On Monday evening, six of Miss Margaret Breton's little friends gathered at her home in honor of her twelfth birthday. The color motif was pink and white. Dinner was served to the following girls:

Misses Betty Paek, Mary Belle Wolfskill, Myrtle Teague, Crystelle Scudder, Frances Donnell, Virginia Bowman and the hostess, Margaret Breton.

Mrs. K. C. Scott and Mrs. George Everline entertained their friends in a jolly and pleasing manner. About thirty-five guests were invited to a "tacky party", the costumes and decorations being in keeping with the party. The food was served in the same manner, but surely was tasty instead of tacky. Every body had the best time ever, and departed wishing their charming hostesses might see fit to invite all back in the same outfit.

The Homemakers Class of the Baptist church met March 7 at the home of Mrs. Holden with Mrs. A. A. Deverosa joint hostess. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed.

The next meeting to be held April 14th will be with Mrs. T. T. Butler and we are looking forward to a delightful meeting in her country home.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

The Young Peoples meeting of the Church of Christ enjoyed a good team last Sunday evening. The next meeting we are to have impromptu speaking and we invite every boy and girl to attend our services next Sunday evening at 8:30.

If you want to find out a man's worth, look not at his bank account but ascertain how much he values his own word.

If Nature bestowed on us only what we merit how many of us could live the year through.

One must himself possess some little degree of wisdom if he would be able to recognize wisdom in others.

When a selfishly ambitious man fails a gronch is born.

We wonder who repealed the Decalogue? It doesn't seem to be in force or enforced any more.

Some try to ride an elephant into office; others a donkey, and still others their ancestors. Few rely exclusively on their own merits.

SOMETHING SENSIBLE IN FARM RELIEF

Word comes that Congressman Marvin Jones, who represents in Congress the Texas district in which Lubbock county is located, has secured passage of his bill providing for investigations to determine possible new and wider uses of cotton, especially the cheaper grades of cotton. The bill carries an appropriation of $50,000 to defray the costs of experiments and investigations, and the bill is to be administered by the Secretaries of Agriculture and Commerce.

That seems to us like sensible legislation. It looks like an effort on the part of the government to serve the people, instead of riding the people. Further more legislation of that sort does not, like the McNary-Haugen bill and other ill advised legislation seek to set aside the natural law, like the law of supply and demand. It seeks to increase the demand for cheaper grades of cotton, of which this country produces much, and if the demand is increased, so will the price be, because a market does not now find an adequate market.

We have no doubt that in this intensive scientific age many uses can be found for low grade cotton once the scientific mind is turned to the task, and the efforts of our own Marvin Jones, our efficient representative in the national congress, is a step in the direction that promises to be beneficial for all the cotton states and cotton farmers. America is as yet an agricultural country; agriculture is by far its basic industry; what benefits this basic industry, benefits the entire nation. Cotton is one of the basic national crops of this basic national industry, even if the growing of cotton is confined to the southern section of the nation.

WIFE DESERTERS

Texas has a law that sounds exceedingly good when read from the cold page of the statute book. Its words are:

"Any husband who shall wilfully desert neglect to refuse to provide for the support and maintenance of his wife who may be in destitute or necessitous circumstances, or any parent who shall wilfully desert, neglect or refuse to provide for the support and maintenance of his or her child or children under sixteen years in destitute or necessitous circumstances, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than five hundred dollars or be imprisoned in jail not more than one year, or both."

It is too bad that said statute does not mean what it says. Leastwise, technical and far-fetched interpretations of it by the Texas Court of criminal appeals, seem to take all the meaning and effect out of those wholesome words, until convictions under the statute seem impossible. Juries seldom fail to convict the guilty, but that Court almost invariably reverses the judgement, and, so it seems to us, on quite technical grounds.

Great stress is laid by the Court on "wilful." A big, strong, broad-shouldered, double-fisted husband and father, able to work but won't, owing to his wife and children, the moral and legal duty to provide for them but repudiating that duty, seems to be able, in Texas, to do so with impunity. And he does not desert, neglect or refuse by accident, either. A fair and liberal construction of that statute, and its frequent and courageous application, and we say frequent because instances of child and wife desertion are frequent, would afford considerable measure of protection to many helpless wives and children who need, deserve and ought to have that protection.

SOMEBODY SAID

SOMEBODY SAID Slaton would have more pretty lawns this summer than ever before. For one reason, there are more homes and more people than in the past. Slaton has grown in population, and also in the number of good homes which people will be proud to beautify. Flowers, grass, shrubbery and trees will soon blossom forth in all their glory. If you help make Slaton more attractive by cultivating any of these things you are a blessing to your fellow-citizens. Enter the "Pretty Lawn Contest" now.

SOMEBODY SAID the San Angelo slayer who killed three people with an axe, according to his confession, is one of the most brutal killers of modern days. Somehow, when Hickman committed his crime in California most of us couldn't believe a Texas person would be guilty of so heinous a crime.

SOMEBODY SAID the South Plains country is being closely watched by the entire Southwest, with people wanting to come here to locate and make their homes. Yes, and Slaton is right in the big middle of the South Plains. When they get to Slaton they'll not want to go any farther.

SOMEBODY SAID this is the time of the year when every alley and back lot should be thoroughly cleaned of all rubbish, cans, trash and other garbage. Do that now and prevent having flies and disease later.

SIMPLE ANSWER

The old question, "Which came into the world first, the egg or the hen?" has a counterpart in Los Angeles.

Hickman, the slayer of a little girl was sentenced to life imprisonment last week for shooting a druggist during a holdup.

The question is, will Hickman serve the life sentence first? Or will he be hanged first?

The answer is in the hands of the law, and California law is at least practical. They'll hang him for the slaying of the child, and ignore the life sentence.

It looked foolish to put him through a trial for slaying a man and give him a life sentence when he was already doomed to die, but it wasn't as foolish as it looked. The law was after his companion in the crime, and had to put Hickman through the grist in order to convict the pal.—Abilene

Hickman will serve his life sentence and also pay the death penalty, won't he? Of course, the life imprisonment will not be ninety-nine years, but he'll remain in prison, barring escape, until his hanging occurs, barring commutation of sentence, reversal by higher court followed by a lighter sentence in a new trial, or some other remotely possible development. California justice, to say the least of it moves more slowly than does that of Michigan, as proved by the Hotelling case, contrasted with Hickman's.

Otie A. Dabney and family, of Alvord, arrived here last week for an extended visit with his father, Jno. Dabney, and family. Otis is helping his father in the City Drug Store.

Former Slaton Boy In Newspaper Work

Following is a clipping from a California newspaper, believed to be the Los Angeles Examiner, which was generously sent to The Slatonite office.

It concerns a recent promotion of W. A. Johnston, said to be formerly of Slaton:

"Retail merchants of the South District will, without a doubt, be very sorry to hear that William A. Johnston, that pleasant young representative of The Examiner's merchandising service department, has left them. There is, however, a silver lining to this dark cloud, for if he will be missed by his many friends, they think well enough of him to rejoice in the knowledge that his loss means his personal advancement.

Mr. Johnston, after many years in direct contact with the trade, has been assigned to the display sales staff of this paper, convincing food-stuff advertisers that merchants cannot be expected to do all the work in selling the merchandise these same advertiser-manufacturers have sold them.

"He will still be fighting the battle of the retail merchants and will not be lost to them as it would at first seem.

"Bill Johnston was honored by his associates and coworkers at a luncheon in the Southern California Commercial Club incident to his assuming of the new post. Lewis A. Weiss, assistant foreign advertising manager of The Examiner and manager of the merchandising service department, presided. Others present were Miss Vida Tynan, Mildred Hart, Paul Lombardi, Julian Hollman, John Galvin, Don Robbins, Ira Williams, Stephen Peters, and L. M. Rutherford."

Clara Bow is Ravishing in "Hula"

Clara Bow, the "flaming-haired madcap of the screen" is about to "madcap" again with the announcement today that her latest Paramount production "Hula" will open next Wednesday and Thursday for a two-day run.

"Hula" according to those who have seen the latest presentation of Miss Bow, is one of the very best pictures offered the motion picture public this year. As the title suggests, it is a tale of the Hawaiian Islands with the upper stratum of society in the limelight.

The story itself is an adaptation of a popular modern novel which carries the same title and which comes from the pen of Armine Von Tempski. This cross-section of society life in the shadow of Waikiki tells the adventures of an American girl, Hawaiian born, who loves an English engineer.

Not since "IT" has Miss Bow had a vehicle so fitted for her versatility. "Hula" is a perfect story for the dashing "madcap of the screen." In addition, it has a fine director and a great cast. Victor Fleming, who directed the star in "Mantrap" and has just completed the "Rough Riders" and "The Way of All Flesh" starring Emil Jennings, handled the megaphone. Members of the cast in her support are Clive Brook, popular leading man; Arlette Marchal, Arnold Kent, Albert Gran and Agostino Borgato.

The possessor of "IT" presents a great title, a great story, a great director, great entertainment and, well—after all, there's only one Clara Bow. "Hula" presents Clara Bow at her best.

THANKS

To the good ladies of Slaton who served the Rotary Club, giving the proceeds to the High School Band. Much credit is due Mrs. Eckert the way she planned this where each member of the band furnished something making it possible to serve the 65 without any expense.

Mr. Overby gave our manager, Wallace King, a check for $65.00. This was all clear, and will be paid on the bass horn for the band. We want to thank the Rotarians for this opportunity, and want you to call on us when we might serve you as a band.

To the ladies, everyone of you, each of us say thanks a thousand times. We do appreciate your co-operation and support. Maybe you ladies never owned a "brass band" before and just to prove our appreciation we want to say "Your band—Our band" not how well we try to play. With this kind support we will grow.

Call on us anytime we might serve you.

Dreaded Aches, PAINS Disappeared

"My health had been poor for ten years, before I took Cardui," says Mrs. Anna Cronin, of Rockport, Ind. "I was lifeless and 'no account'. I dragged around day after day, every move an effort, and never feeling the joy of being well.

"At times, I had a dreadful ache across my back, and my sides hurt me. I worried along, sometimes hardly able to leave my bed, but the demands of a growing family had to be attended to; so I would get up, do what was absolutely necessary, and then lie down again.

"One day, someone suggested Cardui to me. I took it for several months, and all the time I was growing stronger, and less nervous. My aches and pains finally disappeared.

"That was two years ago. My improvement has been permanent. The good health, which followed the taking of Cardui, is still with me, so I do not hesitate to recommend it to my friends."

Slaton Rotary-Ann's are Royal Entertainers

(From Last Week)

The regular weekly meeting of the Slaton Rotary Club last week was postponed from the noon hour to that night, at which time the wives of the local Rotarians, known as Rotary-Ann's, had exclusive charge of the program, and presented an entertainment that has not been equaled in the history of the local club. That something in the way of a real treat was in store was sensed by the men, but not until the program got underway was it realized that something was about to take place which could be described only in superlative terms.

A sumptuous banquet of roast chicken, oyster dressing and all the trimmings known to culinary art, was served by a committee of young ladies of the Slaton High School, under the able direction of Mrs. J. E. Eckert, and was so good calculated to satisfy the biggest and most exacting appetites, and that is exactly what it did.

Mrs. P. G. Stokes presided at the opening of the ceremonies. She started the program with a witty speech that amply hinted at, but did not reveal, what was in store further down the line. In imitation of the methods of the men at Ladies' Night meetings, she called for a roll call of the Rotary-Ann's, after swearing them with uplifted hand, to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth as to how they spent their time on Fridays while their husbands attended Rotary luncheon. Mrs. Holloway was first called on, but pleaded what we took to be her constitutional exemption against giving testimony against herself, and when pressed for the truth, she burst into hysterical sobbing and left the banquet hall. Then one after another of the ladies were called upon and each made startling disclosures, which in each case proved so startling that the speaker, instead of resuming her seat, unceremoniously left the hall while the men were convulsed with laughter at the wit displayed.

Mrs. Marjorie Jones then rendered two excellent piano solos, after which the chairman, Mrs. Stokes, described the Rotary-Ann interpreter of Shakespearean roles in such superlative terms that each Rotary-Ann probably felt certain that she herself was being referred to and at the end of the eulogy would be called on to perform. The Chairman, however, ended by announcing very gravely, that she, herself, was that Shakespearean interpreter of whom she had been speaking, and that she would proceed to favor the audience with a scene from Hamlet. Chairs were arranged to form a stage backdrop and a number of Rotarians were called forth to assist in the presentation. It was to be the bridal scene. L. R. Cyfert was assigned to the role of King of Denmark; R. H. Tudor as the villain; Sam Stanges as Prince of Denmark; L. A. Wilson as the ghost; J. T. Overby as the rotund bride, with Mrs. Payne and Mrs. Taggart as Keepers of the Wardrobe. Each of the actors was appropriately arrayed in costumes of the period, the curtains was drawn, Mrs. Stokes advanced to the front of the stage and began. The profound dignity of her chosen supporters and the charming luster of the bride, however, seem to have suddenly flustered her; the lines were forgotten and confusion reigned. The directress, however, was equal to the occasion. Glancing first at the array of actors back of her, then at the audience, she declared to the latter that she could not do a thing. "How can I?" she exclaimed in derision. "I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen," she said to the audience, as she indicated the bride, King of Denmark and the other parts, "that this is the biggest bunch of nuts you ever saw!" The curtain fell, with the audience convulsed in laughter at the perfect take-off.

The next number was the presentation of the "African Dark Town Minstrel Troupe," which was a scream from beginning to end, and cannot be adequately described to anyone who did not have the good fortune to witness it. It now developed that the ladies who had so unceremoniously left the hall earlier in the program were not peeved at all, for now they came parading back, ensemble, all arrayed in the proverbial grotesque African minstrel costumes, end-men, inter-locutor, soloists, chorus and all, not to omit "Mammy" and the Gold Dextrins all so perfectly disguised that the audience was kept guessing as to the identity of the individual performers.

During the course of the minstrel performance, each Rotarian was brought into the dialogue with a witty take off that brought round after round, peals and screams of laughter. Mrs. Ben G. Holloway presided as Inter-locutor in her perfect and inimitable style. The chorus, "Henry made a Lady out of Lizzie," brought down the house. One of the troupe had stumbled upon, or maybe intentionally seized upon, a speech of L. A. Wilson in support of his candidacy for the secretaryship of the Slaton Chamber of Commerce, and this was recited to the audience in true Wilsonian style, gesture and eloquence. The speech was amusing, entertaining, and convincing, for the author of the speech is reported to have gotten the job, un-animously.

There was not a dull moment, not a halting second, throughout the excellent program, and we have it on reliable information that the entire program, songs, jokes, speeches and lines of the minstrel were entirely written and arranged by the Slaton Rotary-Ann's. It was all original, amusing and entertaining in the highest degree.

Lubbock County Federated Clubs Make Progress

(From Last Week)

That the women's clubs of Slaton, affiliated with the County and State Federations, and the Lubbock County Federation of Women's Clubs, have made splendid progress during the past year and a half, and have now on foot active plans for bigger things, is indicated in an article published last Sunday in the Amarillo News-Globe, giving in brief review the work and future plans of these organizations, which article is here reproduced as follows:

The club women of Slaton are organized into three clubs, the Wednesday Study Club, the Civic and Culture Club, and the Junior Civic and Culture club. While each club carries its own course of study, each lends its active co-operation with the others in various undertakings.

During the present month these clubs have sponsored an art exhibit in connection with the Slaton public schools, and though this exhibit was primarily for the purpose of encouraging a keener appreciation of art, a small admission charged was instrumental in raising a substantial sum which will be used for the purchase of good pictures for the schools. In connection with the art exhibit an excellent patriotic program was given under the direction of the Civic and Culture Club by the grade pupils, consisting of drills and a pageant portraying the salient facts in our country's history.

On February 22 the same club also sponsored the presentation of the patriotic pageant written by Mrs. J. A. Hill of Canyon, which was enthusiastically received. This was presented by the fine arts department of the city schools, and the proceeds are likewise to be used for the purchase of pictures to be hung in the school rooms.

During the coming spring the clubs will conduct a plant exchange, and, in co-operation with the Chamber of Commerce, will again stage a yard improvement and beautiful lawn contest, similar to the one conducted last year. The red verbena, adapted as the town flower, will be planted broadly by all the local clubs.

At the last semi-annual meeting in October the Slaton Women's Clubs Federation, of which time there was a large attendance of both urban and rural women.

In October, 1926, the Lubbock County Federation was reorganized with Mrs. E. A. Baldwin of Slaton as president, and the splendid co-operation which she has received is demonstrated by the fact that at this time the organization is composed of twenty-one clubs, with a total membership of over 500 women representing virtually every community in the county. This was the only federation in the state sending a delegate with the Texas Farm Bureau Special last July to California to investigate and study marketing problems.

Active steps are being taken by Mrs.

Baldwin to realize her plans for the establishment of co-operative markets in Lubbock county, where the rural women may dispose of their home products, to the mutual advantage of themselves and the town women and at the same time bring urban and rural women into closer relationship.

During February and March the Federation is stressing tree planting and many communities celebrated Arbor Day with appropriate exercises and the planting of trees.

Lubbock county women plan to extend gracious hospitality to the women who route this way to the Biennial to be held in San Antonio.

The Federated clubs of Slaton, as well as the entire county federation have pledged their loyal support in carrying out work recently outlined by our capable and esteemed seventh district president, Mrs. F. T. Collins of Amarillo.

Chamber of Commerce News Notes

Reported by
L. A. WILSON, Secretary.

A large number of Slaton people who have not been having telephone service should now secure connections as soon as possible. The Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has given Slaton a modern, up-to-date system, costing $77,000.00, and with the better service now available the company is entitled to better support on the part of Slaton people. They will be found anxious to install your telephone. Order it soon.

Many entries for the "Pretty Lawn Contest" have already been turned in since the first announcement was made last week. Now is the time for YOU to enter. Sign the coupon, published elsewhere in this paper, and mail or bring it to this office NOW.

Two committees for 1928 have been named by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce. The list is shown in The Slatonite of this issue. Be sure to look over it. These men will do their best in whatever tasks they are called upon to perform, we feel sure. They are working for Slaton, and need your hearty support in every undertaking.

Are you trading at home, buying from Slaton merchants? If so, you are helping yourself, building your town, strengthening your schools and churches, paving the streets, improving the water system, extending the sewer mains, helping keep the city well lighted, providing good public buildings, helping protect yours and your neighbor's property with fire-fighting equipment. Are you buying from merchants in other towns? If so, you are crippling your town and yourself, weakening your schools and churches, causing your town to stand still when it could be moving forward at a rapid gait. IF YOU were trading at home. Think seriously, folks, these are facts. What will you do about it?

Slaton farmers have been busy preparing for the new crop during the past few weeks. Many report they have finished their spring plowing, and are now ready for more moisture to prepare the soil for seeding. Farmers have done considerable improving on their farms this spring, planting shade trees, building new barns, poultry houses, fences, etc. Some have repaired, repainted or enlarged their residences. These are signs of better financial conditions, and are largely the results of diversified farming.

Milton Doyle Holloman, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Holloman, died Monday, March 12, at the home of its parents, on South Eighth St. Interment was made in Engewood cemetery Monday afternoon.

peasant in the new picture, a graphic romance of the Russian revolution directed by Benjamin Christensen, the noted Danish director of "The Devil's Circus," in which Norma Shearer was starred.

Richardo Cortez has a featured role in the new Chaney picture, a heads a cast that includes Barbara Bedford, Charles Puffy, Mack Swain, Emily Fitzroy and Kai Schmidt. These players have been directed by Christensen with such uncanny skill that they seem to be living their roles rather than acting them. The film abounds in tense situations and has been produced on an elaborate scale with the result that the picture is well worth seeing. Lon Chaney fans in particular will find entertainment vastly to their liking in "Mockery," Chaney having found in this picture one of the most vivid and dramatic roles in his career.

Fifth Annual Music Festival of South Plains Association to be Held in Lubbock March 29, 30, and 31

The Fifth Annual Music Festival, sponsored by the South Plains Music Teachers Association, will be held in Lubbock on March 29, 30, and 31. The opening number and the special feature of the festival will be a two-piano recital by Paul Van Katwijk and Viola Beck Van Katwijk of Southern Methodist University, Dallas. Mr. Van Katwijk is at present Dean of Music Department at S. M. U., and is a pianist, composer and conductor of National reputation. Mrs. Van Katwijk is also a pianist and composer of prominence and is quite active in Dallas Musical Circles. This program will be not only of great interest to pianists and piano students but to all music lovers, because of the broad musicianship of both performers.

Friday and Saturday evenings will be given over to the contest winners programs which promise to be of unusual merit this year.

The contest will begin Thursday afternoon and continue through Friday and Saturday. That these contests have proven to be of great value to both pupils and teachers no one doubts. Keen competition combined with a real co-operative spirit, a live interest, the general improved performance more musical and artistic, give evidence to the worthiness of these music contests. Owing to the large number of piano contestants, it has been decided to hold a preliminary contest in Lubbock on Saturday, March 24. Slaton schools are entering a large number of students in piano, violin, choral and glee clubs, Band and Junior orchestra.

"Nevada" a Gripping Tale of Old Frontier

A gripping story of the western frontier written by a descendant of real frontiersmen—that's "Nevada" Zane Grey's latest, which has been picturized in stirring fashion by Paramount. It is scheduled to open at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday night only.

"Nevada" from all reports, holds the strength, heroism and romance of the Zane Grey standard and also contains many novel twists and situations of which Director John Waters has taken full advantage.

Followers of the red-blooded screen stories, which includes ninety per cent of all picture-goers, will be pleased to know that Gary Cooper, rangy young star, plays the hero role. Cooper is the daring horseman, under contract to Paramount who has been gaining tremendous popularity in the last few months.

Opposite him in the play is Thelma Todd, blonde heroine of exceptional beauty who is looked upon as one of the most promising young actresses on the screen. The menace of the story is supplied largely by that admirable villain, William Powell. The comedy elements rests in the hands of Ernie S. Adams. Phil Strange, a capable young actor, has an important role.

The story transpires in the Southwest cattle country at the time when the citizenry was solidly rising up to put an end to the reign of terror spread by two-gun men and cattle rustlers. It is replete with fast riding, quick gun play, moments of dramatic suspense and broad humor. A splendid love story winds through the action.

Scenic Beauty in "Nevada"
Backgrounds of scenic beauty that are world famed were used for sequences of "Nevada" Paramount's picturizations of the Zane Grey story by the same story which reaches the Palace next Tuesday. John Waters, director, took a company to Brice Canyon, Cedar Breaks and Zion National Park, Utah, for many of the scenes. In the company were Gary Cooper, Thelma Todd, leading woman; William Powell, villain and Philip Strange who plays a sympathetic role.

Posey Items.

Pupils of the Posey school have been selected for the declamations, spellers and essay writers. The school is progressing nicely.
There was a birthday party given at Misses Ruth and Edna Leavelle. There was not very many present, but few as there were enjoyed themselves. Mr. Bill Lane and Carl Self were there from Slaton.

There was a large crowd at Sunday school Sunday. There was also a goodly number of visitors. Mr. and Mrs. Kranklin from Lubbock were there. They were visitors in the Kelly home.

There was a singing at Mr. Homer Kelly's Sunday night, although most of the people went to Slaton to attend the services at the Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morrison left Sunday for Cisco where they will visit his folks for a few days. They were accompanied by Mrs. Lawson.

Mr. E. A. Nick and W. F. Gentry and Robert Boyce returned home from Brownwood Sunday evening where they have been visiting for a few days.

We now have a cream station at Posey which we are all proud of.

Section 5. Dues shall not consist of any stipulated amount for any individual or organization to pay, but it shall be suggested to each co-operating or member organization that the annual contributions should range from ten to fifty dollars for each organization, payable from the organization's treasury or by individual members acting independently, as they may elect. It is furthermore provided that any individual may contribute voluntarily such amount or amounts as he desires to pay annually to the support of this association, and that this annual payment shall entitle him to the aforementioned and all other privileges and rights of an active member of this association.

Section 6. Funds for the support of this association shall be collected annually, and its officers and members, jointly, shall adopt such plans of raising funds as they deem most advisable.

Section 7. All resignations on the part of members elected to official positions in this association shall be presented to the Board of Directors in written form.

Section 2. A nominating committee of five members shall be appointed by the president at each annual meeting, subject to the approval of the association, and the nominating committee shall place in nomination active members only to serve as officers as provided in section one of this article. Other nominations may be made from the floor by attending members at the time the report of the nominating committee is made.

Section 3. Voting shall be done orally or by secret ballot, according as a majority of members attending an annual meeting desire.

Section 4. The secretary-treasurer shall furnish bond by a surety bond company in such amount as the board of directors may deem necessary for maintaining perfect good faith with contributing members, and the cost of such bond shall be paid from the association's treasury.

Section 8. The board of directors shall be empowered to fill all vacancies occurring between annual meetings.

Section 9. The board of directors shall report annually to the association as to its work and financial condition.

Section 10. Representation at all meetings shall be done by personal attendance of individuals, representing themselves or member organizations which have named them as representatives. Fifty per cent of the membership shall constitute a quorum at any meeting of the association, provided that not less than half the individuals having membership, and not less than half the organizations having membership are represented in meetings held.

Section 11. Any resolution offered at any meeting must be in writing, and no member shall read or offer for action any resolution, report or communication of any nature without first giving a general statement of the subject matter thereof, unless it has been previously approved by a majority vote of the members of the board of directors. Should any three members object to its presentation, it shall be referred to a resolutions committee. After hearing any statements which the member offering or the member objecting to its presentation may desire to make, the committee shall then report back to the meeting, recommending the matter for consideration or for exclusion.

Section 12. Meetings of the board of directors shall be held as deemed necessary by the board.

Section 13. Committees

Section 14. Disbursements and Audits

Section 1. Disbursements of the funds of this association shall be made by the secretary-treasurer upon the written order of the president, or of the vice president if the president should for any reason be temporarily unavailable, provided that in no instance shall an order for disbursement of funds be issued by the president or vice president without the approval of at least two other members of the board of directors, neither of whom shall be the secretary-treasurer. In case of extreme emergency, the secretary-treasurer may issue funds not to exceed the amount of $100, but this is done only when circumstances and the nature of the emergency prevent securing of approval of the president and other members of the board.

Section 2. No individual nor family receiving aid, from the association shall receive assistance amounting to more than $25.00 within a year's time, unless approved by a majority of the entire board of twenty-one directors.

Section 3. It is specifically provided that, when any case bears evidence of needing permanent aid, the board of directors shall take immediate steps to have the case handled by county or state authorities.

Section 4. When the officers of this association receive applications for aid from anyone, it shall be the duty of the president or vice president, together with two other members of the board of directors, one of whom shall be a woman, to make thorough investigations as to the needs and worthiness of the applicants before granting aid in any amount. When little or no facts are available, such investigative officers shall use their best judgment, seeking to avoid mistakes as far as humanly possible.

Section 5. Funds may be disbursed for meeting necessary expenses, such as printing, postage, stationery, and so forth.

Section 6. No officer nor any member of this association shall receive compensation in any amount for services rendered this association, but such services shall be given voluntarily as a contribution to general community welfare.

Section 7. The accounts of this association shall be audited once each year by a committee appointed by the president, subject to confirmation by a majority of members attending the annual meeting.

All amendments must be proposed by the board of directors, with this exception that if, upon petition by one-third of the members, the board of directors shall refuse to propose the amendment sought by association members then the members making such petition shall have the right of appeal to the association at the annual meeting, provided all members are given the required written notice as explained in the foregoing.
