More Than 130 Bales Received

Up to Thursday afternoon more than one hundred and thirty bales of cotton had been unloaded on the compress platform in this city. About fifty bales came in during Thursday. Cotton was bringing twenty-four cents middling basis on that date.

Cotton can be expected to continue to roll in at an increasing rate from now on. Pickers are already in demand and there will be a scramble to secure them before the last of this month.

Home Destroyed by Fire

A residence near the power plant of the West Texas Electric Co. was destroyed by fire about 9 o'clock last Sunday night. This was the property of E. H. Phillips, and in addition to losing his home he lost all household furnishings, clothing, etc. It is supposed that the fire started from a lamp exploding as Mr. and Mrs. Phillips had not been long away from their home when it was a mass of flames.

To Open Cotton Exchange Here

J. S. Coyle of New Orleans, La., is here to superintend the opening of a cotton exchange in Big Spring. This exchange will be owned by Jess Taylor & Co. of Fort Worth and will occupy a room upstairs in the West Texas National Bank Building.

The Postal Telegraph Co. has installed pony wire to the exchange and they will get the latest quotations direct from H. B. Beer and Co. of New Orleans.

To Install Vulcanizing Plant

A modern vulcanizing plant is to be installed by the proprietors of the Slaughter Filling Station in the building adjoining the filling station on the west. The machinery for this plant has been ordered and they expect to begin operations just as soon as the machinery is installed.

They will be equipped to make repairs on all styles and sizes of tires and tubes.

American Legion Dance

Nearly one hundred couples, many visitors from adjacent counties, thoroughly enjoyed the big platform dance given in this city Monday night under the auspices of the American Legion. Music was furnished by the Bob Miller orchestra. An extra large number of spectators encircled the platform to watch the dancers.

Ladies Baseball Game

The ladies are to battle on the diamond at the baseball park in this city, this evening, Friday, September 5th at 8:15 o'clock, the proceeds to go to the building fund of the Methodist Church.

A large crowd should turn out to witness this interesting contest.

Miss Margaret Weisen of Fort Worth arrived Sunday for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Weisen.

GREEN VALLEY ENTERTAINS

Big Crowd Enjoys Goodwill Barbecue and Picnic at Lucas Ranch Wednesday, September 3.

One of the most delightful occasions ever given in our county was the picnic and barbecue given at the Lucas ranch, in the eastern part of the county by the citizens of the Green Valley community, Wednesday, Sept. 3rd. This was in the nature of a get-together meeting for the laying aside of the bitterness of the late political contest and the promoting of a spirit of goodwill and cooperation among the citizenship. It is estimated that from twelve to fifteen hundred people from all parts of Howard, Mitchell and adjoining counties were in attendance, and a jollier or more congenial company could not have been found anywhere.

The barbecue dinner served at the noon hour was undoubtedly one of the finest we ever enjoyed. The meat was cooked just right, but this was to be expected as Jim McKinney was in charge of that part of the work. After we had partaken of enough fine meat, bread and gravy for two hard working men, they proceeded to find pies and cakes galore to share with us, and boy, we sure did eat heavy. Plenty of coffee, lemonade, and other cold drinks were to be had. We want to compliment the men and women of the Green Valley community for the fine dinner, for it was one of the best ever, and they had enough left to feed almost as many more. Another fine thing noted was that every visitor was served before the home-folks ate. T. and Sam Joiner, J. H. Sullivan, Pat Sullivan, Messrs McMinn, McKinney, Roberts, Madison and others, assisted by good women, saw to it that everyone had plenty of the best of everything to eat.

Following the dinner, music by a Mexican orchestra was very much enjoyed by the crowd, as were also fine talks by G. B. Cunningham, Judge W. P. Leslie and Uncle Tom Morrison.

Mr. Cunningham stressed the importance of forgetting the strife and turmoil in the recent political campaign and the renewing of old time friendship and confidence. He pointed out that it was far more important that we have good will and harmony and cooperation among friends and neighbors rather than have any particular candidate as president, governor or local. He praised the Green Valley folks for their splendid hospitality and the fine fellowship that was everywhere in evidence. Judge Leslie also made a fine speech along the same line. He complimented the citizenship of Howard County for their outstanding loyalty towards law enforcement; as this has been noted by him the past sixteen years, and has ever been an inspiration for him in his labors. He likened the office of Judge to that of an umpire, and pointed out that the courts should retain the confidence of the citizenship so even the very humblest could always feel that he could expect justice when he took his troubles there for settlement. In commenting on the crime and lawlessness that seems to be increasing, he placed the blame more on the home than anywhere else. He said when fathers and mothers got back to the old way of teaching their children to obey, to practice the teachings of the Golden Rule there will be less of crime in this land of ours and there will be less misery. He said when the homes, the churches and the schools do their part we will soon enter an era similar to that of the past when a man's word was as good as his bond—but it was in the home where the reformation must begin. He added furthermore that each man must regulate his own home before he attempts to regulate that of his neighbor. He especially stressed the need of harmony, cooperation and good will among the citizenship of each and every community and praised the Green Valley people for making a step in the right direction.

Uncle Tom Morrison of Colorado was called upon for a short talk and he made a dandy. Mr. Morrison, who is a native Texan, and more than seventy-two years of age, is a great admirer of "Ma" Ferguson and his speech was mainly in praise of that good woman. He made the prediction that she was going to make the greatest governor Texas has ever had, for she is going to accept the advice and counsel of the greatest statesmen we have in Texas.

Following the speeches the crowd went to an open tract where horse racing, goat roping, bronc busting and wild mule riding were staged for the entertainment of the big crowd.

At the close of the rodeo program, about five o'clock, many started on their way homeward, but many remained for the enjoyable platform dance which was arranged at the picnic grounds known as Ma's Park.

The citizens of Green Valley went to considerable trouble and work to entertain on this occasion, and see that everyone had an enjoyable time, but the success of the occasion was due to their trouble.

Another Ball Game Sunday

The Stokes Motor Company baseball team have been accused of acting "chesty" since they have been winning so many ball games, so the T. & P. office force have organized a team to take some of the conceit out of the bunch.

This game will be played at the baseball park in this city next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

It's going to be a stem-winder as the T. & P. players agree to bet their last month's pay check that they can take the measure of the Stokes Motor crew.

The proceeds of this game will be donated to the Athletic Fund of the Big Spring High School—and especially to aid the High School football team.

Come out to this game and help a worthy cause and bring someone with you. Your presence will be appreciated.

Let's back up our schools and encourage athletics. Here's for a winning football team this year.

Developing a New Grain

Duke Lipscomb on the Lawrence Simpson farm in the Lees community brought to The Herald office Monday samples of a new grain they are developing in that section. These were exceptionally large heads of grain—a cross between maize and feterita. It has a tendency to sucker out and is very prolific. Last year Mr. Simpson secured fifty-four heads of grain from one stalk; and on most every stalk ten to twenty heads of grain are produced. This new grain crop under favorable conditions will produce from two to five tons of grain per acre. It is also a natural drought resister and will make good when maize and other crops fail. Samples of this grain are now on display at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

Our School Has High Rating

The Big Spring High School is rated as one of the eleven best High schools in Texas by the Associated Colleges of All Southern States. The other schools are Ball High School of Galveston, Belton, Cisco, Denison, Fort Worth, McAllen, Palestine, Port Arthur, Uvalde and Heights High School of Houston. These schools are graded principally upon the standing of the faculty and the number of students assigned each teacher.

With more than thirty credits for the Big Spring High, her graduates may not only enter any college or university in Texas without examination, but may also enter any College in the United States.

A Fishes' Fishing Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Eason and daughter, Maude, and Mr. and Mrs. Seth Pike returned Monday night from a fishing trip on the Pecos, below Grand Falls. Sam had painted rosy pictures to Mr. Pike as to the number of fine fish they were going to catch and since they failed to get even a "nibble" during their two days on the river Seth is wondering whether the joke is on him or Sam.

It's mighty tough to run into such luck when you have your face all primed for a mess of fish and have to substitute bacon.

Band Leader Arrives

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Kittinger arrived last Saturday from Memphis, Texas to make their future home in Big Spring.

Mr. Kittinger has accepted the position of director of the Big Spring Band and will begin upon his duties at once. Mr. Kittinger is a capable band leader and we should aid and encourage him in every way.

"FAT BOYS" MOP-UP IN LABOR DAY GAME

Big Crowd Present Monday to Witness the Fastest (?) Game of the Closing Season

Between five and six hundred folks were present at the ball park, Monday afternoon to witness the baseball game between the Fats and the Leans.

This game was staged under the auspices of the Eiks, the proceeds to go to the High School football team.

If you don't believe it was some game ask anyone who witnessed it; and if anyone failed to get his money's worth we have not heard of same. It was a game for blood, and both sides strained every nerve, and then some, to defeat the opposition.

The Fats completely overturned the dope by winning in easy fashion to the tune of 17 to 11. The Leans however complain of a forfeiture, as the Fats quit cold in the last half of the ninth inning when they had three men on bases and no outs. They demand a return engagement.

Fearing darkness the game was called a little ahead of time and was in good headway when the band arrived to cheer the players and entertain the crowd between innings.

Here's the way the warriors were arrayed in battle: Fats: A. J. Gallimore, pitcher; P. G. Stokes, first base; John Price, second; George Hatch, short stop; Valentine Day, third; Joe Fisher, left field; Dr. M. H. Bennett, center field; Bernard Fisher, right field. The following pinch hitters and relief men were injected after the fourth inning: W. W. Inkman, 3rd; J. M. Morgan, pitcher; Bill Battle, pitcher; Jack Smith, Felton Smith. Preacher True caught for both sides, and was later relieved by Monroe Williams, Swan and Rutherford.

The Lean line-up was as follows: Repps Guitar, pitcher; Edmund Price, 1st base; Eb Hatch, 2nd; N. C. Bennett, short stop; E. E. Fahrenkamp, 3rd; E. O. Ellington, left field; Eck Lovelace, center field; Victor Mellinger, right field. Pinch hitters, extra pitchers, etc., were Kin Barnett, P. K. Williams, Frank Hefley, Shorty Madison and Jess Slaughter.

The Slim Jims started out like a house afire, making two scores in their half of the first inning; but from then on they showed a tendency to weaken in the pinches, while the Heavyweights seemed to gain momentum as the game progressed.

The Big Boys leaned heavy on their bats and swatted the horsehide with a vengeance. They claim they had to knock the ball high, wide and handsome in order to navigate to first base.

The outstanding players were Victor Mellinger, George Hatch and Dr. Ellington. Because he was suspected of being a protegee of John McGraw, and an ex-New York Giant, Vic was pulled after the second inning. George Hatch was the Babe Ruth of the contest—with a one hundred per cent record as shortstop, and a record of five times up and getting on base four times. George also proved to be the champion base stealer; and he surely used his head when he walked into a slow ball so he could walk to first, and win a side bet of fifty cents that he was going to get to first. Dr. Ellington in addition to distinguishing himself at nailing fly balls and starring at the bat, won all the laurels for hook slides on bases. Mack Sennett's bathing beauties couldn't hold a candle to Doc when he made a headlong dive for a base, and basemen soon learned to give him the right of way. P. G. Stokes, who played a perfect game at first base, and also slung a mean bat, lost out when he tried to copy Doc Ellington's stuff in stealing home.

Repps Guitar, pitching for the Leans and A. J. Gallimore for the Fats, staged a regular pitcher's battle with Gallimore having the best of the breaks. Repps thinks Gallimore had the umpire "cowed," or "buled," he didn't know which. Dr. Bennett showed streaks of big league stuff—especially at bat, and Val Day, Joe and Bernard Fisher, P. K. Williams, W. W. Inkman, Bill Battle, Eck Lovelace, John Price, Eb Hatch and Jack Smith pulled stuff they used to show twenty-odd years ago. E. E. Fahrenkamp made the home run of the game when he stretched a two-base hit to four bases.

In Edmund Price on first, Eb Hatch on second, E. E. Fahrenkamp on third and N. C. Bennett at short, the Leans appeared to have an air tight infield, but the Fats punctured it everytime they slammed the ball. The pinch hitters Felton Smith, Shorty Madison, Frankie Rutherford et al proved to be fizzles as they hit nothing but atmosphere.

From all accounts everybody had a jolly good time and in the neighborhood of one hundred dollars was secured for the High School football team.

Here's hoping the Fats will have nerve enough to accept the Lean's challenge for another game.

Rushing Work on Compress

Within the next two weeks the Big Spring compress should be ready for business as the work of installing the machinery and building platform and warehouse is being rushed, and as rapidly as material arrives.

The big press was set in place last Saturday and the other machinery is now being connected up. A force of twenty men has been on the job the past two weeks.

The warehouse is to be 600 feet by 258 feet which should be ample to handle all the cotton brought here—especially so since most of it is shipped as soon as it has been compressed.

Public Weigher T. W. Angel, has moved his place to the compress so that the compress platform can be used as a cotton yard. This will prove a big help in many ways; it will eliminate the former yardage cost of fifty-five cents; thereby saving the grower this amount on each bale and the cotton is protected against weather damage, as it will be under a roof at the compress.

The securing of this big compress is going to prove a mighty good thing for Big Spring.

Deason and Mims Form Partnership.

L. A. Deason and G. W. Mims have entered into a partnership to engage in the insurance business. They will handle fire, life, accident and other lines of insurance. They have opened an office in the West Texas National Bank building and are now ready to talk business with any and everyone interested in insurance.

Messrs Deason and Mims are well known and responsible young men, who grew to manhood in this city and who merit the confidence and esteem of all who know them. They are going to do their dead level best to merit your patronage, and will carefully and conscientiously look after all business entrusted to them.

Cotton Yard Now at Compress

Public Weigher T. W. Angel is now located at the Big Spring Compress and Warehouse which will be used as a cotton yard this season. By using same he is able to save the growers the former yardage charge of fifty-five cents per bale and keep the cotton protected from weather damage.

The cotton can be stored in the warehouse of the Big Spring Compress and Warehouse Co. under this arrangement for thirty days without cost to the grower. After thirty days a charge of one cent per day will be made.

Fine Peaches From Childress Ranch.

Sam Childress of the Konnahasset section on last Friday and Monday brought to this city some of the largest peaches we have ever seen. And they were just as fine as they were large as we have never tasted peaches of a finer flavor.

Two different varieties were brought in—some from trees growing around a tank and the other from trees that had no irrigation. The majority of these trees were planted by Mr. Childress' father at the old home place on the Sterling City road about twenty-five miles southeast of Big Spring.

Closes Successful Season

Quite a few Big Spring folks motored to Midland last Friday afternoon to witness the baseball games between the Midland Colts and the Cavalry team from Fort Bliss. The army team won the first game by a score of 7 to 2 while the Colts took the five inning game by a score of 9 to 2.

These were the last games of the season for the Midland Colts—and this team has had a most successful season.

It is amazing how much one may learn about so common a thing as a kitchen range. One gets this feeling to the fullest extent while listening to the factory expert, located at the store of Rix Furniture and Undertaking Co. all this week, as he explains the manufacture and use of the Great Majestic Range. During the week of the demonstration each purchaser is given his choice of two fine sets of cooking utensils absolutely free with each range.—advertisement.

Back to School and Work

Good-bye swimming hole, good-bye beach, good-bye woods, good-bye hills and valleys, flowers, birds and fishes! The school bell has rung. The vacation season is over. Business again as usual. Vigor renewed, new rest, new appetite, new interest, new vision, new life! The surging blood reddens the tanned cheek and vigorous health sparkles in the eye. How good God is! The God of Nature! The Master Artist and Architect! What a joyful thing life is with health and vigor tingling in every nerve and sinew! How precious is health! How we value it when it is gone! Next to a knowledge of sins forgiven and the peace of God filling the soul, a healthy body is perhaps God's greatest gift to man. But it is not given to be thrown away on chasing the butterflies of pleasure, selfish gratification of appetite, or the breaking of God's laws. In the parable of the talents, bodily health no doubt stood high among the talents given to the servants. How many intelligent and religious people are comparable with the wicked and slothful servant so far as the talent of health is concerned. Most ill health and sickness occur as a result of wicked, slothful neglect of the laws of health and sanitation. Much sickness comes from the mind being filled with fear, suspicion, hatred, envy, jealousy, worry and listlessness. All these are poisons to the mind, body and soul. The greatest source of good health, buoyant spirits, clear complexion and attractive personality, is a clear conscience, a heart filled with love to God and man and a determination to make the chief aim in life practical, unselfish service. Another source of good health is hard work—physical, mental and spiritual. Notice that it was through sloth, indolence and laziness that the one talent was lost. Some people are just too lazy to live. Another source of health and happiness is the simple life. The complicated artificiality of modern civilization is killing the human machine. Eat to live, not live to eat. Clothe for comfort and utility, not for style and self-glorification. Simple life induces happy life, healthy life, useful life, long life. In the matter of results attained the person with one health talent often outstrips the one with five health talents, by care, conservation and common sense.—The War Cry.

Brotherhood

If I can feel sympathy—feel it within and without—then the dew falls and the desert begins to blossom. By sympathy I do not mean merely a fellowship in sorrow, but also, and no less truly, a fellowship in joy—a feeling for which we ought to have an English word. To be glad when your brother men are prosperous and happy, to rejoice in their success, to cheer for their victories; to be compassionate and pitiful when your brother men are distressed and miserable, to grieve over their failures, to help them in their troubles—this is the fraternal spirit which blesses him who exercises it, and those toward whom it is exercised.—Henry Van Dyke.

Blanton Scores Love

Editor Star-Telegram: Loyal Democrats can not follow the strange doctrine now preached by Tom Love. He may be able to go into a Democratic primary and take a solemn pledge to support the nominee and then repudiate his pledge, but other Democrats can not square such action with their consciences. Two wrongs never yet made a right. Because somebody else has broken a pledge is no excuse for a general repudiation of all pledges.

I have never yet supported Jim Ferguson. I voted for Lynch Davidson in the first primary. I did not vote for Mrs. Ferguson in the second.

But I am a Democrat, I believe in the Democratic party. It must be preserved for the protection of the American people. Pledges made to it by Democrats are sacred, and should be kept. When Tom Love and other Democrats voted July 26, 1924, they then knew that Mrs. Ferguson was a candidate, and that her nomination for Governor was possible. They then knew everything about her and Jim Ferguson that they know now. With such knowledge they took a solemn pledge that they would support the nominee. When they voted on Aug. 23, 1924, they then knew that Mrs. Ferguson might be the nominee. Knowing same, they again took a solemn pledge that they would support such nominee. I intend to keep my pledge. Over 700,000 Democrats voiced their preference. The party by 100,000 majority handed down to us Democrats its mandate. I intend to obey it. Let all of us Democrats get behind and back our nominee and help her execute an honest, business administration.

Fire Hazards

A man lost his life fighting a grass fire near San Antonio the other day. A careless smoker had flipped away a match without regard for the combustible nature of the ground vegetation. Thousands of acres of forest land in California were denuded, hundreds of cottages destroyed, and the priceless forest of great trees threatened by a fire which was started by sparks from a camper's fire left behind unextinguished. Fire is an ever present danger in the Southwest during the latter Summer and Fall. The result of a tiny act of carelessness or thoughtlessness may be huge property loss and perhaps loss of life.

Grass fires in cities may be just as destructive on a more limited scale. The householder who sets out to burn off the dead weeds and grass on the vacant lot next door may end by gazing upon his home or his neighbors in ashes. Extreme care should be employed in such work. Call the fire department first for instructions and help. It is better to be safe than sorry.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

STONE'S BOTTLING WORKS.

That the necessity of war a living is a curse and not a fallacy that it is hard. But work is not only the life body, but the builder up of the Service is the big business its fruit is more refreshing to other. There must be strength in business as well as in the of armies, and an even wider of skill is called for in industry than in conducting campaigns. There is no time in the march of industry there is in an army; no halting wayside. Industry must advance or retreat; it can main still. The gaps in it must at once be filled or it would perish. To fill these bition falls like a dew on the ing enterprise and so vivifies a robust plant takes the that which has withered for nourishment.—Henry Ford.

Politics and Religion Will Mix

It is an old stereotype saying that religion and politics won't mix, but that's an error, they sure will mix, and by the way, it takes a mighty wee little bit of politics to spoil a good case of religion. O yes, religion and politics will mix, but God have mercy on a case of religion that politics has walloped around in the sloughs and filth for just a little while. Religion is a thing apart from any other calling, we are talking now of the teacher, one whose profession is to teach and be a leader in the spiritual realm, he can't even tamper with business, for when he becomes enmeshed in things financial, dollars, profits, stocks and bonds, buy and sell and bargain, why he has got to get down off that high pedestal in the spiritual realm, hence, he gets out of touch with things divine. For instance, did you ever know of a great and successful divine who engaged in mercantile, banking or manufacturing business, swapped horses, sold insurance or real estate? We have known of many who used the clergy's cloth to get business, but that class of Christian teachers are not enrolled in the book of greatness, they are just traffic mongers. We used to have the habit of letting a bucket of milk down in the well or cistern to keep same cool, and that was in the days before refrigerators and artificial ice. This cooling process worked all right until by me by, some days the lid would come off the bucket, and same would dip, and thereby some milk would be spilled in the well, a pint or a quart, but however small the amount, why a good well or cistern is ruined. Yes, a quart of sweet milk spilled in forty barrels of water, and you have got to do the baling act. Same way about religion, old fashion kind, and just spill a little bit of politics in the vessel and pretty soon, fermentation sets up and leavens the whole. Religion and politics are right opposite each other, and when you house them together, pretty soon there is a family row, and in the rough and tumble for supremacy, both are injured but take it from us, religion gets the bad end of the deal. No, the office of the Christian teacher is in the realm of spiritual things, yes, his calling is up above that of any office, stands apart from the herd, that fights and squabbles for profits, dollars, office and political emoluments. Because down in the marts of trade and in the political ring, there's hatred, jealousy, envy. And say folks we want to stop here just long enough to say that political hatred is the most venomous hatred in the world, and bring down the Angels from Heaven, and just let them engage in one political campaign, and they sure will get their angelic garments stained. The saying is, and has been for the past fifteen years, O yes, we want to mix some religion with politics and clean things up. Well how about it folks? Have we helped the matter? We have had them both in the public churn for several years, and hitting the stuff with the dasher of hatred and vituperation, and now how about the products of this conglomerate whole? Have we any better officers, is politics cleaner, and what about our spiritual business, is that on a higher plane? Not many moons ago it was our pleasure to know an eloquent Christian teacher, young and vigorous and ambitious and spiritual and occupied a place high in his calling, and his pews were always crowded with eager listeners. But finally he decided that the political affairs of his state needed a religious mixture to save it from destruction. And so this teacher got out on the stump and in the political corral, challenging the opposition for joint discussions, and he became a star actor, and his followers slapped him on the shoulder and backed him up in his new position of endeavors, yes, they had the political spirit of their spiritual adviser, and they cried, "lay it on 'em, McDuff." Well under the cover of a good case of religion, all that hatred and venom, jealousy and rag time slang developed and came to a head in this particular teacher, and my how he could skin 'em. And say folks, we all have this bad nature in us, but religion, faith and love, covers it over, hides it, and the flame dies, less it be kindled. And so this teacher took a decoction of politics and poured it into a decoction of religion, yes, his purpose was to mix the two and clean up politics, but the two would not blend, hence, there was a shipwreck, and politics rode on top deck. Now the last time we knew of this teacher, he was selling fraternal life insurance out in the country side, and every once in a while he would get a call to do a little spiritual teaching out in the rural districts. Yes, he had mixed religion and politics, yes, chose a political rudy horse instead of the grace of God, had lost his job, and to this good day that fellow has not waked up to the fact that he played his cards wrong. Go into your

Speaking of Banks
A group of men were sitting about the big air-tight heater in the general merchandise store of Grandpa Hibbs. Haze Lynn elevated his feet and spat into the coal scuttle as he volunteered this bit of information. "Guess Si Slater's bank is in pretty bad condition—'bout to fail."
"How so?" inquired Grandpa, pausing in the distribution of the mail.
"Well," said Haze, "I seen a check Frank Bovee wrote for $2. It was returned, marked 'No funds.' Now a bank that ain't able to cash a check for $2 must be pretty nigh busted."
"That's so," agree the rest of the loafers."—Forbes Magazine.

A Negro's Tribute to Wilson
One of the finest tributes to the late President Wilson, one which will not be forgotten at the time of his death, was delivered at Caldwell County, at a patriotic meeting, May 12, 1917, after we entered the world war. It was delivered by J. D. D., President of the Caldwell County College at Brenham, Texas, and is as follows:
"There has arisen upon the history the names of Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln—and they have eclipsed the effulgent satellites of history. The sun until the sun grows weary of other name—a name that to rally the nations of this hour of darkness, calamity, and jealousy, and love of power seek to our banner the stars and name has arisen and shone the stormclouds of war and noonday sun. Like a pillar by night and a pillar of day it has come to guide and nation's cause. In the span the lapse of history, like the North star shall set, but spreading over earth, shall be uttered by gauges belonging to tribes of men, and will forever be adorned with affectionate gratitude every one in whose breast throbs to the sacred freedom and liberty."
"It shall be said of those who have the full measure of devotion to the cause for which Wilson, Jefferson and Lincoln died, that the world might have a new birth and that government of the people and for the people might be established from the principles of Democracy as the needle to the compass to guide the nation's malice towards none, for all, with firmness in God gave him to see the name stands before the people today and will of the world in the years of the name of the forefathers of freedom and democracy."
"If but the twelve members of my race that name today, they from field and forest, shop and laboratory, and home where dwell the ed hosts of labor, eyes speak it till the valleys would ring again, and tain peak would find pronouncement the name of WILSON—our great leader, whom God has exalted him to the throne time as this, I, thereof him upon the altar of erty, twelve millions of cans who have never knee to Baal nor kiss."
During the seven years passed since the above bute was spoken, the ven to be the words and as those eventful from our vision, the nified by this sensible negro becomes more mortal. Among all "iamis" that effect the destiny of the world ever else may be said he steers clear of these

Let's Be Loyal

Loyalty is not blind adherence. It is clear-sighted devotion to the highest interest of a friend.

Loyalty will not hesitate to oppose an unwise plan, to tear away the bandages which close the eyes to an unwelcome truth.

Loyalty will bear misunderstanding and jeopardize the price of friendship, if these be the price of loyalty to the highest interest of a friend.

Friendship can have no sure foundation, save the frankness of absolute truth. Loyalty has no aim save service to the highest nature of a friend.

Your friend is not the associate who remains silent when you make mistakes nor the one who flatters you when you do less than your best. Our friends make us do what we can.

A loyal friend is not only a delightful companion by the way, but he is a fellow traveler who makes the goal clear when fatigue and doubt cloud the vision. He is the one who resolutely urges us forward when we are tempted to falter in the quest.

Being a Firebug Nation

News reports of the recent million-dollar sawmill fire at Hoquiam, Washington, say "covered by insurance. Everybody breathes easy, for there is no actual loss."

But a million dollars' worth of property has been destroyed; a million dollars' worth of labor and material is lost that had been available for making men more comfortable, in wages, profits, freights, in structures that the lumber would build.

Every stick of timber, every day's wage, every item of comfort that a million dollars can buy, is first paid for in insurance rates. Whether you have never had a fire of your own, or whether you have been a regular firebug in setting forest fires or carelessly burning your own property in city or town or country, the loss of every scrap burned must be paid by someone.

Unless restored by insurance, every item of property destroyed by fire is gone forever, and the nation is that much poorer. Estimating a human life by the wages it would earn, life comes terribly high. Any one of the 15,000 lives destroyed annually by fire may be worth tens of hundreds of thousands of dollars. So with property, estimated by its usefulness, even though its physical value is covered by insurance.

Insurance only spreads and equalized fire or death losses, so that the few do not go bankrupt while the many go unscathed. Most of the $500,000,000 annual fire losses of the United States are preventable. They need never occur. If normal business and home life could have the proportion of that sum that is paid out for preventable fires every year the United States would soon hardly know itself in its new era of decorum and prosperity.

Being a firebug nation is hardly decent. The majority of fires are preventable. It's time for our country to save property that is utterly, foolishly wasted, that is so wrongfully said to be "covered by insurance."

I Haul It For Less

If you have freight, express or baggage to send to Sweetwater, or to stations between here and that city, I can haul it for less. Regular trips every day, except Sunday, are made by the Big Four Line—leaving Big Spring at 8 a. m. Phone 23. TOM LaBEFF. 46-1f.

Gun Prohibition

It is being suggested that the time is ripe for some form of prohibition in the use of firearms except for the use of the army and navy and police forces. Certainly the gun has become far too handy a weapon in the outfit of habitual criminals, and there is not the slightest doubt that crime would decrease if the teeth of the gunmen were effectively drawn.

The possession of a pistol renders arrant cowards for the moment bold. There are grounds for believing that were it not for the advantage gained by the possession of a gun the average ruffian would be afraid to show himself in the light of day, or to make his presence known within a mile of an honest man. This sinister advantage ought to be eliminated. Human wolves ought to be rendered powerless.

There are laws against the carrying of firearms by civilians, but these laws are so easy to evade that they are a standing jest. Gunmen laugh at them, and children defy them. The officers of the law are among the principal victims of this contempt. Were it not for the army of gunmen that prey and slay in this country, the police force could be cut in half.

The only way to put an end to such a thing is to check it at its source. Tab should be kept of every revolver or automatic that is turned out of the factory. There ought to be an identification number on every weapon by which it could be traced under any circumstances. All officials and responsible persons should be called upon to render a strict account as to whom such firearms are handed out or sold. Traffic in second-hand weapons should be made illegal, for to this traffic much of the evasion of the law can be traced. Bootlegging in death-dealing instruments must be blotted out if this country is to be made safe for its citizens. "Safety first" has a wide field here.—Dearborn Independent.

"Manhandled," Starring Gloria Swanson, Coming Mon. & Tues.

Three cheers and a couple of tigers! Gloria Swanson is coming to town; No, dear reader, not in person, but in her latest Paramount picture, "Manhandled." It's due at the R. and R. Lyric Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, September 8 and 9.

Listen, folks, we have some inside information on this production and being of a generous disposition, we are going to let you in on it. Some of you have a look of intense concentration on your faces as if you are trying to recall, where in the name of common sense you heard the name "Manhandled" before. Stop worrying about it and we'll tell you. It's dollars to doughnuts you saw it in the Saturday Evening Post, because that's where this Arthur Stringer story first saw the light of day. Frank Tuttle adapted it to the screen and Allan Dwan produced it.

Shhhhhh! Don't breathe a word of this—it's supposed to be absolutely confidential. We found out that in the picture Gloria does an imitation of Charlie Chaplin! Holy mackerel—we're so gosh darn anxious to see the picture we are itching all over!

Those of you who read the story know that it's about a girl, who starts life in a New York department store—a regular girl, the kind everyone likes—with the average girl's dreams and longings. Just like the rest of us she wants money, beautiful clothes, good times and—of course—a Prince Charming. She has youth, beauty—is clever and attractive, and it doesn't take her long to get everything her heart desires. But—there's always a "but," you know—in the end she comes to the bitter realization that she has lost more than she has gained. And then she wins for herself a great and wonderful victory in a very startling manner. Her Prince Charming turns out to be a poor, hard-working mechanic, whose honest love helps her in finding out what the worth-while things in life really are.

Tom Moore, Ian Keith, Arthur Houston, Lilyan Tashman and the famous Ziegfeld stars, Ann Pennington and Brooke Johns, appear in the supporting cast.

Tuesday evening, September 2nd the T. E. L. class of the Baptist S. S. held its regular monthly social meeting in the form of a chicken barbecue at the City Park. At an early hour the ladies began to gather to prepare the chickens and with the help of Mr. Ralph soon had a roaring fire.

As the husbands arrived later on, the aroma of cooking chicken filled the nostrils and each one thrilled with anticipation of the coming eat.

About forty-two grown-ups and children were present and when eating time came the bowls of delicious salad, barbecued chicken, toast and ice tea soon disappeared. Everyone present voted it one of the nicest picnics ever attended.

The guests of the T. E. L. class, besides the husbands of the members, were Rev. Heard, wife and two sons, Mrs. Reagan, the former teacher, and Mrs. Mims, the classification superintendent of the S. S.

At the last minute it was learned with great regret that Mrs. Beckett, the beloved teacher was ill and found it impossible to attend.

Bro. Heard was voted the biggest eater in the party, in fact, from the

Joe Ward, Coach, Gives Advice

I have set the following rules down before my boys and they must follow them:

1. Eat all meals on time. Do not eat between meals. (Eating apples is permissible.)
2. Get at least eight hours sleep every night. Try to be asleep by 10:30 o'clock.
3. Attend no dances or social functions.
4. All stimulants such as tobacco, alcohol, etc., are barred.
5. Attend all classes and keep up with work.
6. We do not believe that society and dates are to the best interest of a member of this squad.

If there is a fellow in the squad that cannot comply with these rules he might just as well drop out now. It will save him further embarrassment later on. I have given the boys to understand that I'm not real hard boiled and it is really easy to get along with me. But, in order that we can put a team on the field that we will be proud of, I am telling them what is the best for them and requiring the members of the team to live up to the rules.

The support of the town is the factor that will determine our success this year. We are planning to be just as well equipped as any other team in the league. The backers have not refused us on anything, but there will be more and every one of us must give our limit. We cannot expect every man on the field to be perfect in every play of the game. If a fellow fails to do just what you think is right, don't knock him, you might be right—the player may be right. Stay back of the men and always cheer them on to do better on the next play. A man makes a mistake and if the crowd razzes him he will probably make more during the day. If the crowd stays with him and pats him on the back he will make better plays from then on. Try this style of rooting and watch your team improve.

The Proof Is Here the Same As Everywhere

For those who seek relief from kidney backache, weak kidneys, bladder ills, Doan's Pills offer hope of relief and the proof is here in Big Spring the same as everywhere. Big Spring people have used Doan's and Big Spring people recommend Doan's, the kidney remedy used in America for fifty years. Why suffer? Why run the risk of dangerous kidney ills—fatal Bright's disease. Here's Big Spring proof. Investigate it.

G. D. Griffice, prop. of blacksmith shop, Runnels St., says: "Bending over the anvil constantly put my kidneys in bad shape. I had pains across my kidneys and if I bent for any length of time, it was hard to straighten again, my back hurt so. There was a constant ache in my back and I was also troubled with my kidneys acting too freely. Doan's Pills soon eased the pain in my back and regulated my kidneys. Before long I was entirely cured and my work doesn't bother me now at all." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement Question: Where can one find a really clean alley? Answer: Try a walk thru Gregg and Jack streets. You will find more than one.

James J. Perkins, a prominent attorney of Rusk, Texas, has been a visitor in Big Spring the past two weeks, the guest of W. A. Ricker and family.

A big hotel will be one of the first structures to be erected in the new town of Vealmoor which has been established twenty miles north of Big Spring. Twenty-eight thousand acres of good agricultural land surrounding the new town are to be sold on easy terms to homeseekers.

Clean-up Notes

The Civic Committee of the City Federation is well pleased with the response to the clean-up campaign launched the past month. All over town is evidence of good work done by individuals and by families. Weeds have been cut and burned, alleys raked as smooth as lawns. The cans and rubbish collected for hauling and placed in convenient position for city wagons.

It is with pleasure we note the increased amount of civic pride manifested by our little community. Back yards are beautifully kept by large numbers of our people. Trees, shrubs and flowers and grassy lawns are far more numerous than even one year ago. And now we hope Big Spring is ready for inspection.

On Monday, Sept. 8th the Inspection committees will be on the job. The City Federation has offered 12 prizes in cash money; one prize to each of the 12 sections of the town for neatest premises.

It is truly a free-for-all affair, as no place within our city limits is barred. In addition to the names of families receiving the prizes, mention will also be made by number and street of any special improvement or beautifying of premises.

Numbers of children have been working for prizes and the committee hopes that each family will reward the efforts put forth by some special favor, as 12 prizes cannot begin to cover the whole town in sufficient measure.

The chairman hopes to have an honor roll for The Herald at a later issue composed of the boys and girls who took active part in this campaign. Especially of those cutting weeds from alleys and walks and freeing their street from broken glass and rusted tins.

Methodist Church Services

With the coming of September and the ending of the "vacation" period, we shall expect that all services will be better attended, and the few services which have been suspended for a time will be resumed. We hope that all officials and members will take their places, and that we may have full cooperation of the entire church as we turn toward the close of the Conference year. We should like to see a special crowd at church next Sunday morning and night, and on until the end of the year.

Regular monthly steward's meeting probably next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, full announcement of which will be made in the morning. It is time to have a complete checking up of our financial affairs, and this cannot be done unless every steward is present and prepared to report.

Conference meets at Abilene on October 31st—now less than two months off. There is much to be done, and we ask and expect the attendance and cooperation of every member. M. PHELAN.

Character and Education

Another element must be secured in the training of citizenship, or all else will be in vain. All of our learning and science, our culture and our arts, will be of little avail, unless they are supported by high character. Unless there be honor, truth and justice, unless our material resources are supported by moral and spiritual resources, there is no foundation for progress. A trained intelligence can do much, but there is no substitute for morality, character and religious convictions. Unless these abide, American citizenship will be found unequal to its task.—President Coolidge.

Most every farmer you meet has some fine product growing on his farm. If we can just persuade half of them to bring in some of the best products for an agricultural exhibit to represent our county at the Dallas Fair we will have an exhibit that will make them sit up and take notice.

GLORIA SWANSON
"Manhandled"

An ALLAN DWAN Production
Presented by ADOLPH ZUKOR & JESSE L. LASKY

AT THE

Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 8th-9th

IMAGINE A PICTURE TEN TIMES BETTER THAN YOUR FAVORITE SWANSON PICTURE TO DATE. IMAGINE GLORIA MORE STIRRING DRAMATIC, MORE GORGEOUSLY GOWNED THAN EVER. AND IMAGINE HER AS A HOWLING FUNNY COMEDienne BESIDES.

The story starts with Gloria, as Tessie McGuire, a little, fun-thirsty, hard-work, slangy, but innocent shopgirl in a big New York department store, punching clock with the rest of the girls at the close of the day. She plunges through the way jam and uptown to her dingy furnished room. John Hogan, a garage mechanic by day and a chauffeur by night, loves her and wants to marry her. But he is poor though he hopes to get rich some day through a new-fangled carburetor he has invented. She won't marry him. She wants a good time first.

She sickens of the tinsel life and returns to the hall room boarding house where John Hogan—now a rich man—awaits her.

You'll be laughing yourself silly at Gloria and antics one minute and the next almost on the verge of tears, sympathizing with her in her sorrowful plight. There's a subway scene that is a real novelty and interest everyone, especially those who have heard about these underground railways but never seen them. Then there's the bright-light district, the studio section of the Big Town, New York, and a hundred others lack of space prevents our enumerating. Here's a picture that's crammed full of meat from top to climax. DON'T MISS IT!

Mrs. J. A. Stephens and daughter Miss Fannie returned Tuesday from a visit with relatives in Dallas.

An Apology to Jim Ferguson
Jim, I have an apology to make. For the past five years, in my opinion, you were so darned onery and common that I did not trouble myself to use a "cap" or space when writing your name, but just wrote it plain "jimferguson." Today, I have ordered the girl to use big "cap" and a space when printing your name.

When you first ran for Governor, I thought I saw in you another Jim Hogg, coming from the great bosom of the common people. At first, you did pretty well; but later, I thought you made a bust, but now, I know you didn't.

When the legislature impeached you, you said it was a "frame-up." I said so, too. I wrote pages in your defense, and said some hard things about Malo Mush Crane and his colleagues when they were prodding you and pouring it on your defenseless corporosity. I didn't believe a darned word they said about you. But Jim, when you admitted a lot of things they said about you to be true, and not knowing but what the things of which you were accused were wrong and an outrage on the people of Texas, I laid down on you. I was indignant and I said so in no uncertain terms. I said that any man who bought a ukalele and had it charged as groceries was not fit to feed butcher's offal to a hound pup, but I was wrong, Jim. Since I saw the light in last Saturday's primary, I now and here apologize by saying to the world that you are fully qualified and eminently fitted to perform the job, and that if the pup failed to get his part of the lunch, it would be due to the fact that you had met Malo Mush Crane and the rest of that pack who accused and persecuted you for such a trifle as getting away with the interest on some of the State's money.

That bunch who impeached you and forever fixed your political clock (except by proxy) and then atoned for it last Saturday by admitting to you and the world that they had "framed up" on you, are a darned sight worse than they said you were when they threw you down and took your terbacker away from you and kicked you out of the governor's chair. At that time you said they were a bunch of lying hypocrites and were a disgrace to the senate of Texas. When you said these hard things about those noble (?) Senators, I said you were a darned liar. I was wrong, Jim, and I apologize for saying it. Those old waddies who impeached you and dealt you so much misery, and then had the gall to support you last Saturday, lead me to conclude that you told the truth on them, and I further believe you were more honest and a better man than any man who had a hand in disgracing you forever, and then voted for you last Saturday.

Of course, Jim, you know, and I know, that you will be Governor by proxy. "Ma" will not amount to more than a rag doll in the governor's chair. Ma would like to do the square thing, but Jim, what does Ma know about statecraft? Ma is good, but what can she do with such old prohibition hypocrites and political prostitutes as Barry Miller and Malo Mush Crane hanging around to queer her good intentions? This pair of waddies once dealt you misery, Jim, and you had better keep your weather eye open. Crane preached prohibition to the people until he was black in the face, and just when we poor suckers fell for his stuff, he turned us over to the old "licker crowd." Old Barry Miller once accused you of selling out to the Dutch in order to borrow $150,000. Barry was a liar when he said it, wasn't he, Jim? You said so at the time, and I said you were another; but I was wrong, and I hereby apologize.

In your opening speech, Jim, you said tick eradication was a humbug, and that when you were elected, you would stop it by vetoing the appropriation. I said you would be a darn fool to do it, because it would ruin the stock industry of Texas. Some of your supporters here say that you just said that to fool the East Texas squirrel shooters and get their votes. For all this, I apologize, and hope you were not lying about saving money by putting the tick doctors out of a job. These old West Texas cowpunchers would lose all they have, and the ranges of West Texas would be wiped out if you abolish tick and scab eradication; but the majority of them voted for it last Saturday, and let the majority rule.

You know, Jim, you never did take kindly to prohibition. You always said it was a humbug, and that such men as Malo Mush Crane, Sterling P. Strong, and others who made it hot for you, and who repudiated the things for which they stood last Saturday, were sycophantic hypocrites. At the time you said this, I was one of their disciples, and I gave it as my opinion that you were a darned liar; but I was wrong, Jim, and you were eminently correct. They proved it when they voted for you (by proxy) last Saturday. I apologize. Jim, yours was the greatest victory ever won by mortal man. Your old enemies who made relentless war on you for years, and who heaped calumny mountains high on you and did all they could to cram you into the scotpits of hell, ran over one another last Saturday to fall down before you, (by proxy) lick the very dust from your boots and confess their past sins. But Jim, keep your eyes peeled on these birds, or they will double cross you. They did it once, and will do it again if you give them an opportunity. I consorted with this bunch once, for which I here and now apologize.

If you get in bad again, Jim, and this old bunch who dealt you so much misery, and who so abjectly atoned for it last Saturday, and who, like whipped curs, fawned in the dust before you and liked your boots, just remember, Ma will have plenty of blank pardons, and you can fill one out and she can sign it, and you will have them by the everlasting ying-yang.

Jim, at the November election, I expect to go to the polls and vote for you (by proxy) if it makes me vomit like a gorged buzzard—for all of which I here and now apologize to God, my country and myself—because I am a man of my word, a Democrat, and said that I would when I went into the primary and cast my vote for Felix Robertson. No, no, Jim, I would die before I would sink so low as to vote the Republican or independent ticket against you (by proxy) for which declaration I apologize. And when you (by proxy) again warm the governor's chair, and those old bellyachers get to beefing about what you may do, remember, you can depend on me to stay by your warm side, because I like to make a fellow swallow his own medicine. For all of which I here and now apologize.

Yours regretfully,
Bill Kellis.

Knickerbocker Will Vote for Mrs. Ferguson

Dallas, Sept. 1.—Announcing his intention of voting for Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson in the general election and stressing the importance of adhering strictly to political pledges, Rev. H. D. Knickerbocker, presiding elder of the Dallas district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has issued a statement making plain his stand as to the present status of Texas politics.

Among Dr. Knickerbocker's striking remarks are these:

"I have always contended that every man should keep his political pledges rigidly, no matter how distasteful it might be. I believe in the scriptural statement that God's definition of a gentleman is a good one, i. e., 'He sweareth to his own hurt and changeth not.' That means a man who keeps his contract under any circumstances.

"It is quite evident that the State of Texas didn't want the Ku Klux Klan. For this attitude I can not greatly blame them. The Ku Klux Klan, or rather the leadership of the Ku Klux Klan, has been so unwise as to bring down righteous indignation upon them in many places and for many reasons.... They have played false to their principles under unwise and misguided leadership, so that they have rendered themselves very obnoxious.... Their leadership seems to have degenerated to a level where, in some cases at least, the slogan seems to be, 'for revenue only.'

"I am somewhat reconciled to the situation by the assurances of some of the good and strong men who made Mrs. Ferguson's election possible, that we are not going to have Fergusonism at all in Mrs. Ferguson's administration. We are not even going to have a 'denatured' brand of Fergusonism."

Dr. Knickerbocker concludes his statement with the assertion that he is not a klanman and has never been one.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

"ALL COLLEGIATE CIRCUS" TO BE BIG FEATURE AT STATE FAIR OCTOBER 11

JNO. B. MOON

P. B. GARRETT

"All-College Day" at the State Fair of Texas, Saturday, Oct. 18 next, promises to be one of the biggest features of the 1924 exposition, which runs from Oct. 11 to 26 this year.

In the afternoon the football eleven of the University of Texas and Southern Methodist University of Dallas, meet in their annual game on the athletic stadium field.

At night, also in the stadium, will come the "All-Collegiate Circus" and the crowning of the All-College Queen, which, it is expected, will be attended by no less an important personage than Corinne Griffith, Texas' own motion picture star. Miss Griffith will come as an ex-student of the University.

John B. Moon and P. B. Garrett, now Texas business men, but both former varsity students, have the management of the Circus and Coronation in charge. During their college days they produced many college functions of a similar character, and because of their experience were asked to take charge of the big State Fair feature. The best "acts" from colleges, universities, prep schools and other institutions, all over the country, will take part in the circus events, for prizes totalling $3,500. The "queen" will be crowned as the most beautiful college girl, her selection to be made by a committee of competent judges from entrants by all the institutions which take part in the "circus."

Mr. Garrett is now a prominent Dallas bond man, while Mr. Moon is connected with a big insurance concern. The former is a graduate of the law department of the university and the latter of the engineers. Heads of the various educational institutions have all accepted appointment as members of the advisory committee of the "All-College Day" arrangements and executive staff.

Former Texas Girl Trains Ballet For "Tokyo" State Fair Feature

GLADYS HIGHT AS LITTLE GIRL LIVED IN HOUSTON AND DALLAS—HAS "MADE GOOD"

Gladys Hight, former Texas girl, and now the head of the Gladys Hight School of Dancing, Chicago, will be responsible for the beautiful ballet numbers to be given in connection with "Tokyo," the magnificent fireworks spectacle at the State Fair of Texas, Oct. 11-26 this year.

Ten or fifteen years ago Gladys Hight was a little girl in Houston and Dallas. Her mother, Madame Virginia Lee Hight, was a well known and highly capable vocal instructor, who conducted big voice culture schools in both Texas cities. Miss Gladys received her first instructions in the art of dancing at the hands of Texas teachers, and continued her practice intensively, after her mother removed to Chicago. Now Miss Gladys, who has more than "made good," is the head of two big schools in the Windy City—one town in the loop district and the other out on Sheridan Road.

She was in Texas early in August, on her way to Mexico City, where she is to study the native dances, in connection with her work, just as she studied Japanese dances in the Sunflower Kingdom last year. During her stop in Dallas she told of her coming attraction at the State fair.

"I was very glad to have opportunity for training a ballet that would appear before 'home folks' of my childhood days," she said, "and so when Mr. Charles Duffield, the producer of 'Tokyo' told me what he wanted, I jumped at the chance.

"There will be twenty-four beautiful girls in the ballet number, one of which will be a fan dance and the other a typically characteristic Japanese number called the 'fishing dance.' You know, 'Tokyo' is based on the great Japanese earthquake, and the ballets come as showing the peaceful villagers enjoying themselves, before the holocaust swallows up their little town."

"Tokyo" will be given in the great race track infield at the State Fair, before the big grand stand, every night, and is declared to be the most awe-inspiring spectacle ever evolved.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary, Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce

THAT the tendency of some politicians these days is to persecute public service corporations instead of trying to regulate them.

THAT they seem to try to disrupt and obstruct transportation, telephone, telegraph, gas and electric companies and everything that is built or developed for the benefit of business and comfort and pleasure of the people.

THAT people should pay more attention to facts and less attention to those politicians whose only ambition is to hold office at the expense of the public.

THAT often a mere reading of these attacks would lead many people to believe they were true and that these self-appointed office-seekers were really working for the public interests.

THAT in many cases, an investigation would prove that they are either based on misunderstanding or deliberate misrepresentation.

THAT the people are always prone to give a square deal when they know the facts.

THAT too many men are seeking office.

THAT some of those that seek office are not always particular as to how they get elected, just so they get elected.

THAT when the day comes when the public seeks men of honesty and ability and puts them in office, then will we see the square deal put in effect and we will see justice alike for both the people and the corporations.

PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS SHOULD ADVERTISE IN EVERY NEWSPAPER. IN THE LAND THE TRUE FACTS ABOUT THEIR BUSINESS.

Save Some of Your Old Corn

The spring of 1924 was unusually backward in many sections. Following this, the growing conditions were not good, with the result that the bulk of the corn is extremely late throughout the Corn Belt and northward. It is so late that most of the crop will be unfit for seed unless frost holds off longer than usual.

The United States Department of Agriculture is calling attention to this fact at the present time in order to prevent, if possible, a serious seed-corn situation in the spring of 1925. The higher prices for corn in the last few weeks are drawing much of the old crop from the farms. Farmers not having enough corn for 1923 left over from last year's supply should save the best of their bulk crib corn from which to obtain seed, if necessary. If this year's crop is killed by frost before it is mature, this old corn will provide a source from which seed can be selected for planting in 1925.

Bids Wanted

The Commissioners' Court of Glasscock County will receive bids at Garden City, Texas, on September 28, 1924, until 2 p. m. at the office of the County Judge for the purchase of one or more 12-foot graders and one Rooter Plow.

Bidders will be required to demonstrate said machinery to the satisfaction of the Commissioners' Court prior to acceptance of bid.

The court reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

This the 11th days of August, 1924. U. E. BAILEY, County Judge. 48-46- Glasscock County, Texas.

"My, How It's Growing!" Pile Up Dollars by Saving!

When one once starts a systematic method of savings, dollars DO pile up surprisingly. But it's essential that you get a real start—and such a start can be made with this strong bank.

The plan is quite simple. Each and every week—as regularly as the pay days around—put aside a certain percentage of your income and deposit it here.

With your money collecting interest, [we pay 4 per cent] compounded semi-annually, you'll be amazed how it accumulates in a short time—and incidentally gives you a start on the road to independence.

Worth Remembering

As every chump knows, he will work ten times harder for an ideal, or for some invisible power, than for the Toms, Dicks and Harry's of the common herd. When he wants some particular mountain moved onto his own back lot he appeals to some invisible Mohammed to do the moving. And the more symbolic the erstwhile Mohammed makes himself appear, the more he leaves of himself to the imagination of those who do not actually see through him.

It is not the particular activity in which one is engaged; not the school nor church one attends nor the community in which one lives that counts. It is what one accomplishes in his, or her, particular environment.

We cannot side-step public duty and at the same time maintain our own self respect. If truth and honesty in public life is to be penalized, then private life is far more honorable and desirable.

If one must really poke a frog to make it jump, then for obvious reasons—real worthy reasons—by all means poke it from a distance.

As a rule wrong people do not want to be set right; it takes convincing pictures of the effect of their own wrong-doing to get their attention.

There was never a plant so hard to get rooted as is charity. Always it has to contend with drought, cold wind or poor soil.

Though we may still have the blue sky above us and an open air range all about us, the right to walk upon the face of the earth, somewhere, is becoming more and more a problem.

Life is most precious of all our possessions. Yet we worry more over the loss of money than of days.

RACING MEN INTERESTED IN STATE FAIR EVENTS

Race horse owners all over the country are showing keen interest in the thirteen day running meet at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 11-26, according to Dr. A. E. Flowers, superintendent of the State Fair speed department.

"As soon as announcement was made that there would be thirteen days of racing at Dallas, inquiries or entry blanks and rules, began to come in," Dr. Flowers said. "Every indication is that we shall see some of the best horses in the country contesting for the aggregate of $30,000 in purses that will be offered at Dallas."

There are to be four big stake events, entries for which close Oct. 1, with many later-closing events, the purses for which will be liberal and attractive. This year's stake purses will be materially increased over those of last year.

During the last week additional work on the big mile track at Dallas was begun, in the effort to put it in the pink of condition before next October. Hundreds of truck loads of fine road sand were spread over the black dirt of the track two months ago. This had the advantage of the rains prior to July 4, which sized the sand and dirt thoroughly. The new work constituted running a great double disc harrow over the whole track, and still more thoroughly mixing sand and "gumbo" so that later rains will put the course in the best condition possible.

SIX FOOTBALL GAMES DURING STATE FAIR

Six big football games have already been scheduled for the great athletic stadium at the State Fair of Texas, during this year's exposition, Oct. 11-26. The stadium has been enlarged, with the seating capacity increased, and the playing field is in the pink of condition, with a carpet of grass several inches thick. It has also been re-leveled, and with two lines of drain pipe laid, on either side of the field, the gridiron will be perfectly drained, no matter how hard it may rain prior to any of the six big engagements.

The schedule is as follows:

Saturday, Oct. 11—A. & M. vs. Seawance.

Tuesday, Oct. 14—Baylor vs. Central Teachers College, Oklahoma.

Friday, Oct. 17—North Dallas High vs. Bryan High (Dallas).

Saturday, Oct. 18—(All College Day) University of Texas vs. S. M. U., Dallas.

Thursday, Oct. 23—Clarendon College vs. Weatherford College.

Saturday, Oct. 25—S. M. U., Dallas, vs. A. & M. of Texas.

On Friday, Oct. 24, the stadium will be the scene of stirring competitive drills between R. O. T. C. units from various Texas High Schools.

A twice daily attraction at the State Fair of Texas, Dallas, Oct. 11-26, this year, will be twenty big hippodrome circus acts before the grand stand.

Plant Wheat for Feed

Farmers who failed to plant a sufficient feed crop, or whose feed was ruined by the dry weather, can now remedy matters to a certain extent by planting wheat for pasturage.

A number of men in every community should sign up to plant from twenty to thirty acres each. Plant it in the cotton rows if you can improvise a one-row drill for your planter. A number of men in each community must get together on this, so they can also cooperate in keeping the rabbits from taking charge.

With the ground soaked as it is just now, you are assured of a good stand of wheat. You can't afford to buy feed for your stock at prices that will be in effect this winter so see your neighbors and arrange to plant a few acres of wheat.

Do it now.

Back to School

The most significant event of the year takes place in September when millions of children go back to school. When the final history of this age of democracy is written the common school will be set down as its greatest glory.

When they come—children of all classes, religions and races, trooping into the schoolrooms where they sit side by side to study and to learn. This is not only an institution for the informing of the mind, it is the training school of democracy and its importance as the representative institution of the commonwealth cannot be overestimated.

Class consciousness, snobishness, intolerance, superciliousness, cannot exist in the atmosphere of the public school. Here the barriers that separate classes and creeds, races and communities are broken down. A sense of mutual sympathy and understanding is developed, the solidarity of the nation is exemplified, and the one loyalty to the flag as against all other obediences and authorities and allegiances is emphasized.

Seventy years ago Theodore Parker declared: "The common school is the cradle of America's greatness." Twenty-five centuries ago Diogenes said: "Education is the basis of the Greek state." We may well say: the public school is the foundation of the American state.

Worth Remembering

Often we meet those who have "axes to grind," speaking figuratively. If on the blade (still speaking figuratively) we could read the story behind the blade, chances are we would not be so quick to join in the grinding.

Say what we may about the names of Smith and Brown, but a no inconsiderable use proves them to be impervious to wear and tear. They neither rip, ravel nor wear out.

A year or so ago—mostly so—the man who could remind us of most ways of spending money was a popular hero. Business firms fairly coaxed us to open accounts; they knew we had the money or were getting it, and the margin of profit justified the risk. Now-a-days, he who can demonstrate where and how we may save costs is rapidly growing in popular esteem. History will record him as a public benefactor.

We are told that an "old fashioned girl" is one who has been vaccinated on the arm.

The next thing in order is for some social institution obsessed with the idea of having women chasing after over the State, to offer a study in the science of "How to neglect our homes."

As a rule those who play in the oil game give little thought to the future; the universal intention being to rip out a fortune in a hurry. Conservation of the State's economic resources is a thing apart. Yet there is a philosophy fast taking growth that these untold riches placed under the soil, but not by the labor of man, were intended to benefit all society and for all time.

We were taught to believe that woman was created after man. Well—hasn't she been after him ever since?

Of all elements of our social and political life education should stand unwaveringly for truth. Yet many people are confused; they feel that something is wrong somehow or somewhere. Let's give it the broad open light of the day.

Say what we may of prohibition, the specific evil against which it is directed is no respecter of persons; it strikes right up and down the whole strata of society.

The hands that rock the cradle—if united against vice and greed—might rock the world.

In parts of Europe there are many poor humans in the bread line too run-down and weak to reach for the bread.

In falling for propoganda calculated to aid in the progressive state of the newly made rich, we should be careful not to lay the foundation for a state of the newly made poor.

Shucks! Talk about hard times! It used to be this meant to sell the cow and do without milk. Now-a-days more often it happens that it calls for selling a Cadillac and buying a Ford. Prosperity may come in strange disguises.—Facts and Fiction

State Democratic Convention

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, assisted by her husband and 2000 delegates, side-tracked interference and mapped out a clear course at the State Democratic convention in session at Austin Tuesday and Wednesday.

M. M. Crane was elected temporary chairman of the Democratic convention, while Joseph Weldon Bailey was elected permanent chairman. Jed C. Adams of Dallas was elected to succeed Thomas B. Love who resigned as Democratic National Committeeman. The resignation of Mrs. J. T. Bloodworth as national committeewoman was presented and referred to the executive committee for action.

The following is a text of the platform adopted by the convention:

1.—The democratic party of Texas, in convention assembled adopts and approves the national democratic platform recently enunciated by the national democratic convention in the city of New York. We are proud to endorse the candidacy of John W. Davis and Charles W. Bryan as our candidates for president and vice president. We call upon the people of the state to help in carrying their candidacy to the people of the nation.

2.—At this time it is well to emphasize the imperative necessity for strict economy by the incoming administration in the maintenance and management of all state institutions. We invite the attention of the next legislature to the necessity of keeping appropriations within the constitutional limit of taxation. Our party commits itself to an adequate support of all educational, eleemosynary and other institutions of the state. The makers of our constitution placed a limitation upon the legislative power of taxation for the purpose of protecting our people against extravagance and an unnecessary expenditure of public funds, and we invoke the observance of this limitation.

3.—We congratulate the democracy of Texas on the fact that it has written a new page in the history of the government of the United States by recognizing the action heretofore taken whereby women were given the right to vote and participate in the government on equality with men and have made this recognition so emphatic that it can not be questioned by the nomination of Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson by an overwhelming majority—the standard bearer of the party for the office of governor, and we pledge to her in her campaign and her administration the united support of every democrat in the state. We especially endorse and commend her purpose to materially reduce the burdens of government.

4.—We emphatically condemn what is known as the Invisible Empire of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan as an undemocratic, un-Christian and un-American organization. We condemn its activities in politics and elsewhere as against the fundamental principles upon which the government was founded. We call upon all those who have joined this dangerous order through misapprehension as to its real purposes to withdraw from the same and lend their aid and influence to free the country from the strife and dissension which, as an insidious organization, it has aroused among the people. We applaud the attitude of our great leader the Hon. John W. Davis, with reference to the Klan's activities, and adopt in full his condemnation of the same in his speech at Seagraves as part of our platform and principles. We demand the passage of a law requiring the public registration of all such secret organizations, and likewise a law against the wearing of masks, hoods or otherwise concealing their identity in public or private places.

5.—We favor the enactment of such additional laws as will fully protect child labor in Texas from exploitation and abuse. * * * We oppose the ratification of the 20th amendment to the federal constitution dealing with this question.

6.—Prohibition is written into the constitution of the United States and into the constitution of the state of Texas and must forever remain as written. The laws enacted by the congress and by the state legislature when properly enforced are believed to be reasonably adequate to accomplish this purpose. * * * We commit the democracy of Texas and all co-ordinate agencies to a strict enforcement of these laws.

Prohibition in Texas is therefore settled for all time so far as human foresight can determine, and accordingly any attempt by demagogues and agitators to inject it into the campaign, where vital issues are involved is to be deprecated. * * * The democracy of Texas will tolerate no weakening and no laxity in the enforcement of liquor law and will favor provisions for the appointment by the governor of assistant district attorneys for their special enforcement when, in the opinion of the executive, local officers are amiss in their duties.

7.—A certain class of druggists and physicians are suspected of violating the spirit, if not the letter, of the law in the unlawful traffic in intoxicating liquors under the cover of prescriptions, and we pledge the incoming legislature and executive to do whatever may come within their province to remedy this particular evil by appropriate legislation.

We suggest that the legislature could do much to remedy this blight by enacting measures requiring detailed monthly reports to be filled with the county clerk of the county by each druggist filling liquor prescriptions, showing all purchases of liquor made by him and the cost thereof and all sales, and showing the amount of gross profit on such sales, and such statement should also make a full exhibit as to the quantity sold, the name of the physician giving the prescription, and said reports should be published monthly in some newspaper in the county where the sales are made, and adequate penalties should be provided for the violation of any of the provisions of the law by druggists or physicians.

8.—We approve the efforts of the Texas state bar association looking to make more efficient the dispatch of the business of the courts, and we commend to the favorable consideration of the legislature their recommendation that the rules of practice and procedure in the courts be made by the supreme court with the aid of such members of the bench and bar the court may appoint.

9.—We endorse the administration of Governor Pat M. Neff; and we particularly commend the earnest efforts made by him to suppress lawlessness in every form and his determination that the violation of the law should be followed by adequate punishment.

10.—We commend the determined efforts of Lieut. Gov. T. W. Davidson, while acting governor, in suppressing mob violence in the state, and in arousing the public conscience upon this subject.

11.—We regard it as a waste of the people's money to build expensive highways without adequate maintenance. We commend the present effort to evolve a systematic maintenance of the roads. We do not believe any road bond issue should be approved until provision has been made for the maintenance of the roads to be constructed.

Worlds Unknown

The fact that the planet Mars has been nearer the earth than it has been for hundreds of years has afforded scientists a unique opportunity for making further exploitations in that remote region of the unknown. Although nothing has been added to the theory that life in its higher forms may exist on the planet, data has been secured which will materially aid in arriving at a truer estimate of the physical features of this far-off world.

That there are other worlds and other scenes as yet undreamed of in our philosophy there is no reason to doubt, but that mankind exists on any other astral sphere, is purely hypothetical. What effect such a discovery would have on the established order of the universe, it is impossible to conjecture, but is one before which all the discoveries that have been made by sages and seers since the world began would fade into insignificance.

There is a theory that Mars is in a much more advanced state of evolution than the earth, but this is based on the assumption that it is a much older planet. All this is purely speculative, and as Sir Oliver Lodge says, Mars may still be in the stage occupied by the earth millions of years before the appearance of man. The fact of the matter is that scientists do not know. They can only base fresh theories on the steadily increasing revealing power of giant telescopes, and the other instruments which modern advancement is making available.

The chances are that it will be many more years before anything of importance will be added to our knowledge of whether life in any form does or does not exist in these worlds unknown. Till then the old earth must remain the super planet. —Dearborn Independent.

Guessing How the Run-Off Primary Goes

Of course everybody is making a guess as to who will win in the run-off primary, August 23, 1924. Here are some figures that may help you to make a better guess at the outcome in the governor and lieutenant governor's races.

1922 Race for the Senate:

Issues were not then defined as they are now, but it was the first time the klan had appeared in the political arena of Texas as a factor of any importance. The candidates and votes in the first primary were:

Mayfield	153,538
Ferguson	127,071
Culberson	99,635
Thomas	88,026
Ousley	64,451
Henry	41,567
Strong	1,085

These are the official figures. Those given out by the newspapers but not certified to the secretary of the Democratic State Committee were considerably higher except in the case of Strong.

Vote of Larger Counties:

For purposes of comparison, the vote in the larger counties of Texas on the different candidates in that race are illuminating:

How Many Will Live?

You can count those baby chicks now and mark up a number. But counting them three weeks later may mean a very much smaller number, unless you start to feeding them right. Baby chicks' digestive systems are exceedingly delicate. Too many women feed chicks on things they think are good chick feed. As a result the loss of chicks is large.

Purina Chick Startena (With Buttermilk)

is the very last word in a starting feed. It represents the knowledge of many years' experience in poultry feeds.

Chick Startena and Baby Chick Chow are balanced to supply just the right nourishment to baby chicks. One of Startena's principal ingredients is buttermilk, which keeps the tiny digestive systems active.

Better still, Chick Startena is guaranteed when fed as directed. You can count on more baby chicks when you start them on Chick Startena. Order for your chicks now.

Sound Advice Any Time

Secretary Wallace, in his paper, Wallace's Farmer, in commenting upon the defeat of the McNary-Haugen bill, said:

"It is time for farmers to take most serious thought, both of their individual status and of the general state of agriculture, and deliberately work to a definite and positive program."

It may be that Secretary Wallace has in view organization work in furtherance of efforts to secure legislative action at the next session of Congress, but his words can be interpreted in another, and a more practical way.

It is time that our farmers work out a definite program to fit their particular farms and markets. There has been too much haphazard farming without definite programs. With many farmers it has been a case of planting the most popular crop for a quick turnover, taking chances on the market. Our best and most prosperous farmers have a different rule of work. They gamble less and may lose a chance of making a "killing" on some single crop, but they are following a program which not only insures a good living, but improves the productiveness of their soil. In other words, they are farming the soil, not mining it.

Government aid in the form of price fixing legislation would prove disastrous to the agricultural industry. The McNary-Haugen bill would have created thousands of jobs for which the farmers would have paid out of the proceeds of their crops. It would have robbed farmers of their initiative and placed the industry on a charity basis. The farmers in this country are in no condition that demands such drastic action. They are capable of running their own business and would if it were not for the agitators and politicians who are either bidding for power or for votes. The sooner farmers realize that their salvation depends upon their own efforts, the quicker the industry will get back to a sound economic basis.—Farm and Ranch.

H. T. Lane brought in a fine lot of peaches from his home four miles southeast of this city. Some of these fine specimens will be used in the agricultural exhibit that is to be sent to the Dallas Fair this fall. Others should follow Mr. Lane's example and help put our county in the running for first prize.

Citation by Publication THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Howard County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Hugh Cole by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the 32nd Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said 32nd Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Howard County, to be held at the Court House thereof, in Big Spring, Texas, on the 1st Monday in September A. D. 1924, the same being the 1st day of September A. D. 1924, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 25th day of July A. D. 1924 in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 957, wherein Willie Cole is, Plaintiff, and Hugh Cole is Defendant, and said petition alleging that, for cause of action, the Plaintiff is and had been for a period of twelve months prior hereto an actual bona fide inhabitant of the State of Texas, and has resided in the said County of Howard for more than six months next preceding the filing of this suit; that the said Defendant resides in place or places unknown to Plaintiff; that on or about the 26th of October 1919, Plaintiff was lawfully married to Defendant in Eastland County, Texas, that they continued to live together as husband and wife for about three years, till October, 1922, when by reason of cruel and harsh treatment and improper conduct on the part of the Defendant toward Plaintiff, she was forced to permanently abandon him, since which time they have not lived together as husband and wife. Plaintiff alleges that she at all times while living with her husband was kind and affectionate to him and fulfilled her duties and obligations as his wife; but that the defendant unkind of his marital vows and obligations was unkind to her, led a wild and sorry life, was convicted of a felony much to the humiliation and disgrace of Plaintiff, abused her, cursed her, without cause or provocation without cause whatever on the part of the Plaintiff, was jealous of Plaintiff of each and every act and occasion possible, often hit Plaintiff in anger, and this course of conduct on the part of Defendant grew and became more intense till along about October, 1922, Defendant soundly whipped Plaintiff, hitting her with his fist and twisting her wrist, unmercifully, whereupon Plaintiff quit the bed and board and company, resolved forever to abandon him because such course of conduct on his part rendered their further living together as husband and wife insupportable and impossible. Plaintiff prays that Defendant be cited to appear and answer this petition and that the marriage between Plaintiff and Defendant be dissolved and declared null and void.

Herein fail not but have before said Court, at its aforesaid regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, on this the 29th day of July A. D. 1924.

(Seal) J. I. RICHARD, Clerk, District Court, Howard County, Texas.
