Eisenhower Flashes 'Stop' Sign To Boom

Many Demo Supporters Ignore Signal

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhow-er flashed a "stop" sign to-day at the Ike-for-President bandwagon, but many of his Democratic supporters ig-nored the signal.

The general called for the brakes in a statement which said: "I will not at this time identify myself with any political party and could not accept nomination for any public office or participate in partisan political contest." Now president of Columbia University, the former Army chief of staff made his views known last night through the university's public relations director in a memorandum released to the press. President Truman, en route to Washington from a speaking rrip in Missouri, was reported cheered by Eisenhower's action. His only direct comment, when awakened and told of the news in St. Louis, was that Gen. Eisenhower "is an bonorable man."

But Mr. Truman's aides interpreted the statement as a death blow to the movement to sidetrack the President at the Democratic convention in Philadelphia.

Elsenhower said he was "profoundly touched by the renewed suggestion that I could satisfactorily fill high public office." But, he said, he had not changed his mind since telling Republicans last January that he was "not avail-

That had stopped the Republicans. But some of the general's chief Democratic boosters held on grimly today.

James Roosevelt, chairman of the California state Democratic Central Committee, was one of them. The son of the late President, who had joined with 17 other Demo leaders to issue a call for a pre-convention anti-Truman huddle, said in Los Angeles:

"Gen. Eisenhower's statement clearly indicates that he will not serve as a partisan President but will answer a call to national duty.

I am tonight, therefore, reissuing the call for the caucus to be held in Philadelphia this coming Satur-

Manufacturers and dealers in such nickel or dime commodities hate to raise prices because of the inconvenience to the customer of handling pennies. This is especially true for machine-vended articles.

In some commodities, however, the trade has gotten over the nickel and dime barrier. Take cigars. They no longer sell for a nickel, dime, or quarter-but for 6, 9, 11, 21, 27 cents.

Now many merchandisers of nickel produets are agitating for a 7-cent piece, so they can raise prices without having to take pennies. The way things are going, they might just as well wait a few months and then jump all the way to a dime! In the meantime, the inflexibility of our metal currency is pretty effective price control.

difficulties for the Big Spring school district, and the public is again going to have to step forward to help relieve an emergency situa-

This exists because of the final Supreme Court ruling that the tax rate increase election of last fall was defeated. Facing a teacher-salary emergency, the board last fall went ahead and levied taxes on the basis of $1.50. Now, in view of the court opinion this rate could not have been legally estab-

In the worst possible analysis, the schools would be confronted with the refund of a third of every taxpayer's bill, and the schools don't have that much money.

Any appreciable refund is going to be a severe blow to the school's financial position, and any extraordinary drain on the tax account will undoubtedly bring the teacher situation to a new crisis in the fall. There was being built up some funds to provide for badly needed building repairs and rehabilitation; this work now must be delayed until the money situation is clarified.

It is a certainty that a new tax rate elecpiration of a year from the last vote-because such a procedure is a "must." It probably will be approved, because the public knows by now that a school system of this size cannot possibly operate under a $1 tax

But that still does not ease the immediate pressure. This will have to be done by taxpayers agreeing to waive any refunds on the current taxes. A great many patrons have announced they will do this gladly. Not everybody will; some, particularly corporations bound by stockholder regulations and tax restrictions, probably cannot.

But it seems that the vast majority of taxpayers will have to join in a waiver on refunds if the school operations are not to be seriously orippled.

JIM GRIFFITH WORKING HARD FOR FARM POST

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Big Jim Griffin, candidate for state commissioner of agriculture, has carried his straw-hat, shirtsleeve, campaign to every county in Texas. He has travelled 30,000 miles, made over 400 speech "Only hard work will beat J. E. McDonald," he says, "and I'm an old plowboy who's used to the hardest kind of work. I figure Mc-Donald never got up against an aggressive campaigner before. I've been stumping the state since

Big Jim, a 210-pounder, six feet three inches tall, has a four-year college course in agriculture to back his statement that he's quali-fied for the post. He was farming at Mission, in the Rio Grande Valley, when he "got hot at some of the policies of the State Agricul-ture Commission" and decided to make the race.

Mostly, he concentrates his campaign on farmers-"I speak their language."

"I stop my car and run across a field to talk to a farmer on a tractor. I've climbed to the top of West Texas windmills to hold confabs with ranchers. Down in East Texas, once, I crawled up a ladder to make a little speech to a couple of farmers who were putting a roof on a house."

Griffin's car is equipped with a loudspeaker. "Anywhere I can get as many as two men to stop and listen to me, I make a

"I drove all night and made it," Big Jim grinned. "Once or twice I've gone two nights in a row with no sleep at all."

Griffin is a ruggedly handsome fellow, 30 years old with steady brown eyes. He grew up behind a plow, landed at Sam Houston State Teachers College with $2 in his pocket.

"I had to make up my mind to use the two bucks for sleeping or eating. So I broke into my first building-I raised a window on the Boy Scout lodge at Huntsville and slept that night on a Boy Scout bedroll. Next day I got a job milking cows and cutting stovewood. From then on, I wasn't out of a job—I worked my way through Sam Houston."

He was 19 when he was gradueted four years later. He taught school while at Sugar Land, then went to work for the U. S. De partment of Justice immigration service. He served in the Navy during the war, then went back to farming. He's married and has a son, Jim, Jr.

Contributions from farmers finance Griffin's campaign.
When he gets a few dollars ahead, he buys a little time on a local radio station. Mostly, Griffin campaigns with a five-point program he would have the State Agriculture Com-

2. Promotion of a soil conservation program. 3. Promotion of water conservation-both surface and under-

Stalin Is In Corner

By DEWITT MACKENZIE The Moseow-controlled cominform's castigation of Yugoslavia's leader, Marshal Tito, has backfired in a manner which might produce an upheaval in the Soviet hierarchy and affect the succession to the dictatorship when Stalin relinguishes it.

Yugoslav communists have taken the surprising action of appealing straight to Marshal Stalin to repudiate the cominform charges. The Tito supporters declare hotly that these charges are lies.

It's tantamount to calling or Stalin to repudiate one of communism's greatest figures-a personality who has been mentioned often as a possible successor to the Russian dictatorship. The man in the jam, is, of course, Colonel General Adrei Zhdanov, hero of the 29 month siege of Leningrad by the Germans in the late war, and long at the right hand of the big boss. Washington Merry-Go-Round-

Truman Spurns Political Advice From Hannegan, Man Who Made Him

By DREW PEARSON.

WASHINGTON-Bob Hannegan, the man who made Harry Truman, had lunch with his ex-boss in Washington just a week ago, Since he retired as postmaster general and became head of the St. Louis Cardinals. Hannegan has seen little of the President. However, he hoped at this luncheon to tell him frankly November.

However, court jester George Allen is now chuckling over the fact that Hannegan never got a chance to open his mouth. Hannegan is quite a talker; so. perhaps suspecting what was coming, Truman had the scene all set.

Genial George, the gentleman from Mississippi, originally ap-pointed to the White House secretariat on the recommendation of Hannegan, was at the luncheon apparently to monopolize the conversation. Long ago he and Hannegan broke. In fact, Hannegan tried to get Allen euchred out of the White House because of his reactionary influence.

During the luncheon conversation, Truman described Governor Dewey as a "pushover." He was cocksure and full of confidence. Senator Teft, he admitted, was the man he preferred as the republican candidate, but Dewey would be just as easy. George Allen, equally confident, chanted the song of victory. Hannegan had come prepared to give his ex-boss a careful analysis of the political situation. He was going to tell him frankly that he should double the current talk about deflection in the democratic party. And when it came to reports of defeat, he should triple them. Somewhat miffed, he didn't volunteer anything.

Almost as if to prevent Hennegan's advice, Truman volunteered this amazing statement: "Connelly and Allen are my best political brains." Anyone who has a speaking acquaintance with Matt Connelly, the presidential secretary, and George Allen, partner of G. O. P. national treasurer James Kemper, knows that when it comes to campaign strategy, they are as spunky as a think the situation is awfully funny.

TRUMAN AND ED KELLY Chicago Democratic leaders tell this story of how Ed Kelly, who served for years as mayor of the windy city, finally bowed out. Kelly, who had carried Chicago for himself and FDR three different times, wanted to run again and remained blissfully ignorant of fact that he had litically. Precinct leaders were clapping him on the back, telling him how popular he was, then going to the office of Jack Arvey to report that Kelly couldn't possibly

After various surveys substantiated the latter view, Arvey finally went to Kelly. He dreaded the visit, but without beating around the bush, told the venerable mayor that all the political surveys showed he couldn't win.

Kelly didn't hesitate. "I'm not bigger than my party." he said. "I'll be glad to step out. Who else have we got?"

Arvey then proposed Martin Kennelly, got Kelly's enthusiastic OK and then went round to seek Kennelly. At first Kennelly acted like Eisenhower, said he wasn't a candidate, didn't think he should run, wanted to know if he would have to face a primary battle. When primary opposition finally was withdrawn. Kennelly agreed to take the nomination. He is doing an outstanding job as mayor of Chicago today.

Note - Democratic leaders say they wish Harry Truman was as cooperative as Ed Kelly.

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (#)-Hollday quotes

"The script was written during the war and needs a thorough rewrite. Pictures about the war made during wartime are necessarily recruiting posters. Nowadays, such films would look silly on the screens. In the postwar period, we can show the weaknesses of the military services, and by giving a more accurate view, we show their strength."

Comment: That explains why the war films made in 1941-45 were generally poor drama no matter how stirring they seemed. For the were shackled from presenting anything but the most favorable view of the services. The best artistic effort about a war comes in the postwar era, when creators can view things with Betty Hutton, on why she refused the "Ruggles of Red Gap"

"You have to be very careful these days. The public is shopping. One bad picture and you're cooked. As sage Miss Hutton points out, movie audiences are getting tougher. They want their money's worth from a theater ticket and when they get stung on a flop, they blame it on the star of the film. ### HOLIDAY GIVES OLD ST. PETER A BUSY TIME

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK W-It was a bright sunny morning in Heaven.

St. Peter yawned, pulled a cloud over his head to shade his eyes-But he couldn't get back to sleep. There was an awful clatter at the

"This job would try a saint," he grumbled as he shuffled to his post. "It'll be the death of me yet."

His keys clanged against the pearly lock. He grunted, gave a mighty shove, the gate swung ajar -and Heaven was open for busi-

St. Peter took one long look out-

"Good Heavens!" he exclaimed. "It's just like the war again."

For there stretched before him, as far as eye could reach, a dolorous line seeking admission. There were young in that line, and there were old. Many had torn clothing. some wore makeshift bandages stained with the red tide of life. The line surged toward the gate.

"Take it easy!" St. Peter shouted. "Who's first?" "Me," said a fat little man importantly. He gave his name. St.

Peter scanned his big, golden book. His brow furrowed. Why, according to our records, you weren't due here until 1965."

"What happened?" asked St. Pet er gently. "I was driving home, and I tried to beat the train to the crossing."

"And-?" "I didn't." said the little man. "Tch! Tch!" said St. Peter crossly. "When are you mortals going to get over your immortal nonsense? Any more Sunday drivers?" Down the long sad line hundreds raised their arms. St. Peter shook his head. A small boy stepped up nervously. "I'm Johnny," he said. The old saint peered into his book. "Son, we didn't expect you here for another 60 years. There were great things ahead for you down there. You had something the world needed."

"We sneaked off from the pienic," Johnny said: "We didn't know the lake was deep." Hour after hour the line moved up to the gate. At last St. Peter said wearily: "What's gone wrong in the world?"

A man's voice answered dully: "It was a holiday. Everybody was celebrating."

"Celebrating what?" "Our independence," the man re-St. Peter shook his head again. "And what have you left your dependents to celebrate? Next!" And the line moved on.

The Nation Today—

American Compromise

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (A) This has been the week-end Americans shoot off firecrackers and make speeches to celebrate the Declaration of Indenendence.

You'll do yourself a favor by reading Carl L. Becker's "The Declaration of Independence, a Study in the History of Political Ideas." an excellent book not too widely

The declaration itself was not the formal act of separation by the colonies from Great Britain. It was the justification, the explanation Congress wanted to make to the world after the act was done. On June 7, 1776, several resolutions were offered in Congress to declare the colonies free. And three days later, June 10, a five-man committee-Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston-was appointed to draw up a declaration. On July 2 the official act of separation was passed. On July 4, 1773, the declaration, written by Jefferson with some help from the others, was approved.

The declaration itself was a compromise. It didn't say all that Jefferson, for instance, wanted to say. It said only what the Congress. with all its shades of thinking, was willing to swallow or approve Becker says of the declaration:

'It is not important, even from the point of view of the history of political ideas, to know that the framers of the declaration, denouncing George III to a 'candid world' for his violation of the natural rights of man, carefully refrained from alluding to the fact that they themselves were slave-

In that day, the 18th century, kings everywhere were claiming to rule by divine right. It was therefore the job of Jefferson and the others to prove the colonies had a right to break away from their kings.

So the declaration says: 'We hold these truths to be selfevident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of hap-

Becker notes the contempt certain Englishmen held for the document which said all men are equal and have the right to liberty at a time in the American colonists had 100,000 Nagro slaves

U.S. Forgets How To Spell

After a casual glance at names of stores, clubs and organizations, one would decide that Americans have forgotten how to spell since the days of the spelling bees and the famous Blueback Speller.

Such spellings as Klub, Kozy, Kourts, Nite, Bar-B-Q make one wonder if this is, after all, the century of the alphabet, what with such organizations as the AAA, NYA, PWA, WPA, to mention a few of current years.

Our ancestors took great pride in their spelling and spent many hours in the spelling bees which was a form of entertainment. The person who was the best speller of the community was somehow or other looked upon as a sort of hero or heroine as the case might he.

The Blueback speller was in almost every home and the would be winners of the contest spent many hours learning the way to spell words that they seldom used, but it was the tricky words that they learned to watch out

The spelling of words has always been a mystery to me and sort of intrigued me, but I must confess, not enough to make me learn how to spell.

The stories that I used to hear concerning the part that the Blueback speller played in social life of the pioneers gave me aspirations to learn to spell when I was somewhere in the grades. So one spring, along about Interscholastic league time, I tried out my talents. I took one of those books and spent a number of hours poring over it nad memorizing the spelling of words. Due to the lack of interest among the other students, I'm sure, I went to the county meet. Somehow or other I do not like to remember the score that I made, but the girl who was with me was a good speller, I believe that our combined score was the least, but we had fun. I learned from experience to consult the dictionary when I did not know how to spell a word; but I have come to the conclusion that most people do these days.

As for the spelling of proper namesthere's really no art to it or no means to guess how to spell them. Given names are even more impossible, because that seems to be the fad -to think up new spellings for names, -BILLIE BURRELL

Closing Night For 'Oklahoma'

By JACK O'BRIAN NEW YORK-It was the lobby of the St James Theater on West 44th Street and the occasion was a sorrowful one; the closing night of "Oklahoma!"

Al Hildreth, who was treasurer of the St. James Theater during the first year and a half of its dizzy popularity had dropped by to see the funeral. Al had worked so feverishly that 18 months that he finally, on his medico's orders, had to quit. "Just saying "Sorry, nothing for three months ahead' was enough to drive anyone batty," Al said. But Al jumped from the frying pan into another theatrical flame after escaping the St. James. He thought a berth as treasurer of a so-called "jing house", the Adelphi theater on West 54th Street, a little off Broadway's beaten path. would be just what the psychiatrist ordered. But he was there only a few days when-"On The Town", another musical comedy, emploded with smash hit success, and off he went again gathering material for nervous prostration. But the other evening in the St. James lobby Al was just as sad as the staff of the theater which "Oklahoma!" called home for 2,202 performances. He and Manager Sam Horworth swapped reminiscences of that first

"The Duke and Duchess of Windsor saw it three times while I was here," Al said. "Bob Benchley saw every evening performance for two weeks," Sam remembered. Al added that Actress Florence Reed had had a standing order for two mezzanine seats for every Thursday matinee. "Mrs. Roosevelt saw it lots of times," said Sam. "Mayor La-Guardia kept coming back and bringing loads of people. Yes, and Jimmie Walker saw it a half dozen times. We had most every general and admiral in the services. Some nights it looked like a barracks. Everyone seemed to feel good. Why, second looles even spoke to privates, they felt so good." At the end of the performance, I asked the little girl sitting behind me if this was her first time, "Yes," she said, and explained that her cousin, Carolyn Tanner, was the feminine star of the show and she'd come down from Fall River, Mass., to see it before it left Broadway. "My name's Eleanor Buth Fozzard and I'm eight years old," she said. I introduced her to Billy Reed, owner of the Little Club. It was his first time, too; he'd been in service five years and didn't eatch up with Oklahoma! until then.

i wonder how many cafe clients actually are aware that Broadway night club owners, instead of being the gyp artists time and false tradition suggest, actually spend fortunes every year to make the world safe for nocturnal spenders.

The definition of a "clip joint" is somewhat elastic. Some folks think a saloon or club which charges over a dime for a beer or a half dollar for whiskey is on the clip. This is not so. The few clip joints which raise their ugly corporate heads occasionally. and only occasionally, on Broadway are the ones which specialize in kanckout drops, padded checks and the scare system: frighten a Milquetoastish customer into buying absurdly expensive foods and wines.

of those were against eighth-place Del Rio. Three others came against sixth-place Sweetwater.

Pat Stasey's gang had been moderately successful in Midland, winning three of six games, but had lost thrice in three starts at Vernon and had been able to win but one game each from Ballinger and San Angelo away from home. Their record on the road showed two victories

SHERMAN-DENISON DRAWING RECORD CROWDS.

Sherman-Denison of the Big State league, sister club of the Big Spring team may draw between 125,000 and 150,000 paid admissions this season, if it continues at its present pace. The Twins were due to pass the 50,000 mark this week and interest was reportedly increasing.

Business hasn't been so good at Greenville, another Big State league team, however. The team drew about 154,000 last year but the average has been far below that this year. The Majors are having their troubles remaining in the fight for a Shaughnessy playoff berth.

BALLINGER GAME MAY HAVE TO BE MOVED HERE

If the Cayuses play their full round of 20 games with the Ballinger Cats this season, they'll have to play a double header here either in early August or early September.

The two clubs are committed to meet only one more in Ballinger Aug. 7-8) and have five games to make up during that period.

Frank Gosney, a rookie who has seen some action with Clovis and Albuquerque, is being groomed to replace George Sturdivant at first base in the Lamesa lineup:

SAN ANGELO, SWEETWATER TAKE ON PITCHING STRENGTH Both San Angelo and Sweetwater have taken on pitching strength in recent days. J. B. Garland, who spent last year with Lamesa, has joined the Colt staff. Garland won two, lost four for Lamesa last season, had an earned run average of 6.80.

Sweetwater has taken on Claude Horton, who has been with Shreveport of the Texas league. He boasted a four-four won-and-lost record for Shreveport in '47. He's been in baseball 11 years.

The Sports have also acquired R. H. Templeton, a rookie hurler on option from Amarillo.

BOBBY CLARK TO TRAIN SWEETWATER BOXERS

Bobby Clark, the veteran mitt slinger who had a hand in the fistic rise of Lew Jenkins, has taken on the job of training Sweetwater

Bobby, who fought here several times, will point his boys for the TAAF and Golden Gloves matches.

TEXAN ELIGIBLE TO PLAY AT KANSAS AGAIN

Don Fambrough, the Texan who has been playing football for the University of Kansas for the past several years will be eligible to play n the Big Seven again next fall.

The league's executive committee recently declared him ineligible, then changed its attitude.

Don is a guard. He was at Texas A&M at one time.

Cohen, Murdock Yesterday's Results Win At BSAC

Sammy Cohen, the zany New Yorker, and Ft. Worth's Frankie Hill Murdock teamed up to deal out misery and a licking to Billy Weidner and Georgie Lopez in a team wrestling match at the Big Spring Athletic club Monday night. Cohen and Murdock took the decision in two straight falls. They softened up the opposition by wagging who ever was the combatant into their lair and letting both wham the daylights out of him. In the opening matches, Weidner made mince-meat of Murdock in a one-fall match while the duel between Lopez and Cohen went to

This trouble later spread to my right shoulder also," writes Mr. J. C. Kirkland of Dallas. In my work I have to use my arms a lot, and my shoulders were beginning to stiffen up. After taking Mertox Compound for a short time this condition was quickly corrected, so that now I am free from rheumatic trouble and free of the aches and pains. I was also troubled with gas and blost, which were very painful. I felt tired and rundown; just seemed to have no life or pep at all. Had severe headaches, too. The gas would seem to press against my heart and lungs and make it hard to breathe. Now I can eat anything, even meat, which was impossible before taking this splendid medicine. My bowels are now regular and I medicine. My bowels are now regular and do not have to get up at night as I di before."
