A.M.J.

The illustration used on the front page of the Slatonite last week of the old ranch cook and the riders was made from an original drawing made several years ago for advertising for a meeting of typographers in Fort Worth.

It was one of a series that attracted nation wide attention and to me is one of the most natural western scenes I have run across. Claud Wood, an old buddy of mine, who lives in Fort Worth, found out that Slaton is going to have the biggest and best Rodeo ever held in this section, and he secured the engravings for our paper. To Mr. Wood the Advertising Committee for The Slaton Rodeo sends its sincere appreciation.

I rather doubt that the old camp cook looked as dyspeptic as most illustrations show him but if he did it is no wonder that the cowboys were as tough and rough as they were reported to be for any man who could stand to eat food prepared by a cook like that would most certainly be so sore at the world from indigestion that he could commit most any kind of crime.

There are certain people who seem to get an impish delight out of life. They watch you with a glitter in their eyes like they expect a cigar to explode in your mouth or as if they knew an amusing secret about every one they meet.

Ray Ayers appears to me as if he knew something that the other fellow does not. H. G. Sanders likes to give his friends a jolt once in a while and when he does that wicked gleam shines out in his eyes like a flash of lightning. H. S. Crews hides behind a dignified exterior but he has that hidden gleam in his eye that a school kid does when he puts glue in the teacher's seat or pepper on the stove.

As a warning to those who might get the good Samaritan fever and go around trying to help stranded motorists in trouble, we refer you to the experience of Reverend Ferguson of the Baptist church.

Several weeks ago after his Sunday night services were over he found E. N. Pickens in a high dither trying to start a car out in front of the church. "Here, try my key," said the Minister and without any trouble at all the car started. Just before Mr. Pickens was ready to start off it was discovered that it was the Preacher's car that Mr. Pickens was about to drive off instead of his own.

The moral of this fable is "Don't lend your car keys to some one else even if he is a member of your church."

One of the greatest pleasures about owning your own home is to plant trees, shrubs and grass and watch them grow into a wild jungle of vegetation. To see the little baby poppies pop and the grass grow makes you swell with pride, especially if you can do these things like Dr. Howard does over at his Dentist office.

On warm sunny days you can see the Doctor out surveying the many different things he has planted, his chest sticks out like the proud father of a ten-pound baby boy, he stoops over and looks at the grass and kicks the stones out of the pansy bed and tells the colored man to dig up the weeds in the parkway. Yes, sir, gardening is a wonderful exercise.

Some where I have collected the following observations that seemed to me to be good philosophy, or something.

"I Believe":
That money is made the same way it is lost, by taking chances.

That happiness and riches are in no way synonymous.

That it is better to have to work for an income than to have it without effort.

That physical or mental effort will not harm but worry will wreck your health.

That you should take chances with money until you have enough to be independent and then become conservative.

That the crowd is usually wrong and that you should act upon your own convictions.

That love has many counterfeits and that you discover them too late.

That advice is seldom appreciated unless it agrees with the other person's wishes.

That you should cultivate the acquaintanceship of others but not ask or expect too much from them.

That the other fellow feels toward you the same way you feel toward him.

It's No Snap—

To Be An Editor

If we print jokes, people say we're silly.

If we don't, they say we're too serious.

If we clip things and print them, we're too lazy to write.

If we don't, we're stuck on our own stuff.

If we stick too close to the job, they say we ought to get out and hunt news.

If we devote too much time to our publication, we're shirking our professional responsibilities.

And like as not, someone will say we swiped this from some other publication.

And we did! !

That the United States considers its amusement more important than the necessities of life even in war times is evident by the amount of money paid to moving picture production managers and actors, also automobile production managers.

Even in war times with production of war materials the most important thing in our nation, the motion picture industry is able to pay the highest salaries of all. Here are the 10 highest paid men in the U. S. in 1940:

L. B. Mayer, managing director of production, Loew's, Inc.—$697,048.

Eugene G. Grace, president, Bethlehem Steel Corp.—$478,144.

George W. Hill, president, American Tobacco Co.—$456,415.

Hunt Stromberg, production superintendent, Loew's Inc.—$332,267.

Nicholas M. Schenck, president, Loew's, Inc.—$318,881.

Charles E. Wilson, acting president, General Motors Corp.—$278,324-x.

W. C. Fields, actor, Universal Pictures—$255,000.

Paul M. Hahn, vice president, American Tobacco—$251,849.

Vincent M. Riggio, vice president American Tobacco—$251,849.

Charles F. Kettering, vice president, General Motors—$247,965-x. (x—estimated. Includes salaries and stock bonuses).

Mayer's salary, while slightly in excess of $688,369 he received in fiscal year 1939, was still short of the $1,161,753 he was paid in fiscal year 1938.

While Movie Star Fields was the only one of his craft among the top-ten, later reports might increase the film world's representation on the list. In the 1939 fiscal year, there were six film actors and actresses among the first ten.

What next? One expert says 25 per cent of the supplies shipped to England has been sunk, another that only six or seven ships with U. S. Supplies have gone to the bottom. One authority says our plane output for April was nearly two thousand planes and another that it was 400. Everywhere you go you hear some one telling what should be done and that the mad-dog of Europe is loose and should be stopped.

To say the least it it all very confusing.

But with all our propaganda we are still able to get the stomach-ache more ways than people can in any other part of the globe. Go into a drug store and you can buy Pistachio nuts from Turkey, Cashew nuts from Brazil, coconuts from the tropics, dates from Egypt and Vitamin B1 capsules from sharks liver caught in the Gulf of Mexico.

We take all the health giving properties out of flour and then put it back in the form of a drug. We all eat too much but our foods have been monkeyed with until it all might as well be so much hay.

Most of us have big stomachs, which usually feel like concrete mixers and legs that are too weak to stand up under the excess weight. We take fizzy drinks and go to the doctor to relieve our over worked digestions and wonder what is wrong with the world. I'm sure it's something we ate.

SEE Williams Funeral Home for your insurance policy. We pay off with complete burial or cash.

While Texas has produced over six and one-half billion barrels of oil so far, it still has at least ten billion barrels more which is unproduced.

Operator John Newton is back on 2nd trick Slaton relieving J. P. (Just Punk) Spears who has gone to Clovis to work as dispatcher.

Line-man A. R. Keys has been downcast for the past several days. The reason, well the high wind blew down several poles and he has found out that wishing will not put them back and he will have several days work. That goes for Browne Clark, too, as the wind broke off some of his power line poles leading to the wells.

Speaking about the wind, there are two small cogs in the big wheel, J. P. Spears and clerk M. F. Braden, who can vouch for the rigidity of the old big red building, but if there had been a hole for them to have crawled in they would have been there when a few shingles began to fly.

Bill Sledge says that he knows he is a full fledged switchman now, as he has gotten back on the payroll. He worked two days in one for the first day. We think that he is trying to make up for lost time.

Norbert Young, former trainmaster's clerk here and holding the same position in San Angelo, was here for two days visit. From the looks of him, his wife is a very good cook. Glad to see you around, Norbert.

We knew that the overtime worked by the switchmen and the doubles made by the trainmen would mean money spent. That is the reason for Vern (Slick) Johnson, switchman, and Conductor Dutch Eckert are driving new autos, Slick, a new Olds and Dutch, a Chevy.

There are times when the men out on the line show their appreciation to the men in the offices and vice versa. We do not know just what the occasion for operator Bill Gowan of Post to present Trick dispatcher David Kent with a pedigreed bird dog. The last we saw of the dog, Mr. Kent had him on a leash taking him home. We understand Kent called his wife to come down for him in the car but Mrs. Kent said that no dog would ride in her car.

Scott says he knows the dog is "ity," every night and intend to present it in the near future.

★ 29 MILLION!

A record never before approached!

★When the 29,000,000th Ford rolled recently from the assembly line, an all-time record for the industry was set. 29,000,000 units built by the same management and all bearing one name—a name that has become one of the best-known trade-marks in the world!

It is significant that this achievement comes at a time when our country is making a mighty effort to re-arm swiftly. For to further that effort, to help speed it along in any possible way, we have offered the vast facilities of the Rouge Plant and every ounce of our experience.

As you read this, a new $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine plant, started only last fall, is nearly completed. A new magnesium alloy plant, one of the few in the country, is already in production on light-weight airplane engine castings. Work is right now under way on a new $18,000,000 plant for mass production of big bomber assemblies. Orders have been filled for military vehicles of several types, including army reconnaissance cars, staff cars and bomb service trucks.

In the midst of this activity for National Defense, building the 29 millionth Ford car is simply one part of the day's work.

The public has acclaimed the 1941 Ford car as the finest in Ford history. Ford Dealers are enjoying their greatest sales and expecting their best year since 1937.

It is good to be producing the things America needs, and to be setting records on the way!

Society - Clubs

Yes, Husbands Should Have Night Out Say Slaton Wives, But---

Is Slaton a Sissy town? Do the women have all the fun and the men do all the work? Are all the clubs just for women to study art, music, literature and to play bridge? Can a married man get his nose outside the front door at night without his wife's nose just a few feet away?

There is no question that the women of Slaton do get around and do things in the day time, but there has always been some question as to what privileges the men of Slaton enjoy after the work at the shops, offices and stores is done.

If they do stay at home night after night it is their own fault for our "Inquisitive Irene" has made a poll of the feminine heads of many of the families in Slaton on this question, "Should Slaton married men be allowed a night out once a month?"

Here are the results: Mrs. R. G. Kirkpatrick: "I say they should. They need that outing from wives and families, and psychologists advise it."

Mrs. Carl Meriwether: "Goodness yes! By all means, three if they want it."

Mrs. A. M. Jackson: "I certainly think they should if they don't play poker!"

Mrs. S. A. Peavy: "Yes, I think that would be fine for both parties."

Mrs. J. D. Holt: "Yes, I think so, if the recreation is wholesome and not detrimental to his ideals. I think it would be very well for a man to have a night once a month, but the wife should enjoy the same privilege."

Mrs. Bill Cates: "Yes, I think they should, for they would undoubtedly enjoy it."

Mrs. Dick Ragsdale: "Yes. Wives ought to get one if they get one, and I think they should."

Mrs. Frank Wright: "Just depends on where they're going and what their excuse is."

Mrs. Vait Stokes: "I think that depends on the wives and the husbands."

Mrs. H. E. Howard: "I guess so, it's all right with me."

Mrs. R. G. Lovelless: "I'd say yes, even more often than that."

Mrs. T. K. Martin: "Yes, if he used discretion, and I think it should work both ways."

Ares - Townsend Marriage Read

Miss Joan Pauline Ares, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ares of Slaton, and Carl Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Townsend of west of Slaton, were united in marriage May 10 at 7 o'clock in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. W. W. Brunson of Lubbock. Rev. Winslow of the Episcopal Church performed the ring ceremony.

The bride wore a dress of white net embroidered with tiny hearts and fashioned on princess lines with puffed sleeves. She wore white satin sandals and a satin bow in her hair.

A reception was held after the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake of white and pink, topped with a miniature bride and groom centered the bride's table which was decorated with garden flowers.

Mrs. Pete Workman, sister of the bridegroom, presided in the dining room.

Mr. and Mrs. Townsend left for a wedding trip to parts of New Mexico. Upon their return they will be at home in Lubbock where he is employed by the First National Bank.

Silver Jubilee For Father O'Brien

The joyful peals of the glorious Easter bells have died away, a silvery chime is wafted in our ears heralding the advent of our revered and esteemed Pastor's Silver Jubilee.

A quarter of a century ago, in his dear, native Ireland on that great day of Holy Ordination, our own Father Thomas D. O'Brien dedicated his life to the service of the Eternal High Priest. He heard the call: "Come follow me," together with, "Go ye forth and teach all nations," and with the Holy Oils scarcely dry on his anointed hands, he left home and country and loved ones to labor for Christ in this great land of ours.

Amarillo with its many missions was the first field of his labors. After that he was pastor in Weatherford, Texas, for about six years, then he was made Pastor of Amarillo and remained as such until he was appointed Pastor of St. Joseph's Church in Slaton in July, 1927. It was with feelings of the deepest regret that the people both of Weatherford and Amarillo saw their dear Father and friend leave them, and we who know him can readily sympathize with them.

We fully realize that their great loss was Slaton's gain, and thru the many vicissitudes of the intervening years we see the wondrous dispensation of all-wise Providence who gave him to us for our shepherd and leader. For fourteen long years he has labored here among us with his sublime faith and untiring zeal, the results of which will continue to be felt as long as time endures.

Words are futile to express the feelings of love and gratitude that arise in our hearts toward our dear Father O'Brien, and our sincerest hope is that when he reaches the Golden Milestone he will still be going strong and still at the helm of St. Joseph's in Slaton. And now, dear Father, let us conclude with an Irish wish for you: "May your never die nor be killed, till you break your bones over a bushel of glory."

Submitted by a patroner of the St. Joseph's Parish.

Our Weekly Sermon—

The Gospel at the Gates or Eden By Max I. Reich, D. D., Director of Jewish Missions Course Moody Bible Institute, Chicago
Text: "He shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel."—Genesis 3:15.

The hope of the coming Redeemer was wrapped up in the pronouncement of the judgment that would fall on the head of man's seducer. The woman's seed would bruise him to his eventual discomfort; but He would suffer the piercing of His heel in doing so. It would be a costly victory.

We have here (1) the Redeemer's first advent in lowly form, (2) the Redeemer's sufferings as the fruit of the enmity of Satan against the virgin-born, (3) the Redeemer's second advent in power and glory when His enemies are made His footstool.

Did fallen Adam understand in some measure the mystery of the incarnation, the atonement, and the kingdom of glory based on it? He certainly gave a new name to his wife, calling her Eve, which means in the Hebrew, life. As DEATH came through Adam's sin, LIFE would come from the woman's Seed.

And it was then that the Lord God clothed Adam with skins to hide his nakedness and to comfort him as he was about to be turned out into the cheerless night outside the garden. The fig leaves were of man's contrivance and could not supply an adequate covering. The skins were the fruit of death—the lamb or the kid had to yield its life in order to supply a garment for naked man.

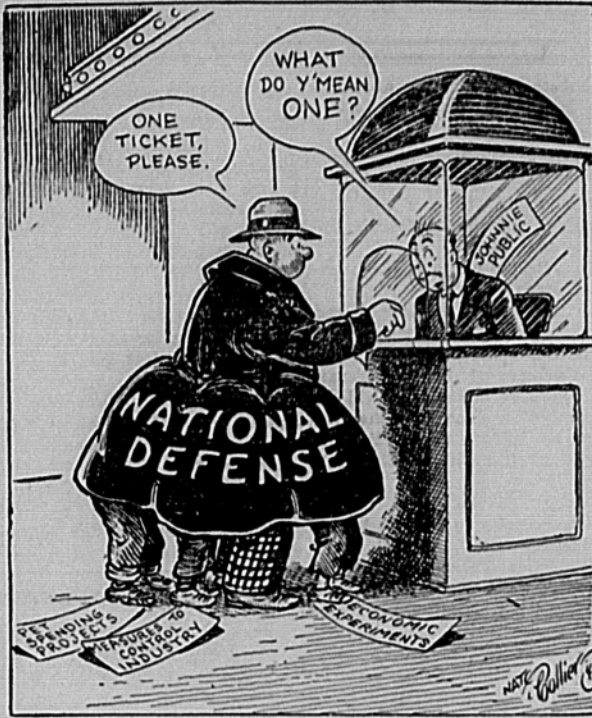

In the Hebrew capar, that is to cover, is also the word for atone. And thus was set forth in the language of symbolism that our moral nakedness can only be covered by that which is the result of the dying of another. It was God, and not man, who planned it all, and executed the plan. The first sinners were thus divinely clothed, and grace has and will continue so to do till the last sinner saved by grace is brought in.

This then is the first prophecy concerning the Messiah, the gospel at the gate of the Garden of Eden, which has become the germ out of which all messianic prophecy has sprung. Is it any wonder that Abel should next bring an offering which also spoke of a vicarious death as the ground of his acceptance before God? God smiled upon Abel's altar because there He saw the type of Him whose obedience unto death would one day send up its sweet savor to God on behalf of disobedient man. That blood-stained altar was a shadow of the cross of Calvary.

Important for Women

A weak, run-down condition often gives a foothold to functional dysmenorrhea, causing much periodical distress from headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain for women. CARDUI so often helps in such cases, for it sharpens appetite, boosts flow of gastric juices; so improves digestion, helps build physical resistance. CARDUI, taken a few days before and during "the time," is another way to help periodical distress. Used 50 years.

Alas, many prefer the way of Cain, rejecting the atoning sacrifice and the righteousness wrought out by Another, going about to establish their own righteousness, and refusing to submit to the righteousness of God. When at length we come to the end of our own self-made righteousness, we glory in that righteous Branch of David's lineage, "the Lord our Righteousness," even in Christ whom God has made righteousness to all who believe in His name.

How to make horsepower out of Thin Air!

Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedan, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.*

JUST consider these plain facts about the engines in this 1941 Buick SPECIAL:

The engine that regularly powers this Series develops 115 horsepower and turns up 20.1 miles per gallon at a steady 30 miles an hour in Proving Ground economy tests.

But add Compound Carburetion,† and the same engine in the same model develops 125 horsepower and goes 21.5 miles per gallon by exactly the same tests!

There's more from less gasoline — and it comes, literally, out of thin air.

Because the two carburetors in this exclusive Buick feature handle a larger air volume than can be provided efficiently by a single mixer.

We'll let you figure out what extra power and extra mileage mean in extra fun, extra thrills, extra satisfaction.

We'll let you size up, too, how nice it is to travel farther more pleasantly — on as much as 10% to 15% less gasoline than former Buicks used.

But for the whole picture, just go get actual, local, delivered prices on a Buick.

You'll find that nowhere else can you buy the same size, the same style, the same power, the same comfort at the same low bargain Buick figures.
