an estimate of the amount you are usually called upon to make and lump this amount and hand in a similar amount. We all make big mistakes in donating to every Tom, Dick, and Harry who periodically work this section—many of them securing from $10 to $50 for a day's work. If we would all donate to a United Charity fund and direct every beggar to this association for aid we would soon be rid of a big flock of beggars who are fakers—yet who find our people easy picking. Quit giving to these transient beggars—but give to the United Charity fund and direct the beggars to apply to that organization for aid. By this system we can have funds to aid the worthy and we can soon rid our town of the unworthy.
Remember many people in our county are going to need fuel, clothing and groceries this winter. There will be much suffering if these needs are not supplied. Those of us who are blessed with enough to keep us from suffering should share with those who are less fortunate.
Every cent that is donated for charity in our county will be carefully accounted for and spent in such a manner as to do the greatest amount of good.
Begin to make an estimate of the amount you are going to be able to donate to help our needy people the coming year and be prepared to hand the cash or check to the solicitors. Or

HIGHWAY MEETING AT BRADY, TEXAS

Big Delegation of Our Good Road Boosters Should Attend Puget Sound to Gulf Highway Meet

Having been advised that a movement was on foot to divert the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway from its present route the president of the association has called a meeting to be held at Brady November 22nd in order to take such steps as are necessary to prevent any changes in this highway. Every county along the line has been urged to send a large delegation.
In response to this call a meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce was held Tuesday afternoon and T. H. Johnson was made vice president of the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway Association and named as official delegate to the meeting at Brady. He was also empowered to secure as many delegates as possible to attend this meeting. In view of the fact that we cannot afford to permit this north and south highway to be diverted he urges everyone who can go to the meeting to notify him at once. Among those so far secured are T. H. Johnson, W. R. Purser, Sam Hall, J. B. Shockley, James T. Brooks, W. G. Hayden, P. G. Stokes, C. E. Yarnell, Fred Keating.
John Boswell, secretary of the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway Association, sends the following appeal to good road boosters:
The annual convention of the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway Association will be held at Brady, Texas, Wednesday, November 22, beginning at 10:00 a. m.
So great is the importance of this meeting, that President Burmeister got out of his sick bed to issue the call and to plan for the meeting. Unless we have a rousing convention at once we are in grave danger of losing the designation and prestige that the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway has held for so many years. If we lose our designation, we lose the opportunity to secure the greatest amount of state and federal aid on the part of the highway in our counties. If the highway loses its prestige, tourists will follow competing routes and we will lose our most valuable money crop—the tourists.
During the past year, the association has been handicapped by the illness of two officers and the death of our beloved Thos. F. Owens. Towns, not on the Puget Sound to Gulf Highway have organized efforts to wean tourist travel from it. Prompt action must be taken or these efforts will deprive us of a great part of the travel in 1923.
Surely you can spare the time to attend the annual convention at Brady! If you cannot possibly attend, do the next best thing. Help to see that your community is properly represented. See that your commercial organization sends delegates. Insist that your county judge and the commissioners attend. Help give the meeting publicity by telling your friends about it.
Thos. F. Owens gave the best of his life and doubtless cut it short by his strenuous activities for the Puget Sound to Gulf. Our president refuses to heed a doctor's orders when our highway needs his services.
Sure, you will help!

At Work on Telephone Extensions

A construction crew on Monday began the construction of a copper circuit between Midland and Pecos. As soon as this is completed a second copper circuit will be completed between Midland and Big Spring.
In order that the patrons may be assured first class service repeaters or "boosters" will be installed at Big Spring, Pecos, Toyah, Sierra Blanca, and El Paso.
The completion of the present improvements will give all this section of West Texas a direct line to El Paso, and enable the patrons to communicate with others at all points west to the Pacific Coast as satisfactorily as they can now converse over the phone with folks in Fort Worth and Dallas.
The installation of these improvements is indeed appreciated by the folks of West Texas.

Union Get-to-Gether Meeting, Nov. 22

A big Union Get-to-Gether meeting will be held at the W. O. W. Hall at 7 o'clock Wednesday night, November twenty-third.
A representative from each and every labor organization in the county is desired and an invitation is extended to all crafts. The proposition of perfecting a Central Trades Council will be taken under consideration and for that reason it is hoped that every union organization will be represented at this meeting.
If your organization does not have a meeting in time to appoint delegates you are urged to come and report back to your lodge as to this matter.
Remember the date and object of the meeting and arrange to attend.

Killed at T. & P. Shops

Huron Costin, aged about twenty-five years, was killed at the Texas & Pacific railway shops here about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.
Costin who has been working at the shops here but a short time was employed as an electrician and was on a scaffold about nineteen feet high when he fell. He struck the concrete floor head foremost and his skull was crushed.
The remains were shipped to Colorado on passenger train No. 2 about 9:30 o'clock Monday morning.
Deceased was the son of L. A. Costin, City Secretary of Colorado.

Special Service For Strikers

Special Services for the members of the Federated Shop Crafts out on strike will be held at the Methodist Church in Big Spring at 4:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, November 26th.
A complete program will be announced in the next issue of the Herald.
Every union man in Howard County is cordially invited and urged to attend this service and everyone in sympathy with union labor is cordially invited.
Remember the date; arrange to come and bring your friends.

Building Improvements for New Farms

H. H. Padgett and J. R. White who recently purchased six hundred and forty acres of land, located twenty miles northwest of Big Spring from R. L. Price, are having improvements made thereon.
Mr. Padgett recently completed the construction of a 4-room bungalow, barns, sheds, fences, etc. on Mr. White's three hundred and twenty acres, and completed barns and fences on his three hundred and twenty acres. Mr. Padgett will build a house on his place about January 1st.

Contract Let For $8,000 Home

Bernard Fisher has awarded to H. H. Padgett the contract for the construction of a handsome new home in the 900 block on Rummels street, just north of the High school building. This structure will be a modern seven room bungalow of hollow tile with white outside stucco finish. The estimated cost of this residence is $8,000.
W. J. Crawford and family spent Saturday and Sunday on a visit to his daughter at Gail.

All Kinds of Weather

We have been treated to most every known variety of weather the past week from the warm sunshiny brand that prevailed last Saturday to a drop in the temperature to three degrees below freezing, and with flurries of snow and rain.
Stormy weather made its appearance last Saturday night, and while we only had a light shower in this immediate vicinity more than an inch of rain was reported in the northern portion of our county as well as at points farther north and also at points east and south. Quite an electrical storm was in evidence and destructive hail storms visited scattered sections. A hail storm struck J. J. McElreth's farm in the Luther community cutting a strip one quarter mile wide thru his fields, and destroying three bales of cotton. This same storm extended for quite a distance leaving a well marked path with grass beaten out and mesquite trees stripped of limbs, leaves and bark. This spell was followed by a cool snap Sunday and by Monday morning the thermometer had dropped to 27 degrees above zero. The same temperature was registered for Tuesday and Wednesday mornings. A damp spell put in an appearance Wednesday night and from all signs and indications this spell may hang on for several days.

High School Honor Roll

During the first nine weeks of school five pupils in the Big Spring High School made all A grades and thirty two pupils made only A and B grades.
Following are the five making all A grades: Dorothy Ellington, John Little, Louie Mosley, Floyd Peckard, Frances Sullivan.
Following are all the pupils in High School who made only A and B grades during the first nine weeks of school: Elsie Jaenette Barnett, Virginia Barnett, Marie Boswell, Mary Elizabeth Burns, Leta Cochran, Noia Couch, Mary Lou Cushing, Nell Davis, Doris Davidson, Willie Daves, Hugh Dubberly, Earl Ezzell, Mary Happell, Helen Hatch, Arthur Hawk, Dorothy Jordan, Gladys Lloyd, Maurine Leach, Esther Leach, Ruth Miller, Flora Miltstead, Mildred Frances McNew, Thelma O'Keefe, Jaenette Pickle, Eunice Pritchard, Maurine Rogers, Mildred Rogers, Lillian Shive, Louise Shive, Birdie Shockley, Jessie Smith, Louise Smith.

Cotton and Cottonseed Prices

The first few days of this week have shown unsettled to lower tendencies existing in the cotton market, and notwithstanding an optimistic general sentiment which prophecies a 30-cent market before the close of the month, slightly downward revisions have been recorded. Tuesday December New York closed at 25.88-95, a drop of 32 points from Monday's close, and this notwithstanding the fact that at opening, this month held a 21 point advance over the closing figures of the previous day. New Orleans December closed weak and 39 points down at 25.30. Spot markets in the State for Tuesday were as follows: Austin 24.75; Waco 25.25; Fort Worth 25.15; Dallas 25.15; Galveston 25.80 and Houston 25.75.
In Texas markets the past week, wagonloads of cottonseed sold for $40 per ton, with carlots bringing $43 to $45. Sacked hulls sold for $16.50 per ton and loose hulls $12 to $14.

West Texas Electric Improvements

Grover C. Dean and George Musick arrived the first of the week to begin upon the work of reconstructing the power and light lines of the West Texas Electric Company through the resident section of Big Spring.
The construction crew will be increased to five next week and all defective poles are to be replaced with new material and all small wiring will be removed and heavy copper wire installed. It is expected that it will require from six weeks to two months to complete this task.
The wiring in the business district was overhauled some time ago. The business and resident circuits will be separated when the present improvement work is completed.

Pays $50 Per Acre For Land

L. E. Daniel this week purchased of T. F. Grisham a twenty-acre tract of land four miles north of town paying fifty dollars cash per acre for same. Mr. Daniel purchased this tract to square up his farm which adjoins that of Mr. Grisham.
Folks in the northern portion of county who had surface tanks filled by the big rain which fell in that section are now wearing a pleased smile.

Queer Feelings

"Some time ago, I was very irregular," writes Mrs. Cora Robie, of Pikeville, Ky. "I suffered a great deal, and knew I must do something for this condition. I suffered mostly with my back and a weakness in my limbs. I would have dreadful headaches. I had hot flashes and very queer feelings, and oh, how my head hurt! I read of

Private Greed and Social Welfare

The monthly circular of the National City Bank is always interesting in its review of economic and financial questions. The November issue has a significant observation on the railroad strikes. "The primary purpose of the industries," reads the circular, "is to supply the daily needs of the population, and if there is any one way more effectual than all others for making public opinion against strikes it is paralyzing public services."

The primary basis of reasoning is first to be sure of your facts. The premise of the above statement certainly is wrong. It is not the primary purpose of the industries "to supply the daily needs of the population." The primary purpose is to enrich the owners. If dividends are not forthcoming the "daily needs of the population" are not met. The industries will be closed regardless of what the needs of the population are.

These are facts. All assumptions that do not square with these primary facts are certain to lead people astray. Reasoning that is based upon them is more apt to reach national and intelligent conclusions. To these facts may be added another one. The wage workers in industry also do not have any primary interest in supplying the daily needs of the population. Their primary interest is their wages and hours.

Of course industries are capable of being administered for social welfare, but not so long as they are sources of private enrichment. This private motive is in conflict with social welfare. The two cannot be reconciled. When a class of owners has the power to close industries regardless of social needs it has the power to determine the "daily needs of the population." When it no longer has that power the conflict between private greed and social welfare will end.

Not until the industries of the nation are administered for service and human welfare will mankind cease to be cursed with the anti-social motives that dominate industry today.—New York Call.

West Texas Farm Products Are to be Shown in Many Cities of State

Stamford, Nov. 12.—Superior agricultural products of West Texas will help to make up the portable exhibit of the Southern Pacific Railway which will be carried through most of South, East and Central Texas, Louisiana and other states, to reach those sections the growing and culture of better agricultural products.

The products from West Texas were contributed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce from the All-West Texas Exhibit at the Texas Cotton Palace at Waco this Fall, which lacked only one per cent of being a perfect exhibit.

Thirty years ago the railroad or individual who attempted to take field products from the "wilderness of West Texas" to the longer settled regions, especially for the purpose of instructing in the producing of better products, would have been hooted and mocked in every South, Central and East Texas newspaper. But the remarkable progress which West Texas has made and evidenced in its annual agricultural exhibits at the leading fairs of the South and North has changed the hue of things remarkably until today those sections are willing to sit at the feet of this Western Gamaliel and learn those things they had neglected.

Officials of the Southern Pacific Railroad who visited the Texas Cotton Palace this Fall were so impressed with the exhibit of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce that they suggested that these fine specimens of the field, the ranch and the mines be placed at their disposal in a campaign of instruction and advertising. The officials went so far as to request that the organization send its exhibit manager, B. M. Whiteker, along with the exhibit car to give instruction to the thousands expected to visit it at every station where stopped. The organization granted the wishes of the railroad to a certain extent by permitting the use of some of the finest specimens. West Texas will get proper credit wherever the special car is taken. Organization officials believe that this taking "West Texas to the very homes of the people of Texas, Louisiana and other states will be one of the best advertising mediums to draw immigration that has ever been used. Already the signs are that there is a genuine breakaway from many wornout sections to West Texas. The effect of this exhibit is expected to accelerate this migration.

New Campaign to Abolish Child Labor

The second decision of the United States Supreme Court rendering the existing Federal child labor legislation unconstitutional has once more forcibly brought the subject of child labor to the attention of the country.

The 14th census shows that in 1920 there were 1,060,858 children between the ages of 10 and 16 gainfully employed in the United States. Added now to this appalling large number of child wage earners are the number who were in school at the time of the census enumeration but who have returned to the mills, mines and canneries since the verdict of the Supreme Court was rendered.

Every intelligent, fair-minded individual must be aroused to a sense of obligation to these coming citizens. Surely we will not sit calmly by while such a large proportion of the next generation of voters grows up in comparative illiteracy and with impaired health. In the event that the individual states fail to take the problem in hand, we should be prepared to have the Federal government step in and protect the children of the nation against conditions detrimental to their health and future usefulness as citizens.—Bulletin of the Consumers' League.

Methodist Notes

Quite a large number out to S. S. last Sunday morning. Only one teacher absent. Bro. Hardy brought us back many interesting bits of information from the Annual Conference at Quannah.

At the morning church service Bro. Hardy preached on the incarnation of Christ—"Christ in you, the glory of God," and brought out clearly the higher ideal of the Incarnate Christ over against imitation of Him. It was an excellent sermon.

Monday at the church we reached the highest tide of attendance in the Bible contest—51 present. "The Winners" are now 20 in the rear, the "Would-be-Conquerors" having 20 in the lead. Both sides are urged to join in where they belong, and help make the contest a close one.

The Week of Prayer will be observed at the church on the 4th Monday by an all day meeting. Everyone who can attend is urged to come. Lunch for two is to be prepared by every one present, each person bringing plate and cup, that there may be no part of the day's program missed by those who will serve the hot drink at noon. Exchanging of lunch bags "sight unseen" will introduce a novel feature into our annual session. Let every Methodist plan to bring a worthy offering at this time. Nervous troubles, with backache, dizzy spells, queer pains and irregular kidneys, give reason to suspect kidney weakness and to try the remedy that has helped your neighbors. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. A. B. Winslow, 108 Scurry St., Big Spring, says: "Quite a few years ago I began having pains in the small of my back just over my kidneys. I couldn't rest at night because no matter how I lay there was a steady pain that felt like a red hot iron across my kidneys. Sometimes I was so drawn up with pain I could hardly get out of bed. I was subject to nervous headaches and the least noise would startle me. My kidneys didn't act regularly at all. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Ward's Drug Store and they entirely cured me. I haven't suffered from kidney complaint for five years."

The Preventive Method

All that most mental diseases, like physical ones, need for their cure is exposure to the fresh air and sunshine. The weakness of wrong opinions stands exposed when submitted to the test of open discussion. They will thus be made harmless. But the merit of right opinions is revealed in the same way. To reject the bad and accept the good from whatever source they come is our aim. A democratic policy recognizes the people's right to learn by making mistakes. Free speech may cause temporary disturbance, as it did on a notable occasion once in the open forum at Nazareth. But truth is more desirable than peace.—Henry E. Jackson in Collier's.

Prison Helps The Farmer

Whether the officials of the International Harvester Company have been more interested in marriages than in machinery may not be decided, but figures given out by the census bureau would indicate that the trust had better pay closer attention to business if it hopes to keep up the exploitation of men who till the soil.

The census department shows that in 1921 there has been a decrease of 41 per cent in the total value of farm machinery products sold as compared with the year before. The largest percentages of decrease appear in horse-drawn vehicles and in tractors and traction engines.

This is a tremendous falling off, but while it has been in progress price reductions on farm machinery manufactured at the Minnesota State prison, granted in response to a request by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, have saved farmers of that state $150,000 in a year.

A report from this prison shows that 7,108 farm machines have been sold in the last twelve months, including particularly binders, mowers, and rakes. This represents an increase of 139 per cent in the use of binders, 38 per cent in the sale of mowers, and 10 per cent increase in the consumption of rakes.

The manufacture of farm machinery in the State prison comes as a result of farm bureau activity and should prove an inspiration to other states, for seemingly a way has been found to get at least the thin end of the wedge into the iron ring the Harvester trust has held around the throat of the farmer for years.

It has been contended that putting on the market the products of prison labor would unhorse business but if the Harvester trust be unhorsed, nobody will care very much.

The farmers pay their share for the support of the restricted criminals, so it is not a bad idea for them to get something out of the labor of their wards.

Your War Savings Stamps

War Savings Stamps of the series of 1918 become due and payable on January 1, 1923. The people who bought these stamps will receive their full face value upon redemption and will find that the money they saved five years ago has earned every year about four per cent compounded interest. In order to afford holders of war savings stamps an opportunity to continue their investment in a safe government security the Treasury Department is offering an exchange of War Savings Stamps for Treasury Savings Certificates. The certificates are issued in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000, maturity value, and sold for $20.50, $82.00 and $820.00. Holders of War Savings Stamps can get them at these prices upon application through their own banks or their postoffices. Exchanges will be made as of January 1, 1923, upon applications presented between November 15, 1922, and January 15, 1923. Immediate payment will be made in cash of any difference due the holder of War Savings Stamps if he takes the largest possible amount of Treasury Savings Certificates on the exchange.

The growing inclination of the people to save and their desire to find a safe reinvestment for their money leads Treasury officials to believe that a large part of the six hundred million dollars in War Savings Stamps soon to become due will be exchanged for Treasury Savings Certificates.

Communications in W. Texas Changed

Midland, Texas.—Construction is to begin at once on a new telephone copper wire circuit between Midland and Pecos. The present iron circuit between Midland and Big Spring is to be replaced by a copper wire circuit.
 Engineers for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company expect all this work will be completed by the end of this year.

West Texas is now almost a network of telephone wires. It is also becoming an area of high tension electric power and light transmission lines. The contrast between this day and even a few years ago is marked in the extension of these utilities to the territory that then was range land and served by stage coaches for communication and kerosene for lights with power supplied by occasional expensive steam plants and by mules and horses.

Use of modern methods and employment of utility services in West Texas is adding to the wealth and population of this part of the state more rapidly than any other section of the Southwest ever grow.

The War Taxes

Governments now are paying for the war and the increase in peace-time taxes over war-time taxes throughout the world is startling. In 1903 it cost the United States $22 capita to run the Government; Great Britain $41;
 France, $23; Italy, $14; Germany $14; Japan, $5. Three years later, just before the war, it cost the United States
 $35; England, $42; France, $33; Italy, $22; Germany, $39; Japan, $8. Last year the per capita cost of government was United States, $179; England, $204; France, $275; Italy, $176; Germany, $212; Japan, $13. Of course, much of this expense was met by issuing bonds, because it was impossible for peoples to pay such amounts.
 However, gradually and eventually the bonds must be paid. For the taxpayer the war isn't over.—Capper's

We can never expect to have judicial proceedings simplified, in State or Nation, so long as we send lawyers to do the work. Lawyers want as much complexity as possible in judicial matters because it brings grist to their mills, and they will never consent to simplify matters in the interest of the people. If a large majority of our legislators are lawyers it is the voters' fault, and they must take the consequences, in interminable and incomprehensible litigation.—Farm and

Roads in Fear of Adverse Legislation

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Financiers and railway presidents are deeply concerned over the results of Tuesday's elections, especially in the Northern and Central States, where only candidates of the extremist radical stripe received the support of the electorate. It is feared that there will be immediate attempts to pass immoderate legislation affecting industry and transportation.

Today's heavy selling of railway and equipment shares is an indication of where radical aims are expected to strike, for the railroads are first in line as a target of the efforts of radical Legislatures from the Central,
 Western and Northern States.

The disturbing effect of the election is not so much in the number of out-and-out extremists elected, who are still a minority, as it is the evidence of popular disregard of conservatism and of a public demand for radical treatment of business questions. This popular feeling may be only transient, but just how much damage may be done in the meantime by radical and unsound legislatures is a matter that cannot be ignored.

The railroad labor organizations will doubtless renew their battle to bring about the "plumb plan," whereby the unions, the officers and the Government would jointly run the roads and the radical legislators have certain views of their own as to the valuation at which the roads would be taken over.

Between the demand of the agricultural and other interests for lower freight and passenger rates and the insistence of labor unions that war time wages be maintained the railroads are in for many sleepless nights.

Presbyterian Auxiliary Notes

Home Mission Week which was observed by all the women of the Southern Presbyterian Church last week was not slighted by our local Auxiliary. On Monday and Tuesday excellent programs presenting briefly most of the phases of Home Mission work were presented. Appropriate songs and earnest prayers made these afternoons impressive and effective. These programs were doubly appreciated owing to the fact that the Home Mission text book "Unfinished Tasks," has only recently been begun and interest in its study has been stimulated. The offering, much of which was genuine self-denial, was generous. Any others wishing to contribute may hand offerings to Mrs. J. O. Tamsitt, secretary of this cause. Next Monday is Circle day and the three Circles will meet at 3 o'clock with the following hostesses: The What-so-Evers with Mrs. Ellington, The Dorcas with Mrs. Dubberly, and The King's Daughters with Mrs. Cunningham. The Orphan's Box will be made up early in December and the Circles are unusually busy at this season making articles and completing work for the needy little ones for whom we are responsible.

A Living Wage

Read what they think of the living wage and decide which of these represents the American and which the Chinese standard of living.

Chairman Hooper, of the Railroad Labor Board, says the living wage is "mellifluous phraseology," and he has fixed 25 cents an hour as the minimum wage of maintenance of way men. Twenty-five cents an hour, for an 8-hour day, will yield $625 a year if the worker is employed every day but Sunday. He can have no holidays, must not lose a day on account of sickness or for any other cause.

That will provide for the average family of five this budget:

Meals at 6 cents for each person, 90 cents a day, or $328.50 a year; rent $180 a year, or $15 a month (try to get a house at that rate); light and fuel, $54.75 per year, or about $4.55 a month; clothing $62.75 a year, or a little more than $12 per year for each member of the family.

Nothing remains for the doctor or the dentist, for car fare, or a visit to the movies; not a penny to drop in the collection plate at church; nothing for insurance against old age and sickness; nothing for lodge or union dues; nothing for newspapers, magazines or books.

Henry Ford, employing more than 100,000 men, believes in the living wage and pays it. The lowest paid worker in his employ, whether in shop or mine or on the railroad, receives $6 a day. Working every day in the year except Sunday. It is possible for the minimum-wage employe of Ford to earn $1,878 a year. This sum, none too large, will enable the average family of five to maintain this budget:

For food, $766.50 a year, 14 cents per meal for each person, or $2.10 per day; for rent, $300 a year, or $25 a month; for clothing, $250 a year, or $50 per person; for light and fuel, $70 a year, or about $5.75 a month.

Over and above these sums there remains $500, with which the family may have the services of doctor or dentist, pay car fare, visit the movies, assist in the support of the church, provide insurance against sickness and old age, enjoy membership in lodges and unions, read newspapers and magazines and an occasional book.—Labor.

Babyizing America

A year old baby may be large, and healthy, and vigorous, and strong, and if afforded proper protection it may grow into a mighty man of prowess.

But remove its protector during its years of helplessness and it becomes an easy prey to any aggressor.

It is so with this country. Numerically, commercially and financially we are strong, and healthy, with a progressive and successful future ahead of us.

But, like the baby of tender years, we are only safe so long as we have a protector capable of repelling aggressive forces which greed and avarice may bring against us.

That protector is the navy of the United States.

If congress persists in reducing the navy to a state of impotency we will be helpless against sudden foreign invasion. And that, apparently, is what a majority of our senators and congressmen are intent upon doing.

If financial retrenchment is necessary, we suggest that a horde of political barnacles be pried loose from the public payroll.

But keep the navy in a condition where it can afford us the necessary protection until an army can be formed.

If compelled to depend upon congressional oratory to defend us against foreign invasion we will be in a sad state indeed, regardless of the volume of noise that hunch can produce.

Babyizing America is the last step in congressional incompetency.

One Lesson Learned

What is the lesson you learned at the recent election? Or did you learn any lesson at all?

In certain communities throughout the country the law abiding element did less idle talking and more systematic work in getting respectability opt to the polls. As a result, a better class of people were elected to office in such communities, and law enforcement will be more rigid in future.

In other sections respectability was asleep at the switch, with the result that justice and right will be sidetracked until time for another election. Respectability, when energetic and wide awake, will prevail. When asleep, it is of no avail.

Such, as we see it, is the principal lesson to be learned from the recent battle of the ballots.

Our Flag

Yards of cloth dyed red, or white, or blue, or all of these colors, mean nothing. You may pass them a thousand times without giving them a second thought.

But work that cloth into an American flag and it becomes at once the symbol of our dearest heritage of mankind—liberty.

The man who loves his country will respect its flag. He will not treat it as yards of cloth.

The man who does not respect his flag can not, under any possible stretch of the imagination, be classed as a lover of his country.

We have many of the one, and too many of the other.

Best Editorial of 1921

The following is the editorial which won the Pulitzer prize of $500 "for the best editorial article during the year, the test of excellence being clearness of style, moral purpose, sound reasoning and the power to influence public opinion in the right direction." It was written by Frank M. O'Brien of the editorial staff of the New York Herald, in which paper it was published Nov. 11, 1921. It is here reprinted:

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

That which takes place today at the National Cemetery in Arlington is a symbol, a mystery and a tribute. It is an entombment only in the physical sense. It is rather the enthrone of Duty and Honor. This man who died for his country is the symbol of these qualities; a far more perfect symbol than any man could be whose name and deeds we know. He represents more, really, than the unidentified dead, for we can not separate them spiritually from the war heroes whose names are written on their grave-stones. He—this spirit whom we honor—stands for the unselfishness of it all.

This, of all monuments to the dead, is lasting and immutable. So long as men revere the finer things of life the tomb of the nameless hero will remain a shrine. Nor, with the shifts of time and mind, can there be a changing of values. No historian shall rise to modify the virtues or the faults of the Soldier. He has an immunity for which kings might pray. The years may bring erosion to the granite but not to the memory of the Unknown.

It is a common weakness of humanity to ask the questions that can never be answered in this life. Probably none to whom the drama of the Unknown Soldier has appealed has not wondered who, in the sunshine of earth, was the protagonist of today's ceremony. A logger from the Penobscot? An orchardist from the Pacific Coast? A well-driller from Texas? A machinist from Connecticut? A lad who left his hoe to rust among the Missouri corn? A longshoreman from Hell's Kitchen? Perhaps some youth from the tobacco fields, resting in his own Virginia. All that the army tells us of him is that he died in battle. All that the heart tells is that some woman loved him. More than that no man shall learn. In this mystery, as in the riddle of the universe, the wise wonder; but they would not know.

What were his dreams, his ambitions? Likely he shared those common to the millions: a life of peace and honest struggle, with such small success as comes to most who try; and at the end the place on the hillside among his fathers. Today to do honor at his last resting-place come the greatest soldiers of the age, famous statesmen from other continents, the President, the high judges and the legislators of his own country, and many men who, like himself, fought for the flag. At his bier will gather the most remarkable group that America has seen. And the tomb which Fate reserved for him is, instead of the narrow cell on the village hillside, one as lasting as that of Rameses and as inspiring as Napoleon's.

It is a great religious ceremony, this burial today. The exaltation of the nameless bones would not be possible except for Belief. Where were Duty and Honor, the well-springs of Victory, if mankind feared than death drew a black curtain behind which lay nothing but the dark? So all in whom the spark of hope has not died can well believe that we, to whom the Soldier is a mystery, are not a mystery to him. They can believe that the watchers at Arlington today are not merely a few thousands of the living but the countless battalions of the departed. "The he were dead, yet shall he live"—there is the promise to which men hold when everything of this earth has slept away.

All the impressive ritual of today would be a mockery if we did not believe that, out in an infinity which astronomers can not chart or mathematicians bound, the Unknown Soldier and all the glorious dead whom we honor in his dust are looking down upon this little spinning ball, conscious of our reverence. And when noon strikes, signal for the moment of silent prayer, few of those who stand with bared head will lack conviction that the rites at Arlington are viewed by other than mortal eyes. Only in that spirit may we honor the Unknown Soldier and those who like him, died for this Republic.

Unknown, but not unknowing!

Preserving Meat on the Farm

Taking care of the meat on the farm at killing time is one of the odd jobs a farmer's wife has to get in somehow among the ordinary tasks of the day. The following letter received by the United States Department of Agriculture from the wife of a "dirt farmer," as she calls herself, gives some idea of what this work involves. This woman lives on a Kansas ranch of 7,000 acres, many miles from a railroad, but her home is as modern in every respect and more convenient than many homes which are only a few feet from a railroad. This home was built for a particular family and the plan fits the life of the family. The routine of house-keeping is as simple as it could be on a big ranch and the furnishings are simple, but most effective. The wife is actively interested in Farm Bureau and especially in the home activities.

"Have finished my meat canning. I corned fifty-one pounds and canned seventy-five quarts of meat and stock. We like the meat better when it is browned well in the oven before canning. After it is browned, I slice it and pack into jars, adding salt and stock as usual, and process. When I have sliced off all the pieces that cut to advantage, I cut the rest off and put it through the food chopper and season it, pack into jars with some stock and process. It is very good that way and for a change I add pork, onions, etc., and make a meat loaf when I open the chipped meat.

"After all the meat is used, I wash out the pressure canner, put the bones and about three gallons of water in, fasten up and process at fifteen pounds for about forty minutes, take the bones which are almost blanched out, and can the stock for soup. It is very rich and goes a long way in making soup.

"I can headcheese, sausage, liver sausage, etc., in the canner and it is such a relief not to have so much fresh meat that must be used up quickly.

"I had about thirty pounds of soap made from tallow, uncooked process, and while it is a little hard, it makes a splendid suds and cleans well and has no scent."—Farm and Ranch.

New Quakes Rock Chile

Santiago, Chile.—A severe earth tremor shook the region of Constitution, Chile, last night, causing panic among the thousands of homeless victims of the Saturday earthquake, which cost upwards of 1400 lives.

Little damage was reported. The Chilean government is taking extraordinary relief measures to aid sufferers.

Hundreds are being fed from warships, while pack trains are pushing into the hills.

Mrs. E. M. LaBeff Entertains

Mrs. E. M. LaBeff delightfully entertained at Rook at her home on Scurry street Wednesday afternoon. The interior of the home was artistically decorated in keeping with the harvest season. Five tables of players indulged in the interesting games of the afternoon. Mrs. C. E. Shive making high score. At the conclusion of play a delicious plate luncheon was served.

If newspapers played up stories of progress, building and others of a boosting nature as much as they do a story when a preacher happens to get killed or when a bobbed hair stage girl kills a man, we are wondering if the public mind would not be a little more steady and the thoughts of men directed more along optimistic and constructive lines. — Breckenridge American.

To Mother!

Sounding the depths of the oldest human sentiment, the Woman's Universal Alliance is planning the erection of a memorial tower in Washington to the nation's mothers. Senators, governors and other prominent men are being invited to inscribe their tributes in a book that will be placed therein.

Here is what Governor Lee Trinkle of Virginia, one of the first contributors, has written:

"To the sweetest name, to the purest love, to the holiest memory known to my heart—my mother. She, whose unflinching and unfaltering affection nurtured, sheltered and directed me; she, whose influence, like a star of truth, still guides me; she, who greeted me and left me with a kiss—to rest in God."

Sentiment is a beautiful thing and mother-love the most beautiful of all. It is indeed fitting that in the nation's capital—taking its place along with memorials to soldiers, statesmen and scholars—there should be erected an enduring monument to the greatest of all—the nation's mothers.

For, in the final analysis, they are the creators of everything which all these together have achieved.—Fort Worth Press.

A Job for Your Boy

"What shall I make of my boy?" many an anxious parent is asking today as he realizes the overcrowded conditions of his own trade or profession.

The boy will probably make or unmake himself without much aid from the old man, but meantime why not turn his thoughts toward the science of chemistry if he be at all studiously inclined? Here we have a field expanding in all directions like a dampened yeast cake.

Last year American industry spent more than $70,000,000 in scientific research, most of it in experiments in chemistry in the laboratory.

As a result of this expenditure half a billion dollars is saved annually by industry in this country. The value of scientific research has never been so fully appreciated as it is today.

Yes, chemistry offers a fine field for that boy just entering high school and not knowing what to do with himself. Every normal boy likes to "experiment" and chemistry is the very heart of scientific investigation.

Federal Judge Vindicated

Federal Judge James C. Wilson was completely vindicated Monday of the charge brought against him by Rev. J. Frank Norris, when the Bar Association committee's report was adopted unanimously by the 57 lawyers present.

The nine charges made by Dr. Norris in the pulpit and in the Searchlight, church paper, were taken up one at a time and answered in the report.

"Your committee is of the unanimous opinion there is no basis for any charge of improper conduct, or conduct reflecting on Judge Wilson's character and bearing as a judge," Judge Cole Speer, chairman of the probing committee read.

JUNIOR RED CROSS MAKES GOOD CITIZENS

Through It Children Learn Patriotism, Altruism and Generosity.

The Junior Red Cross exists for the purpose of making good American citizens. This statement was made by an eminent authority in a recent answer to the question, "What is the Junior Red Cross?" In the United States there are 5,000,000 members of Junior Red Crosses and in the Southwestern Division the membership of children in this organization numbers 434,578 and here is some of the work these children do.

They support work in Europe to children who are in need. They send Christmas boxes of goodies to children who do not have them. They make shipments of garments abroad to the destitute children of war-crippled Europe. But this is not as interesting to Americans, perhaps, as the work which the Juniors do at home. One of the biggest problems in America today, according to experts, is the tremendous amount of malnutrition found among the children of this country. One-third of the children of America are malnourished, according to actual counts. The Junior Red Cross, through its school auxiliaries and growth classes, is seeking to eliminate a large part of this malnutrition and has succeeded to a very gratifying extent.

The Junior Red Cross also is answering the question of how to eliminate individual, group, racial and international hatreds which exist among people today. The polyglot character of the personnel of the average American school gives an excellent field for work of this kind and foreign children, as well as native-born Americans, learn what good citizenship is in their Junior Red Cross activities even more than they do in the patriotic exercises of their school room work. Loyal and serviceable citizenship, that absolute essential to a great democracy, is being created in the breasts of these little foreign-born Americans through the Junior Red Cross activities as it never could be otherwise.

One of the helps to this is the work the children are doing for the disabled ex-service men in hospitals, for the sick and crippled children who need help and cheer, in equipping playgrounds so that sad-eyed little children of the congested districts are taught the joy of a normal childhood. By learning to serve others in these and many other ways, lessons of community spirit and co-operation are taught the growing boys and girls of this country.

Another thing the Juniors are doing is assisting in the promotion of health in their communities by clean-up campaigns and other civil undertakings. On the whole, one of the most constructive pieces of work done in the Southwestern Division, American Red Cross, during the year, in the opinion of those who have studied the situation, is that among the children, which has been carried on through the Junior divisions of Red Cross chapters and the school auxiliaries of Junior members.

NURSE IN SOUTHWEST DIVISION COVERS BIG TERRITORY

Miss Mary Fitzsimon, Washington County (Arkansas) Red Cross nurse, is in charge of one of the largest territories covered by one individual in this capacity in the Southwestern Division. Ten towns are in her district and her work covers all kinds of ailments and illnesses, serious and simple, as well as general sanitation and health information.

The well people of one neighborhood in Washington County are particularly indebted to Miss Fitzsimon for having discovered a contaminated water supply which might have caused the illness of the entire community.

In cases where contaminated water supplies were not discovered in time, Miss Fitzsimon has been able to offer an anti-typhoid inoculation which has been so successful in the army as a means of stamping out this disease.

A group of trachoma cases discovered in July by accident is being successfully treated. The mother of this family already had lost her sight, but the other members probably will be not much the worse after the treatment is finished.

A number of ex-service men who have not received their compensation and other disabled soldiers who wanted assistance or vocational training also were cared for during the summer and spring.

SOUTHWESTERN DIVISION LOOKS AFTER SOLDIERS

Red Cross Workers in That Section Assist, Care For and Entertain Men in Camps and Hospitals.

Approximately 80,000 able-bodied soldiers and more than 5,000 invalided soldiers and ex-service men in the hospitals in the United States have been assisted in obtaining compensation and in the solution of their other problems by the American Red Cross, according to E. S. Transe, director of war service of the Southwestern Division of the American Red Cross.

"Red Cross workers in the camps and hospitals in the Southwestern Division are rendering much-needed service to the men who are in the army at the present time," said Transe. "Those service men undergoing hospital treatment for one cause or another and ex-service men who have been hospitalized both in the army hospitals and hospitals operated by the Veterans' Bureau, are some of the men in need of this service.

"The army camps and hospitals in this division covered by Red Cross workers are located at Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, Mo.; Camp Travis, Tex., including Ft. Sam Houston Hospital; Ft. Bliss, Tex., including Wm. A. Beumont General Hospital; Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., including the U. S. Disciplinary Barracks at that point; Ft. Riley, Kan.; Ft. Sill, Okla.; Fitzsimons General Hospital, Fitzsimons, Colo.; Camp Furlong, New Mex.; Camp Harry J. Jones, Douglas, Ariz., and the Army and Navy General Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

"The Veterans' Bureau hospitals served by the Southwestern Division of the Red Cross are: U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 35, St. Louis, Mo.; Veterans' Hospital No. 25, Logan, Tex.; U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 55, Ft. Bayard, N. Mex.; U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 67, Kansas City, Mo.; U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 78, N. Little Rock, Ark., and U. S. Veterans' Hospital No. 80, Fort Lyon, Colo.

"Of the 5,000 patients, approximately 75 per cent are undergoing treatment for tuberculosis and mental diseases. This makes the work one of considerable difficulty, inasmuch as it is oftentimes a real problem to provide proper recreation or to connect the man's present condition with his service.

"There are three phases of the Red Cross program for service and ex-service men in the camps and hospitals—Home Service, Recreation and Medical Social Service. Our regular camp service program consists of what is known as home service work. This calls for co-operation between the Red Cross worker in the camp and governmental and chapter agencies in taking care of problems of the enlisted man in the army. Difficulties relating to allotments, allowances, insurance, compensation, state bonus, travel pay, etc., are all brought to the Red Cross by the enlisted man. The Red Cross also contacts the families through the chapters in case of distress, sickness or death.

"The recreational and entertainment program in the hospital brings movies for the boys, amateur theatricals, dances, parties and those many other things that the sick man longs for, but which he could not have were it not for the Red Cross.

"The Red Cross medical and social service program calls for a study of the individual needs of the man, to help him in solving his personal and family difficulties, to aid him by material assistance when he is without resources, to aid the doctor in his treatment of the patient by obtaining former medical or social histories which may lead to an accurate diagnosis and to interpret the whole situation to the Red Cross Chapter home service worker in the man's home community, so that not only will the proper attention be given to the family during the man's absence, but he may be free in mind and thus derive a maximum amount of benefit from his treatment.

"In carrying out our work for the ex-service man undergoing hospitalization the Red Cross has constantly borne in mind that the great object has been to play the right part in the period of adjustment through which the ex-service man must safely pass if he is to continue to be a good citizen. This work has required personnel who are not only sympathetic in the dealing with patients but who must have an understanding of the social problems of civil life.

"Just as it has always been recognized that the time spent in a government hospital is only a brief episode in the life of a patient, so has it been recognized that the activities of the hospital worker are only a part of the responsibility of the Red Cross to the ex-service man; that the hospital work can be successful only as it correlates itself closely with the work of the Red Cross as a whole. The hospital worker is the outpost detailed to special duty. It is his endeavor to interpret the present condition of the man in the hospital to the home people and as each of us, as individuals, watched the men who marched away to service, as each one of us helped to "keep the home fires burning" while the boys served in the front line trenches, so does it become our duty today to render a very definite service to these men, who are still fighting the great battle of humanity, begun in 1917, and in which to date no armistice has been declared. Through the Red Cross you are helping them to hold the line."

The Law Breakers

All public officials or private citizens, who suppress free speech, are lawbreakers and should be treated as such. If there be any who disagree with the First Amendment it is their right to agitate for its repeal through our regular and orderly method of making changes in the government.

The strange wave of fear and hysteria and organized panic, which during and since the war has been causing disobedience to the first amendment to the Constitution, is relieved by the touch of a sad sort of humor. For these lawbreakers pose as patriots. It is these gentlemen most of all who need to be Americanized. They are tragically mistaken about America's ideals, and they are pitifully ignorant of human nature.

More than 90 per cent of all social, industrial and political disputes could be settled in short order if the parties to them would meet in the same room, put their feet under the same table, look into one another's faces, and be honest.

If the same fairness, tolerance, affection, willingness to differ in opinion without differing in feeling which is employed in fraternal orders were extended to the citizen-members of America as a society, social unrest would cease. It would mean the prevention of an incalculable loss of life, money, and good will if America would heed Jefferson's plea: "Let us restore to social intercourse that harmony and affection, without which liberty and even life itself are but dreary things."

—Henry E. Jackson in Collier's.

A Tractor Clinic December 4th
 A Tractor Clinic will be held at the Stokes Motor Co.'s garage from 9 to 11 o'clock Monday morning December 4th by special representatives of the Ford Motor Company.
 And at 8 o'clock on the evening of that date a free motion picture show will be given at the auditorium of the High School building. This will be of special interest to farmers and industrial users of tractors and a cordial invitation is extended to every one in the Big Spring section to attend both the clinic in the morning and the free picture show Monday night.

The Worst Strike of All
 Everyone is on strike: Neighbor John and Cousin Bill, Uncle Zeke and Aunt Sue—you and I. And beside this more widespread, more disastrous rebellion, the combined industrial disturbances of mine and railroad are as tiny flecks of soot upon the broad dome of the National Capitol.
 We have all laid down on the job; quit cold. We have thrown down the pick and shovel of political duty, social duty, moral duty, and forsaken our responsibility en masse. Like soured pickets, we are standing on the curb, hooting at the feeble efforts of a few earnest individuals to perform the functions of good citizens. We are sling mud balls at our courts; casting rocks at our much-harassed legislators; sneering at the tattered remnants of the good old standards that used to be.
 Petting parties could be abolished overnight, the judiciary made instantaneously above reproach, the politicians rendered honest and sensible, our economic system given stability—if only the American people would haul down their red flags—and their pink ones—and return to the serious vocation of being good citizens. If the large army of critics who are chronically engaged in telling us "What is the matter with Kansas"—and with the Southwest—and with the United States, would relinquish their weapons and enlist under the twin banners of Old Glory and the Golden Rule, we all could draw a deep breath of relief, cease our futile talk about Americanism, and convert ourselves into living examples of real patriotism.
 Let's get back to the old principle of a square deal for all, special favors to none. Let's awaken from our lethargy and put our shoulders to the home wheel. Let's get our brooms and clean up our respective communities. Let's hear our better-thinking fellows and range in at the polls. In short, let's call off this unholy strike, and become good, active, constructive citizens.—Farm and Ranch.

A Dead Man Found
 While strolling through the business part of our city last Monday afternoon about three o'clock, a visitor to our town saw some birds which may have been buzzards, hovering over a dense thicket of wild sunflower and Russian thistle, near the public square. He had been hearing what a dangerous place Big Spring had become in late years, so was prepared to not be frightened at whatever gruesome sight might meet his eye, so plunging bravely in he followed a peculiar odor which was noticeable for some distance. Suddenly he came to a stop and called excitedly to a tired looking inhabitant who was passing by "Say did you know there was a dead man here?" "Yes, we have known it for a long time, but we haven't just been so busy we haven't had time to bury him. Haven't any money for funeral expenses, anyhow." And the man passed by "on the other side."
 Now this is the sad part of my tale. It was not a real body of one dead citizen that the stranger found, but what was far worse—the unmistakable evidence, that there were more than one. Dead weeds and more deadly odors, from sink drains and outdoor toilets will make dead men and a dead town in the most literal sense of the word.
 There are some folks, who under the most adverse conditions are planting flowers and trees, caring for a little grass plot and keeping their grounds spic and span to the middle of the street. A citizen of this kind is worth his weight in gold on earth, and is deserving, in our estimation, a choice in residence lots in the Hereafter.

Jap Not White, Court Decides
 Japanese are not white, within the meaning of the American law and are not entitled to citizenship. U. S. supreme court has held.
 The high court affirmed a decision of the California circuit court of appeals in a test case brought by Takao Ozawa of Honolulu, who claimed he was "white" and therefore eligible for naturalization.
 At the same time the court upheld Washington supreme court in denying citizenship to Takuji Yamashita and Charles Hiro Kono of Seattle.
 The decision held the two Japs were not entitled to naturalization under U. S. laws and therefore could not enter a business partnership.
 The supreme court's decisions have long been awaited on the Pacific coast where anti-Japanese feeling exists.
 Zawa contended he was entitled to American citizenship as a descendant of the white tribe of Aizu. His children, now attending American schools in Hawaii, are being brought up as American citizens.

DOINGS OF HIGH SCHOOL FOLKS
 Frances Sullivan and Frances Melton
Football
 The Jayhawks played a game with the fast Roscoe team here Saturday. The game was a hard struggle all the way through. Many of the boys were hurt and some were taken out of the game. The final score was 18 to 12 in favor of our Jayhawks.
Pep Squad
 The girls of the Pep Squad entertained the boys of both teams at the home of Marie Boswell, after the game Saturday. Everyone had a nice time and the Roscoe boys seemed to appreciate it. It was the first defeat they had suffered this year and it was a bitter pill for them.

General Notes
 The following program was rendered at the High School Friday morning at 11 o'clock:
 Special music—The H. S. Glee Club.
 Reading—Grace Sullivan.
 Special Music—Mrs. Yates.
 Reading—Mildred Frances McNew.
 Talk—Brother Strother.
 The program was splendid and it showed that we had remarkable talent in our High School. We are especially thankful to Mrs. Yates and to Brother Strother.

All reports were handed out Wednesday afternoon.
 Miss Peake, inspector for the Home Economics department, was here Wednesday. She complimented us very highly on the work that is being carried on in the Home Economics department.
 On last Friday afternoon all students of the Big Spring schools were given a holiday on account of the Teacher's Institute.

SERMON ON THE MOUNT
 Delivered by Jesus The Christ, Anno Domini 31.
 The only solution for the turmoil, social unrest and kindred evils which torment the world today, is found in the practical application of the teachings of the Master in the "Sermon on the Mount."
 What the Constitution is to the Federal Government, "The Sermon on the Mount" is to the kingdom of righteousness which Christ came to establish in the world.

Section 9—Matthew 6:14
THE SPIRIT OF TRUE HELPFULNESS
 Take heed that ye do not your aims before men, to be seen of them; otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.
 2. Therefore when thou doest thine aims, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.
 3. But when thou doest aims, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:
 4. That thine aims may be in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.

Celebrates 50th Birthday
 On last Saturday, November 11th, Mr. J. N. Cauble celebrated his fiftieth birthday, by treating the young people and the old as well, to an old fashioned dance. At first some of the younger set thought it impossible to dance a square, but soon each and every one was "swinging his pardner."
 One square most especially enjoyed was one composed of the sons and daughters of Mr. Cauble, while he accompanied them on the violin with one of his good old "fiddlin'" pieces.
 Every one present certainly enjoyed themselves, even to Grandpa Boydston, who is now past 85 years of age, but is not too old to still give his clog dance.
 Each one wished Mr. Cauble many happy returns of the day.

It is said that the big money interests of the United States have loaned in Europe practically as much money as the European Governments owe the United States. If such is the case, it probably accounts for the sentimental talk indulged in at a recent meeting of the American Bankers' Association, concerning the subject of debt cancellation. Of course, the interests who have loaned these billions in Europe do not suggest that they themselves do any debt cancelling. Let Uncle Sam do it. It will then be easier for them to collect their own accounts. Let the people pay.—Farm and Ranch.

Stock Law Election Carries
 THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Howard,
 Whereas, on the 28th day of October A. D. 1922 an Election was held in Howard County, Texas, for the purpose of permitting the Freeholders, who were qualified voters, in Howard County, Texas, to determine whether hogs, sheep and goats shall be permitted to run at large in Howard County, Texas,
 And whereas, the returns of said election were made in accordance with law and duly canvassed and tabulated by the Commissioners' Court of Howard County, Texas on the 4th day of November A. D. 1922, and it was found by said court that 147 votes had been cast at said election, of which 120 votes had been cast "For the Stock Law" and that 27 votes had been cast "Against the Stock Law," there being a majority of 93 votes cast "For the Stock Law," and it was ordered by said court that the proposition to prevent hogs, sheep and goats from running at large in Howard County, Texas had carried and had been sustained by a majority of the voters voting at said election as shown by minutes of said court in Volume 3, page 456.
 Therefore, I, James T. Brooks in my capacity as County Judge of Howard County, Texas, hereby declare that at said election so held that there were cast 147 votes, of which votes 120 votes were cast "For the Stock Law," and that 27 votes were cast "Against the Stock Law," there being a majority of 93 votes cast "For the Stock Law," and the proposition to prevent Hogs, Sheep, and Goats from running at large in Howard County, Texas was sustained by a majority of the voters, who were Freeholders, voting at said election.
 It is ordered that after the expiration of thirty days from and after the date hereof it shall be unlawful to permit hogs, sheep and goats to run at large within the limits of Howard County, Texas.
 This Proclamation is issued in accordance with our Statutes.
 Witness my hand and seal of office, this 4th day of November A. D. 1922. 8-41

Can You Pay the Lawyer, If So, Kill

What's human life worth in Tarrant County?

The price, apparently, of an attorney's fee.

At least, many lives have been taken and the slayers set free at that price in recent months.

The epidemic not only continues. It grows worse.

The list of killings for the year is a long one. The list of punishments inflicted is a staggeringly short one.

If the incoming administration of the district attorney's office has a single outstanding task, it is to see that murder is properly punished in this county.

It is to see that red-handed slayers do not go set free as long as they can raise the money that the lawyers who specialize in murder acquittals demand.

That a few hundred dollars can unfailingly purchase a "not guilty" verdict is a situation which appalls.

It matters not, as things stand, whether victims of homicides are shot in the back. Clever lawyers will "prove" that they were the aggressors. It matters not that they were unarmed—they made "hip pocket plays," nevertheless.

And what a sham and a mockery has our justice—our justice for those who kill—become! —Fort Worth Press.

Moonshine whiskey, currently known as "white-mule," constantly selling on a bigger scale. Drinkers have the false notion that moonshine is "pure stuff! It's just raw whiskey, unaged." If they could talk with an old Kentucky mountaineer moonshiner, he would tell them that "white-mule" is a poison, unfit to drink, unless it is triple-distilled—put through the still three times. Very few bootleggers go to the trouble. The safest way to get the effect is to drink water while keeping the finger in an electric light socket. —Shreveport Times.

Newberryism

Shall Senator Newberry resign or let nature take its course? Shall the man from Michigan who dollored his way into the United States Senate back out or be kicked out?

It's a tough problem for Newberry, but not for those who don't believe in Newberryism. It must be plain to Newberry that there is only one way he can go, and that is out. His own state has backed up the Michigan jury that convicted him, and the Michigan judge who sentenced him.

Being saved from that conviction and sentence, and being seated by a partisan majority of the senate itself didn't save Newberry from the wrath of the Republicans of Michigan. They have repudiated Newberryism by defeating Senator Townsend, and by electing as senator a Democrat who announces that he will get busy and have the Newberry case reopened in the Senate.

So far as Newberry himself is concerned the public will care little whether he resigns or waits for the kick. For the public good, however, it would be better for Newberry to stick and let the drama go to its climax.

By sticking as long as he has stuck he has kept Newberryism a live issue; and that has helped amazingly toward getting rid of a group of senators who put their OK on Newberryism in order to gain control of the organization of the senate. If he sticks to the finish, he will serve a useful purpose in again putting the senate on record as to Newberryism in the light of its overwhelming repudiation by Republican voters themselves at the late election.

That's the only way we can think of, whereby Truman H. Newberry can serve a public purpose.—Fort Worth Press.

Rail Executives May Divide Organizations Into East-West Units

New York, Nov. 15.—Dissolution of the Association of Railway Executives and its reorganization as two units, an eastern and a western, appeared probable today after a meeting of a special committee, chosen to nominate a successor to the late Chairman, T. Dewitt Cuyler.

Robert Lovett, head of the committee and president of the Union Pacific, announced that a meeting of the officials of the 288 member roads of the association had been called at Chicago December 7 to discuss the future of the association.

A split in the association has been urged in certain quarters since last July and August, said Mr. Lovett, when it became necessary to hold several conferences of the entire membership in New York during the shopmen's strike negotiations. That crisis, he said, indicated that the interests of roads in different sections of the country could not easily be served by a single national organization, which often proved too unwieldy for quick action.

Rook Club Notes

An especially pleasant meeting of the Rook Club was enjoyed Thursday afternoon at which time Mrs. R. C. Strain was hostess.

Six tables of players took part in the interesting games and enjoyed the refreshments, consisting of a delicious salad course.

Mrs. Jno. Clarke made club high score of the afternoon and Miss Verena Barnes made visitors high score.

Bridge Club Notes

The members of the Bridge Club were delightfully entertained Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Bernard Fisher.

Mrs. W. W. Inkman made club high score and Mrs. Julius Eckhaus of Lafayette, Ind., made visitors high score. Delicious refreshments added their part to the pleasures of the occasion.

Textile Center Now in South

For generations the great New England textile industry has been built up by high protection bills of Republican congresses.

But today, if New England supremacy is to survive, an equally high tariff wall must be built against South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee!

This of course is impossible. From 1910 to 1920, the number of spindles in New England increased 78 per cent.

In the same period the increase in the southern states was 218 per cent! In the past two years the lead of the South has been even more pronounced.

The South has cheaper labor, raw material at hand, cheaper living costs, shorter transportation hauls—everything, in fact, needed to make the South the greatest cotton manufacturing center of the world.

The cotton textile industry in New England was built up on a basis largely artificial.

Southern cotton mills are largely owned by New England capitalists, who have seen the handwriting on the wall.

Borah Wars on Ship Bill

Senator Borah, Idaho, today threatened a filibuster against the administration's ship subsidy bill in the extra session of congress called for next Monday.

Any attempt by the administration to enact the bill would be a "second attempt at party suicide," Borah warned.

Borah served notice that the ship subsidy "will take up a vast amount of time without resulting in its enactment into law."

As the subsidy bill is expected to be the central theme of President Harding's message to the extra session, Borah's threat of a filibuster against it foreshadows another clash between the Progressive group in the senate and the administration forces.

Cotton to Bring Higher Prices

New York, Nov. 16.—The world is faced today with a shortage of cotton supplies unparalleled since the Civil war.

If supply and demand continue to make their laws felt for the remainder of this season, 30 cents a pound cotton is a certainty soon, and a price of from 35 to 40 cents is probable before the next crop becomes available. That is the general opinion of the best informed cotton men in the south and in New England.

Chain

Life seems to run in a cycle. A wise editorial writer on the Daily Item, Sumter, S. C., comments: "The little fishes eat worms. The big fishes eat the little fishes, the birds eat the big fishes, the animals eat the birds, we eat the animals and the worms eat us."

Read that a second time, and you can skip half of the books on philosophy.

"The issue at stake is 'Shall the constitution be enforced or nullified?' Every voter who sustains the theory that only non-enforceable legislation shall remain on the statute books to enforce the eighteenth amendment should pause and consider the result of that action. If the eighteenth amendment can be destroyed in this manner, no law, federal or state, is safe. Complete Story of Thomas Babson's Plan to Lower Cost of Living
... Babson Institute ...

... Babson's plan ...

... same time pays him half of the value of the deposit, as computed on the 25-year average basis, cash. The government then stores the product.
... When a dealer wants wheat, coal, cotton, or any other commodity he buys the producer's certificate on the market; he presents it at the warehouse, pays the government back the money advanced, and takes the product away.
... The government-fixed average price safeguards the producer from the ravages of dishonest speculation. The half-value payment he receives from the government affords him a ready capital. The certificate he receives is put on the market subject to the ordinary laws of supply and demand. But the certificate does not depend on the gold in treasury vaults but on the commodity in the warehouse. In one sense the Edison plan is a return to the ancient system of barter as far as the complexity of modern life will allow.
... Unit money in the Edison plan is not money in the popular conception—that is, metal money or money with a metal basis. The day when metal furnished the most exclusively practical basis for a medium of exchange as well as a measure of value has, according to Edison, gone by. His money would still be determined in terms of gold. But instead of gold in treasury vaults being its only basis, you would have wheat in the government bins, coal in the government pits, rice in storage, cotton in the warehouses, etc.
... "All articles deposited in the warehouses," said Edison, "bear the same ratio when loan of unit money is made, only one kind of unit money is issued together with the deposit certificate.
... Suppose a farmer puts in the warehouse 1000 bushels of wheat graded by the government as No. 1 red. The average price for 25 years of this grade, including high war prices is, say $3.00 per bushel. The farmer is given $3000 in unit money—he then cash holds his wheat by means of his certificate until he thinks the price is satisfactory and thus he is independent of the speculators who now set the price about a month before the crop is raised. This certificate is bought on the exchange at market price now, say

$1.15 for No. 1 red. The farmer would get $650—as the wheat is higher than the 25-year average. If, on the other hand, it was selling at 96 cents he would only get $400.

"But the unit money would not vary. It would always be the same, because wheat would not be likely to be sold over a period of one year for 50 cents. In other words, the certificate or equity would have to be valueless to impair the value of the unit money.

"The averages are changed every year, a new year being added and the earliest year of the 25 dropped.

"In four or five years the 25-year average would be less and the three-year high war prices will bring the average down so if wheat sold at even 50 cents it would not impair the value of the unit money.

"If a person wants peanuts he buys peanut certificates, or if he wants rice he buys rice certificates, or anything else which the government accepts for storage; hands in the certificate and the amount of unit money loaned, and the commodity is at his order for shipment. The unit money you notice is common to all articles.

"The unit money cannot fluctuate. The capacity or possibility of fluctuation is entirely transferred to the certificate which is subject to the prices due to supply and demand.

"It is not necessary for the government to pass any laws legal tender or otherwise with unit money.

"This unit money together with gold for paying foreign balances might well be made the basis of our currency. The business of the world is rapidly increasing; in a few years a single commodity like gold will not be sufficient.

"If it were not for the war we should not have probably more than 40 per cent of our currency backed by gold and even that subject to being partly taken away from us. We should have behind every paper dollar commodities of the warehouses type, including gold worth more than one dollar or forced sales.

"As most of our business is done with credit money which is also based on credit and commodities, there seems to be no reason why the present Reserve Bank and system should be disturbed. The commodity or unit money could be made the legal reserve instead of gold alone.

"You note that unit money is redeemed and again paid out, probably every 15 months. When wheat and cotton come into warehouses unit money is issued in huge amounts, just when needed by the farmers. This automatically solves the banking problems which now arise at peak demand, for currency expansion and contraction of unit money can never do harm. There is not any illusion in it. It can't stay out because they must have the unit money to get their cotton or wheat out.

"Again, these commodities are quick liquidators. The certificates can be sold on the exchange by telephone.

"In books on the history of banking, I find for eight centuries it's the same old story—'suspension of specie payments.' This need never take place in an agricultural country. There are a number of administrative details, such as, if the stored material is not removed within the time allotted the same will be sold at public auction. The equity after storage charges is placed on the credit of the owner as shown on the duplicate certificate.

"The warehouses are to be built gradually over a period of years by money received from taxation. The warehousing charges include depreciation and 5 per cent interest on the cost of warehouse and handling machinery."

In the light of current events, the working of Edison's plan in regard to coal is interesting.
A coal producer would mine a ton of coal. This he hauls to the nearest government coal reservoir. The government gives him a certificate for one ton of coal and pays him half of its value on the 25-year average basis, in cash. This enables the producer to mine coal every day the year round, practically financing his operation on the money the government turns over to him every day.

Now, a buyer wants 100 tons of hard coal. He purchased certificates for 100 tons on the open market at the prevailing price which has been determined by supply and demand, turns these certificates into the government with the amount of unit money that has been advanced on them and the government delivers 100 tons of hard coal to him from the nearest reservoir. He in turn, delivers this to your house, adding a reasonable charge to his cost for shipping and handling.

The result, in general, would be this: A ton of hard coal today costs about $6.00 at the mine—a cost which would be reduced by the steady operation allowed under the Edison plan. The allowed under the Edison plan. The average freight charge is about $2.50 a ton. The actual cost of coal should be about $10.00—which it would be under the Edison plan. But today it actually costs about $14.00 a ton, the difference being created by interest, storage charges and speculative profit.

"Coal should be stored," says Edison in concrete reservoirs sunk in the ground, 1000 feet long, 80 feet wide, 17 feet deep and kept under water, (bituminous coal deteriorates in air.) The mine owners could then give their men steady employment and produce cheaply. Supplies to all would be certain and price variations less. The storage charges would be trifling, and best of all, the mine companies would get one-half of the value of the coal in unit money without interest, to help carry the coal."

The Edison plan would be of great assistance to the farmer. At present the farmer sells his wheat because he must have money to live on. If he tries to hold it and borrow money for operation he has to pay an exorbitant rate of interest. Nine times out of ten he must sell his product when it is in marketable form. It is ordinarily bought by a speculator, held in warehouses for higher prices, and may be sold back and forth a dozen times at a profit each time before it finally reaches the hand of the manufacturer who must use it. Edison's plan would enable the farmer to hold his crop by paying a small warehouse or storage charge and without paying any interest whatever. He could live on the 50 per cent money that the government advances him and could sell the crop whenever he thought the market was right, but must sell a percentage each month.

There would necessarily be a certain amount of speculation, but it would be in the hands of the farmer, the actual producer of the material, and not in the hands of a non-productive trader who is watching the board in some brokerage office. Price fluctuations would be gradually reduced as forced sales by the producer would be practically eliminated. As a net result, the farmer would get more money for his crop and the miller would pay less for his wheat than they do today.

It is of interest to note that when Edison first began to work out this problem he said: "It seems absurd to me that all our values should be based on boxes of metal in the treasury. They are put into vaults, the vaults are locked, and immediately everyone believes that all is well. They are taken out and their contents distributed and everyone believes that all is wrong.

"Sometimes a ton or so of the gold which has been locked up in the treasury vaults is put on a steamer and sent to Europe, immediately re-shipped back to New York and business stability is brought to pass, this shuttlecock business being kept up because no one comes out, with a plan to stop such childish actions.

"It is an absurdity, but everybody has been educated to believe that this absurdity is common sense—serious and not to be controverted. Everybody believes because everybody has been educated to believe that values can be established and held stable only by the creation and maintenance of a standard based on the so-called precious metals. In reality, civilization has become too complicated for the continuance of such a system.

"What is gold's real usefulness? It makes pretty jewelry and picture frames, and is used effectively for filling teeth. Otherwise it is almost a wholly useless substance. Yet, we hold it the standard of all values!"

All that is necessary to put the Edison plan into operation is a government ruling which would name the standard prices over the 25-year period, for all basic commodities and set up the necessary machinery to receive and store the commodities. Whatever its defects, it would greatly simplify and stabilize the operation of all basic industries. It would mean all-year employment for the majority of our workers who now suffer from seasonal trends. And it would in large measure reduce the high cost of living.

While the Babson experts are still studying its ultimate effects, the plan offers much for the average citizen to think about.

Wall Street Fears Ford Will Buy Rail System

Washington.—Financial America is not only deeply interested—it is badly scared—over the prospect of Henry Ford becoming a power in the railroad world.

"There's a fortune in it for any man who is clever enough to convince Henry Ford that he should confine himself to making fivvers," said a long-time lobbyist for Wall street interests here, when reports reached Washington that Ford was in the market to buy the Wabash and Virginia railroads and hook them up in one big system with his Detroit, Toledo & Ironton road.

Wall street has several representatives in Washington these days who make it their chief business to watch and analyze every business move that Ford makes.

If they know what they are talking about, Ford also is dicker for control in the Missouri, Kansas & Texas system, connecting St. Louis, Kansas City, Oklahoma City, Joplin, Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio, Galveston and Houston.

One theory that Wall street is holding is that Ford is only bluffing.

If it will be recalled that only a few months ago, it leaked out, financial powers unfriendly to Ford had decided to encourage other makers of low priced automobiles to give Ford stiff competition.

As a retaliatory move, it is now pointed out that Ford would make things uncomfortable for the financiers generally.

A financial statement on the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton railroad has caused railroad executives to sit up and take notice.

Ford showed that his road in 1921 did a gross business of $6,453,639 as against $5,161,215 in 1920, while expenses were only $5,565,517 in 1921, as against $6,593,715 in 1920. His road closed the year 1921 with a deficit of only $530,556, as against a deficit of $2,184,835 in 1920.

Be Fair in Judging Others

Study your neighbors, and your friends, but let that study be in a spirit of fairness and impartiality.

They all have their faults, which are more often upon the surface and open to criticism.

But they also have their good qualities, which are generally under the surface, felt only by the few and unknown to the many.

Most men have more good qualities than bad ones. But the bad ones, like the skunk, command instant attention, while the good ones are passed by without notice.

When one woman tells you that another woman is "simply the limit," you have every reason to believe that she is or she isn't.

Big Men

Big men always grow in communities far from the borders of our horizon. We see their names and faces in the newspapers and magazines, but to us they are myths. We often wonder why this is, and are inclined to think that destiny has played us a cruel trick in dropping us in the center of so much mediocrity.

Go where you may and light where you will and you'll always find the same condition. Big men are a mirage whose place of abode we never reach; they are the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

Great preachers, great orators, lawyers, great heads of commercial and industrial enterprises—how we would love to walk and talk with them, if we but knew their street address or their telephone number! We might become greater ourselves if we were but privileged to rub shoulders with the big men, or sit at their feet and learn wisdom.

Now, there's Dr. Small, pastor of our local church; he went off up to Chicago to attend a convention and all the papers wrote him up and printed his picture, but pshaw! we've heard him preach and he's not so wonderful. Take this fellow Ed Pearce, the guy who used to be cashier of our local bank, he got a big job up in New York and is now president, and they say he draws a whale of a salary, but he's not so wonderful; we've known him all his life, and he's just a common everyday sort of fellow. And there's Calvin Jackson, the lawyer, went out to Frisco and made a speech and all the papers called him "a modern Demosthenes," but he's just a common garden variety sort of lawyer and we wonder how the papers could be so fooled.

A year or so ago Tom Price was called to Toledo to become manager of a manufacturing concern and the other day a New York magazine wrote him up and called him a business genius, but we know better; we used to go to school with that bird. Wait until they find him out and then watch his stock tumble!

This community has sent out several fellows who now have big jobs, but it's pure luck. We've pitched horse-shoes with them, been to parties with them, and bummed chewing tobacco from them, and we know they're not big men; they're just getting by—on their nerve, that's all. Wait for the shakedown.

This is a miserable community to live in. No big men at all; nothing but little peewees who talk about the weather and walk a block to save a penny. Sometimes they get all steamed up over something and pop off, but they can't foot us; we know 'em.

We'd like to live in a community where they grow big men!—W. D. Trotter in Southwestern Machinery.

By Way of Comparison

The total reduction in the shopcraft wage demanded by the railways a. mounted to 34 per cent. Would the saving of this 34 per cent go to the consumer?

Has rent, groceries, gas, telephone, taxes, freight and passenger rates been reduced 34 per cent? Has the salary paid useless attorneys and officers for the railways been reduced?

During the last six months of 1921 the railways slashed their employees' wages One Billion, Three Hundred Million Dollars per year. Eleven rail-way presidents receive salaries that average $78,701.97 each, per year, or $26.50 per hour for an eight hour day.

The members of the U. S. R'y. Labor Board receive $36 per day, or $10,000 per year. (Don't know if they get a "bonus" or not!)

The "loyal employees" now working in the shops are making an average of $350 per month, many of them draw over $500 for August. This was the wage and the "bonus" combined.

Do you know the truth about the General Managers Association during the war? Do you know the real reason for their American action at this time?—Railway Journal, Houston.

RED CROSS WINNING IN FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Better, Stronger Citizenry Now Emerging Out of Work in United States.

The American Red Cross as an evangelist of better health has looked its problem square in the face. How it accepted the task revealed to it in the nation's physical condition as brought out during the World War, and conscientiously applied its activities to correction forms a vivid chapter in the forthcoming annual report. Historically and practically, nursing is a basic work for the Red Cross. In its public health nursing service, in instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition classes, first aid and life saving courses and health centers, the American Red Cross is applying effectually the lessons learned during the war and making for a healthier, stronger and better nourished citizenry.

The task of the Red Cross Public Health nurse in the 1,240 nursing services now operating throughout the country instructing their communities in health essentials and disease prevention is demonstrating the possibilities of human betterment and the great benefits of enlightenment.

During the last year $13 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. In order to promote this work $30,000 was allotted to provide women to prepare themselves for public nursing. The home visits made by the 1,240 nurses aggregated nearly 1,500,000, visits to schools numbered 140,000, and in six months 1,250,000 school children were inspected by these nurses and where defects were found advised examination by physicians. In rural communities this service has made a very marked advance and has won thousands of converts to approved methods of disease prevention.

In home hygiene and care of the sick instruction, which fits the student in methods of proper care where illness is not so serious as to require professional service, the Red Cross conducted 3,894 classes during the last year, enrolled 2,356 instructors, 96,448 students and issued 42,656 certificates.

On June 30, 1922, nutrition service embraced 1,199 classes, with a total of 27,523 children and 2,589 enrolled dietitians. Seventy-eight food selection classes graduated 733 who received Red Cross certificates. In general health activities Red Cross Chapters maintained 377 health centers, serving as many communities, provided 38,701 health lectures for large audiences everywhere, while clinics numbered over 10,000.

Red Cross Gains Strength in All Foreign Fields

In insular possessions of the United States and in foreign lands the American Red Cross scored heavy gains during the last year, passing the previous membership high mark of 1918 by 4,261 and advancing the figure to 156,408. The Philippines take the lead, gaining nearly 100 per cent, now having 115,917 members. In Europe the 1921 Roll Call enrolled 11,125, with the Constantinople Chapter reporting 605, a gain of 33 members, China was 1,782 members, a gain of 596; the little Virgin Islands have 1,000, while the Dominican Republic with 2,927 advanced from its previous high mark by 1,423 new members. Haiti, organized in 1920, now has nearly 1,000 enrolled. Mexico reports 354, a gain of 327 in one year. The American Red Cross has spread its membership over some 70 foreign lands and its Junior membership outside of the United States is close to 700,000.

Red Cross Water First Aid Makes Life-Saving Gain

More than 326 Chapters engaged in life saving or water first aid last year with the result that the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps has set a new high mark for enrollment and the number of qualified life savers developed. The influence of "learn to swim week" in many localities is reducing the water fatalities through instruction and the wider dissemination of resuscitation methods demonstrated by the Red Cross representatives. Excellent work has been done in teaching a large part of the American population how to take care of itself in the water. Growing appreciation for this Red Cross Life-Saving Service is shown by the compulsory instruction adopted in many cities for members of the police and fire departments in the prone pressure method of resuscitation.

Help to Help Others—You can't "give until it hurts"—for giving an American dollar to join the American Red Cross helps you to help others who are hurt and who need relief.

When the Reader Kicks!

My father says the paper he reads ain't put up right;
He finds a lot of fault, too, he does, perusin' it all night;
He says that there ain't a single thing in it worth to read,
And that it doesn't print the kind of stuff the people need;
He tosses it aside and says it's strictly on the bum,
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.
He reads about the weddin's and he snorts like all get out;
He reads the social doin's with a most derisive shout.
He says they make the papers for the women folks alone;
He'll read about the parties and he'll fume and fret and groan;
He says of information it doesn't have a crumb—
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.
He is always first to grab it and he reads it plumb clean through.
He doesn't miss an item, or a want add—that is true;
He says they don't know what we want, the darn newspaper guys.
I'm going to take a day sometime and go and put 'em wise;
Sometimes it seems as though they must be deaf and blind and dumb—
But you ought to hear him holler when the paper doesn't come.

"The Postoffice Rule Delays Delivery on Weeklies."

The Postoffice Department at Washington has established throughout the country certain terminal offices to which the weekly papers are sent, instead of being sorted on the railway mail trains. By this rule and by this action, the weekly papers are delayed in the delivery thereof from twelve to forty eight hours. The weekly papers carry the same postal rate as dailies. Why should there be a discrimination? There is not any just reason therefor—just an arbitrary rule of the Postal Department.

Every reader of a weekly paper should protest to his Congressman and Senator respectively, against such discrimination in the delivery of weekly papers. It is just as essential that a weekly paper be delivered promptly after it is published, as it is that a daily be thus delivered. The said rule of the Postal Department will be changed if the proper pressure is brought to bear. It is up to you as a reader of the weekly to do your part. Write your Senator and Congressman today.

Keep Your Promises

If a man promises to pay you a certain bill on a certain date you expect him to keep his promise.
If he fails to pay his credit is impaired, your confidence in his good intentions is shaken, and your respect for him is in a measure destroyed.
And all for one little broken promise!
It requires many years of correct living to build up a reputation of value.
One false step may destroy it.
Look before you step, and THINK BEFORE YOU PROMISE.
It is better to do your duty than to explain why you didn't.

Character in Conservatism

The conservative man is not necessarily an unprogressive, cautious or timid man. The conservative man usually is thoughtful and intelligent, refusing to follow will-o'-wisp ideas of foolish or scheming leaders.

Summed up, the character of conservatism is caution without timidity and a sincere respect for the world's experiences.

This bank reflects an individuality of conservatism. It is a safe, sane and serviceable institution for you to profit through. Whether it be deposits, checking, investments or loans, you will be glad of making this bank your bank.

School to Save Human Life

Flat dwellers in New York are now to be blessed in the erection of a bacteriology building in which the public will be shown how to prevent disease.

A museum with models will demonstrate how to eradicate rats and flies, how to ditch to do away with malarial mosquitoes, and how to indulge in home pasteurizing of milk. Also the sanitary handling of food and the proper kind of plumbing that should be installed in the public safety will be shown.

they would spend some of the public money for the preservation of the public health.

New York has the advantage of a great concentration of medical skill that does not exist in the country, but the principles of health conservation apply alike in all districts.

Why cannot the national and state health departments educate the people to health preservation through officially advertised instructions and talks to the people signed by the proper authorities.

The newspaper is the vehicle to spread this knowledge.

We have said this before, but sometimes it take a surgical operation to get an idea into the head of the government.

West Virginia moonshiners are said to be using skunks to outwit the revenue officers. The scent of the skunk obliterates that of the hooch, and officers are unable to locate the stills. Of course, if an odoriferous animal happens to fall into the mash it only serves to increase the flavor of the forbidden beverage.

Farming Land For Sale
2500 acres fine agricultural land in Dawson County, Texas, is to be placed on the market. The land is all tillable and close to good school and church. Will sell in any size tracts from 100 acres up. Price $20 to $30 bonus $2 due the State.
No cash is needed if you have property elsewhere as I will accept deed of trust on real estate or other property as first payment; and you can pay balance in nine equal annual installments. This is some of the finest farming land in Texas and it will pay you to investigate if you want to own a home in the West. Come, write or wire.

I also own 8,000 acres in Gaines County which I will sell on the same terms, but at a lower price. Address all inquiries to A. L. WASSON, Big Spring, Texas.—Advertisement.

To Make Goat Meat Popular
Why buy 8 oz. boxes of Shaver's Sawdust Slaw that have been languishing at the mercy of mice, on the shelves of your enterprising grocer after a hilarious hike at flatulent freight rates from a fruitful factory far from the field where faithful farming failed to find fair fate for furnishing the feed to fill Mr. Shaver's fancy folders with food for foolish folk, who fain would fritter away their fortunes at 50 cents per fritter while choice chevon, delicious and nutritious, grows pure as the mountain dew in every shady nook or sunny vale hospitable enough to entertain the frisky goat, and can be had at about 4 cents for each 8 ozs. and is known to nourish more stalwart men than sawdust food can ever claim?

Mrs. Northington Entertains
Last Friday afternoon Mrs. John Northington entertained a large number of her friends at Rook. Nine tables took part in the many games played, and everyone had a delightful time. The entire home was decorated in honor of Armistice Day with most appropriate design. Flags and patriotic symbols were in evidence everywhere, the color scheme extending even to the favors of red and white chrysanthemums for each guest that adorned the plates, when the delicious salad course was served. Mrs. Northington was assisted in entertaining by her mother Mrs. Stockton, who most graciously received the guests upon entrance, and by her charming daughter, Elizabeth, whose patriotic costume was extremely fitting and becoming. High score was made by the following quartet of good players: Mesdames Talbot, Leeper, Menger, and McDowell. Everyone enjoyed the beautiful Armistice party, and expressed their pleasure to each other as well as to their hospitable hostess as they reluctantly left at the close of the entertainment.

"Gossip Stitch" Club is Entertained
On Friday night, November 3, the members of the "Gossip Stitch" club and a few young men were entertained at the home of Mrs. Benson with a dance. A most delightful time was enjoyed by those present. Good music made everyone anxious to dance. Delicious refreshments were served.
At a late hour "Home Sweet Home" was played much to the sorrow of the dancers. Reporter.

An Excursion
The members of the J. A. Z. Z. took advantage of the half holiday given November 10th. At one-thirty the crowd assembled at the regular meeting place and started on a hike. They "hiked" about four miles and as they were rather hungry, a regular meal was provided for. The remainder of the afternoon was spent taking pictures and doing many lively stunts. The tired, but happy girls, arrived at the "old homestead" toward nightfall, and the day was pronounced a success.

On Saturday morning, it was decided that they go on a "cotton picking" expedition. About daylight they started for the cotton patch. A few of the girls were quite successful in the fact that their weights were increasing (?) so greatly that they were compelled to quit. The owner could not possibly keep up with the amount of cotton picked.

This is only the beginning of the good times that the J. A. Z. Z. has planned. In spite of the fact that cold weather is coming, we will be as lively as ever.
What a jolly crowd are we!

Forty Two Party
Last Friday evening the Endeavorers met at the home of Oma Maxfield. I wonder if you would like to know why. You do? Well you certainly missed a dandy good time if you didn't go. To begin at the first it was a party. When we arrived, we found six tables well loaded with dominoes, a pretty good thing to play "42" with. And if you'll listen to me they were speedily put to use.
We played many interesting, funny, slow and otherwise games of 42 after which delicious cake and chocolate were served.

You know Endeavorers are always happy and a happy person usually sings, so a natural culmination of such a good time was a sing song. Old songs, new songs and everything we knew we sang. But the hour began to grow late and the next day was Saturday so I don't need to tell you the party broke up. We smilingly told Oma what a lovely evening we had spent but inwardly sighed that it didn't happen oftener. Reporter.

GATES TIRES

The Tires with the Wider and Thicker Tread

What Do You Gain—

- by buying a cord tire because of the extra miles in its carcass.
- unless you get the cord tire that has extra miles in its tread, too?
- Surely a long wearing carcass ought to have a longer wearing rubber tread to match it.
- That's why more motorists every day are buying Gates Super-Tread Cords. They have the wider and thicker rubber tread.

An Endeavorer's Letter
Big Spring, Texas, Nov. 14, 1922.
Dear Sarah:
I hope you won't think me mean because I waited so long to answer your last letter, for I am sure you will excuse me and say I was just right. I have been so very busy with my Endeavor work. I'll tell you it is no little job either. Sometimes I wonder what the reward for service will be. I do get so provoked sometimes, it seems as though the most of the Endeavor don't care for anything but the good times and parties. It seems as if they care nothing for the spiritual side of the work. But deep down in my soul a voice seems to say "Don't get angry at them, because perhaps they are not as consecrated to the work as you are, for God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform," and the ones you get so provoked with today may be the great men and women of tomorrow; only do the best you can and let your light shine that other's seeing your good work may glorify your Father which is in Heaven."

And you know I seem to see things differently. I cease expecting them to be perfect in all things and see the wonderful work which they are doing. You will remember that I told you sometime ago that we hadn't had a pastor since about the first of June and we haven't gotten one yet. But the Endeavorers haven't waited for a pastor. For the past five months they have been working like trojans to keep the good work going. We have as president a girl who is trying her best to keep our society up to where we won't be ashamed to compare our society with any other in the State of Texas. She is by her earnest and consecrated effort doing more to inspire us to work than six months preaching would do with no example. And Sarah, you know that certainly does count. She never seems to be angry, but always has a smile and a cheery word for others. She is, in fact, my conception of a true Endeavorer.

It seems as though I am writing you an Endeavor letter so I'll just make it one. I think it does us good once in a while to lay aside our foolishness and tackle the serious side of life, don't you? As I have been telling you our society has been swimming along real smoothly with a few rough places now and then. We have approximately a membership of thirty with an average attendance of 20 and 25 every Sunday. That isn't so bad I don't think. We have real interesting programs every Sunday evening. Of course some subjects are, naturally more interesting than others, but for the last two months the subjects have been exceedingly interesting. Here of late we have had quite a good many visitors, and quite a few new members. I wish you would come over some time to our meeting and see for yourself all that we are doing for you know I was never known to be a silver tongued orator nor a great writer, and there is so much that I could show you that I can't write. Oh! I have it. You come over Friday and spend the week end with me. Every Friday we have choir practice and a twenty minute lesson on expert Endeavor. We surely do get lots of good points from these lessons. When we finish we are going to take an examination. If we pass we will be Expert Endeavorers. Say, why don't you get your society to take that course up. I'm sure you will get lots and lots of good out of it. But the main thing I want you to come for is our Sunday night service. Our subject for that night is "How we can help Home Mission work." We are to have several interesting talks and all together I'm sure it is going to be an interesting program. That reminds me I'm on the program myself. Well, it won't hurt you to come and hear your old friend stammer and stutter around a bit. After our program is over we are going over to Coahoma to meet with the society there. They have only been organized about three Sundays I think so you see they are rather weak in proportion to us. So we are going to be their "Big Sister Society" and help them to avoid the pitfalls which we fell into. The Coahoma society also has another big sister in the society from Midland. Big Spring and Midland will have charge of most of the program. I surely wish you could come. If you can, answer this by return mail and come on. I'll introduce you to our President and what I have left unsaid I'm sure she will tell you, for with her Endeavor is always first. I wish we had more in this world like her, don't you?

Well I must close but surely hope to see you Friday.
Lots of love,
Martha L.

Twenty Years From Now
What does the future hold for us as a nation?
Within the next twenty years, there is a radical change better in the relations of capital, we will be torn by disensions, if not protracted civil war. Present conditions endure forever.
If the smoldering discontent prevalent breaks out into fire, will leave us a nation of wretched self inflicted wounds.
That will be the psychological for a foreign nation grudge to launch an invasion with every hope of definite.
The animosity between capital must be removed in a just manner, for the persons of both sides and of the people in between.
It is more profitable to plan the future than to lament the past.

A Citizen's Creed
"I will not criticize my neighbors, commercial organizations, schools or any part of myself, have spent as much thought and effort to make as has the best citizen in the community and for our people.
"But criticism, with motive to offer, becomes penetrating destructive. It breeds discontent conditions that are suffering any means of correction.
"The next time you feel like criticizing those in authority, be enough and fair enough so that criticism until you are satisfied to suggest a suitable course.
"You may not speak at all."
