HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY

The Herald, in pursuance of its policy of providing a medium for proper discussion of public affairs, invites all who desire to submit articles of not more than 500 words either supporting or opposing the proposed $200,000 city hall-auditorium bond issue. These articles must be signed by the author and must not deal in personal matters. They must deal solely with the merits or demerits as the writer may consider the matter—of the project itself.

"Your city's financial condition is very sound."

That sentence opens comments on the annual audit of the City of Big Spring by Alired Lambert & Nichols, certified public accountants, Wichita Falls.

The annual auditor's report, recently received containing a number of statements that every citizen should be proud of.

Auditors, you know, are noted for speaking out in meetings when the figures don't look well. Such complimentary statements, therefore, can be taken at full weight.

Bonded indebtedness of the city is $65,000, current liabilities $13,746.90 and surplus $518,226.99.

Current assets on March 31 totaled $77,862.74 including $33,402.56 cash on hand in banks, $33,513.38 taxes receivable and $2,979.68 sundry accounts receivable.

All bank accounts were reconciled by us. All receipts were traced through your records and into the bank. All disbursements were supported by properly drawn warrants which were checked against your books for correct disbursement, the report sets out.

Yes, we should be proud of the statement. To use the names of the men who happen at any given time to be filling the elective and more important appointive offices of the city government are secondary matters. If they keep the city in sound condition the people should appreciate their work and each citizen should be proud of it, whether you happened to vote for the men in office.

One of the greatest destructive forces in American government—city and state, as well as national—is jealousy. The voter who becomes angry when figures show men he opposed for election are succeeding is plagued by jealousy—and what is more poisonous for the "patient" suffering from it.

Your humble servant happens not to be indicted in any way or set of "in city" affairs; that goes for The Herald, too. But we believe every public servant should be thanked for good service, as well as criticized for bad service if he is guilty of such.

The people of Big Spring have before them now a proposition that merits their earnest attention. If the city hall auditorium bond issue is proposed for an actual need and the city government can pay for it without increasing the tax burden it is, obviously, meritorious.

However, when we approach a public issue with unrelated matters uppermost in our minds we do not reach logical conclusions.

In studying matters of this kind too many of us say in our own hearts "I'm going to look into this business to find out how many things I can pick out to strengthen my opposition to it." When we have that attitude we're certainly going

"I felt the need of a good medicine for biliousness. I saw Black-Draught advertised and decided to use it. I have never been sorry, for I certainly have found it a great help in my family."

"I would have dizzy spells and feel like I was going to faint; I would have a bad breath and bad taste in my mouth. I found Black-Draught would clear this up and make me feel so much better. After a few doses, I would be rid of dizziness and feel full of pep."

Manufacture and Sale of Beer Supported by State Federation Of Labor; Parks Again Elected

EL PASO, May 22 (UP)—With only one vote in opposition, the Texas Federation of Labor approved a resolution which urges modification of the Volstead act to allow the manufacture and sale of beer.

Another resolution adopted seeks the establishment of an eight hour day and a six day week for Texas oil workers. The resolution urged the U. S. Department of Labor to call a conference at which the shorter work hours would be discussed for all field workers. It is claimed the oil fields now operate on a 12-hour day and seven-day week.

When the resolution proposing modification of the Volstead act came before the convention there was no discussion. A vote of acclamation was taken and only one voice was raised in opposition to the resolution.

The resolution declared that the 13th amendment and the Volstead act have failed and that crime and racketeering have increased enormously during prohibition. Millions of dollars would be placed in circulation with the restoration of the brewing industry and wage earners now unemployed would be given work, the resolution states.

John Young of Houston, president of the Master Stevedores Association, in an address declared the rates for the state workmen's compensation insurance were entirely too high. He said the compensation act was not working as it was intended it should.

EL PASO, Texas, May 22 (UP)—J. W. Parks of Dallas was re-elected president of the Texas State Federation of Labor, at the federation's convention here. This is his third term.

George H. Slater of Galveston was re-elected executive secretary a position he has held since 1914. He also was elected delegate to the convention of the American Federation of Labor.

Other officers elected were: Henry Winkler, Houston, re-elected first vice president; Mrs. L. E. Southworth, Denison, second vice president; W. B. Arnold, San Antonio, third vice president; Charles E. Sepaugh, Marshall, re-elected fourth vice president; W. W. Finch, Amarillo, fifth vice president; Henry Maitre, Port Arthur, re-elected reading clerk and J. L. Hauswald, El Paso, re-elected sergeant-at-arms.

Texas Army Posts May Be Abandoned

WASHINGTON, May 22 (UP)—Abandonment of 53 Army posts, valued at $22,000,000, is contemplated by the war department, it was announced last night.

The posts were designated by the general staff after a survey ordered by the president. Their abandonment, General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, said, will contribute to military efficiency as well as economy. Only 13 of them now are garrisoned. Others may be added to the list, MacArthur said. Some of the important posts proposed for abandonment are: Fort Eustis, Va.; Fort Brown, Brownsville, Tex.; Fort Hunt, Va.; Camp Harry J. Jones, Ariz.; Fort Lincoln, N. D.; Camp Stephen D. Little, Ariz.; Miller Field, N. Y.; Fort Missoula, Mont.; Fort D. A. Russell, Tex.; and Chanute Field, Ill.

Abandonment of these 10 posts alone would involve removal of nearly 5,000 officers and enlisted men. Consolidation of army stations has long been desired by the general staff, but political considerations have prevented it heretofore. Even now a flood of protests from various interests is looked for.

Two Girls and Boy Making Highest Averages In the Graduation Class of the High School

CARMEN COMPTON

ROBERT KIDWELL

ZILLAH MAE FORD

—All Photos by Bradshaw

The three graduates, whose pictures are shown above, are the honor graduates of the Big Spring high school for the term just closed. Carmen Compton, with a four year's scholastic average of 91.64, was the valedictorian of the Senior class. Zillah Mae Ford, with a four year's average of 91.03, was the salutatorian. Robert Kidwell, the boy making the highest average during his high school years, had an average of 89.60.

To Carmen and Robert go the numerous scholarships which colleges of the state give to the boy and girl making the highest average. The records of these three pupils show unusual versatility in many lines. All three took an active part in the school activities. Carmen and Robert were both on the staff of the Wheel, the page in the Herald edited by students and devoted to their activities. Zillah Mae and Robert were editor-in-chief and business manager respectively of "El Rodeo" the class annual; they were also prominent in high school athletics. Robert was a member of the "B" association and Zillah Mae was awarded a medal this year for going to the district finals in the tennis tournaments. Carmen was a member of several clubs, social and otherwise. Both girls were members of the Pep Squad all four years.

The details of the student's activities are these: Carmen Compton was a member of the Wheel staff this year; a member of the pep squad all four years; a member of the H.I.K.E. Club for the last three years; a member of the following clubs: Rainbow, Girl Reserves, Girl Athletics, Choral Club and Spanish Club. She was also vice-president of the Honor Society this year. She is the daughter of Thomas Compton.

Zillah Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ford, came into high school as valedictorian from Junior High. She has twice represented her class in the Latin tournaments and for four years taken part in tennis meets, going to finals in the district this spring. She was class editor of the "El Rodeo" last year and editor-in-chief this year. She was president of the National Honor Society. In her sophomore year she was elected by the students as sophomore favorite; this year she was elected by the high school students and by the faculty as May Queen. She was active in the debating club and was president this year of the Pep Squad. She is a Rainbow, has been elected as Worthy Advisor and will be installed Wednesday evening. She has been a member of the following clubs: Golden Peppers (a basketball club in 1929); Commercial Club; Girl Reserves; and Girls Council, F.I.M. and H.I.K.E. Clubs.

Robert Kidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eselle C. Kidwell, was business manager of "El Rodeo" this year; was a member of the "B" association for the last two years, secretary of the honor society for last two years and a member of the Wheel this year. He played tennis for the last two years, and went out for football, basketball and track in different years. He was representative of the Latin Class in 1929. He played one of the leading roles in the Senior play.

This year the two honor graduates, Carmen and Zillah Mae, had the honor of heading the new bronze tablet on which only names of the National Honor students, averaging 90 and above will be engraved. The plaque is mounted on a mahogany panel 18 by 11 inches, containing an insignia of the National Honor Society. It will contain the names of all future high school students averaging over 90. Knox Chadd, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Chadd, and Vera Frances Cotten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Cotten, whose averages were also over 90, will also have their names engraved on the honor plaque for 1931.

TO UNDERSTAND the value of roasting coffee a little at a time, think of it this way. You get far better results cooking small quantities of food than huge amounts because you can control the smaller volume ever so much better.

That's why Hills Bros' patented, continuous process—Controlled Roasting—is far superior to bulk-roasting methods. A matchless uniform flavor is developed because Hills Bros. Coffee is roasted a little at a time—evenly—continuously. Exact control prevents any variation.

Raymond J. Barbuti, whose Olympic performance for Uncle Sam was front-page news all over the United States in August, 1928, is talking prospectively about insurance when a dispatch arrived reporting Stanford's one-mile relay team had run the distance in the world's record time of 3 minutes 12.8 seconds at Fresno, Cal.

Mr. Barbuti, who put it mildly was shocked. He was a member of the picked American quartet that ran the mile relay to the record time of 3:13.23 at Stamford Bridge, London, in the 1928 meet with the British empire.

His running mates that steaming afternoon were George Baird of Iowa, Morgan Taylor of Grinnell and Emerton (Bud) Spencer of Stanford.

"What's this track business coming to," inquired Mr. Barbuti, "when four boys from one college can run the legs of a record set by four picked men, all veterans and all in top shape? It just does not seem right and proper, but that's the figure."

"Say, do you know what that means? These Stanford boys ran four quarters, three of them with running starts, at one average of about 48.1 seconds apiece. I never thought I would see the day when collegians would do any such hoofing at that. Maybe I should have started selling insurance and staying off college tracks altogether. I thought we knew how to run three years ago, but this shows us up."

The boys who reeled off the record time for Stanford were Maynor Showe, Lee and Ike Hables and Ben Eastman, who have been leading up the coast tracks all spring and expect to do the same to the cinders at Franklin field in the I.C.A. A.A.A. championships May 30-31.

"HELL, PAY LATER ON" It may have been a break for Connie Mack's Athletics to have all those spring games postponed while his ace twirler, Robert Moses, was recovering from a slight injury, but then again it may not.

It means a flock of double-headed inter on, with a consequent "rain" on the regulars—Groves, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg. Perhaps they can bear the burden, with aid from McDonald, Tommel and Shores, but it would suit the A's much better to take the opposition on singly.

Still, there have been few occasions for the world's champions to worry so far, especially since Spott except baseball.

Eastland Golfer Shoots 72 For Medalist Honors of WTGA Bout

LUBBOCK, May 21 (AP)—A withering, biting wind and storm raged out of the north Thursday and spelled practical disaster to thirty-odd golfers who were at the time playing what might have been their qualifying rounds but before the storm B. J. Barnett of Eastland had fired a 72, perfect par, over the Lubbock Country Club course in take medalist honors in the seventh annual West Texas Golf association tournament.

Far on 6th Nines Barnett, winner of Eastland's invitation tournament last year and runner up in the Mineral Wells invitation tournament, a first class golfer, was one of a field of 140 golfers who played the 18-hole qualifying round yesterday. He shot par on both nines, a 36 going out and 36 coming in, to lead a field in which a score of 82 was needed to qualify for the first flight. Since the number of 82 shooters was not enough to fill out the championship section several 83 golfers drew for first flight honors.

J. K. Bradshaw, until recently a caddy at the Lubbock country club, a 17-year-old student of Lubbock high school, was close upon Barnett's heels with a startling 73. Bradshaw shot a clean 35, one under par, going out and coming in a 37, one over par. His shooting was the talk of the field during the day's work and won him a place near the top in the field flight.

Barnett's card: 544 444 434—52 Out 350 444 444—72 He Looks Good as Usual

While not mentioned as a pre-tournament favorite, Barnett's play classed him as among the cream of the lot and bade fair to see him through more than one preliminary match.

Other favorites who qualified to play and their records are as follows: E. B. Johnson, Amarillo, 75; R. Pease, Abilene, 78; Charles C. Rial, Post, 77; Don Mitchell, Lubbock, 78; Rob Peck, Wichita Falls; John Pennell, Abilene, 78; Ellis Cowden, Midland, 79; V. O. Jennings, Lubbock, 81; Frank Kingbrun, Plainville, 77; Mansel Merriam, Amarillo, 77; Billy Holmes, Lubbock, 76; Rob Scott, Colorado, 78 and Frank Rose of Lamesa, 78

and Emerton (Bud) Spencer of Stanford.

"What's this track business coming to," inquired Mr. Barbuti, "when four boys from one college can run the legs of a record set by four picked men, all veterans and all in top shape? It just does not seem right and proper, but that's the figure."

THESE YOUNGSTERS WILL BATTLE FOR RANGER TOURNEY TITLE

The Water Bucket

BY BOBBY CAMPBELL Maurice E. Whiteside and Obie Bristow swung clubs to the tune of an 88 and an 82, respectively to qualify in the West Texas Golf Association tournament at Lubbock, Thursday. That is merely a statement of facts.

If the blizzard allows, same, the Bankers will clash with Fivellen's aggregation at Dusty Diamond shortly before dusk. It will be the initial game of the week, excepting the Sunday affair, as Coahoma had to forfeit two games on account of not having nine men to place in nine places at the same time.

Those interested in golf tournaments will be glad to hear that the Ranger Country Club is planning to entertain a bit. The Ranger course is a good one and the club house is rather a lulu, especially for the things they are planning at Ranger. It was built of rig timbers and native stone at an extremely low cost. A. Neil, president of the Ranger club, is sponsoring its first annual get together.

Whew! And a couple of Whews! The San Angelo scribbler, Mr. Cross, has been indulging again. Probably because he had nothing else to say, and probably because even though he might have been unable to say it, he reviews with a majestic sweep things vitally pertinent to Big Springs—things, incidentally, of which he knows nothing. His verbal blast has lots of words, yet is seriously lacking in meaning. Extract the bits of cork and peruse:

"J. Gordon Bristow is among the villagers once again," writes R. C. Campbell in The Big Spring Herald. "He drops in like this every day in a while, to regreppure, no doubt, from strenuous and long hours spent in San Angelo. He has not favored this department with a visit so we go, through life in ignorance as to the possibilities of the 1931 grid aggregation. We should also like to interview him on his recent loss in the San Angelo country club golf tournament."

"Just to keep the records straight, this col notices, the imaginative Howard county scribbler that Bristow, so far as close observers have been able to ascertain, never did, never does and never intends to do anything strenuous and that the hours in San Angelo are NOT long; they are short, very short—and sweet. There was no recent loss by Bristow in "the San Angelo country club golf tournament." The scribble probably refers to the all-city meet in which the skee-gun Obie surprised the populace at large by battling through to the finals before succumbing. Incidentally, that is not the way to spell golf, nor is it the way to pronounce it. As for information on the Big Spring "grid aggregation" there is no such organization. The scribble doesn't need to interview Bristow. Football in Big Springs, as usual, is a miquis quantity. The town has a coach, but no team and there is no immediate outlook of the place ever having a team. There was a time when Bristow had fond hopes of importing a club, but between the depression and the general lassitude of the natives, those hopes have been squeezed into drag despair. Obie, coaxed off a larger chunk than he can mastigate. When he went into Big Springs they appraised him so meekly that he hired out for the coaching job and thought he had stumbled into a real break. The boys and girls were sore at Bill Stevens then and they did a lot of talking about what they would do for the new mentor. They talked just like golfers on the 19th hole and said just as little.

Youthful Englishman to Battle For British Amateur Golf Title

We've heard it said before and by others that when Bristow was elected coach the sportmen assured him financial support. Nothing is farther from wrong. What really happened was that when the board was considering applications for the job, it was declared the salary an experienced man would demand could not be paid by the board. So this group pledged enough to make up the difference. However, at that time Bristow had not applied for the job. He had made no proposition. The school board was considering seriously the application of another. Bristow and his father went before the board, and when they came out Bristow was coach. His salary was placed at $3,000 a year, and nothing was said in regard to the financial bolstering from the outside. So the pledge that was discarded, and the signers went back to their pitch games.

Not that the handful of men that signed wouldn't support the board in Bristow's case as well as any other's. They would. The facts of the matter, however, is that they weren't asked to. The board raised the ante $800 without batting an eyelash and minus a murmur. And no one, so far as we know, was "mad" at Bill Stevens. Stevens, it is true, was rather in an ill mood with this department following the San Angelo game, but that was all as the boys would say. But no one ever said anything in our earshot about Stevens but what he could have tuned in on and walked away in good humor. So it is.

Justice Rules Bonus Money of Subject To Any Attachment SAN ANGELO, May 22 (AP)—Appeal to the county court and eventually to the state supreme court is seen by principals in a case here in which J. E. Long, justice of the peace, ruled that the bonus money of a World War veteran is exempt from attachment for any sort of debt.

Long ruled in the case of B. F. Rainey, grocer, vs. W. J. Nelson, Rainey had sought to collect a bill from Nelson, a World War veteran, by garnishment of a bank account. Long declared immunity of the bonus moneys is provided in the bonus act of 1924.

Houston Channel Becomes Important Cotton Export Artery HOUSTON, May 22 (AP)—Old Man Ship Channel keeps rolling on. Nearly 2,000,000 bales of cotton have been exported from here this season—1,951,456 to be exact—and an unofficial canvass of steamship companies made it seem probable that the 2,000,000-mark would be easily passed.

Exports for last season reached 1,876,413 bales. Sylvester Johnson, veteran Cardinal pitcher, is regarded as one of baseball's best golfers.

Humble Downs Magnolia Nine

One bad inning in which three errors by Stephan and one by E. Reid, coupled with a single by Lamb and triples by Yarbro and Wash, was sufficient to give Humble 3 runs and a victory over Magnolia Wednesday afternoon.

Otherwise the game was a pitcher's battle between Lamb and Mahoney. Each allowed only four hits, Lamb striking out seven men and Mahoney five.

Burrell Cramer socked a home run to deep right field in the sixth but Lamb settled down and fanned Mahoney to retire the side.

1930 Has Benefitted Business
Says Newspaper Magnate; Wage
Reduction Termed Only Danger

PARIS, May 22. (UP)—In a realistic interpretation of the American economic depression Roy W. Howard, chairman of the board of the Scripps-Howard newspaper, told 200 business men at an American Club luncheon that the current slump has benefitted the United States, that reconitioning of sound business is going on, and that Americans have no need added a "yellow stripe" to their National Emblem.

Midnight Feature

Bert Lytell and Ray Johnson are seen in a scene from "The Single Sin," a Tiffany production, to be presented as the feature of tomorrow evening's Ritz midnight matinee, beginning at 11:30 p. m.

"Five years hence," he said, "many business will be in infinitely better shape by reason of 1930. A lot of economic fire-traps have been swept away and quite a few of our economic slumps have been cleaned out."

"Much of the slump in business has naturally been due to the fear of much more difficulty, due to five or six million unemployed working men. Two years ago the working man was listening to the siren songs of each new installment salesman and using dollar bills for income to burn before the gods for pleasure."

"Now he is worshipping before the shrine of the savings bank. This thrift is a fear-induced acquirement. Banish this fear and the buying will start."

"The money is there. When the money starts to come forth the whole aspect of the American situation is going to change."

"I foresee only one major threat to relatively early realization of resumption of trade activity. This danger is fully understood by Washington. The president is, in my judgment, entitled to forgiveness for many political sins because of his tenacity and foresight which fought to prevent any move in the direction of wage cuts or a lowering of living standards."

"I believe that the commercial and financial leadership in the United States is far-sighted enough to head off efforts of a few industrial reactionaries who would bail out the boat by boring a hole in the bottom."

"Our position in municipal affairs is to find nothing to change our preconceived opinion."

Likewise, if you're looking for things to strengthen your support of any measure you can find them. But the wise position to take is to go into a proposition without bias, without prejudice, without jealousy and from an opinion solely upon the proposition itself. In doing that we must forget persons and personalities. Our position in municipal affairs has and will continue to be based solely upon facts and figures, without taking into consideration any personal matters, any local political background, or any local political factions, if such there be.

We are interested not in who fills the city offices but in what the people do to improve the community.

Whenever we fail to find a market abroad for our surplus products, the domestic market cannot consume them, and the bottom drops out of their prices. The Democrats in congress protested against this short-sighted and selfish policy of the administration. It is time to turn the government to the Democratic party, which believes in liberal principles. We cannot ignore the rest of the world in our trade and commerce. The Democratic party is the only hope for the return of the government to a period of economic sanity and stability. We ought to win in 1932, and we can win by using judgment and foresight. We have a fairly good chance to elect a speaker of the house to control congress.

"Republican rule of the past two years has resulted in creating a treasury deficit of nearly one billion dollars. When we remember that the Republican administration made loud professions as to its efficiency and economy it seems ironical to no wascertain that its boasts have resulted in plunging the treasury into debt to the extent of his stupendous sum. Leading Republicans are now advocating a general increase of federal taxes. It seems to me that this is no time to add to the burden of tax payers of the country. The treasury is about seven years ahead of its program of retreating the national debt, and it seems to me that a portion of such funds may be very usefully employed in meeting the deficit."

There is much fear and alarm with regard to the possibility of Russia driving the United States and other exporting countries out of the foreign markets. Russia has put on what is called its five-year economic plan. There is no doubt that at the present time it is having its effect on foreign trade. However, I do not believe that I like long run it can succeed. It will be impossible for Russia over a long period to materially increase its exports of wheat, oil or other commodities which it produces. Its system of labor, and the conditions which it imposes will not long be borne by those who toil. Uneducated, ignorant Russian masses, cannot long successfully compete with the enterprise and initiative of our people. There is no doubt that in the immediate present, because of the Russian program and other factors, our world trade is demoralized and deranged. If the Democrats could secure power and modify and ameliorate the economic policies of the Republican administration, I believe we shall be able to work out conditions where we may see the return of better times.

Horse Race Betting System Is Shattered
By Dallas Officers

DALLAS, May 22. (UP)—An extensive race horse betting system here, claimed to be a $20,000-per-day racket, lay shattered under the official list of Police Chief Claude Trammell according to an article in the Dallas Journal today.

Daily bets from Wichita Falls, Corsicana, Tyler, Fort Worth, Waco and many other Texas cities were placed over the system before a concentrated drive on gambling drove bookies from their offices and sent them walking the city streets, the Journal said.

Entries and results of races on both American and foreign tracks were relayed to a central point in the city by telegraph. Information on the races was in turn relayed to various bookies stationed here by telephone. Followers of the track placed bets ranging from $2 upward with various bookies, which today had deserted their posts.

Racing bets must now be placed at the chance meeting of a bookie and the story continued. A racket that yielded $23,000 per day has been cut to $5,000, the Journal claimed. Evidence of the popularity of horse racing was found in newsstands, which reported large sales of "dope sheets," race papers, and breeders' magazines. Sportsmen here were never solicited for business, bookies making bets only for those who asked them.

One racing paper is delivered here each morning by airmail in order to satisfy fans, the Journal said.

Sinclair Sees Bottom of Oil Market Slump

Proration Has Done Very Little for Industry He Declares

NEW YORK, May 21 (UP)—Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, told stockholders at their annual meeting today that he believed oil prices were getting close to the bottom.

He continued that the consumption of gasoline had increased slightly this year over 1930, but that the industry as a whole "was not making any money."

Regarding proration, Sinclair said that "we have had proration for the past two years and while the production has been prorated, the price has also been prorated so that I do not think we have accomplished very much by that system."

Sinclair admitted that negotiations were under way looking to a possible merger of Sinclair with Prairie Oil & Gas Co., Prairie Pipe Line Co. and Tide Water Associated Oil Co., but said that negotiations had not passed the preliminary stage.

He also hinted at the possibility of negotiations involving the Sinclair Oil Co. in which Sinclair holds options to purchase its stock.

MEDFORD, Wis., May 21 (AP)—Joseph Fleischmann, 35, shot and killed his wife and two small sons during the night, and held three other adults in a state of terror for five hours while talking incessantly of firing bullets into them. He later surrendered.

Sheriff George R. Baird blamed liquor, saying Fleischmann twice had been confined because of alcoholic insanity.

After killing his wife and children, Fleischmann telephoned Anton Kummer, a neighbor and father-in-law, and Gregory Butler, another friend, who found the situation only on arrival. The trio escaped in the priest's automobile after calling the officers.

Responsibility of Citizen To Prevent Fire Loss Stressed

AUSTIN, May 21 (INS)—Urging the individual responsibility of every Texan for preventable fire loss, J. W. DeWesse, state fire marshal, reported that $1,121,230 "went up in smoke" during April.

Of this total of fire losses, $874,007 worth of damage was done by fires of the origin of which were of unknown origin, 75 per cent were preventable. Of the remaining losses, all preventable, DeWesse stated.

Faulty stoves, furnaces and pipes ignited fires consuming the equivalent of $45,518. The careless match or cigarette stub thrown aside by the smoker burned up $21,293 in property. Faulty wiring took a heavy toll of $50,708 from fires started by electricity. Defective chimneys, flues, ignition of hot wax grease, open fires, open lights, rubbish and litter, unattended vacant houses—all these contributed to the loss. Incendiaries caused a huge loss.

There were a total of 677 fires reported to the fire insurance commission, 60 in vacant houses, 58 in faulty stoves, 45 from the careless smoker.

Commenting, DeWesse said: "A careful study of the report will reveal that 85 per cent of known causes were preventable causes. There is only one solution in reducing fires from these causes, and that is the individual responsibility of all the people of Texas in being more careful in eliminating fire hazards in their homes and places of business."

DeWesse pointed out that the fewer fires, the lower insurance rates would be, and urged every town to adopt an ordinance establishing a fire insurance board, and enact town laws with police powers as a means of enforcing rules and regulations pertaining to fire prevention.

Location of Proposed City Hall Not Determined, Say City Officials

Any statement made by anyone that the board of city commissioners has definitely chosen a location for the city hall, auditorium and fire station building upon which a vote will be taken June 16 is incorrect, city officials declared in a statement issued Thursday.

"At such time as bonds are voted for erection of a city hall, people who have suitable sites will be called upon to submit them. If a better site is found than the lots recently purchased at Fourth and Nolan streets by the city—and the price is reasonable, then that site will be used," said the statement. "If there are any citizens interested enough to offer a suitable site at a price comparable with the $3,250 paid by the city for the Fourth and Nolan street lot, such a site would be selected."

T&P Denied Title to Land

Travis County Court Rules Government Road Not Built

AUSTIN, May 21.—J. D. Moore, district judge, Wednesday denied the claim of the Texas and Pacific Railway Co. for its right-of-way under an act of the Texas Legislature of 1850 and a subsequent congressional charter.

One of the features of the meeting will be a visit of the institute's board of directors June 2 to the East Texas oil fields of Rusk and Gregg counties and to the unutilized lands in Texas.

The State was suing for part of the T. & P. right-of-way in Ector County. The T. & P. was granted leave to amend its answer and the case was set for further hearing May 25.

In a brief filed by the railroad, the company claimed fee title to a right-of-way across the state, basing its claim that the government had authority to grant a right-of-way on a resolution passed by the state legislature in 1850, which granted the U. S. government a right-of-way across the state for the construction of a government railroad.

Use of this right-of-way, the rail line claims, includes the use of mineral underlying the land. Instead, the outcome is the state, public schools of the state because of right-of-way running through public school lands; the University of Texas and Texas A. & M. College, for the same reason; and adjacent land owners along those lines where oil has been found.

Production Division To Compare Unit Operation and New Pool

DALLAS, Texas, May 21 (UP)—Drilling and producing problems of the petroleum industry will be discussed at sessions of the American Petroleum Institute's division of production, which will hold its first mid-year meeting here June 1 to 4.

Hundreds of working, practical oil men are expected to attend the discussions, which are intended to correlate and review the results of months of work in field and office and to permit consideration of technical details by the many committees, for which time is lacking at the annual meeting of the institute.

The division was organized at the Eighth annual meeting of the institute in 1927 to provide a needed forum, promote the arts of petroleum development and production, collect, correlate and disseminate valuable information relating to these subjects and advise the institute's officials on field problems.

The division maintains offices in Dallas with Carl A. Young in charge. R. R. Penn of Dallas is chairman of the division's general committee.

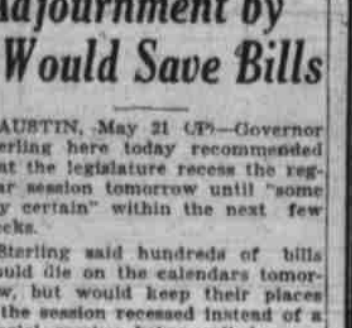

One of the features of the meeting will be a visit of the institute's board of directors June 2 to the East Texas oil fields of Rusk and Gregg counties and to the unutilized lands in Texas.

Groups meeting June 1 will be special sub-committees on derricks and wellhead tanks and a consulting committee on gages and gaging practices. Committees and sub-committees scheduled to meet June 2 include groups interested in beltting engineers, standard rigs and derricks, oil country tubular goods, rotary drilling equipment, pumping equipment, steel tanks for oil storage, measuring, sampling and testing of crude oil, pipe lines and beltting, fire prevention in oil fields, corrosion of oil field equipment, tropical committee on production research, disposal of production wastes, topical committee on metallurgy of oil field equipment, topical committee on production practice, topical committee on drilling practice, topical committee on production research, standardization central committee and special committee of the general committee.

AUSTIN, May 21 (UP)—Governor Sterling here today recommended that the legislature recess the regular session tomorrow until "some day certain" within the next few weeks.

Sterling said hundreds of bills would die on the calendar tomorrow, but would keep their places if the session recessed instead of a special session being called.

AUSTIN, May 21.—Thursday's session was scheduled to decide three questions for whose answers the legislature had groped in vain 127 days.

These were:

1. Victory or defeat for congressional redistricting.
2. To cut or not to cut half a million dollars from the pay of 2500 state employees.
3. To extend the regular session, (hitherto recessed) before resuming it, or forcing a special session to act on unfinished business.

Three sets of conferees were to decide fate of the budget bills by Wednesday night, with the "five and ten" salary cuts the main issue on which threatened deadlock hung undecided.

Educational conferees have decided on everything else but the salary reductions and buildings to be put in the school budget. The house voted a 10 per cent reduction in all salaries over $2750, and 5 per cent in all from $1501 to $2750 a year. It put the same cuts in the department bill. It did not cut salaries of the eleemosynary employees. The eleemosynary bill was passed before the economy bloc got in full swing.

Conferees on the eleemosynary bill have held back their report for several weeks to see what would be done on the two other bills. If the salary cuts stay, then eleemosynary conferees expect to make the same reductions in their bill.

Conferees on the eleemosynary bill are Senators Beck, Berkeley, Paul, Oneal and Woodruff and Representatives Sanders, Graves, Ford, Kayton and Moore.

Educational conferees are Representatives Sanders, Holders, Kayton, Ford and Finn and Senators Harvin, Thomason, Parr, Berkeley and Giner.

On the departmental bill, conferees are Representatives Sanders, Murphy, Metcalf, Hubbard and Lemons and Senators Beck, Deberry, Woodward, Williamson and Moore.

Further Wool Sales Made During Week

SAN ANGELO, May 21 (AP)—Further sales of wool were made in West Texas last week with buyers paying clean prices of 52 to 55 cents in Boston. Sales of the Wool Growers' Central Storage Company have reached 300,000 pounds, all twelve months' wool. No eight months' wool was sold.

The Wool Growers' Central Storage Company sale is regarded as of importance in setting of the market for Texas this spring. At a sealed bid auction sale bids on 240,000 pounds were rejected.

Short, or eight months' wool does not seem to be in demand and one bidder said that the Schreiners of Kerrville, who usually buy about 1,000,000 pounds of wool in the spring, will have only about 600,000 pounds of short wool this year. It was freely predicted that fall shearing will be very light.

Big Spring's Financial Condition Compared With Neighboring City's

Comparison of financial statement of the city of Big Spring and the City of Sweetwater discloses startlingly strong conditions in the local city government.

In the face of a difference of 2,000 population in favor of Zetson's Big Spring in 1930 census was approximately 2,000 greater than that of Sweetwater.

Tax valuations of Sweetwater, however, total $2,060,000 compared with $7,500,000 for Big Spring.

The total city tax rate, exclusive of independent school district tax, is $1.75 in Sweetwater compared with $1.55 in Big Spring.

Total liabilities and surplus of Sweetwater is $2,706,070, compared with $1,250,973 for Big Spring.

Sweetwater's surplus is $745,000; Big Spring's is $548,000. The surplus is the difference between assets and liabilities.

The bonded and warranted indebtedness of Sweetwater amounts to $1,882,977. Big Spring's total bonded and warranted indebtedness is $687,000.

Sweetwater's expenditures during the last fiscal year were more than twice as great as those of the local city government, and the Sweetwater surplus is less than $200,000 more than Big Spring's.

Women Attended Bandit School

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 21 (UP)—Ead Coulter, reporter arrested in Wichita, today was said by police to be the "professor" of a school for women bandits operated here.

One of the crime school "graduates," Miss Loyce McCormick, 21, is in jail here, unable to make a $20,000 bond on charges of participating in a bandit foray with another of the women bandit "students."

The Buick motor car in which the suspect was arrested at Wichita was thought to be that stolen from Ed Patrick, when he was lured into a hotel room here by Miss McCormick and an accomplice.

The two women bandits kidnaped Patrick's wife, who was walking in their automobile outside the hotel, they later released her, taking the car.

Miss McCormick was arrested the following day and identified as one of the women bandits. In a signed statement the girl told how she had been a student at Coulter's school for women bandits.

HOME TOWN TALK

By BEDDY

Today—Fourth anniversary of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's flight from New York to Paris.

Comfort should be found by many communities in the bill just passed by the legislature, which gives county commissioners courts final power of determining any re-routing of state highways through towns of a population of more than 200.

A similar bill was vetoed two years ago by Governor Moody. It remains to be seen what Governor Sterling, former chairman of the highway commission, will do with it. The measure takes from the highway commission its powers to make new routes for present designated highways in virtually every town and city of the state.

In other words, if the bill becomes a law, the Howard county commissioners' court would, have the power to either highway 1 would be continued along its present route through Coahoma in case at some time in the future the highway were paved.

The bill has its good points and injurious ones. In some instances elimination of hazardous crooks in roads should be made, without radically changing the general route of the road. But, in such instances, pressure upon commission courts would often times outweigh well-considered judgment.

We have consistently favored holding the route of No. 1 in this county as near to its present status as possible. The greatest problem is formed by the right-angle turn in the center of the Coahoma section of the highway. It looks hard to change the route, but unwise to leave that sharp turn it is.

Adequate court facilities will be afforded the 32nd judicial district, especially Howard and Nolan counties, if Governor Sterling signs Senate Bill 90, by Parrish, which creates the "Special District Court of the 32nd District of Texas," with the same boundaries as the 32nd district.

Terms of the bill afford Howard and Nolan each an additional 12 weeks of court each year, making the total for each county 24 weeks annually.

Vickers Delivers Graduation Address To Large Class

STANTON, May 19.—With the class addressed by Paul T. The following is the list of graduates: Herma Clements, Pauline Cather, Henry Donelson, Maurice Cochran, Otella Fortune, Clark Hamilton, Beal Jones, Modelle Melin, Sarah Henson, Ernest Epley, Edward Pollock, Stanley B. Whitson, Mary Edith Sloan, C. B. Williams, Robert Smith, Cecil Hamilton, Obara Hesselwood, Agnes Louder, Zelma Lee Moore, Billie Houston, Earl Eubanks, G. B. Shelburne, Jr.

Tank Soon To Take Place Of Cavalry Horse

WASHINGTON, May 19 (UP).—Cavalry that deserves the name is soon to be no more, so far as the United States is concerned. Announcement of this effect was made by the War Department, after long study by General Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, and after exhaustive tests of modern substitutes for the horse.

"Cavalry" is derived from the Latin "Cabalus," meaning an inferior horse. That is what the cavalry private has said for years. Now the Cavalry, except for small units and perhaps for ceremonial purposes, is to be retired permanently, and the modern cavalrymen will have to find some other object for his imaginations.

He probably will find it in the light, fleet tanks, heavily armed, capable of going almost anywhere a horse can go and probably some places where a horse would balk; capable of going there and coming back without being hamstrung. And without being shot down by an enemy sniper. It takes a powerful sniper to bring down a tank.

Cavalry, the world war revealed, was so much cannon fodder—spectacular with lances, sabers and pennons, but obsolete.

MacArthur's announcement was 1,000 words long, but its essence was embodied in one terse paragraph:

"The cavalry will undergo such general reorganization and re-equipment as will enable it best to perform its missions. This may require at least two types of cavalry regiments, one of which in which the horse and mule may remain only where they cannot be replaced by the motor for the performance of difficult tactical missions, or for operations in difficult terrain where the horse and mule still give us the best mobility."

A second type of cavalry (mechanized) in which the horse and mule shall have disappeared entirely.

U. S. cavalry now numbers only 8,000 men. The new tanks, for which bids have been asked, will have a speed range of from 25 to 40 miles an hour. They will be the nucleus of the new "cavalry."

Mrs. Dave Leatherwood Describes Her Experience in Improving Living Room

Mrs. Dave Leatherwood won first prize in the recent living room contest in the class of those who are improving their living rooms for a sum under $50. She tells in her words how she did it.

"When Mrs. Allgood encouraged me to improve my living room, I hardly knew how to begin. There was so much to be done.

"The walls were a dark ugly green with matching woodwork. The unfinished floors were hopeless. A closet adorned one corner, which I removed and placed in the hall. This gave more needed space. Next to the closet was my library table always littered with objects and not suited to a living room. A cedar chest was on another side under a window. The heater stood almost in the center directly in front of a door.

"Fortunately I possess a good dark brown wicker suite, or it could never have survived the treatment received at the hands (and feet) of my two small boys.

"Having never papered a room I decided it would be better to gain a little knowledge and experience, so with the aid of my husband we papered our dark brown kitchen with a light modernistic kitchen paper. It was not a very good job but it results in a better job on our living room.

"I hardly knew how to continue my work, being short on funds. After 'scouting' around I found an experienced man to paper the ceiling of the living room for payment in butter and buttermilk, which I had been pouring out. My husband and I finished papering and I painted the dark green woodwork rich cream color. Then came the floor. I moved the old worn conglomera rug out and padded the floor about half an inch thick with newspapers. I then moved a 9 by 12 wool rug from my bedroom and purchased conglomera rug border to put around the rug. I made a braided rug of hemp and intend to make another. The result was a pleasing floor."

"My sisters became very interested in my work and helped me. One gave me a good writing desk and chair. It matches my other furniture exactly. Another gave me a picture for my birthday and another a use-

Annual Offering Taken For Causes Supported by the United Auxiliaries; Attractive Program Given by Members

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church met Monday afternoon at the church to observe the tenth birthday of the auxiliary, with a program especially prepared for the occasion.

The subject was "African Womanhood and the Children of Our Missionaries of the Congo." Mrs. Owen was the program leader. Mrs. E. L. Barrick opened the program with a devotional service.

Mrs. W. C. Barnett, auxiliary president, gave many interesting facts concerning the school being built in Africa to which the birthday offering of the auxiliary will go.

The playlet, "Voices from the Wastebasket," was well presented by Misses Emory Duff, Sidney Anderson, Graham Foosee and E. E. Fahrenkamp.

Miss Etelle Jeanette Barnett played a piano selection arranged from the opera, "Martha," by Edward Dorn. Mrs. M. N. Melner sang, "What Will You Give to Jesus?"

Mrs. Fred M. Campbell and Mrs. R. L. Owen read helpful papers on the following subjects: "The Great Problem in Our Congo Mission" and "Our Homes at Our Five Stations: The Central School for Missionaries' Children."

Four little girls raised blue and white baskets (the auxiliary colors) for the generous offering.

A birthday cake with ten blue candles was then brought in and Mrs. H. W. Taylor and Mrs. W. R. Shiles, charter members of the church, were asked to light the candles. Mrs. Taylor remarked: "This is one time in my life when I am glad to be called old."

Delicious angel food and punch were served to a large number of members and visitors.

Factor Target Of Gangs Cops Are Convinced

Jack Diamond Believed After The Master Swindler

CHICAGO, May 19 (UP).—Reports that gangs in at least three cities were hunting John "Jake the Barber" Factor to kidnap him spurred police or two continents on today in their search for the former hair-taker whom they accused of taking millions of dollars through sale of fraudulent oil and mining stocks.

Federal and city detectives who raided Factor's 14-room apartment a few minutes after he was reported to have left admitted they believed he might surrender and face swindling charges in England rather than chance of being killed by Jack "Legs" Diamond of New York or kidnaped by a midwestern gang.

The police said they believed that Diamond and Factor, once friends, had been playing a deadly game of hide and seek for months and trying to toy each other with bullets because Factor refused to divide with Diamond the millions he made in England after fleeing to that country with a forged passport furnished him by the New York gangster.

The officers pointed out that shortly after Diamond went to Europe last year, presumably in search of Factor, he was shot five times. Three weeks ago Diamond was shot again and almost killed.

It was known that after Factor was indicted in Florida on charges of selling approximately $1,000,000 worth of "ocean land" he secured the aid of Diamond in fleeing to Europe. Officers understood there was an agreement that in England the smooth talking ex-barber was to operate a huge swindle and divide the profits with Diamond. They say he was so successful he snubbed Diamond and that the feud developed.

Coupled with this were reports that rages in New York, St. Louis and Chicago had been hunting Factor for weeks to kidnap him, knowing he had made millions in Europe and could pay huge ransom, yet could not appeal to police for protection because the police wanted him also.

The possibility that Factor might surrender was seen in advances made by his attorney, Arthur L. Schwartz, to the English and American detectives seeking him here after a complaint sworn out by Godfrey Hazard, British consul to Chicago. This complaint charged that Factor, with the aid of Green and others, sold more than $2,000,000 worth of worthless stock in England, promoting the sale through a financial weekly paper which he published himself.

There also have been reports that Factor won large amounts at amine tables in Europe, including

has struck a popular new note in motor-car styling

Many factors have contributed to the remarkably widespread popularity of the new Chevrolet Six. Among these are smooth performance, low price, matchless economy, exceptional riding ease and driving comfort. But no feature has been more strikingly evident in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile. Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched tie bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-slung body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car, as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.

Attractive Contract Bridge Party Is Given By Mrs. Fred Stephens

Mrs. Inkman Makes High Score; Mrs. Bonham Cuts For High at Unusually Interesting and Hospitable Party

Mrs. Fred Stephens entertained with four tables of bridge at her home on Scurry street Friday afternoon in the first of a series of parties which she is planning throughout the summer months.

Verbenas and spring garden flowers were used in profusion as her decorative scheme, the pastel shades predominating in tallies, scorepads and her lovely refreshment plate.

Mrs. Inkman made high score for the afternoon and received a set of Madeira embroidered bridge napkins. Mrs. Bonham cut for high and received a set of cards and placings.

The guests were Meses. V. Van Gieson, J. E. Young, Barney Whisenand, of San Antonio, Rhine Phillips, W. W. Inkman, J. E. Shauver, V. H. Flesselen, Victor Martin, R. C. Richardson, Homer McNew, R. C. Strain, W. E. Bonham, Bob Austin, L. W. Croft, A. S. Barnett, of Dallas and George White.

Senior Play Is Rated Energetic Peppy Success

"Fowl Play," a three act college drama, served the high school senior class of 1931 as a vessel for displaying the dramatic abilities of its members when it was presented to a large and appreciative audience in the school auditorium Friday evening.

Though it had none of the possibilities for characterization of an O'Neill or a Shaw play, or even those of the offerings of a hundred more humble playwrights, it radiated the same vigorous and youthful atmosphere of collegiate fraternity, love, and athletics which has made success for dozens of movies and equal numbers of stage performances in the hall between the production of world plots and the rise of gang land themes.

It was, indeed, a play of atmosphere rather than of characterization, and Mrs. Les Weathers, who, assisted by Miss Verda Ruth Graham, directed the production, had her protégés filled with the enthusiasm and energy which are typical under-graduate virtues in every college or university on the western shore of the Atlantic.

Scenes which portrayed the customary frat initiation ritual and the never failing interest in the contest of the season were in abundance. Twice was the living room of the Fraternity House, the setting for the play, filled with a group of wildly yelling students who were conducting a pep rally in preparation for the game, on the first occasion, and, at the second appearance, were sounding a grand finale to the victory achieved a few minutes previously on the football field.

The second act, brought the audience a popular vocal number, "Ho-Hum," from the Sivasah College Glee Club. Lucille, Mitz, Evelyn Merrill, Francis Sheeler, Rose Mary Duff, Carmen Compton, Vera Debenport, Mary Gene Dubberley, and Valera Blitch, wearing white sport dresses and blue ties, formed the chorus.

The versatile Bob Kidwell was perhaps the outstanding character for the evening, acting the part of the fraternity president in an all but perfect manner and assuming in the third act the role of radio announcer broadcasting the game. Electrical arrangements made through the help of Seth Parsons and Texas Electric Service Co. made the broadcasting very realistic.

Particularly well casted was Brownie Henshaw, Sivasah's athletic idol who was in a good way to enjoy the game from the bench because of a ban placed on his fraternity when two of its pledges were accused of unlawful appropriation of some prize hens for the annual initiation dinner.

Louise Hayes, Lucille, Hishon, and Melva Gens Handley held the leading feminine roles. Joy returned to Sivasah when Miss Hayes in the part of a frosh with detective inclinations brought pressure to bear on the combination villain comedian, Lawyer Shinsburg, acted by Nathan Orr, to make him clear the fraternity of suspicion and let its athletes into the game in time for a last minute rally and victory.

The cast of characters was as follows: Clock, Fraternity President—Bob Kidwell; Harris, Star Football Player—Brownie Henshaw; Blakely, Harris' Friend—Tommie Hutto; Burroughs, A Fraternity Brother.

Four High School Favorites Whose Names Were Selected By Vote Of Student Body

BILL FLOWERS

DELBERT ROGERS

MARY GENE DUBBERLEY

ZILLAH MAE FORD

The 1931 High School annual, "El Rodeo," which came off the press and was distributed to the students this past week is a clever modernistic book that is a credit to the school and the members of the staff.

It uses color on the inside pages for the first time; a delicate shade of pinks and deep ivory in the art pages at the front of the book and repeated on the borders and frontispieces of the successive sections.

The modernistic schemes of tall buildings, dirigibles, airplanes, speed machines, borders, the pictures of the buildings in the art section. Each section has a picture representing the progress of the four classes.

An unusual feat about the annual is that every member of the staff is an honor student and a member of the National Honor Society.

The pictures of the four favorites shown above which appeared in this number of the El Rodeo, were selected by a vote of the students of the high school and kept a secret until the annual appeared. They represent the most popular students in the school. All are seniors but Bill Flowers, who is a sophomore.

Zillah Mae Ford, one of the favorites, was the competent editor in chief. Robert Kidwell was the efficient business manager. The art work and cartoons done by Mary Petty, feature editor, deserve special mention; they show unusual ability in a high school student.

The arrangement of the faculty pictures is particularly good this year and reveals the increase of the school system. The group of 100 seniors makes the book look like a college annual, which is high praise for a high school annual.

Assisting Zillah Mae, Robert and Mary were Pauline Melton, associate editor; Jarrell Pickle, sports editor; Polly Webb, class editor; Steve Ford, Jr., assistant business manager; R. V. Jones, assistant class editor.

Frank H. Etter, of the high school faculty, was the sponsor for the annual. The editor-in-chief and the business managers expressed their thanks to the merchants and advertisers of Big Spring who helped make the annual possible and provided such an interesting arrangement of advertising material for this year's book.

The annual was dedicated to Mrs. Fox Stripling, secretary of the Board of Trustees. This is the first time an annual has been dedicated to a member of the board.

Slugging, Robbery Cleared By Confessions Made by Convicts Now in the State Penitentiary

Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his deputies have written "finis" to two crimes committed here, one in 1930, the other in 1929.

Confessions have been received from two men, now inmates of the Texas penitentiary.

L. B. Williams, serving ten years for highways robbery, in a letter to Sheriff Slaughter, admits that he and three other men slugged and robbed Francisco Martinez, aged Mexican storekeeper, last year.

Martinez, although seriously wounded, recovered, only to be fatally shot a few months later. A bandit attempted to rob him, shot him with a pistol and fled. A negro was tried for the slaying, and acquitted.

Williams declared that one of the men with him is now serving ten years for highway robbery, and the other two are serving two years each for attempted robbery and burglary.

During the winter of 1929 the Courtyard Filling Station was entered by a bandit, who forced an employee to get upon the floor, and robbed the cash register of approximately $500.

Jay Axel, who is on the retrieve farm of the prison system, has written to Sheriff Slaughter, confessing the robbery. He admitted he was assisted by two other men.

Axel is serving sentences totaling 31 years. Fourteen cases of theft, burglary and robbery are listed against him.

Truck Bills To Governor

Long, bitter fight in Legislature finally produces action.

AUSTIN, Texas, May 18. (INS)—After one of the most bitter fights of the session, legislation designed to regulate the use of highways by trucks was in the chief executive's office today.

The governor was not expected to act on the bills before next week as he was not in Austin when they were brought to him after having gained the approval of both bodies.

The two measures went to the governor when reports of conference committee were approved by both houses.

Opponents of the legislation declared they would seek to persuade the governor to veto the measures, and falling in that intimated a court battle would follow on the theory of unconstitutionality.

Redlines. The first of the two measures redefines a motor carrier as a motor vehicle transporting property for hire on a highway between two incorporated cities. A truck is not considered a motor carrier which operates exclusively within city limits.

Special permits are allowed to carriers hauling livestock, mohair, wool, milk, feedstuffs, household goods, oil field equipment, timber in the natural state, farm machinery and grain. The bill also describes all other qualifications of a motor carrier, and the railroad commission's jurisdiction.

The second bill is concerned with safety. It provides that no carrier may have more than 600 pounds of weight on the axle of the front axle. The maximum load is fixed at 7,000 pounds.

The railroad commission may issue special permits for a width of 52 feet and a maximum of 11,000 pounds.

Changes. During debate in both houses the change was made so that they were designed to eliminate the truck as a factor in transportation, and were written and supported by the railroads.

It was also declared that business as dangerous as trucks and that no attempt had been made to regulate them because several railroads owned substantial interests in business.

Constitutionality of the first bill was attacked on the grounds that it violated the private right of a citizen to make a contract, and of the second because it would prohibit equipment authorized by the legislature a little over a year ago.

The bills were regarded as unconstitutional by the first majority opinion finally passed at the present session.

The American Airways' zoo has been shut down for repairs. Inmates have vanished. A good, or fairly good, case with two compartments can be obtained for little or no cash. The zoo isn't a zoo any longer. According to Marshall McCrea, traffic department, a moon was responsible for it all. The zoo, at the height of its splendor, consisted of a fox, two opossums, the conch. The conch, probably not liking his fellow zoo mates any too well, ate the opossums, although there were sparrows, good sparrows, too, handy. Probably because his taste did not include fox meat, he satisfied himself with running the fox out of the zoo. The fox, having

Sweetwater Selected For 1932 Meeting

Amarillo Man First Vice President; Bandeen Re-elected

SAN ANGELO, May 18. (INS)—Houston Harris, San Angelo publisher today was elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce succeeding Charles E. Coombes of Stamford.

Sweetwater won the 1932 convention, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Dallas and Mineral Wells were the other contestants.

Election of Harris occurred at a breakfast tendered directors of the chamber. His selection was by acclamation after Walter D. Cline, Wichita Falls, the only opposing candidate withdrew.

Amos G. Garter of Fort Worth nominated Harris. W. J. Cline, Amarillo publisher, was made first vice president. Spencer Wells, Lubbock, second vice president; D. A. Swenson, Stamford, treasurer; J. A. Bandeen, Stamford, manager.

Mr. Harris is publisher of the San Angelo Standard and Times and is interested in several other Texas newspapers, including dailies in Paris, Corpus Christi, Harlingen, Big Spring and Sweetwater.

Yeggs Loot Gail Garage

Telephone Wires to Big Spring Cut; Thieves Escape

Burglars stole an automobile and a quantity of tubes and tires from the Wilson Garage at Gail, on the telephone line between Big Spring and that place, and escaped Friday night.

The car, a Ford coupe, was filled with twenty-five cans and twenty-five tubes for the burglar. Sheriff Jess Slaughter was notified of the robbery Saturday morning.

Bond Issue Now Killed

Principal Platform Item of Governor Barely Is Defeated

AUSTIN, May 18. (INS)—The state highway bond issue, as a legislative proposal, today appeared definitely a thing of the past.

Since the defeat of the proposal for a constitutional amendment to allow issuance of highway bonds in the house last week, sponsors of the amendment have claimed it was merely "sleeping" until they could muster a few more votes.

The sleep proved to be one from which there is no awakening, when the house by a somewhat narrower but just as definite margin, refused to raise the issue.

The vote was 55 to 46 or five short of the 100 required for submitting an amendment to a vote of the people. It was the fourth vote in the house, each vote showing a slight gain. On the first vote, the bill lacked twenty votes of being enough for submission.

Defeat of the proposal to issue $25,000,000 in bonds saw the downfall of the principal issue of Governor Sterling in his first primary campaign last year, as well as the defeat of a project long urged by the state highway commission. The proposal was to submit two amendments, one for $100,000,000 issue of bonds for new highway construction, the other for $12,700,000 bonds to repay counties for money previously spent on roads now a part of the highway system. This would have been paid off with the gasoline tax income. In defeating the proposal, the legislature followed the president of the 41st legislature, which defeated a bond issue plan by two votes.

Final Week of District Court Term Is Opened

The third and final week of the May term of district court opened this morning, with the grand jury back in session for $12,700,000.

The body adjourned after returning eighteen indictments the first week. It was believed that the grand jury will finish up its work by Tuesday afternoon, if not before.

The morning session was spent in hearing oral arguments in a civil case. R. C. Cline, whose trial Friday on a charge of possession of intoxicating liquor, resulted in a hung jury, was scheduled again to stand trial this afternoon.

Criminal cases will be disposed of during the early part of the week, with the latter part being devoted to civil cases.

Motion Picture Ads Go Underwear Flashes One Better Will Declare

All I know is just what I read in the Moving Picture ads, and say Boy what an education it is!

I thought the underwear ads in the newspapers were the limit in presenting an eye-ball, but these movie ads give you the same thing without the underwear.

Even I myself appeared in a Nightgown in the Connecticut Yankee, so on the billboards it would add a touch of romantic glamor, say nothing of a smattering of sex appeal. Mind you, you must get the add-have anything, to do with what you see on the inside. You are liable to see the wildest stuff facing you on the billboards, and then go inside and everybody is dressed as equinus all through the picture. In other words, Will Flays big trouble is getting pictures that will live up to the pictures on the ads.

You know in all Latin American countries, including Mexico, the authority as I flew over there at an altitude of sometimes as low as ten thousand feet in those countries, if you put a picture on the boards to advertise what you are having inside or in your wording you say that Miss Millie De Hokus will certainly drop on a tight wire, why on the said night Millie better do a mighty good job of stripping or the cash customers will clothe Millie and her management with some seats and chairs, and any other handy article laying around.

Or if it shows a picture of a bull fight and a Matador being gored by an angry Ox, why the day of the fight you better have the man gored, or be prepared to be gored yourself. In other words, you got to deliver what you advertise. So the big problem of the Movies now is to deliver up to what the Lithograph makers and the add writers have shown on the outside. In other words that branch of the industry has "Outstripped" the Production end, and just want seem to get em as wild as they show em on the outside. We got to get wilder people. A lot of these have been out here for years, and they are getting kinder old and tame. There is an awful lot of us out here that just can't arouse the passions in our public like we ought to. And that's why we keep trying to get new blood into this ART.

Then in the Titles of Pictures, there is where the getting hard. They just can't think up enough suggestive Titles to go around. They bring every big Writer out here from New York and England and have them in an Office just thinking all the time on Titles that will lead you to expect you are going to see on the inside about four of the most prominent Commandments broken, right before your eyes. But there is just so many of those Titles, and every Company is fighting to get em. Lou take old plays like the "Old Homestead."

Now they are just waiting till they can think up some title for that.

A few of the best that I have been turned in by the highest priced Writers up to now is: "The Old Love Nest," "Home in Name Only," "The Birthplace of Folly," "Devilment Galore Among the Honeyuckles," "What Took Place Under the Old Bridge," "The Cal Pays the Mortgage," "With Body and Soul," "The House is Old but the Carrying on is New and Spicy," "The Gangsters Birthplace as Far as We Know."

So you can see that they are right on the edge of getting something that will combine all these, and give them an inkling of what the old roof has seen take place under it, and then they will start

Long Chase Ends As Car Is Smashed

Stolen Machine Strikes Concrete Platform; Identity Unknown

The man chased into the business district here last night by officers acting on a message from San Angelo was discovered hiding under the front door step of a residence on West First between Scurry and Gregg 30 minutes after he had been fired upon by two officers as he ran from the scene of the wrecking of his automobile at the foot of North Scurry.

Chief of Police E. A. Long discovered the man, who was carried to the Big Spring hospital, where it was found he had been shot in the right forearm. He also was suffering from severe lacerations and cuts on the face.

Advices from San Angelo at 10 p. m. were that officers there had concluded the man was not one of the five who escaped from jail there Saturday morning. Although the description of Alva Pitts, one of the hunted jail-breakers, tallied with the wounded man, and the automobile in which he was riding was the one stolen from Ohio Eddieham in San Angelo, nothing conclusive as to his identity had been learned.

He was suffering intense pain and had not made any statement.

Despite driving an automobile he had stolen into the concrete loading platform of the Texas and Pacific railway, at the end of Scurry Street, and shot first at him as he jumped from the machine and fled west on First Street, a man believed to be Alva Pitts, was escaped from the Tom Green county jail at San Angelo Saturday morning, avoided capture here at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

According to advices received from San Angelo, the man had stolen a Ford roadster. Policemen were notified here.

City Policemen E. B. Bethel and Jimmy Williams, city sanitary inspector in one automobile, and State Highway Patrolman Freeze in another, met the man on the San Angelo-Big Spring highway about seven miles from here.

They chased him into town. Ignoring traffic signals he drove his car through crowded intersections, going north on Scurry street at a rapid rate and striking an automobile at Second and Scurry. His car left the street at the intersection of First and Scurry, and crashed into the platform.

He left the automobile and while officers fired several shots at him made his way to the intersection of Gregg and First streets, he escaped behind a vacant building and disappeared.

The roadster was stolen from Ohio Eddieham of San Angelo Saturday afternoon. It was demolished when it struck the platform.

According to information received here from a San Angelo deputy sheriff, Pitts was under automobile theft charges.

SAN ANGELO, May 18. (INS)—Five prisoners today overpowered a trustee, took four guns from a jailer and deputy sheriff, escaped from the Tom Green county jail, and drove away in an automobile equipped with a postman.

Jailer August Lueddecke was kicked and beaten.

The prisoners included J. D. Conner, awaiting transfer to Huntsville prison to serve one five year and two fifteen year sentences on charges of robbery with firearms and assault with firearms; William Quinn, under sentence at Conroe on bank robbery charges; and Chief Powell, under active year hijacking sentence here.

The last report here said that three of the five were heading south toward the Mexican border from Ozona.

The other two who escaped were Alva Pitts, under automobile theft charges, and R. E. Blaine, Martin under a burglary indictment.

High School Graduate Speakers Present Results of Study of Leisure Time Uses

Addresses of four members of the 1931 graduating class at the commencement exercises held Tuesday evening culminated an extensively reviewed study by the entire class on "The Wise Use of Leisure Time."

Considerable research, classification of information and preparation of data brought forth the speeches of each of the four.

Full text of these addresses follows:

Interpretation of Leisure
By Helen Kildwell

Normal human life is divided into two entirely distinct phases—work and leisure. Most of us can agree on a definition of work and most people take pride in their work. But of all the words in common, polite usage there is, perhaps, a more varied interpretation placed upon the term "leisure" than any other.

For the sake of directness let us say that leisure is the time for rest and recreation. It is not entirely desirable and yet "every American who is not a social rebel is afraid to be a man of leisure."

There are two reasons for such an attitude. First, you and I live in a work-driven world. When the end of our day's work comes instead of leaving our toil we carry it over in our thoughts and conversations to that part of our daily routine that should be dedicated to a recreation of energy for the next hours of labor.

A second reason, we yet live in pain, by that strict code our Puritan ancestors handed down to us a code that has filtered down from the middle ages, which teaches that any thrill or physical well-being is inconsistent with the good of our souls and that to be happy in common, human ways is not conducive to goodness.

So, for these two reasons we are afraid to be leisure. We cling to a code that needs to be modified to meet the demands of this age of machines, when there is more leisure possible than ever before; when the stress upon the human nervous mechanism is stupendous and when ever-increasing demand for a restful body is rapidly becoming insistent.

Inseparable
Since body, mind and soul are inseparable partners for life it follows then that a wholesome well-balanced program of recreation must include a leisure that affords physical, mental and spiritual recreation. And that leisure must meet the needs of the individual. It is a popular idea, this doing things with others—because others are doing them in popular parlance thus "keeping up with the Joneses." A profitable leisure is one adjusted to your personal needs, and mine.

Long were the American people a rural people where life enjoyed at least the seasons and the changes in scenes as well as occupation. But now we are an urban civilization. Our lives are made to conform to the machine-like precision of city life. Hence leisure affords our only resource if we survive individually and collectively.

Much of the social degradation we see around us is the result of leisure direct, sometimes indirect, of an uneducated, misdirected leisure. Let us then be joyfully aware of a priceless leisure that we may use wisely. When we do, our boasted work will decrease in effort, but it will increase manifold in value. No longer will we be ashamed of leisure; the only shame will come through its ill use. Perhaps the leisure of tomorrow will bring men and women everywhere to ask, "What is true? What is good? What is beautiful? What is right?"

CORRELATION OF LEISURE AND SCHOOL CITIZENSHIP

BY CARMEN COMPTON

Student leisure has been defined as that time aside from time spent in preparation for and the execution of school work or those duties assigned by parents, guardians, or the state. It is the status of a pupil in regard to his right to and privilege as a student owes allegiance to the school for the school offers him protection, and also facilities for self-development. Thus the student's leisure is very closely related to school citizenship.

Another citizen's rights should not interfere with the rights of another, the certain rights and privileges accorded any student should not be used in such a way that they would interfere or conflict with the exercise of a fellow-student's rights and privileges. Neither should a person's activities during his leisure time "take down" any of the standards established or formed while he is participating in school activities.

Through this paper will be pointed out the ways in which seniors of Big Spring high school are interested in using their leisure time. A comparison will be made showing the ways in which various interests apparently affect the grades and the time spent in these interests. The interests and grades of the seniors will be taken through the four years of their high school life, thus attempting to show the apparent correlation of their leisure time and the results as manifest in school citizenship.

athletic sports than in any other interest. Eighty minutes of the average time spent in reading, with minor sports, social activities, dancing and biking taking up from forty minutes to one hour's time per day.

The averages of the seniors for the four years high school work were found to vary greatly according to the way the leisure hours were spent by the students. The students who participated in the school activities were found to have made better grades than those that did not take part in any school affairs.

This reason would not be hard to explain. A student that does nothing but go to school and study does not get the real meaning of school citizenship. He is not actually preparing to live. However, a student that takes part in school affairs really learns to love the school more and will do more for it. Consequently, he develops a high type of patriotic loyalty. The spirit of the student makes the school what it is. Mere studying will not convey to the student the true meaning of school citizenship.

Recognized
The great importance of leisure time and particularly of a careful choice of recreational activities has been recognized by several of our senior presidents.

Washington took part in every form of athletics known during his youth and manhood. Thackeray said that Washington could jump farther, slide harder and fight better than any other young man in Virginia. During his strenuous years in the English and American armies and later a president of the newly formed republic he rode constantly. He is said to have ridden as many as ten or twelve miles in one week. Doubtless his early physical training gave him the iron nerve and constitution without which he could not have been first in the hearts of his countrymen.

In contrast with the abundance of leisure and recreation which Washington enjoyed, the last cabin days of Lincoln seem utterly devoid of leisure. The absorbed interest with which he read and studied after his work was so thorough that he could not have been first in the hearts of his countrymen.

Grades
The grades of the seniors ranged from sixty-eight to ninety-two. More grades were approximately eighty than any other average. The students making grades around eighty and higher, and also doing much extra school work, were found to be average students. However, a student that makes only a low average—that is below eighty—and does not take part in any school affairs is not an average student. That student must either spend his leisure time in a way that is hardly possible because he did not have grades made much higher or spend his leisure time on things for his own detriment. That student does not get so much out of the school or get so much out of it unless the meaning of school citizenship is conveyed to him. The interests of the seniors in comparison to their grades were as follows: Seniors participating in all but a few instances, made low grades—from seventy to eighty; students that spent a great deal of time reading made an average of seventy-five to ninety-two; and the students accorded honors made averages from eighty to ninety-three.

Favorites
Latin, French, commercial work, Spanish, trigonometry and English were found to be the studies that the seniors had spent most of their time on during their high school careers. Being among the more difficult studies these courses naturally needed more attention than the minor studies.

Another meaning of school citizenship is also found interwoven among the honors conferred upon students by both the faculty and the student body. When an honor is to be conferred, a student is sought that is reliable, honest, a hard worker, and an enthusiastic supporter of the school. The students that have been awarded honors have been found to be ones that really understood the rights and privileges connected with their high school life. The high school hours are so arranged that many students may spend enough time on subjects at school to get all the information needed for classes. Thus the leisure hours after school have to be accounted for. This time could be spent in worth while reading to cultivate a broad mind that is able to grasp the meaning of life. Healthful recreation and the right kind of entertainment help a student live up to the meanings of true citizenship and help him forge forward at his school until he is at the top of his class. No student in a position of honor or responsible position that cannot take care of himself and pass on to other people the values of leadership.

Related
Among the honors conferred upon a student by the students were the following: President of class, vice-president of class, social committee, play club, and others conferred on the seniors by the faculty were the following: Honor roll, office work, committees, May Fete and plays.

Taking into consideration all these things that have been mentioned, it is possible to see just how related it can be readily understood then why some students always take the initiative in progressive, constructive school projects. These students are truly worthwhile members of the class because they understand the meanings of leisure and school citizenship, and they are able to relate and strive to fulfill their own responsibilities that those whom they are related to can be fulfilled. Their, too, an example is set that helps many students formulate a vision.

Thus it has been shown, through this research that the students who were more interested in worthwhile interests, who made better grades, and upon whom were conferred honors, were the students who were more interested in their leisure time. The average amount spent for recreation by the local business men is about $1.50 a week or approximately 10 hours a week, on golf and other sports. The remainder of his leisure time, like that of the professional man, is fairly equally divided among clubs, social contacts, moving pictures and church work.

Trucks Made To Cut Loads To Ten Bales
New Law Enforced First Time By Highway Patrolman

FORT WORTH, May 20 (UP)—Nine truck drivers stopped by state highway officers at the White Truck company's lot today, met state requirements in order to continue to Houston.

Drivers were cutting their loads of 16 to 22 bales to ten bales each, as required by a newly enacted law. Gov. Ross Sterling last Wednesday signed a bill preventing trucks from carrying more than twenty bales of compressed cotton, or ten bales of uncompressed cotton.

The drivers were stopped by State Highway Officer E. B. Wheeler, after they had just left the Traders Oil Mill Company en route to Houston, where the cotton was to be sent by truck to New York.

The trucks carrying the shipments were loaded by the White Truck company at Houston. According to Wheeler, the drivers are immune from arrest as long as they are in the incorporate limits of a city. He said, however, he would refuse to let them continue with the shipments unless they cut down to the 10-bales.

Final 1930 Cotton Figures Released

WASHINGTON, May 20 (UP)—The department of agriculture in released estimates issued today set the 1930 cotton crop at 13,930,000 500-pound bales compared with 14,828,000 the preceding year.

Texas acreage totaled 16,950,000 acres.

DR. COLLINS HOME
Dr. and Mrs. T. M. Collins returned Wednesday from their wedding trip, which took them to the State Medical Association convention in Beaumont and to Galveston and other points of interest. They were married recently in Dallas.

Child Study Club Sponsors Movie National Parks

The Child Study Club announces that it will sponsor a movie picture showing the two most popular national parks, Yellowstone and Yosemite, at the high school auditorium Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

The admission fee will be reasonable and school children will be admitted for half-fare.

The movie will be unique in that it shows views which the moving picture companies are unable to make use of the national parks for movie purposes.

The films, most of which have been taken by Miss Irene T. Fleming, show the most popular playgrounds of America in great detail. Mrs. M. R. Showalter, who has seen the pictures, says that they give an accurate estimate of what vacation-seekers may expect. They show the different accommodations for campers from the simplest to the most deluxe. They also portray the beauty spots of the parks and give the traveler an idea of what to seek when he enters.

A percentage of the proceeds from these pictures go to the fund which the Child Study Club is accumulating for the purpose of paying for necessities of needy children. The movie is also of the clean, educational type which the club endorses, says Mrs. B. E. Blount, the president.

Less Selfish Action Urged Before Club

"No Pockets In Shrouds," Declares Salesmanship Expert

Group thinking rather than individual, community work rather than personal, and services to the masses rather than to the self was urged by Louis E. Diehl, business counselor, LaSalle Extension University, Chicago, who was the principal speaker at the Business Men's Luncheon Club today.

"Constructive Salesmanship of Today," was the theme of Mr. Diehl's talk. Declaring that the success of human endeavor is based on the service it renders, Mr. Diehl said the business world of today needs to know how to serve in order to learn how to sell.

"We can't get over business being lonely," he declared. "We are waiting for it to come back. But it won't come back that way. We need less waiting and more working; more group consciousness and less individual."

Petroleum Club Adds To Its Membership

On public programs let us not lose sight of the worthwhile issues. Speaking of present day business methods, Mr. Diehl declared the day had passed when business was just a profession. The successful business man of today, he said, must study business methods.

"These methods," he stated, are to "learn more in order to serve better, learn more in order to do better."
