

Vaccine Due Here Sunday; Shots Stated

The second-shot series of Salk polio vaccine will be delivered in Big Spring Sunday with the inoculations scheduled for Thursday, according to Jewel Barton, nurse at the Howard County Health Unit.

The vaccine is from the Eli Lilly Laboratories in Indianapolis, the same company that furnished vaccine for the first shots here.

Dr. Robert A. Hale, director of the Howard-Ector-Midland county health units is flying to Austin Saturday for the vaccine in a Shell Oil Company aircraft. He is to bring the Howard County vaccine here Sunday.

The inoculations will be given in the First Presbyterian Church, as before, and Nurse Barton said local doctors had agreed on Thursday as the date.

Approximately 1,400 vaccine shots are expected to be given Thursday as compared with over 1,700 when the first shots were administered. A complete schedule of the arrangements will be in Sunday's Herald.

The 299,700 new second-shots of Salk polio vaccine for Texas arrived at the Health Department in Austin Wednesday. Delivery to the counties throughout the state began Thursday. The Air National Guard made distribution flights to several counties.

Midland will be the chief distribution point for the vaccine in this area. Dr. Hale will bring back vaccine for Howard, Glasscock, Mitchell, Martin, Sterling, Midland, Crane, Upton, Jeff Davis, and Presidio counties. Vaccine for Howard, Glasscock, Mitchell, and Sterling counties will be delivered to Big Spring Sunday so that the Health Units can pick it up Monday.

A report on the second-shot polio vaccine program was made to the regular meeting of the Howard-Glasscock chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis board Thursday evening. Jewel Barton made the report.

Queen
A tall and shapely beauty queen from the Orient, Keito Takahashi, strolls on the beach at Long Beach, Calif., with a Japanese parasol as she waits for the opening day of the annual Miss Universe contest. She will represent her nation as Miss Japan when the judging begins next week. Keito, at five-feet-five inches and 120 pounds is quite tall for a Japanese girl. 'Miss Universe' Slate Prettiest

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A poll of self-styled experts—all men—today called this year's Miss Universe crop the most beautiful yet.

Newsmen, officials, judges and others connected with the pageant since its inception in 1952 were unanimous that girls everywhere are prettier than ever.

Cesar Meinhardt, executive producer of the Miss Universe Pageant, said:

"I usually avoid these opinions, but I've got to say this is the greatest congregation of beauty I have ever seen at one time."

Electric Fires Threaten Two Austin Buildings

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Underground transformer fires set off by marauding electrical storms threatened two landmark buildings in this capital city last night.

Firemen evacuated six downtown blocks while fighting flames and smoke in electrical-conduit tunnels under the Driskill Hotel and Scarborough Department Store. An electrical storm which caused an overload on transformers was blamed for the fires.

No one was injured in Austin, but four National Guardsmen were hurt at North Fort Hood in central Texas yesterday when a similar, vicious thunderstorm leveled tents of the 36th Infantry Division, in summer training.

Lightning set 10 oil tanks afire in the downtown area of Kilgore, famed East Texas oil town. Two men were hurt and an estimated 30,000 barrels of oil burned.

Flames shot as high as 25 feet from manholes and smoke billowed into the lobby and first two floors of the Driskill Hotel during the Austin fires. Power went off shortly after the fires broke out, making it necessary to use auxiliary lighting equipment.

The roving storms are indirectly the result of a Texas heat wave which has seen temperatures rise to 100 and higher for more than a week. Super-heated air rises from the ground and forms vicious thunderheads when it meets cool air aloft.

The storm which struck North Fort Hood blew down 28 mess tents. Electric power throughout the camp was off for 1 1/2 hours. Two of the injured soldiers were stunned when lightning hit near them. A third was hit on the shoulder by a wind-blown object.

The lightning which set fire to Kilgore's oil tanks flashed out of a violent thunderstorm which dumped 1 1/2 inches of rain in a half hour. Flames shot hundreds of feet into the air from the oil tanks. Several nearby homes were evacuated.

Early today skies were clear over West Texas and only partly cloudy elsewhere in the state. A rain shower under way at Lubbock was the only precipitation at dawn. Temperatures ranged from 67 at Dalhart in the Panhandle to a warm 82 at Galveston.

The forecast was for little change in temperatures—and more hit-and-miss thunderstorms—over Texas through tomorrow.

Thunderstorms dumped good rains, ranging from sprinkles to 2 1/2 inches, near Sonora, on West Texas during the night. Rains up to 1 1/2 inches fell in the ranch country of Llano County.

The storm which struck North Fort Hood moved on to Waco where it blew down a large section of the heart O'Texas Fair coliseum. A hole also was torn in the coliseum roof. The Waco Weather Bureau reported winds reached 40 miles an hour.

The injured soldiers at North Fort Hood included S. Sgt. Ronald E. Terrell, Corpus Christi, and Pvt. Martin Saidana, Corpus Christi, both stunned by nearby lightning bolts; Pfc. James R. Allen, Santa Anna, Tex., shoulder injured by falling tent pole, and Pfc. Myron Dean Sitz, Levelland, Tex., lacerated scalp.

TV Permit Given To Odessa Company

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communications Commission today authorized Odessa Television Co., associated with radio station KOSA, Odessa, Tex., to operate a Channel 7 station in Odessa.

The FCC also denied an application by Clarence E. Wilson and Philip B. Jackson, doing business as the Odessa Television Co., for the same facility.

Odessa Television is owned equally by KOSA and Cecil Mills, hotel operator of Odessa and Dallas.

Wilson Impounds Money For Marines

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—Money voted by Congress to boost Marine Corps strength has been impounded by Secretary of Defense Wilson while "we take another look."

He said he understood there is precedent for setting aside funds even though expenditure is authorized by Congress. He said such authorization was just a "ceiling" beyond which expenditures could not go.

Predict Democratic Victory
Former President Harry Truman, left, enjoys a chuckle with Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic party's 1952 Presidential nominee, during a meeting in Chicago. Truman said the Democrats will win in 1956 and he is going to support Stevenson. Stevenson, "weak and a little weary" from a recent attack of bronchial pneumonia, said he agreed with Truman that "the best thing for the country is the Democratic party."

PILOTS, ROTC Joint Graduation Slated For Webb

Saturday looms as a big day at Webb AFB and the public is invited to share in the festivities surrounding graduation of Class 55-R and the finale for the Air Force ROTC cadets' summer encampment.

Col. Charles M. Young, base commander, has scheduled a wing review for the occasion and has issued an invitation to the public to attend at 9 a.m.

There will be on display one of the more of the Air Forces' latest and "hottest" fighters, the Super-Sabre F100.

Graduation exercises will be held in the base theatre at 10 a.m. with Lt. Col. Ellis C. Vanderpyl of Lackland AFB as the speaker. Reception will be held in the Officers' Club at 11 a.m.

In addition to the colorful ceremonies attending the wing review, there will be a flyover of planes from Webb. The ROTC cadets will be an integral part of the review, too.

Highlight of the completion of the month's camp by the 120 ROTC cadets from half a dozen Midwestern colleges will be the commissioning of 15 of the number. Cadets will depart Saturday afternoon for their homes. During their stay here they have been subjected to a rigorous training routine that included work in academics as well as flying time in T28s and T33s.

Col. Vanderpyl is head of the Officer Candidate School at Lackland. During World War II service, he was an intelligence officer and was captured by the Germans. He escaped, however, by posing as a Frenchman. Upon his separation from service he became an NBC executive, resigning in 1950 because of a desire to get back to his first love, the Air Force.

Class 55-R is made up of 40 student officers and two cadets.

Guard Battered By High Winds

FT. HOOD—High winds, estimated at 70 m.p.h., ripped through National Guard units here Thursday afternoon, damaging 24 mess tents.

Battery B, 132nd FA, the Big Spring unit, lost its mess tent but there were no casualties.

During the storm which hit at 4 p.m. two Guardsmen in other units were struck by lightning but they were not hurt appreciably. One man was injured by a falling tent.

Lt. Oswald O. Alexander, public information officer for the Big Spring battery, said that enough food was rounded up for supper.

Earlier, he had reported the unit in fine spirits in its camping experience. Temperatures had soared as high as 104 degrees, and under a steel helmet it seemed a lot hotter. Men used to working in air conditioned buildings were finding this a rough go. An abundance of mosquitoes and chiggers also served to remind the Guardsmen that they were indeed in the field.

Inspections, conducted by the 4th Army, have been extremely rigid, said Lt. Alexander. The 4th Army officers have been handling the inspections as though the citizen-soldiers were regulars.

Perhaps the law of averages is still working. And perhaps it takes a lot more entries to produce a winner.

The week the Cashword Puzzle did pay off, there were 13,365 entries. This week, there were 5,587. That's up from the week before—but the total wasn't enough to produce a puzzle that conformed exactly to those definitions the man uses.

If you want to check those definitions, turn to Page 6 for the correct solution of this week's teaser.

Here we go again. The jackpot keeps growing until somebody does strike that ore-bearing vein. Next week could be the week, and the returns can be handsome. Get those puzzles in, and get all members of the family to have a try. The more there are—well, you know these averages.

New Curfew Due Tonight In Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—A new curfew goes into effect tonight while a citizens committee tackles the problem of reducing tensions which led to nighttime gang fights between airmen and civilian teenagers.

The City Council yesterday imposed an 11 p.m. curfew on servicemen and civilians alike under 20 years of age. On Saturday night the "off the streets" deadline is midnight.

The council acted after the acting commander of Sheppard AFB, Col. George Henry, pronounced a 9 p.m. curfew beginning last Monday for the base's 16,000 officers and men.

At a meeting of base officers with the City Council, an officer hurled new criticism at the city's police department. The base has complained of ill treatment of airmen by the police.

"Both of us have to approach this thing sincerely and admit our faults sincerely," said Col. Melvin Hollidge, deputy base commander, at the meeting with councilmen.

"Just as we admit that we are not blameless in this matter, the police department must also admit that it is at fault."

Chief Daniel (Police Chief C. C. Daniel) has told us that the reason his hands were tied in this situation in correcting the actions of his officers and dismissing some from the force is because the Civil Service Commission will override him. If that's the case, if political pressure is the reason we have this situation, I think it should be known and something done about it."

The citizens committee is headed by Dr. George R. Davis, pastor of the First Christian Church. Dr. Davis called the committee into session today and asked that the night police patrol be bolstered. Chief Daniel said he would put every available patrol car into service.

With the base's 16,000 men under curfew, some cafes, bars and drive-ins reported business down by as much as 85 per cent after 9 p.m.

Mission Schools To Admit Negroes In Fall

MISSION, Tex. (AP)—The Mission Independent School District board voted last night to admit Negroes to all its public schools in September.

Under wartime censorship conditions were aware of the cloak and dagger aspects of the big project, but they could have reported nothing about its mission even if they had known.

My first contact with the project came when I was cautioned about having used the name of Los Alamos in a state capital story about a highway project.

The day the President made his disclosure the Sanie Fe New Mexican described the thoroughness of the news blackout on Los Alamos: "A whole social world existed in nowhere, in which people were married and babies were born nowhere. People died in a vacuum, autos and trucks crashed in a vacuum. Even the graduates of Los Alamos Ranch School ceased to be graduates of Los Alamos; they bounded direct from Public School No. 7 clear into the classrooms of Harvard and Yale."

On the morning of July 16, 1945, the New Mexico state wire of The Associated Press was interrupted a number of times by member newspapers asking about a reported big explosion. In response to The AP's inquiries, the Army eventually released a statement which could qualify as an all-time masterpiece of understatement. The Army at first restricted the statement's circulation to New Mexico, later permitted its use outside the state.

An ammunition magazine had exploded on a remote section of the Alamogordo base doing no damage, the statement said. It also referred to pyrotechnics.

The New Mexican used two paragraphs on the story on its back page under a headline: "Magazine Lets Go at Alamogordo."

Dr. Gaelen L. Felt is one of the Los Alamos old-timers who witnessed the world and changed the course of history. But the world didn't learn about it until three weeks later.

It was the successful Trinity explosion, 10 years ago tomorrow, that made man's ability to harness the power of the atom.

The name "Trinity" was taken from an unpopulated railroad switching point, the nearest spot to the steel tower where the first A-bomb was detonated.

The blast came at 5:30 the morning of July 16, 1945, on the southern New Mexico desert about 150 miles south of this top-secret, heavily guarded laboratory city. It climaxed the best kept secret of World War II.

On Aug. 6 the world heard about the blast when President Truman disclosed the dropping of the Hiroshima bomb. He told of the bomb's development by the University of California Los Alamos scientific laboratory under direction of the top-secret Manhattan engineer district. And he told of the first man-made nuclear explosion three weeks earlier on the New Mexico desert between Alamogordo and Socorro.

The President's announcement officially disclosed the existence of this hush-hush city and the important role it played under leadership of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer. It was a story that read like something out of science fiction.

For 2 1/2 years the people of Santa Fe, 40 miles to the southeast, were mystified and bemused by the obviously important and big-scale activities occurring at this remote spot high on a table-top known as the Pajarito Plateau. Until early 1943, when the Army took over, Los Alamos was an exclusive boys' ranch school.

To Leave By Air Tonight For Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower takes off tonight for Geneva after telling the nation about his cautious hopes that the Big Four conference may lead eventually to enduring peace.

Bomb Kills 6, Injures 35 In Casablanca

CASABLANCA, Morocco (AP)—Indignation swept Casablanca's European colony today in the wake of a terrorist bombing which killed six persons and injured 35 others.

The blast last night wrecked two sidewalk cafes filled with persons celebrating Bastille Day, France's national holiday. As a result of the incident, latest in a series of Nationalist acts which have been terrorizing French North Africa, angry Europeans demonstrated in Casablanca's main square and set fire to five stores owned by Moroccan wholesalers.

One man was reported gunned to death and another wounded as the mob tried to break into the home of Jean Charles Legendre, prominent attorney sympathetic to the Nationalists.

Others killed in front of the newspaper Maroc Presse, whose owner, Jacques Lemaigre-Dubreuil, was assassinated last month after he had spoken against French counterespionage.

Witnesses said the death bomb was hidden in a covered cart wheeled to a nearby intersection by two Moroccans who fled.

Two young Europeans peered under the canvas and the bomb went off, killing them and a nearby policeman. Bomb fragments swept the two cafe terraces on opposite sides of the intersection, piling dead and injured among the broken tables and smashed dishes.

Seven hundred miles east of Casablanca, in Algiers, 15 Arabs were killed and three injured in the collapse of two balconies of an apartment house.

Tenants on the fifth and sixth floors of the building had jammed the balconies to watch a street shooting which wounded a 46-year-old Moslem. Their weight tore the balconies loose and they plummeted more than 50 feet to the street below.

10 Years Ago, Atomic Age Came In With Mighty Bang

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (AP)—It rocked the world and changed the course of history. But the world didn't learn about it until three weeks later.

Susan Ball Awaits Ruling On Condition

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Oxygen eased Susan Ball's rest today as she awaited full diagnosis of the cancer which has again hospitalized her.

Sources close to the dark-eyed beauty said that the disease this time is attacking her lungs.

But authorities at City of Hope medical center in nearby Duarte said that she is still in the "diagnostic stage" and that studies won't be completed until early next week.

They said she is in serious but not critical condition and rested comfortably during the night. The hospital said that she is being given oxygen occasionally.

Her husband, actor Richard Long, whom she married a few months after her right leg was amputated, has been at her side almost constantly.

After the operation the 21-year-old actress resumed her screen career, using an artificial leg, and took the lead in a motion picture opposite Victor Mature. Then her illness recurred.

His story is checked

Hoax Possible In Confession

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Authorities today availed a fingerprint comparison before definitely labeling as a hoax Audrey Brandt's story of abducting and raping a 9-year-old Sioux City, Iowa, girl.

Brandt, 43-year-old farm laborer whose formal schooling ended in first grade, told officers Wednesday he was the kidnaper of Donna Sue Davis. Then yesterday he said his story was fictitious. He said he made it up after hearing an account of the rape-slaying over an automobile radio while hitchhiking.

Officers were inclined to believe the farmhand's original story was a hoax but they first wanted to see results of a check of his fingerprints against those found in the room from which Donna Sue was taken Sunday night.

Texas 'Loyalists' Set Planning Meet

AUSTIN (U)—Texas Democrats who call themselves "Loyalists" will plan their fight to get a firm grip on the state organization at a meeting in San Antonio tomorrow.

They will name a director who will push a statewide organization to line up the voters on precinct and county levels in anticipation of next year's vital conventions.

Next spring Texas Democrats meet first in precinct sessions, then county conventions, before the May statewide meeting. The May meeting will determine the make-up of the Texas delegation to the national convention. Its huge block of votes makes it an important cog in the national party machinery, and a vital factor in nominating a presidential candidate.

Conservatives—the Gov. Allan Shivers branch of the party—are also making plans as if another knockdown battle is in prospect. The Loyalists or Liberals are getting an early start this year.

Under leadership of the Democratic Advisory Council, they have called a meeting for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Melcher Hotel.

Steering committee of seven officers and 10 regional DAC representatives will name the director of organization. Mentioned in advance for the post are Dr. W. H. Brant, Tyler oil man; Ed Ball, Houston labor leader; Bob Sawtell 1954 campaign manager for Ralph Yarborough, Yarborough was beaten by Shivers, but is known to be thinking seriously of getting in the 1956 governor's race.

The Democratic Advisory Council has carried the ball for the national committee in Texas since 1952 when the state party organization under Shivers supported the GOP presidential candidate.

Shivers and the Democratic national leadership in recent months have been seeking some form of reconciliation. Whether or not it jells remains to be seen. Meanwhile, the branch of the party that stuck with Adlai Stevenson in 1952 will try again to take over the party reins in Texas.

Cabot Picks New Vice President

William L. Loving has been elected vice president of Cabot Carbon Company in charge of all carbon black operations in the Southwestern territory.

Loving joined Cabot in the Pampa handle in 1950 as a research and development worker. During the past year and a half he has been serving as executive assistant to Burdette in carbon black matters. Loving currently is enroute home from Europe where he attended the world petroleum symposium in Rome. He also conferred with members of the Cabot organization in England and France.

Federal Court Opens Hearing On Segregation

COLUMBIA, S. C. (U)—A three-judge federal court today was asked to permit the Summerton schools of Clarendon County to continue segregation of races in the coming school year.

This was the first court hearing in a grade school segregation case since the U. S. Supreme Court decreed that segregation must be ended as soon as practicable.

Robert McC. Figg, attorney for the Summerton School District trustees, told the court the trustees are convinced that any other plan would "so disorganize the schools, so impair the efficiency of the system, and would so adversely affect public support of education" that public education could not "reasonably be expected to survive."

Figg told the court that the trustees have arranged for a "comprehensive survey" of the question of reorganizing the district schools on "a racially non-discriminatory basis."

He said that the trustees would enlist the help of the departments of education and sociology of the University of South Carolina in the survey. He added that the trustees feel they do not have the knowledge and experience necessary to reorganize on a nondiscriminatory basis at this time. To do so now, he said, the trustees would be faced with "every obstacle and problem" that could raise in integration.

Couple Helps To Pay Fine

TRINIDAD, Colo. (U)—A California couple helped to pay a Denver trucker's fine for traffic violations in Justice Court here.

Justice Tony Barros fined James E. Walker of Denver $30 and costs for failure to report an accident and following another car too closely.

Mrs. Bertha N. Eastman, 47, of Monterey Park, Calif., then told the judge:

"The accident was not entirely Walker's fault. We will pay half of the fine."

Her husband Ray shelled out $17. Testimony showed that the Eastmans' automobile and Walker's truck-trailer were involved in an accident south of here last Saturday. No one was injured.

Prisoners Taken To Penitentiary

Two prisoners were transferred from the Howard County jail to the state penitentiary this morning.

They were Rose Mary Searcy and Wallace Ringo. Mrs. Searcy was sentenced to three years in prison last week when she pleaded guilty to forgery charges. Her husband, Herbert Searcy, drew two prison terms last week — three years for forgery and five years for possession of marijuana. He was taken to the penitentiary last Saturday.

Ringo was brought here from prison last weekend on a bench warrant. He was a state's witness in the narcotics trial of Manuel Pineda, who was convicted and received a suspended sentence.

Chief Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. Floyd Moore carried Ringo and Mrs. Searcy to Huntville today.

Witness Describes Sale Of 'Bad' Land

AUSTIN (U)—A witness testified today "You couldn't make your beans" on a rough, waterless 200-acre tract of Kinney County land sold under the veterans land program.

The witness in the Bascom Giles theft trial was Henry Rosenow, longtime owner of the ranch lands involved in the theft charge against the former administrator of the veterans land program.

Rosenow testified to selling the land in 1953 to B. R. Sheffield, Stanley Stribling and state Rep. Frank Carpenter. It was subsequently sold under the veterans land program in the name of L. V. Ruffin as owner.

Rosenow said the lands were "rough—awfully rough."

He said there were lots of cedar, lots of poisonous brush that kills goats, and "high, rough hills."

The rancher, who now lives at Allamore, testified he traded the land for 5,758 acres in Oklahoma and $2,000 in cash. He said the purchasers took up indebtedness of $110,000 on the Kinney County land and he assumed indebtedness of $20,000 against the Oklahoma land.

He said he had paid $8.25 an acre for the 10,114-acre ranch in Kinney County in 1944. He estimated worth of the land when he sold it at about $9 an acre. Ruffin, an earlier witness, had testified the purchase price for Rosenow had amounted to about $16 an acre. It was subsequently sold to the state in 1954 for $358,000, or a little less than $3 an acre.

The ranch was divided into 54 tracts for resale under the veterans program.

Defense attorneys raised repeated objections throughout Rosenow's testimony, contending that what transpired in 4 sale between Rosenow and the trio of buyers could not be binding on Giles. The objections were overruled, subject to the state tying the testimony to the charge against Giles.

On cross-examination, Rosenow admitted he had once borrowed $11 an acre on the Kinney County land from an insurance company.

He also admitted that real estate agent's commission in his sale of the land had amounted to $15,000.

Defense attorney Clint Small Jr., noted that the customary 5 percent real estate agent commission that would make the land worth approximately $300,000.

Co-Op Power Need Levels

A leveling off in the seasonal demand was evident for Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, according to the June operating statement.

During the month there were 1-788,910 KWH of power purchased and 1,723,353 sold, representing the closest operating margin in months if not on record for the co-op.

The previous month, when growers were pouring on the water in irrigated areas to get the cotton crop started, the co-op bought 2,896,560 KWH and sold 2,421,045.

The report showed 1,769 miles of energized line, a gain of four for the month, and 3,028 members, a loss of one. Density of members per mile therefore was static at 1.72. Average KWH consumption was 579, a decrease of 229 for the month. Average bill was $12.97, down $2.03. The number of minimum bills was 323, or only nine under the May total in this respect.

Critical Ridgway Letter Revealed

WASHINGTON (U)—The Pentagon today took the secrecy label off a letter by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway sharply challenging the basic military policy of the Eisenhower administration.

In one of his last official acts as Army chief of staff, Ridgway lashed out with particular vigor at what he described as the administration's overemphasis on the "air-nuclear weapons"—atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Ridgway addressed his letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson, who ordered it made public today after its contents had been leaked into print.

In its strictly military phases the letter was essentially a restatement of criticisms Ridgway had voiced piecemeal and in less pointed terms for months before he retired June 30.

But the paratrooper general gave his contentions new emphasis by putting them all together in a compilation and relating one argument to the others.

The 10-page study of the relative military positions of the United States and its free world Allies vs. the Soviet bloc made two main contentions.

1. The Communists are pursuing their worldwide aggressive course along lines not likely—and probably not intended—to bring nuclear weapons into play.

For that situation, Ridgway said, the free world needs "an immediately available joint military force of hard-hitting character in which the versatility of the whole is emphasized and the preponderance of any one part is de-emphasized."

2. Some time between 1958 and 1962 the Reds will have developed such nuclear weapons and delivered capability that "the United States nuclear superiority will have lost most of its present significance."

In that situation Ridgway foresaw a nuclear stalemate, either through mutual destruction if the weapons are used or through their cancellation because neither side will employ them for fear of what the other will do in retaliation.

The letter, which had been classified "confidential" at the Pentagon, was released on orders from Wilson, who was at Quantico, Va., for his annual conference with military and civilian chiefs of the armed forces.

Wilson acted in response to inquiries by newsmen after the New York Times had quoted extensively from the letter. The Times said it had been given access to the material by "competent sources."

In telling newsmen of his order to the Army to give the letter out, Wilson commented laconically: "I don't think it's very important."

Street Maintainer Runs Over Bicycle

A city maintainer operated by S. D. Smart, 3500 West Highway 80, ran over a bicycle Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Northwest Fourth and Trades Avenue, police said. The bicycle belonged to Robert Bunette, 708 NW 5th.

Two automobile accidents, apparently minor were also reported. Officers said that apparently no one was injured.

Joe B. Rice, Hobbs, N. M., and Alton Franklin Borden, 2203 Main, were operators of cars which collided in front of the Jet Tavern on West Highway 80 about 4 p.m. At 6 p.m. cars operated by Elizabeth Terry Patterson, 407 Edwards, and Terry Brooks, 1002 Gold, were in an accident at Thirtieth and Gollad.

Cotton crops in the southern part of Dawson County are holding up surprisingly well, considering that no rain has fallen in several weeks. Some of the cotton land is bare, but most of it is up to a good stand. At the Ten Mile Store south of Lamesa on the Stanton road, J. L. Barron said they had good prospects if rain came within the next week. The only bad blow occurred from the listed land, as the flat broke fields suffered little loss. The crops are about gone, though, in that community, and also elsewhere.

Farmers around Knott still have promise of a good cotton crop if rain comes within the next ten days. Some of the older cotton is beginning to bloom but it is making almost no growth. The older feed stuff is already burnt up. On the other side of the northwestern quarter to Barkowsky farm northwest of the Brown store, maize has already curled up and turned brown. Prospects for the late feed are much better.

At the Lubbock Field Station, Dr. Karper is predicting that hybrid grain sorghums will popularize this crop throughout the state. He says there will be plenty of planting seed by 1957 for everyone, but next year it will be grown mostly by experienced seed growers.

The new hybrids have outproduced the regular varieties even more on dryland than on irrigated fields. There is still lots of work to be done, he said, in finding the right kinds for various soil and weather conditions of the South. They may take two or three years longer as a hybrid sorghum on irrigated fields near Amarillo might not be adapted at all the dryland conditions in South Texas.

On field trials the hybrids have outproduced the older types by as much as 20 to 40 per cent.

At Knott three of the most industrious FFA members are the Shaw triplets, Franklin, Delano and Roosevelt. These brothers have been showing pigs and capons for several years and have won numerous prizes.

This year they have some Duroc pigs they are feeding out to the Howard County show, and have a Chester White sow which will farrow in September. These pigs will also be groomed for the show. They are not expecting much of the Chester Whites at the local show.

"Some of the judges seem to be prejudiced against anything but Durocs," said Delano. "But the Whites go over all right in the big shows."

Smith has been making field inspections this week looking for cotton insects. He found them, but not in big numbers. Ray Adams and Joe Lemons have 100,000 for lice and thrips. Lemons had just finished poisoning the day before, and all the thrips were dead. However, the lice were still working. Smith thinks maybe the insecticide was not strong enough.

He says a few boll worm moths are flying over Ackerly cotton fields now. These will hatch out from three to five days, and they come out with their jaws working. "When the little worm emerges," Smith said, "it starts eating on that boll or terminal bud. As yet, though, there are not enough moths to justify poisoning."

He said there were a good many leaf worm moths a few weeks ago but for some reason they disappeared.

Despite good cotton prospects for Southern Dawson County, there is still much bare land in the western and northern parts. Most of these farmers will take advantage of the emergency planting payments which were made possible this week.

Eddie Brown, manager of the ASC in Lamesa, says that possibly 35 per cent of the county is bare. He thinks most farmers will plant grain sorghums instead of the small grains providing rain in the next few weeks. If they don't get moisture until late August, he said there might be a lot of small grain sowed for winter cover crops.

Mutilated Body Of Middle-Aged Actress Found

NEW YORK (AP)—The mutilated body of a middle-aged actress and theatrical makeup artist was found late yesterday in a Manhattan hotel room. A man's leather belt was wrapped around her neck.

Police said they had "some evidence of rape" in the death of Adlyn Woodington, an attractive, grayish woman whose age was estimated between 30 and 35. She had suffered a fracture of the jaw, broken teeth, bruises and stab wounds of the face and forehead. A medical examiner declined to state the cause of death pending an autopsy today.

The body, clad in a blue housecoat, was lying face up on the bed, the head propped against the window sill.

On the carpet in the hall was a trail of bloodstains.

Burglary was discarded as a motive in the slaying, since the room was not ransacked.

One newspaper clipping found in the room, from the Lincoln (Neb.) Sunday Journal and Star, of July 4, 1954, described Miss Woodington as then playing in "Poppa is All" at the Hayloft Theater.

The article said she had appeared as an actress in 45 states and was an experienced makeup artist, a portrait painter and a veteran of four years of summer stock appearances.

George Sees Chance To Solve Asia Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George (D-Ga.) said today the direction taken by the Geneva Big Four conference may determine whether there is a new threat of hostilities in the Far East.

"If the Big Four can make a beginning toward the right sort of approach to European issues then it may be possible to establish a better approach toward Far Eastern problems," he said.

Audit Finds City Operating Within Income, Position 'Good'

The City of Big Spring is operating within its income and its current position from operations is good, Neil G. Hilliard wrote in his audit report for the fiscal year ending March 31.

Hilliard submitted his audit of municipal finances to the City Commission last Tuesday night.

He called attention to weaknesses in controls over capital assets, warehouse inventory, and filing of supporting invoices. However, he stated that accounting records as a whole are well kept, evidencing much thought and planning.

The certified public accountant pointed out in his report that possibilities of machine bookkeeping for the city should be investigated. He wrote that the machines would probably reduce overhead and increase efficiency.

Hilliard stated that the number of special funds operated by the city is becoming burdensome and recommended that they be combined if at all consistent.

The City of Big Spring increased its surplus during the fiscal year by $276,019.96, he pointed out. This was brought about by increasing the surplus invested in permanent property by $519,455.96 while decreasing the current asset surplus by $243,524.98.

The city spent $267,235.77 less than it received from operations, according to the report, but in decreasing its bonded debt and making investments in permanent property, all but $23,655.07 was spent.

There is still $242,159.78 left in the bond fund for investment in permanent improvements, he explained.

Excluding the decrease in bond fund cash, the city excess of assets over liabilities increased $93,259.02 during the year, according to the report.

"This is not too comfortable a margin but still indicates the city is operating within its income and that the city's current position from operations is good," Hilliard wrote. "However, the ever increasing calls for additional capital outlay, I am quite sure, calls for continued alertness in controlling your income and expenditures."

Bond redemption and interest payments were met promptly during the year, he noted. Warrants totaling $100,000 were issued and bonded indebtedness was reduced $114,000.

Collections on the current tax roll fell below the average, he pointed out. Over the past few years the collections have ranged from 91.20 per cent to 93.14 per cent of the total, while last year they were 89 per cent.

Hilliard stated that technically the city was ignoring an ordinance by not making charges for water used by the city, but he stated that he did not see any particular improvements that could be made in the waterworks and sewer system operation.

The auditor stated that warehouse stores were inventoried conservatively at $14,788.52, but that a complete audit is difficult as records are not kept on the materials as to money value.

He pointed out that gasoline stock at the airport showed a shortage of 937 gallons against 19,887 gallons sold. This is approximately 4.71 per cent, he said.

Hilliard stated that the budget was followed carefully, and that barring a few unforeseen items there was little variance.

AFFECTS RETAILERS

New Legislation Signed Into Law

More than a score of measures affecting retailers of the state have been signed into law, the result of action of the 54th Texas Legislature.

A list of some of these measures has been compiled by the Retail Merchants Association of Texas, which stressed such measures as collections, wage assignments, sale prices, and taxes.

A breakdown by subjects of the laws passed follows:

"Unfair" Sales—Effective Sept. 6, a new law prohibits grocers from limiting purchases on merchandise offered for sale below cost.

Collections—The Small Claims Courts Act has been amended to provide for a fee of $1 to the citation serving officer and authorizes the usual court fees for levying executions to enforce judgments.

Holidays—November 11 has been officially designated Veteran's Day. Banks and trust companies are given permission to close on Saturdays.

State taxes — A one-cent a gallon additional tax on gasoline. A one-cent a package additional tax on cigarettes. A $2.30 per barrel increase in the tax on beer. A 25-cent additional levy per $1,000 on corporate capitalization.

Collection of state taxes—The method of collecting a 2.2 per cent tax on radio and TV sales has been amended in a measure that will become effective Sept. 1. The tax remains on the seller making the final sale and requires wholesalers to pay the tax on sales to institutions, hotels, and others. The retailer is required to file a quarterly report showing a starting and ending inventory on both TVs and radios. The bill further requires TV and radio dealers to be bonded to guarantee payment of the tax and requires retailers to secure a permit and authorize the State Comptroller to collect audit fees from the dealers.

Effective Oct. 1, the maximum weekly unemployment compensation benefits will be raised from $20 to $25.

Assignment of wages—Employers, under terms of a new law, are exempt from legal action in cases where an employee's wages are pledged to a creditor. If the employer can prove that he was not notified in writing of such an assignment and did not assent to such an assignment in writing.

Assignment of accounts receivable — A bill that has already become law protects assignments of accounts receivable regardless of whether such accounts are in existence at the time notice of assignment was filed, provided, however, that the recording of such notices constitute constructive notice and regardless of whether the contract of which the accounts arose was in the contemplation of the assignor and assignee when the notice of assignment was executed.

A Bible Thought For Today

Let Individuals Pay Own Part

Don't Expect Peace To Come From Geneva

WASHINGTON—There are two Geneva conferences in the offing—one is artificial and the other is real.

out in a recent speech, nuclear warfare can be banned, the armies of Red China and Soviet Russia will dominate Europe and Asia.

The male-believe conference is a fanciful picture unfolded as a result of a worldwide buildup by the press and radio in London, Paris, Washington, Peiping and Moscow.

All the talk about a new security system of Europe which is to include Russia and her satellites is just window dressing. It hides the real facts which are that, as long as the East is lined up against the West with vast armies, the potentialities of another war are there.

The real conference—the one that will actually happen—is far less spectacular. It is already announced that no decisions will be reached on controversial questions only on procedures for future talks and studies.

The sparring at the four-power conference will be significant if only in revealing that back of the Soviets is a desire to frustrate if not abolish the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and render Germany impotent.

The people of the world, therefore, are far ahead of the actualities of such a session of the heads of states. They expect far more than will be accomplished.

Back of the Moscow planning is military strategy—protection for the future and a weakening of the Western Allies, who, it might be assumed by the Kremlin, will be foolish enough to let down their guard and cut armament expenditure without any further signs of good faith from the Russians than verbal pieties.

Probably the most significant thing that will come out of the real conference is a decision to hold another one—possibly in Canada or some other part of the world six months hence.

The theory that the four heads of state will sit down together and in all sincerity work out a program of peace is too fantastic to be accepted for the simple reason that it has not been preceded by any acts of good faith by the Communists. There is no compelling reason for them to make concessions of importance if they can maneuver the West into doing so.

For, while the speculation in the press and among the so-called "informed sources" all over the world will continue to stimulate hope for a better turn of affairs as between the East and the West, it's going to be a long time before anything tangible will emerge that can be pointed to as a demonstration of a change in tensions.

Propaganda-wise the Soviets go into the Geneva Conference with many advantages. They have managed to scare the Western World with the fear that the next war will destroy civilization if H-bombs are used. Hence the logical thing, of course, is to get all nations to agree not to use them. That would make conventional arms and big armies dominant—and that means domination of Europe by Soviet Russia. It's a practical problem which the dreamers and those who keep thinking about the imaginary conference at Geneva do not face.

If "relaxation of tension" has been the objective, it already has been attained. Millions of people in the West already feel that there has been a change—that peace is here or maybe just around the corner.

There are, of course, many economic burdens which the Soviet government would like to have eased. The four-power conference is naturally the place to look for such relief. If, as Senator Flanders of Vermont, Republican, so wisely pointed general who was among the first to see the value of air power in modern war.

Coop is playing the air power pioneer in "The Court-Martial of Billy Mitchell," and it's his first film here since he won the 1952 Oscar for "High Noon." He has made "Return to Paradise" in the South Pacific and "Garden of Evil" and "Vera Cruz" in Mexico since then. He was reportedly one of the stars who went overseas for the 18-month tax deal, but he claims he didn't profit therefrom.

The lengthy trial featured Mitchell's beliefs in the value of air power. He was suspended without pay and rating for five years. He resigned from the Army in 1926 and devoted the years until his death in 1936 to writing and preaching about the use of aircraft in modern war.

"Don't you like working in Hollywood?" he was asked.

Probers Hope For 'Leads' In Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) said today the Senate Internal Security subcommittee hopes to get leads on "Communist activity down to the present time" from its latest series of hearings.

The subcommittee recessed yesterday an inquiry in which more than a score of persons were named as having been Reds in the late 1930s. Most of them were in newspaper work at the time. A few who still are all swore they are not now Communists.

Eastland said the subcommittee has had "witnesses from most of the professions" in its sometimes turbulent history. He added in an interview:

"We've gotten more cooperation from newspapermen than any other group in the country."

He said the subcommittee's latest inquiry that "the hearings have pointed out the way the Communist conspiracy was entrenched in this country, and we hope to get leads from these hearings that will show us Communist activity down to the present time."

Eastland said he has no immediate plans for calling additional witnesses. He didn't shut the door on a later resumption of the inquiry.

In Henry Freeman, a veteran New York Times reporter, told the subcommittee yesterday, he had been a member of the Communist party for about a year beginning early in 1938.

He said he was talked into joining by Milton Kaufman, then executive secretary of the New York Newspaper Guild, and another person now dead who was not named publicly. The Guild has contended it eliminated Communists from all positions of influence years ago.

Freeman testified he was never an enthusiastic party member and quit late in 1938 or early in 1939 after he found Communist meetings "inept and futile . . . dull and fruitless."

Another New York Times reporter, Charles Grutzner, acknowledged at an earlier hearing that he had become a Communist in 1937 but had quit it in disillusionment in 1940 before joining the Times staff.

Melvin Barnett was fired as a copywriter for the Times after he refused to tell the subcommittee two days ago whether he ever had been a Communist. Barnett testified he is not now a Communist, but he declined under his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination to say whether he had been a Communist prior to 1942.

Similarly, the New York Daily News said yesterday it has fired David Gordon, a reporter, who testified Wednesday he is not now a Communist but cited the Fifth Amendment in declining to say whether he had been one in the 1930s.

Richard W. Clarke, executive editor of the News, made public in New York this letter to Gordon: "Your conduct as a witness before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in Washington, D.C., on July 13, together with other disclosures and circumstances regarding alleged Communist activities, has destroyed your usefulness to the News. Therefore your services as an employee of the News are being terminated immediately."

"You left the office July 5 for a vacation. Upon your return to New York, final payments which may be due you for your services, or under the terms of the current collective bargaining agreement with the Newspaper Guild of New York, will be made. If you so request, payment will be mailed to your home address."

The New York local of the CIO American Newspaper Guild said it will seek to have both Barnett and Gordon reinstated.

Both men had been described as longtime Communist party members in testimony given the subcommittee by Winston Burdett, CBS newsmen. Burdett said he himself had been a Red who spied for Russia.

West Big 3 Agree On Geneva Position

PARIS (AP)—The Western Big Three foreign ministers agreed quickly today on their position and strategy for the historic Geneva meeting with Russia's top political and military leaders.

In slightly more than three hours U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay endorsed a definite list of topics the West will raise and the stand it will take on each issue.

The list was submitted to the ministers by diplomatic experts from each delegation yesterday.

The ministers convened in the French Foreign Ministry. Pinay did not disclose what subjects the West intends to bring up at Geneva but they were almost certain to include German reunification, European security, disarmament and French Premier Edgar Faure's new disarm-and-develop scheme to help backward areas.

Pinay said he and the two had discussed Faure's plan and added, "we've all had that general idea for some time." He cited a statement of President Eisenhower along the same general lines.

The documents approved today will be submitted to the Western chiefs of government in Geneva Sunday morning, Pinay said.

Eisenhower, Faure and British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden will meet there with their foreign ministers as a curtain raiser to the sessions with the Kremlin's bosses on Monday.

The Russians have not tipped their hand except for a statement by the Soviet news agency Tass this week asserting that the Paris treaties to rearm West Germany made discussion of reunification of subordinate importance. The Tass statement proposed creation of an all-European security system, with West and East Germany both members and in which they could work together toward reunification.

Dulles spent three hours yesterday going over the work prepared by the experts. He paid a brief call on Pinay, who later told newsmen he believed the Big Four conference may start a long series of negotiations and lay a solid basis for peace.

Macmillan had dinner with Dulles at the residence of U.S. Ambassador C. Douglas Dillon.

Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay will meet tomorrow with the other 12 foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Council to review the Big Three's preparations for Geneva.

Elizabeth Anne Sims Becomes Mrs. Gleason

Before an altar banked with pink gladioli and white stock in white fan-shaped vases and tall baskets in the Our Lady of Prompt Succor Church of Alexandria, La., Elizabeth Anne Sims became the bride of Lt. Lemmie Thomas Gleason at 3 p.m. Thursday.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Glenn Sims, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Joseph Gleason.

Mr. Rev. Monsignor A. Olinger read the double ring vows.

Mrs. Lloyd Ussery, organist, accompanied Norma Valley as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white length gown of embroidered wheat design nylon tulle over plain tulle forming a bouffant skirt. The embroidered tulle jacket had long sleeves that pointed over the wrists, a high, standing collar and tiny tulle covered buttons down the front. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was caught from a Juliet tiera of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses centered with an orchid satin streamer.

For something old and borrowed, the bride wore a heirloom cameo brooch which is over three hundred years old from the groom's mother; something new was her wedding gown, and something blue was a garter.

The only attendant was Elizabeth Wheeler, maid of honor, who wore a white length dress of turquoise embroidered tulle.

The bridesmaid wore a white collar and short sleeves. She wore a small matching straw hat and carried a bouquet of blue pink split carnations with pink and blue ribbon.

Best man was George Jacob Gleason, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Jack Kelso and Irving Keegan.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of leaf green lace over tulle with cap sleeves, scalloped necklines and rhinestone trim. Her hat was of green twisted straw with tiny silk leaves. Split pink carnations were her flowers.

Mrs. Gleason was attired in a navy blue sheer dress with a white lace yoke and lace panels in the skirt. Her accessories included navy shoes and bag, blue pink gloves, hat of iridescent sequins and tiny sea shells, and pink carnation corsage.

At the reception held at Alexandria Community Center, the bride's table was laid with an imported linen cloth. The three tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, was surrounded by pink ruffling with fern and tiny rosebuds interlaced. Other decorations included white stock and gladioli and silver candelabra on the table with magnolia branches and Rosa de Montana vine throughout the room.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James Yarbrough, cousin of the groom, Mrs. S. B. Staples, Mrs. Paul Batters, Mrs. George Ranton, Mrs. Claude Hardin, Betty Clark Kelson and Norma Valley. Mrs. Joseph E. Wheeler, was in charge of the register.

When the couple left for a wedding trip to Fort Benning, Ga., the bride was wearing a pale blue two-piece linen ensemble with matching accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Bolton High School in Alexandria, La., and attended Mississippi Southern College in Hattiesburg, Miss., and Howard County Junior College. While at Mississippi Southern she pledged Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. She was employed at the VA Hospital in Big Spring before her marriage.

Lt. Gleason is a graduate of Menard Memorial High School, Alexandria, La., and Louisiana State University. At the university, he was a member of Delta Sigma Phi, Phi Delta Theta fraternity, of which he was treasurer and house manager, and LSU Pershing Rifle Special Drill Team. He is now stationed at Fort Benning, where they will make their home.

Out-of-town wedding guests included Mrs. M. P. Paulson, aunt of the bride, and Pvt. G. S. Sims, the bride's brother.

Lamesa Club Orders Final House Plans

LAMESA — Green light for completion of plans and asking bids for construction of a club house was given by the Senior Women's Study Club here Thursday.

The building committee, headed by Mrs. Buster Reed, told Architect Howard Allen to proceed with execution of final plans so bids can be asked. Earliest time appears to be around the last of August or early September. The proposed club house will be 28x70 feet and will cost an estimated $15,000.

MORNING PEEPERS

By Joyce Connaway

Out of the 42 homes I called this morning on Edwards Boulevard, the only answer I received at 17 residences was the continuous ring of the phone. Which means, the people of this street are working folks, gone on vacation or just out visiting.

Mrs. Herman C. McPherson, 307, was closing house. At 209, Mrs. Mary Howie was out of town.

"I had so much to do, I don't know where to start," exclaimed Mrs. J. Grady McCray, 211, when I called. She had to wash and iron. Watermelon rind preserves were being made by Mrs. Julien E. Foote, 307, Mrs. Odella Hull was not at home at 208 Edwards.

At 311, a busy signal was my only answer, and the E. Gage Lloyds, 401, were gone.

Mrs. Richard Patterson was straightening up her house at 407. Mrs. H. Max Fitzhugh was just walking out the door to go to Vacation Bible School when I called.

and she was in a hurry because she was already late.

It always happens! Yes, Mrs. Frank Rutherford, 409, was taking a bath this morning when the phone rang. Mrs. Eugene Jackson, 410, was trying to get her husband's golf bag out of the car so she could use the car. Mrs. Henry Gwyn, 411, was drinking coffee.

Mrs. Jeffie Garrett, 413, the Horace F. Jarrett, 413, and the Alvin H. Smiths, 420, were not at home.

Cleaning the kitchen and planning lunch occupied Mrs. Orion W. Carter's time at 421. Mrs. Bernard Coughlin 424, was at work.

Mrs. Bennett Brooke, 430, was reading the newspaper while her neighbor Mrs. Alf R. Collins, 431, was at work.

Hands in soap suds and dish water was the way I caught Mrs. F. W. Malone at 501.

Someone was home at Nolan C. Bell residence, 511, because there was a busy signal, but there was no response at all at the John A. Coffee home, 513.

Shiny clean floors are in store for the Harry L. McDermott family, 514, because Mrs. McDermott was waxing the front room when the phone rang.

The phone was not answered at 600 Edwards, at the Edward V. Swift home, 603, or at Elmer C. Boatler residence, 604.

"I'm trying to get the baby settled down to sleep," was Mrs. Milton W. Talbot Jr.'s reply when we disturbed her.

The Walker Barleys 608, were not at home. Mrs. Dewey Young was out in the yard working.

No one could be found at the homes of Hayes Stripling, 613, M. E. Ooley, 701, and Larson Lloyd, 703. Mrs. Granville Hall had gone to town.

The Donald M. Penn family, 706, will eat cream puffs for dessert today, for Mrs. Penn was preparing them when the phone rang. No one was home at 707 Edwards.

"I was just having that first cup of coffee," said Mrs. James Y. Butts, 710. Her neighbors, the Horace W. Garretts, 715, and the Lloyd E. Wassons, 800, were gone.

A busy signal was the only sound at 802 and Mrs. Roy F. Townsend, 804, was at a flower shop.

Here's The SOLUTION To CASHWORD PUZZLE NO. 23

Explanation Of More Difficult Clues

- CLUES ACROSS:
- Whip is particularly apt since it is actually handled by a man. A man can handle a small boat, but he "runs" or "manages" a Ship.
 - Dip is favored. The implication is that anybody might take one, but certain people would not particularly relish the idea, favoring a Dip-in the sea, for example. Only certain people would be offered a Tip.
 - Goat is more satisfactory. The clue suggests a source of irritation to "people", presumably all the people having the picnic. In this connection Goat needs to be plural to be really apt, for one solitary Goat would be too trifling.
 - Police is best. The clue says "may depend". The Policy is an all embracing expression and can mean one of a dozen things so that it would definitely decide the duration of the riot. There is no question of "may". However, it may depend upon the Police employed—depending on their number, for example, or their qualifications.
- CLUES DOWN:
- Line is the more comprehensive answer, since any new item marketed is "a new Line", including a Wine.
 - Doing is preferred. Going is understood to mean how the horse shows in trial gallops. Doing suggests a horse's form in current races.
- 5. A Hunt by the police of course often resulted in locating the escaped man. The word Hunt is not usually used in police language. Rather, you would speak of a "clue" or "information". Thus Hunt is the surer answer. Hunt does not suit grammatically. Halt is not good.
- 6. Play is best. When people Play for purely selfish ends, the fact is usually evident, or likely to become known. If people Pray for personal success—which, of course, they should never do—they certainly won't let it be known, so the question of "not thinking much of them" simply doesn't arise.
- 8. Poet is best. The idea of seeming romantic to some people favors Poet. Reading a Poem, you will know whether it is romantic, or not. The Poet himself may well be unknown to the readers, but may nevertheless seem romantic.
- 16. A Roster is designed to be informative since it gives you a list of people's names. A Poster need not inform at all. Its sole purpose may be to urge you to buy a certain product.
- 17. Mitten is best. "May be a little" is an understatement for Kitten, for most little girls would think much more of their Kitten than a Mitten.
- 23. Cure is more sure. Had patient received only Care he might have forgotten over the years, but since years have elapsed, it might well indicate he has had time to appreciate the effectiveness of some Cure he received. Cure's much stronger than just Care.

Memphis Would Aid Dixon-Yates

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Mayor Frank Tobeys says if Dixon-Yates still want to build its power plant at West Memphis, Ark., "we will assist in every way we can."

Tobeys's statement was in answer to James Hale, a West Memphis lawyer who said the only reason Memphis decided to build its own plant was to force cancellation of the Dixon-Yates contract.

City officials say they decided to build the plant because they felt the Tennessee Valley Authority would not be able to meet their future power needs.

Hale made his charge at a "facts of life" conference yesterday on the proposed Memphis municipal steam plant, attended by Memphis city officials, businessmen and representatives of West Memphis.

The West Memphis lawyer said, "We staved off every effort you made to stop Dixon-Yates. Then, in desperation, you laid 100 million dollars on the line up at Washington. That stopped us."

Hale was referring to the trip Tobeys and T. H. Allen, the city's utility chief, made to Washington earlier this week to assure President Eisenhower personally that Memphis would build its own power plant.

Shortly afterwards the President ordered the Dixon-Yates contract canceled.

June Water, Sewer Bills Total $50,000

June water and sewer bills mailed by the City of Big Spring totaled $50,769.97, according to a monthly tabulation by City Secretary C. R. McClenny.

This is $8,217.99 less than the May water and sewer bills, but it is $4,377.44 higher than the bills issued in June, 1954.

Records show that charges were made on 124,067.490 gallons of water in June. This was 114,607,500 gallons more than was charged for in June of 1954 but was 18,363,900 gallons less than tabulations in May of this year.

Ezekiel and the Earlier Captivity

GOD TOLD HIM TO GO TO HIS PEOPLE IN BABYLON AND GIVE THEM HOPE AND COURAGE IF THEY WOULD KEEP HIS STATUTES.

Scripture—II Kings 24:1-16; 25:17-21; Ezekiel 1:1-3; 2:1-4; 3:1-15; 11:1-20; 12:1-20; 13:1-20.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
THE LAST KING to sit upon the throne of Judah was Jehoiachin, who began his reign when he was 18 years old, reigning for only three months and 10 days when he was taken captive by Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon.

We are told that he "did that which was evil in the sight of the Lord." Nebuchadnezzar's strong army came and besieged Jerusalem. Hoping to propitiate the king of Babylon, no doubt, Jehoiachin took his mother, his princes, etc., and went to meet Nebuchadnezzar. It was useless. He, his family, and all his court were taken captive, with all the able workmen of the country, and carried away to Judah's first captivity.

Nebuchadnezzar also carried away all the treasures of the house of Jehovah, and the treasures of the king's house, and cut in pieces the vessels of gold, which King Solomon had made in the temple, as Jehovah had directed. Only the poorer people of Judah were left behind.

MEMORY VERSE

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."—Psalm 46:1.

For 37 years the king remained a prisoner, then, after Nebuchadnezzar's death, his successor, Evil-merod (or Merodach—the name is variously spelled)—came to Jehoiachin and spoke kindly to him, restoring his rank, allowing him to dine at the royal table, and giving him an allowance to live in comfort until the end of his days.

This, says Alfred Barry, "was a kind of foreshadowing of the pity which afterwards was to be extended to the captive people when the divine purpose had been achieved and the exile had done its work of chastisement and purification."

The Prophet Ezekiel is little more than a name to us, not a living personality as is Jeremiah. He had wondrous visions from God, the descriptions of which the teacher might read to the children if there is time during the Sunday school session. He writes, "as I was among the captives by the river of Chebar (a river flowing into the Euphrates), 200 miles based on copyrighted outlines produced by the Division of Christian Education, National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U. Johnson's records show that one thing causing the terrific decrease is the drop in collection of delinquent taxes. In June of this year the delinquent tax collections were only $135.57. In June of last year they were $1,249.78.

Current tax collections also showed a decrease, June of this year being $957.75 and June of last year being $1,303.11.

Various collections made so far this year include the following: $7,138.07 in current taxes; $236.58 in penalties; $824.69 in delinquent taxes; $208.57 in interest and costs; $178 in occupation taxes; $37 in dog taxes; $48.50 in tax certificates; $95.83 in bus franchise; $249.67 in taxi-cab franchise; and $25 in taxi and bus driver permits.

A petition request by property owners in the Bauer Addition to close an alley just south of North Twelfth Street has been temporarily denied.

However, City Manager H. W. Whitney was instructed by commissioners to inform the property owners that the city has no objection to closing the alley provided it is not needed for right-of-way on the highway loop planned for that area.

The petition was signed by four people, John Appleton, Jerrold Walker, Jack Alexander and W. H. Booker. The alley is in blocks 46 and 53 of the addition between Bell and Lancaster.

Property owners said that the alley is detrimental to their property and serves no purpose.

VA Hospital Due 11,000th Patient On 5th Anniversary

The transfer of 26 patients from Waco some time this weekend will put the total number of patients treated by the Veterans Administration Hospital here over 11,000; just in time for the hospital's fifth anniversary Sunday.

Five years ago Sunday the hospital opened its doors to the first patient, U.S. Marine James A. Waters from Wedowee, Ala. At that time the hospital had a capacity of only 50 beds and admitted only emergency cases which required immediate hospitalization.

With the arrival of the patients from Waco and the opening of the new ward, the VA Hospital will arrive at its 250-bed capacity.

Formal dedication services for the building, which cost $6 million and required two years to build, were not held until Sept. 10, 1950. Carl R. Gray, then Administrator of Veterans Affairs, made the dedication speech, which was preceded by a banquet at the Settles Hotel.

The hospital has had three managers since the opening date. Dr. L. B. Andrew was the first, followed by Willis O. Underwood, and then I. G. Sims who is the present manager.

The personnel at the VA Hospital has risen from a meager staff in 1950 to the present 235 professional and administrative workers. This number, however, is not an adequate staff, according to Hayes Bacus, personnel officer, for the increasing number of patients.

As an added convenience, the hospital also houses the post office contract station No. 2, which has been located in the building since the opening. Anyone, especially residents living in the hospital area, is invited to make use of the post office there.

Legislatures Crack Down On Charity Rackets

By DAVE BEEDER
CHICAGO (U)—Legislatures in four more states cracked down this year on charity rackets, said to be fleecing the public of up to $20 million annually.

Income tax statistics show that an average American family does out about $53 a year for charities ranging from lonely street corner beggars to nationwide drives.

An Associated Press survey shows that Maine, Utah, New Mexico and Oklahoma either adopted new charity laws or made existing laws tighter this year. At least five states already had laws to another charity operations. Proposals for charity laws in eight other states were either defeated, killed in committee actions or are still pending.

Most of this year's legislation followed a pattern set by New York last year. After hearing a committee report on charity abuses, the New York Legislature adopted a law requiring charity organizations to register with the State Department of Welfare.

Oklahoma passed a similar law this year requiring charity groups to register with the secretary of state and file financial statements. Exemptions include churches, the American Red Cross, educational and fraternal groups. New York exempts only church groups.

A law requiring charities and professional fund raisers to register for the first time was put on the books in New Mexico.

Maine made an existing law tougher. Professional solicitors must now register with the state if they are making collections away from the city where their organization has its home office. They also must list their pay and the purpose of their fund drive. A $50 fine and an 11-month jail sentence, or both, can be imposed on violators.

Utah's Legislature passed a bill prohibiting charity groups from using the names of persons without their consent. This also is a feature of the New York law.

Bills with features similar to the New York law failed to pass in Kansas, Indiana, Michigan, Texas, Iowa and Wyoming. Bills are pending in Wisconsin and New Hampshire.

Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and North Carolina, together with New York, have had laws curbing charities for a year or more. Charitable trusts have been required to register and report annually in Rhode Island since 1950.

DATE DATA

Boys' Date Problems

Dear Miss Brandow:
 There is a certain girl I have been longing to go with. She is popular and from a higher financial bracket. Thinking she would turn me down, I have never asked for a date.

Last week she asked me to take her to an expensive dance where all the girls ask the boys. I was broke and had to refuse. How can I ever get to know her better?

Robert

mind about your willingness to date her. If you missed your cue the night she telephoned, it's still not late to call her.

Dear Miss Brandow:
 I am having a birthday party at my house, and have invited fifteen couples, plus my own girl friend. Since I am host, I feel I should be here when my guests arrive. My date drives her family car. Will it be alright for her to come by herself?

Dan

When budget blues force you to sound the busy signal, don't let it become the death knell instead. You may be broke, but you won't always be.

When conveying your regrets get a bid in for a date later on. "You've caught me off balance tonight Mary Jo. Ordinarily I would be thrilled to take you, but I'm afraid I just can't make it this Saturday night. However, if you're free a week from then, how about going to a movie with me?"

That will erase any doubts in her

Not! It would be the height of bad taste. Regardless of the party, she is your date and should be escorted just the same as if you were going to someone else's party.

You are right in realizing as host that you should be present for the arrival of your guests. Arrange to call for your girl enough in advance of the party that you can be back home before the earliest early bird shows up.

"Party Plans," a free booklet, is yours if you write Miss Brandow in care of The Herald and enclose a 3 cent stamp.)

Art Lovers Jolted By Fake Paintings

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (U)—Hollywood art lovers, up to their eyebrows in French impressionists were given some trembling moments by a jury which convicted a prominent auctioneer of falsely advertising five paintings as the work of celebrated French artists.

Roy J. Goldenberg was found guilty yesterday of representing as authentic five paintings attributed to Edouard Manet, Edgar Degas, Paul Dufy and Rosa Bonheur. The jury, weighing four days of expert testimony, concluded they were fakes.

The traffic in French art has been booming in and around the movie colony since World War II, with paintings bringing up to $100,000.

The jury of six men and six women found that Goldenberg made misleading statements in newspaper and catalogue advertising, but held that he did not make the statements with deliberate intent.

Goldenberg had testified that he believed the paintings to be authentic, but the jury heard six prosecution experts label them everything from "lousy" to "intentional forgery."

One expert, Dr. John G. Rewald, of New York City, estimated that the paintings, if authentic, might bring more than $100,000. Municipal Judge Henry H. Dreager allowed no testimony on what Goldenberg expected to get for them.

While Goldenberg said he had attempted to verify the works before offering them for auction, he added on the stand:

"I do not publish an authentic catalogue; it is a derivative catalogue. I have never heard of an auction house which authenticates its paintings."

Dr. Rewald, art writer and consultant to leading U.S. galleries, called the Degas and Dufy paintings "intentional forgeries" and the two ascribed to Manet "unintentional forgeries." By "intentional," he said he meant obvious fakes by painters trying to copy certain artists. "Unintentional" indicates the painter didn't try to copy an artist's style, but that somebody forged a signature later.

He doubted the authenticity of the Bonheur, but did not use the word "forgery" in connection with it.

Of one of the Manets, art critic Arthur Millier of the Los Angeles Times observed: "It's the type of painting any painter of no talent could turn out—it's just a lousy painting."

Defense counsel Tom C. Williams produced a witness, Dutch-born Cornelius L. J. Damme, who drew what he said were the strokes of Manet and Degas. Damme and two other defense witnesses defended the paintings as genuine.

Williams moved for a new trial and a hearing on the motion was set for Aug. 10. Goldenberg is free on $250 bond until then.

The misdemeanor conviction carries a maximum penalty of six months in jail and $500 fine. Complaints in the case were filed by art dealer Frank Perls, who contended that an influx of bogus paintings has hurt the legitimate art market in Hollywood.

Flier Holds Himself Ready To Ditch Plane, Then Lands Safely

HAMILTON AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (U)—For four tense, long hours last night Capt. Theodore Roosevelt held his mind and nerves ready to ditch a Globemaster and 87 men in the fog-covered Pacific.

But the ordeal ended in a safe landing here with the big military transport's two starboard engines dead. Two right-hand tires blew out in the landing but pilot Roosevelt, of Elyria, Ohio, held the plane of Elyria on the runway.

When it was all over, Roosevelt, a seventh cousin of both Teddy and Franklin D. Roosevelt, quietly told reporters:

"Everybody was extremely calm.

"I was pretty sure we'd have to ditch. Those paratroopers felt, I guess, they could cope with what ever came up."

The Globemaster carried 79 men of the 187th Regimental Combat Team (airborne) and its crew of eight. It was on a flight from Hickam Field, Hawaii, to California in the Operation Gyroscope transfer of the 187th from Japan to Ft. Bragg, N.C.

"We were about 10 minutes past the point of equal time (midway point) when the first engine went," said Lt. Richard E. Davidson, Alliance, Ohio, assistant navigator.

An hour later the second starboard engine failed. Roosevelt and 2nd Lt. Harry Simpson, Akron, Ohio, copilot, were able to feather both propellers. The dead engines did not drag or vibrate.

But for four hours Roosevelt and his flight engineer, M. Sgt. Herman Dupuis, Helena, Mont., had to drive the two port engines at nearly maximum power.

Dupuis, who made a wartime ditching in a Navy Martin Mariner, said another engine might have gone at any moment under the strain. He said he sweated every minute with the ignition system. He prayed it wouldn't fail.

Sgt. Arthur C. Crawford, Lagro, Ind., a 187th man on his way to see his wife and three children at Ft. Bragg, said feathering the first engine didn't bother much.

But when the second stopped . . . "That's when we really got scared. All the time, though, I was just sure I was going to see my wife and kids, all right, even if I had to get a little wet."

The homebound paratroopers had to throw overboard all their gear and souvenirs . . . collected over as many as five years in Japan. That took 7,000 pounds of load out of the plane.

In Roosevelt's crew were Capt. Earl R. Roberts, Greenville, S.C., navigator; Sgt. Dewey F. Parker, Kirbyville, Tex.; Cpl. Willie Johnson, Mills, Okla., flight mechanic; and Cpl. Erskine Carpenter, Harlan, Ky., load master.

Ike Balk Brings Praise, Criticism

WASHINGTON (U)—President Eisenhower's avowed intent to disregard a provision of the new defense money bill unless the courts tell him to abide by it brought Republican praise and Democratic denunciation in Congress today.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said the President showed "courage and integrity." Rep. Sikes (D-Fla.) protested, "This country is not under martial law."

In a special message, Eisenhower directed a broadside against a provision giving either the Senate or House appropriations committee veto power over Defense Department decisions to divert itself of any of its business activities.

Orphans Get Spending Money

CORSICANA (U)—Just like youngsters with real families, kids in the Corsicana State Orphan Home now get an allowance.

Before he died three years ago, John C. Wende of Austin, set aside income from some of his property to provide spending money for the orphans here. Litigation over the will delayed the first allowance money, which arrived this week in the form of a $1,089.60 check.

Supt. R. I. Boyd said there'll be a check of about $1,200 every three months, enough for about $1 a week per orphan. As Wende directed, they'll get to spend it as they want.

NAACP Chief Balks At Georgia Threat Against Teachers

MACON, Ga. (U)—Dr. J. S. Williams, president of the Macon chapter of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, says he will burn the membership rolls rather than allow them to be used against Negro school teachers.

The State Board of Education Monday voted to "revoke forever" the license of any teacher who "supplies, encourages, commends, offers to teach or teaches" non-segregated classes.

Following this action, Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook urged that the board revoke the license of any teacher who is "affiliated with or contributes to" the NAACP. Chairman George P. Whitman Jr. of Atlanta, said a resolution would be passed at the next meeting in August.

Cook's proposal was termed a "desperate action" by Williams. He added that it is "suggestive of Nazi tactics and Negro leaders are not going to sit back and watch him browbeat the Negroes of the state."

"If Cook can get away with this now," Williams said, "what's to stop him from extending it to other groups such as Catholics, Republicans or members of labor unions?"

J. H. Calhoun, president of the Atlanta NAACP chapter, said only "we will take the case if any Negro teacher is injured by the board action. He declined to elaborate, saying he would "not get into a word battle with the attorney general."

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—An airman second class has filed suit in District Court for $10,000, accusing a lieutenant colonel of slandering him. John F. Crozman claims Lt. Col. LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Other Longhorn League cities are apt to be a long time equalling the record set by Big Spring pitchers in the annual All-Star games.

Of the eight contests played, local hurriers have been credited with victories in five of them.

Jose Cendan blazed a trail for the Big Spring flingers when he hurled long enough to get credit for the win that went to the West, 11-4.

Bronc players played a big role in that game in other ways, too, getting ten of the 16 hits credited to the team.

In 1948, Julio Ramos, then of Big Spring, notched the win as the West won, 7-3. The following year, Bert Garcia, ace of the Big Spring mound corps, received credit for the victory, which went to the West by a 3-1 tab.

Gil Guerra tipped the scales the East's way in 1952 as he and his Big Spring teammates changed sides and helped register an 8-2 win. Last year, Mike Rainey of Big Spring got the nod when the West, which again had Big Spring players, romped to a 15-2 success.

Ed Arthur, Odessa (1948); Eddie Jacome, Midland (1951) and Bobby Gregg, San Angelo (1953) have been the other winning hurriers.

Big Spring has been aligned with a losing team only once in the history of the classic.

That was in 1951, when only Pat Stasey, Al Valdes and Manny Fernandez of the Broncs were selected.

In all, 33 Big Spring players have been named to play in the contest, in addition to the trio who will appear in this year's game.

They were Pat Stasey (1947-48-49-50-51-52); Potato Pascual (1949-50); Al Valdes (1949-51); Tony Traspuesto (1947-48); Bob Martin (1947); Gaspar Del Toro (1947); Orlando Moreno (1947); Bert Baex (1947-54); Jose Cendan (1947); Freddy Rodriguez (1948); Jimmy Perez (1948); Bobby Fernandez (1948); Bert Garcia (1950); Manny Fernandez (1951); Gil Guerra (1952); Al Costa (1952); Witty Quintana (1952); Aramis Arencibia (1952); Joe Riney (1953); Glen Groomes (1953); Mike Rainey (1954); Huck Doe (1954); and Julio Delatorre (1954).

The All-Star game has never been staged here for a very good reason.

The local park couldn't begin to take care of the crowds that usually show up for the contest.

More than 3,000 are due to witness this year's engagement, which takes place in Midland a week from tonight.

Though the season is half gone, there are still local fans who get Frank Billings mixed up with Tom Costello.

Many of the people who approach Billings address him as "Tom." The two are tall but the resemblance ends there. Billings can't figure it out.

Back in 1948, Midland scored 71 runs in two consecutive Longhorn League games against Del Rio—31 the first game and 40 in the second.

The Indians counted all their tallies in the second contest against Candy Mendoza. Candy wound up with an earned-run-average of 8.08 for the season, after giving up 22 earned runs in that contest.

Stan Musial, the fellow who won the All-Star Game, hit his 20th homer and Wally Moon smacked his 12th as the Cards pounded four Brook pitchers for 11 hits in support of Jackson's fifth victory.

Until the ninth the Brooks got just two hits off the youngster—both by Roy Campanella, back for the first time since June 28 after a knee injury.

Al Rosen and Larry Doby each hit homers for the Indians, with Rosen's blow touching off a two-run rally that won it in the eighth.

Al Smith singled in the big run after Rosen's clout had tied it at 4-4. All New York's runs were off Bob Lemon, Ray Narleski won in relief. Jim Konstanty, the Yanks' ace fireman, suffered his first defeat.

A seven-run fourth inning, which included triples by Jim Busby and Orestes Minoza, packed away the opener for the White Sox. Dick Donovan won his 11th in the nightcap as the Sox slugged rookie Ted Abernathy to break a 2-2 tie in the eighth inning. Jim Rivera doubled, Walt Dropp singled and Sherm Lollar homered in the rally.

Successive seventh-inning home runs by Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen eased the Red Sox home in the second game at Detroit after rookie Frank Lary had six hits Boston in the opener, retiring Williams four straight times. The Tigers gave Lary five runs in the first inning on doubles by Harvey Kuenn, Ray Boone and Jim Delving.

Milwaukee stayed on Brooklyn's trail as Buhl spaced five hits while fanning 12 Phils. Bobby Thomson and Hank Aaron homered, and Andy Pafko contributed a two-run single. Andy Seminick's homer in the ninth spoiled the shutout.

The Giants drew to within a game of the third-place Cubs, setting up their final two runs with stolen bases. Don Mueller homered for the first New York run off loser Bob Rush.

Everybody got in the Cincinnati hitting act to pound the Pirates. Johnny Temple had 5-for-7, including bases-loaded triple, and Wally Post hit two homers.

Two late-inning rallies pushed the Orioles to within a half game of seventh place. Gus Triandos belted his second homer of the game with two on as Baltimore scored six runs in the seventh inning to win the opener.

Ed Arthur, Odessa (1948); Eddie Jacome, Midland (1951) and Bobby Gregg, San Angelo (1953) have been the other winning hurriers.

Big Spring has been aligned with a losing team only once in the history of the classic.

JayCees Grab Lamesa Title

LAMESA — The Jaycees fought off a rallying Lions team here Thursday evening to win the second half and championship of the Little League.

Richard Crump, starting pitcher for the Jaycees, was relieved after three innings by Gene Westmoreland, who got credit for the 5-7 win of the Jaycees.

In the other game, which had no bearing on the race, the Kiwanis Club defeated the Rotarians 15-3 behind the tight pitching of David Bayless.

The Jaycees record of 7-3 for the last half was identical with its first half achievement, making a season's total of 14-4. The Lions had 10-8, the Kiwanians 9-9, and Rotarians 4-4.

The all-star team is to start practice at 5 p.m. Tuesday at Forrest Park. Tournament play is slated for July 27.

The management of the Buffalo Bisons in the International League insured its 23 man squad for $1,200,000 before the club traveled by plane to Havana for its opening series there.

Protest Stands; WAB Is Coahoma League Champ

COAHOMA (SC) — The playoffs for the Coahoma Softball League championship came to a sudden halt here Thursday night, with the Webb Air Base Dusters of Big Spring riding at the top of the heap.

Manager Bill Paschall's protest of the first game, which Coahoms went on to win, stood up and Webb proceeded to cop that contest, 5-3.

Other managers in the circuit, which gathered here prior to the game, ruled for Paschall, who insisted that Jack Morrison, who clubbed a decisive home run in the opening game, should have been limited to a double under the ground rules.

Webb was leading at the time the protest was entered, 5-3. When play was resumed, Morrison was returned to second. Dudley Arnett then struck out to end the controversial game.

In the contest that followed, Webb then clinched the playoffs for the second straight year by winning an 8-7 verdict.

Although the Dusters shoved across six runs in the 'hello' frame, they had to count twice in the final round to win the decision. They did it when Bill Davis got a base on balls, Lenahan pinch-hitting for Hank Neuts — singled and Charles McNew drove in both with a one-baser. Two were out at the time.

In the first inning, Ed Sproesser had hit a home run for Webb with Davis and Neuts on base. McNew then reached base on an error. Paschall and Jack Long walked in succession. Bill Palmer singled home two runs and Long later scored on a bobble.

Coahoms got a run in the first on a single by Jack Morrison and a one-baser by Roy Overturf.

The Maroons added two in the fourth when George Ray singled, Jack Morrison doubled in a run and then came home on a fly ball by Overturf.

Coahoms got two more tallies in the fifth when Dudley Arnett was hit by a pitched ball, Jim Ward doubled and Ray singled.

The Coahoms grabbed the lead in the seventh when Rube Baker singled and Ward brought him home with a single. Ward was out, however, trying to stretch his hit into a double. Ray later doubled and scored on a passed ball.

Webb managed only five hits off Overturf, who struck out nine and issued five walks. The blows were by Sproesser, McNew, Palmer, Neuts and Lenahan. Every one figured in the scoring, however.

Coahoms collected ten hits off Long. Ray and Jack Morrison had three each. Ward collected two while Baker and Overturf got one each.

Jim Barr Draws His Release

Jim Barr, left-handed hurler, has been released outright at his own request by the Big Spring Coedens Cops.

Barr complained he was not getting to work enough and said he was going home to Houston.

His departure leaves the Cops with 14 players, one short of the Longhorn League limit.

Jim Zapp, the first sacker who was struck in the head by a pitched ball in Wednesday night's game with Midland, is due to return to the lineup tonight.

Zapp's head was X-rayed Thursday. Apparently, he suffered no ill effects from the beating, other than a severe headache.

Johnson Leads Big Spring Delegation At Abilene

ABILENE, (SC)—Charles Johnson paced the Big Spring delegation in the tenth annual State Junior Golf Tournament, which got under way here Thursday.

Johnson fired a ten-over-par 81 to trail the first day leader, John Lively of Eastland, by a dozen strokes.

Eddie Don Harris, who won the Jaycee-sponsored tournament in Big Spring, could not make the trip due to illness.

Ronald McKinzie of Big Spring came in with an 85. Charles Morris, Big Spring, had a 90 while Frank Powell, Big Spring, wound up with a 95.

Lively had a two-stroke lead going into today's final 18 holes. Tied for second are Phil Lobstein, Brownwood; Tom Wilson, Longview; Bobby Cupit, Longview; and Jimmy Bratten, San Antonio, each with 71.

The four low players in the tournament will be given an all-expense paid trip to the National finals in Columbus, Ga.

Bartzen Extended But Wins Match

ATLANTA (GA) — There were no upsets—and only one close call—as the four top seeded players moved into the semifinals of the National Clay Courts tennis tournament.

Defending champion Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., was extended yesterday when young Jerry Moss of Modesto, Calif., the nation's No. 1 Junior player, defeated him six games to four to win the second set. Bartzen had the first set stashed away 6-2 when Jerry's forcing game sent him into an extra set where he rallied 6-2, 6-1.

Khrushchev, Zhukov To Attend Meeting

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov will accompany Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin to the summit conference in Geneva.

The Soviet government announced that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and First Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko would round out the five-man Russian delegation.

Reds Sign Pact

TOKYO (AP)—Red China and Bulgaria have signed an agreement in Sofia to cooperate in curbing insect pests and plant diseases. Peiping radio said today. The plan provides for exchange of experts and information.

BIG 4 MEET

Overtones Of Red Desperation

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
Wait . . . and hold on.

This admission for world communism is not new. But now it has overtones of desperation, as the Big Four summit conference at Geneva approaches.

"If you are not prepared to talk seriously," said Soviet Communist boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, addressing the West in general, "we can wait and hold on."

Khrushchev's words at the American Embassy's Fourth of July party in Moscow gave an inkling of what is in the back of the Soviet mind for Geneva.

Things have not happened in the world as Marx and Lenin predicted. Now the hydrogen bomb has changed yet another basic Lenin concept — that the Communist capitalist worlds must collide, with communism victorious. A clash with hydrogen bombs would leave nobody victorious.

The Communists still hold to the notion that war is inevitable until world communism holds sway. But the Kremlin leadership has decided to ride with a program of waiting and watching — waiting for a crisis to take hold in the capitalist world, watching for a chance to give the process a shove forward whenever possible. If war comes someday, the foe must be weak.

While the Communist leaders wait, the Soviet Union continues in a swift evolutionary movement which has boosted it from backwardness to an advanced nation.

The more the process develops, the more world communism suffers. The twists and turns of Soviet policy have had a profound effect on the global conspiracy. Sudden reversals of sacrosanct dogma, such as condoning the Titoist deviation, have made Communists outside the U.S.S.R. grope for tortured explanations. The peace offensive itself has hurt the movement.

Here are some symptoms of world communism's ailments:

In Asia:
The Communist party of India is obliged to announce a new program. Why? Prime Minister Nehru was lionized in Moscow. He no longer can be attacked personally because Moscow's blessing stamped him a Progressive.

A Communist party, particularly in a recent colonial country like India, cannot hope to remain a dynamic force by openly supporting those who a short time ago were pictured as enemies of the people.

In Japan, the Communists have just been ordered to shift over to legality, to save the Soviet Union from a black eye in that important country. Above ground, the advantage of conspiracy is surrendered. But already the Japanese Communists are losing heavily in popular support.

In the West:
The Soviet Union is on dangerous ground in middle Europe. By embracing the rebel Yugoslav Communists, Moscow admitted national communism — which fails to give primary allegiance to the Soviet state — is no longer a sin. Indeed, there is a hint already that the Soviet-Yugoslav love feast has had an effect in the satellites. Mass arrests are reported in Hungary in a drive against those Matyas Rakosi, the Red boss, considers unreliable. In Czechoslovakia, a general tightening of discipline is ordered, along with a crackdown on farmers to force them into collectives.

In East Germany, party bosses boast they are protected by the Soviet version of NATO—the Warsaw treaty. But they seem to fear they may be sacrificed on the altar of the Soviet neutralization drive.

In France, the Communist Central Committee, bellwether for European Reds, heard an involved defense of the Soviet reversal of Titoism and a review of Communist duties. These duties involve working hand in hand with the Socialists, whom the Communists called their worst enemies. They must avoid any action which could embarrass the New Soviet offensive. The line goes down hard with the old-time militants of France and Italy. Already it has brought defections.

This, then, seems to be the developing situation:
Outside the U.S.S.R., the arena for militant communism has narrowed, with the disappearance of revolutionary situations. Only in the most backward areas of the non-Communist world and in colonial areas where national movements can be joined and used, does communism now act like a revolutionary force.

In Western Europe, Communists must adopt a nonrevolutionary attitude which costs heavily in dilemma, disillusionment and defection.
For the rulers of the Kremlin, all this may represent only an expedient while Moscow presses a furious industrial building program. So Soviet internal problems can be attacked adequately.

But world communism looks on in confusion while their ideological base, Russia, continues to cut ground from under them. The chain that ties the world conspiracy to Moscow continues to weaken, and for the Communists there is a bleak prospect of paralysis and then stagnation. Therein lie a point of attack for the West at Geneva and a hope of victory in the war between slavery and freedom.

Russians Ape Sears Style

MOSCOW (AP)—Samovars and bicycles from Tula, kerosene stoves from Moscow, balalaikas from Tashkent—just mail your orders, folks.

The Ministry of Internal Trade is beginning to build up a mail order business for consumer goods through display advertisements in its official newspaper Soviet Trade. Simultaneously, the Soviet trade organization is working gradually to develop self-help in stores. The idea is to cut sales personnel for use of this manpower in other more needy spheres—like heavy industry and agriculture.

In both merchandising fields the Russians are just making a beginning.

The mail order system is designed especially to aid millions of farmers and villagers who often can't find what they need in rural stores and must travel to the nearest city to buy.

Leningrad announced the opening of its first self-help, American-style supermarket last year. Some smaller shops of this kind have been opened in Moscow.

Accident Officer Suspended For Too Many Mishaps

HOUSTON (AP)—Police Chief Jack Heard today suspended Accident Investigator Robert F. Schallert for three days for having too many mishaps with police cars.

Heard said the 35-year-old officer backed a patrol car into a picnic house while on an accident call, stripped the gears on another car, drove another to the station with a boiling radiator, and bent a fender on another.

The fender-bending, Heard said, was not Schallert's fault.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

Scientists say that prehistoric animals existed during times long past. Some of these animals are believed to have lived several hundred million years ago.

One "time clock of science" is the salt of the sea. Rivers keep carrying water to the oceans, and in the river water is a tiny percentage of salt. Scientists have figured the time needed to accumulate the salt in the oceans.

Petrified fish found in rock layer of Wyoming.

At the start of the present century, there was a widespread opinion that the earth was about 100 million years old. Since then, weakness in the salt estimate has been pointed out. Estimates of the earth's age have been increased greatly.

Some estimates are based on deposits of sand and mud by rivers which built deltas. It has been figured, for example, that a single thick layer of mud-shale in Colorado was laid down in six and a half million years.

Most scientists prefer the "radio-active clock." This is considered more accurate than any other method in estimating the earth's age.

Large amounts of hot rock (liquid or near-liquid) exist under the earth's surface. When this rock escapes in volcanic eruptions, it is known as lava. Soon it hardens into several kinds of rock.

In a compound provided by magma is uranium. This element is widely sought today for atomic power.

Shooting from uranium are atoms of helium. After many millions of years, we are told, the uranium loses all its atoms of helium and becomes lead.

Careful study has shown the number of atoms which a gram of uranium loses each year. The change to lead is slow. At any time proportion of lead in a gram of uranium can be estimated.

Different pieces of ore are tested from time to time. A specimen found at Branchville, Conn., was submitted to Prof. Carl O. Dunbar of Yale. He announced that its age was about 350 million years.

The valley of the Winnipeg River in Manitoba has yielded one of the oldest pieces of rock ever tested. The ratio of lead to uranium indicated that this rock had had an age of about 2,300 million years. Sunday: Letters from Readers.
