Lockney Claims Blue Ribbon As Development City

LOCKNEY, Feb. 2.—After subscribing more than $5,000 to be used as an annual budget for the Lockney chamber of commerce, and pledging their moral support to the organization, members of the organization feel that they have just entered into the greatest era of development known to any South Plains city. The money was subscribed following a banquet at which more than 150 people were present.

In the past it has been the duty of a secretary here to raise funds from month to month as needed, but the practice has been far from satisfactory. Directors insisted that a stated sum was needed if a worthwhile program was to be followed, and many members gave from $100 to as high as $250 to the fund.

A committee of three was appointed to outline assessments, and when they made their report not one individual tried to back down or compromise.

Local Firm Distributing Information to Tourists

The Slatonite recently delivered to the Williams Auto Supply several thousand cards, on which there is printed, in addition to other advertising, the distances to many points in Texas and New Mexico. The information is arranged in such a way as to be valuable to tourists, and the cards carry, also, some good Slaton advertising. Hence in giving out information to tourists as they stop at this place of business, the Williams Auto Supply also gives out some advertising for the town.

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN

Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by

He who is bent with hard work is seldom broke.

Some way ought to be found to put restraints on our lawmakers who want to put so many restraints upon us.

It is not only possible but advisable for one with an ambition to be a commoner to refrain from being common.

If President Calles of Mexico had the power back of him, he would be to Mexico what one Teddy was to the United States.

Nothing wins respect like being respectable.

The gamest fight ever made is the silent struggle of a fallen man or woman trying to beat back.

Club women and cave women have a wonderful lot in common, especially in matters of costume.

Now that there is a law against one driving a car while intoxicated, they have commenced putting alcohol into the radiator instead of into the driver.

Just as soon as China wakes up and begins to assert her rights the other nations say she is arrogant and impertinent, and that is precisely the way individuals act toward each other, too.

One cannot say, after contemplating the Fall-Dohney-Sinclair cases, that the Coolidge administration has not been well oiled.

The trouble with many movies is that children are apt to think the real man and woman ought to be like the reel man and woman.

Why do many people, especially women, wear loud clothes if the clothes are to be seen and not heard?

China is preaching the doctrine, "China for the Chinese," but the doctrine did not originate there. They were our sentiments a long time before China ever thought of it. Also, if we remember correctly, California has made China see things her way.

It is now claimed that short skirts are responsible for many automobile accidents. Well, no doubt they do often affect the driver's eyesight.

A gentleman up at Lubbock advocates in a letter to the Dallas News doing away with our penitentiary and substituting the whipping post. If we could have kept Ma in the chair for another term the first half of the gentleman's program would have been accomplished.

How to rid the world of intolerance is a problem. Some preach the doctrine of tolerance and become very earnest about it, so earnest in fact that they become highly intolerant of him who is not tolerant, so that being tolerant is itself just another form of being intolerant, and that makes it unanimous.

The Round Rock Tragedy

SINCE the terrible tragedy at Round Rock the other day when ten Baylor University students lost their lives at a railway crossing, well meaning but self deluded persons in Texas have offered to date something like 17,413 suggestions as to how to prevent railway crossing accidents in future. Just as there is nothing in this world fool proof, so there is no substitute for thoughtfulness for one's own safety and the safety of others. Nothing has yet come to light to indicate that the driver of the bus that was hit did not know the railway track was there; that he was approaching a point where the highway crosses the railroad; that trains travel over said rails, and that a locomotive and a bus full of people cannot, in the nature of things, occupy the same spot at the same time. Just a slight amount of thoughtfulness and precaution will, in our judgment, avoid 999 out of every 1,000 crossing tragedies. But maybe this one was the one-thousandth. Who knows?

The senator from Dallas county in the Texas Legislature is named Love. He has introduced a bill referred to in the press as Love's Labour Bill. If this bill is defeated will it not then be Love's Labour Lost?

We know there are still fools in the world because every now and then some fellow bobs up who thinks that signing another's name to a check without that person's permission is one means of forging ahead.

We gather from reading Jim Ferguson's tirade against the report of the Legislative Committee that investigated state affairs last fall that Jim does not agree with what the report says about him. Nor do we know of anyone who expected Jim to agree with it.

A certain Texas daily having a large circulation in this section in its edition of last Sunday had on its front page the report of only 430 instances of human tragedy in one form or another, including murder, accident, injury and catastrophe. Truly the modern newspaper is little more than a catalogue of human depravity, misery and woe, and we readers seem to like that sort of stuff, but we are terribly reluctant when it comes to being the subject of such newspaper "copy."

Do you ever feel a pain while reading this column? Well, we often do in writing it, and our task is compulsory, while yours is not.

It is an old, old saying to let Conscience be your guide, and a saying not quite so old is to let Reason be your guide. Both presuppose that each of us is in need of a guide. But before letting Conscience do the work it is well to know first that one's conscience has been properly trained, and before assigning the task to Reason it is well to know that one's reason is not faulty. We advocate letting both Conscience and Reason have a hand in the guidance of one's conduct. It may reduce error to a minimum, but nothing will eliminate error entirely.

Prejudice in your breast is merely proof that you have, perhaps without knowing it, set yourself or your ideal or your possession in competition with the other fellow or with his ideal or his possession and found your own out-classed. Prejudice is literally self condemnation. It is a secret, hidden sting which one suffers upon recognition of his own inferiority. It is the reaction to one's realization of his own mediocrity.

'Legislative Fanaticism'

A MEMBER of the Texas Legislature, according to press reports, has introduced a bill to make it a penitentiary offense to transport an empty whisky bottle ten days after the whisky was obtained. The Committee on Liquor Traffic in the House has reported the bill favorably, but with a minority fighting passage of the bill. One of the minority of the committee opposing the bill said: "Such measures as these tend to hold the enforcement of all laws up to ridicule and render enforcement repulsive to the average man through the very severity of the penalty. Common sense must be written into the statutes rather than fanaticism."

The law is now that a sick person for whom his physician prescribes whisky in the treatment of the malady cannot obtain or use more than a pint of it within a period of ten days; the logical effect of the bill is to say that the patient MUST consume the pint within the ten days period, whether he needs it or not, and failing so to do, the remainder, and also the bottle itself, becomes "forbidden fruit," and he who transports it must go to the penitentiary.

Such a piece of foolishness must of course appeal to the majority of thinking citizens as the purest fanaticism, but to the few, like the author of the bill, it no doubt appears to be perfectly legitimate to ram down other people's throats obnoxious laws that do not have even a speaking acquaintance with common sense.

Imagine a dignified District Judge, District Attorney, twelve good citizens and true, sitting solemnly in their places in the court room with long hypocritical faces, vainly trying to assume judicial attitudes, and engaged seriously in an attempt to send an American citizen to the penitentiary, to brand him a felon, to fix upon him the stamp of disgrace, for the manifestation of such enormous depravity on the part of the defendant that he had transported—carried from one place to another, any distance from a few feet to a few miles—AN EMPTY BOTTLE!

But it is the great American game, this thing of regulating the citizen to the utmost detail of his conduct. There is not scarcely any act done by man, from driving an automobile to eating bologna sausages, that some other person would not, if he had the power, regulate, forbid or punish with a penalty ranging anywhere from a one dollar fine "and costs" to being shot at sunrise. There are no doubt persons in the Texas Legislature who would, if they could, enact a law with the emergency clause, making it take effect within 24 hours, making it a felony, punishable by confinement in the penitentiary from one to fifteen years, for any person within this state to buy, sell, carry away, give away, transport, import, export, possess, smoke, use, consume, associate with or otherwise have anything to do with that pernicious little article called a cigar. Possibly the gentleman who sees the probable fall of democracy unless his empty bottle bill becomes law smokes cigars himself and would not, therefore, lend his support to felonyizing his fellow citizens over a lone cigar in order that our "free institutions" might be handed down "unsullied" to posterity.

The gentleman ought to introduce and have passed a companion bill to his empty bottle crusade, by making it a felony for any person, male or female, within this state to own, possess or be provided with a hip pocket in his trousers or trouserettes of size sufficient to admit, house, contain or conceal a flask of any size, color, shape or design whatsoever.

It all sounds so "American," and so common sense like!

A certain oil field in Texas is reported to have several gassers. Since the Legislature of Texas convened, Austin has about 180 new gassers in her midst, all producing in unpaying qualities.

Did it not ever occur to you as being passing strange that millions of individuals who admit a common origin, who seek a common destiny, who admit a common Maker, and who worship a common Saviour, can, in the name of their religion, and for the purpose of advancing the cause of their religion, so heartily hate, slander and persecute one another? Yet the other characterization is adequate to describe us Christians, for that is precisely the way most of us carry on. Suppose we stop it!

SOMEBODY SAID—

SOMEBODY SAID the Slatonite's editorial on "Hard Times and Taxes" published in last week's issue "hit the nail on the head". If you didn't read it, hunt up last week's copy and see what it was. Many did read it, though, for a large number of "somebodies" have made comment similar to the above.

SOMEBODY SAID the few pessimistic citizens of Slaton could be easily cured of their pessimism by visiting some nearby towns and observing the conditions prevailing where they haven't a large and growing payroll.

SOMEBODY SAID now is the time to begin planning how you will beautify your home this spring by planting shade trees, shrubbery, flowers, etc.

SOMEBODY SAID the safest plan for all of us is to take the smallpox vaccination before we accidentally take the smallpox without the vaccination. Many towns in this part of the state are having and have had smallpox epidemics. In this case, as in others, it is better to be safe than sorry, even if you do have a sore arm. We are not getting a cent from the doctors for saying this, either.

SOMEBODY SAID the Boy Scout movement on the South Plains should have the hearty support of every good citizen. It is pointed out that if we do not pay for the kind of training that will make the right kind of men of the boys of the country we must pay for our failure in this respect later on.

EXCHANGE SHOTS

THE RIGHT KIND OF 'PLANTING'

He planted cotton and gathered "the blues".

She "planted" turkeys and garnered $490.25.

Which is better "the blues" or $490.25?

You had your choice—and you took "the blues."

It's your own fault.

Over at Snyder, neighboring town in Scurry, a woman started out last Spring with six turkey hens. She gave them about as much attention as the average Dawson County farmer does his cotton crop—but not nearly so much toll—and when the end of the year came she found her bank account expanded $490.25.

"Plant" turkeys!

They will pay. With the expansive fields affording luxuriant range, the ideal climate, the proper altitude and the great crops of feed—a veritable "turkey paradise," why should men hesitate to engage in that which is profitable?

Turkeys "rustle" for themselves. They are symbols of constructiveness. Boll worms also "rustle" for themselves. They are symbols of destructiveness.

Be optimistic and constructive—"Plant" turkeys.

Get the instructions on how to start from your county farm agent. Ask some of your neighbors who have turkeys why they are so prosperous.

If they tell the secret it will be—"Plant" turkeys!—Dawson County Journal.

That's good preaching, and it is to be hoped that such sermons will result in many converts all over this part of the country.

JUST A RHYME

CHILDREN GROWN TALL

We elders in speaking of young folks, assume a most dignified mien.
Forgetting that we are just children, and a few things of earth haven't seen
We fuss and we fume and we worry, because things don't go our own way,
We're only a bunch of bad children engaged in a brawl over play.
We've made of the thing a reversal, the child is the purest of all,
And we who imagine we're perfect, are only spoiled children grown tall.

Our minds are beclouded with hatred, our mouths with foul epithets spew,
As we dig up the old buried hatchets and whet them for battle anew,
And what shall we say, my dear brother, allow these conditions to stand?
Still fighting and hating each other and making a hell of our land?
The years have lent strength to our venom, our kindness has turned into gall
Our years make no difference we tell you, we're bad, wicked children grown tall.

When the lord pointed out his example of the Kingdom's pure citizen there,
'Twas a sweet child unsullied by sinning, unruffled with sorrow and care.
Then He said that unless we're converted and like unto children become,
We can never be heirs of His Kingdom or live in the heavenly home.
And now as we make our confession, may mercy be over us all,
Forgiving and loving each other, and just be God's children grown tall.

"We want people to know and see who has charge of our scouts," said Scoutmaster Caldwell, in a recent conversation with a Slatonite representative, "and to that end a Court of Honor will be held in Slaton in the not far distant future." On this occasion Mr. Caldwell states, prominent Scout leaders will be present, including Mr. Palmer, South Plains Executive, and other men of this type.

Slaton Scouts meet every Monday night at the West Ward school building, and very enthusiastic and instructive meetings are being held, it is stated.

The present troop is now full, but another troop will be organized within the next month, Mr. Caldwell states, to care for those boys who are wanting to become Scouts.

Bad Color (liver trouble)

"OCCASIONALLY I am troubled with spells of constipation and inactive liver," says Mrs. John L. Pence, Broadway, Va. "I always use Thedford's Black-Draught when I feel a spell of this kind coming on, for it saves me a bad headache. My color gets sallow at times. I get real yellow, showing that the trouble comes from the liver. I have found Black-Draught to be the finest kind of a remedy for this. I take Black-Draught and make a tea out of it, and take it, along in small doses for several days. I have never found anything that served me so well. Since I have known about Black-Draught, I have not suffered nearly so much with headache, caused from indigestion. If I find my tongue is coated, and I wake up with a bad taste in my mouth, I know I have been eating indiscreetly, and I immediately resort to Black-Draught to straighten me out."

Posey News

Several from this community have been attending court at Lubbock the past two weeks.

Posey community should feel highly complimented. One of our boys, I. J. Thornton has won a trip to Washington, D. C., through his Club work. He and one other Texas boy have won the trip over several thousand Club boys.

Mrs. C. C. Thornton has been sick for the past few weeks.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. Burleson is much improved, after a severe case of pneumonia.

L. A. Robinson and family have moved to Brown wood to make their future home.

Owing to the singing at Slaton last Sunday, Posey did not have any Sunday School, but everybody be sure and come next Sunday.

Help Buy Sweaters for the Football Boys

We have worked out a plan whereby everyone interested in the school and athletics can help the football boys buy sweaters.

One of the best if not the best play ever staged in Slaton will be given in the High School Auditorium Thursday night, Feb. 10, beginning at 7:30.

The play is a 3-act comedy entitled "Husbands on Approval." It is humorous from start to finish and we will be more than willing to refund your money if you are not well pleased. The play is supervised by Miss Crawford, head of our Department of Public Speaking. The High School Orchestra will play between acts, also special numbers will be offered.

The sale of tickets is in charge of the football boys and fans. They will more than likely solicit you to buy one or many tickets from them within the next few days. It will not make us mad if you do, not buy any, neither will it make us mad if you buy twenty-five.

We consider that the boys deserve sweaters if a team ever did deserve them. They fought just as hard and played just as good this year as ever before and just a little hard luck is all that kept them from winning their 3rd consecutive District Championship. They have only lost one game in three years in our District. They have worked hard on their studies and have maintained a high standard of school work.

We're expecting the largest crowd that has ever attended a play in Slaton to attend this play. The tickets will sell at 50c and 25c. Come early to get a seat.—Contributed.

Rotarians Consider Business Methods

W. H. McKirahan led the program at the regular weekly luncheon of Slaton Rotary Club last Friday, the meeting being in charge of the Business Methods Committee of which Mr. McKirahan is chairman.

The leader announced the subject of "Compulsory Arbitration" and called on R. A. Baldwin to discuss the topic. The speaker in an impromptu manner briefly related the history of the principle of compulsory arbitration and stated the positions of opposing views, and announced himself as being opposed to the doctrine because it infringed upon the rights of the individual and of business both upon constitutional grounds and upon the principles of natural justice.

J. F. Anton was called on to state his views on the subject, and contented himself with demurring to the conclusions reached by the first speaker.

The leader then announced for discussion the second and fifth objects of Rotary, being respectively as follows: To encourage and foster high ethical standards in business and professions, and to encourage and foster the recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society.

The leader gave a very interesting discussion of these two objects of Rotary and called upon A. J. Payne and Floyd Rector to follow up the discussion, which they did in a manner that gave those present something worth while to think about. President Rector directed his remarks especially along the line of profit sharing and advocated the principle between employer and employe as feasible and calculated to promote harmony and good will, and therefore to make for greater efficiency in industry.

The meeting tomorrow will be led by Alex DeLong on the subject, The History of my business and the Service it Renders in this Community. On February 18th the Boys Work Committee, of which John Hood is chairman, will have charge of the program, and on February 25th will be Ladies' Night, with Tom Overby bearing the responsibility, ably assisted by his bachelor compatriot, President Floyd Rector.
